Washington.—Regulations for drafting the new army, now awaiting President Wilson's approval, contain provision for exery step in the great undertaking, except the actual method of the draft itself. No official announcement has been made, and official confirmation is being withheld, but it has been stated, and generally is accepted here as true, that the federal government will itself do the drafting, probably in Washington, so there will be no opportunity for local favoritisms, political or otherwise.

SPECULATORS GOUGE PEOPLE

Herbert C. Hoover Makes This Startling Charge Before a Senatorial Investigating Committee

Washington.—While both branches of congress continued desultory debate on the government's food control bill, Herbert C. Hoover, food administrator, spent four hours at the capitol emphasizing to a score of senators gathered informally to the vital importance of the legislation to success in the war. Under sharp and argumentative questioning by a group headed by Senators Gore, Reed and Vardaman, opposing the legislation, Mr. Hoover outlined his plans for conserving the nation's food supply, increasing production and cutting off the excessive profits of speculators. He did not conclude and will return to the capitol for further examination in an effort to clear up congressional and public misconceptions and hasten action.

Food conditions, which face the allies and this country, were frankly and fully explained by Mr. Hoover. Without government food control, he said, success in the war may be imperiled. Such control, to a great degree in actual administration, he explained, will be voluntary and not enforced by "a mobilization of the spirit of self-denial and self-sacrifice," in preventing waste of foodstuffs.

That the rationing or other enforced regulation of the American dinner table is proposed, was denied by Mr. Hoover. Also, he said, requisitioning of factories or regulation of wages are not contemplated, and that excision of war profits in distribution of food, largely by voluntary co-operation of business interests involved, is the prime object of the bill.

Four Bases For Food Control

Four basic measures of food control planned, Mr. Hoover said, are export regulation, control of distribution, including speculation, mobilization of America's women and men in a campaign for economy and against waste, and participation of the states in administration work.

Federal commissions to control wheat, sugar and a few other "prime commodities" by regulation of production, storage and transportation and sale are contemplated, he said, but instead of injuring farmers, as some have claimed, these things will benefit both producers and consumers without curtailment of middlemen's normal and fair profits.

MISSION OF NEW RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT HAS ARRIVED

Great Crowds Cheered Representatives Of World's Newest Republic—A Very Impressive Sight

Washington.—The special diplomatic mission from Russia was received upon its arrival here with every possible effort to reflect America's profound hope and confidence in the newest European democracy.

The highest officials of the state department, including Secretary Lansing, Counsellor Polk and Assistant Secretary Phillips, met the envoys' special train at the end of their long journey half way around the world and greeted them formally in the name of the government and the people of the United States. Great crowds cheered them as they went under double cavalry escort past the capitol, up Pennsylvania avenue, between the white house and the treasury department, to the David Henning Jennings home, which is to be their headquarters.

The Russians presented an impressive sight as they alighted from their train. Many were in the Russian uniform of a khaki coat, blue trousers and black knee boots. Ambassador Bakhmetieff, the head of the mission, advanced beteween Third Assistant Secretary Long, who had met the mission in Chicago, and Counsellor Onou of the embassy here, to meet Secretary Lansing and other American officials.

No Suffrage Pickets For White House

Washington.—The police have begun dealing with the suffrage pickets about the white house with a firm hand. It was ordered that no banners were to be permitted to be displayed and twenty policemen were stationed about the white house fence. Miss Lucy Burns of New York and Miss Catherine Morey of Boston, carriers of a banner who refused to move from in front of one of the white house gates, were arrested and taken to police headquarters.

German Grain Crops Hit By Drouth

Copenhagen.—Throughout Germany, according to report here, all valuable grain crops are burning up, as they did in 1915, in an unprecedented heat wave. The prolonged drought has not been broken since early in May. Berlin is experiencing one of the hottest junes on record in the 70 years' experience of the weather bureau. Tropical temperatures were also reported everywhere west of the Oder river. The weather bureau states that the prospects for rain or lower temperatures are very slight.

German Propaganda In Training Camp

Fort Sheridan, Ill.—German propaganda has entered the officers' reserve training camp here in the opinion of officers of the regular army who are acting as instructors, and orders have been given that every effort be made to ascertain the source of "baseless reports" concerning the risks taken by men who go to front in France. "There has been a determined effort," said Maj. H. L. Cavenaugh, "to spread baseless reports that the average life of a man in the trenches is three days."

TOTAL FOR BONDS IS $3,035,226,850

Ninety-Nine Per Cent Of The Subscription Were For Sums Ranging From $50 To $10,000

BUYERS EXCEED 4,000,000

After $10,000, However, Bonds Will Be Allotted On The Percentage Basis

Washington.—Liberty Loan subscriptions total $3,035,226,850, an oversubscription of nearly 52 per cent. The final tabulation was officially announced, and showed that more than four million persons bought bonds.

Sums Varied From $50 To $10,000

Ninety-nine per cent of subscriptions or those of 3,960,000 persons, were for sums varying from $50 to $10,000, while twenty-one subscribers applied for allotments of $5,000,000 each or more.

New York District Led All The Rest

The New York federal reserve district led the list with subscriptions totaling $1,186,788,400, or more than three times the amount subscribed in the next district, Chicago, $357,195,950. The other districts sent subscriptions as follows: Boston, $332,447,600; Cleveland, $286,148,700; Philadelphia, $232,309,250; San Francisco, $175,623,900; Richmond, $109,737,100; Kansas City, $91,758,850; St. Louis, $86,134,700; Minneapolis, $70,255,500; Atlanta, $57,878,850, and Dallas, $48,948,350.

How Loan Will Be Allotted

These subscriptions include those sent direct to the treasury and apportioned among the various reserve districts. Allotments will be made by Secretary McAdoo as follows: On subscriptions up to and including $10,000, full amount. These subscriptions totalled $1,296,684,850. More than $10,000 up to and including $100,000 sixty per cent of the amount subscribed, but not less than $10,000 in any instance. These subscriptions totaled $560,103,050; allotments to subscribers in this group will aggregate $336,061,850.

AMERICAN SHELLS RAINED ON GERMAN SUBMARINE

U-Boat Badly Damaged And Probably Sunk In Battle With United States Vessel

An Atlantic Port.—An American steamer which arrived here in ballast from a British port had a thrilling encounter on June 4 with a German submarine after the enemy boat had fired a torpedo at her, which hit but failed to explode. The submarine was badly damaged by the fire of the steamer's gun crew and disappeared after her periscope was shot away. The steamer's captain saw the wake of the submarine's torpedo and after the impact ordered his crew to the boats. The submarine submerged, evidently believing that the shot had its intended work. The captain, the first and second officers and boatswain mates of the gun crew remained on board the steamer. When the torpedo was seen to have failed to score the crew was ordered back from the boats and the submarine reappeared. The bluejackets went to the four-inch guns fore and aft and fired rapidly. The submarine, according to the captain, came head-on full speed and then stopped, which interfered with the range of the American gunners.

19 Shots Fired By Americans

When 600 yards from the steamer, the captain said, one of the shells from the steamer hit the submarine and she submerged. As she came up a second shot tore away her periscope and another exploded on her turtle back Nineteen shots in all were fired by the steamer. The crew said that light blue smoke rose from the stern of the submarine as it went down. The captain said he remained in the vicinity of the enemy craft for two hours, but she failed to reappear. He said he was not certain that the submarine was sunk, but was certain that her periscope was shot away and her deck marked. The gun crew and wireless operator declare that there was no doubt that the boat was sunk.

Government Aid Asked For Highway

Cincinnati, Ohio.—The Dixie Highway executive council, at a meeting here, planned to secure the completion of the Dixie highway from Chicago and Detroit to Miami, Fla., withiin the present year, by aid of the United States government war department, as a war measure. One hundred thousand dollars, it is stated, is yet necessary to build the connecting stretch of seven miles in Laurel and Rockcastle counties, Kentucky, and this sum will be immediately demanded of Washington, D. C., officials.

Goethals Must Build All Possible Ships

Washington.—The contest between Chairman Denman of the shipping board and Major General Goethals, manager of the board's emergency fleet corporation, for authority to exercise powers granted by congress in providing a merchant fleet will be settled by President Wilson giving General Goethals the authority, with directions that he build all the ships possible, both steel and wood. General Goethals will be authorized to commandeer immediately all shipping now building.

U-BOAT MENACE GROWING

Thirty-Two Vessels Sent To Sea's Bottom By German Submarines In One Week

London.—Twenty-seven British ships of more than sixteen hundred tons have been sunk, according to the weekly British summary last given out. Five British vessels under sixteen hundred tons also were sent to the bottom. No fishing vessels were destroyed. The summary follows:

Summary

Arrivals, 2,897; sailings, 2,993. British merchant ships, over sixteen hundred tons sunk by mine or submarine, including three previously, 27; under sixteen hundred tons, including one previously, 5. British merchant ships unsuccessfully attacked, including two previously, 31, British fishing vessels sunk, none.

The foregoing figures of British shipping losses as the result of Germany's submarine warfare show a larger number of vessels sunk in the 1,600 tons over category than in any of the six preceding weeks. Not since the seven-day period ending April 28 has a greater number of ships of over 1,600 tons been destroyed. During that week 51 vessels—38 over and 13 under 1,600 tons—were sunk. The heaviest totals since the Teuton submarine campaign opened in February last was registered in the week ending April 21, when 40 steamers of more than sixteen hundred tons were sunk and 15 vessels of the smaller tonnage were sent to the bottom.

Since the middle of April, when the undersea boat activity recorded its highest toll, 303 British vessels, of which 220 measured more than sixteen hundred tons, were sunk, the weekly totals being as follows:

Week Ending—	1,600 Tons Over	1,600 Tons Under
April 21	40	15
April 28	38	13
May 5	24	22
May 12	18	5
May 19	18	9

PRESIDENT WILSON APPEALS FOR MEN FOR REGULAR ARMY

Seventy Thousand Volunteers Wanted, And Week Of June 23-30 Named As "Recruiting Week"

Washington.—President Wilson has issued a proclamation designating the week of June 23-30 as recruiting week for the regular army and called upon unmarried men without dependents to enroll for war service in order that the ranks of the regulars might be filled promptly. This was the president's first call for volunteers in the present war. The proclamation follows:

President's Proclamation

"I hereby designate the period of June 23 to June 30, next, as recruiting week for the regular army and call upon unmarried men between the ages of 18 and 40 years, who have no dependents and who are not engaged in pusuits vitally necessary to the prosecution of the war, to present themselves for enlistment during the week herein designated to the number of seventy thousand.

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

Army Officials Requested Action

The president acted at the request of army officials who have been seriously concerned over the slow rate of recruiting for the regular army. It had been hoped that the regular service could be brought to its whole war strength of approximately 300,000 men by July 30, which would have permitted the war department to carry out its plans in regard to the training of all the forces to be raised and also as to the dispatch of armies to France. For several days, however, the average enrollment for the army per day has been little more than 1,000 men instead of the 5,000 or more the department had hoped to secure.

Over 1,000 Persons Killed Or Injured

Amsterdam.—More than one thousand persons were killed or injured or are missing in consequence of an explosion in munitions factories at Bloeweg, according to an announcement in the lower house of the Austrian parliament by the minister of defense, as forwarded in a dispatch from Vienna. The casualties were given as follows: Dead, 136; missing, 170; wounded, 625. Of the wounded, 520 received only slight injuries.

Greek King Has Reached Switzerland

Lugano, Switzerland.—Former King Constantine of Greece has arrived at this place. Officers and delegates of the Swiss government met him at the frontier and welcomed him in the name of Switzerland. A large number of German personages waited for the king at the depot, including Prince and Princess von Buelow and Doctor von Muehlberg, German minister to the Vatican. The Greek minister to Berne was also present. Constantine and his suite drove directly to the hotel, rooms having been reserved for them.

King Albert's Note One Of Laudation

Washington.—The personal letter to President Wilson from King Albert, delivered by Baron Moncheur, head of the Belgian mission to this country, was made public by the state department, and is as follows: "I commend to your excellency's kindly reception the mission which bears this letter. This mission will express to the president the feelings of understanding and enthusiastic admiration with which my government and people have received their decision."

PRESIDENT NAMES EXPORT COUNCIL

EXECUTIVE BODY WILL ATTEND TO RATIONING OF EUROPEAN NEUTRALS.

KEEP FOOD FROM ENEMIES

This is Only Way to Win Against German Imperialism, Says President Wilson.

Washington.—Control of American exports, authorized in a clause of the espionage bill, was assumed by President Wilson with the appointment of an exports council, comprising the secretaries of state, agriculture and commerce and the food administrator. An executive order creating the council directs the department of commerce to administer all details of operation.

A victorious conclusion of the war can come, said the President in a statement, outlining the country's export policy, only by systematic direction of American trade.

"The free play of trade will not be arbitrarily interfered with," he said. "It will only be intelligently and systematically directed in the light of full information with regard to the needs and market conditions throughput the world and the necessities of our people at home and our armies and the armies of our associates abroad."

Members of the exports council will meet to organize and to recommend to the President a series of proclamations which will put the law into active operation.

The first proclamation will require the licensing of all coal and fuel shipments, including bunkers, and its purpose is to give the government first a firm grasp on shipping.

The second will provide a system of licensing for every class of exports to the European neutral countries and is designed to prevent supplies from reaching Germany.

Proclamations to follow will name specific commodities which may not be shipped anywhere without licenses. The first commodities to be designated will be cereals and other foodstuffs by degrees will be extended until virtually every export commodity is brought under operation of the act.

The proclamations covering coal and exports to European neutrals probably will be issued this week. Under an agreement to be made with the British government providing for an international shipping control by bunkering and export licensing agreements, the United States and Great Britain will have the trade of the world in their hands to direct in the manner best calculated to assist in winning the war.

The neutral export proclamation will be hurried to prevent removal from the United States of large supplies of foodstuffs bought by the neutrals and now stored in this country awaiting shipment. The government is determined to hold neutrals to necessities and in enforcing export regulations virtually will take up the burden of the British blockade, now to be enforced from the point of origin of supplies.

Editor Atlanta Journal Passes Away

Atlanta.—James R. Gray, editor of the Atlanta Journal, died here. Mr. Gray had just returned from a trip to New York and Washington, where he had been to visit his daughter, Mrs. E. D. Pearce, wife of Lieutanant Colonel Pearce at Fort Trotten, Long Island, ond to attend the meeting of the executive committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. Mns. Gray accompanied him on the trip.

British Report Sinking Submarine.

An Atlantic Port.—Officers of a British steamer which arrived here reported having sunk an attacking German submarine. The British vessel sent a shell into the U-boat's magazine, causing an explosion which parted the undersea boat about midship. Each end sank separately. The British steamer was uninjured.

FUND OVERSUBSCRIBED.

Washington.—Oversubscription of the Red Cross hundred million dollar mercy fund is assured when the eight-day nation-wide campaign closed with final rallies in hundreds of American cities. Tabulations at Red Cross headquarters showed $100,313,000 in reported pledges, of which $35,993,000 was from New York city and $64,320,000 from the remainder of the country.

American Fleet in Brazilian Waters.

Rio de Janeiro.—Rear Admiral William B. Caperton, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet of the United States navy, and the members of his staff, have been received with honors here.

Washington.—The arrival in Brazilian waters of an American Pacific fleet squadron, commanded by Admiral Caperon, reveals that the American navy has taken over responsibility for the patrol of that region against German raiders.

ROADS ASK RAISE IN FREIGHT RATES

QUESTION WILL COME BEFORE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION AT JULY MEETING.

NEWS LETTER FROM CAPITAL

Happenings in and About Alabama's State House Interestingly Told.

—Montgomery.

All railroads operating in Alabama will come before the Alabama public service commission July 2 and ask permission to make a general increase of 15 per cent in freight rates on classes and commodities because of the war and because the government enacted the law making eight hours as a railroad man's work day. Announcement was made by Atticus Mullin, secretary of the commission, that the case has been set for consideration at the July session.

Commercial organizations throughout the state have been notified in order that thy may protest. Six cases appear on the docket for the July session and indications are that the commission will be in session two weeks or longer.

Register Now, Avoid Penalties.

Unregistered persons may at any time voluntarily register at the registration boards in their home county and city, according to instructions received Thursday by Adjutant General G. J. Hubbard, from Provost Marshal General Crowder, in Washington. The telegram says:

"Advices received here from some of the States seem to indicate a misunderstanding as to the policy to be pursued in respect of persons who for any reason did not register themselves on June 5. Paragraph 50 of the regulations governing registration, makes it the duty of registration boards to register such persons, and no instructions modifying the duty have emanated from this office. So much of section 5 of the laws as defers until conviction, the registration of persons who have wilfully failed to present themselves for registration or to submit thereto, is construed as deferring only the compulsory registration of those who continually refuse to register.

"Unregistered persons may at any time voluntarily register at the registration boards in their home county and city. Persons who have thus far failed to register, shall be sought out and arrested by Federal, State, County or Municipal police and shall forthwith be given the opportunity to register. All arrests made by State, County and municipal police, shall be reported to the nearest representative of the Federal Department of Justice. Those whose failure to register due to inattention, or lack of information, or misunderstanding shall be released as soon as they have been registered and those whose failure to register has been due to recalcitrance or wilful disobedience of the law, shall be bound over for trial by the Federal authorities."

Town of Altoona Held Illegal.

The Supreme Court has decided that the incorporation of the town of Altoona, Etowah County, is illegal because the description of the area to be incorporated is indefinite.

The case of the State of Alabama ex rel T. D. Wagnon vs. the Town of Altoona was reversed and remanded. The purpose of the proceedings was to dissolve the corporation of Altoona and to oust the mayor and aldermen. The case was appealed from the Etowah County Circuit Court.

Gins Cannot Make Discrimination.

When a ginning company makes a rule that it will not gin cotton for any person who refuses to sell it the cotton seed even at market prices it violates the public policy of the state relating to free trade and may be required by mandamus to change the rule, according to a decision of the supreme court rendered in the case of the Tallassee Oil and Fertilizer company vs. H. S. and J. L. Holloway, appealed from the Elmore circuit court.

High Courts End Hearing.

All divisions o fthe supreme and appellate courts have concluded their hearings for the spring term and the judges of the two high courts have gone into recess.

Appeal is Turned Down.

The Alabama public service commission has denied the petition of citizens of Mobile and of Tuscaloosa, Ala., to reopen the Southern railway case.

Bank Decision.

Judge Gaston Gunter has granted a temporary injunction preventing W. L. Lancaster, state treasurer, from disposing of certain securities of the Alabama Fidelity Mortgage and Bond company for the satisfaction of a judgment obtained against its predecessor, the Alabama Fidelity and Casualty company, in favor of the Jefferson County Savings bank until the courts can determine whether or not the present company is responsible for the obligations of the former company.

SYNOPSIS.

Adventurous Jerry Carson embarks in search of hidden treasure with the promise of Leontine Walcott to be his wife on his return. Her father favors Sebastian Navarre. Jerry's ship is burned, he is reported lost. Jerry suddenly turns up to confront charges of the Navarres against him. In a struggle for a forged paper Diego Navarre is killed and Jerry is convicted of the murder. He escapes, and finds the treasure and a wonderful chemical pellet. Leontine is forced to marry Sebastian. On the honeymoon, he attacks her in a rage. Suddenly he is confronted by a weird apparition. Ravengar forces a confession from Louie. Sebastian attempts to get it. An earthquake occurs; in the excitement, Red Finn steals the confession and flees. He appears in New York as Romanoff and enlists the aid of Madame Bianca. Leontine confronts her husband in the gambling house. Romanoff attempts to kidnap Sebastian and Leontine, but Ravengar appears to thwart him. Bianca and her thugs are puzzled by Ravengar's repeated escapes and returns to his cellar prison. Leontine consents to accompany Hamilton on a balloon ascension. Sebastian drugs Hamilton and arranges to have Leontine set adrift in the balloon. The balloon burst into flame and Leontine finds that her companion is Ravengar. They are rescued, but One-Lamp Louie reports that they perished in a hurricane. Sebastian arranges to marry Bianca. Louie prevents it to save himself and is thrown to death by Sebastian who changes his marriage plans. He sees Leontine alive and well. Later Sebastian has Leontine kidnaped. Ravengar delivers Leontine from the hands of her enemies, but Bianca's thugs capture him. Bianca hesitates to kill him as she is passionately in love with him. By maintaining that Leontine is insane, Sebastian again gains possession of her. Ravengar, after a terrific battle, rescues her, but the mystic mantle which renders them invisible, is stolen. Bianca's thugs corner Ravengar and Leontine in a shack. Bianca defends Ravengar. He escapes and recovers the invisible mantle. Out of revenge the thugs dynamite the shack. Ravengar offers Sebastian his freedom in exchange for the confession; as the police arrive Sebastian escapes. Ravengar takes Leontine to his laboratory to explain a mystic pellet. Sebastian steals the pellets, and the mantle.

THIRTEENTH EPISODE

The Hidden Menace.

As Leontine knelt there Ravengar disappeared.

He was gone in a moment, before her eyes, and before the eyes of the group of doctors and hospital assistants who had run up to the scene of the fighting.

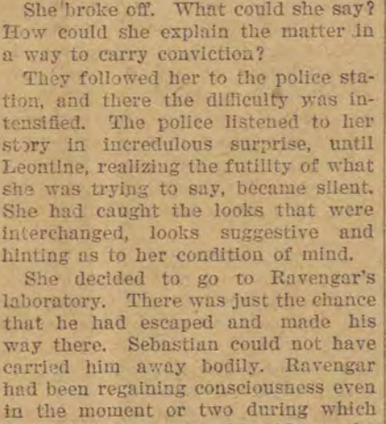
She rose to her feet with a cry. The hospital staff stared about them in amazement.

"Where is he?" cried everyone.

"He is gone!" cried Leontine. "He has been kidnaped. Come to the police station. We can do nothing more now. I know—"

She broke off. What could she say? How could she explain the matter in a way to carry conviction?

They followed her to the police station, and there the difficulty was intensified. The police listened to her story in incredulous surprise, until Leontine, realizing the futility of what she was trying to say, became silent. She had caught the looks that were interchanged, looks suggestive and hinting as to her condition of mind.



She decided to go to Ravengar's laboratory. There was just the chance that he had escaped and made his way there. Sebastian could not have carried him away bodily. Ravengar had been regaining consciousness even in the moment or two during which Leontine had knelt at his side on the floor of the hospital.

She ordered a taxicab and drove toward the laboratory.

Meanwhile a little scene was taking place in the street in front of the building. Mr. Patrick McGuire, who had nothing in particular to do, was watching some street urchins quarreling over a find which they had picked up in the street. It was, in fact, nothing else than the bottle of pellets.

One of them, a boy of seven or eight years, had pounced upon it and picked it up. He looked very greedy eyes at the dark bean-like objects, apparently chocolate-coated, which lay in his hands.

He was about to convey one of them to his mouth when an older boy snatched the bottle and pellets from him.

As the elder boy held the bottle tantalizingly aloft, the little fellow squared his fists for the fray. He leaped at him, and in a moment the two boys were at it, hammer and tongs.

"Go to it, fellers!" said Mr. McGuire, watching them with an amiable grin.

The little fellow was a good fighter. They rolled over and over in the mud, hammering each other for all they were worth. A policeman strolled along and, quickening his leisurely pace, came up to them.

"Get out of that!" he said.

The boys, terrified by the law, disappeared promptly, leaving the bottle of pellets lying in the road. Mr. McGuire strolled forward and appropriated the spoils of war. He looked at the bottle and at the loose pellets, which, coated with dust, appeared like chocolate-coated beans. Then he walked a few yards to a house in the rear of the laboratory, where some women were hanging up clothes.

"Hey, Mrs. Spielburger, see what that kid of yours was trying to eat!" he said.

At that moment Leontine suddenly appeared on the scene.

"Give me that bottle," she cried. "It's mine. I lost it and I have been looking for it. It contains a rare medicine. I will give you fifty dollars for it."

Pat eyed her in astonishment. "Did youse mean that, lady?" he demanded.

"Yes."

Pat placed the bottle in Leontine's hands. At that moment an extraordinary thing happened.

Two hands, apparently materialized out of the air, closed over Leontine's and attempted to wrest the bottle from her. Leontine screamed and fought for it. She looked up into two eyes—nothing but eyes. They were Sebastian's.

The German woman, her neighbor, and Pat McGuire watched the struggle in consternation, too terrified to scream. Leontine's hands were slowly opening under the pressure of Sebastian's. She let the bottle fall.

Patrick McGuire darted forward and picked it up. As he stood with his hand clenched tight about it the hands in the air began to close about his wrists.

Pat wrenched himself free, stooped down, and picked up a wash-stick that was lying in the yard. Still holding the bottle tightly in his left hand, with his right he began striking about in every direction. There was the sound of the stick descending upon a skull, and a distinct arrest of its movement through the air, which would have sounded comical under other circumstances.

In a few moments Pat stood, the stick still brandished in an attitude of defiance, clutching the bottle of pellets victoriously in his hand. But the hands of the spirit had disappeared.

Pat, with a bow, handed the bottle to Leontine.

"Keep it for me," she said. "Guard it in a safe place until I am ready for it, and I will pay you five hundred dollars instead of fifty."

"Foive hundred, is it?" cried Pat. "Sure, lady, for foive hundred dollars I'll fight all the ghosts in Christendom."

"I'll come for it soon."

"Sure, and I'll go with you, lady," answered Pat.

It occurred to Leontine at that moment that she did not know where to go. To return to Sebastian's house, even though he would never dare to go back, was impossible. She decided upon a hotel for women, located in an inconspicuous part of the city.

"You can see me to the subway, then," she said.

Pat started off at her side in the attitude of a protector. It was not a long walk, but it required passing through a slum region and over a high railroad bridge.

Under the bridge ran the river, and along the river bank was the railroad.

At the approach to the bridge was a tool house, used by a construction gang. Against the wall an iron crowbar was leaning. Suddenly Leontine screamed and caught Pat by the arm.

Unseen hands had silently picked up the crowbar and poised it on high. At that instant it was descending with fearful force toward the Irishman's head.

Leontine tried to pull Pat back. But Pat, who seemed to miss nothing, started forward with wonderful agility, and the bar passed within an inch of his skull and shoulders and thudded upon the ground. Next moment Pat had leaped at his assailant.

They fought all over the bridge sidewalk, gradually being carried further and further toward the middle of the bridge, so that now they were fighting over the river beneath. Pat struggled with all his power, but he was no match for his antagonist. He was thrown bodily over the bridge.

The Irishman went under immediately. Then, as Leontine leaned over the rail, sick with horror, she perceived a rowboat with two men in it approaching the spot rapidly.

But before it reached the spot Pat's head appeared above the waves. He nodded briskly, and his arm went out in the movement of a swimmer. Pat had survived his fall, and in a minute he was being hauled into the boat.

Leontine began running along the bridge at the top of her speed. She reached the farther end, and, a minute or two later, was standing upon the wharf, toward which the rowboat was making its way, conveying Pat.

"You are not hurt?" cried Leontine.

"I guess it'll take more than a ghost to put Patrick McGuire out of business," answered the dripping Irishman with a grin.

"And the bottle—the bottle?"

"Sure, miss, I lost it in the water," answered Pat in abject contrition.

Leontine was downcast. "Well, never mind. The shadow didn't get it," she answered.

She gave Patrick her card. "I shall send you a check as soon I get home," she said. "Five hundred dollars, because you did your best and risked your life for me."

"Sure, and that wasn't nothing," answered Pat cheerfully. "I'd foight that ghost again, any time, just for the look in your bright eyes, lady."

Leontine had not reflected on one thing. A bottle will float. If she had waited—if Pat had waited. But that was just where they failed in the moment of success.

Slowly the bottle traveled upon the lapping waves. It was making toward the pier, half submerged, but easily resting in the water. Nobody seemed to notice it—and yet one person noticed it.

For, as it came to rest against the support of the pier nearest to the wharf, a pair of hands, wholly detached from any arm, came forward and picked the bottle out of the water.

* * * * * * *

Sebastian had picked Ravengar up bodily and hurried out of the hospital with him, the mantle securely enwrapping the pair of them. With a great effort he placed him in a taxicab which was standing outside. Leaving him covered, he went to the chauffeur with instructions to take him to a certain place where he knew he could find rest and a breathing space.

It was the upper floor of a garage on a small estate near the city, which he owned under an assumed name.

Upon this estate, in a cottage about a quarter of a mile from the garage, connected with it by wire, he had a chauffeur and caretaker and his wife. They knew Sebastian only by his alias.

Leontine had discovered the existence of this place, much to Sebastian's regret.

Sebastian dismissed the taxicab, and the chauffeur drove away, quite ignorant that he had conveyed more than one person to the garage. Sebastian had meanwhile removed Ravengar, who was still half conscious. He carried him up the stairs to the room above the garage. Then he bound him hand and foot and stood gazing at him triumphantly.

"Give Me That Bottle," She Cried.

At last he had his enemy in his power. And he meant to make full use of that power.

But he could not remain there to exact his vengeance. He must follow up Leontine. He administered a powerful South American drug, which would prolong the period of Ravengar's unconsciousness for a definite time. Then, leaving Ravengar bound, he hurried downstairs, opened the door, locked it behind him, and went off in search of his wife.

It was a novel experience for Sebastian, stalking through the city streets wrapped in invisibility.

He did not find Leontine at the hospital. But he met her at the back of the laboratory, with the results already indicated. He fought with Mr. Patrick McGuire, receiving some stunning blows from the wash-stick, he threw him bodily over the bridge, only to see him rescued by the rowboat's occupants. And, finally, he found the bottle of pellets floating against the support of the bridge.

He had achieved his purpose. Triumphantly he hastened back to the garage.

He found Ravengar just awakened from the effects of the drug. He stood over him and surveyed him, his eyes blazing with triumph.

"I've got you," he said. "I guess you're pretty helpless now. What are you going to do about it?"

"It looks to me as if it's up to you, Senor Navarre," responded Ravengar.

"It's not up to me, it's up to you," answered Sebastian. "What's the use of these pellets? Come, you may as well tell the truth."

"I never tell anything but the truth," said Ravengar.

"That's sense," said Sebastian.

"When I tell anything," continued the other, from his position upon the floor.

"I guess you'll tell me all right," said Sebastian, with a threatening gesture. "The game's up, isn't it? I've got you, and I've got your cloak. And I've got your pellets. What more is there to get, except your life?"

Ravengar smiled again. "Go ahead," he answered.

"I'm not a murderer, except when I have to be. I don't care if you're living or dead. What I want is to know the secret of these pellets? What's the use of them? I heard you talking to my wife in your laboratory, but I didn't get what you said about the pellets, except that they're black. Well, I know they're black. Any fool can see that. But what am I going to do with them?"

"Eat them," suggested Ravengar. "They won't hurt you. All they'll do will be to make you black inside, and you're that already, friend."

Sebastian scowled again. It was humiliating to be taunted by a man whose life was at his mercy.

"See here," he said. "I'll give you your life if you'll tell me what the pellets are for. Why shouldn't you and I go into partnership? We are the only people who know the secret. There ought to be a fortune in it. If it's my wife that's in the way, take her. I'm through with her."

"No, you cur! I'll tell you nothing."

Sebastian glared at him; and then there came to him the saving thought.

"I guess you don't have to," he grinned. "How about that journal?"

Ravengar's face turned white. It was Sebastian's master-stroke.

"It's all in there. I'm going to get it and find out all about the pellets. And then I'll come back and decide what to do with you."

He kicked Ravengar savagely and went out again.

* * * * * * *

Leontine, having lost the pellets, as she thought finally, in the waters of the river, was in despair. Ravengar was gone, the cloak was in Sebastian's possession; never had her hopes seemed at a lower ebb.

But one thing remained—the journal. With that she might happen upon some clue. She made her way back to the laboratory.

Everything was just as she left it. Sebastian had not been there.

At that moment she made another mistake. She omitted to lock herself in. But she was thinking of nothing except the journal.

She hurried to the safe, knelt down in front of it, and had speedily set the combination. She took out the journal, which Ravengar had replaced there before his hurried exit.

Suddenly, as she began to read, she became conscious that she was not alone. She looked back. The room was apparently empty.

Smothering her fears, she read:

"To all whom it may be known:

"I, Joseph Dexter, scientist, have discovered here on the ledge of Ravengar two treasures. One is of gold, the other of far greater value. The first I found—it is that of Sir Henry Morgan, buccaneer; the second I have made. Here in my dead hand—for I am dying—it may be found. It is three black pellets. To the finder they mean power beyond the wildest dream of man. They are—"

Leontine started. This time she knew her instinct had not deceived her. She looked back—into the face of Sebastian. He had thrown off his cloak and stood confronting her, a mocking sneer upon his face.

"Give that to me," he said, advancing.

"You shall not have it!"

"Give it to me!"

She ran from him, but he followed her, caught her at the door, and wrested the journal from her hand, in spite of her furious struggles.

She snatched it back and rushed toward the safe, thrust it inside, and tried to slam the door. But the ponderous mass of steel moved slowly, and Sebastian grasped the journal again. As Leontine tried once again to grapple with him he flung her to the floor. She fell full length, striking her head against the corner of the safe, and lay there stunned.

Sebastian glanced about him. This time he meant to finish with Leontine.

The room was littered with opened packing cases, stuffed with straw and excelsior. The furniture was of the mission style, all slats and slabs of hard oak. Sebastian gathered chairs and tables together in the middle of the laboratory, heaping about them excelsior from the cases. He made a pile of the stuff half as high as the ceiling, carrying armful after armful from the boxes.

Then he looked at Leontine. She was regaining consciousness. Her lips moved. Struck with a sudden curiosity, Sebastian went toward her. She uttered one word:

"Ravengar!"

Furiously he struck a match and applied it to the piled up straw and wood shavings. The place was ablaze in an instant.

Sebastian strode from the room, locked the door on the outside, and put the key in his pocket. Wrapped in his invisible mantle, he descended the stairs.

* * * * * * *

Ravengar, lying bound within the garage, hardly felt the savage kick that Sebastian gave him. He was not thinking at all of his own danger, but of Leontine. She must have witnessed his mysterious disappearance at the hospital; she would be searching for him; she would go back to the laboratory and meet her husband there.

He must save her. And, as soon as Sebastian had taken his departure, he fought desperately to free himself from his bonds. But it was in vain.

Suddenly he stopped struggling and looked about him. Somehow there must be a means of escape. He had been in worse positions than this, and had got out of them.

On one side of the room he perceived two wires, evidently those of an electric bell connected with the house of the estate on which the garage stood.

Ravengar began working his way, wormlike, along the floor. He had to use his back and body muscles as a medium for self-propulsion. In time he reached the wires, sore and dusty. He raised his feet in the air, reclining on his back upon the floor.

His feet, tied together, were thus exactly opposite the two wires. With about three inches of freedom at the ankles, Ravengar began to move them up and down alternately, pressing back the wires against the wooden beam behind them. He worked in this way for ten minutes.

Now an observer might have detected what he was doing. He was trying to rub off the protective covering of the wires. At last the strands of copper wire were visible. Then, with a last effort Ravengar pressed his feet together, bringing the two wires into direct contact and making a short circuit.

He kept them thus for perhaps half a minute before falling back exhausted. And a half-minute peal of an electric bell would throw consternation or anger into the heart of the most independent janitor or watchman anywhere.

It worked in this case. Half a mile distant Sebastian's chauffeur was seated beside his wife, smoking, when the bell rang.

"Them boys have gotten into the garage again!" exclaimed the good woman. "I'd give 'em a taste of the stick, Henry."

Henry put down his paper, thrust on his cap, and sallied forth to wreak justice upon the youthful malefactors.

By the time he reached the garage he was hot with indignation. There was nobody below. He rushed upstairs, to encounter Ravengar lying upon the floor, bound.

"What—!" he began.

"Your mistress is in danger," said Ravengar. "I have been attacked and bound here. Don't wait to ask any questions, but unfasten me and get the car at once."

The chauffeur took out his knife and cut Ravengar's bonds. Ravengar struggled painfully to his feet.

"Who—?" the chauffeur began.

"Get the car out. I'll take you there," answered Ravengar.

They hurried down the stairs together. In a few minutes the car started. It whirled out of the estate and began to thread the city streets.

"Go faster," cried Ravengar in the chauffeur's ear. "Her life is in peril. I'll give you five hundred dollars if we are there in time to save her. And if any cop tries to stop you, drive over him!"

* * * * * * *

Leontine awoke to find the laboratory filled with smoke. At first she did not know where she was.

Then, in a flash, she remembered. She was in Ravengar's workshop, and Sebastian had come and seized the precious journal. But how long ago?

Dizzily she tried to find the door, but the place was filled with whirling, choking smoke clouds, and in the center was a broad tongue of flame, already spreading along beneath the ceiling, catching at the rafters, and sending out a shower of sparks. Under the window she heard excited cries.

Leontine groped her way to the window and looked out. A crowd was gathering, watching the smoke clouds pouring forth. A cluster of men, seeing her, cried to her to wait, to stay there, that the engines were coming.

But Leontine did not understand what they were saying. The window was so high above the ground that a leap would be to certain death. However, its position enabled her to remember where the door was. She ran back through the room, skirting the blazing fire, which was now extending shoots of flame in every direction. They licked at her dress hungrily, but she won clear and found the door.

It was locked. Leontine tore at the handle fruitlessly. She remembered that she had not locked it behind her. Then her husband had set the fire and locked her in, to murder her.

Her anger at his vileness revived her fainting body. She hammered at the door, she flung her fists against it with all her might. It was in vain. She could no more open it than if it had been made of steel.

In despair she sank down in front of it. She could hardly breathe now, and life seemed ebbing away. She thought of Ravengar, of Jerry, and the personalities of the two men seemed to blend and intermingle in her consciousness. Then she felt herself slipping out of life.

Suddenly she heard feet on the stairs. Outside the vast crowd was watching a man—Ravengar—who had burst into the back entrance and was staggering up the smoke-filled stairway.

He reached the laboratory door and set his shoulder against it. Once—twice—at the third lunge the solid mass splintered at the hinges and half opened. A cloud of smoke shot through with fiery streaks, rushed out. Through it Ravengar dimly made out the conscious form of Leontine.

He reached across the ruins of the door, picked her up in his arms, and staggered down the stairway again. The flames, released by the fall of the door, and blown inward by the draft from the open window, seemed all about him. They leaped at him like living things, but he went on, shielding Leontine in his arms, and carrying her as if she were no heavier than a child.

As the fire engines dashed up to the front entrance and began playing upon the flames, which threatened the entire building, Ravengar made his way out at the back, where the crowd was smaller. He rushed with his precious burden across the street and entered the yard of the German woman whose son had found the pellets.

"Give me some water!" he said breathlessly.

Mr. Patrick McGuire came bustling up, but Ravengar, not knowing him, impatiently ordered him away.

"Sure, it's the lady that promised me foive hundred dollars for risking me loife for her," he said.

The water was brought, and, perhaps at the touch of this on her forehead, perhaps at Pat McGuire's voice, Leontine opened her eyes and smiled. Then she stretched out her arms to Ravengar. And he, overcome with happiness, dropped on his knees beside her.

She remembered; and there was no need of further explanations. Their happiness was too intense. Each had believed the other dead.

"Dearest!" whispered Leontine into his ear.

"Sebastian took the cloak and the pellets," said Ravengar in a low voice.

"And he has the journal, too," answered Leontine. "But what does that matter when I have you?"

"You love me?" asked Ravengar incredulously.

"Yes," she acknowledged. "Do you remember long ago when you sought my love, and I told you that it was Jerry's, my dead lover's, of years gone by? Since then I have come to feel that in some way I can love you without profaning that love I promised Jerry to keep for him, dead or alive, forever. I have come to feel that it is what Jerry himself would wish, could he but know—that I should love you. It is as if some message had come to me from him in his grave, or rather in his heaven, telling me that in returning your love I do no wrong."

She paused and looked at him earnestly, then laid her hand upon his arm.

"Ravengar," she said, "once, when I asked you your name, you told me that you were my shielding shadow. Now tell me who you are, Ravengar, and why you shield me so."

She hung breathlessly upon his answer. Ravengar turned to her.

"Leontine," he said, "I will tell you at last who I am. I am—"

Suddenly he ceased speaking. He was looking toward a window of a tenement house across the street. At the window he had seen Sebastian, staring at him, the invisible cloak concealing all but the face. Sebastian had seen them.

Leontine, watching him with wonder, was surprised when Ravengar suddenly released her and dashed at full speed across the street.

THE WAGON LICENSE TAX

We hear a great deal of discussion about the application of the new county road laws. Our people generally seem to be in a very open and inviting mood for the reception of whatever promises us better advantages in public roads and highways. It seems to be the general opinion that the new laws, when perfected and in effect, are good, and it is almost universallly accepted as true that when enforced, the several provisions will oring our county better roads and better facilities for making and maintaining them.

The only kick we have heard on the system is a weak little objection on the part of some saw mill men; and the strange part of it is that these mill men claim to base their opposition on the vehicle license clause, arguing that they oppose it, not because of any hardship or injustice which it works on the mill operators themselves, but that it is unjust to the farmers.

Now, it is indeed a new species of saw mill operators in Chilton County who raise up so readily to go out in defense of the farmers. However strange such a thing would be though, it would be at the same time very commendable to have these men help defend the farmers, in cases where they need defending.

But somehow, in this particular case, it looks to us very much like the mill man is "whipping the devil around the stump"; with the farmer whom he claims to be defending playing the part of the stump behind which he expects to shield himself from contact with the law.

The vehicle license does not place any burden at all on the farmer. Of course, if a farmer wants to haul lumber for two or three of the summer months, after he has "laid by" his crop, it is not unjust for him to contribute something for the up-keep of the road which he is to use. And he will not mind doing this, because in the first place it is right that he should do it, and in the second place, the better the road is the more he can make at his hauling.

It does place a burden on the saw mill man who operates a large number of lumber wagons, but happily, it is a just burden. It is nothing more than requiring him to fulfil a duty which he has heretofore been shunning—the duty of contributing materially to the up-keep of the roads which he continuously wears out by his excessive commercial lumber traffic.

The lumber men should not seek to further evade such duty under the disguise of an argument that the law, in the imposition of the license tax, is unjust to farmers, If it is unjust to the farmers, why have the farmers not said so? If it is unjust to the lumber hauler, let him base his objection on an argument that shows where in it is unjust. But if it is found to be good and commendable for all commercial heavy traffic over our roads to contribute thus to the upkeep of same, why, then let them do their part without a murmur, and not try to evade their duty by hiding behind somebody else.

The law was drafted with no other idea but absolute fairness to all, and likewise, everybody who is effected by its provisions should exercise nothing but fairness and honesty in complying with its provisions.

ONE-SIDED POLITICS

Many people in this state and the South are readers and in fact admirers of that splendid national publication, Colliers Weekly. Among its great wealth of literary matter published week after week, there is none more popular nor more interesting and truly masterful than the recent series of contributions by Julian Street, dealing with his so-called American Adventures.

Particularly are the last few numbers of his productions of interest to this section of the country, as he portrays the things he saw on his tour of Alabama and other southern states. Mr. Street does not deal with frivolous themes; his observations are deep and point out vital questions with his charming touch of vivid humor and pertinent portrayal of fact.

In this week's article he deals with "A Mississippi town," Columbus, and speaking broadly of the people in the South he says in part: "They need good newspapers. They need more good world news and national news, in place of county news and local briefs. In the whols South moreover there is need of general political news instead of biased news written always from inside the Democratic party."

We are glad to note this gem of truth in Mr. Street's article, as it brings us substantiation of a contention which we have made time and again. We of the South (few in number, however) who do not esteem the presumptory all-powerful saving grace of the Democratic party so highly; we who are ourselves southern, reaching such a conclusion as does Mr. Street, and making such a statement, are regarded lightly by our neighbors, the majority of whom have more faith in the "solid south" than we have. Consequently we are grateful to have a man of the breadth of mind of Mr. Street, voluntarily come out in such a strong vindication of our honest convictions.

What Senator Reed thinks of Hoover has been made known. What Hoover thinks of Senator Reed is not stated. Yet the debate on the food control bill in the Senate has again disclosed the fact that the most earnest of the opposition to the President's war plans comes from members of his own party and that, in this case, as with conscription and other fundamental proposals, it will be Republicans who will stand by the president. Nevertheless, we assume that Jimham Lewis and others of that ilk will continue to declare that a Republican voter who refuses to abandon his party and who will not vote for a Democratic candidate for Congress is a special election is for the Kaiser and against the President, for Prussianism and against liberty.

Hugh M. Dorsey, the Solicitor-Attorney, who made himself famous in the prosecution of Leo M. Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan, will, on next Saturday become Governor of the State of Georgia. He succeeds Governor Nat. Harris.

Just because they call them Fords, you needn't think a fellow can pour a jug of moonshine in one them and ford a creek fifteen feet deep at midnight, especially when he shoots at the bridge and misses it, and turns a sumersault down a ten-foot embankment.

Reports from Dallas County say that the corn crop is suffering severely for want of rain. In many instances the stalks are being cut for silage, because it is regarded as hopeless to make corn.

The new Exchange Hotel for Clanton will open for business next Saturday. The manager, Mr. Goodgame, states that everything will be in readiness, and he expects for his hotel to be second to none. He invites his friends to call around and inspect the place and eat with him when you are hungry.

We would hate to be a reformer and have the idea in aur conk that the welfare of the race depended on people doing as we wanted them to do.

FOR A WAR GOVERNMENT.

The wisdom of urging the formation of a war government by President is impressive. By discarding the party scheme, which prevents the selection of the best men in the country, the president could organize a government which would command confidence, and, we think, retain it.

This is not a war government. The men whe manage or who are supposed to manage the country's affairs in the most difficult and dangerous period were not chosen for their preeminent ability in the work which they now have to do.

The president may have been convinced, and may be convinced, that he selected able men of peculiar ability in the work he gave them, but he can hardly be convinced that he has the best men in the country, and he must be convinced that the country needs the best men.

With regard to Secretary Daniels, it is certain that the country has small confidence in his ability to administer naval affairs. Daniels is an admirable man, energetic, and no doubt conscientious, but if he was not the man for the navy before the war, what possible opinion could be held of his fitness now?

The government ought to utilize Colonel Roosevelt. The country must be inspired and its confidence must be strengthened. Roosevelt's worst enemies will concede that he has a dynamic effect upon morals. He knows how to develop enthusiasm. He also is an executive. He knows the navy.

We are not selecting places for the Colonel but we know that he ought to be used, and if he succeeded Daniels it would be known that the government had but one intent, and that to win the war.

Great Britain could not conduct the war upon party lines, and did not try to do so very long. It could not conduct the war without the aid of its best men, and the process of elimination went on, regardless of party and personality, until men were fitted in where they belonged.

We shall be forced to do the same thing, we believe, and the wisdom of doing it early seems undeniable.—Chicago Tribunc.

SPY, TRAITOR OR PATRIOT

A Senate committee is now endeavoring to find out who wrote to Senator Frelinghuysen telling about the defective amunition which was furnished to the steamship Mongolia and which caused the death of two Red Cross Nurses. Josephus Daniels says the writer is either a spy or a traitor. That he had access to information which was lodged in the confidentiol files of the navy department is clear—this might make him a spy. That he communicated this information to an anonymous letter-writer in Detroit is a fair deduction—this might make him a traitor. That the information came into the hands of a Senator who took immediate steps to find out the truth is certain—this may make the writer a patriot. For it is sure that the one thing most to be desired in this war in all of its phases is that the navy—and the army as well—shall be efficiently officed, adequately supplied and protected against the handicap of inferior fighting weapons. In the first Balkan War, the Turkish army found, on going into action against the Bulgars, that German contractors had foisted cartridges with wooden bullets upon the Young Turks; and the consequent disaster was irreparable. No such coarse work will attend even the most greedy of American contractors, we feel sure; yet the inferior shells which exploded with fatal results on Mongolia may be found elsewhere in our arsenals. It will do no harm to know who made these shells, when they were made, and wherein they were defective. This knowledge may save many lives in the future—and the man who has caused this knowledge to be brought out may prove to be a patriot of a very practical order.

The Steel Corporation, soul-less, being as it is, has declared an extra dividend of one per cent upon its common stock and has asked its stockholders to contribute the entire sum to the Red Cross. If they accede to the suggestion, the Red Cross will get five and a half millions toward the hundred millions which it is striving to raise. The outcome will become interesting. It will demonstrate whether the steel stockholders, having received this bit of "velvet", will send it on its way as the heartless directors of the corporation would desire; and that, in turn, will show whether "big business" or the little fellow has the broader view of national necessities and obligations.

If the authorities in charge of this government at Washington want to exert the greatest possible individual force toward winning the war, let them utilize the tremendous manpower of our greatest fighter, Colonel Roosevelt.

The nations of Europe have long since learned that they could not conduct their war along partisan lines.

They know that the energies of all parties must be concentrated. Knowing these things as they do, and knowing what a war power we have in Col. Roosevelt, how do you suppose that France and England regard our petty schemes to squelch Mr. Roosevelt because of narrow political enmity?

INSTRUCTIONS ON CANNING

We call your attention to the article in this week's Union-Banner, which contains instructions from the U. S. Department of Agriculture on methods of canning applicable for use in the South. We publish only a part of the article this week. It will be continued next week.

CANNING WITHOUT SUGAR

Washington, D. C., June 25.—Fruit for use in pie or salads or as stewed fruit can be put up or canned without the use of any sugar at all, according to the canning specialists of the Department. They, therefore, advise those, who because of the high price of sugar, have been thinking of reducing the amount of fruit they put up, to can as much of their surplus as they can by the use of boiling water when sugar syrup is beyond their means. Any fruit, they say, may be successfully sterilized and retained in the pack by simply adding boiling water instead of the hot syrup. The use of sugar, of course, is desirable in the canning of all kinds of fruits and makes a better and ready sweetened product. Moreover, most of the fruits when canned in water alone do not retain their natural flavor, texture and color as well as fruit put up in syrup. Fruit canned without sugar to be used for sauces or deserts must be sweetened.

Directions for Canning Fruits Without Syrup.

Can the product the same day it is picked. Cull, stem, or seed, and clean the fruit by placing it in a strainer and pouring water over it until it is clean. Pack the product thoroughly in glass jars or tin cans until they are full; use the handle of a table spoon, wooden ladle, or table knife for packing purposes. Pour over the fruit boiling water from a kettle, place rubbers and caps in position, partially seal if using glass jars, seal completely if using tin cans. Place the contents in a sterilizing vat such as a wash boiler with false bottom, or other receptacle improvised for the purpose.

If using a hot water bath outfit, process for thirty minutes, count the time the water has reached the boiling point; the water must cover the highest jar in container. After sterilizing remove packs, seal glass jars, wrap in paper to prevent bleaching and store in a dry, cool place.

If you are canning in tin cans it will improve the products to plunge the cans into cold mater immediately after sterilization. When using a steam pressure canner instead of the hot water bath, sterilize for 10 minutes with five-pounds of steam pressure to go over 10 pounds.

The Coming Baby

Every help that will tend to aid the expectant mother and foster the well-being of the tiny infant should be promptly rendered.

The time before childbirth is one of much discomfort. This is caused in a large measure by the tightening and straining of the abdominal tissues, as well as the network of cords, ligaments and muscles in that part of the body.

For many years thousands of women have successfully used the preparation known as "Mother's Friend." It is safe and dependable to be used by every prospective mother. A famous physician formulated the preparation. "Mother's Friend" is for external use, and is composed of special oils and other ingredients which have a penetrating and softening effect. Relief from much of the pain at the crisis is found.

Any woman awaiting childbirth should secure a bottle of "Mother's Friend" from her druggist, when the abdomen first begins to expand. No time should be lost in beginning its use. Apply it night and morning without fail. Address Bradfield Regulator Company, Dept. B, 554 Atlanta, Ga., for valuable guide book; it is free.

No matter how old or how homely a woman may be, you can flatter her by calling her a flirt.

Methods of Canning to use in the South

Home Methods as Taught by the U.S. Department of Agriculture In the Southern States.

Can surplus food but use jars and cans wisely.

Don't have an empty preserving jar in your home next fall.

Reserve regular tight-sealing containers for canning food.

Concentrate products so that each jar or can will hold as much food and as little water as possible.

Put up jams, jellies and preserves in wide-necked glasses sealed with cork or paper and paraffin. Pick fruit juices in ordinary bottles.

Don't can anything that can be kept just as well dried or in other forms. Dry navy and mature Lima beans for winter use.

Produce in your garden lots of cabbage, potatoes, and food crops that can be kept for winter without canning—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

It is more important this year than ever before that none of the surplus products of the garden should go to waste. The country needs food now and it will need food next winter, not only for itself but for the allies.

Home canned products may never leave the house in which they are made, but their consumption at home will mean so much more food available elsewhere for those who need it. It is imperative also that the canning be done carefully as well as energetically in order to preserve the more perishable products.

In the method taught by the specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture to the members of the canning clubs in the South, the first step is to see that all the necessary preparations are made before the vegetables or fruit are picked. "One hour from the field to the can" is a motto that every canner should have in mind. This is impossible if one has to prepare utensils and wash and scald cans after the fruits and vegetables have been brought into the house. The conditions of these is a prime factor in determining the quality of the finished product. Unless they are absolutely fresh, crisp and clean when they are put into the cans, a high grade article is impossible.

Preparing the product for the Can.

In case of tomatoes the fruits should first be graded and defective ones rejected. They should be lowered into boiling water for one minute; then plunged into cold water and peeled promptly. A slender, pointed knife should be used to cut out the core, care being taken not to cut into sed cells.

The next step for nearly all vegetables is blanching. This consists of plunging the product into boiling water in which it is allowed to remain for a time that varies with the state of maturity. Blanching gives a more thorough cleaning than ordinary washing, removes the strong odor and flavor from certain kinds of vegetables, improves the texture, insures a clear liquor, shrinks the article and makes it more flexible, and in this way facilitates the putting up of a full pack. A wire basket or cheesecloth square should be used for the purpose. After blanching, spraying fruit with cold water will make it firmer and it is also sometimes desirable to put vegetables into cold water for an instant in order to make them crisper.

Legal Requirements for Selling of Canned Foods.

Since the Federallaws governing the interstate shipment of food require cans to be filled as full of food as is practicable for processing, and to contain only enough liquor to fill the squares and cover the contents, it is necessary to see that all the cans are filled to a maximum capacity. A number of continers chould be weighed before and after filling in order that an accurate idea idea of the average net weight—in other words, the weight of the contents eyclusive of the cans—may be obtained. It should also be remembered that corn expands in processing to such an extent that containers filled with it can not be packed as full as with other vegetables. The cans should be marked with a pencil or knife to show contents. The necessity for this work should be foreseen so that there may be no delay and that the filled cans do not stand for any length of time before the air is exhausted from them.

After the fruit or vegetable is in the can, brine, sirup, or water should be added to within ¼ of an inch of the top and the can shaken gently to displace all air within. The groove around the opening is then cleaned and wiped and the cap slipped on. In order to make sure that the contents of the can have the required weight, the container should be weighed carefully before sealing.

If the weight is satisfactory, flux should be applied carefully around the groove with a small brush or cord, or a little mop made by tying a piece of clean white cloth around the end of a small stick. Great care must be taken to see that none of the flux enters the can. The clean, hot clapping steel is then applied, the cap being held in place with the center rod. As the steel is lowered it should be turned steadily until the solder flows. Hold the rod firmly and lift the steel with a sudden twist to swing the melted solder evenly around the groove.

Exhausting and Sterilizing.

The next step is to exhaust the air from the cans. To do this they should be placed in trays and lowered into boiling water to within one inch of the top. Ordinarily three minutes is long enough for the cans to remain in the water, which need not be brought again to the boiling point before the cans are taken out. A temperature of 180 degrees F. is frequently sufficient for exhausting. A failure to exhause results in the air which is left in the can expanding. This causes the can to bulge and gives the appearance of a "swell" which will not only prevent the sale of that can, but prejudices customers in future. The leaders in the government canning work insist that wherever the "4-H Brand" is used, exhausting shall be done.

After exhausting the small hole in the top of the can must be closed immediately. To do this apply flux as far capping and use a little wire solder to close the hole. Hold the solder with the left hand near the hols and barely touch the hot copper to it, so that only a bead will drop.

Save several dollars per ton on roughage

NO matter how much or little you are paying for old style hulls you always can save several dollars per ton by buying

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE
COTTONSEED
LINTLESS

You pay more for the old style hulls because you are paying for about a pound of lint to every three pounds of hulls.

You pay less for Buckeye Hulls because you pay only for hulls. The lint is sold separately.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls are 100 per cent roughage.	Every pound goes farther.
They do not contain lint which has no food value.	They allow better assimilation of other food.
You get 2000 lbs. of real roughage to the ton—not 1500.	No trash or dust.
	Sacked—easy to handle.
	They mix well with other forage.

R. S. Parkham, Greenville, Ga., says:
"I feed about fifty cows and calves and use Buckeye Hulls very successfully. I consider Buckeye Hulls as good feed and cheaper feed than the old style hulls."

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

Too Sick To Work

Many Women in this Condition Regain Health by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Convincing Proof of This Fact.

Ridgway, Penn. — "I suffered from female trouble with backache and pain in my side for over seven months so I could not do any of my work. I was treated by three different doctors and was getting discouraged when my sister-in-law told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. I decided to try it, and it restored my health, so I now do all of my housework which is not light as I have a little boy three years old." —Mrs. O. M. Rhines, Ridgway, Penn.

Mrs. Lindsey Now Keeps House For Seven.

Tennille, Ga.—"I want to tell you how much I have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About eight years ago I got in such a low state of health I was unable to keep house for three in the family. I had dull, tired, dizzy feelings, cold feet and hands nearly all the time and could scarcely sleep at all. The doctor said I had a severe case of ulceration and without an operation I would always be an invalid, but I told him I wanted to wait awhile. Our druggist advised my husband to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has entirely cured me. Now I keep house for seven and work in the garden some, too. I am so thankful I got this medicine. I feel as though it saved my life and have recommended it to others and they have been benefited".—Mrs. W. E. Lindsey, R. R. 3, Tennille, Ga.

Brazil Losing Rubber Trade.

One of the most striking economic changes in recent years has been the loss by Brazil of its dominant position in the rubber trade. Whereas, a few years back, the world looked to South America for most of its crude rubber, it is now getting the larger share from the far East. The Brazilian product is obtained from trees that grow wild, and little has been done toward cultivation of the trees. In Sumatra, Ceylon, Burmah and other countries millions of trees have been set out and are now coming into bearing. This domestic product is said to be slightly superior to that obtained from Brazil, and the trees improve with age. The financial loss to Brazil through its decreasing exports has become a serious matter.—New York Times.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

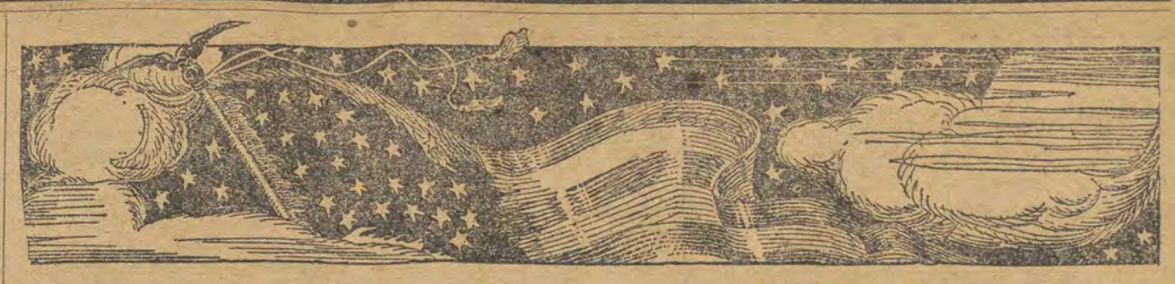
LESSON FOR JULY 1

ISAIAH'S CALL TO HEROIC SERVICE.

LESSON TEXT—Isaiah 6

GOLDEN TEXT—Also I heard the voice of the Lord saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I; send me.—Isa. 6:8.

The lesson committee now turn for a third quarter's lesson to a series of studies in the Old Testament as found in II Kings, Ezra and Nehemiah. As an introduction, they have chosen this chapter in the book of Isaiah.



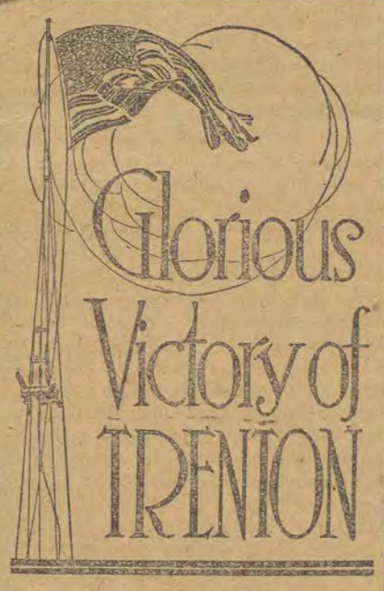
Isaiah prophesied in the latter half of Uzziah's reign, B. C. 760 and down to the early years of the reign of Manasseh about B. C. 694 (ch. 1:1). This event took place probably B. C. 755. The place was Jerusalem; the kingdom of Israel was still in existence (for 33 years longer) being utterly destroyed in B. C. 721. The name Isaiah means "the salvation of Jehovah;" his wife is called "the prophetess;" two of his sons are named and his social position was high, as shown by his intimacy with kings. Isaiah lived in troublous times. He was a reformer seeking to rescue his nation from the sins growing out of their disobedience to God. He was the leading statesman of his time, the greatest of the prophets, an author, a heroic, single-minded, patriotic, fearless, undaunted man of great personal power and influence. He was a prophet of hope; he wrote out of his long life of faithfulness and fellowship with God. The book of Isaiah falls into two great divisions; chapters 1-39 being chiefly historical, interspersed with songs and poems; chapters 40-66 are a collection of prophecies that have to do chiefly with the return from the Babylonian exile and the days of future glory for the kingdom of God.

I. Visions (vv. 1-4). As we have said, Isaiah prophesied in a time of great need. The prophet was very much discouraged. In this passage he locates his vision at a special time and place (ch. 1:1). Every man's great need today is a real vision of God. We are not so much in need of theories about God, as a vision of God himself. Uzziah's long reign of 52 years, in which the kingdom prospered and the king's name was spread abroad, stopped as suddenly as an earthquake, and his glory was eclipsed (see II Chron. 26:16-19). The place in which Isaiah saw his vision was the house of God. Perhaps not in the temple, but seeing the vision from the temple the prophet looks to a house not built with hands, Jehovah's own heavenly palace. Therein he saw "the Lord sitting on a throne . . . and his train filled the temple." Above it, or around it, were arranged hovering couriers and the seraphic choir. The majesty of this vision is indicated in verse two, its glory in verse three, and its power is indicated in verse four. The whole earth was filled with God's wondrous wisdom, love and power. Literally "the whole earth is full of his glory." The Hebrew word for holiness comes from a word meaning "to set apart—set a distance from." The holy Lord is not only sinless but he is sublime and absolute also. It may seem difficult to harmonize Isaiah's vision with John 1:18, yet these manifestations were one and the same, for all that saw Jesus saw God (John 14:9). King Uzziah was dead but the real king was living still, high and lifted up. The attempt to reason about him, what he must be and what he must not be, as if he were one of ourselves (Eph. 1:20, 21) is absurd.

II. Divisions (vv. 5-13). (I) The vision of the prophet (vv. 5-7). This vision brought conviction because it showed how far separated from God the prophet was. It also brought conversion in that he acknowledged himself to be unclean, himself and his surroundings to be vile. It also led to cleansing, for the king heard the voice of the prophet, removed his guilt and purged his sin. (2) The voice and proclamation from the king (vv. 8-13). The king called for a messenger (v. 8) and at once the prophet is found. Someone has said that "a task without a vision is drudgery; a vision without a task is a dream; while a task linked to a vision will move the world." Not only did the king ask for a messenger, but he gave the message which the messenger was to utter (vv. 9-12). The message [illegible] to be to his own people; it was not to be a pleasant one. Verse 13 shows us this message in prophecy. Isaiah ought to fully proclaim the truth, but the people would not understand it, and the whole effect of his proclamation would be to harden them.

The Application.

What is your application of this vision for Isaiah? We are a Christian nation, but there are many degrees and kinds of Christians; those who sincerely try to follow Jesus; those who live under a Christian government, and are unaffected by Christian influences. There is only one way to save this nation from going the way of Nineveh and Tyre; that is, that justice and righteousness shall govern and that justice and righteousness shall be the fruit of regenerated lives. The cry is for a better social environment and a more just social position.



The GLORIOUS FOURTH

The dawn of the Fourth—the old annual story—
The nervous man's dread and the small boy's glory.
The east is yet gray when all the land rumbles,
And the small cannon pops and the big cannon grumbles;
And the torrid sun creeps through a blue haze of powder,
And the torpedoes snap and the cannons boom louder—
On the Fourth of July—
The old-fashioned Fourth of July.

Glorious Victory of TRENTON

The winter night is cold and drear,
Along the river's sullen flow;
The cruel frost is camping here—
The air has living blades of snow.
Look! pushing from the icy strand,
With ensigns freezing in the air,
There sails a small, but mighty band,
Across the dang'rous Delaware.

A rush—a shout—a clarion call,
Salute the early morning's gray;
Now, roused invaders, yield, or fall;
The worthy land has won the day!
Soon shall the glorious news be hurled
Wherever men have wrongs to bear;
For freedom's torch illumes the world,
And God has crossed the Delaware!
—Will Carleton.

THE winter of 1776, the year of the glorious Declaration of Independence, found the fortunes of the budding nation at their lowest ebb. Beaten, buffeted and broken, the little army of George Washington had been pushed beyond the Delaware. He had scarce 4,000 men to command, while Cornwallis and Howe, the British commanders, had six times that many scattered over New Jersey and New York.

Many Americans were becoming disgusted with the war. Even Washington's troops were disheartened and he faced the calamity of having all but 1,500 of them quit the service the first of the year, when their enlistment expired. To make matters worse, General Gates and some other high officers in the army were trying to influence congress against Washington. They used every argument they could to discredit their leader.

Brilliant Strategy.

But while almost the entire country was losing heart, Washington was planning a brilliant stroke to revive the patriotism of the people and the enthusiasm of his troops. He determined to strike a blow at the British forces in New Jersey, a dangerous thing to do, one must admit, when it is remembered that he was outnumbered six to one.

He was too wise a man to risk battle with the main British force. He decided to attack one of the detachments occupying the various cities of New Jersey. After careful deliberation he selected Trenton as the point to be stormed. It was nearest his own position across the river and the majority of the troops there were Hessians, German soldiers England had hired to fight in America. Cornwallis and Howe had gone to New York with their staffs, where social life and gayety was at a higher pitch than in the little New Jersey towns.

Washington's plan was to cross the river Christmas night with a body of picked troops, a time when he thought the German commander, Colonel Rahl, and his officers and men would be carousing. He assembled the attacking force quietly on his side of the river.

Some of the troops Washington had ordered to join him failed to arrive at the crossing point in time. But despite that disappointment Washington pushed on. He determined to make the attack with the column he had accompanied. Washington's troops were so poorly clad on the march that day that a courier from General Gates in Philadelphia was able to trail Washington's force by bloody footprints in the snow. When men key their courage to that point nothing can stop them.

Patriots' Powder Spoiled.

Delay at the ferry made an attack before daylight impossible. Washington had hoped to surprise the British and Hessians. The river was filled with floating ice and it looked for a time as if most of the little army might be drowned in crossing. But fortune smiled on them and none was lost.

Once on the New Jersey side, at a point about nine miles from Trenton, a terrific storm of snow and sleet drove into the faces of the soldiers. It soon ruined what little powder Washington's men had, so the order was passed to rely on the bayonet. Washington divided his men into two columns, one under General Sullivan and one under General Greene. They were to march by different roads and attack the British outposts simultaneously.

Washington Watching the Last of His Troops Land Before the Battle.

"Advance and Charge!"

General Sullivan became somewhat dubious about the outcome while on the march and sent a messenger to Washington to ask what should be done. "Advance and charge," was Washington's succinct reply. Washington said in his report the next day that he might have retreated at this time had he thought he could have crossed the river without being discovered by the British.

It was nearly eight o'clock before the American advance met the first British outposts. The latter were attacked quickly and driven back on the town without trouble. A rattle of musketry from the outposts announced the beginning of the battle. Wayne Whipple says in his "Life of Washington" that the Americans were so mad that morning that they would have attacked the British with broomsticks.

Washington's surmise about Colonel Rahl and his officers was correct. They had spent the night at the home of Abraham Hunt, drinking and making merry. Hunt had furnished them an elaborate Christmas supper. While the supper was in progress, late that night, a negro servant entered the room and gave Colonel Rahl a note. The latter thrust it in his pocket without looking at it. It was fortunate for America that he was too drunk to act properly, for that note was from a Tory warning him of Washington's approach.

Hessian Colonel Killed.

While the officers drank and sang Washington's men had fought their way into the outskirts of the town. The British cannon was captured and trained down the streets on their former owners. The sound of firing brought realization of the danger to Colonel Rahl and he rushed from the Hunt house to form his men. He was a brave man, but he had stayed too long at his merrymaking. More than a thousand Hessians had surrendered already. Colonel Rahl rallied some men and made a show of resistance. Almost the first fire wounded him mortally.

When the Hessians saw their commander fall, some of them started to retreat toward Princeton. But Washington sent a detachment to head them off and they soon surrendered.

Long before noon the Americans were in possession of the entire city and the British and Hessian prisoners were being transported across the river for safe-keeping. Washington sent couriers to congress with the joyful news. It spread quickly over the country and enthused the cause of liberty so well that Washington was able to hold his army together and face the British in the spring with determination and courage.

PLENTY TO EAT BUT NO APPETITE

Tennessee Farmer Says He Came Near Being Knocked Out Last Summer.

HAS GAINED 25 POUNDS

"This Tanlac Just Took Right Hold of Me and Put Me on My Feet," He Says—Is Strong and Well and Don't Mind Work Now.

"It may sound unreasonable, and you may believe me or not, but after taking four bottles of Tanlac I have gained 25 pounds," said J. B. Williams, a well-known and prosperous farmer who resides at Greenbrier, Tenn., near Nashville, Tenn.

"I had a bad case of stomach trouble last summer, and it came pretty near knocking me out," continued Mr. Williams. "It was something like nervous indigestion. I began to go down hill. It looked like the more medicine I took and the harder I tried to get well, the worse I would get. We had pretty near everything to eat, but nothing tasted right, and I got so weak and nervous I couldn't do anything.

"Before I had this spell I weighed 160 pounds, and kept falling off until I got down to where I only weighed 135 pounds.

"I am now back to my regular weight again, and feel strong and well. My appetite is simply fine now, and I don't mind my work. This Tanlac just took right hold of me, and put me on my feet.

"Well, sir, the second day after I began taking it, I got hungry and oh, how good that old ham did taste! I sleep fine now, too, and am not nervous like I was. Even the barking of the dogs at night does not wake me up.

"I never believed a medicine could be made that would do anybody as much good as Tanlac has done me, and I want to recommend it to anybody who has suffered with the same trouble I have."

There is a Tanlac dealer in your town.—Adv.

Fully Qualified.

The clergyman had advertised for a butler, and the next morning after breakfast a well-dressed, clean-shaven young man in black was ushered into his study.

"Name, please?" asked the clergyman.

"Hilary Arbuthnot, sir."

Age?"

"Twenty-eight."

"What work have you been accustomed to?"

"I am a lawyer, sir."

The clergyman started. This was odd. However, he knew many were called in the law, but few chosen.

"But," he said, "do you understand the conduct of a household?"

"In a general way, yes," murmured the applicant.

"Can you carve?"

"Yes."

"Wash glass and silver?"

"I—er—think so."

The young man seemed embarrassed. He frowned and blushed. Just then the clergyman's wife entered.

"Are you married?" was the first question.

"That," said the young man, "was what I called to see your husband about, madam. I desire to know if he can make it convenient to officiate at my wedding at noon next Thursday week."

Particular Spot.

"Did the prisoner strike you in the height of exasperation?"

"No, sir; just between the eyes."

MONTGOMERY IS CHOSEN CAMP SITE

WAR DEPARTMENT APPROVES SELECTIONS MADE BY GENERAL WOOD.

TO PURCHASE FOREST TRACT

Forest Commission Authorizes Purchase of Several Thousand Acres in Alabama.

Washington.—The following six divisional camp sites for the National Guard in the Southeastern Department, selected by Major General Wood were approved by the War Department: Anniston, Ala.; Montgomery, Ala.; Greenville, S. C.; Spartanburg, S. C.; Augusta, Ga., and Macon, Ga. Three divisional camp sites remain to be selected in the Southeastern Department.

To Purchase National Forest Tract.

Washington.—Purchase of 51,916 acres of land in the White mountains and the southern Appalachians for inclusion in the national forests, was approved by the national forest reservation commission. The purchase of 40 different tracts, comprising approximately 7,750 acres on the Alabama national forest in Lawrence county, Alabama, was ordered.

Bar Association to Meet.

Birmingham.—Tentative program has been arranged for the annual meeting of the Alabama State Bar Association to be held here July 12, 13 and 14, and expectations are that upwards of 150 to 200 attorneys, some of them among the best known of the State, will be here. There will be several distinguished visitors, among them Judge Connors, a United States Justice of North Carolina, who is to deliver an important address. The program in mind now includes the opening session Thursday, July 12, at the Civic Association rooms at 10 a. m., for a business session, reports and appointment of committees. An automobile ride will be tendered the delegates in the afternoon at 4 o'clock and in the evening at 8 o'clock, at the Tutwiler Hotel ball room, the annual address of the President, Joseph H. Nathan, of Sheffield, will be delivered.

Two Soldiers Victims of Storm.

Anniston.—Two Birmingham soldiers were killed and two others injured during a thunderstorm here, when lightning struck their tent at the military camp here. The boys were members of L Troop, First Cavalry, Alabama National Guard. The dead are: Corporal Shirley Faulkner; Private Robert E. Humphries. The injured: Private Bearden, stunned and bruised; Private Carter, stunned. The lightning struck a metal covered vent in the top of the tent, which in Winter is used to pass a stove pipe. It passed down the tent pole. Five men were in the tent at the time.

Slacker Search Started.

Mobile.—A number of slackers are reported in varoius parts of the State, which will be combed by Deputy Federal Marshals, according to news received here by United States Marshal C. C. Gewin. The telegram came from District Attorney A. D. Pitts, who is at Selma directing operations against the slackers. A number of slackers are reported in Perry, Dale and Dallas Counties.

Crops Badly Damaged.

Albany.—Reports of hail storms so tremendous that they have caused incredulous amazement were received in this city from surrounding country. One especially severe storm was experienced by a large part of Lawrence County, crops being damaged considerably. Another hail storm in this county is reported to have piled hail several inches in the growing cotton fields.

Recruiting is Urged.

Huntsville.—That Huntsville and Madison County are sending their full quota of men to the army and navy is attested by the recruiting officers for the navy and army who have been stationed here during the last few months. More than one hundred men have been accepted in the navy and 200 for the regular army and militia.

Gadsden to Get Factory.

Gadsden.—The broom factory located at Rome, Ga., will be moved to Gadsden in the near future, according to the announcement of Dr. Bond, who is connected with the factory.

Not a Single Slacker.

Russellville.—The total registration for Franklin County amounts to 1,819, according to an official report with not a single "slacker."

Plant Ready to Start.

Tuscaloosa.—Everything is in readiness for the beginning of operation by the Tuscaloosa Canning Company, except the placing of the large boiler that will make the steam for the new industry. One carload of cans has already been received for use in the plant.

Artillery Camp Work to Start.

Anniston.—Major A. C. Williams, who has succeeded to the position held by Col. C. P. Summerall in the United States army, arrived at Anniston and went at once into consultation with Major Dulin and members of the Anniston Chamber of Commerce in regard to the artillery camp to be located here this summer. Preparations are going on rapidly under supervision of Major Dulin for the artillery encampment. The construction of the line of railway from the Southern tracks to the camp scene is well under way, having gone as far as the Jacksonville road, and it is understood that work will begin soon on the necessary houses to accommodate the artillerymen, who will begin to arrive here next month.

Mobile Exports Show an Increase.

Mobile.—An increase of over a million dollars in exports from the port of Mobile for May over April, was reported by Collector of Port Percy W. Maer. May exports totalled $4,267,606, while April's reached $3,131,522, an increase for the month of May of $1,135,083. A corresponding increase is noted n the exports for European ports. The increase over May, 1916, is $115,963. During May 59,616 bushels of corn, valued at $72,891, was exported. Eggs to the amount of 14,310 dozen, valued at $5,403, were exported. During May 48,218 bushels of oats, valued at $35,136, went out of the Mobile district. Rosin weighing 11,400 pounds and valued at $71,218 was exported from the ports of this district. Lumber products totalling $353,796 were shipped from the Mobile District. Staves valued at $25,000 were exported and railroad ties costing $49,477 were shipped through the local district. Upland cotton totalling $53,783 was sent to England through this port. The Mobile district includes the ports of Pascagoula, Biloxi and Gulfport, but Mobile ships over 90 per cent of the total for the district.

Canning Plant Turning Out Goods.

Birmingham.—Forty canning plants, units in the chain of the Alabama Marketing and Canning Company, are now, in the beginning of the active canning season, turning out 100,000 cans of vegetables every working day. The principal plant of the chain is located in Birmingham. It serves as the head or principal unit of the chain. Canning is being done at the Birmingham plant on a large scale, the entire surplus product of the home gardeners and all truck farmers within reach of the city being used. Beans are now being canned, as the first crop to be placed upon the market. Later tomatoes, corn, fruits and vegetables of every native kind will be canned in huge quantities.

Convicts in Mines Getting Ext[illegible]

Birmingham.—Nineteen hundred dollars extra money is being paid to the convicts working at the Flat Top mines of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company for overtime done in May. The State has charge of the convicts at this place. Walter Gresham being warden. The greatest output of coal in the history of this mine was noted during last month, a total of 42,780 tons being mined. The canvass made of the entire convict camp at Flat Top for registration under the call of the government showed that there are 255 men out of 450 who are eligible fro war purposes so far as their ages are concerned. Thirty per cent of those eligible are in the penitentiary on long sentences.

Pharmacists to Meet in Huntsville.

Tuscaloosa.—The Alabama Pharmaceutical Association selected Huntsville as the next meeting place over Birmingham and Mobile, at the closing session held here, and the following officers were elected: President, C. R. Walker, Ensley; First Vice President, J. F. Spearman, Anniston; Second Vice President, Luther Davis, of Tuscaloosa; Treasurer, H. L. Toomer, Auburn; Secretary, W. E. Bingham, Tuscaloosa.

Bond Issue Passes.

Selma.—An election was held in Selma on the question of issuing $40,000 school bonds for building more school houses in Selma. The bonds will be issued, as the vote against them was small. The funds will be spent in building better school houses in the several different parts of the city, where schools are now located and on new sites. Old houses will be improved and new ones built.

Annex is Authorized.

Haleyville.—The citizens of Haleyville have decided to build a brick annex of three large rooms to the public school building to accommodate the large influx of pupils when school begins next September. Work will be rapidly pushed so the new quarters will be ready for the pupils at the beginning of the Fall term.

Road Almost Complete.

Clanton.—The new railroad from Lomax, Ala., east to the Coosa River is about ready to handle the trains. This road leads in to Lomax, where it connects with a spur of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. The Vida Lumber Company has a number of hands employed now building the large mill at Lomax. It is estimated that it will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 or $75,000 to lay the above railroad and build the mill house before the company can begin the cutting of lumber.

GRIM GAS BATTLES FOUGHT

Asphyxiating Shells Fired in Great Quantities by Both Sides in Struggles on British Front.

Andre Tudesq, writing of the battles on the British front, says there was such an expenditure of asphyxiating shells one day that six hours after the last deluge of them suffocating smells were still passed through.

Lavish expenditure of gas on both sides form a characteristic of the furious attacks and counter-attacks which have been delivered day and night round these two villages. The mask is here as precious as the grenade or the rifle.

As in a frightful carnival, in the manner of Edgar Allan Poe, one could see in the night on the slopes west of Fresnoy entire regiments in mastks, fighting and killing each other in the midst of black vapors, which were rendered more fantastic by the light of the moon.

The hand-to-hand struggle thus took on most singular forms. Throwing away their arms the combatants would fly at each others' throats and try to tear away each other's masks. Few prisoners were taken in these encounters, and the wounded are fewer still. Death alone receives the lion's share."

CALOMEL SICKENS! IT SALIVATES! DON'T STAY BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED

I Guarantee "Dodson's Liver Tone" Will Give You the Best Liver and Bowel Cleansing You Ever Had—Don't Lose a Day's Work!

Calomel makes you sick; you lose a day's work. Calomel is quicksilver and it salivates; calomel injures your liver.

If you are bilious, feel lazy, sluggish and all knocked out, if your bowels are constipated and your head aches or stomach is sour, just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone instead of using sickening, salivating calomel. Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working. You'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal guarantee that it will clean your sluggish liver better than nasty calomel; it won't make you sick and you can eat anything you want without being salivated. Your druggist guarantees that each spoonful will start your liver, clean your bowels and straighten you up by morning or you can have your money back. Children gladly take Dodson's Liver Tone because it is pleasant tasting and doesn't gripe or cramp or make them sick.

I am selling millions of bottles of Dodson's Liver Tone to people who have found that this pleasant, vegetable, liver medicine takes the place of dangerous calomel. Buy one bottle on my sound, reliable guarantee. Ask your druggist or storekeeper about me. Adv.

Albert Chevalier tells the following:

"One night," remarked the famous comedian, "in a certain music hall where there was a notoriously bad orchestra, the manager suddenly appeared on the stage and apologized for the absence of a favorite comic singer whose name was a great feature.

"The manager explained that he had every reason to believe that the artist in question would positively appear later on; and then, by way of throwing oil on troubled waters, suggested, in order to avoid a wait, that the audience should be favored with a little music.

"As he announced this, a pathetic voice in the gallery was heard:

"Oh, I soy, Mr. Manager, we'll be good if yer don't let the band play!"

ANY CORN LIFTS OUT, DOESN'T HURT A BIT!

No foolishness! Lift your corns and calluses off with fingers—It's like magic!

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn, can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you apply upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

For little cost one can get a small bottle of freezone at any drug store, which will positively rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain.

This simple drug dries the moment it is applied and does not even irritate the surrounding skin while applying it or afterwards.

This announcement will interest many of our readers. If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to surely get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

WE FELT LIKE CHEERING

Wednesday morning the Editor observed a couple of Canning Club girls (we do not know their names) arrayed white aprons and caps, walking intently through the middle of the Main Street of Clanton, making their way to the high school building where the club girls are in studious work this week taking a short course in canning.

By their quiet, unassuming mein, as they proceeded on their way as thoughtlessly as they would stroll down through the field with a basket on their arm in quest of a "turn" of tomatoes, they impressed us deeply. We almost felt like giving them a cheer or two for the splendid parade which they made, so completely unmindful of the observance of so many spectators.

ORGANIZATION OF RED CROSS WORK IN COUNTY PERFECTED

The local branches of the Red Cross work, which will begin actively for raising funds for the cause in Chilton County right away, have about completed organization. Arrangements have been made for the employment of the efforts of both men and women in the work and soon the matter of raising subscriptions will be under way.

Thursday morning at 9 o'clock there will be a meeting at the Upchurch Drug Store in Clanton for the purpose of completing details of the organization of the women's auxiliary department.

The following is the personnell of the executive committee in charge of the work in the county: Rev. T. G. Jones, Chairman; Judge L. H. Reynolds, Vice-Chairman; J. D. Martin, Secy-Treas.; B. Guy Smith, Publicity Agent; E. E. Upchurch, W. W. Fox, Ross Mullins.

Everyone is familiar with the aims and purposes of the Red Cross work. It is useless to take time to explain the matter. The things which the Red Cross organization accomplishes in the way of bringing aid and comfort to the fallen and wounded on the battle field is a matter of common knowledge to all civilization the world over.

Everyone in Chilton County who is the least bit able to do so, should contribute his or her mite to the cause.

THORSBY ITEMS

Mrs. C. M. Williams and daughter, Martha went to Birmingham Thursday of last week returning Saturday evening. They were accompanied home by Miss Bernice Williams, who had been visiting relatives the past fortnight in Birmingham.

The Ladies Guild will meet with Mrs. E. F. Mead on Thursday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Peterson and little son, of Prattville, spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Peterson.

Mr. Clifford Peterson and bride have been visiting at the home of the groom's parents for the past week. They leave this week to take up their residence in Detroit, Mich.

Mr. Walter Morgan left Wednesday evening of last week for Birmingham going from there to Talladega where he spent the week end with his mother, and returned to Thorsby Sunday.

Mr. C. P. Turnquist of this place will leave this week for Waterville, Minn., accompanying his daughter, Mrs. S. A. Thorson on her return home.

The morning service at the Congregational Church next Sunday will be the regular quarterly communion service. In connection with this service the pastor will present the practical aspects of the food campaign, as requested by Mr. Hoover. At this time also members of the church and others interested will bring their contributions for the Thorsby Fund for American relief. Every one is invited to be present.

In addition to the morning preaching service at 11 o'clock the other services at the Congregational church next Sunday will consist of the following: Sunday School at 9:45, Junior Christian Endeavor at 4:30, Y. P. S. C. E. at 7:00 subject "Little things Make or Mar," Song of Solomon 255, Prov. 25:11, leader Miss Lorena Graham. Following the Christian Endeavor Society will be brief evening service beginning at 8 o'clock a cordial welcome is extended to all.

Mrs. Hawthorne, who resided for several years in Thorsby, died recently in Los Angeles, California.

Miss Elizabeth C. Wilkins of Delaware, Ohio, a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University School of Music, has been elected music teacher for Thorsby Institute for the coming year and has accepted the position. She comes highly recommended.

Plans are being made for the raising of a considerable fund in Thorsby for the relief of starving mothers and children in Armenia. Latest reports indicate that fully 4,000 have been driven from their homes by the Turks and are facing actual starvation, while hundreds are already dead. It is hoped that the people of Thorsby will make a generous response to this appeal and help in making the fund a worthwhile expression of the spirit of Christian brotherhood and helpfulness. Contributions for the fund may be left with any of the merchants in whose store windows the posters are displayed or may be mailed to Pastor S. H. Herbert of the Congregational Church.

CAMBELL SHOT BY GLASS ON MONDAY

Tragic Incident in Stumps Hills Resulted in Instant Death of Prominent Man.

Early last Monday morning a dispute between Perry Glass, a white man about 23 years old, and Jim Cambell, a prominent farmer and citizen of Stumps Hills, in northeast Chilton, resulted in the shooting of Cambell by Glass. Death was the immediate result.

The misunderstanding which led up to the unfortunate incident arose about some farming matters. Glass had been a tenant on the farm of Mr. Cambell, and had concluded to remove from the place without consulting Cambell. When the latter learned of the intentions of his tenant to remove, he went to the house in which Glass lived, and found him loading his household goods, preparatory to moving. In the little dispute about Glass taking away some fruit from the place, Cambell began a search of the bundles which were being loaded on the wagon. Glass requested him to cease his search, and upon a continuance of the inquiry Glass became too much agitated. He drew his pistol and shot Cambell. Some two or three witnesses were present and saw the whole transaction.

After committing the deed, Glass fled. When Sheriff Harris and his officers arrived on the scene about noon, they received intimation that the miscreant had intentions of going to Montgomery to join the army as a shield for his crime. Communications to the authorities in Montgomery put them on the outlook for the man, and Wednesday morning Sheriff Harris was notified that he was under arrest down there. He went immediately and brought his prisoner back to Clanton late Wednesday afternoon and lodged him in the jail to await the action of the law.

The man who was killed was a very prominent citizen in the northern section of the county. He was about 50 years old, and was a member of the order of Odd Fellows. Deputation of his brotherhood officiated at his burial at the Cambell Graveyard on Tuesday.

MULBERRY CANNING CLUB

We want to thank the people of Clanton for the kindness and hearty welcome which they showed us while we were there during the short course in canning. We all sure enjoyed being there and hope we will have another short course next year which we will enjoy just as well.

We not only had a nice time but we also learned many new things about how to can our products for the market, and learned how to be useful around the house and how to save many things that might be wasted—such as taking broken and partly decayed tomatoes and make pickles, catsup, etc.

We enjoyed the talks made by the men and women and we will try to put the advice they gave us into practice that we may have more good things to eat ourselves and have some to send to our soldier boys if they call on us for food.

We are glad we have Mrs. Jones to show us and to teach us how to can our products and hope she will be with us another year.

We enjoyed the "Alabama Travelog" at the moving picture theatre which showed fine pictures of aur own state. We also enjoyed the "Shine Girl" and thank the people for giving us free tickets.

Some of us are not having good luck with our tomatoes. We have nice large plants growing but there are only a few tomatoes on them and they have about quit blooming and seem like there is not going to be many tomatoes on the plants. We would like to have some advice from some of the club members as to what they would do if their plants were this way.

Before I close, will say that there will be a club meeting at D. O. Manning's Saturday afternoon, July 6th. Would like for every member of this club to be present. We will try to learn something ourselves. Would be glad to have Mrs. Jones with us if she could come.

With best wishes to every club member, FLOSSIE MANNING, Pres.
VERA WHITE, Secy.

LIFE INSURANCE TO ALL MEN IN ARMY IS GIVEN APPROVAL

Washington, July 3.—Issuance by the government itself of the insurance that is to be given to every man in the country's fighting forces, was approved to day by more than a hundred prominent insurance company officials in conference at the treasury department. Legislation to carry such a plan into effect will be asked of Congress at this session.

Creation of a bureau of service insurance or extension of the present war risk bureau to undertake the work probably will be proposed. The detail will be worked out by a committee of insurance men, co-operating with Secretary McAdoo and officials of the war, navy and commerce departments, and of the council of national defense.

The insurance officials who came to the treasury today at Mr. McAdoo's invitation, told Secretary McAdoo that they are not eager to handle the business, as they have no precedent figures upon which to compute risk.

Most of the companies suggested that the government guarantee a limited indemnity, and permit individuals in the service to carry further insurance in private companies.

BOLL WEEVILS IN EAST ALA.

Many complaints of boll weevil activities are coming from counties in east Alabama, that lie near or adjacent to the Alabama-Georgia line. This territory including some of the hill counties in north-east Alabama has its second year of weevil infestation. It is the history of the weevis to be worse during the second year of infestation, unless prohibited by dry weather, frequent hot mulch cultivation, collecting and destroying weevils and punctured squares. It was naturally expected that north and east Alabama would have the hardest fight this year because of the reasons already mentioned; and more rain having fallen in that section during the growing season than in the remainder of the state. Farmers should fight hard now while the cotton is small and the first generation of weevils are being propagated. Weevils should be caught, infested squares collected and destroyed as quickly and as much as possible. The soil should be plowed once a week and better if oftener. Plow shallow in the hottest part of the day and avoid plowing up moist soil any more than can be helped. Keep brush or something effective attached to the plow to agitate but not bruise the cotton. Work and fight fast now. Either you or the weevils will have the advantage at the end of the next two weeks.

PLANT FALL IRISH POTATOES

The spring crop of Irish Potatoes has been either harvested or should be as they have done all they will do and it is a waste to leave them in the ground any longer. You will find many small potatoes which will not do for commercial or domestic uses. These little potatoes can be gathered and placed in a cool dry place for about two weeks to dry, then place them in a cool damp place until they begin to sprout. About the second or third week in July plant them in fertile moist soil, cultivate and keep the bugs off and a good fall crop can be expected. You cannot get a stand of potatoes during hot weather unless you germinate (sprout) them. Fall grown potatoes are easily kept over the winter and make ideal seed for spring planting. I am told that the stands of the easter potato crop are very poor and that we will have to grow our winter supply if we have them, as the price of Northern grown potatoes will be prohibitive.

SAVE OATS AND WHEAT SEED

The oat crop was so small in Alabama this year that seed oats cannot be had in the state this fall. Speculators are buying up all the good seed oats and the price which you will probably have to pay this fall will be staggering. Save all the good wheat for the same reason as Alabama needs and must increase her wheat crop next year.

NO CAPITAL SKYSCRAPERS

A measure that will do much to preserve the appearance of the streets of Washington has been introduced in the Senate by Hon. Charles Curtis of Kansas. It provides that no building of a greater height than seventy feet shall be erected on Sixteenth Street or Massachusetts Avenue, two of the most beautiful thoroughfares of the capital city, or on any other streets that the Commissioners of the District of Columbia may designate. The presentation of this bill is but one of the many evidences of the interest that Senator Curtis takes in the beautification of Washington. In his work on the Appropriations Committee and, during his former service in the Senate (on the District of Columbia Committee), the Senator has never lost any opportunity to add to the attractions of the National Capital and the welfare of its people.

DEMAND FOR INCREASED EFFICIENCY IN SCHOOLS

State Supt. W. F. Feagin Advocates Cheaper Rates.

Now and then we find a person who says, not exactly under breath either, that it might be well to close our schools because of the war. While there is no danger that this will happen, there is a possibility that school boards may feel it necessary to keep education up to a high standard of efficiency while the war is on. People of this kind have evidently not thought seriously of what they are saying; rather, under the excitement of a disturbed condition, they have hastened to a conclusion that has no justification.

We have already gone far enough to see that a heavy financial burden will fall on this and the next generation, and nothing could be more shortsighted than the view that we should retrench by giving the children in the elementary and high schools a cheaper type of school advantages than they now have. Our standards are already far below the level that we could wish, and in the nothing coulde mro rheo tardttandss face of the present world crisis, nothing could be more important than that we train our children the best we can to have their part in building up the industries and commerce of the world.

England's Regret.

England inaugurated a policy of retrenchment in her public school system at the outbreak of the war. The attendance in the elementary schools was greatly decreased. The authorities, however, now admit that juvenile delinquency has increased and that child labor is stunting the physical and mental growth of the children.

One of the lessons we should learn from this war should be a greater efficiency in our elementary schools, thereby increasing thrift on the one hand and the development of patriotism on the other.

Desirable Bulletins.

Write the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C., for a copy of a four-page circular of information on the national flag and its history. Every teacher should also have a copy of "How the War Came to America" prepared by the Committee on Public Information, Washington, D. C.

School Improvement.

Among the many interesting results due to the activities of school improvement associations, the following extracts are typical:

Educating public sentiment so that money was voted for a new building.

Influencing the Board of Education to purchase a vacant lot next to the school building for a needed playground.

Securing pictures for the school.

Securing a library.

Buying a piano.

Buying a sewing machine.

Bring about the use of the school as a community center. The school was open last Saturday night for the young people. Lights were brought and games provided.

Arranging for a series of lectures on food values.

Organizing and carrying out of anti-fly campaigns.

Encouraging and managing home garden work.

ALL DAY SINGING AT MARS HILL

There will be an all day union singing at Mars Hill the third Sunday in July given by the Sunday School of Mars Hill. The books we expect to use will be the Old Christian Harmony and the Joyful Praise 1917 Book. We propose to give half time to the old books and half time to the new ones. Everybody come and bring your books and dinner and let's have a good union singing and dinner also. We shall expect to have good behavior on that day and we advise all dram drinkers to not bring any booze with them as they may get into trouble.

Everybody come with their hearts full of praise and thanksgiving and make the day a good service.

MULBERRY NEWS

The farmers of this community are busy laying by their crops. The rain will throw them somewhat behind.

Mr. Andrew Deason and family are visiting relatives in this community for several weeks.

Miss Jessie Wright entertained a crowd of young people Saturday night and from reports they all had a nice time.

Mr. Joe Varden near here has been ill for the past week but we hope he will recover soon.

Some of the young people enjoyed the day Sunday by going to Lock 12 and then back by Collins Chapel.

The girls of this community enjoyed the few days they spent at the short course and would not have cared if it had lasted a while longer.

After Sunday School at Mulberry Sunday afternoon there was a crowd of young people who went to Golden Ridge to prayer meeting.

Charles Williams has purchased him a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Manning and Mr. Will White attended the Masonic meeting at Maplesville on last Tuesday night.

You must help yourself in this world. The reason is that other people are about as selfish as yourself.

THANKS FROM REPRESENTATIVES OF SHORT COURSE

We as representatives of the Short Course wish to express our thanks, 1st to the people of Clanton for their generosity in opening their homes to us and for their lavish hospitality; 2nd to the citizens for the excellent lunch served to us on Wednesday, and to all in general for their many and various attentions extended to us while in their midst; 3rd, to the Chero-Cola Co. for their refreshing drinks;and 4th to Mr. Emmett A. HENRY C. YOUNG DIED SUDDENLY IN BIRMINGHAM

News of the sudden death of Mr. Henry C. Young in Birmingham was telephoned to members of his family here Monday afternoon. The deceased was an old citizen of this county, having lived in Jumbo neighborhood for many years. He removed to Birmingham about a couple of years ago.

For several years past it has been known that Mr. Young was in a feeble state of health, and his sudden death does not come as such a surprise to his friends and relatives. However, his large number of acquaintances in this community will regret to learn of the sadness of his demise.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. DRIVER

It is with a sad heart that I will try to write a few lines in memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. D. C. Driver, wife of E. Driver, whom the dear Lord saw fit to call away from this sinful world on the morning of June 23rd.

She was forty-three years old. She had been a faithful member of the Primitive Baptist Church for a number of years, and was always at her post unless sickness prevented. And she will be greatly missed, but no where so much here. It seems almost impossible for us to give her up, our loss is her gain.

She was sick two weeks with measles and pneumonia.

I hear the low wind sweeping
Through every bush and tree,
Where my dear mother's sleeping
Away from home and me.
Tears from my eyes are falling,
Deep sorrow shades my brow;
Cold, in the grove she's sleeping.
I've no sweet mother now.
But we hope to meet dear mother
On that eternal shore,
And there we'll be together,
Where parting is no more.

Written by her daughter,
Mrs. E. R. SHARBUTT.

J. L. Gore, G. D. Retherford and H. A. J. Harris, attended the funeral of Jim Cambell at Cambell Graveyard in Stumps Hills on Tuesday. Mr. Cambell was a member of the I.O.O.F. encampment, and it was as representatives of that body that the gentlemen above named attended the funeral.

Johnny Pool of Shiloh was in Clanton Tuesday on business.

WRITING SCHOOL AT CONCORD

On Monday, July 9th, there will be a writing school to begin at Concord School House, three miles east of Clanton, taught by Prof. J. E. Thornton of Carrollton, Ga. Prof. Thornton will teach in the place of J. C. Brown, who had formerly arranged for the school. Mr. Thornton is one of the best penmen in the South, and it is hoped that he will have a good representative school.

CHILTON COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION SUNDAY

Profitable Meeting and Splendid Singing is Result of The Days Session.

The Chilton County Singing Convention met with Providence Church the First Sunday in July in its regular annual session, and rendered a very good program. We were called to order at 10:15, a.m. with a song by our president, and prayer by W.H. Robinson. A short business conference was held to elect officers for the coming year, and R. A. Smith was re-elected President, F. Iven Popwell Secretary, G. C. Powell, Vice-President, R. M. Robinson Chaplain, J. W. Lowery, J. W. Cleckler, and W. G. Culp were appointed executive committee.

J. W. Cleckler, T. G. Wyatt and Lee Robinson were appointed as program committee. The directors for the a.m. were W. G. Culp, H. M. Eagle, and R. T. Grant.

Prof. Eagle was given unlimited time and he sang several songs and made a short but enthusiastic talk on "The importance of co-operation in the convention." The other two directors sang fifteen minutes each.

At noon refreshments prepared by the good ladies were served in abundance.

Our president called the house to order at 1:30 o'clock with song, after which O. L. Devaughn, J. W. Lowery, Lee Robinson, H. M. Eagle, Riley Robinson and W. H. Robinson directed fifteen minutes each. Organists for the day were Miss Lillian Robinson, and Messrs H. M. Eagle, W. G. Culp, and C. H. Robinson.

$2.10 was collected to pay for minutes.

The following resolutions were drawn up by R. T. Grant, and F. Iven Popwell, which was unanimously adopted by the convention:

Resolved first—that the convention extend their thanks to the people of Providence community for their kindness in caring for this session of the body in such a hospitable manner.

Resolved second—that the convention extend its thanks to the singers and leaders for their co-operation and success in the session of the convention and wish to extend to the highest success; especially to H. M. Eagle in the cause of music in the county, and for his attendance at this session of the convention.

Resolved third—that all of the members of the convention and all members in various churches in the county to support the convention in the future, in order that we may attain a higher standard of efficiency in our efforts to advance the cause in which we are joined together.

We were dismissed at 3:30 singing "God be with you till we meet again" led by the president. Prayer by W. H. Robinson.

F. IVEN POPWELL, Secy-Treas.

If you want to see a real demonstration of kissing and slobbering just be around when two girl chums meet when they haven't seen each other for about two hours.

All mothers and fathers should see "Mothers of France" at the Ideal Theatre (Candy Store) Clanton, on Monday, July 16th. See announcement elsewhere. This is an attraction no one should miss.

Congress is arguing so much tommy rot and so strong for reform that it would not surprise us to see them write out the unwritten law and use it as an amendment to some war measure.

MEN NEEDED FOR SERVICE

Uncle Sam Pays All Expenses and Monthly Wage Is All Velvet—"There Is Always Room at the Top," True of Navy.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Sailors of the American navy, many of them young men who only a year ago were on the farm, at the bench, at the counter, or in school, today are in Uncle Sam's destroyers sailing the waters of the northern seas, where they are engaged in the heroic duty of upholding the world principle of freedom for all peoples.

The American people always have shown a kindly disposition toward the man-of-war and the man-o'-warsman. There has been an appeal about the sea which has drawn and held the interest of landsmen who never smelt salt water. Americans always have taken a pride in their navy.

Today Uncle Sam needs men for his navy and he wishes to get them from the ranks of those who are charged with the volunteer spirit of service. Our great fleet is mobilized "somewhere on the coast" for possible deadly service with the great fleet of the enemy. Today, for the navy has allowed the fact to become known, many of our smaller craft, the bulldog destroyers of the navy, are hunting the submarine sharks in the waters off Daunt's Rock, close to the coast of Ireland and farther north, where even in summer the elements at times are almost as fierce as "man, the enemy."

Pay Is Doubled.

Recently the congress of the United States increased the pay of the sailor men so materially that the recruits's pay is double what it was.

In the navy the young men of the country, both in times of peace and in times of war, secure liberal educations. Their opportunities for travel and for sight-seeing are greater than those of men employed in almost any other calling in life. Moreover, the boys just ...ing manhood who enlist in the ... given opportunities for in... if they have the ambi... ...ifications, will ... naval acad... same terms as ... nominated by ...and at that in... ...ducation which ...missioned rank ...ment of the United ... upon them.

Service of High Ideals.

"The navy has been throughout its entire existence a service of high ideals; and its unbroken record of great and worthy achievement, of duty well done, has been due to the high standard set for officers and men in the beginning and which has been maintained ever since. This standard was never higher than it is today; and any young American who thinks of going into the navy may feel sure that, on enlisting, he will enter a service in which he may, and should, always feel a justifiable pride and of which the uniform is a badge of honor."

Young men between the ages of seventeen and twenty-five, who are not skilled in any naval trade, are enlisted as apprentice seamen. Immediately upon being sworn in at the recruiting stations they are sent at government expense to a naval training station. The apprentice seaman, because he is a green man and simply undergoing training has been paid in the past $17.60 a month. From this time on, however, under the recent act of congress his pay throughout the war and until six months after its ending is to be $32.60 a month.

Now it must be remembered that the sailor, whether he be a recruit or a seasoned man-o'-warsman, is under no expense at all for his livelihood after he once joins the navy. He is given clothing, food, shelter and medical attendance. Out of his pay all that he ... l spend is such money as he desires to pay out for such luxuries and entertainments as he seems inclined to indulge in.

Increase Soon Comes.

It must not be supposed that an apprentice seaman continues long to draw simply the amount of his first pay. His first raise comes in the seaman branch, and if he is in the fireroom he gets an ...al sum.

They are given ...standards set ... of endeavor ...ll informa... of this ...ulting of... world in itself. It needs men proficient in nearly all lines of human working endeavor.

Rate of Pay in Navy.

The law increasing the pay of the men in the navy has just been enacted and the pay tables under the new dispensation have not yet been made out, but it is a simple thing to determine the rate of pay of each seaman of whatever class by adding to the pay given in the accompanying table the amount of increase in each case. The increased pay allotment has just gone into effect. Below is given the navy wage table, with the pay as it stood prior to the recent act of congress. In order to know what each man's pay now is, it is only necessary to know that every man now drawing less than $21 a month will receive an increase of $15 a month; that every man drawing at present from $22 to $24 a month, inclusive, will receive $12 a month additional; that every man drawing more than $24 and less than $45, will receive $8 a month additional, and that every man drawing at present $45 or more a month will receive $6 a month additional pay.

It should be borne in mind that the apprentice seaman, the ordinary boy recruit, who ordinarily gets $17.60 a month, will be receiving at the time that this is read $15 additional, making his pay $32.60.

Here is the pay table as it stands today regardless of the increases which congress has ordained:

Navy Needs Men.

The United States today is at war. The government officials are looking to the young men of the country to come to the help of that democracy which means liberty. There are rear admirals and captains in the United States navy today who rose to their high rank of command from the position of naval apprentice. Rear Admiral William H. H. Southerland once was a naval apprentice. Capt. John Emil Roller was a naval apprentice. "There is always room at the top" is a saying that is credited originally to the sea service. Uncle Sam needs recruits to help sustain the honor of his flag. The sea and its service have a holding charm for men of red blood.

MARINES ARE ALWAYS FIRST IN FIGHT

They Go Everywhere by Land or Sea in Defense of the American Flag.

MOTTO: "ALWAYS FAITHFUL"

The Recruit Entering Service Today Is Paid $30 a Month and the Opportunities for Advancement Are Numerous.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—"First in the Fight" is the war-time slogan of the United States marines, while "Semper Fidelis," "Always Faithful," is their motto in peace and war.

So it would seem that if good works, coupled with faith, secure a man's salvation, there must be some reason as well as rhyme in the last four lines of the Marine corps hymn:

If the Army and the Navy
Ever look on Heaven's scenes,
They will find the streets are guarded by
The United States Marines.

Recently Uncle Sam has ordered an increase in the number of his marines to a war strength of 30,000 men, which numerically means 4,000 more men than there are in a division of troops of the United States army. There is room in the marines, therefore, for any stalwart young American between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five who wishes to be a soldier and a sailor in one, to be first in the fight, and to be able to prove that he is always faithful to the ideals of humanity and the ideals of his country. In the present war the American belief is that the two are one.

When congress recently increased the pay of the army it also increased the pay of the navy and of the Marine corps. The recruit today who enters the Marine corps will receive $30 a month pay, an increase of $15 over the pay in the more or less piping times of peace. More than this, if he goes to sea, which unquestionably will be his lot, he will receive 20 per cent additional, and it is generally accounted that in this war time the 20 per cent increase will be continued while the marine is on land in a foreign country holding up his end for the United States.

What is the marine? This is one of the questions in a little catechism issued by the officials of the corps. The answer is that the marine is a soldier of the sea.

The marine is a soldier and a sailor, and yet he is neither. He is a sort of a two-fisted fighting rover. He goes everywhere by land or by sea to the last outpost of civilization and beyond if it is necessary for the service of protection of the American flag and of the upholding of the rights of American people.

The Marine corps is curious in a way in its formation. It has more men in its ranks than an army division, and yet in a way its organization is that of a regiment, although it has a major general commandant and several brigadier generals. Then, like the army, it has its colonels, its lieutenant colonels, its majors, and its captains.

The Marine corps, big as it is, with its 30,000 men in war time, keeps a peculiar organization, because its fighters necessarily are divided into comparatively small detachments.

Under the command of Colonel Doyen of the Marine corps 2,000 soldiers of the sea soon will be in the trenches in France. These men, it has been announced, were added to the preliminary force which it is intended to send into France because the government recognized the right of marines to live up to the meaning of their war-time slogan, "First in the Fight."

Men Needed for Marines.

The United States government wants men for its Marine corps. It hopes that it will not be necessary to draw from the ranks of the selective service army the men needed to complete the complement of the soldier-sailor organization. It wants volunteers. The attractions of service in the marines are many. There are chances, and good ones, for the enlisted men to be recommended for a student course at Annapolis, there to be educated and trained and upon graduation to receive a commission either in the Marine corps or in the navy. The law also provides for the promotion of noncommissioned officers to warrant rank in the grades of marine gunners and quartermaster's clerk. Such officers receive from $1,125 to $2,500 a year, and are entitled to the same privileges of retirement as warrant officers in the navy.

There is a chance for marines to make money in addition to their pay. Mess stewards, mess sergeants, mess men, clerks, and men assigned to aviation duty receive amounts varying from $7.50 to $15 per month in addition to their base pay. There are provisions for increased pay for men who qualify as expert riflemen, as marksmen and as sharpshooters.

The Marine corps is the oldest army service of the United States, having been organized before the army and the navy. Every man who enters it is given his food, his clothing, his lodging, and his medical attendance.

The country needs volunteer marines for a service that is First at the Front and Always Faithful.

ALABAMA COAL IS REDUCED AT MINES

OPERATORS AGREE TO CONCESSION PROPOSED AT MEETING IN WASHINGTON.

CUT $1.50 TO $2.50 A TON

Maximum Price of $4.00 Will Be Fixed With a Minimum Price of $3.00.

Birmingham.—Alabama coal operators attended the conferences in Washington with government officials, and as a result reduction in prices of coal f. o. b .mines will be made in accordance with general concessions on all contracts beginning July 1, the reduction being from $1.50 to $2.50 per ton. Instead of $5.50 per ton, as obtains now at some mines, a maximum price of $4 will be fixed with a minimum of $3. In consideration of this, the operators will expect action as to car service, some readjustment of prices on contracts that were made before the extraordinary demand started in, in many instances half of the new minimum price.

Clothing Factory for Birmingham.

Birmingham.—Clothing for the army is to be made in Birmingham. A factory for the work will be erected in Birmingham at an early date, and the machinery ordered for immediate delivery. Formal announcement of the location of the plant in Birmingham was made by Blanks Everett, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Laurens Block. The plant in Birmingham will be established just as soon as machinery necessary to begin can be installed. According to Mr. Everett, they will begin making coats and trousers at first. The new plant will employ 200 women. The machinery for the making of clothing has been ordered and just as soon as it arrives men will be put at work installing it. Local business men will have charge of the new clothing plant.

Large Silk Mill for Albany.

Albany.—Albany is to have the only silk mill in the South. It is to be operated and owned by a New York manufacturer. The plant will have a floor space of 10,000 square feet, and will operate 100 looms at the beginning. It is planned to increase the looms at the rate of 100 per year for the first five years. One hundred girls will be employed in operating the looms, and it is announced that the building will be completed an the machinery installed within the next three months.

Girl Is Scalped in Accident.

Mobile.—While two dozen persons, mostly girls, were in a panic, sixteen year old Mamie Sketo, employed at the O. K. Knitting Mills in the Peerless Laundry building cooly directed rescurers how to move machinery to extricate her. The girl's hair was caught in the machinery and she was dragged under the machine at which she was working and scalped. Th injured girl was removed to the Mobile infirmary in charge of Dr. E. A. Peterson, who was summoned to the scene of the accident. The girl while caught in the machine talked cooly to those around her and told her name and age to newspaper men.

Accused of Murder, Admits Guilt.

Mobile.—Impeaching his own testimony given at the coroner's inquest and admitting that he had lied while under oath at that time, Fisher Brooks, negro taxicab driver, from the witness stand in the circuit court room Thursday afternoon told a jury that "five of us ought to be strung up for this," meaning the murder of Mrs. Julia May Hess. "I lied when I testified at the coroner's inquest," said Brooks, "and I now want to tell the truth. I am going to the gallows, and I'm sorry I did not tell the truth when I testified before."

Lightning Kills One.

Anniston.—Buddy Shaw, aged 19, son of M. L. Shaw, farmer near Abel, Calhoun County, was killed by lightning while working in the field. Two sisters and brothers were severely shocked. During the same storm lightning struck the house of Jeff Smith, farmer, near Pleasant Ridge, twisting timbers and setting furniture on fire. The blaze was extinguished by neighbors. The storm was the worst of the season, causing the Choccolocco Creek to overflow and damaging bottom land crops.

Cotton Brings Fancy Price.

Athens.—A local cotton company has bought a lot of cotton, consisting of several hundred bales and paid the fancy price of 25½ cents per pound.

Birmingham May Be Given Camp.

Birmingham.—Birmingham still is hopeful of getting one of the yet unassigned military training camps, and has just cause for being hopeful, according to John D. McNeel, Collector of Internal Revenue, just returned from Washington. Mr. McNeel said that the claims of this city have been presented fully and forcefully, and have been urged repeatedly by various special delegations who have appeared before the officials of the War Department in the interest of Birmingham.

Artillery Is Located.

Birmingham.—Artillery, Ala., is the name of the newest railroad station on the Southern Railway. It is located one mile north of Anniston, and will be the junction from which the branch track will lead off the main line and penetrate the camp grounds of the artillery training ground. It is the name of a town which promises to be built overnight, almost. It is the only town in the United States to be named and designated as a regular stopping place for railroad trains bearing a military name which fits the nature of the town. James Freeman, Assistant General Passenger Agent, christened the latest addition to his official map.

Claim Alabama Coal Rate Unfair.

Washington.—The Inter-state Commerce Commission found unjustified a proposed rule providing collection of charges on washed coal from Alabama to the South and West on a basis of actual weight at shipping points. Shippers told the commission that coal, recently washed, contains a large amount of water, and that this is materially lost before or shortly after shipments begin to move. Under the ruling of the commission the rate on coal will depend upon its weight at destination, or will be fixed by agreement of carriers and shippers as to its proportion of moisture.

Alabamian Leads Troops.

Montgomery.—An Alabamian is in command o fthe first division of American troops landing on the soil of France. Major General William L Sibert has been entrusted with that responsibility. General Sibert was reared in Gadsden, spent two years in the State University at Tuscaloosa, before going to West Point, and has often revisited his relatives and friends here in Alabama.

Civil Engineer Is Killed.

Albany.—The body of Arthur W. May, civil engineer, who met a tragic death when he accidentally stepped off bridge No. 19 over Shoal Creek near Hartselle, was conveyed to Nashville for burial. Mr. May fell 25 feet and died instantly. He was one of a party of engineers engaged in making surveys of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad for the government.

Will of Dr. Blair Filed.

Tuscumbia.—The will of the late Dr Hugh W. Blair, of Sheffield, who committed suicide in that city recently, after an attempt to kill his wife, whom he succeeded in wounding, was admitted to probate and record in the Probate Court. The estate is said to be worth from $50,000 to $75,000. The estate, after a few special bequests, goes to his two daughters.

Recruits Signing Up Faster.

Montgomery.—Recruits are coming into the office of the United States army more rapidly than at any time for the past month. The number being received indicates a wide interest in the proclamation of the President and a general inclination to enlist rather than wait and be drafted.

Altoona to Incorporate.

Gadsden.—Citizens of Altoona are preparing a petition for the incorporation of the town. The recent decision of the Supreme Court dissolved the old incorporation papers. There is practically no opposition to the incorporation of the town. The present population of the community is about 2,000.

Body of Infant Found.

Athens.—While fishing in Popular Creek, in the Ripley section, southeast of Athens, some small boys found a suspicious bundle. Bringing it to the bank they found it to be the body of an infant tied up in a sack and weighted down with a flatiron.

Convention Is Planned.

Opelika.—Annual convention of the Lee County Sunday School Association will be held in Opelika July 12 to 13. An elaborate program has been prepared and a large crowd, it is believed, will attend the convention.

Prepared to Stay On Strike a Year

Mobile.—The machinists of the Mobile Stove and Pulley Works who were employed making munitions and who went out on a strike for an increase in pay from $3.25 to $4, announced that they were prepared to stay out for a year.

Canning Plant Completed.

Tuscaloosa.—The new canning plan for Tuscaloosa has been completed and is now running. This plant was the result of local agitation for such a plant and all of the stock is held locally.

966 Bales of Cotton Sold.

Opelika.—Nine hundred and sixty five bales of cotton were sold here. W. E. Davis was the largest seller, with 510 bales and H. A. Bedell was second with 355 bales. Prices paid were 23½ cents per pound.

Pig Iron at $46 Per Ton.

Birmingham.—Pig iron quotations No. 2 foundry, are around $46 per ton with but little iron to be had for this year's delivery. Basic iron, special brand and special analysis irons are selling between $45 and $50 per ton the last named price having been fixed on a large amount. Charcoal iron has gone up to between $50 and $60 per ton with no iron to be sold. Much pig iron is being shipped from the Birmingham District at prices below $20 per ton, iron that was sold last year.

THOSE AWFUL CRAMPS

Suggestions that may save Much Suffering

Marysville, Pa.—"For twelve years I suffered with terrible cramps. I would have to stay in bed several days every month. I tried all kinds of remedies and was treated by doctors, but my trouble continued until one day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for others. I tried it and now I am never troubled with cramps and feel like a different woman. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly and I am recommending it to my friends who suffer as I did." —Mrs. GEORGE R. NAYLOR, Box 72, Marysville, Pa.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

Fulton Was a Great Man.

The class in history was studying the life of Robert Fulton. In connection with it they, of course, brought in the topic of the steamboat, which you know, made Fulton famous.

"What are many of the great uses of the steamboat?" asked the teacher. "What things might not have happened if the steamboat had not been invented?" she hinted.

"Well,' answered little Johnny, who had been called on, "well, um-m-a, Columbus might not have discovered America."

War Spirit Contagious.

Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree was more than once placed in a perplexing position by the loss of members of his cast during his tour throughout Canada and the United States. No less than ten members enlisted, including two ladies for service in war hospitals. One humorous incident occurred after the engagement of a "deputy" in the United States. She was not very much interested in the war prior to her appointment but the talk behind the scenes and the company bore so frequently the loss of relatives at the front that she felt one night impelled to volunteer as a nurse, was eventually accepted, and her place had to be filled.

Berlin Admits That Attack Was Delivered On Eighteen-Mile Front With Great Force

Berlin Says Entente Pressure Forced Russians To Attack—British Continue To Tighten Grip

New York.—The soldiers of New Russia have assumed the aggressive. For the first time since the revolution last March Russian troops have begun an attack on an extensive scale.

Along a front of eighteen and one-half miles in the region of Brzezany, Galicia, Russian troops have stormed the German positions. Berlin says the Russians suffered heavy losses and were compelled to retire before the German fire. The attack was made between the Upper Stripa and the Narayuvka river, a tributary of the Gnila Lipa, in the section southeast of Lemberg, the Galician capital, where the artillery firing has been heavy recently.

The Russians also made night attacks on both sides of Brzezany and near Zwyzn, and Berlin reports that assaults between the Zlota Lipa and the Narayuvka have brought on new battles between the opposing forces. The artillery arm of the Russian forces has been active and from the Berlin report it is learned that an intense duel has been in progress from t... region of Brzezany to as far nort... ward as the Middle Stokhod in V... hynia, a distance of about one hundr... and seventy-five miles.

American Nurses Guests Of London

London.—The lobby and the reception room, the "palm court" and the smoking room of the Waldorf hotel—London's—seemed to be full of bright-eyed dark-blue clad women. They all appeared to be smiling and they all wore on the left side of their neat well-fitting tunics, small enameled medal with the Red Cross, emphasizing its simple significance upon a white background. Nobody else in the big hotel seemed to matter very much except these women. They made an eloquent chapter in history.

U. S. Soldier Received By Frenchmen

Paris.—One of the most touching incidents connected with the arrival of the representatives of the American army in France occurred when maimed French soldiers received Major General Pershing at one of the institutions of the National Federation for the Aid of Wounded in the Champs Elysee. A large crowd assembled, as is usual, wherever General Pershing is expected, and waited patiently in a downpour of rain for the arrival of the American commander, who was greeted with enthusiastic cries.

U. S. TROOPS REACH FRANCE

U. S. Soldiers Disembark On French Soil And Are Transferred To Their Camp

Washington.—The advance guard of the mighty army the United States is preparing to send against Germany is on French soil.

In defiance of the German submarines, thousands of seasoned regulars and marines, trained fighting men with the tan of long service on the Mexican border or in Haiti or Santo Domingo still on their faces, have been hastened overseas to fight beside the French, the British, the Belgian, the Russian, the Portuguese and the Italian troops on the western front.

News of the safe arrival of the troops sent a new thrill through Washington. No formal announcement came from the war department, but when Major General Pershing's official report has been received there may be a statement as to the numbers and composition of the advance guard.

Press dispatches from France, presumably sent forward with the approval of General Pershing's staff, show that Major General Sibert, one of the new major generals of the army, commands the first force sent abroad, under General Pershing as commander in chief of the expedition.

Considering the distance to be covered and the fact that all preparations had to be made after the order came from the white house the night of May 18, it is practically certain that never before has a military expedition of this size been assembled, convoyed and landed without mishap in so short a time. It is good augury of future achievements.

How 2,700 Marine Left For France

New York.—So quietly did a regiment of marines, included in that part of the Pershing expedition which already has landed in France, slip away from the League Island navy yard, that the sailor baseball team at practice on the parade ground did not know 2,700 men under command of Col. Charles A. Doyen, were on their way to the battle front. No drums or bugles sounded and the only ceremony which attended the leave-taking was a brief speech to the officers by Major General George Barnett, the commandant.

Norway Near Break With The Germans

London.—Norway has reached a crisis in her relations with Germany. Judging from information reaching here there is every reason to believe she will not submit tamely to Germany's arrogant demands as to her commerce and shipping, despite her desperate desire to maintain peace. Well-informed Norwegians in London recognize the military purposes of Germany's continued and illegal destruction of Norway's shipping. They see the reasons for German's systematic campaign to wipe out Norwegian ships.

RAISE OF RATES IS DENIED ROADS

Commission Holds That No Emergency Warrants Advance And Declares Carriers Show Increased Prosperity

PROFITED BY MOBILIZATION

Gloomy Predictions Of Decreased Income Not Borne Out By The Figures

Washington.—The interstate commerce commission denied the plea of the railroads of the United States for a horizontal increase of 15 per cent in freight rates.

The commission indicated its willingness to increase class rates in the eastern district approximately 14 per cent. Since about one-fourth of the freight handled is moved under class rates, the decision virtually allows the eastern lines about four per cent increase in gross freight revenue. Increases in rates on coal, coke and iron ore will be granted.

In the southern district an increase of 15 per cent on coal, with a maximum of 15 cents a ton, was permitted.

The commission found, as a result of the extended hearings on the case, that the carriers generally show a substantial increasing financial prosperity, and that they have ample resources with which to conduct transportation.

Little sympathy was given the arguments of the roads that they were victims of war prices, the commission holding that the carriers have profited by the mobilization of troops.

The commission suspended the proposed tariffs until October 28, but it indicated that no rehearing of the case would be of value at this time, and suggests cancellation of the tariffs.

The commission finds that the gloomy forecast of jeopardized incomes, seen by railroad officials early in 1917, have not been borne out by the figures available for later months.

WAR TO CONTINUE UNTIL ALLIES RESTORE DEMOCRACY

Germany Will Not Be Allowed To Retain Nations She Has Ruthlessly Run Over

Glasgow, Scotland.—Premier Lloyd-Georgia, in a stirring and characteristic speech before the burgesses of the northern metropolis on the occasion of his being made a free man of the city in St. Andrew's hall, declared that if peace came an hour before the objects for which Great Britain entered the war had been achieved it would be a calamity for Europe.

Germany, the premier said, wanted peace, but a peace which would make the country she invaded subject-nations.

Mr. Lloyd-George pointed out that no German statesman had promised the restoration of Belgium, and said that the entente allies could enter into a conference with a democratized Germany in a different spirit than they could deal with Prussian autocracy.

GREECE BREAKS RELATIONS WITH THE TEUTONIC POWERS

Probable That a Declaration Of War Against Germany And Other Central Powers Will Follow Soon

Paris.—Telegraphing from Athens, the correspondents of Le Temps says: "The Greek government has directed its minister to Switzerland from the Caradja, to communicate to the Greek legations at Berlin, Vienna, Sofia and Constantinople, instructing the ministers to break diplomatic relations between the Greek kingdom and the governments of Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey.

"The Greek ministers at the capitals are instructed to leave their posts with their staffs and to place their archives with The Netherlands legations. The rupture is based on the incompatibility of maintaining diplomatic relations with governments that are carrying on war in Greek territory."

Wilson Studying U. S. Export Policy

Washington.—America's export policy will be determined by President Wilson only after a most careful study of the subject in all its international aspects. After the problem had been gone over at cabinet meeting, it was disclosed that the first presidential proclamation putting certain commodities under government control probably will not be issued for some days. Many complications are presented. It is pointed out that the administration is anxious that no injustice be done to neutrals.

"Bone Dryness" Barred By Wilson

Washington.—Intervention of President Wilson checked the "bone dry" national prohibition movement in congress. Confinement of prohibition legislation to distilled beverages without interference with manufacture of beer and wines, it is generally agreed, will result. Prohibition leaders were asked by the president, in order to prevent delay in passing the food control bill, to drop their fight against the manufacture of beer, wines and other light intoxicants.

BRAZIL BREAKS WITH KAISER

South American Republic No Longer Neutral In Great World War Now Raging

New York.—Brazil is no longer a neutral in the world war and the German empire has another enemy arrayed against it.

Having previously revoked its policy of aloofness, so far as it affected the hostilities between the United States and Germany, Brazil now has come definitely into the open and announced that it can no longer be considered neutral in the war between the entente and Germany.

Although no announcement has been made as to whether the South American republic will actually enter into hostilities by its revocation of neutrality, it definitely aligns itself morally on the side of the United States and the entente.

The Canadians—men from all parts of the Dominion—have taken another hack at the German lines protecting Lens, the coal center in the department of Pas de Calais, and have been rewarded with further encroachment upon their objective.

Striking on a two-mile front south of Lens the Canadians, from Nova Scotia, central Ontario, Manitoba and British Colombia, protected by effective curtain fires, forced their way through Avion and also the village of Leauvette. They defeated in their onslaughts men of the crack Prussian guard and the Fifth Grenadier guards, whose machine gun and rifle fire, and the fact that the attacking force had to cut through wire entanglements, could not stay them.

When the battle ended and the Canadians began their work of consolidating newly won positions, their line had been extended to within one mide of the Center of Lens, the fall of which, under such tenacious assaults as have been made recently, seemingly cannot be long delayed.

On the remainder of the front in France there have been only bombardments between the French and Germans.

TURNS TURTLE ON EDGE OF WHIRLPOOL RAPIDS

Nine Persons Known To Be Dead, Several Missing And Over Score In Hospitals

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—A belt line car on the Great Gorge Route, left the rails, plunged down a 20-foot embankment and turned over in 10 feet of water on the edge of the Whirlpool rapids. Nine persons are known to be dead, two persons known to have been on the car have not been seen since the accident and probably are dead, an indefinite number, estimated at from two to ten, are reported missing and more than a score are in hospitals, suffering from injuries received in the accident.

A washout, due to recent heavy rains, was the cause of the disaster, which occurred just below the Cantilever bridge and 60 feet below the point where the smooth water of the upper reaches of the Niagara river break into the turbulent waters of the Whirlpool rapids.

The car had all but completed the circuit of the gorge, having crossed from the Canadian side of the river on the trolley bridge at Lewiston.

Germany Getting Food From U. S.

Washington.—Evidence that Germany is obtaining vast quantities of food from the European neutral countries has been presented to the United States by Great Britain for the United States government's guidance in determining an export policy. Much of this, the British statistics purport to show, is replaced by the neutrals with imports from the United States. From Scandinavia and Holland information sets forth, enough fat is going into Germany to supply 7,700,000 soldiers, virtually the entire army of effectives in the empire.

May Draw Million Men On First Levy

Washington.—The toll of manhood each state must yield to the new national armies is being apportioned. That the war department is talking over a plan to draw one million at the first levy is asserted in departmental quarters. Under this arrangement only enough men to fill the cantonment camps would be ordered out in September. Others would await the next summons.

Bulgaria Fears Break With The U. S.

Copenhagen.—Although Bulgaria is opposed to breaking off relations with the United States, the fear is expressed, that Premier Radoslavoff may have been compelled to purchase concessions, for which he went to Berlin, by a sacrifice of American relations as part payment. The influence against a break with the United States is of a twin nature, based on the influence of the American Roberts college education from men of Bulgaria, and upon the respect for the far-away republic, with no ax to grind in Bulgaria.

U. S. Commission At Russian Front

Petrograd.—Major General Scott, chief military member of the American mission, was at the Russian front for a lengthy tour. Former Senator Root and civilian commissioners will remain for a short time at headquarters. The American party has just reached Brussiloff's headquarters.

While in Moscow, it became known that Mr. Root was forced to go to St. Stephen's hospital for treatment for a severe cold. He had made five speeches in one day there, with the temperature at 104.

WILSON ANNOUNCES REGULATIONS GOVERNING DRAFT OF NEW ARMY

Proclamation Makes Clear That There Will Be No Class Exemptions, Each Individual Case Must Be Decided Upon Its Merits.

Washington.—The President created and set into motion the gigantic machinery of the draft.

By a proclamation of regulations the president started the huge labor of singling out the manhood of the nation for America's armies. The regulations fix the general class of men free from military service, set up the exemption boards that sift out the men and define their duties.

The text of the regulations cover 78 printed pages. Herewith is a comprehensive resume of the regulations, copies of which are being widely distributed.

Only a very small group of classes of men are exempt from bearing arms. All other men must appear before the tribunals. Upon hearing of evidence they will be discharged or drafted into the army, as the case may be.

Safeguards for Fairness.

Every action of the boards is hedged with double safeguards against unfairness and wide open to the public gaze.

The skeleton of the human lottery that fixes upon the men is constructed in the rules. The exact method of the lottery is left for a late proclamation. Within a few weeks the draft will be made. At military headquarters it is stated that one million men will be drawn in the first levy.

Upon proof of their status the following classes are exempt:

Men indispensible to industries that are necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment of the national interests.

Men with wives, children, parents, brothers or sisters dependant solely upon them for support.

Members of well recognized religious sects whose creeds forbid bearing arms, students of divinity and ordained ministers.

Legislative, judicial and executive officers of the United States or the States of the Union.

Men in the army or navy of the United States.

Aliens who have not taken out naturalization papers, and subjects of Germany.

Workmen in the armories, arsenals and navy yards in the United States and men engaged in the transmission of the United States mails.

Criminals convicted for felonies and the morally deficient.

Power for District Boards.

The most vital power—that of deciding which men are indispensible and the necessary industries—is placed in the hands of the district boards. One or more board is created for each federal district in the country.

The entire burden of proof for exemption is saddled upon the claimant.

Appeal from the ruling of the tribunal is provided for in the regulations.

As outlined in the rules the following are the steps leading up to the ordering of the men into camp:

A local exemption board of three members, for approximately each 30,000 of population, is set up. Most of these tribunals are already formed. They are composed of five men of the highest standing, and known as district or appellate boards. Any member of either board may be removed by the president.

On a day to be set the lower board meet and organize. The registration cards are secured from the registration boards which then cease to exist. The cards are numbered serially from one up, and the names and numbers posted in a public place and given to the press for publication. At the same time a copy is sent to Washington.

When every card is numbered and posted in every precinct in the nation the stage is set for the actual drawing.

Drawing in Washington.

Although the method is left for another proclamation, it is known that the drawing will take place in Washington.

After the order in which the men are called up for service is determined the quota that each state must yield up to the armies will be announced.

The state governors are directed to divide the quotas among the counties and cities on the basis of population.

These numbers and names are again posted and published, and the men called are notified by mail.

Next the "honor men" are summoned for physical examination before the local board. One member of each board is a physician. He is ordered to make the examination in the presence of another member of the board.

To guard against any unfairness in the physical examination the president makes an ingenious provision.

In case the physician designates any man unfit, the board calls in another physician. He makes another examination in ignorance of the first report. If both make the same diagnosis a certificate of disqualification is issued. Members of the board are barred from passing upon any relation's case.

Physical Examinations First.

After the physical examinations are finished the boards take up the exemption of the classes specified in the rules. A claim supported by affidavits must be made by men asking for exemption. Claims for occupational grounds must be made to the district board. In making a claim for exemption on the ground of a dependent the claimant must furnish an affidavit that the income for the support of the dependent is mainly from the fruit of his labor and not derived from property. He must bring another affidavit from the dependent affirming the dependency, and another, from the head of the family stating the same grounds.

Within three days after the affidavits are filed, the local board must make its decision. Either an absolute, a conditional or temporary discharge may be granted.

The local boards next report a list of the men discharged and those not discharged to the district board. Again these names are posted and a notice sent to each.

Claims of exemption upon occupational grounds must be made to the district board within five days after the man is notified that he is drawn.

As to "Indispensibles."

The burden of a double proof rests upon these claimants. They must prove that the industry in which they are engaged is necessary and that they are "indispensible" to its successful conduct.

"That he is actually engaged in a particular industrial or agricultural enterprise necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment or the national interest and that his continuance therein is necessary to the maintenance of that industry and cannat be dispensed with or replaced without substantial material loss and detriment of that enterprise."

Each claim must be supported by affidavits.

When, in the opinion of the board, the loss of the man to the industry outweighs the gain to the military establishment, a certificate of discharge is issued.

Claims of exemption may be made by wives, parents, children, employers or any other person for the man in whom they are interested.

The boards are empowered to investigate affidavits and claims for exemption wita any means at their disposal.

After the occasional claims are passed upon the district board next reviews the appeals from lower boards. Upon these appeals the decision is final. When it is adverse the man is drafted into the army.

Notified by Mail.

After all appeals are dec... occupational claims settled ... trict board reports its li... to the adjutant general ... These are the men t... summoned to the ... They are to be ...

The district boards are ordered to ascertain the existing conditions of industry in their districts to aid in making equitable exemptions. Another proclamation to follow within a few days will make the laws governing the final step of the draft—assembling the men and calling them into the camps.

On any disputed decision of the board a majority rules. Members are barred from taking part in any hearing that concerns any relative closer than a second cousin.

In case of doubt in physical examinations as to whether the man is unfit, the government is given the benefit of the doubt and the man is certified as "fit." To guard against partiality, every case of an exemption by a lower is appealed automatically to the upper tiribunal. Unless new evidence is presented after a short time, the higher board affirms the decision. This method gives the public in general an opportunity to present evidence favoring or opposing the decision.

Heavy penalties are imposed for making false seatements or any evasion of the requirements of the regulations. Imprisonment for not more than one year without the alternative of a fine is provided for evasion.

Visitor Took No Chances.

The ways of a "great city" evidently were very new to him as he stood on the curb on Main street north from the Union station and gazed across the street at a line of brilliantly lighted windows. Several times he ventured a foot to the pavement, and then drew it back. A city man who was observing him apparently looked friendly, for the stranger suddenly approached him.

"Say," he asked, "do they allow a fellow to cross the street anywhere he wants to, or does he have to go to one of them crossings?"—Kansas City Star.

THE SHADOW OF CRIME

From that well known section of our county known as Stumps Hills, this week comes the story of another horrible cold-blooded murder, which casts its shadow in unmitigated terror upon the good name of all those people of that section who are striving to better things of life. There are, in Stumps Hills, as in every other section of the county, people both good and not good. But it does seem that some people of that particular section of the county are prone to a more utter disregard of the dignity of the laws of our land than any other people within our confines. Every year there comes out from some petty grievance of neighbor against neighbor there, the story of horrible transaction, wherein some man's life has been placed at naught, and offered up on the uncivilized altar of cold-blood murder. Men's lives up there seem to be placed at par with such frivolous things as a sack of hog-nose apples, or a quart of moonshine whiskey, and are too frequently sacrificed out of situations with no gravity whatever.

Whatever it is that causes people to handle human life in such wreckless fashion seems to have grown into them from years past. It is no reflection on the many good people of that splendid section who deplore those conditions as much as anybody in the county.

But it is time for all law-abiding citizens of the county both in Stumps Hills and elsewhere, who have regard for human life and the enforcement of our civil laws, to rise up in their might and impress it with the sternest force on all who are so lightly disposed as to commit murder without any serious provocation, that this county does not endorse such wanton sacrifice of human life as has been coming to the surface from Stumps ...lls in the last few years.

CHILTON COUNTY MAN NOT TO ESCAPE TRIAL BY ENLISTING

Montgomery, July 4.—(Special)—Perry Glass, who enlisted in the 4th Regiment Tuesday in the belief that he would avoid trial on a charge of murdering James Cambell, a farmer near Clanton, Monday, was arrested and placed in the guardhouse Wednesday to await the arrival of officials of Chilton County who have placed a charge of murder against him.

Police received a warning from Clanton Tuesday that Glass probably had come toward this city. Early Tuesday, Glass presented himself to the recruiting officer, with the statement that he desired to enter the American army. He was examined and passed. "Am I in the army now?" he asked. He was told that he was. "And does the government protect me, and does any other person have anything to do with me?" he asked. Assured that he was subject solely to orders of military officers, he announced that he had killed a man near Clanton. Officers of Chilton verified his statement.

Glass will be kept in the guardhouse until papers have been received from Chilton County. It is alleged that Glass was employed on Cambell's farm, and that he killed Cambell in a dispute about a crop.—

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATED IN PARIS BY ENTHUSIASTS

Paris, July 4.—All France celebrated the Fourth of July. Paris turned out a crowd that no American city ever surpassed for size, enthusiasm and profusion of Stars and Stripes.

A batallion of the first American expeditionary force about to elave for training behind the battle front had its first official review in France and was the center of the celebration.

Everywhere the American flag was flying from public buildings, hotels and residences and from automobiles and cabs, from carts, horses' bridles and the lapels of the pedestrians carried them.

The crowds began to gather early at vantage points. Rue de Varenne was choked long before 8 o'clock this morning when the Republican Guards band executed a field reveille under General Pershing's windows and all routes toward the Invalides were thronged even before Pershing's men turned out.

About the courthouse, where the Americans were drawn up with a detachment of French territorials the buildings overflowed to the roofs.

THE FALL GARDEN

The Soil.

It is imperative that a fall garden be planted so as to provide fresh, tender vegetables through the latter half of the summer, fall and early winter. There is no reason why anyone should not have a good fall garden, if the proper kind of soil and varieties are selected and given good attention. More attention should be given to the selection of the soil for a fall garden than for the early spring garden. The soil for the fall garden should be of a loamy nature, either sand loam or clay loam underlaid with a good, porous clay subsoil. It needs to be retentive of moisture but well drained. Warm, sandy soils are selected for the spring garden, so as to enable early planting, but it is very important for the fall garden to retain moisture through the hot days of August and September.

One should not wait until fall to start planting the fall garden, as it takes from ninety to one hundred and twenty days for many of the vegetables to mature.

Preparation, Fertilization and Cultivation.

In preparing the land and planting vegetables for fall, a different method should be used than that followed in spring. Instead of planting in ridges, as is commonly practiced in the early spring, the ground should be thoroughly broken, finely pulverized and everything planted on the level, since by level tillage it is much easier to retain the moisture.

A liberal application of cow manure or other well rotted manure, is advisable for most soils, but fresh horse manure should not be used. If manure cannot be secured, use a mixture of equal parts acid phosphate and cotton seed meal, applied at the rate of one thousand pounds to one ton per acre. It must be well mixed with the soil before planting the seed or setting the plants.

The soil should be worked frequently to retain a good dust mulch and to keep down the weeds and grass, especially "grab grass", which so frequently infests the late garden. Cultivate as soon as possible after rain, but not while the soil is wet.

Garden Crops by Months.

The seed of tomatoes and collards should be sown in beds early in June, and the plants transplanted into the garden not later than the fifteenth of July.

At least twenty different vegetables may be grown in the fall garden. The following varieties of vegetables should be planted during the month of June:

Beets: Early Sclipse, Butter beans, Parsley: Half Long Danvers, Sweet potatoes: Triumph, Nancy Hall, Porto Rico, Beans: Stringless Green Pod (bunch), Kentucky Wonder (Pole), Tomatoes: June Pink, John Barr, Greater Baltimore, Prosperity, Collards: Georgia Blue Stem, Egg Plant: New York Improved, Black Beauty, Peppers: Pinetoes, Chinese Giant, Tabasco, Okra: Perkins, Long Green Pod, Corn: Country Gentleman, Stowell,s Evergreen, Black Mexican, Adams early, Squash: Canada Crooked Neck, Hubbard.

The following vegetables should be planted or transplanted during the month of July:

Beets: Early Eclipse, Carrots: Half Long Danvers, Sweet Potatoes: Triumph, Nancy Hall, Porto Rica, (plant or vine cuttings, Irish potatoes: Bliss Triumph, Cobbler, Lookout Mountain, Collards: Georgia Blue Stem, Beans: Stringless Green Pod, Kentucky Wonder, Tomatoes: June Pink, Greater Baltimore, John Barr and Prosperity, Squash: Canada Crooked Neck, Hubbard, Corn: Country Gentleman, Stowell's Evergreen, Black Mexican, Adams early, Okra. Perkins Long Green Pod.

For August:

Carrots: Half Long Danvers, Turnips: Flat Dutch, Yellow Globe or Sweede, Milan, Cow Horn, Irish Potatoes: Bliss Triumph, Cobbler, Lookout Mountain, Lettuce: Hanson, Big Boston, Beans: Stringless Green Pod, Kentucky Wonder, English Peas: Thomas Laxton, Cucumbers: White Spine.

For September:

Onion Sets: Crystal Wax, Yellow Danvers, Spinach: Curled Savoy, Radish: White Icicle, Long Scarlet, Short Top, Mustard: Pearl, Lettuce. Hanson, Big Boston.

The seed should be sown in October for winter and spring cabbage, Cauliflower, Brussel's Sprouts, Kohlrabi and Kale

Winter Vegetables in a Cold Frame.

A number of vegetables can be had in winter by the use of the cold frame. The cold frame sheuld be protected by glass, but a cheap grade of unbleached cotton cloth may be used. The crops recommended for forcing in cold frames are lettuce, mustard, parsley, radish, spinach, beets, carrots, and onions. Many of these plants are grown in the open in mild winter weather.

Construction of a Cold Frame.

The cold frame may be either a permanent or temporary affair. It should be located and constructed as follows:

Select an elevated place, where drainage is good. A southern or southeastern slope is preferable, with a fence or building, when possible, on the north or northwest side as a wind break. A pit should be dug ten or twelve inches deep, 6 feet wide, and long enough to accommodate as many plants as desired. Construct a frame of good heart lumber, 1½ to 2 inches thick. The board for the back should be 14 inches wide, and the one for the front 8 inches wide, with the end pieces sloping to fit. The frame should fit into the place excavated and be filled with rich soil. Strips of 2 x 4 inch material are nailed across the frame at intervals of three feet, to hold the sash. The standard sash is 3 x 6 feet in size, exclusive of the drip board at the foot, which projects a few inches beyond the side of the frame on the lower side.

Care of the Cold Frame.

Since it would be rather troublesome to move the cold frame, it is advisable to fill the frame with new soil each season. As a safeguard against disease, the soil should be taken from an area on which none of the species of plants to be forced has grown for several years.

The soil used for the cold frame should be of light loamy character and fairly rich. It should be thoroughly pulverized, and all rocks, sticks and trash should be removed. The seed may be sown broadcast or in close drills, the latter being commonly preferred.

The plants should be watered judiciously. Watering should be done early in the morning of bright warm days. Watering in the evening lowers the temperature, and often injures the plants and makes them more susceptible to disease.

Frequent cultivation should be given, keeping the bed free of weeds and grass, and preventing the formation of any crust on the surface.

WELL PUT

Colonel Roosevelt lays no claim to such powers of literary expression as are proposed by some other public men. But when he makes a speech something inside of his heart blows out in a strong hot flame of sincerity which creates an address fully as welcome as any more measured and balanced words from a cooler man.

Speaking in Nebraska lately, Col. Roosevelt's words of reproachful admonition were bravely uttered and the country needs to hear just such talk. It was all good talk, but here is a sentence:

"And nevertheless we have not been kept out of war. Our avoidance of duty simply invited such cumulative repetition of insult and injury that finally war was forced on us. It merely resulted in our drifting into war stern foremost, in a condition of such complete unreadiness that we owe an ignoble safety exclusively to the protection of the exhausted nations to whose help we have announced that we intend to come."

Every word of that honest, indignant speech should be pondered by American citizens. This is not an academic situation. We must try to atone for three years of indifference. We can do it, but we must try harder than most men have ever tried in their lives.—New York Sun.

The trouble with having a cinch is that it is so hard to get a sucker to take a bet on it.

All Choked Up With Catarrh? Why Continue Makeshift Treatment?

Sprays and douches will never cure you.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing painful and difficult breathing and other discomforts. But the real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs.

This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface. To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which completely routs from your blood the Catarrh germs, for which it is a perfect antidote.

How the L & N Dollar is Distributed

ELEVEN years prior to the Civil War, or sixty-six years ago, public spirited men with faith in the future of the South, and in the fairness of the people of the South, established the L. & N. Railroad. Since that time the L. & N. has rendered unsurpassed service and is the only railroad ever established in the South which has not been through bankruptcy.

During those sixty-six years the L. & N. has expended many millions of dollars in the South, not only for the development and upbuilding of its own property, but for the development and upbuilding of the South.

Figures, available for the last sixteen years only, show that the L. & N. has expended during those sixteen years $24,000,439.17 for taxes, paid into the South's public treasury; for material and supplies $167,475,437.53; for fuel $43,082,955.39; for wages to employes $324,870,160.41, the greater part of which was expended in the South, and many millions of which were brought to the South from other sources to develop and enrich the South.

The average income on the property investment in sixteen years was 5.96%. The most prosperous year—1904—was 7.14%, and the poorest—1915—was 3.75%.

L. & N. officials have expended L. & N. income to the best possible advantage for the material welfare of the L. & N. and the South. At the same time, those investors who own the L. & N., and have faith in the South and in the fairness of her people, must be accorded consideration in the form of some return on their investment.

Methods of Canning to use in the South

It now remains to sterilize the contents of the sealed cans. For beans, corn, peas, and asparagus intermittent processing is recommended. Under this method sterilization is carried on for one hour for three successive days. The cans are lowered slowly under water that is boiling vigorously at the time Naturally it ceases to boil as soon as the cans are immersed but will begin to boil again a short time later. The time of processing is counted from the moment when the water begins to boil again and it must be kept boiling constantly throughout the entire hour. In the case of very young string beans and some other easily sterilized vegetables, the processing is reduced to one half for two successive days.

As soon as the processing is over the cans should be cooled as rapidly as possible in order to stop cooking which breaks down the fruit and injures the flavor and color. They should never be stacked close together until they are entirely cold.

The labeling should be done with a rather dry paste which is put only on the end of the label so that it does not touch the tin. Paste may cause rust, and in damp climates it is sometimes customary to lacquer the outside of the can before it is labeled. The label, if the product is intended for sale, must contain the net weight in pounds and ounces and the packer's name and address.

In packing fruits and vegetables it is necessary to surround them with brine, sirup, or water, but under the terms of the Federal law governing the interstate shipment of canned goods no more of this liquor is allowed than is actually necessary to cover the contents after as full a pack as possible is made. With tomatoes no water at all should be added in excess of the amount in the tomatoes canned.

Add Sugar and Salt.

In addition to the liquor a mixture of sugar and salt adds greatly to the flavor of such products as tomatoes, peas, lima beans and corn. The mixture recommended by the government specialists in canning is composed of ⅛ salt and the rest sugar. Two level teaspoonfuls of this are placed in a No. 3 can and one teaspoonful in a No. 2 can. For beans, okra, cauliflower, etc., a brine containing 2½ ounces of salt to a gallon of water is used. For asparagus a heavier brine, 4 onuces to a gallon of water, is needed.

In order to conserve the supply of tin cans it is strongly urged that all products intended for home use be put up whenever possible in glass. The hermitage type of jar, however, is not a suitable one for intermittent processing, for which the best type is a glass-top jar with wire clamps. The clamps should be raised at the beginning of each processing to allow for expansion.

The First Cry

Every woman's sympathy responds to the sweetness of a baby's voice. The little cry that echoes with the arrival of the new baby is perhaps the fondest and most cherished recollection of our lives.

Thousands of mothers owe their preservation to health and strength to the wonderful preparation "Mother's Friend". This is an external application which is applied to the abdominal muscles. It relieves the tension, prevents tenderness and pain at the crisis and enables the abdomen to expand gently. The muscles contract naturally after baby arrives and the form is thus preserved.

It should be applied daily, night and morning, during the period of expectation. Its influence on the fine network of nerves and ligaments just beneath the skin is wonderful. It renders them pliant, and in this way aids nature to expand the abdomen without the usual strain when baby is born.

You will find this wonderful preparation on sale at every drug store. "Mother's Friend" is prepared by the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. C, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga. They will send you an intensely interesting book, without charge, "Motherhood and the Baby". Write them to mail it to you. It is of the utmost importance that every expectant mother aid nature in her work. Do not neglect for a single night to use "Mother's Friend". It is absolutely and entirely safe.

A lot of men do their hardest work Sunday, when they do not get paid for it.

Some men want a lot of credit for being decent because they are compellel to do so by law.

The man who has the thinnest watch in the crowd knows that he is the only man in the crowd who has the correct time.

If politics, religion and the weather were eliminated from their conversations some men wouldn't be able to say a word.

The average man would get mad if you said that he was conceited. But the average man imapines that his opinion is public opinion.

Mrs. Leon Gore was hostess to the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church at its regular business and social meeting last Tuesday afternoon. Quite an interesting meeting was held. Reports from the officers were encouraging. Delicious cream and cake were served.

Cattle relish the sweet odor of wet Buckeye Hulls

BUCKEYE HULLS, after being wetted down for ten or twelve hours, acquire a taste or odor similar to the succulent ensilage odor that cattle like so well. Simply feed properly and your stock will like them better than any other roughage. Once they are accustomed to them, they will not be satisfied with anything else.

There is every reason why your cattle should relish Buckeye Hulls. They are all roughage; no lint that is worthless as forage; no dirt, trash or dust.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls cost much less per ton than old style hulls.
Buckeye Hulls allow better assimilation of other food.
Every pound goes farther.
They take less space in the barn.
They are sacked—easy to handle.
They mix well, when wet, with other forage.

Mr. L. R. Farmer, Louisville, Ga., says:
that he has used no other hulls but Buckeye for the past year and gets good results. Cows have not been bothered with cough since using Buckeye Hulls.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

AUTHOR OF "BEYOND THE FRONTIER," "MAID OF THE FOREST," "MY LADY OF THE NORTH," ETC.

NOVELIZED FROM THE PHOTOPLAY SERIAL OF THE SAME NAME BY GEORGE B. SEITZ, RELEASED BY PATHE

COPYRIGHT, 1916, BY RANDALL PARRISH.

SYNOPSIS.

Adventurous Jerry Carson embarks in search of hidden treasure with the promise of Leontine Walcott to be his wife on his return. Her father favors Sebastian Navarre. Jerry's ship is burned, he is reported lost. Jerry suddenly turns up to confront charges of the Navarres against him. In a struggle for a forged paper Diego Navarre is killed and Jerry is convicted of the murder. He escapes, and finds the treasure and a wonderful chemical pellet. Leontine is forced to marry Sebastian. On the honeymoon, he attacks her in a rage. Suddenly he is confronted by a weird apparition. Ravengar forces a confession from Louie. Sebastian attempts to get it. An earthquake occurs; in the excitement, Red Finn steals the confession and flees. He appears in New York as Romanoff and enlists the aid of Madame Bianca. Leontine consents to accompany Hamilton on a balloon ascension. Sebastian drugs Hamilton and arranges to have Leontine set adrift in the balloon. The balloon bursts into flame and Leontine finds that her companion is Ravengar. They are rescued, but One-Lamp Louie reports that they perished in a hurricane. Sebastian arranges to marry Bianca. Louie prevents it to save himself and is thrown to death by Sebastian who changes his marriage plans. He sees Leontine alive and well. Later Sebastian kidnaps Leontine, but the Shadow has promised her protection. Ravengar delivers Leontine from the hands of her enemies, but Bianca's thugs capture him. Bianca hesitates to kill him as she is passionately in love with him. By maintaining that Leontine is insane, Sebastian again gains possession of her. Ravengar, after a terrific battle, rescues her, but the mystic mantle which renders them invisible, is stolen. Bianca's thugs corner Ravengar and Leontine in a shack. Bianca defends Ravengar. He escapes and recovers the invisible mantle. Out of revenge the thugs dynamite the shack. Ravengar offers Sebastian his freedom in exchange for the confession; as the police arrive Sebastian escapes. Ravengar takes Leontine to his laboratory to explain a mystic pellet. Sebastian steals the pellets and the mantle. After a struggle Sebastian by the aid of the mantle spirits Ravengar away unconscious. Leontine returns to the laboratory but her husband follows her, locks her within and sets fire to the building. Ravengar escapes from his prison and rescues Leontine.

FOURTEENTH EPISODE

Absolute Black.

Ravengar, in the midst of his conversation with Leontine, had seen Sebastian's face at the window of a nearby tenement house. Sebastian had changed his mind about the immediate destruction of Ravengar. He was sensible enough to prefer to finish one job at a time, and at present he preferred to watch his wife burn to death in Ravengar's laboratory.

He was examining Joseph Dexter's journal in the room of a certain Mr. Wang. This gentleman was not, as his name might imply, of Oriental persuasion. He had never seen the Flowery land, and his only idea of a Chinaman was of a purveyor of chop suey to ordinary folks and clean laundry to those who had a taste for such luxuries. Whitey Wang was an old friend of Sebastian's, and lived in the aforesaid tenement.

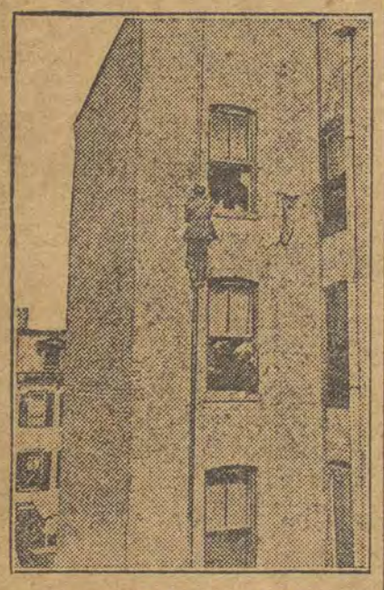
Sebastian soon perceived that the dead scientist's journal needed more than a careless scrutiny. He closed it and handed it to Wang, together with the bottle of pellets.

"Take these to the Central Trust company's offices and have them put in my safe deposite box," he said.

Wang took them and went out. But as he was closing the door Sebastian hailed him.

"Come here!" he said. "Do you see that man over there?"

Wang nodded.



"Watch him carefully. That's the man I'm after. See, he's looking at us! Better beat it. Sure you've got a picture of him?"

"I got him," answered Mr. Wang morosely as he went out and descended the stairs.

Now Mr. Wang was a man of sudden impulses.

Why should Sebastian wish to place an old book and a bottle of black pellets in his safety deposit box?

They must be worth something. He went downstairs all right, but he went further than his instructions. He went into the cellar. The old tenement building was honeycombed with rat holes, and human rat holes in the basement. From the cellar Wang squeezed his way into a back street, carrying the pellets and the manuscript with him, with the idea of double-crossing Sebastian later.

Sebastian, meanwhile, remained at the window, watching Ravengar. He knew he had been seen, but he trusted in the invisible mantle, of which he had had ample demonstration.

Ravengar, having satisfied himself as to Sebastian's location, came up the stairs at a run. Sebastian went to the door of his room and, looking down over the banisters, watched him. When Ravengar was two flights beneath him he slipped along the passage into a room at the farther end.

Sebastian crouched down in the middle of the room, the mantle drawn over him. Through the filmy cloth he could see Ravengar reach the top of the flight, stop, and look into the empty chamber.

Ravengar hesitated, and then entered the room. He looked out of the window into the street beneath, turned, and walked back within a foot of Sebastian. He reached the door, quietly locked it, and went away with the key in his pocket.

Sebastian, the moment he had gone, leaped to his feet and rushed to the door. He had not been able to believe that it had been locked, though he heard the key turn in it. But it was locked, and with his considerable strength he was unable to open it.

He had had implicit faith in the mantle. He took it from about his shoulders and looked at it. It was now visible. He turned it inside out; it was still visible. The mantle had ceased to work.

Sebastian felt that his last chance had gone.

From the window he saw Ravengar below, in conversation with two policemen. They were looking and pointing upward. Panic seized him. He rushed back to the door and struggled furiously to break it down, but in vain. He ran back to the window. He saw Ravengar and the policemen entering the hall.

It was impossible to leap to safety. But outside the window ran a waterpipe. It was substantial, though loose in places—this, however, would give him a securer grip, and Sebastian, in his early days in the Argentine, had climbed like all his race, when, a barefooted boy, he scaled the crags along the shores of Porto Delgado. He climbed out of the window and began to make the perilous ascent.

He was breathing hard in terror, for he was unused to that sort of predicament, and years of good living had softened him. He was half-way up to the roof when a shout beneath him [illegible] that he was discovered. The policemen had entered [illegible] with Ravengar. Astonished at his disappearance, at first they had looked into the street and called to the man on guard at the door; this alone gave Sebastian his leeway.

"Come back!" shouted the policeman.

Sebastian climbed the harder. The roof was almost within his grasp. The policeman hesitated, uncertain whether to shoot, and then, followed by Ravengar, ran from the room and up the stairs.

It was an even race, but the cover of the scuttle stuck, and Sebastian had the advantage. He was crossing the roof when the scuttle at last came loose. As the policeman's head appeared Sebastian stopped and kicked out viciously with his foot.

The policeman groaned and fell backward. Ravengar was a few feet behind him, near, but not near enough to intercept his quarry, now running again with all his speed toward the fire escape at the opposite end. Sebastian flung himself down and began to worm his way down the rickety, rusty ladder.

He heard a shout beneath him. Looking down, he saw the second policeman coming up the fire escape. The man was on the flight immediately beneath him; in his hand was a revolver.

"Halt! Hands up!" he yelled.

Sebastian flung up his hands in token of surrender.

The policeman shinned up the fire escape like a monkey, the revolver in his mouth. Sebastian waited for him at the top. He could see, out of the corner of his eye, Ravengar beginning to emerge from the scuttle behind him, followed by the first policeman, from whose mouth the blood was streaming.

As the first man set foot upon the roof Sebastian leaped at him like a tiger. A furious struggle followed, the policeman trying in vain to get the drop on the hunted man whose arms were about his own, while the hands clutched at his throat. Staggering on the edge of the dizzy height, the policeman let the revolver fall and caught at the rail of the escape to save himself. As he did so Sebastian stooped and picked up the weapon. He saw that Ravengar and the first policeman were within a few feet of him. He thrust the revolver against his antagonist's body and fired.

The bullet pierced the heart. The policeman flung up his arms, stumbled, and pitched backward.

Then, as Ravengar leaped forward, Sebastian struck him a vicious blow with the revolver butt which sent him reeling backward. The next instant Sebastian was half way down the first flight of the fire escape.

He ran through a back yard, down an alley, crossed a street, went through a garden, and finally emerged breathless in a main thoroughfare of traffic.

* * * * * * *

Ravengar's sudden disappearance frightened Leontine. She saw him dart across the street toward the tenement building. Then he was swallowed up in the crowd that still lingered about the burned-out ruins of the building in which had been the laboratory.

As she stood in Mrs. Spielburger's yard, with Pat McGuire, trying to compose herself, she heard a distant revolver shot ring out. She caught at Pat's arm in an agony of apprehension.

"It's nothing, lady," said the ever-ready Irishman. "Sure he'll be back. Them rats in that district is always shooting at each other. Maybe it's a tire blown out," he added hopefully.

But when a second crowd began to run around the corner of the adjacent block Pat volunteered to go and find out what the trouble was. And Leontine waited in terror which she could no longer conceal. What if the shot had been fired at Ravengar?

It was, of course, Sebastian's shot which killed the policeman. Ravengar had been a participant in that affair, but not a principal. And Leontine never knew how narrow his escape had been.

As Leontine clung, trembling, to the fence, Ravengar stood before her. She gave a happy little cry and ran to him; then, remembering how short a time had passed since she had acknowledged her love, she drew back, suffused with blushes.

Ravengar dropped upon one knee before her.

"Be brave, Leontine," he said. "And be assured that I shall stand between you and any further danger all your life.

"I saw Sebastian and went to find him," he continued. "But he escaped me."

"That shot—" she faltered.

"It was not fired at me," answered Ravengar, and he said no more.

"Leontine," he continued, "if it should prove impossible to catch Sebastian and compel him to free the memory of your dead lover, how long will you pursue a hopeless quest?"

"I cannot give that up," she answered gently.

"But you love me, dearest?"

"Yes. And do you not love me enough to bear with me a little longer?"

Ravengar hesitated. Then he bowed his head in assent. He turned as if to leave her; then, returning, he took her in his arms, and their lips met in their first kiss.

"I shall never give up the quest," he said, as he released her.

* * * * * * *

Mr. Whitey Wang was decidedly disposed to consider his charge a treasure. Nobody but a madman would put an old book and bottle of pellets in a safety vault unless there were something more in the action than met the immediate understanding.

And Sebastian was not crazy.

Putting the book under his coat, and still holding the bottle of pellets, Wang began to make his way toward another rookery, where he also had lodgings, in virtue of a certain alias into which it is not necessary to go.

However, on the way Mr. Wang received another impulse, and hastened to obey it. He would find out what was in the book.

Stepping into a doorway, he opened the book and began to read it. Whitey snorted with disgust. It seemed to be a book of travel. Mixed with it, however, were the figures of a cypher. Whitey closed the book with a snap.

Whitey was not particularly interested in the sight of a pretty American girl who was apparently saying good-bye to an old Irishman and a German woman in a back yard. He had seen such sights before. However, Whitey had a decided interest for Leontine, because she recognized the book under his arm, and the pellets in his hand.

She rushed back to Pat.

"Do you see that man?" she cried, indicating the unconscious Whitey Wang. "Get that book from him. And the bottle of pellets. That's the bottle you lost in the river!"

Pat needed no second orders. He rushed from the back yard and grabbed Whitney by both shoulders.

"Gimme that book and the bottle, or I'll knock your blamed head of!" he shouted.

Whitey was taken by surprise, a thing that seldom happened to him.

"Lemme go!" he yelled. "Lemme go, d'you hear?"

Pat twisted the bottle of pellets out of his hand and put it in his pocket. In doing this he had perforce to release his hold of Whitey for a moment. It was only a moment, but Whitey took full advantage of the situation. He twisted out of Pat's grasp like an eel and ran—

Into the ample form of Mrs. Spielburger, who promptly boxed his ears, knocked him down with a blow of her brawny fist, and screamed for help.

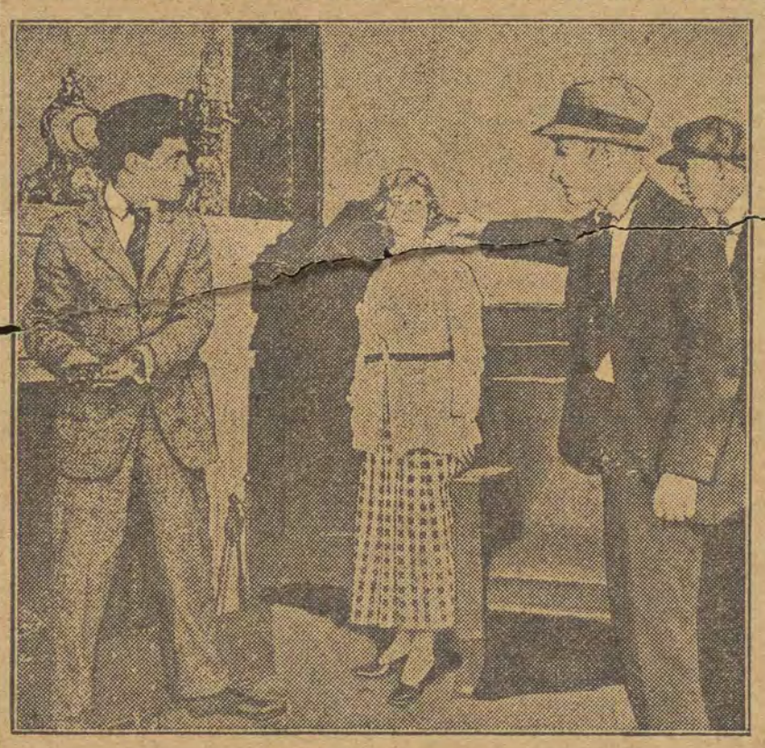
Pat got the journal from Whitey before he had found his feet again. As the two men struggled a crowd began to collect. A policeman came running up.

Whitey, freed by Pat, started off again, but this time he fell into the policeman's arms. The policeman recognized him as an old friend, and stuck to him as such. Pat thrust his pellets and the journal into Leontine's hands.

"You'd better beat it, Miss," he said. "I'll trust you for that five hundred."

Leontine darted out of the yard, pushed through the crowd, and found a taxicab. A moment later she was being whirled away from the scene.

Leontine's new address was in a fashionable part of the city. She had decided that the best security lay in publicity. She had a small house, with a gardener, a chauffeur, and a couple of maid servants. Thus aided, she felt a match for any schemes of Sebastian.



She was seated in her study waiting for Ravengar when she heard the door opening. She looked up in surprise. She had not heard the bell ring. It sounded like Ravengar's step. Then she found herself looking into the face of—Jerry!!

She stared at him in amazement which robbed her of speech. Yet she felt no fear. And as she watched him Jerry addressed her.

"I come to you in behalf of Ravengar," he said. "You are all in the world to him, and the life of the living is more than the memory of the dead."

He turned and left the room, leaving Leontine staring after him. And, though she had no doubt that Jerry's appearance was that of a spectre, even then she remembered that she had heard his footstep.

A spirit's footstep! Suddenly she regained control over her limbs. She sprang forward and opened the door. Jerry was nowhere to be seen, but Ravengar was coming along the hall.

"I'll Pay You for This!"

"Who was that?" cried Leontine, in the reaction of deadly terror.

"Who, dear?"

"You saw somebody come out of this door?"

"No, I saw no one come out of this door," answered Ravengar. "Whom did you think you saw?"

"Jerry," she answered, and burst into tears.

Ravengar put his arm about her and led her back into the study.

"It was his spirit," Leontine sobbed. "He came back to me from the grave, to tell me that I must give up my endeavor to free his memory. He said that the love of the living was more than the memory of the dead."

Ravengar took her in his arms. "Leontine—" he began.

"But I want to clear his name," continued the girl eagerly.

Ravengar took her hands in his and kissed them. "Let us sit down, Leontine," he said, "and perhaps when I have shown you the secret of the pellets we shall see a clearer way toward that purpose."

* * * * * * *

"And so we've found her."

Sebastian listened eagerly to the story of the two crooks, confederates of Whitey's, whom he had hired. They had discovered Leontine's new abode, and had learned the details of its location.

Sebastian knew that what he had to do must be done speedily, for already every police station was posted with circulars descriptive of him and offering a reward. He must secure the pellets and book, make an end of his enemy Ravengar, and the wife whom he hated, and make a quick, clean getaway.

At that moment Whitey Wang came in. The three had been waiting for him.

"We can get her now, boss," he said to Sebastian. "I seen her through her study window. She's setting there alone. She looks as if she was waiting for somebody."

Sebastian understood. It was Ravengar, and he would trap the two, get what he needed, and secure his revenge, in one dramatic coup.

"We'll go along," he said.

The three left the tenement separately, and rejoined each other some distance away. They proceeded rapidly toward Leontine's house. At length the pair indicated it to Sebastian.

It was beginning to grow dark. Sebastian spoke a few words to his companions and one of them went round to the back of the house. After giving him time to post himself, Sebastian and the two others stole past the lodge among the trees until they were standing in front of the study. And Sebastian's heart leaped up as he saw his wife and Ravengar seated opposite each other at the table.

He watched them with eager eyes and listened with ears that heard a little—not much, but just enough to inspire the keenest interest.

Sebastian and his companion stole round to the side of the house. The crook inserted a knife under the sash and had the window catch shot back in a moment. Then he crawled in, and Sebastian followed him.

Clutching their revolvers, the two crept to the entrance of Leontine's study. The door was partly open. Sebastian motioned to his companion to halt and, his ear close to the crack, listened to Ravengar's explanation.

But he had not been there more than a half minute before both Leontine and Ravengar turned their heads simultaneously and saw him.

They sprang to their feet; Leontine screamed, and Ravengar issued a short command:

"The journal and the pellets, Leontine—destroy them!"

* * * * * * *

"Until now," said Ravengar to Leontine, as they sat down, "there has never been such a thing as absolute black. Our blacks are not absolute black. If they were, they would reflect no light and would be invisible. We see things by the light they reflect."

"Now let us begin with Dexter's statement of the discovery.

"'The black pellets,' he says, 'represent, then, this absolute black which I have discovered after my investigations of many years. A solution of these, made in pure water and painted upon any object, confers the power of invisi—"

That was the moment at which Ravengar and Leontine both felt the presence of Sebastian at the door. They turned their heads and saw him.

"The journal and the pellets, Leontine—destroy them!" Ravengar shouted.

As he spoke he darted to the door and struck Sebastian a blow in the face that sent him reeling backward. Taking advantage of this, Leontine slipped past him and ran down the passage. The two companions of Sebastian started after her, but Ravengar barred the way.

With an oath one of the crooks drew his revolver. As he did so, Ravengar, with almost incredible dexterity, snatched it out of his hand and fired point blank. The crook, shot through the brain, fell over backward, dead before his head struck the floor. The two others, maddened with fear and rage, threw themselves upon Ravengar. He had no time to fire again. It was an inextricable medley; but somehow Ravengar managed to hold the passage.

Leontine ran for the back door, with the intention of gaining the garden and alarming the chauffeur and gardener. But as she did so she saw the third crook on guard there. She stepped back hurriedly. It was a difficult situation. Ravengar had ordered her to destroy the journal and pellets; but Ravengar was fighting for his life and all her impulse was to help him. On the other hand she was too weak to be of assistance, and might even hamper him. She decided therefore to obey. She ran into the card room, adjoining her study, and flung the bottle of pellets and the book into the grate of the open fireplace.

It was summer time and there was no fire, but a box of matches hung by the mantel, and there was the day's newspaper upon a chair beside the fireplace.

Leontine heard the crook in the passage outside. She turned and locked the door. She heard Ravengar struggling desperately with his assailants, and her one thought was to destroy the journal and pellets and then go to his aid. She struck a match, lit the newspaper, and flung the journal and pellets upon it, tearing out page after page to ensure complete combustion.

In the passage outside Ravengar was still engaged in his furious struggle with Sebastian. The latter's surviving companion, who was none other than Whitey Wang, was not particularly adept at rough and tumble fighting, unless he had a revolver in his hand and a clear aim; the first condition was fulfilled, but not the second. The combatants were so mixed that it was impossible to fire.

Ravengar, winning free for a moment, hurled Sebastian from him with all his force. That was Wang's opportunity. He sprang forward and fired. The bullet hissed past Ravengar's head. Ravengar struck Whitey a blow that sent him staggering backward, and snatched the revolver from him, aiming, not at him but at Sebastian. The two exchanged shots. Sebastian's bullet clipped a lock of hair from Ravengar's head. Ravengar's bullet went wild.

Sebastian's revolver was empty. Before Ravengar could fire again Sebastian was upon him. The revolver butt descended upon his skull. As Ravengar staggered under the force of the blow Sebastian began striking again and again.

Ravengar was growing dazed. Sebastian and the crook hammered at Ravengar until he sank with a groan upon the floor, unconscious.

"Lemme finish him!" begged Whitey as Sebastian stood over Ravengar's prostrate body, considering whether to fire or to give the final blow with his revolver butt.

But at that instant the back door opened and the gardener, who had heard the sounds of the firing, rushed in. He realized the situation and disappeared for aid, his speed accelerated by a shot from Sebastian.

Sebastian, pausing only to give his enemy's body a final kick, ran forward, dragging Wang with him.

"Quick!" he shouted. "There is no time to lose!"

Meanwhile the third crook had been hovering in the background after making a fruitless effort to break down the door of the card room.

"All together!" yelled Sebastian.

They put their shoulders to the door. A mighty heave, and it flew open, disclosing Leontine crouching before the fire, which was consuming the last pages of the journal. The pellets had already melted into a mass of sticky black. Leontine rose to her feet as Sebastian entered.

He rushed at her, hurled her aside, and stooped over the grate. Bitterly he repented that he had stopped to hammer Ravengar after he had knocked him unconscious. He saw now that it was too late. The pellets, even if they still retained their virtue, were stuck fast to the iron bars of the grate. The pages of the journal were a smouldering heap of burned paper.

Sebastian tried to pluck them out, but only a few scraps and corners remained unconsumed. He turned upon Leontine in fury.

"I'll pay you for this!" he shouted, and struck her a violent blow on the mouth that threw her to the floor.

Leontine rose and looked at him fixedly. And Sebastian suddenly realized the moral strength of this woman whom he had married, tortured, betrayed.

He had been afraid of her before. He had feared her vengeance for Jerry. But his fears had had a material origin. Now for the first time something seemed to stand between them, as if it were a protecting angel, something that forbade him to lay his hand upon her again or to go a step nearer her.

He was afraid. He saw his own impending punishment; he realized that all his life had been lived in vain.

Casting a glance backward, he discovered that he was alone. His companions had fled, leaving their dead comrade upon the floor. Sebastian had struck his last blow and failed.

And outside he heard the excited voices of the chauffeur and gardener. Upstairs the maids were screaming. Somebody was shouting for the police.

He turned with a curse, flung up the window, and leaped out to the ground. It was a light drop, he rose uninjured and made his way toward the street in the rear, among the stables, while the chauffeur and gardener burst through the hall, to find Leontine, the blood streaming from her lip, bending over the body of Ravengar.

As she crouched there, trying to recall him to consciousness, she made a singular discovery. Ravengar's moustache had been half torn from his face. But it was a false one. Underneath it the skin was white and freshly shaven. The other half came away at a touch.

And Ravengar wore a wig. His graying hair, at which the girl had often wondered in so young a man—for he seemed little more than 30—was false too. Beneath it was a crop of close-cut flaxen hair.

The wig was awry, and as Leontine removed it and looked into Ravengar's face she uttered a great cry, rose to her feet, and stared at him breathlessly.

Ravengar was beginning to regain consciousness. He stirred, muttered, and opened his eyes. He tried to sit up; and in a moment Leontine was back upon her knees beside him, caressing him, and then taking his head upon her lap and bandaging it.

TEXAS MERCHANT GAINS 34 POUNDS

Quit Taking Tanlac 18 Months Ago—Still Retains Weight and Feels Fine.

SUFFERED TWENTY YEARS

John Crabtree Says the Money He Paid for Tanlac Was Best Investment He Ever Made in His Life.

"I have gained thirty-four pounds on three bottles of Tanlac and I now know what it is to enjoy life and good health after suffering twenty years," said John M. Crabtree, a general merchant at Five Mile Station A, Dallas, Texas.

"I bought my first bottle nearly two years ago," continued Mr. Crabtree, "and it was the best investment I ever made in my life. I began to improve almost from the start and three bottles simply made me over into a new man. I have enjoyed the best of health ever since.

"I suffered with catarrh of the stomach and indigestion for twenty years and for eighteen months I had to live almost entirely on cereals. My stomach was full of gas and I suffered with awful headaches all the time. I was nervous and couldn't sleep. I spent nearly all of one whole year in bed and fell off in weight to one hundred and eighteen pounds.

"After using three bottles of Tanlac, I had increased in weight from one hundred and eighteen pounds to one hundred and fifty-two—making an actual gain of thirty-four pounds—all my troubles were gone and I was feeling like a new man.

"Although it has been a year and a half since Tanlac relieved me of my awful catarrhal trouble and indigestion, I still retain my increase in weight and feel simply fine all the time. I've been eating anything I want—in fact anything anybody else can—and sleeping like a child every night. Being made into a strong, healthy man after suffering as long as I did is enough to make me rejoice and I'm glad to indorse Tanlac because I know what it will do."

"Really, Mr. Brown," said a maiden of the party; "how did you do it?"

"Well," he said, "it happened like this."

As he spoke he unconsciously raised his hand and scratched his forehead.

"Oh, I see," she interrupted, sweetly; "how very careless of you!"

MANY DEAD RESULT OF ILLINOIS RIOTS

STREET CARS HALTED AND PASSENGERS BEATEN INTO INSENSIBILITY.

STATE TROOPS DISARMED

Women and Girls Join in Riotous Demonstration—Houses Burned in Many Sections of City.

East St. Louis, Ill.—At least 20 dead and many wounded, fires burning in four sections of the city, the mobs practically dispersed, was the condition here following the race riots which prevailed for 24 hours.

Estimates of the number of dead run up to 100 and higher, but these estimates were purely conjectural. The exact number of dead probably never will be known, as it is thought that many bodies were consumed in the flames.

Adjutant General Frank S. Dickson of Illinois, arrived and took charge of the situation shortly after midnight. He went into conference immediately with military and civil authorities to outline a plan of procedure

At 1 a. m. the fires were practically under control of the firemen and the rioters for the most part had dispersed and gone to their homes. In answer to a question as to why the troops on the ground when the trouble developed did not use force to put down the rioting, General Dickson said the purposes for which the soldiers were sent here had been gained without firing a shot and that wholesale bloodshed would have been the result of any firing on the part of the troops.

"Five hundred rioters, the ringleaders of the largest mob, I am informed, are now under arrest," said General Dickson. "This was accomplished by surrounding the rioters and forcing them to submit without shooting or employing the bayonet."

General Dickson said after the 500 were taken into custody the disturbance at once took on a less serious aspect.

Another negro district in the south end of the city, known as "Reynolds Row," was reported burning. Vast clouds of smoke rolled across the sky from the burning district. The flames made some of the downtown streets as light as day and now and then a yelling mob rushed down a street in pursuit of o negro or in search of new excitement. National guardsmen, loaded in automobile trucks, dashed after the mob. The shouting died down occasionally as bewildered people walked up and down the streets wondering where the last outbreak occurred.

The fires started about 6 o'clock in the evening and spread rapidly. Soon flames visible for miles were shooting into the sky. Hundreds of negro women, most of them carrying bundles that held their most precious belongings and leading small children, fled across the bridge to shelter and safety with friends on the Missouri side.

Telephone wires were cut early in the evening. As telegraph and telephone poles caught fire other wires went down.

The mobs in East St. Louis were swelled by hundreds of people who early in the evening crossed the river from St. Louis, Mo. This added such a meanace to the situation that at 8:30 o'clock the bridges were closed. This forced hundreds of residents of suburban towns to stay in St Louis for the night.

As soon as street car traffic ended at 7 p. m. crowds walked across the bridge into East St. Louis by the thousands.

The mobs got into a lynching mood when one negro was strung up on a pole but was rescued just in time to save his life. Soldiers rescued still another negro who was being dragged through the streets.

SLAVS TAKE 8,000 PRISONERS.

Brilliant Advance Led by Minister of War Kernesky.

Petrograd.—M. Kerensky, Minister of War, telegraphed Premier Lvoff that the Russian revolutionary army resumed the offensive on July 1.

Russian troops have captured Koniouchy, on the Galician front, together with 164 officers and 8,400 men, the war office announced.

Petrograd.—The brilliant Russian advance, the news of which has sent a wave of rejoicing through the entire country, was led by War Minister Kerensky in person.

For the last four days the war minister has been continuously at the front, spending every effort to urge the troops to advance. He finally rode to the front line trenches and placing himself at the head of the troops, gave the order to advance.

Germany Gets Food From Neutrals.

Washington.—Evidence that Germany is obtaining vast quantities of food from the European neutral countries has been presented to the United States by Great Britain for the American government's guidance in determining an export policy. Much of this, the British statistics purport to show, is replaced by the neutrals with imports from America. From Scandinavia and Holland, the British information sets forth enough fat is going into Germany to supply 7,700,000 soldiers.

CALOMEL SICKENS! IT'S MERCURY! DANGER

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Wonderful Discovery Destroying Sale of Calomel Here.

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless, and can not salivate. Give it to your children. Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is almost stopped entirely here—Adv.

The Reichsrath a Babel.

That parliament of Babel, the reichsrath, now engaged in playing an obscure part in the Austro-Hungarian peace hunt, is permitted to express its emotions in eight official languages—symbolic of the war of tongues raging in the empire itself. In the great vocal chorus the Slavonian may be said to have struck the strident top note, for the very word he has coined for himself expresses the belief that no man is a talker except himself. "Slowan," in Old Slavonian, meant "to speak," and as the Slav understood no other speech, the others were naturally the dumb dogs.—London Daily Chronicle.

Juice of Lemons! How to Make Skin White and Beautiful

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as sallowness, freckles and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful to smoothen rough, red hands. Adv.

Save the Babies

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. There can be no danger in the use of Castoria if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher as it contains no opiates or narcotics of any kind.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

INTERNAL REVENUE LICENSE

Birmingham, Ala., July 2, 1917.

Hon. H. A. Harris, Sheriff of Chilton County, Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir:

The following U. S. Internal Revenue Licenses have been issued to your (Chilton) county in the month of June, 1917:

No U. S. Internal Revenue License has been issued to your county in June, 1917.

I hereby certify that I have carefully examined the record of the Collector of Internal Revenue and the above is complete and correct.

Yours very truly,
SAM P. JONES.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 2nd day of July, 1817.

J. B. MOSLEY, Notary Public.

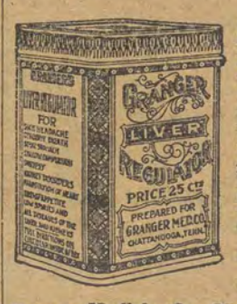
Rev. W. J. Armstrong, Great Sachem of the Improved Order of Red Men in Alabama, went over to Blocton last Saturday to engage in some special work for the local tribe of the order in that district. For a long time Mr. Armstrong has been the shining light of Waxahatchie Tribe, located in Clanton, and his interest in the work of the I. O. R. M. has been especially faithful and untiring. His many friends are glad to see him occupying the place of highest esteem among the Red men of the State, and are gratified to have him go out over the Reservation and shed his spirit of the brotherhood abroad among the members of the order.

While in Blocton, Mr. Armstrong engaged in conducting a memorial service for the order of Odd Fellows, of which he is an honored and distinguished member.

Prof. R. A. Smith, President of the Chilton County Singing Convention, came down from Howard College Sunday to attend the annual session of the convention at Providence. Mr. Smith was re-elected to the presidency of the body.

W. L. House of Jumbo was in Calnton on Saturday.

J. Monroe Parrish of Providence Beat 16, was here Saturday.



Prof. H. M. Eagle, one of the best singers and foremost musicians of the South, was in town Saturday greeting his many friends here. Prof Eagle has taught a number of singing schools in this county, and has many friends here. He attended the County Singing Convention at Providence on Sunday.

We are a strange people. If a newspaper criticized the local churches the way a saw-dust evangelist does, decent people would not read the newspapers.

Enlisting Women in Food Campaign.

At the United Protestant Church in Thorsby last Sunday, Pastor S. H. Herbert referred to the call sent out by Herbert C. Hoover to the women of the country asking them to register for service in the food conservation. Six items in the campaign have been outlined and cannot be too strongly emphasized. The six items and Mr. Hoover's comment on each are as follows:

First, to save the wheat.—If we eat as usual from our harvest this year we will have little more than enough for our own supply, but we can divide with our allies if each individual makes some sacrifices by eating at least one wheatless meal per day, substituting corn bread or other cereals.

Second, We want to save the meat for our cattle and hogs are decreasing, and we must send to our allies, so we wish every householder to buy less, to serve smaller portions and to allow no waste.

Third, We wish to save the fats.—We consume three times the fats that is necessary for nutrition, and we need them now for war. We wish to increase butter used in cooking; we want less butter served on the table; we want less lard, bacon, and other port products used.

Fourth, Any deficiency in food supply by economy along the above lines, can be amply covered by increasing the use of fish, potatoes, beans, peas, turnips, cabbage and vegetables, — generally corn, buckwheat, rye, and rice, which we will have in abundance.

Fifth, We want to save transportation.—Our railroads are unable to meet the war pressure for munitions, men, and coal, so that we wish everyone to consume products of local origin as far as possible, to buy from the local miller, the local packer, buy and eat vegetables grown near home. Aside from eating an increased proportion of these commodities in order to save on the staples, it is extremely important that any surplus of these commodities shall be preserved or well stored for winter use.

Sixth, We preach and want everyone to preach "the gospel of the clean plate, to buy less food stuffs, to serve smaller portions and to see that nothing of value goes into the garbage can.

Our idea of an optimist is a man to whom Monday morning dawns just as cheerfully as Saturday morning.

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME VI. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., JULY 12, 1917. NUBMER 15

FIND OUT WHAT IS YOUR REGISTRATION NUMBER.

You Will be Drafted into Service by the Number Which Appears before Your Name in List Appearing This Week.

Elsewhere we are publishing in this issue of the Union-Banner, the list of persons registered on June 5th, for selective draft to the army. In addition to the names, there is also the numbers, by which the draft is to be made. Each man selected for the army will be chosen by his number; therefore, it is well to look up your number as it appears on the list and remember it, so you will know as soon as the draft is made, whether or not you are included in the first numbers who will be examined for the service.

Cards Run in Series.

A circular from Washington, made public this week, has the following to say in regard to the form and method of selection:

"Every board has numbered the cards in its jurisdiction with red ink in a series running from 1 to the number representing the total number of cards in its jurisdiction," continues the circular. "Lists showing the names of persons in the jurisdiction of each board and the red ink number of each card are open to inspection at the office of each board. Inspect the list and inform yourself of the red ink seriel number.

"These red ink numbers are to be drawn by lot to determine the order in which registered persons are to be called by the various local boards. As soon as the drawing is complete, lists showing the order in which these red ink numbers are drawn will be published in the press, and will be posted at the office of each local board, and find out the order in which you stand for call.

Men will be Examined.

"As soon as quotas are assigned to each state and each board, each board will call upon persons whose cards are in its jurisdiction, instructing them to present themselves for examination. This call will be posted at the local board and the papers will be requested to print it. A notice will also be mailed to you, but the posting at the office of the list will be deemed sufficient notice to charge you with the duty of presenting yourself.

"Watch the lists at the office of your board and see when you are called for examination.

"You must report for physical examination on the day named in your call.

"If you are found physically disqualified the board will give you a certificate which will explain to you what your future duties are.

Must Prove Exemption.

"If you are found physically qualified and file a claim for exemption within seven days after your call, you will be given ten days after filing your claim of exemption to file proof in support of your claim of exemption.

"If you are found physically qualified and file no claim for exemption, or if you do not appear for physical examination, your name will be posted to the district board as one who was called for military service and was not exempted or discharged. On the eighth day after call, or within two days thereafter, copies of the list of persons so posted to the district boards will be given to the press with a request for publication, will be posted in a place at the office of the local board accessible to the public view, and notice will be mailed to you at the address on your registration card.

"Therefore, watch the notices posted in the office of the board about ten days after the day you were called, and make arrangement for the prompt receipt of mail."

Plenty of time Given.

The grounds for exemption are set forth in the same language as in the preliminary regulations issued a week ago. The circular says the methods of proving exemptions will be detailed to the registrant, and blanks furnished on application to the local board. The method of appeal will also be made plain, and it is set forth that apppeals must be made within ten days after the local board has refused exemption, that the proof must be filed within another five days, and that a decision must be made five days thereafter.

"Only the district board," concludes the circular, "can receive claim or discharge on the ground that you are engaged in industry, including agriculture. Only decisions of the district boards on industrial claims for discharge can be appealed. If you desire to appeal the decision of the district board to the president, you may do so within seven days of the day of mailing to you of the decision of the district board. As soon as your case is finally disposed of, the adjutant general of your state will notify you by mail that you have been selected for military service.

"Notice that you have been selected for military service will not necessarily order you into service. The notice to report for military service will come when the government is ready to receive you."

SHALL I GO TO SCHOOL DURING THE WAR?

Some people have been thinking, that, because of the war, young people should not go on with their schooling. No more serious mistake than this could be made. It is just as important for the future welfare of our country that she have students in her schools today as soldiers in her armies or sailors on her ships.

When the war is over, there will be a greater demand for educated men and women than ever before. Thousands of the best trained men of Europe have already been killed in the trenches. Many of the graduates of the best schools in America are already in the army, and, if the war continues long, will have to lay down their lives. Conditions in this country and Europe after the war will call for more men with trained minds than ever.

Who will take the places of these leaders who have fallen, unless the young men who are not in military service feel a special responsibility to complete their education?

More and more, since the war began, are women taking the positions left vacant by men who have enlisted in the army. Many others have gone to the front as Red Cross Nurses, or in other capacities. The demand for educated women is greater than ever before.

If you stay away from school during these years, you are not only depriving yourself of priceless opportunities but you are also depriving your country of that trained service which she has the right to ask of you in the years to come.

UNION SERVICE FOR BENEFIT OF THE RED CROSS IN CLANTON

For the purpose of stimulating interest in the Red Cross work in Clanton, there is planned a union service at the Methodist Church for next Sunday night at 8 o'clock. Dr. B. J. Baldwin, a leading figure in the Red Cross work in the State, will be present to make an address, and also other prominent persons. Everybody is urged to attend and lend their support to the cause.

THE SINGING AT CORINTH

We had an all day singing at Corinth last Sunday, July 8th.

We were called to order at 9 o'clock by A. L. Robinson. E. L. Jones read the 50 chapter of Psalms and led in prayer.

Next in order was to select a Chairman and Secretary, for which T. L. Robinson and Archie Jones respectively were elected.

The arranging committee for the day was, E. L. Jones, J. M. Williams, R. T. Grant, who placed the conductors for the forenoon as follows: A. L. Robinson, Edward Taylor, Lee Robinson, R. T. Grant, J. M. Williams. Each sang three songs.

We then had a recess of 10 minutes, after which we returned to the house and Rev. J. D. Hughes preached a powerful sermon.

Dinner was spread by the ladies, which was bountiful and enjoyed by everybody. Intermission consisted of one and a half hours.

The house was called to order at 1:30, p.m. by T. L. Robinson. The leaders for the afternoon were: T. L. Robinson, G. C. Weldon, Alfonzo Cleckler, N. J. Jones, A. M. Jones, Archie Jones, three songs each.

A qurtet was rendered by Jim Robinson, Alfonzo Cleckler, Lee Robinson and G. C. Weldon.

Organists for the day were: Lee Robinson, Fannie Bell Connell, Vallie Norris.

Chairman T. L. Robinson sang "God be With You till we Meet again," followed with dismission by Rev. J. D. Hughes.

The day was well spent in song service. We wish to thank the people for their good behavior during the day.

With best wishes to all,
ARCHIE JONES, Secy.

PERRY GLASS TRIAL SET FOR NEXT TUESDAY

The preliminary trial of Perry Glass, who shot and killed Jim Cambell on Monday, July 2, in Stumps Hills, will be conducted before Judge Reynolds in the County Court on Tuesday, July 17.

Since the first of last week Glass has been confined in the jail here, and appearances seem to indicate that he has grown into a state of absolute insanity. Doctors have been called in two or three instances to examine him in order to determine the state of the man's mind.

Much interest is attached to the case because of its tragic nature, and the trial next Tuesday will no doubt bring a large number of interested spectators to hear the evidence.

MT. PLEASANT

Mr. Editor: Please allow me space to say a few words.

Health is very good at present. The farmers are very happy for they are almost through laying by their crops, and they are rejoicing over the nice rain.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pierce visited Mr. W. M. Pierce, Jr., Saturday night and Sunday and then attended the burial of Mr. Joe Varden Sunday p.m.

Mr. J. Wiley Foshee and family visited at Mrs. W. Pardue's at Saginaw last Sunday.

Mr. Willis Pounds and Mr. Bob Pickles of Montgomery were at home last Sunday from the U. S. army.

Mrs. Wiley Soshee, Misses Florence and Dalene Mims went with Jno Mc Foshee to Union Grove to the Farmers Union meeting last Thursday.

Misses Dollie Blankenship, Elma Daniel, and Claudy Culpepper dined with Miss Cora Mae Pounds Sunday.

Mr. Dick Blunt of Coosa County is visiting in this community this week.

Messrs Emmett Popwell and Jessie Teel, and Misses Alvie Dozier and Annie Pierce dined with Miss O. D. Lindsey last Sunday.

The revival meeting will probably start at Mt. Pleasant next Sunday. We hope to have a large crowd on Saturday also.

PICNIC AT MINOOKA

There will be a picnic at Minooka school house Saturday, July 1st, conducted by the Odd Fellows and Rebekah Lodges at Minooka. Everyone invited to come and bring a well filled basket.

B. PARRISH,
W. E. BROADHEAD,
Com. On Arrangements.

Who will be the first one to present the Union-Banner force with a big nice watermelon? We are anxious to tell our readers what a nice fellow he is.

A woman's ide a of economy is to have her dresses cut higher at the bottom and lower at the top.

Discord is when a man is singing the praises of some other man. Harmony when he is singing your praises.

NOTICE ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a decree rendered by Hon. L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Ala., in the matter of the estate of R. A. Hancock, I, as administrator of said estate, in pursuance of said decree, will sell to the highest bidder for cash in front of the court house door at Clanton, Monday, the 16th day of July, 1917, the following described real estate, lying and being in Chilton County, Alabama, to-wit:

South half of southwest quarter of northwest quarter, Section 16, Township 21, Range 15, and one and one half acres in the north side of northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of said Section, Township and Range; said land being known as the R. A. Hancock place.

Said sale is to be made for the purpose of paying debts of said estate, and for distribution of the remainder of the funds after the debts are paid among the children of the deceased.

This, the 15th day of June, 1917.

J. W. FOSHEE, Administrator.

UNION SPRINGS

Refreshing seasons. Crops looking well.

Prof. Baker has opened up his school this week at Freeman School building.

Several from this community motored to Montevallo last Sunday to the singing. They report a splendid time.

Attorney Morgan D. Jones, of Dadeville, Tallapoosa County,, was a most welcome visitor at the home of Z. J. Jones, on the 3rd.

The Fourth was unusually quiet here.

Mrs. Haygood Russ, who has been visiting here has returned to her home in Florida.

Mr. J. N. Scott of Jemison makes weekly visits here on business.

When you feel lazy, out of sorts and yawn a good deal in the daytime, you can charge it to a torpid liver which has allowed the system to get full of impurities. HERBINE cures all disorders produced by an inactive liver. It strengthens that organ, cleanses the bowels and puts the system in good healthy condition. Price 50c. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF U. S. EXPORTS

President Wilson Declares That Needs Of American Come First, Then Requirement Of Allies

NEEDS OF NEUTRALS LAST

Officials Alarmed At Wheat Shortage, Urging An Immediate Embargo On Food Products

Washington.—Government control of American exports, authorized in a provision of the espionage act, was ordered put in operation July 15 by President Wilson in a proclamation putting under license shipments to all countries of the most important commodities. The president declared the government's policy will be first to give consideration to American needs; next to meet, as far as possible, the requirements of the allies, and lastly to supply the neutral countries wherever practicable. It is made clear that every effort will be made to see that no supplies reach the central powers. The commodities named in the list put under control are coal, coke, fuel, oils, kerosene and gasoline, including bunkers; food grains, flour and meal, fodder and feeds, meats and fats, pig iron, steel billets, ship plates and structural shapes, scrap iron and scrap steel; ferro manganese, fertilizers arms, ammunition and explosives.

The inclusion of foodstuffs in the proclamation lends color to statements that the administration is considering the advisability of a complete embargo for sixty days on all food shipments to give the country time to ascertain the amount of its supplies and to give allied and neutral countries an opportunity to present a full program of their requirements. The president said the government was trying first to ameliorate present food conditions and conditions that are expected to arise between now and the next harvest. Many officials, alarmed at the wheat shortage and the heavy drain the allies and neutrals are making on American food supplies, are urging an immediate embargo on food shipments.

Through control of coal and fuels the government intends to take a firm grasp on shipping. An arrangement under negotiation will give the American and British governments control not only of all allied tonnage, but of neutral vessels as well. Ships now on runs not regarded as necessary to a successful conduct of the war will be forced into trades considered more essential, and vessels now held in port through fear of submarine attack will be required to go into service.

REGISTERED MEN NOTIFIED TO BE IN READINESS AT ONCE

For Appearance Before Boards Which Will Consider Claims For Exemption

Washington.—Another step in building up the selective conscription army was taken with the distribution of a circular by Provost Marshal General Crowder, notifying the registered men to hold themselves in readiness for appearance before the boards which will conduct examinations and consider exemptions. How or when the government will select the men to be examined is not detailed in the circular, but it is revealed that registration cards in each county or city jurisdiction are to be numbered with red ink and that "as soon as the drawing is complete lists showing the order in which these red ink numbers are drawn will be published in the press and will be posted at the office of each local board." It already has been announced that the selection will take place in Washington and the general presumption has been that some device similar to a jury wheel will be employed. Exemptions are to be determined by the local boards, the circular shows, only for the previously announced specified causes, such as responsibility for the support of the relatives, and not for agriculture or industrial reasons. Seven days after the designations are posted will be allowed for filing claims. Then there will be an additional allowance of ten days for filing proofs, and the board must decide within three days after the proof is filed.

Britons Are Crying For Reprisals

London.—An intensified demand for reprisals has followed the air raid. All the newspapers declare the people of London are furious at the inadequacy of the city's defense. The Times says the crying need of 1917 is for airplanes as it was for shells in 1915 and declares the government must be compelled to realize that the airplane will be the ultimate and deciding factor of the war. It insists that thousands must be built with the help of America to carry the war into enemy territory.

Prohibition Issue Blocks Congress

Washington.—The prohibition issue in congress may cause a general revision of legislative plans and indefinitely prolong the war session. With the house recorded for prohibiting the manufacture of all intoxicants and the senate favoring a ban upon distilled beverages only, leaders expressed belief that it may take weeks to work out the related revenue and other problems which cannot be settled until congress finally determines its course on the liquor question.

GERMAN AIRSHIPS WRECKED

Three Raiders Returning From Raid Brought Down By British Anti-Aircraft Guns

London.—Two of the German machines that took partin the air raid on Harwich were brought down ablaze by British naval aircraft and a third machine was damaged, it is officially announced. All the British airmen who engaged the Germans emerged safely from their flights. The official statement announcing the results reads:

"The vice admiral at Dover reports that naval aircraft from Dunkirk intercepted the hostile squadron returning from England after the attack on Harwich. An engagement ensued at a considerable distance from the Belgian coast. Two hostile machines were brought down in flames and a third was seen to have been damaged. Several other machines were attacked with indecisive results. All our machines returned safely."

From twelve to fourteen German air raiders dropped bombs in Harwich, a seaport town in Essex. Eight persons were injured and twenty-two others were injured. The text of the official statement follows: "A squadron of some twelve to fourteen enemy airplanes attacked Harwich from a northeasterly direction. A number of bombs were dropped and the latest reports state that eleven persons were killed and thirty-six injured. Only slight material damage was caused."

SUBMARINES TWICE ATTACK PERSHING TROOP SHIPS

One U-Boat Sunk, While Americans Didn't Lose Man, Vessel Or Animal

Washington.—Safe arrival at a French port of the last ships of the first American overseas expedition was announced by Secretary Daniel in a statement revealing that twice on the way across the Atlantic German submarines attacked in force and were fought off by convoying warships. The Americans did not lose a man, a ship or an animal. At least one of the undersea enemies was destroyed.

Attack Was Prompted By Spies

The work of spies through whom the Germans knew secrets of the expedition is disclosed by the news that the first attack was made far at sea before the transports and their convoys reached the point at which a rendezvous had been arranged with the American destroyer flotilla operating in European waters. The submarine commanders apparently knew where and when to expect the Americans bound for the fighting lines in France.

Secretary Daniels' statement, in part, runs: "It is with the joy of a great relief that I announce to the people of the United States the safe arrival in France of every fighting man and every fighting ship. Now that the last vessel has reached port, it is safe to disclose the dangers that were encountered and to tell the complete story of peril and courage. The transports bearing our troops were twice attacked by German submarines on the way across. On both occasions the U-boats were beaten off with every appearance of loss. One was certainly sunk, and there is reason to believe others were sent to the bottom.

"For purposes of convenience, the expedition was divided into contingents, each contingent including troop ships and a naval escort designed to keep off such German raiders as might be met. An ocean rendezvous had also been arranged with the American destroyers now operating in European waters in order that the passage of the danger zone might be attended by every possible protection. The first attack took place at 10:30 at night. What gives it peculiar and disturbing significance is that our ships were set upon at a point well this side of the rendezvous, and in that part of the Atlantic presumably free from submarines.

New Secret Police System Organized

Washington.—Immediate necessity for smashing the German spy menace has caused the government to order quick organization of an entirely new secret police system, the national intelligence service. It includes the operatives of the state, war and navy and justice departments. Treasury secret service men will continue to work individually on counterfeit cases. The others, while retaining their separate organizations under their own chiefs, will co-operate in the spy hunt.

German Submarines Are Losing Now

London.—General von Hindenburg's boasting that "We win if we hold our ground until the submarine war has done its work," has a pleasant sound to the British naval ear, for the navy is now firmly convinced that the submarine war has failed. The navy maintains secrecy regarding the submarines sunk, but the pursuit has become so lively that a U-boat shows its periscope in channel waters only with the greatest risk. It is impossible to keep secret all of the bigger victories.

Save Democracy In United States

New York.—Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, told a great audience at the staduim of the College of the City of New York, where final exercises at the Fourth of July celebration were held, that while the nation was preparing on a gigantic scale for war "we must fight for democracy here at home as our armies will fight for democracy abroad. In the midst of our military enterprise we must be actually loyal to our own political theories here," said Mr. Baker.

FORTIETH MEETING BAR ASSOCIATION

MANY HEAR OPENING ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT JOSEPH H. NATHAN

SESSIONS WELL ATTENDED

Followers of Blackstone Royally Entertained at Meeting in Birmingham.

Birmingham. — The Alabama State Bar Association opened its fortieth session here on July 12th and will continue in session through the 14th.

From the gray-haired wearers of the judicial ermine to the trembling "first pleader," all assembled in the rooms of the Birmingham Civic Association at 10 o'clock Thursday morning to hear the opening address of the President, Joseph H. Nathan.

In addition to the regular business meetings and addresses by eminent practitioners on various laws, procedures and practices, there were many social functions arranged for the entertainment of the guests.

The annual address by H. G. Connor, of North Carolina, was delivered Thursday evening in the ball room of the Tutwiler Hotel.

Alabama Steel Sent to France.

Birmingham.—Quantities of steel bound for France, wire and other shapes so badly needed by the French government have been shipped from the Gadsden plant of the Gulf States Steel Company on interned German ships, formally taken over by the United States government and sailing recently from Charleston. A. R. Forsythe, vice-president and treasurer of the Gulf States Steel Company, took up the matter of transportation with United States Senator John H. Bankhead, and efforts were put forth at Washington which resulted in heavy cargoes of steel from the Birmingham district being included on the first of the interned ships to sail from the port named. While announcements are not forthcoming from the general offices of the Gulf States Steel Company here, it is understood there are many contracts pending for steel to go to France and other of the Allies.

Figures Given Out For Half of 1917.

Birmingham.—Pig iron production in Alabama for the first half of 1917 is given unofficially at 1,472,094 tons against 1,344,333 tons for the first half of last year. The production in June, 1917, is given at 234,259 tons, against 204,389 tons in June, 1916. The production in May of this year was 260,969 tons, but three was one day more in the month than in June, and one furnace is out for repairs and two other furnaces had off days in the month.

Total production for 1917 is certain to go above 3,000,000 tons, against 2,762,885 tons in 1916, 2,049,453 tons in 1915.

Alabama Petty Officers Promoted.

Washington.—Secretary Daniels announced the following promotions of Alabama petty officers in the navy: James C. Gill, of Somerville, to be pharmacist at Washington navy yards; Lipton F. Woodward, of Jonesville, on duty at Raleigh, N. C., recruiting office, to be assistant pay clerk; Webster Cross, of Eliza, on duty at Atlanta, to similar position; James M. Thomas, of Russell, on duty at reserve station, and Archie B. McCay, of Aliceville, on duty on the S. S. Georgia; James F. Howard, of Tuscaloosa, on the U. S. S. Navada, and John A. L. Mason, of Ft. Payne, on duty on the Texas, to be assistant paymaster.

Miss Palmer Appointed.

Montevallo.—Miss Stella Palmer, daughter of President T. W. Palmer, of Montevallo, has been appointed chairman of the subcommittee for Alabama, of the Emergency Committee of the American Home Economics Association. The object of this committee is to act as an advisory body on all subjects connected with home economics during the duration of the war. As associate members of the committee Miss Palmer has appointed Mrs. R. Dupont Thompson, of Birmingham; Miss Martha Patterson, of Montevallo; Miss Louise Hooper, of Selma; Miss Sarah Bandy, of Athens; Miss Martha Sproull, of Troy. Misses Patterson and Hooper have already accepted.

Cotton Is Blooming.

Albany.—Cotton is beginning to bloom in North Alabama and the cotton is late, too. Chief of Police W. D. Cobb was the first man to present a bloom. Cobb has found time from his duties as an officer to cultivate a patch of cotton within the borders of the town.

Lightning Kills Cows.

Clanton.—Four fine milch cows huddled together under a tree during a rain and wind storm four miles north of Clanton, were killed by lightning. Considerable damage was done crops by hail and wind.

Letter Carriers Meet.

Selma.—Electing H. L. Anderson, of Albertville, president, and selecting Montgomery as the next meeting place the Alabama Rural Letter Carriers Association adjourned. S. A. Reynolds of Minter, was reelected secretary.

Crops of State Fairly Good.

Montgomery.—A summary of the weather conditions in Alabama issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture:

The temperature for the week averaged slightly above the normal, with highest temperatures ranging between 93 degrees and 120 degrees. Showers were frequent during the week and fairly well distributed. In many sections the rains were ample, but in some others the amounts were insufficient; in some sections the week was rainless. Cotton is in fair to good condition, as a rule, and improving. Plants are small. Squares are forming as far north as the Tennessee valley. Weevil are reported in the southern and central portions and are active locally. Corn is in poor to good condition in the southern, and in good to excellent condition in the northern portion. Meadows and pastures are in fair to good conditions in the northern, and generally poor in the southern portion, but improving where moisture has been sufficient. Potatoes are in fair to good condition. Harvesting of white potatoes is well advanced. Transplanting of sweet potatoes continues in some sections. Peanuts, beans and truck crops, generally, improved where the rains were sufficient

Pig Iron Selling at $48 Per Ton.

Birmingham.—Pig iron is selling in the Birmingham District at $48 per ton No. 2 foundry, delivered next year. Spot iron, or this year's delivery, where it can be found, brings the same price. There is not much iron to be found for delivery this year, though small lots for regular customers are still reported. Iron manufacturers do not have much to say now about the iron market, all being anxious to make deliveries on the old contracts still in existence, some iron having been sold under $20 per ton, much of that being delivered now going out at $14 per ton.

Woman With $600 in Checks Destitute

Cincinnati.—Miss Charlotte May Jauin, said to be of Huntsville, has been turned over to the charities department of this city, while a story she told is being investigated. The case of the woman came to the attention of the local authorities, a police lieutenant having first been apprised of the woman's destitute circumstances. The story as told the authorities is that the woman, although destitute, had negotiable papers. She has notes and checks totaling $600 in her possession. Miss Jaquin said that she had gone to Florida, but had returned on the same train without leaving it Dispute Ends In Killing.

Dadeville.—Reed Weldon, a farmer living near Dadeville, is held in the Tallapoosa county jail here in connection with the killing of B. B. Gamble, another farmer. Weldon came in and surrendered. It is alleged that several men were gaming, when a dispute arose and Gamble attacked Weldon with a knife. To save himself Weldon drew his gun and shot him.

For Army Y. M. C. A. Work.

Montgomery.—Gen. Robert E. Steiner was advised by the national council of the Young Men's Christian Association that an army building for the organization will be erected at the site mobilization camp at once. Montgomery donated more than $6,000 for the association, and as soon as the report was made the council notified General Steiner that ground should be cleared for the building.

Alabama Doctors Offer Services.

Birmingham.—Sixteen Alabama physicians volunteered for service in the medical corps at a meeting held here when Col. George Page, of the corps, presided and accepted the applications. Colonel Page left for Fort Orglethorpe with the applications, and successful applicants will be notified by mail when to report. They will go into training at Fort Oglethorpe for three months, and will be given commissions.

$1,000,000 to Be Spent in Mobile.

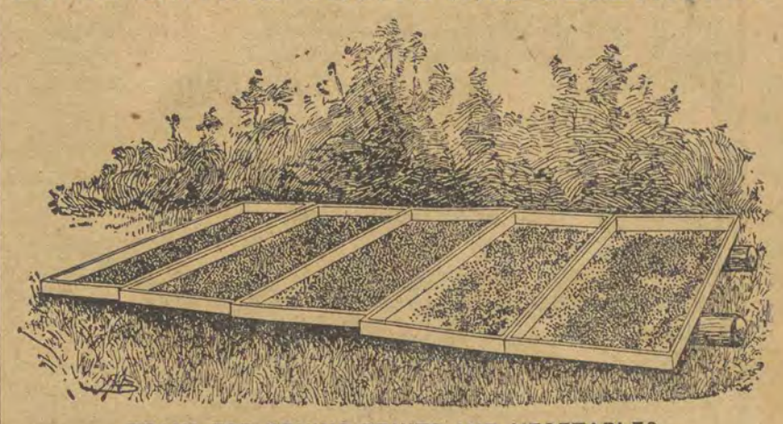
Mobile.—W. F. Owen, president of the Gulf, Mobile and Northern said the company will put in improvements here similar to the Bush terminals of Brooklyn, to cost $1,000,000. The first unit will be $500,000. The road will have physical connections with the Illinois Central, the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, Mobile and Ohio, and Birmingham and Northern.

York Rite to Have Reunion.

Gadsden.—A reunion of the York Rite Masons will be held here July 17, 18 and 19. There will be a number of class degrees in the Blue Lodge and Templar degrees. Arrangements for a social session are being made. George A. Beauchamp, of Montgomery, grand secretary, will be here and other State officers as well as a number of out of the city Masons are expected.

Livestock Sale Planned.

Troy.—"Hog and Cattle Days" will soon be observed in Pike County. All farmers having hogs and cattle to sell will bring them in on these days. An auctioneer will auction off the stock, free of charge to the growers.



Thirty Head of Cattle Die.

Mobile.—Thirty head of cattle at Bayou la Batre, Coden and other communities in the southern end of the county have died within the past few days.

Mobile Man Electrocuted.

Mobile.—Charles Pond, Jr., aged 26 years, son of Mr. Charles Pond, Sr., superintendent of the Turner Terminal Company, was killed by an electric shock at the Gulf Coast fair grounds. He placed his right hand on a live wire

HOME DRYING FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

TRAYS FOR DRYING FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

(From FARMERS' BULLETIN 841, United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the most prominent features of the food conservation program of European countries has been the universal drying of fruits and vegetables. The surplus vegetables in the city markets were forced by the governments into large municipal drying plants. Community dryers were established in the trucking regions and even itinerant drying machines were sent from farm to farm drying the vegetables which otherwise would have gone to waste. In addition, large quantities of dried vegetables from Canada and this country were shipped to France during the last two years, and there is a possibility that dried fruits and vegetables may continue to be shipped abroad in considerable quantities to supplement the concentrated food diet of the men in the trenches.

The drying of vegetables may seem strange to the present generation, but to our grandmothers it was no novelty. Many housewives even today prefer dried sweet corn to the product canned by the old method, and say that dried pumpkin and squash are excellent for pie making. Snap beans often are strung on threads and dried above the stove. Cherries and raspberries still are dried on bits of bark for use instead of raisins. In fact, many of the everyday foodstuffs already are dried at some stage of their preparation for market. The common dried fruits, such as prunes, raisins, figs, dates and apples, are staples in the world's markets, while beans and other legumes, tea, coffee, cocoa, and various manufactured foods, like starch, tapioca, macaroni, etc., are dried either in the sun and wind or in specially constructed driers.

Even though the drying of fruits and vegetables as practiced a few decades ago on many farms has become practically a "lost art," the present food situation doubtless will cause a marked stimulation of drying as a means of conserving the food supply. This country is producing large quantities of perishable foods this year, which should be saved for storage, canned, or properly dried. Drying is not a panacea for the entire waste evil, nor should it take the place of storing or canning to any considerable extent where proper storage facilities are available or tin cans or glass jars can be obtained readily and at a low cost.

Advantages of Drying.

The advantages of drying vegetables are not so apparent for the farm home as they are for the town or city household, which has no root cellar or other place in which to store fresh vegetables. For the farmer's wife the new methods of canning probably will be better than sun drying, which require a somewhat longer time. But shorter methods of drying are available, and the dried product holds an advantage in that usually it requires fewer jars, cans, or other containers than do canned fruits or vegetables; also dried material can be stored in receptacles which cannot be used for canning. Then, too, canned fruit and vegetables freeze and cannot be shipped as conveniently in winter. Dried vegetables can be compacted and shipped with a minimum risk.

Special Advantages.

To the housewife in the town the drying of vegetables and fruits presents special advantages. During the season when the market is oversupplied locally and prices are low she can lay in a stock, dry it, and put it away for a winter's emergency without its taking up much of the needed small storage space in her home. If she is accustomed to canning her fruit and vegetables and finds she cannot secure jars or tin cans, she can easily resort to drying.

With simple and inexpensive facilities, all housewives can save quantities of food which are too small conveniently to can. A few sweet potatoes or apples or peas or even a single turnip can be dried and saved. Even when very small quantities are dried at a time, a quantity sufficient for a meal will soon be secured. Small lots of several dried vegetables, such as cabbage, carrots, turnips, potatoes, and onions, can be combined to advantage for soups and stews.

Cleanliness Is Big Factor.

Cleanliness is as necessary in the preparation of vegetables and fruits for drying as in their preparation for canning, perhaps even more so. To secure a fine quality of dried products much depends upon having the vegetables absolutely fresh, young, tender, and perfectly clean. If steel knives are used in paring and cutting have them clean and bright so as not to discolor the vegetable. The earthy smell and flavor will cling to root crops if they are not washed thoroughly before slicing, and one decayed root may flavor several kettles of soup if the slices from it are scattered through a whole batch of dried material. High-grade dried "root" vegetables can only be made from peeled roots.

In the preparation of large quantities of potatoes a peeler may be utilized. The potatoes are thrown by centrifugal force against a rough surface which, under streams of water provided by the perforated tin container above, nicks off the outer skin and leaves only the eyes to be dug out.

Blanching of vegetables is considered desirable by some housekeepers, although it is not strictly essential to successful drying. It is claimed that the blanch gives a more thorough cleaning, removes the strong odor and flavor from certain kinds of vegetables, and softens and loosens the fiber. This allows the moisture in the vegetable to evaporate more quickly and uniformly. It also quickly coagulates the albuminous matter in the vegetables, which helps to hold in the natural flavors. Blanching consists of plunging the vegetable into boiling water for a short time. Use a wire basket or cheesecloth bag for this. After blanching the required number of minutes, drain well and remove surface moisture from vegetables by placing between two towels or by exposing to the sun and air for a short time.

Preparing Food for Drier.

In large factories the vegetables are put through special shredders and slicers not adapted for home use, but convenient and inexpensive machines which can be used to great advantage are on the market. The meat grinder with its special disks can be used in certain cases; the common kraut slicer will cut large vegetables into thin slices, such as potatoes and cabbage; and the rotary hand slicer is adapted for use on a very wide range of material. A large sharp kitchen knife may be used when a handier cutting device is not available. Care should be taken that the material is sliced thin enough but not too thin. From an eighth to a quarter of an inch is a fair thickness for most of the common vegetables to be sliced and dried. Very small slices or strips dry more quickly because they expose a greater surface to the air than do larger cut pieces. But if cut too fine they are more difficult to handle in drying, appear to lose somewhat in flavor, and cannot be used so advantageously to make dishes like those prepared from the fresh foods.

The slicing machines are not suitable for children's use, for they will cut fingers as mercilessly as they do vegetables and fruits, and even adults should exercise great caution in their use in the home.

Good Packing and Storing.

Although not necessary, tin cans or glass jars make good receptacles for storage of dried fruits or vegetables. Pasteboard boxes with tight covers, stout paper bags, and patented paraffin paper cartons also afford ample protection for dried products when protected from insects and rodents. The dried fruit or vegetables must be protected from the outside moisture and will keep best in a cool, dry, well-ventilated place. These conditions, however, are difficult to obtain in the more humid regions, and there moisture-tight containers should be used.

If a small amount of dried product is put in each receptacle, just enough for one or two meals, it will not be necessary to open a container the contents of which cannot be consumed in a short time. The use of the small container also makes it more difficult for insects to spoil large quantities of dried fruits or vegetables. If a paper bag is used, the upper part should be twisted into a neck, bent over, and tied tightly with a string. If a further precaution against spoilage is necessary the bag can be coated with paraffin by painting it with a brush which has been dipped into melted paraffin. Another precaution may be taken by placing the small bags in a tin container with a tightly fitting cover, such as an ordinary lard can or pail. All bags should bear a label indicating what they contain.

If fruits or vegetables are packed in tight containers immediately upon being dried thoroughly, they will remain just as brittle as they were when taken from the drier. If, however, they are not dried thoroughly, they will "sweat" and soon mold. To prevent this the material should be examined within 24 hours after packing, and if it appears moist it must be dried further.

To Dry Cauliflower.

Clean, divide in small bunches, blanch six minutes, and dry two to three hours at 110 degrees to 145 degrees Fahrenheit. Cauliflower will turn very dark when drying, but will regain part of the color in soaking and cooking. Dried cauliflower is especially good in soups and omelets.

Brussels sprouts may be handled in a similar way, but add a pinch of soda to the blanching water.

PROFITABLE DISPOSITION OF ALL SURPLUS FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Every Ounce of Food That Can Possibly Be Produced This Year Will Be Needed—Housewives Can Avoid Much Waste by Canning.

FIRST MAKE ALL NECESSARY PREPARATIONS

"One Hour From the Field to the Can," Is Motto Every Canner Should Have in Mind—Unless Fresh, Crisp and Clean Produce Is Used, High-Grade Article Is Impossible—Equipment Necessary.

(PREPARED BY UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.)

CAN SURPLUS FOOD, BUT USE JARS AND CANS WISELY

Don't have an empty preserving jar in your home next fall.

Reserve regular tight-sealing containers for canning foods.

Concentrate products so that each jar or can will hold as much food and as little water as possible.

Put up jams, jellies and preserves in wide-necked glasses sealed with cork or paper and paraffin.

Don't can anything that can be kept just as well dried or in other forms. Dry navy and mature lima beans for winter use.

Produce in your garden lots of cabbage, potatoes, and root crops that can be kept for winter without canning.—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The waste of surplus fruits and vegetables in this country each year is large. It would be deplorable if this normal waste were allowed to go on this year when every ounce of food that can be produced is needed. The waste can be avoided in large part if housewives will can as large a part of the surplus perishables as possible. The first step is to see that all the necessary preparations are made before the vegetables or fruit are picked. "One hour from the field to the can" is a motto that every canner should have in mind. This is impossible if one has to prepare utensils and wash and scald cans after the fruits and vegetables have been brought into the house. The condition of these is a prime factor in determining the quality of the finished product. Unless they are absolutely fresh, crisp, and clean when they are put into the cans, a high-grade article is impossible.

When canning in small quantities, it is not necessary to purchase special equipment, although inexpensive portable equipment for use in or out of doors may be purchased. If considerable canning is done, such outfits will prove convenient and save labor. Especially is this true when a comfortable out-of-door place can be selected for the work.

The method of packing fruits and vegetables into containers and sterilizing the product after it is packed has superseded to a very large extent the old plan of cooking the food in an open kettle, transferring it hot to the jar, and sealing without any further sterilization. Since this is true, the first consideration is a sterilizing vessel. This is sometimes called a processor. Cooking the food in the jar to sterilize it is known as processing. This cooker must be large enough to hold a convenient number of packed jars and must be fitted with a false bottom and a tight cover. A wash boiler, bucket, or galvanized tub can be used for a processor. It may be used on the kitchen stove or placed on a furnace built out of doors. One important factor is to be able to bring the water in this cooker quickly to the boiling point and maintain this temperature steadily. The false bottom is a rack which keeps the jars from coming in contact with the metal which is next to the frame. This prevents breakage. Racks made of strips of woods are probably the best. Sometimes wire netting, or perforated galvanized trays, are used. If the latter material is used, it should be raised about 1 inch or 2 inches above the bottom of the vessel.

Three types of canning outfits can be purchased. These are the hot-water, water-seal, and steam-pressure outfits. The first is merely a convenient form of the outfit described above. The other two make use of pressure and therefore accomplish the necessary sterilization in a shorter time than when the hot-water outfit is used.

Canning in Glass.

In canning in glass, select jars which are appropriate for the fruit or vegetable to be packed, considering the size of the container from the standpoint of the quantity desired when opened, the size of the fruit or pieces of fruit to be packed and the ease of sterilization.

Packing Blanched and Cold-Dipped Product Into Jars.

Sterilizing Jars.—Wash these jars and place them, side down, in a vessel and cover with cold water. Bring this water slowly to the boiling point and allow to boil for 15 minutes to sterilize jars.

Sorting and Grading.—While the jars are being sterilized, sort and grade the fruit or vegetables according to size and degree of maturity. Discard all fruit that is overripe, underripe, or unsound. Vegetables which are in choice condition for the table—that is, young, tender and fresh—are suitable also for canning. Those which have become stale are more difficult to sterilize and the loss of flavor and deterioration in texture resulting from staleness make them unsuitable for canning.

Following the sorting and grading, thorough washing is necessary before proceeding to paring, coring or slicing. Some fruits and vegetables require scalding in order to remove peeling.

Blanching.—Blanching consists of plunging the vegetable or fruit into boiling water for a short time. Use a wire basket or cheesecloth square for this. The blanch gives a more thorough cleansing, improves the texture, and insures a clearer liquor. It also shrinks the fruit or vegetable and makes it more flexible. A full pack is then made more easily. The time required for blanching varies with the state of maturity. After blanching the fruit or vegetable is placed for an instant into cold water to make more crisp and to aid further in shrinking.

Packing.—After selecting fruit or vegetable for uniformity in size and quality, it should be arranged with reference to symmetry and the best use of the space within the jar. In placing the fruit or vegetable in a jar a thin, flexible paddle, made out of cane or other suitable wood, is useful.

When the jar has been packed as full as possible without crushing the pieces, the sirup, brine or seasoning is added. The paddle is also used to take out bubbles of air after the liquor has been added to the pack.

Adjusting the Rubber and Cap.—Immediately before using, cleanse the rubber by dropping, for a minute, into a soda bath (one teaspoonful soda to one quart boiling water). Flatten the rubber in its groove, without the presence of any seed or particle of the fruit, before placing the cap. When a glass-top jar with wire clamp is used, place the lid on evenly and raise both clamps up, the upper one fastened to hold the lid in place. With a hermetic jar, fasten the cap on the jar evenly with the clamp. This type of jar is self-sealing as it cools.

Processing.—Place the jars in a water bath on a rack (a wooden rack is good) to avoid breaking. Have the water the same temperature as the contents, letting it come to within two inches of the tops of the jars. Have a tight cover for the vessel to keep the steam around the tops of the jars which are above water. Do not count time until the water begins to boil; keep it boiling steadily for the time required. Seal the jars air-tight promptly at end of processing, and remove them from the bath, being careful not to allow a cold draft to strike them. In intermittent processing, raise the clamps of the jars at the beginning of each processing to allow for expansion. Seal at close of each processing. The hermetic jar cannot be used for intermittent processing.

Storing.—Before storing, allow jars to stand for 12 hours or more. Then examine the seal. With a lightning seal or hermetic closure, take off the clamp and test the lid to see if it is tight. With a screw-top jar, simply invert the jar to see if there is any leak. Store all products in a cool, dry, dark place.

Canning in Tin.

Before undertaking canning in tin, special equipment, including capping steel, tipping copper, firepot for heating tools, cans with solder-hemmed caps, flux, sal ammoniac and wire solder must be secured. Follow all instructions for canning in glass up to the point where packing is done. See time table for blanching period and for processing period for containers of different sizes. Note, also, the vegetables and fruits which require enamel-lined or inside-lacquered cans.

Packing.—The federal laws require the cans packed for sale to be filled as full of food as is practicable for processing and to contain only enough liquor to fill the spaces and cover the contents. Weigh a sufficient number of cans before and after filling to obtain an accurate idea of average net weight. On account of expansion in processing, corn can be packed less full than other vegetables. These instructions do not cover the canning of corn for market. Mark the cans with a pencil or knife to show contents.

After the fruit or vegetable is in the can, brine, sirup or water should be added to within one-fourth of an inch of the top and the can shaken gently to displace all air within it. The groove around the opening is then cleaned and wiped and the cap slipped on. In order to make sure that the contents of the can have the required weight, the container should be weighed carefully before sealing.

If the weight is satisfactory, flux should be applied carefully around the groove with a small brush or cord, or a little mop made by tying a piece of clean white cloth around the end of a small stick. Great care must be taken to see that none of the flux enters the can. The clean, hot capping steel is then applied, the cap being held in place with the center rod. As the steel is lowered it should be turned steadily until the solder flows. Hold the rod firmly and lift the steel with a sudden twist to swing the melted solder evenly around the groove.

Exhausting and Sterilizing.

The next step is to exhaust the air from the cans. To do this, they should be placed in trays and lowered into boiling water to within one inch of the top. Ordinarily three minutes is long enough for the cans to remain in the water, which need not be brought again to the boiling point before the cans are taken out. A temperature of 180 degrees F. is frequently sufficient for exhausting. Failure to exhaust results in the air which is left in the can expanding. This causes the can to bulge and gives the appearance of a "swell," which will not only prevent the sale of that can, but prejudices customers in future. The leaders in the government canning work insist that wherever the "4-H Brand" label is used, exhausting should be done.

After exhausting, the small hole in the top of the can must be closed immediately. To do this, apply flux as for capping and use a little wire solder to close the hole. Hold the solder with the left hand near the hole and barely touch the hot copper to it, so that only a bead will drop.

It now remains to sterilize the contents of the sealed cans. For beans, corn, peas and asparagus, intermittent processing is recommended. Under this method sterilization is carried on for one hour for three successive days. The cans are lowered slowly under water that is boiling vigorously at the time. Naturally it ceases to boil as soon as the cans are immersed, but will begin to boil again a short time later. The time of processing is counted from the moment when the water begins to boil again, and it must be kept boiling constantly throughout the entire hour. In the case of very young string beans and some other easily sterilized vegetables, the processing is reduced to one hour for two successive days.

As soon as the processing is over, the cans should be cooled as rapidly as possible in order to stop cooking, which breaks down the fruit and injures the flavor and color. It is well to plunge the cans into very cold water. They should never be stacked close together until they are entirely cold.

The labeling should be done with a rather dry paste, which is put only on the end of the label, so that it does not touch the tin. Paste may cause rust, and in damp climates it is sometimes customary to lacquer the outside of the can before it is labeled. The label, if the product is intended for sale, must contain the net weight in pounds and ounces and the packer's name and address.

Sealing a Packed and Sterilized Glass Jar.

In packing fruits and vegetables, it is necessary to surround them with brine, sirup or water, but under the terms of the federal law governing the interstate shipment of canned goods, no more of this liquor is allowed than is actually necessary to cover the contents after as full a pack as possible is made. With tomatoes no water whatever should be added and no tomato juice should be added in excess of the amount in the tomatoes canned.

Add Sugar and Salt.

In addition to the liquor, a mixture of sugar and salt adds greatly to the flavor of such products as tomatoes, peas, Lima beans and corn. The mixture recommended by the government specialists in canning is composed of one-third salt and two-thirds sugar. Two level teaspoonfuls of this are placed in a No. 3 can and one teaspoonful in a No. 2 can. For beans, okra, cauliflower, etc., a brine containing 2½ ounces of salt to a gallon of water is used. For asparagus a heavier brine, four ounces to a gallon of water, is needed.

In order to conserve the supply of tin cans, it is strongly urged that all products intended for home use should be put up, whenever possible, in glass. The hermetic type of jar, however, is not a suitable one for intermittent processing, for which the best type is a glass-top jar with wire clamps. The clamps should be raised at the beginning of each processing to allow for expansion.

The following tables show the length of time, the character of the liquor, and other facts in regard to the canning of vegetables and fruits by this hot-water process:

CANNING VEGETABLES (HOT WATER PROCESS).

Do Not Attempt to Use This Table Without Reading All Directions Carefully.

Vegetables.	Blanch, minutes.	Liquor.	In Tin. No. of can	In Tin. Exhaust minutes...	Process.
Asparagus	3 to 4	Brine (heavy)	2	3	Intermittent or 2 hours.
String beans	3 to 8	Brine	2	3	Intermittent.
String beans		Brine	3	5	Intermittent.
Lima beans	2 to 5	Salt, sugar, water	2	3	Intermittent.
Beets	Cook ¾ done, peel.	Brine	2	3	1 to 2 hours.
Carrots	Cook ¾ done, scrape	Brine	2	3	1 hour.
Corn	1 to 3 (blanch on cob)	Salt, sugar, water	2	10	Intermittent.
Okra	10 to 15	Brine	2	3	Intermittent.
Peas (very young)	1 to 3	Salt, sugar, water	2	3	45 minutes first day 35 minutes second and third days.
Peas, medium	3 to 8	Salt, sugar, water	2	3	Intermittent.
Potato, sweet	Cook ¾ done, peel.	Pack dry	3	15	3 hours.
Rhubarb		Cold water	2	2	15 minutes.
Soup mixture		Salt, sugar	2	5	2 hours or intermittent.
Tomato		Salt, sugar	2	2	20 minutes.
Tomato		Salt, sugar	3	3	30 minutes.

Vegetable.	Blanch, minutes.	Liquor.	In Glass. Jar.	Process.
Asparagus	3 to 4	Brine (heavy)	Pint	Intermittent or 2 hours continuous.
String beans	3 to 8	Brine	Pint	Intermittent or 2 hours continuous.
String beans		Brine	Quart	Intermittent.
Lima beans	2 to 5	Salt, sugar, water	Quart	Intermittent.
Beets	Cook ¾ done, peel	Brine	Quart	1½ to 2 hours.
Carrots	Cook ¾ done, scrape	Brine	Quart	1 hour.
Corn	1 to 3 (blanch on cob)	Salt, sugar, water	Quart	Intermittent.
Okra	10 to 15	Brine	Pint and quart.	Intermittent.
Peas (very young	1 to 3	Salt, sugar, water	Pint	Same as No. 2.
Peas, med.	3 to 8	Salt, sugar, water	Pint	Intermittent.
Potato, sweet	Cook ¾ done, peel	Pack dry	Quart	3 hours.
Rhubarb		Cold water	Quart	15 minutes.
Soup mixture		Salt, sugar	Quart	2 hours or intermittent.
Tomato		Salt, sugar	Pint	15 minutes.
Tomato		Salt, sugar	Quart	30 minutes.

Note.—String beans packed in No. 2 cans are preferable because more surely sterilized.

Corn, lima beans, and peas should never be packed in larger container than No. 2 and processed always intermittently. Corn is cut from cob after blanching.

Soup mixture containing corn and lima beans should always be processed intermittently.

The brine used is made of 2½ ounces salt to 1 gallon of water, except for asparagus, which contains 4 ounces to 1 gallon.

Beets and rhubarb when packed in tin must be put in enamel-lined cans.

CANNING FRUITS (HOT WATER PROCESS).

Fruit.	Blanch.	Sirup	In Tin. No. of Can.	In Tin. Exhaust, minutes	In Tin. Process, minutes.	In Glass. Jar	In Glass. Process, minutes.
Apples	1 minute	No. 1	3	2	8	Quart	12

Pears	15 seconds	No. 3	3	3	20	Quart	25
Plums	Prick with needle	No. 4	2	2	12	Quart	15

Note.—Berries, cherries, currants, figs, gooseberries, May haws and plums, when packed in tin, must be put in enamel-lined cans.

To make the sirups recommended, boil sugar and water together in the proportion given below until sugar is dissolved. Strain all impurities out of the sirup before using:

Sirup No. 1, use 14 ounces to one gallon water.

Sirup No. 2, use 1 pound 14 ounces to one gallon water.

Sirup No. 3, use 3 pounds 9 ounces to one gallon water.

Sirup No. 4, use 5 pounds 8 ounces to one gallon water.

Sirup No. 5, use 6 pounds 13 ounces to one gallon water.

The sirup for canned berries is made out of berry juice instead of water.

THE MONTEVALLO SINGNIG

On last Sunday your correspondent visited the all day singing at Montevallo, arriving at an early hour. We were met by a number of ladies of the technical school, who gracefully gonducted us through the buildings of the school.

At ten o'clock the singing opened in the school chapel, conducted by Mr. Miles V. Lowery.

At noon a nice dinner was spread under the beautiful shades of the campus.

In the afternoon Dr. Palmer of the Technical School delivered a nice talk on community singing, urging the Harp and Harmony singers to have an annual singing at Montevallo. One of the Montevallo teachers rendered beautifully George Keith's composition, "How Firm a Foundation," a favorite of Robert E. Lee and President Jackson's wife. Another lady read very forcibly certain compositions of the Christian Harmony.

We noted the beautiful treble by Miss Bonnie Wallace, on Thomas Moore's composition, "Evening Bells" It was heavenly and inspiring. Montevallo's cordial welcome and pleasures of the day will be long remembered.

Enroute we had a fine view of the U. S. volunteers going south.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

The next state examination for teachers will be held at Clanton at the high school building at 10 o'clock a.m., on the Third Monday in July, 1917. All applicants should be present at 9 o'clock a.m. for registration, except those who wish to file a third grade and take for a second grade, and they must be present by 2 o'clock Monday, and those who wish to file a second grade and take for first grade must be present by 2 o'clock Tuesday.

All applicants who are not personally acquainted with me must be identified before they can be admitted to the examination. Each applicant is required to take the examination in the county in which he is living, teaching or going to school, unless he has a permit from the state superintendent to take otherwise.

W. T. BEAN,
Co. Supt. Ed.

GIRLS' CLUB WORK

The citizens of the county having retained the Home Demonstration Work in the county for the remainder of the season, I will begin work again on the 16, and will give demonstrations at the following places next week:

Mt. Pleasant	Monday,
Coopers	Tuesday,
Bethel and Mulberry	Wednesday,
Enterprise	Thursday,
Pleasant Grove	Friday,
Mulberry	Saturday.

Everybody in the communities in which the demonstrations are given, are extended a cordiel invitation to attend and bring something to can. These demonstrations are not restricted to club members. Come and help your county to do its patriotic duty in feeding itself, and also help feed our soldier boys that are "Somewhere in France" fighting "our war".

LIDA JONES,
Agent Dem. Work.

CEMETERY CLEANING

All those interested in the New Salem Cemetery are requested to meet there July 19 for the purpose of celaning off same, bring either a wheel-barrow, pitchfork or hoe.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

State of Alabama, Chilton County. Probate Court. June 23rd, 1917.

In the matter of the estate of J.F. Lewis deceased. This day came Lula E. Lewis, administratrix of the estate of said deceased, and files account, vouchers, evidence, statement for final settlement of his said administration.

It is ordered that the 14th day of July, 1917, be appointed a day on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons intersted can appear and contest the said settlement if they think proper.

Witness my hand, this 23rd day of June, 1917.

L .H. REYNOLDS, Judge of Probate.

When the Skin Seems Ablaze With Itching and Burning

There's just one thing to do.

If your skin seems ablaze with the fiery burning and itching of Eczema, real and lasting relief can only come from treatment that goes below the surface—that reaches down to the very source of the trouble. So-called skin-diseases come from a disordered condition of the blood, and the proper treatment is through the blood

Search far and near, and you cannot find a blood remedy that approaches S. S. S. for real efficiency. It has been on the market for fifty years, during which time it has been giving uniform satisfaction for all manner of blood disorders. If you want prompt and lasting relief, you can rely upon S. S. S. For expert advice as to the treatment of your own individual case, write to-day to Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. C Atlanta, Ga.

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

Shows why these delinted hulls have greater forage value than the old style hulls, why they allow better assimilation of food, why they go farther, why they take less space for storage, why they are easy to handle, why they mix well with other food, why cattle relish them, why they cost much less than old style hulls and why thousands of feeders are enthusiastic about them. The mixed feed formulas show how to combine Buckeye Hulls properly with concentrates and other feeds.

Mr. W. B. Lifford, Troy, Ala.,

prefers Buckeye Hulls to old style hulls. He says that they are less trouble to feed, are better for the digestive organs and seem to agree with the cows better.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

FIFTEENTH EPISODE

The Final Chapter.

In his hiding-place in his country house Sebastian Navarre sat crouched over the fire, a hunted fugitive.

In terror of his life, dependent upon the good faith of Whitey, his sole remaining henchman, and doubtful of him, Sebastian was in no enviable mood. And as he cowered, dreading the future and shuddering at the sound of every automobile that passed along the road, he was living again in his past.

One crime had led to another, and yet Sebastian tried to convince himself that he was not by nature evil. He saw himself upon his father's estate in the Argentine, heir to vast wealth, and happy, until he had seen and loved Leontine.

She was engaged to Jerry Carson, and Sebastian had resolved that she should be his. When he believed that Jerry had died on his mad expedition to the lonely South Atlantic ledge, he had forged a document designed to set Leontine against her lover. It was a receipt for three thousand dollars, with Jerry's signature, the sum to be repaid one month after Jerry's marriage.

Sebastian had never expected that Jerry would return. When he came home Sebastian had accused him of forgery and of complicity in his brother's death. Jerry had been sent to the prison hulks for life, and had died there.

And still Sebastian had thought himself only the victim of unhappy circumstances.

Leontine had become nominally Sebastian's wife. He had not sought to win her love. He had been faithless to her. And then had followed crime after crime.

Sebastian saw the dead faces of the victims of his treachery. He saw One-Lamp Louie, the little thief, staring at him reproachfully. He saw Bianca, blown to pieces in the dynamite explosion at the shack. He saw the man whom he had shot on the roof in his wild, successful effort to escape justice.

And still he thought that he was not a bad man and cursed his predicament.

In his own quarters above, Whitey Wang was counting a roll of bills and smiling. The crook took a letter from his pocket and began to read. As he read, his smile broadened.

"Herewith inclosed," he read, "find the money promised for divulging the hiding place of my husband, Sebastian Navarre. You have done a service to the state and to the cause of justice."

The letter was signed by Leontine. What had made Whitey smile was, first, the money; secondly, the idea that he had done a service to the state.

Perhaps the telepathic sense of his impending betrayal was acting upon Sebastian in the room below. Sebastian, with quivering nerves, shook his head as if to brush away the visions that thronged about him. Then a light step behind made him turn his head. He started violently. Before him stood Jerry Carson, as he had last seen him in the room at Porto Delgado, beside his brother's body.

Sebastian took a step toward him, cried out, and tried to shield his face from the vision.

"Who are you?" he muttered. "It can't be you. You died and were buried at sea. Are you a spirit or—or what?"

Jerry smiled at him coldly. "If you try to get out of this room you will very soon find out whether I am a spirit or not," he answered.

Sebastian hesitated, then rushed to the window. But the sight that he saw there was more terrifying. Outside the gates of the estate he saw an automobile. In it were three uniformed policemen and a woman. They were just getting out of the machine and Sebastian recognized his wife Leontine.

Sebastian turned away dejectedly from the window. He was indeed between two evils. He moved toward the door, but Jerry Carson stood in his way, holding a revolver that he had drawn from his pocket and adopting a nonchalant attitude.

Sebastian fell on his knees. "Forgive me!" he gasped. And he burst into impassioned pleas for liberty.

Jerry Carson hesitated. He felt no pity for the prostrate man at his feet, but, as he looked at him, he realized the futility of his years of suffering and sacrifice. At first, burning with hatred, he had planned only to be revenged on the man who had stolen his sweetheart and consigned him to an ignominious death with a tarnished name. He had often anticipated the moment that had come; now that it had come he felt his anger fade away.

"The freeing of my name means more to me than bringing you to justice," he said slowly. "Sign this confession of the forgery and you shall go free so far as I am concerned. You shall take your chance with the police for your other crimes."

He took a folded paper from his pocket. Sebastian, stammering incoherent words of gratitude, sprang to his feet, opened it, and read it.

It was more complete than Sebastian could have imagined. It revealed an amazing knowledge of the man's past, it mentioned the crimes for which he knew that his life was forfeit.

Sebastian hesitated. Even then his subtle mind was planning trickery.

"It's that or—" said Jerry significantly, indicating the grounds outside. And even as he waved his hand Sebastian heard feet on the gravel walk, followed by a knock at the door.

He flung himself into a chair, affixed his name to the confession, and ran from the room.

Jerry took the paper and replaced it in his pocket. Then, quietly, he went to the door of the house and opened it.

Sebastian's country house had been constructed for just such a fox as he was. The cellar had a secret partition, put in by workmen of his own nationality. This was Sebastian's last refuge in case of trouble. It was a little room in which a quantity of food was stored, with a small lamp. It was impossible to discover it unless one knew of its existence. And Sebastian had taken care that his confederate, Whitey, should not know of its existence.

He darted from the room, rushed toward the back of the house, looked back, and saw that Jerry's back was turned. At the end of the long passage Jerry was in the act of admitting Leontine and the police.

He darted down into the cellar, entered the secret room, and replaced the cunningly devised entrance piece of stone. Crouching there in the darkness he heard his pursuers swarming into the house.

A few moments later he heard one of the policemen descending. He saw the faint ray of the flash-light through a chink in the stone.

"We've got you!" shouted the policeman.

It was all Sebastian could do to keep himself in check. He was afraid that even the beating of his heart would betray him. But the man was bluffing. He looked at the back of the furnace, examined the inside of a couple of barrels in one corner, and tramped up the stairs again.

When he was gone, Sebastian crept cautiously out. He looked about him. There was no danger for the moment. He moved toward the cellar bulkhead and lifted it.

Through the little crevice that he had made he perceived Leontine and Whitey Wang conversing together a little distance away. Immediately in front of the bulkhead grew some rose shrubs. It was possible to crawl out quietly and, under cover of these, to approach within a few feet of the pair.

Leaving the bulkhead the least bit open, in case of the sudden need of flight, Sebastian took his revolver from his pocket and began to worm his way along the ground in the direction of the pair.

And, crawling stealthily as a puma on its native plains, he presently heard Whitey's voice.

"You told me I'd done a service to the state," he was saying triumphantly. "Well, I guess that's right enough, but I did it for the money."

Leontine, listening to Whitey's frank statement, was unable to conceal the horror she felt for the traitor. And that look on her face saved her life.

For Sebastian, who had hesitated between the two, leveled his revolver at Whitey and fired.

Before the little puff of smoke had become dissipated Whitey was lying dead with a bullet in his brain.

Leontine screamed, and, at her cry, the others came running toward her. She swung round, saw Sebastian, and screamed again in mortal fear. Sebastian's face was a blend of every evil emotion. He leveled his revolver again and placed his finger upon the trigger.

Leontine stood confronting him. The sight of the man had aroused her courage, restored her contempt for him. And, as she faced him, Sebastian could not pull the trigger.

He had loved her once, and the thought of sending her to instant death was a surprisingly difficult one. His glance wavered. It lit upon one of the rose bushes.

Outlined dimly against this he saw a vision of the electric chair. Beside it stood the ghosts of the men whom he had murdered. Last of the line was Whitey, whose still warm body lay almost at his feet. They looked at him steadily out of their shadowy eyes. And Sebastian, shuddering, turned and ran at full speed through the bushes.

He heard the cries of the pursuers behind him, but made his way along the narrow trail that led toward the precipitous rocks along the river bank, confident that at the bend of the path he could evade them among the trees. It was a difficult country, and Sebastian knew every inch of it.

He heard the cries become fainter. He breathed more freely. And as he ran he fumbled with his revolver. Then curses broke from his lips. He had exhausted the chambers, and he had dropped the remaining cartridges from his pocket when he was crawling along the ground behind the rose bushes.

And his pursuers were drawing closer. He panted with terror as he ran, keeping them just about the same distance behind him. Turning his head at the bend, he saw the foremost about three hundred yards away. There was no chance of gaining the thickets unobserved.

Suddenly he perceived Jerry standing in the middle of the path facing him. With a yell, Sebastian hurled himself at the figure. He stumbled through vacancy and pitched forward to the ground. When he arose he saw the mocking hallucination in front of him again, beckoning to a by-path that ran down toward the river.

He glanced back. The police were closer, and there was only about a hundred paces between them. They were crying to him to stop. But Sebastian ran on with the courage of despair. Again he saw Jerry, and so real the figure seemed, and so awful its accusing face, that Sebastian obeyed its mandate and ran, without thinking, down the bypath.

Suddenly he saw the river ahead of him and realized what he had done. He had taken the road that led to destruction, to the edge of the vertical cliff formed by a landslide two years before.

On the brink of the cliff Sebastian pulled himself up. His pursuers were fifty paces behind. They had seen his dilemma. They yelled with triumph at the end of the pursuit. For there was no escape of any kind for Sebastian.

The accusing, mocking form of Jerry, which had floated before him, vanished. Sebastian realized too late that his overwrought brain had led him to his doom. And with that realization he resolved to play the game of life to a worthy end.

He waved his hand toward the foremost of the policemen, who halted, puffing, ten feet from him, covering him with his revolver. "Surrender! The game's up!" he cried.

Sebastian, executing an ironic bow, leaped into space. The horrified watchers saw his body whirl in the air. There followed, long seconds after, the faintest thud on the rocks below.

Leaning over the cliff's edge they saw the mangled remnants of what had been Sebastian Navarre strewing the rocks and giving sport to the whirling torrent, which pulled at them, and, at last, gaining their prey, bore it down the swift stream toward the sea.

* * * * * * *

"You are sure he is dead?"

"There's no possible mistaking it, Mrs. Navarre. We saw him leap and saw the body carried away to sea. No man could have made that leap and have survived."

"Thank you," answered Leontine; and the detectives withdrew.

Later that night a telephone message confirmed the detectives' story. Sebastian's body had been found on the seashore near the mouth of the river.

And Leontine knew that her chance of saving Jerry's name had vanished forevermore. She sank down in her chair and buried her face in her hands.

A gentle touch upon Leontine's shoulder roused her. Ravengar stood before her. She felt no surprise. Since the beginning of her misfortunes Ravengar had always appeared to comfort her at crucial moments.

"There was just enough 'absolute black' left to enable me to obtain this confession," said Ravengar, laying down the paper which Sebastian had signed.

Leontine picked it up and read. It contained almost a complete resume of Sebastian's life from the moment of his first crime. "The receipt that convicted Jerry Carson of forgery and gave a supposed cause for my brother's murder was a forgery," she read. "I paid One-Lamp Louie a thousand dollars to forge the signature. Mine is the guilt for all, and may this free the memory of Jerry Carson from the stain that unjustly rests upon it."

Leontine's eyes filled with tears. She raised her head and looked at Ravengar. And a cry escaped her.

She knew! She had been on the verge of the discovery before, but it had been too incredible, and she had forced the knowledge down deep beneath the level of her consciousness. Now she knew.

"Jerry!" she cried.

He caught her in his arms and pressed his lips to hers. "Leontine!" he answered. "Mine at last, after all this long waiting!"

She could not speak for happiness for a long time. She lay in his arms, and in his kisses she forgot all the past.

"This means that you are free," she said at length. "That even though you are an escaped life prisoner you can reveal yourself, armed with this confession, and face the world."

"It means more than that to me," answered Jerry. "It means that you are mine till death, and that all the past shall be forgotten, sweetheart."

* * * * * * *

Jerry Carson, after his sensational escape from the prison ship, had reached Ravengar's Ledge in the South Atlantic, the very place that he had sought unsuccessfully on his expedition. As he read the journal which he had taken from the skeleton hand of the dead Joseph Dexter, whose body he had found, one of the giant squids that infest those waters had perceived him and, stretching forth a tentacle, had drawn him under the waves.

Jerry had just time to draw in a deep breath as he was dragged under. Beneath the water he opened his eyes. But he could see nothing, for the monster octopus had surrounded itself with a deluge of murky liquid to escape pursuit.

Jerry's hand came in contact with the sharp flank of a rock. He grasped it and clung there. The octopus, holding him about the body, dragged at him with a force that seemed about to pull his arm from the socket.

Jerry held on. He knew that if he released his hold the devil fish would drag him into deep water, and that would mean certain death. Linking his arm about the rock, he managed to draw his knife from his belt and began to slash furiously at the leathery arm that gripped him.

Just as his arm was about to break from the socket he succeeded in severing the tentacle. But before he could rise to the surface a second tentacle shot forth out of the black fluid and grasped him. And the furious struggle began once more.

A second time Jerry succeeded in cutting the tentacle. A third tentacle grasped him. With the last use of his strength Jerry managed to cut the third tentacle and rise to the surface.

He found himself clinging to the rock, twenty feet from the shore, and totally unable to make that distance till he had swallowed some more mouthfuls of air and rested, even if for a minute only, after his fight. But the monster, loath to lose its prey, was upon him again. The five remaining tentacles waved about him. Three of them encircled him simultaneously and began to drag him into deep water again.

Jerry had no more fight left in him. Slowly the terrific constriction increased, until the breath was squeezed out of his body. His breathing ceased.

But at that moment the cruel face of the monster, situated in the midst of the waving arms, appeared, the wicked eyes alight with lust of their prey. The parrot beak opened and shut as if in anticipation of its meal.

Jerry raised his knife and thrust downward, not at the tentacles, but at the face. He slashed and cut, piercing it in half a dozen places.

Slowly the wounded monster released him and dived down to its death on the ocean bottom, leaving Jerry clinging to the rock and gasping for air.

When Jerry had recovered a little strength he swam for the shore. He reached safety and flung himself down upon the sand above high-water level.

It was hours later when he awakened, to see the dead body of the huge octopus lying on the sand beside him. In the revulsion of feeling occasioned by his escape from death, Jerry resolved that his deliverance should not have been in vain.

He set to work with the single end in view of achieving his original purpose, finding the treasure of Sir Henry Morgan, and using it to win Leontine.

He decently interred the body of Dexter in the sand, placing a heavy cairn above the grave. Then, reading the journal, he discovered that his plan had not been aimless. The treasure existed—not, indeed, to the extent that he had imagined, but in sufficient amount to make him independent for life.

He found it—heaps of antique gold coins, gold bars, ornaments of gold. The buccaneer had kept his spoil in a convenient form. Jerry, used to dumbbell exercise, was able to estimate that the total weighed some three hundred pounds, being, roughly, a little over eighty thousand dollars in value.

The whole amount was buried in a coffer within the cave. Dexter had hardly troubled himself about it. He had devoted all his energies to the discovery of his "absolute black."

Jerry read the secret of this in the scientist's journal. In his loneliness, despairing of every being rescued, Dexter had given all his enterprise to the elucidation of the secret on which he had stumbled almost fortuitously. The result was the three pellets with which Jerry, as Ravengar, had outwitted Sebastian.

If black inks and paints were absolute black they would be invisible. The blacks we know, said the journal, are a combination of other colors, reflected and refracted through the particles of the pigments. Theoretical black, or the absence of color, reflects no light rays and cannot be seen.

Dexter had not given the information that would lead to the discovery of the secret. And to stumble upon it would have been a coincidence that could hardly happen again. Certainly Jerry could not learn the secret, though he worked on it unremittingly for weeks.

But Jerry had the three black pellets, and by means of these he escaped from Ravengar's ledge.

For about a year after he had been washed ashore a party of Brazilian whalers landed from their ship, to procure a fresh supply of water. A number of sea elephants were killed on the beach and the oil extracted was conveyed to the ship in the boats, this occupying several trips. Jerry, having painted himself absolutely black, and also the sacks containing the bullion, which he had fashioned from his clothing, traveled, unseen, in the whaling boat. The sailors, cursing at the weight as they pulled on their oars, little suspected that they were taking an invisible man and a fortune to the ship.

Aboard the whaler, Jerry had a merry game of hide and seek. He was forced to steal clothes and provisions, but he left a few gold pieces in a place where they would be discovered, in payment. And practice soon enabled him to accustom himself to "invisible" living and to hair-breadth escapes—a lesson which he put to good use later in the episodes with Bianca.

The rest of the story that he told Leontine was familiar to her. He had assumed the guise of Ravenger and, learning of her marriage to Sebastian, had devoted his life to protecting her as the "Shielding Shadow."

* * * * * * *

John Walcott stepped off the boat at the wharf and looked about him in amazement. It was 30 years since he had set foot on American soil, and now that he had come home to stay, he felt like a stranger in the land of his nativity.

For 30 years he had made his home in Porto Delgado, in the Argentine republic, laying the foundations of his fortune. After many vicissitudes he had grown rich. One thing alone had troubled him.

That was his daughter Leontine. He had never approved of her engagement to Jerry Carson. He had fought bitterly to get the girl to give up Jerry. When Jerry departed on his first fruitless mission to Ravengar's ledge, he did not expect to see him again. He had used the opportunity to press Sebastian's suit.

And he had been influenced by sordid motives. He was in financial straits, and Sebastian had aided him in return for his assistance in influencing the girl against Jerry. Jerry's return had shaken John Walcott; then, when the young man was accused of the murder of Sebastian's brother, and found guilty on the strength of the forged document, John Walcott rejoiced. To do him justice, he honestly believed that Jerry was a murderer and a thief. He could not share Leontine's grief for him, and he believed that she would forget him.

He had urged Sebastian's suit, and Leontine had consented at last to become his wife in name only, to save her father.

Since that date everything that Walcott had touched had turned into gold. The couple had departed for the United States. That had been three years before, and Leontine's letters had grown fewer and scantier. She had not had the heart to write, and after two years they ceased altogether.

John Walcott's conscience had reproached him more and more bitterly of late. And presently vague rumors, from some intangible source, came floating into the Argentine. Walcott had gathered from acquaintances who had been to New York that the marriage had proved unhappy. He was genuinely shocked, for he had thought Leontine would forget Jerry and come to love her husband. Then, when the months went by and no letter arrived, John Walcott came to a resolution.

He meant to sell out and return home, to seek his daughter and settle down in the land of his birth.

But before the plan could be put into execution startling information arrived. Sebastian was dead, a criminal, a suicide, hunted by the police for many crimes.

He had left no will, and his entire property had descended to his wife, Leontine.

John Walcott started for New York at once, to find his daughter. He put up at an elegant hotel, the Mecca of South Americans.

He had arrived an hour before, and now, having shaken the dust of travel off his clothes, he was seated in a chair in the corridor, enjoying a brief rest before starting for police headquarters to prosecute his search. Suddenly he heard his name called, and, looking up, he perceived Jerry Carson standing in front of him, his hand extended.

Walcott sprang to his feet in amazement that robbed him of the powers of speech.

"It's all right, sir," said Jerry. "It's I and not my ghost. How long have you been in New York?"

"Wh-what are you—how did you—?" Walcott began.

"It's a long story," answered Jerry, "but you shall know it all a little later. Let me assure you that I have proved my innocence. Do you accept my word for that?"

John Walcott looked into Jerry's eyes and gulped.

"Forgive me, my boy," he said huskily.

"So much that I am going to ask you to assist at my wedding and give the bride away," said Jerry.

"Your wedding! When?"

"In ten minutes. It's to take place upstairs. My wife is unfortunately alone in the world ,and I want you to do this, in token of—well, you understand."

John Walcott blinked. Everything was swimming through a mist of tears.

"I only wish it could have been Leontine," he muttered, wringing the young man's hand hard. "Yes, I'll do it, Jerry. By the way, you haven't any information as to my daughter's whereabouts? Since that scoundrel died I've been sorely troubled."

"Don't worry about her," answered Jerry.

"I understand you, Jerry," said Walcott. "You'd hardly be expected to have another man's daughter on your mind at such a time as this. Yes, I'll come along."

Jerry led him up the stairs to the second floor, where a number of guests were assembled in the corridor outside a large reception room. Walcott was a little astonished at the magnificence of the preparations. Evidently Jerry had a rich bride, for the room into which he looked was one mass of roses.

Jerry led him toward the altar at the end of the room, into which the guests were now streaming. They waited.

Then down the room, her train carried by pages, came the bride. John Walcott gulped. How very like Leontine she was.

But when she reached the altar he looked hard, uttered a cry, and caught her in his arms. "Leontine!" he stammered. "My dear—Leontine!"

And the bride, all heedless of prognostications as to a tearful wedding, sobbed in her father's arms, while Walcott wiped his own eyes frankly.

"This," he said solemnly, "is the happiest day of my life. God bless you—both of you."

Nor did he feel a father's natural jealousy at the adoring look which Jerry cast upon his sweetheart, now his after so many years. For he understood and shared their happiness.

"This is the first medicine I have ever taken that really does what they say it will," said J. F. Holley, a well-known Lexington, Ky., man.

"I hadn't felt like a well man for ten weeks and my whole system seemed to be rundown and debilitated. I couldn't sleep at night and my digestion was so bad I couldn't eat. Attacks of headache were frequent and my nervous system seemed to be disordered. My worst trouble was rheumatism. My muscles seemed to be tied in knots. I couldn't use my right arm and I was just about helpless. Somebody persuaded me to try Tanlac and I got a bottle of that medicine.

"Tanlac certainly is making a new man out of me. I can now eat and sleep like I haven't been able to do for years. My rheumatism is all gone and I feel strong and built up in every way. I am a well man and I certainly thank my friend who suggested my using Tanlac."

J. B. Woodward, another Lexington man who resides at 256 Rand Avenue, said: "I suffered from stomach trouble, rheumatism and neuralgia for years, and before I took Tanlac I couldn't raise my left hand to my head. It had been that way for fully two years."

"I have used Tanlac two or three weeks and am like a new man. My family and friends see the difference and it is the actual truth. I take great pleasure in recommending this medicine Tanlac."

The day was drawing to a close. Julge, jurors, witnesses and lawyers —all were growing weary. Counsel for the prosecution was cross-examining the defendant.

"Exactly how far is it between the two towns?" he asked at length.

For some time the man stood thinking, then:

"About four miles as the cry flows," came the answer.

"You mean as the flow cries!" retorted the man of law.

The judge leaned forward.

"No," he remarked suavely; "he means as the fly crows."

MUST SELL DEPOT SITE REASONABLY

RAILROADS READY TO BEGIN WORK WHEN DISPUTE HAS BEEN SETTLED

NEWS LETTER FROM CAPITAL

Happenings In and About Alabama's State House Interestingly Told.

—Montgomery.

Unless citizens of Lanette set a reasonable price on property which has been approved by the public service commission as the site for the new station of the Western and Chattahoochee Valley railroad, permission will be granted by the commission for the condemnation of the site and the payment of a price fixed by the court. The commission has been informed by the railroads that the price asked for the property is unreasonable, excessive and exhorbitant and that they are ready to begin work on the station when the dispute has been settled.

The commission informed owners of the property that an agreement must be made at once, as it was assured by citizens of Lanette when the original petition for a station was filed that no unreasonable rate would be asked and that in all probability the land would be donated.

Officers to Take Efficiency Test.

A bomb fell into the camp of officers of the Alabama National Guard in the form of a declaration from the war department that every officer who has received a commission since the national defense became effective June 3, 1916, must take an examination and prove to the satisfaction of an efficiency board that he is competent to hold his position in active warfare. It means that a vast majority of the officers must take the tests as very few officers are now holding the positions which they had when they were mobilized and the mobilization came two weeks after the national defense act became effective.

The efficiency board will be composed of Col. W. P. Screws, Fourth regiment, who was a captain-instructor in the regular army prior to the issuance of his commisison in the National Guard; Major M. H. Hagood of the medical corps, and Capt. A. B. Kaempfer, United States army, who is now stationed in Alabama as instructor for the National Guard.

State Recruiting Below Normal.

Alabama is only about 35 per cent good, from a military standpoint. With a pro rata of 4,200 men assigned as her portion, the State actually furnished during the 90 days ending June 30, only a little over 1,400 men for the regular army. This, according to the opinion of the War Department, is an especially bad showing, and places Alabama on the bottom of the list of States for volunteer enlistment in the national arms.

Since July 1, recruiting has been slow, ranging from five to ten men per day. This is falling behind the record of the past few months, and despite the most strenous efforts of the recruiting party, it seems impossible to revive the wave of recruiting that lived in the State during the month of March and the first half of April.

May Have to Increase Bond.

If M. C. Allgood, state auditor, finds that the statement of the city commission of Birmingham is correct, he will be forced to make a heavy increase in the bond of James F. Hawkins, who will become tax collector of Jefferson county October 1. Heretofore the tax collector has given a bond for $250,000 but the Birmingham commission has found a general law enacted in 1911 which requires the tax collectors to give bond for the safety of all city taxes which are collected by him. This probably will mean that Collector Hawkins will be forced to give bond for $500,000 or more.

The law does not say who shall pay for the additional bond, but it is probable that the Birmingham commission will be called upon to bear the burden. Jefferson county pays for the bond which protects its funds.

Court Decisions.

The spreme court affirmed the decision of the Mobile chancery court in the case involing the receivership of the Alabama, Tennessee and Northern railroad. The contest was brought by D. H. Tolman, who sought to prevent the administration of the property by a receiver, but the supreme court held that no reason had been advanced why the road's affairs should not be taken over by the receiver.

The court denied the application for rehearing in the case of Fred Henderson and Waters vs. the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, appealed from Pike county.

Governor Grants Paroles.

The first parole Governor Henderson has issued for a week was to Ephriam Williams, of Jefferson county, charged with murder in the second degree. Lee Brown, convicted in Jefferson county, January 28, 1911, for assault to murder and sentenced to 20 years. William Roebuck, of Chilton county, serving six years for seduction. Clarence Nix, of Etowah county, under eight years' sentence for grand larceny, three years of which is served.

Girls! Use Lemons! Make a Bleaching, Beautifying Cream

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands. Adv.

To Drive Out Malaria And Build Up The System

He Would Pay.

It happened at a Christmas party. A pretty young lady had asked one of the male guests to pass a dish of almonds and raisins.

"With pleasure," he replied, "but do you know that what you have asked for is called in the vernacular 'Kissmiss,' and that the penalty of a kiss attaches to the request?"

"Is that so?" answered the lady, calmly. "I must consult my husband." And she called across the room to him, and repeated the observation.

"Quite so," he replied. "According to custom it is a just debt and must be paid. But is the gentleman aware of the arrangement made when we were married—that I must settle all my wife's liabilities?"

Women are not like men and it's a mighty good thing for the world that they aren't.

DRAFT NATIONAL GUARD AUGUST 5

MEN DRAFTED TO BE DISCHARGED FROM OLD MILITARY STATUS

BECOME REGULARS IN ARMY

Last Step Necessary to Make State Troops Available for Service in France.

Washington.—The last step necessary to make the entire National Guard available for duty in France was taken by President Wilson with the issue of a proclamation drafting the state troops into the army of the United States on August 5.

To make certain that the purpose of the national defense act is carried out, the proclamation also specifically declares the men drafted are to be discharged from the old militia status on that date. In that way the constitutional restraint upon use of militia outside the country is avoided and the way paved for sending the regiments to the European front.

Prior to the applicatfon of the draft, regiments in the northern and eastern section of the country are called into the federal service as national guardsmen in two increments, to be mobilized on July 15 and 25. Many units already are federalized and presumably they will be mobilized with the other troops from their states. The guard from the other states will be mobilized on the day of the draft. The arrangement was necessary to provide for movement of the regiments south to their concentration camps without congestion and to the same end the division of states into these increments was revised from the original schedule.

The operative date of the draft was delayed until August 5 so that all regiments can be taken into the army simultaneously to avoid inequalities in the relative rank of officers.

Fourteen camp sites for the 16 tactical divisions nto which the guard will be organized for war purposes have already been selected and the militia bureau is preparing the railway routing of the troops to the camps. Seven of the sites selected are in the southeastern department, five in the southern and two in the western. The two others will be in the southeastern department, and until they are approved assignment of regiments to camps and divisions cannot be fully worked out. The only two divisions positively assigned are the Nineteenth, including the Californa guard, which will go to Linda Vista, Cal., and the Twentieth, including Oregon, Washington and other states in the northwest which will go to Palo Alto, Cal.

FARMERS ANSWER CALL.

Production of Food Crops Increased by Billion Bushels Over 1916.

Washington.—A billion bushels increase over last year's production in the principal food crops is the response American farmers have made to President Wilson's mid-April appeal, saying that upon them "rests the fate of the war and the fate of nations."

The extent of the farmers' response was disclosed when a production of 6,093,000,000 bushels of principal food crops was forecast in the department of agriculture's July crop report. It shows this year's corn crop will be the largest in history, except one, and that four other crops will make new high records.

The corn crop, which for the first time will exceed 3,000,000,000 bushels, shows an increase of 541,000,000 bushels over last year, with a total of 3,124,000,000 bushels. The acreage is 14 per cent larger than last year.

The combined winter and spring wheat crop will be 38,000,000 bushels more than last year's, with a total of 678,000,000 bushels, with an output of 214,000,000 bushels.

Oats promise to exceed last year's crop by 201,000,000 bushels, the total production being forecast at 1,453,000,000 bushels.

White potato production on a 22 1-2 per cent increase in acreage will be a record crop with 452,000,000 bushels, or 167,000,000 bushels more than last year.

EXPLOSION IN NAVY YARD.

Six Killed and Thirty-One Are Injured in Explosion.

Vallejo, Cal.—Naval officers and federal agents are co-operating in seeking out the responsibility for the explosion of a black powder magazine at the Mare Island navy yard in San Francisco bay, which killed six persons and injured 31.

Capt. Harry George, commandant of the yard, refused to issue a statement as to probably cause of the explosion, pending the investigation.

Attempt Made to Liberate Germans.

Atlanta.—An investigation was being made by military authorities at Fort McPherson in an effort to place responsibility for attempts which are said to have been made to liberate 400 German sailors interned there. Officers admitted they had discovered that the wire barricade which extends around the quarters occupied by the prisoners had been cut. In one place a hole large enough to allow the passage of a man's body was found. The sentinel who was on duty near the prisoners' quarters was arrested.

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

Just Once! Try "Dodson's Liver Tone" When Bilious, Constipated, Headachy—Don't Lose a Day's Work.

Liven up your sluggish liver! Feel fine and cheerful; make your work a pleasure; be vigorous and full of ambition. But take no nasty, dangerous calomel, because it makes you sick and you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver, which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

Listen to me! If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning, because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and cannot salivate. Give it to your children. Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is almost stopped entirely here.—Adv.

Former Premier Rene Viviani of the French commission impressed the country with his eloquence.

They tell a story of M. Viviani's youth. He had accepted an invitation to address a political meeting, and he launched into his maiden speech with trepidation. But he carried all before him, and, when he purposed to sit down, there were loud cries of:

"Go on! Keep her up! Go on!"

"Do you really wish me to go on?" said M. Viviana.

"Yes! Yes! Go on! Go on!" shouted the audience.

"Then this is the exact point," said M. Viviani, "where a capable speaker sits down.'

Why Suffer?

Mrs. J. A. Cox, of Alderson, W. Va., writes: "My daughter . . . suffered terribly. She could not turn in bed . . . the doctors gave her up, and we brought her home to die. She had suffered so much at . . . time. Having heard of Cardui, we got it for her."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"In a few days, she began to improve," Mrs. Cox continues, "and had no trouble at . . . Cardui cured her, and we sing its praises everywhere." We receive many thousands of similar letters every year, telling of the good Cardui has done for women who suffer from complaints so common to their sex. It should do you good, too. Try Cardui. E-77

For The Mother

Maternity is a crisis in a woman's life that should be safe-guarded with extreme care. The safe, penetrating external preparation, "Mother's Friend", has been prepared for over three generations, especially for expectant mothers. By its use stretching pains are avoided. The abdominal muscles relax easily when baby is born and this naturally makes for infinitely less pain and danger at the crisis. Ask for a bottle at your drug store today and write for interesting free book, "Motherhood and the Baby". Simply address The Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. D, 300 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga. Do not go a single night without applying "Mother's Friend"; it is the greatest kind of help to nature.

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME VI. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., JULY 19, 1917. NUMBER 16

MEETING OF CITIZENS REGARDING GRAIN PRODUCTS

Arrangements Made for Crushing and Grinding of Grain and Feed Products in Clanton.

A large and interested number of citizens of Chilton county met at the court house on Tuesday, coming at the call of a committee for the purpose of hearing, studying, and taking some action in regard to a disposal of the grain and feed crops that are growing in immense quantities in this section of the country this season.

The meeting was called to order and presided over by Mr. W. H. Conway, the county farm demonstrator. The business of the session was begun at nine o'clock.

The chairman introduced Mr. Emmett A. Jones, the Food Commissioner of the state of Alabama. The speaker made a strong and forcible appeal upon the necessity of a mill at this place, of ample proportions to crush, grind and otherwise prepare for use, all the grain and feed crops produced in the county. Especially did he emphasize the necessity of such an organization the importance of a proper organization for marketing these products in commercial form.

Judge Reynolds offered a resolution which was seconded by W. M. Adams, calling upon someone to place a grain mill of ample capacity at Clanton. The resolution was passed without a dissenting voice as follows:

Resolved, that we, the people of Chilton county ,in mass meeting assembled, declare that the prospects for a grain crop were never brighter than they are at the present time and especially the prospects for a velvet bean crop and unless there is some provision made to crush or grind the Velvet Beans there will be a great loss to the people of this county. Therefore, be it resolved, that we earnestly request someone to put up a mill in Clanton to crush and grind all forms of feed.

Be it further resolved that we thank Hon. Emmett A. Jones for the splendid speech along the line of preparing our farm products for market.

Whereupon Mr. Adams stated further, that he had all the necessary arrangements made for the placing upon his property between 7th street and the L. & N. Railroad, a velvet bean mill and other grain machinery to take care of the situation.

The interest manifested in the movement at this meeting indicates that the farmers will co-operate and harmonize their efforts, and systematize their actions in such a way as to be able to make profitable disposition of all their grain, velvet beans and other feed products this season.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

The Union-Banner has direct information that ample capital, composed of interests locally and from Birmingham and Montgomery, has organized to serve the pubilc promptly in the operation of works suitable to take care of all grain produced in the neighborhood of Clanton and in the entire County.

In accord with foregoing notice, which has been carried in both papers of the county, I have made arrangements to place upon my property at Clanton between the L. & N. Railroad and 7th street a Velvet bean crusher of 25 ton capacity, and other grain machinery to take care of the grain crop. Ample storage room will be provided to take care of this situation. Ample arrangements to market the product in commercial form will be perfected and daily quotations from the market procured.

The support and cooperation of every citizen whose personal and community interest is involved is respectfully solicited.

Respectfully,
Wm. M. ADAMS.

SUNDAY SCHOOL STUDENTS IN CHILTON COUNTY NOW

According to the census taken in 1910, the white population in Chilton County is 18,428. Only 2,848 are reported in Sunday School, leaving 15,580 out of Sunday school in our county. These figures showing numbers in Sunday School are not correct but they are just as the Chilton County Sunday School Association gave them to the State Association, and we failed to get reports from 24 schools last year and these schools are not represented as being in Sunday School. That is why our figures stand as they do today. We wish the Sunday schools that have not sent statistical reports would please send them at once to your county secretary, Miss Della Williams, Verbena, Alabama, so that we may be able to make a correct statement at our County Convention at Thorsby on July 26-27. NON RESIDENT NOTICE

State of Alabama, Chilton Cohnty.
Probate Court, July 18, 1917
la Abrams, deceased, to Alberta Mosley, non resident of the State of Alabama.

Whereas, H. A. Harris, as administrator of the estate of Avrilla Abrams, deceased, has filed his petition in writing under oath in said Court, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate, described in said petition, for paying the debts due by said estate, upon the grounds that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts, and the 20 day of August, 1917, has been appointed for the hearing of said petition:

You are therefore, hereby commanded to appear before the said Court on said day to contest said petition if you think proper.

Witness my hand, this 18 day of July, 1917.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Robinson, Jr., have been to Dothan this week. Mrs. Robinson underwent a treatment by Dr. P .I. Hopkins for throat trouble while there.

IN MEMORY

The death angel visited the home of Mr. Green Rasberry on the evening of June 26th and took him to his eternal home. He was in his 57th year. He had been afflicted for about 20 years with cancers and had been expected to pass away any moment for at least two years, but God in his tender love saw fit to spare him to us until now. It grieves our hearts to think that he is gone, but we feel he is better off. He is out of his suffering, and this old world of sin and sorrow. He bore his suffering with patience. He said he did not dread death in the least and was ready and willing to go.

His body was laid to rest in Pleasant Grove Cemetery. He leaves a wife and six children and several grand children.

To think of the awful suffering he had to endure and after all to have to give him up, but the Lord giveth, and the Lord taketh away. All we can do is to live so we can meet him in a better world some day.

We want to extend our heartfelt thanks to the kind friends who did so much for him in his afflictions. They will receive a reward in that last great day, when we shall meet him face to face before the great white Throne where there will be no sickness, sorrow or sad good-byes.

Farewell, dear friends—I'll bid you a loving last farewell.
I hear my Savior calling.
I soon with Him shall dwell.
I fear not Death's Dark Valley,
Nor tremble with alarm,
For angels wait to bear me
Above the raging storm.

Written by his loving daughter and grand daughter.

Mrs. J. P. Barrett, and Mrs. Maud Hays.

NOTICE TO PENSIONERS

Notice is hereby given, that the following named persons have pension warrants in the probate office of Chilton County, viz:

The above parties will please call at the office, or notify me by mail, and receive these warrants, as all warrants uncalled for will be returned to the State Auditor on the 31 day of July.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

SHALL WE HAVE A CO. FAIR?

Some County Fairs are postponing their exhibitions. This year, above all, when increased live stock production, larger yield, and the conservation of food, are such important problems, it is a pity to have any really worth-while fair abandoned. The Fair that fits its field and fully serves its purpose as a real educational institution, should flourish.

The Fair that is "for farmers, not fakirs" will aid in the agricultural upbuilding of any community and is worthy of the heartiest support.—Breeder's Gazette.

No, it isn't at all difficult to apply common sense, if you have any.

W. S. Beaird of Evergreen was in Clanton Wednesday on business.

SOUTH MUST GROW MORE OATS AND WHEAT

Farm Service Bureau, Atlanta, Ga.

The South will be expected to take care of its share of wheat and oat production. Discouragement from the winter kill of the last season and labor conditions make the task of keeping up production no small one, but the country needs more of these crops if it is to take care of its allies. The prices which they are bringing, of course, do not discourage production.

Even if the acreage cannot be increased the prices which the small grains are bringing justify the very best seed bed preparation and the maximum use of fertilizer.

Growing cereals, of course, do not require as much labor as growing corn and cotton, it is true, but corn and cotton will take their turn in every well planned farm.

The scant oat crop should be husbanded for seed this year. No oats are as good for planting in the South as those grown in the South, especially if they are grown in the region where they are to be planted. The same is true of wheat unless in a given section the best variety for that section has not yet been used.

Good seed should be ordered early. Unless fertilizers are ordered early, so that dealers can ship only in full carload lots it is quite probable that farmers will be disappointed when seeding time comes. The railroads will probably have more than they can do even with full carload shipments. It is a national necessity to see that no freight car space is wasted.

Stings or bites of insects that are followed by swellings, pain or itching should be treated promptly as they are poisonous. BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT counteracts the poison. It is both antiseptic and healing. Price 25c, 50 and $1 per bottle. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

AMENDMENT MADE TO COUNTY ROAD LAWS

Statement from Commissioners in Regard to Change in the Payment of theWagon License Tax.

We, the Commissioners Court, want to express our gratitude to the people, who met at the court house on Monday in opposition to the New Road Law, for coming to the court and letting the court know their objections to the road laws.

The court was glad to meet their objections and we have amended Section 35 of the Road Law, so that anyone may take out wagon license for one month at a time.

The Commissioners Court wants to be a servant of the people. We want to do what the people want done and we ask them to help us manage the county affairs to the best interest of all the people.

We want to do all we can for the county roads, and keep up all the high ways, and yet we have no money with which to work the public roads, and at the time we took charge of the public affairs, Chilton County had no road laws at all. The Legislature of 1915 having repealed all road laws, and passed an act authorizing boards of revenue and courts of County Commissioners to make, adopt and establish such laws that in the discretion of the court or boards of revenue they might see fit. And the court has adopted the New Road Law, and trusts the same will be to the best interests of the county and to all the people. We must keep in mind if the public roads of Chilton County are improved, the people of Chilton County will have to improve them.

We ask those who are opposed to the wagon tax to consider the eastern side of the county, where a large turpentine still and several large lumber mills are located, where hundreds of teams this winter will be tearing up the roads, and there will be no money with which to build them back unless we get the tax on wagons.

We hope more people who have teams hauling for them will do as Mr. H. J. Busby, Superintendent of the Shelby Iron Co., has done. He has notified all men hauling cord wood for the company that he will pay the tax for them. He came before the Commissioners court and so notified all parties hauling wood for them.

The Commissioners Court passed the following resolution:

Resolved:

We, the Commissioners Court in session this, the 16th day of July, 1917, unanimously tender our sincere thanks to Mr. H. J. Busby, Superintendent of the Shelby Iron Company, for his patriotic action in agreeing to pay the wagon taxes for all persons hauling cord wood for the Shelby Iron Company in Chilton County. We further express our thanks to Mr. Busby for his expressions in the interest of the people of Chilton county and its roads.

Done by order oft he Commissioners Court, this the 16th day of July, 1917.

Judge of Probate.

JURY TERM OF CIRCUIT COURT POSTPONED A MONTH

The regular jury term of the Circuit court of Chilton county, which was due to have been held in August, has been postponed for a month, and will convene in September. The order calling for a change of the date was issued last week by Judge Gunter.

TO THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS OF DISTRICT NO. 1

We are very anxious to bring a good report to the County Convention at Thorsby the 26th and 27th, and make our District a gold star district. And The schools that have not already done so will make an offering next Sunday; forward the amount with a statistical report to our secretary. We would esteem it a favor.

Yours for better Sunday Schools,
J. B. NORTHCUTT, Pres.
ADDIE HORSLEY, Secy.

MEETING OF TRUSTEES OF OF THORSBY INSTITUTE

The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of Thorsby Institute was held in the library last Thursday, July 12. It was an all-day meeting. Rev. Dwight L. Bayley, Assistant Pastor of the Independent Presbyterion Church of Birmingham, who was recently elected a member of the Board, was present.

Of course, at such meeting two things of large interest are the election and the financial report. The retiring officers were elected throughout. The Treasurer's report showed that he had paid out during the year past over $12000.00 of which amount, more than 80 per cent, was spent in Chilton County.

The financial report showed an increase in the assets of the school during the year of over $2200. The property of the school is now at a conservative estimate worth over $15,000, above all liabilities. Reports also indicated that in other respects the year just closed was the most successful in the history of the school. The enrollment was by far the largest ever. The percentage of attendance to enrollment was well above the average.

Several hundred volumes of good books have been added to the library.

While the world war makes the outlook for the year to come uncertain in some respects, yet the trustees are expecting that the year 1917 will be a very good year for Thorsby Institute. A thoroughly equipped faculty has been chosen. Applications are coming in rapidly from prospective students.

School opens September 11.

GIRLS CLUB WORK

Canning demonstrations will be given at the following times and places: West Clanton and Baker School Club, Monday, July 23; Minooka, Tuesday, July 24; Collins Chapel, Wednesday, July 25; Cross Roads, Thursday, July 26; Center Hill, Friday, July 27; Fairview, Saturday, July 28.

Everybody in the communities is invited to attend these demonstrations, and as I cannot go into a community but once in several weeks on account of the large number of clubs in the county, it will be necessary for all interested in canning to avail themselves of these opportunities.

IN THE PROBATE COURT

State of Alabama, Chilton County.
Estate of P. E. Coleman, deceased.

This day came W. B. Tomlin, as administrator of the estate of said decedent, and filed his application, in due form and proper oath, praying an order for sale of certain personal property described therein, and belonging to said estate, for the purpose of paying debts of said estate. It is ordered that the 14th day of August, 1917, be appointed a day for hearing said application, at which time all parties in interest can appear and contest the same, if they think proper.

Strange indeed, but true. Since the trenches have belome the center of the stage we seldom hear hell or Mexico mentioned.

Thtre is one thing about going to war that will make an editor feel at home—there are mules there to do the kicking that was formerly furnished by the delinquent subscribers.

UPON FARMERS DEPENDS THE RESULT OF THE WAR

Therefore Make Your Farm Produce the Greatest possible Amount of Eats.

AN AGRICULTURAL SLACKER

We hear a great many uses of the word "slacker" meaning one who tries to evade his duty to his country for selfish or cowardly reasons. If one failed to subscribe to the Liberty Loan, Red Cross, or to volunteer, if in military age, he is called a "slacker". The financial support of the government and the Red Cross are necessary and the duty of those who can afford it. The federal draft law will take care of the army. The biggest task confronting the American people is not the nation's credit, the Red Cross, nor the army. It is that which feeds the whole business. The pangs of hunger will make a slacker and a quitter of the bravest of the brave.

President Wilson said, "Upon the Farmers of this country, therefore, in a large measure, rests the fate of the war, and the fate of the nations." History tells us that starvation has conquered more nations than the sword. The supreme patriotic thing for American people to do is to plant and cultivate, and if the weather and yields are satisfactory, plant and cultivate again that which is in season, never losing an opportunity to produce. The man who owns a farm that is idle when he could make it produce, and the man or woman, who through indolence or vain personal pride refuses to do farm labor where the opportunity is affirded, is the greatest "slacker" in America. There is dignity and personal gratitude in honest toil if you will but teach yourself to enjoy it. There is much more dignity in labor than there is in hunger, national defeat and world-wide humiliation.

Plant a Fall Garden

President Wilson also said, "Every one who creates or cultivates a garden helps and helps greatly to solve the problem of feeding the nations." This appeal was not only to the farmers but to everybody who has a plot of land and a few minutes of spare time. Cultivating a garden means more than planting a spring garden. It means to keep planting and trying for an all year round garden. American people do things by spurts, and if they are not successful with the first attempt, they are inclined to quit and go off after something else. Keep hammering at the garden. Plant beans, field peas, June corn, Irish potatoes, collards and turnips. Keep everlastingly at it with a determination to have something from the garden at all times. The seasons may be better in the fall than in the spring. If you have the patriotism you would have folks think, plant and cultivate something all the time. If by negligence you help to allow this nation to go hungry, you are the real slacker.

COMMISSIONERS COURT IN A THREE DAYS SESSION

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were busy days about the courthouse. The Commissioners Court has been in session, transacting all manner and amount of business that they could possibly get to. Many people, especially Monday, were here to meet the Court and have something done about the road law that they thought ought to be done. It has been a very busy session for the Commissioners.

A preliminary trial of Perry Glass, under arrest for the murder of Jim Cambell a few weeks ago, was held in the county court on Tuesday, before Judge L. H. Reynolds.

After an examination of the witnesses in the case the court concluded to hold Glass without bail to wait investigations of the conditions surrounding the killing, before the grand jury. The next grand jury will convene in September.

DRAFT 12,977 FOR WAR FROM STATE

LESS THAN ONE PER CENT OF POPULATION OF ALABAMA CALLED.

1,417 FROM BIRMINGHAM

Mobile 329, Montgomery 272, According to Estimates Issued By Census Bureau.

Washington.—Alabama must furnish 12,977 men for the new national war army, according to dummy population estimates issued by the census bureau and based upon the registration of June 5. Birmingham, according to the estimates, must furnish 1,417 of its young men for service in France. The estimates are based upon the total registration of the country, which was 9.32 per cent of the total estimated population. Taking this as a basis Alabama is estimated to have a population of 1,946,536 and Birmingham 212,436. Under this estimate Birmingham, which in 1910, had some 10,000 souls less than Atlanta, residing in its boundaries, now has some 6,000 more than the Georgia metropolis, which is estimated to have a population of 206,159. The draft will take from each city, county and State two-thirds of one per cent of the population, as estimated by the Census Bureau. This would cause Birmingham to give up 1,417 of her young men, Mobile 329, Montgomery 272.

Alabama Leads in Corn Acreage.

Montgomery.—Alabama leads all Southern States in the percentage of increase in corn production, this State planting twenty-five per cent more corn in 1917 than in 1916, according to figures announced by the Federal Department of Agriculture. For the first time since the War Between the States, Alabama will grow enough corn to feed the population, according to estimates made by the government. Tennessee and Mississippi with 20 per cent increases followed Alabama, while Oklahoma with only a 2 per cent increase in corn acreage was the lowest Southern State. According to the estimate Alabama has planted 4,669,000 acres which will yield 71,016,000 bushels.

Iron Market Reported Quiet.

Birmingham.—While the iron and steel market is reported quiet and conservative by trade journals, the Iron Trade Review in its weekly report indicating such a trend, the manufacturers in the Birmingham District say that all the spot iron and steel they can offer readily finds a buyer. A few sales of iron are still noted in this district for periods covering the entire coming year, 1918. The Cleveland authority announces that attention is being attracted towards Washington for early action on the part of the government, a better co-ordination in war relations of government and business being proposed.

Lee County Crop Estimate Made.

Opelika.—Frank Gist, of Auburn, State Statistician of the Bureau of Crop Reports, who compiled for the State Council of Defense reports which will be presented to the National Council, gave out the following statistics: Number of plows in Lee County, 5,500; cotton acreage, 44,000; corn acreage, 82,000; velvet bean acreage, 4,800; peanut acreage, 11,000; hay, 11,000; molasses, sorghum and sugar cane, 1,400; cowpeas, 25,000; Irish potatoes, 500; sweet potatoes, 5,000.

Hotel Men Will Meet.

Montgomery.—Many hotels will be represented at the semi-annual meeting to be held in Montgomery July 25. The hotel men of this city have made preparation for an entertainment in the shape of an outing at one of the lake clubs near Montgomery the evening before the convention and the representatives are expected to be in the capital city during the late afternoon or early evening of the day preceding the convention.

County Convention Meets.

Decatur.—The Morgan County Sunday School Association met at the Austinville Methodist Church with several prominent State and local speakers on the program. Miss Freda Bose, of Montgomery, Superintendent of the secondary department, and Prof. J. I. Riddle, of Montgomery, State Field Worker, attended the meeting.

Doctors Are Wanted.

Montgomery.—Dr. Robert Goldthwaite and Dr. F. H. McConnica are in the southern part of the State endeavoring to arouse the doctors to enlist for medical service during the war. Alabama doctors are reported as being slow to enlist in the medical service.

Crops Are Damaged.

Gadsden. — Crops in the Ball Play section of this county were badly damaged by hail and wind. The hail storm covered a territory about a mile wide. Several farmers report their crops practically ruined by the hail.

Circuit Court Convenes.

Decatur.—Circuit Court of Morgan County convened here with Judge R. C. Brickell, of Huntsville, presiding. The jury has been selected. There is a full docket of civil and criminal cases.

Sacred Harpers to Meet.

Birmingham.—Annual State Convention of the Sacred Harp Singing Association will be held in Birmingham July 27, 28 and 29, and delegates are expected from not only Alabama, but from adjoining States, Georgia, Tennessee and Mississippi. W. R. Davis, President, announces that the convention promises to be one of the best ever held, that matters of importance will come up, and teachers and leaders will be present and singing will be features of the gathering. This organization was put on foot in 1910, and President Davis says that it is the original Sacred Harp Association for the State.

Alabama Troops Assigned to Macon

Washington.—The War Department announced assignments of National Guard troops to training camps as follows: Eighth division, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, and Virginia, at Anniston, Ala. Ninth division, North and South Carolina and Tennessee, at Greenville, S. C. Tenth division, Alabama, Georgia and Florida, at Macon, Ga. Sixteenth division, Ohio and West Virginia, at Montgomery, Ala. Seventeenth division, Kentucky and Indiana, at Hattiesburg, Miss. Eighteenth division, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana, at Alexandria, La.

One Killed and 25 Hurt.

Montgomery.—A special from Tuskegee says: "During a furious electric storm, lightning struck the St. Mark's Baptist Church, colored, three miles south of Tuskegee, on the Montgomery road, and killed instantly Jackson Ligon, aged 27, and seriously shocked Willie Howard, aged 21; Jane Clanton, aged 70, and George Nailine Thompson, aged 22, and slightly shocked 25 others.

Alabamians Honored.

Williams Bay, Wis.—Leon C. Palmer of Montgomery, General Secretary of the Alabama Sunday School Association, was elected Secretary-Treasurer of the International Employed Officers Association at the annual meeting of the organization, which closed its sessions here. Miss Myra Batchelder General Secretary of the Birmingham Sunday School Association, was elected Secretary of the City Section of the organization.

Negro May Be Cleared.

Mobile.—Fisher Brooks, a negro under death sentence for the killing of Mrs. Julia May Hess, of Fulton, Ala., is said to have made another confession to the effect that he alone is guilty o fthe crime. Albert Sanders, a second negro, was indicted for his part in the crime and is held in jail without bail awaiting trial on July 19. Sanders denies the charge and says that Brooks lied on him.

Sims Heads Bar Association.

Birmingham.—Following the election of Henry Upsom Sims, of Birmingham, as President, and the re-election of Col. Alexandr Troy, of Montgomery, as Secretary-Treasurer for the thirty-ninth consecutive year, the fortieth annual session of the Alabama State Bar Association came to a close.

Weevils Showing Up.

Vina.—The severe winter and late spring did not reduce the boll weevil as expected in North Alabama. The weevil is already doing its destructive work on the newly-formed squares. The warm showers through this section are proving favorable for the pest but farmers are planning to cultivate their crops late, thus destroying as many of the weevils as possible.

Volunteer Services.

Montgomery.—A special from Fort Deposit says the entire membership of the Lowndes County Medical Society volunteered for war service at the regular meeting held there. Two of the members of the organization, Dr. G. C. Mariette and Dr. W. L. Staggers have been accepted.

Breeders Organize.

Montgomery.—Breeders of the short horn cattle and the Hereford cattle in separate meetings here have organized State associations for promoting the breeding of these highly prized strains. Officers were elected at each meeting and much enthusiasm was displayed.

Election to Be Called.

Huntsville.—At a mass meeting held at the City Hall, under the auspices of the City Council, it was unanimously agreed that the city should issue 5 per cent bonds in the sum of $90,000 to raise money and pay off the floating debt.

Factory in Operation.

Albany.—The Albany Overall factory, recently established, is fashioning thousands of yards of material into substantial and well made overalls. Eighteen young women are employed.

New Hotel Planned.

Athens.—Announcements have been made here that R. L. Love will begin the erection of a hotel here soon.

Woman Is Head of High School.

Cullman.—Mrs. Kyle Price, of Cullman, has been elected principal of the Cullman County High School. This is one of the largest county high schools in the State, having a faculty of six and the only large one to elect a woman for principal. Mrs. Price is a Tennessee woman. She is a cousin of Postmaster General A. S. Burleson, and lived in Washington for several years. She has been teaching for some time in the high schools of Alabama. Troy and Elba, and has been prominently connected with the clubs of the State.

FORGET PROFITS; WIN THE WAR

President Wilson Appeals to Business Interests of Country.

JUST PRICES IS HIS DEMAND

Business Should Not Take Toll Off Men in Trenches, Says the Chief Executive—Ship Owners Are Condemned.

Washington.—President Wilson appealed to the country's business interests Wednesday to put aside every selfish consideration and to give their aid to the nation as freely as those who go to offer their lives on the battlefield.

In a statement addressed to the coal operators and manufacturers he gave assurance that just prices will be paid by the government and the public during the war, but warned that no attempt to extort unusual profits will be tolerated.

"Your patriotism," said the president's appeal, "is of the same self-denying stuff as the patriotism of the men dead and maimed on the fields of France, or it is no patriotism at all. Let us never speak, then, of profits and patriotism in the same sentence.

"I shall expect every man who is not a slacker to be at my side throughout this great enterprise. In it no man can win honor who thinks of himself."

Condemns Ship Owners.

The president declared there must be but one price for the government and for the public. He expressed confidence that business generally would be found loyal to the last degree, and that the problem of wartime prices, which he declared will "mean victory or defeat," will be solved rightly through patriotic co-operation.

In unmeasured terms, however, Mr. Wilson condemned the ship owners of the country for maintaining a schedule of ocean freight rates which has placed "almost insuperable obstacles in the path of the government.

President's Call.

The president's statement follows:

"The government is about to attempt to determine the prices at which it will ask you henceforth to furnish various supplies which are necessary for the prosecution of the war, and various materials which will be needed in the industries by which the war must be sustained. We shall, of course, try to determine them justly and to the best advantage of the nation as a whole; but justice is easier to speak of than to arrive at, and there are some considerations which I hope we shall keep steadily in mind while this particular problem of justice is being worked out.

Promises Just Price.

"Therefore I take the liberty of stating very candidly my own view of the situation and of the principles which should guide both the government and the mine owners and manufacturers of the country in this difficult matter.

"A just price must, of course, be paid for everything the government buys. By a just price I mean a price which will sustain the industries concerned in a high state of efficiency, provide a living for those who conduct them, enable them to pay good wages, and make possible the expansions of their enterprises which will from time to time become necessary as the stupendous undertakings of this great war develop.

Must Face the Facts.

"We could not wisely or reasonably do less than pay such prices. They are necessary for the maintenance and development of industry, and the maintenance and development of industry are necessary for the great task we have in hand.

"But I trust that we shall not surround the matter with a mist of sentiment. Facts are our masters now. We ought not to put the acceptance of such prices on the ground of patriotism."

"Patriotism has nothing to do with profits in a case like this. Patriotism and profits ought never in the present circumstances be mentioned together.

"It is perfectly proper to discuss profits as a matter of business, with a view to maintaining the integrity of capital and the efficiency of labor in these tragical months, when the liberty of free men everywhere and of industry itself trembles in the balance; but it would be absurd to discuss them as a motive for helping to serve and save our country.

"Patriotism leaves profits out of the question. In these days of our supreme trial, when we are sending hundreds of thousands of our young men across the seas to serve a great cause, no true man who stays behind to work for them and sustain them by his labor will ask himself what he is personally going to make out of that labor.

"No true patriot will permit himself to take toll of their heroism in money or seek to grow rich by the shedding of their blood. He will give as freely and with as unstinted self-sacrifice as they. When they are giving their lives, will he not at least give his money?

Assails "Bribery."

"I hear it insisted that more than a just price, more than a price that will sustain our industries, must be paid; that it is necessary to pay very liberal and unusual profits in order to 'stimulate' production; that nothing but pecuniary rewards will do—rewards paid in money, not in the mere liberation of the world.

"I take it for granted that those who argue thus do not stop to think what that means.

"Do they mean that you must be paid, must be bribed, to make your contribution, a contribution that costs you neither a drop of blood nor a tear, when the whole world is in travail and men everywhere depend upon and call to you to bring them out of bondage and make the world a fit place to live in again, amidst peace and justice?

Appeals to Honor.

"Do they mean that you will exact a price, drive a bargain, with the men who are enduring the agony of this war on the battlefields, in the trenches, amidst the lurking dangers of the sea, or with the bereaved women and pitiful children, before you will come forward to do your duty and give some part of your life, in easy, peaceful fashion, for the things we are fighting for, the things we have pledged our fortunes, our lives, our sacred honor to vindicate and defend—liberty and justice and fair dealing and the peace of nations?

"Of course you will not. It is inconceivable. Your patriotism is of the same self-denying stuff as the patriotism of the men dead or maimed on the fields of France, or else it is not patriotism at all.

Full Dollar's Worth.

"Let us never speak, then, of profits and of patriotism in the same sentence, but face facts and meet them. Let us do sound business, but not in the midst of a mist.

"Many a grievous burden of taxation will be laid on this nation, in this generation and in the next, to pay for this war; let us see to it that for every dollar that is taken from the people's pockets it shall be possible to obtain a dollar's worth of the sound stuff they need.

"Let me turn for a moment to the ship owners of the United States and the other ocean carriers whose example they have followed, and ask them if they realize what obstacles, what almost insuperable obstacles, they have been putting in the way of the successful prosecution of this war by the ocean freight rates they have been exacting.

Making War a Failure.

"They are doing everything that high freight charges can do to make the war a failure, to make it impossible.

"I do not say that they realize this or intend it. The thing has happened naturally enough because the commercial processes which we are content to see operate in ordinary times have without sufficient thought been continued into a period where they have no proper place.

"I am not questioning motives. I am merely stating a fact, and stating it in order that attention may be fixed upon it.

"The fact is that those who have fixed war freight rates have taken the most effective means in their power to defeat the armies engaged against Germany. When they realize this we may, I take it for granted, count upon them to reconsider the whole matter. It is high time. Their extra hazards are covered by war risk insurance.

Warning Is Sounded.

"I know, and you know, what response to this great challenge of duty and of opportunity the nation will expect of you; and I know what response you will make.

"Those who do not respond, who do not respond in the spirit of those who have gone to give their lives for us on bloody fields far away, may safely be left to be dealt with by opinion and the law—for the law must, of course, command those things.

"I am dealing with the matter thus publicly and frankly, not because I have any doubt or fear as to the result but only in order that in all our thinking and in all our dealings with one another we may move in a perfectly clear air of mutual understanding.

Must Have Same Prices.

"And there is something more that we must add to our thinking. The public is now as much a part of the government as are the army and navy themselves; the whole people in all their activities are now mobilized and in service for the accomplishment of the nation's task in this war; it is in such circumstances impossible justly to distinguish between industrial purchases made by the government and industrial purchases made by the managers of industries, and it is just as much our duty to sustain the industrials of the country with all the industries that contribute to its life as it is to sustain our forces in the field and on the sea.

Think Not of Self.

"We must make prices to the public the same as the prices to the government. Prices mean the same thing everywhere now. They mean the efficiency or the inefficiency of the nation, whether it is the government that pays them or not. They mean victory or defeat. They mean that America will win her place once for all among the foremost free nations of the world or that she will sink to defeat and become a second-rate power alike in thought and in action. This is a day of her reckoning and every man among us must personally face that reckoning along with her.

"The case needs no arguing. I assume that I am only expressing your own thoughts—what must be in the mind of every true man when he faces the tragedy and the solemn glory of the present war, for the emancipation of mankind.

"I summon you to a great duty, a great privilege, a shining dignity and distinction. I shall expect every man who is not a slacker to be at my side throughout this great enterprise. In it no man can win honor who thinks of himself."

QUOTA EACH STATE MUST RAISE BY DRAFT FOR NATIONAL ARMY

Allotment by states of quotas to be raised by selective draft for Uncle Sam's national army was announced by the war department.

The quotas assigned are on a basis of proportionate population of each state to the population of the nation as recently fixed by the census bureau. In the allotment each state is given credit for its total enlisted National Guard strength, plus the men enlisted in the regular army between April 2 and June 30, 1917.

The following table gives the war department allotment, gross quotas, net quotas and National Guard and regular army credits—the total of the latter two appearing in the final column of the table:

	Gross Quota	Net Quota by Draft	National Guard Enlisted April 2-June 30	Regular Army April 2-June 30	Aggregate National Guard and Reg. Army

FORMAL DRAFT ORDER ISSUED BY PRESIDENT

Wilson Rallies 1,262,985 Men Around the Flag.

687,000 ON THE FIRST CALL

Official Allotment Shows What Part of Total Must Be Furnished by Each State and Territory in the Union.

Washington.—A formal order by President Wilson, drafting 687,000 into the military service under the selective conscription law, was promulgated by the war department, together with an official allotment showing what part of the total must be furnished by each state and territory.

The only steps now remaining are distribution by the governors of state quotas among the local exemption districts and the great lottery, which probably will be held next week and which will establish the order in which registrants are to present themselves for service or exemption.

The men summoned for service will be used to fill the regular army and National Guard to war strength and to organize the first 500,000 of the new national army.

Total to Be 1,262,985.

The total of these three forces will be 1,262,985 men.

Later another 500,000 will be called out, supplemented by sufficient men to make up losses and maintain reserve battalions.

Following is Secretary of War Baker's announcement of the order:

"By virtue of the authority vested in him by an act of congress, entitled 'An Act to Authorize the President to Increase Temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States,' approved May 13, 1917, the president of the United States has ordered the aggregate number of 687,000 men to be raised by draft for the military service of the United States in order to bring to full strength the organizations of the regular army and the organizations embodying the members of the National Guard drafted into the military service of the United States and to create the national army, and has caused said aggregate number to be apportioned to the several states and territories and the District of Columbia as set forth in the schedule hereto appended.

"The governor of each state and territory and the commissioners of the District of Columbia, acting for and by the direction of the president and in accordance with said act of congress and rules and regulations prescribed pursuant thereto, shall apportion the quota so apportioned to such state, territory or district and shall communicate to each local board established in such state, territory or district notice of the net quota to be furnished by such board, and such net quotas shall thereupon be furnished by the respective local boards as required by said act of congress and rules and regulations prescribed pursuant thereto."

In computing the number of men to be required from the various states the government put to the credit of each state every man it now has in the National Guard and every man it has contributed since April 1 as a war volunteer to the regular army.

Computation Method.

Placing on the debit side of the ledger the national army of 500,000, the entire National Guard at war strength and the number of war volunteers needed on April 1 last, to bring the regulars up to the war strength, the grand total was apportioned according to population.

This gave a gross quota for each state, from which a net quota was computed by checking off the number of National Guardsmen available for federal service and the number of men given by the state to the regular army since April 1.

The apportionment was made on the basis of an estimated grand total for the United States and its possessions of 105,366,056 inhabitants.

This is a paper estimate, computed from registration returns, which comes within the law requiring distribution of quotas by population, but which equalizes in a great measure the burden that is to fall upon the 4,559 exemption districts.

Total of 1,152,985.

Each will furnish under this apportionment the men its total registration would indicate as a fair proportion, rather than the number the actual population of the district would indicate. The total of these gross quotas is 1,152,985 men.

Credit is given to the various states for a total of 465,985 voluntary enlistments in the National Guard and regulars, making the total net quota for all states 687,000 men.

Illinois, which was the first big state to fill its quota for the regular army, reduced its gross quota of 79,094 to 51,653.

Never Satisfied.

"That dog of yours bit a piece right out of my leg."

"Well, you're never satisfied. You were only telling me the other day that you wished you could lose some flesh."

Too Small For Some Purposes.

"Nearly all the newspapers are being reduced in size, I notice."

"Yes; it seems to be a lucky thing that bustles are no longer fashionable."

BLOODY BATTLES ON WEST FRONT

French In Violent Attacks Drive Germans From Powerful Positions To The North Of Mont Haut

GERMANS CHARGE FRENCH

Gain At First, But Finally Driven Back By French Counter Attacks—The Russians Advance In Galicia

New York.—With somewhat of a slackening of the Russian offensive in Galicia, owing to bad weather, the French and the Germans along the Chemin-des-Dames and in Champagne have come together in mighty struggles in which the advantage rested mainly with the forces of General Petain. In Champagne, to the north of Mont Haut and northeast of the Teton the French, in a violent attack, captured powerfully organized German trench elements on a front of more than eight hundred yards and to a depth of more than three hundred yards, and held and consolidated the positions notwithstanding heavy counter attacks in which the Germans suffered heavy casualties and lost in addition 360 men and made prisoners. Along the Chemin-des-Dames the Germans west of Cerny, after heavy artillery preparations, threw heavy forces against the French line. The battle waged back and forth throughout the night, but, although the Germans broke through the French line at several points, daylight saw front line trenches evicted, except from front line trenches about five hundred yards in length. The Berlin war office claims the capture of 350 prisoners in the fighting. In Flanders at various points the British and Germans continue to carry out intensive artillery duels and the British to make successful raids on German positions.

Although rain and swollen streams are militating against the prosecution of the Russian offensive in Galicia, the troops of General Brussiloff, nevertheless, have driven the Austrians from positions southwest of Kalusz and taken more than a thousand prisoners and a number of guns. Apparently the Austro-German lines are stiffening as the result of the arrival of reinforcements, for Petrograd records the repulse of attacks along the Dobrovdiany-Movica front and says that the enemy has gone on the offensive along the Lomnic ariver near Perzhinsko and is stubbornly resisting the Russians on the Slivkiiasen sector.

NEW GERMAN CHANCELLOR SILENT ABOUT HIS POLICIES

Neither Conservatives Nor Liberals Have Yet Ventured To Call Michaelis Their Own

Copenhagen.—Germany's first commoner chancellor, Dr. Georg Michaelis, a bureaucrat without even a noble "von" before his name, has as yet given no indication of his policy regarding reform and peace. Neither the Conservatives nor the Liberals have ventured to call him their own. The chancellor's first step, which might be interpreted as an indication of an open mind, was to receive representatives of the two divergent groups in the reichstag and permit them to explain their respective standpoints, the chancellor playing the role of listener to the conversations conducted by the vice chancellor, Dr. Karl Helfferich, and the reichstag representatives.

The German newspapers unite in characterizations of his energy, but are most reserved in their predictions of his probable policy. The papers aligned for the so-called German peace are perhaps a shade more enthusiastic about the political possibilities under the new regime than the radical and social organs. The Catholic organ of pan-German sympathizers, The Cologne Volks Zeitung, says Doctor Michaelis undoubtedly stands nearer the right than the left parties. The line of the comment evidently emanating from Wilhelmstrasse is that the new chancellor regards as his mission the restoration of the internal harmony of the nation, whatever policy may be adopted. No matter what else may result, the change will undoubtedly mean the disappearance of the von Bethmann-Hollwegg peace program.

German Masters Remain The Same

Paris.—The Paris press hails the retirement of Dr. von Bethman-Hollweg from the German chancellorship with varying degrees of satisfaction. Some of the comment is jubilant, while other editors treat the event soberly. All are agreed that it indicates a crisis in Germany of unprecedented importance. The phrase, "scrap of paper," frequently crops out in comment and some of the journals trace the chancellor's downfall back to that early-in-the-war utterance.

Foreigners Flee From Americans

Flat River, Mo.—The presence of a detachment of Missouri National Guardsmen in the lead belt in the vicinity of Flat River did not prevent the continuing exodus of foreign-born miners, who have been driven out of this district by American miners. It is estimated that one thousand foreigners have left the district. Just where they have gone is not definitely known here, though several carloads of refugees have started towards St. Louis.

HALICZ TAKEN BY RUSSIANS

Unable To Stop Great Russian Drive, The Germans Evacuate Lemberg

London.—Halicz, the stragetic gateway to Lemberg, capital of Galicia, has been captured by the Russians, says a Reuter's Petrograd correspondent. Halicz, 63 miles southeast of Lemberg, on the Dniester river, is an important railroad junction and the most important key to the Galician capital. It is eighteen miles north of Stanislau and about eight miles north of Jezupol, captured by the Russians under General Korniloff, July 8. The fall of Halicz was presaged by the success of the Russians in breaking the Austro-German line between that town and Stanislau, and in driving the Austro-Germans to the Lomnica river, which enters the Dniester a short distance above Halicz.

Halicz was the center of much very heavy fighting last August and September, after the Russians had captured Bukowina and were attempting to reach Lemberg. Stanislau was captured by the Russians in August, but they failed to take Halicz after engaging in furious battles at Mariarpol and Monasterzyska and forcing the Austro-Germans to retire between the Zlota-Lipa and the Dniester. In September Halicz was bombarded by the Russian artillery, but attempts to storm the town were unsuccessful.

The fall of Halicz probably will mean that the Austro-Germans must retire from the present line along the Zlota-Lipa from northeast of Halicz through Brzezany and Zlochoff to Brody, in order to protect Lemberg. The next line in the rear of the Zlota-Lipa is the Gnila-Lipa. The Austro-German forces have already withdrawn beyond the Lomnica river, about ten miles to the west of Jezupol, which was occupied July 8 by the Russians under General Korniloff. The Russians have taken four more villages and increased their captures of prisoners more than one thousand. Seven more field guns and other war material also fell into Russian hands.

HUNDREDS OF SHIPS FOR U. S. WITHIN 18 MONTHS

General Goethals Will Let Contracts For Two Government Plants For 400 Steel Vessels

Washington.—Major General Goethals, manager o. the shipping board's emergency fleet c. poration, took full charge of the gove. ment's shipbuilding program and an. unces sweeping plans for construction of the great merchant fleet with w.ch the United States hopes to defeat the German submarine campaign. The most important steps contemplated by General Goethals are these:

Immeditae construction of two government-owned ship-building plants for building 400 fabricated steel ships of 2,100,000 tonnage.

Commandeering of 1,500,000 tons of shipping now building for private account in American yards.

A request for another great appropriation for building ships.

General Goethals' announcement is made in a letter to Chairman Denman of the shipping board, which said the fleet corporation, under powers just granted by President Wilson would start on its building program by offering contracts for construction of the two government ship plants and by outlining to shipbuilders the plans for commandeering vessels under construction.

Chairman Denman of the shipping board, who is also president and director of the corporation, after receiving General Goethals' letter, said:

"The board of directors of the fleet corporation will be called together to discuss the general's program. I have no doubt the directors and the general will have no disagreement over policy on the program he has outlined for us when the matter has had full discussion."

General Goethals' announcement and Mr. Denman's comment were regarded by the general's friends as indicating a final settlement in his favor of the long-drawn-out controversy between the two men as to the policy to be pursued in building ships.

The fleet corporation, it is made clear in General Goethals' announcement, will build all the wooden ships possible, but only after a design approved by the corporation's naval architect.

Farmers Suffer While Speculators Win

Washington.—A report on the food situation prepared for President Wilson by Herbert Hoover, holding that both the farmer and the consuming public are suffering while food speculators make unearned profits from the delay in enactment of food control legislation, was given out at the white house. Unless strong and efficient government action is immediately taken, the food administrator reported, the farmers will face a slump in wheat prices and consumers will be caught in a serious situation.

Neutral Denmark Hit By Embargo

Washington.—South American countries need not fear the United States embargo. Their treatment will be milder than that of neutral nations which are pouring supplies into Germany. This assurance was given by officials after neutrals from all quarters had begun to cry starvation. Further, it was stated, this nation does not intend to starve the Scandinavian countries or Holland, though it does propose to so curtail their shipments that there will be scant surplus wherewith to furnish Germany.

GERMAN REICHSTAG GOES ON A STRIKE

Members Decide To Suspend Work Till Crisis Clears, While Kaiser Sends Call For Von Hindenburg

MILITARY PARTY DOMINATES

Suspension Of The Reichstag Leaves Measure For New War Credit Entirely In Abeyance

Copenhagen.—Serious news from Berlin—the reichstag has gone on strike and the members have decided to suspend the labors both of the full house and the main committee until the political situation is cleared up—this is the news direct from the German capital, Copenhagen hears. This leaves the war credit bill in abeyance. Emperor William has summoned Field Marshal von Hindenburg, chief of the general staff, and General Ludendorff, the chief quartermaster general, for a conference. This news should be interpreted in connection with intimations that the German government has decided to refuse to parliamentarize the cabinet and the difficulties reported in connection with the adoption of a peace resolution.

Military Power Not Affected

Washington.—The German political crisis centers principally on the question of peace and internal reform, according to a review of state department advices issued by the committee on public information, and "there is not the slightest reason to believe that it will result in anything remotely approaching revolution or any diminution of Germany's military power. The review says it is apparent that Germany's food supply will hold out till the present crop is harvested, although the sufferings of the poor have been intensified greatly during the past five months.

Imperial Chancellor Without Authority

Military domination has reached such a stage in Germany, the review says, that the imperial chancellor is utterly without authority over the militarfy leaders who do as they please "and leave the civil authorities to come along behind and apologize." "In spite of the bitterness of the present contest in Berlin, there is not the slightest reason to believe that it will result in anythinu remotely approaching revolution, or in any diminution of Germany's military power. The crisis probably will lead to internal reforms which from the point of view of Germany will seem colossal, but will be, in truth, only the first steps toward making the German people masters of their own destiny.

"At present not only has the reichstag no control whatever over the chancellor, who is responsible to the emperor alone, but the chancellor is utterly without authority over the military leaders. Unless the present crisis develops far beyond its present scope, it will not begin to make Germany a democratic nation. There is reason, however, to believe that the influence of Austro-Hungary is behind the sudden swing of the Centrum to co-operation with the Socialists and the Radicals. Count Tiza no longer stands in the way of peace on the basis of status quo ante bellum, with his desire to retain Mt Lovchen and the northwestern corner of Serbia The new leaders of Hungary are for peace without annexation or indemnities.

Wilson To Ask For Three Billion More

Washington.—War appropriations of about three billion dollars, in addition to the enormous sums already appropriated or souhgt, will be asked of congress in estimates which administration officials have given notice will be submitted. Officials from the war, navy, state and other departments will be called before the committee to explain the estimates and the indications are that the committee will be busy all the week beginning July 15. All the appropriations contemplated will be carried in a general deficiency bill.

The Russians Continue To Advance

New York.—Another step in the outflanking of the Austro-German armies protecting Lemberg on the east has been achieved by the Russians, who have crossed the River Lomnica and captured Kalusz.

Saved From Starvation By U. S. A.

Hermans, N. M.—Danger of starvation which became very real for the twelve hundred men who were deported from Bisbee, Ariz., as members of the I. W. W. was abated with the arrival here of two cars of provisions from the United States army base at El Paso. A truck load of supplies from Columbus also arrived. Acting under orders from Governor Lindsey to arrest the deported men, Sheriff Simpson of Luna county and District Attorney J. S. Vaught have arrived here.

Bisbee Strikers Shipped To Border

Bisbee, Ariz.—More than eleven hundred alleged Industrial Workers of the World deported from Bisbee are aboard twenty-four cattle cars speeding toward New Mexico. Their announced destination is Columbus. The men were driven from the city by deputy sheriffs and about two thousand armed men, members of an organization known as the "Citizens Protective League." Two men were killed. A strike was called here by the metal workers' branch of the I. W. W. about two weeks ago.

URGED TO CUT OUT GREED

President Says Business Interests Must Give Aid As Freely As Those Offering Lives On Battlefields

Washington.—President Wilson has appealed to the country's business interests to put aside every selfish consideration and to give their aid to the nation as freely as those who go out to offer their lives on the battlefield. In a statement addressed to the coal operators and manufacturers he gave assurances that just prices will be paid by the government and the public during the war, but warned that no attempt to extort unusual profits will be tolerated. "Your patriotism," said the president's appeal, "is of the same self-denying stuff as th epatriotism of the men dead and maimed on the fields of France, or it is no patriotism at all. Let us never speak, then, of profits and patriotism in the same sentence. I shall expect every man who is not a slacker to be at my side throughout this great enterprise. In it no man can win honor who thinks of himself."

Must Be One Price For All

The president declared there must be but one price for the government and for the public. He expressed confidence that business generally will be found loyal to the last degree, and that the problem of war time prices, which he declared will "mean victory or defeat," will be solved rightly through patriotic co-operation. In unmeasured terms, however, Mr. Wilson condemned the ship owners of the country for maintaining a schedule of ocean freight rates which has placed "almost insuperable obstacles" in the path of the government. "The fact is," he asserted, "that those who have fixed war freight rates have taken the most effective means in their power to defeat the armies engaged against Germany." Coal production and other industries for whose products the government has negotiated price agreements are not taken up in detail by the president, his appeal dealing only with the general principles involved in the determination of war prices.

CONSCRIPT LOTTERY HAS BEEN POSTPONED A WEEK

States Are Slow About Completing Their Exemption Boards Is The Cause

Washington.—Postponement of the drawing of numbers of men who will be called for examination for the national army seemed probable when it became evident that states are not completing organization of their district exemption boards as rapidly as war department officials had hoped. Only twenty-one states have reported their organization complete, although in most others only a few districts are missing. The drawing will not be made until the lists for the country are complete. It was also announced that members of the house and senate military committee will witness the drawing to select men for the national war army. Secretary Baker said that he or some other official of the war department and not President Wilson, as has been suggested, would make the drawing.

Census Estimate Will Be Used

A so-called revised census estimate for the entire country, compiled on the basis of the draft registration, will be used for determining apportionments. Each city, county or state must furnish two-thirds of one per cent of its paper population, according to the new estimates, which were made for the purpose of equaliing the draft rather than to represent accurate population totals. Thus New York City, with an estimated population of 6,504,185, must give 43,382 of the 687,000 young men to be called on the first draft. A city with 25,000 population would be required to give 166 men. These apportionments would be subject to slight allowances for alien enemies, for men who have volunteered and for other causes.

Enormous Steel Orders Are Filled

New York.—The most interesting development in the steel industry is the pushing of the government program for the building of ship and railroad equipment, which will require approximately two million tons of steel bars, plates and shapes. According to Washington reports, contracts for eighty thousand freight cars and two thousand locomotives will be very speedily distributed among builders.

Bombed Heart Of Krupp Works

Grand Headquarters of the French Army in France.—The most daring air raid yet carried out against the Krupp munition works at Essen was recounted to a staff correspondent by Sergeant Maxime Galolis, who defied all the German armament producing defenses and bombarded the heart of the German armament-producing factories with high explosives, crossed the German front line twice, flew over many Rhenish cities and reached home scathless. The flight lasted seven hours.

Cantonment Work Profits Not Large

Washington.—A statement denouncing published charges of immense profits in cantonment construction as ridiculous and "extremely pernicious" was issued by Col. I. W. Littell, in charge of cantonment building for the war department. "Under such headings as 'Government Hurting Business,' 'Disturbing the Labor Market,' etc.," said Colonel Littell, "a series of editorials and news items are appearing which are founded almost entirely on falsehood, and the influence of which is extremely pernicious."

GOETHALS HALTS SHIP PROGRAMME

HOLDING UP PLAN TO REQUISITION STEEL MERCHANT SHIPS UNDER CONSTRUCTION.

ISSUE OF AUTHORITY ARISES

To Let Contracts for Building Government-Owned Shipyards Producing Fabricated Steel Ships.

Washington. — The government's merchant shipbuilding programme was halted when Major General Goethals, manager of the shipping board's fleet corporation, postponed his plan to requisition all steel merchant ships under construction and to let contracts for building two government owned shipyards for producing fabricated steel ships.

At General Goethal's office it was said the postponment was due to a request by Chairman Denman, of the shipping board, for a short delay to give the board time to go over the programme. This was denied at the shipping board, although the statement was made that General Goethals had been asked to supply additional information concerning his plans.

Today's development was regarded as bringing to a direct issue the question of who is to have supreme authority in carrying out the building programme—Chairman Denman or Goethals. Authority to spend $750,000,000 for acquiring a great merchant fleet, has been divided in an executive order between the shipping board and its corporation, the board being authorized to acquire vessels by purchase and the corporation to take charge of the building.

In announcing his programme last Friday General Goethals apparently assumed that as manager of the corporation he would be given a free hand, but Mr. Denman, in a statement, assumes responsibility for the shipping board, whose members are directors and stockholders of the corporation.

Officials who have watched the situation develop and who have been concerned lest differences between Chairman Denman and General Goethals hinder the government's shipbuilding plans at a time when every vessel that can be constructed is needed to meet the German submarine menace, declared that President Wilson might be called on to settle the controversy. While the disagreement between the two men appears to be largely over the number and type of wooden vessels to be built, it is no secret among their friends that their differences go deeper than that.

In a letter to Mr. Denman, made public, General Goethals announced that he would start his programme. The fact that he had postponed it was made known after he had received a letter from Mr. Denman. The contents of this letter neither would divulge.

MESSAGES PASS BETWEEN WILSON AND POINCAIRE

Washington.—Messages exchanged by President Wilson and President Poincare of France's great holiday, July 44, the anniversary of the fall of the bastile, were made public by the state department.

President Wilson cabled:

"On this anniversary of the birth of democracy in France, I offer on behalf of my countrymen and on my own behalf fraternal greeting as befits the strong tiese that unite our peoples, who today stand shoulder to shoulder in defense of liberty in testimony of the steadfast purpose of our two countries to achieve victory for the sublime cause of the rights of the people against oppression. The lesson of the bastile is not lost to the world of free peoples. May the day be near when on the ruins of the dark stronghold of unbridled power and conscienceless autocracy a nobler structure, upbuilt like your great republic on the eternal foundations of peace and right, shall arise to gladden an enfranchies world."

President Poincare replied:

"The French people who for three years have made so many heroic sacrifices in the defense of right and liberty will receive in grateful emotion the brotherly message which you, Mr. President, were pleased to send to me or them. We shall be proud to carry on to victory, elbow to elbow, with the great and generous American nation the war which was let loose on the world by the imperialism of our foes in spite of the strenuous efforts which the French republic always exerted to avert so awful a cataclysm. I, like you, have no doubt that the defeat of autocracy and German militarism will at last open a future of industrious peace and prosperity to liberate mankind."

Cantonments Named for Heroes.

Washington.—The names of military heroes, including several Confederate leaders, have been given by the war department to the 32 cantonments in which the national army and the National Guard will be mobilized for training. In announcing the designations the department revealed that the subject had been given consideration by a board of officers, headed by Brigadier-General Kuhn, chief of the war college division. In each case the name selected is that of a man from the section represented by troops concerned

SEEK FEDERAL AID IN ROAD BUILDING

THIRTY-THREE COUNTIES IN ALABAMA AFTER GOVERNMENT APPROPRIATION FOR ROADS.

STATE CAPITAL HAPPENINGS

Doings In and Around the State House Chronicled for Our Readers.

—Montgomery.

Thirty-three counties in Alabama are seeking federal aid in the building of highways and ten of them already have filed with the government at Washington their project statements, showing the work planned with the money to be given by the government and by the interested counties. In the ten counties that already have filed their project statements it is planned to spend more than $624,800.

Ten counties have applied for State aid, according to a report read before the State Highway Commission by State Highway Engineer W. S. Keller. The counties are Butler, Covington, Lowndes, Mobile, Houston, Baldwin, Barbour, Talladega, Lauderdale and Franklin.

The State Commission met for the purpose of receiving the report from Engineer Keller covering the quarter ending June 30. Captain John Craft, of Mobile, was the only member of the commission absent, being detained by important matters at the Gulf City. Those present at the meeting were: Dr. E. A. Smith, of Tuscaloosa; Professor Mitcham, of Auburn; R. E. Spragins, of Huntsville, and J. B. Rylance, of Montgomery.

The Commission approved contracts for work under State aid in Marengo, Greene, Chambers and Clarke counties.

Bootleggers Face Federal Prisons.

Bootleggers in Montgomery are flirting with fines of $1,000 and sentences of a year in a military prison at Leavenworth, Kan., according to information given out at Brigade Headquarters, and the Provost Marshal has been instructed by General Steiner to begin a campaign against the men alleged to be selling whiskey to soldiers.

There has been little compalint of attempts to sell whiskey within the borders o fthe camp, but there has been many reported sales downtown.

Persons arrested for selling liquor to a soldier come within the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts and will be tried before the regular United States Court.

A persistent rumor at Mobilization Camp has it that General Steiner, now a brigadier, will be promoted to a Major Generalship and placed on command o fthe divisional National Guardsmen to come to Montgomery, but up to noon Thursday no official advices had been received from headquarters at Charleston.

Other officers high in rank will be sent to handle the work of the big camp in which will be 35,000 or more soldiers.

Jefferson Official Resigns.

Governor Henderson accepted the resignation of Hugo L. Black as solicitor of Jefferson county immediately after it was received in his office, and it will be effective August 1. No successor will be named by the governor as the court consolidation laws which created a district solicitor for Jefferson county but provided that Solicitor Black should serve out his term did not make any provision for an appointment in the event of his retirement.

Joseph R. Tate, circuit solicitor, who has been acting as Solicitor Black's assistant since the new laws became effective, immediately will become solicitor and the active head of the law enforcement department of Jefferson county. His assistants, whom Mr. Black refused to accept, will aid him. Solicitor Black's resignation merely announced that he would retire from service August 1.

Daniel Paroled By Pardon Board.

The State Pardon Board granted a parole to W. E. Daniel, given a three years sentence by the Jefferson County Court for killing William Ganaway, of Wylam, July, 1910. The case was fought for five years in the Jefferson Courts before Daniels was sentenced on a manslaughter charge.

Representations made to the board indicated that Daniels is the sole support of a young wife and three small children.

Health Officers Can Serve.

A county or municipal health officer who volunteers for army service and puts a man in his place while he is away from home, will, when he returns from the front, resume his old position, according to a resolution adopted Tuesday afternoon by the State Board of Censors, in session at the capitol.

Wallace Again Appointed.

John H. Wallace, Jr., State Game and Fish Commissioner, has been notified by Secretary of Agriculture Houston that he has been again made a member of the Migratory Bird Advisory Board for the year beginning July 1. Mr. Wallace has advised Secretary Houston that he will serve.

Jury Commissioner Named.

Governor Henderson appointed Jas. G. Gilmore as jury commissioner of Pike county.

FARMERS, YOU MUST ACT!

The feed products situation in Chilton County this year is going to be one of enormous proportions, if we are blessed with the proper seasons of rain and sunshine for a little while longer. Our county will produce many times as much corn, velvet beans, and other feed crops as it has ever grown before in a single year.

And in our opinion, nothing could be to our better advantage than just such a condition as this immense feed crop will bring to us. We need to produce more of our farm necessities at home than we have been doing. And it would not be amiss to produce even more than we will this year. We cannot make our farms produce too much.

But it is then necessary to put our products in shape for use. If the farmer utilizes his beans and corn on his own farm, he must have some means of grinding and preparing them for consumption. Or if he commercializes his products, then also, it is necessary for him to have them prepared for the market in a usable form.

Our farmers should be glad of their crops this year. They are going to do better than they have ever done before, if nothing yet happens to prevent. And they seem to be wide awake to the situation. The meeting here in regard to this matter Tuesday was indicative of united and conservative efforts on the parts of the farmers to make the most of the situation.

The first thing necessary after the crops are produced and harvested is to have ample mill facilities for preparing the beans and grain for use or sale. The steps that have already been taken in this direction make a good beginning. It is to be hoped that they will be carried to completion and that no farmer, however much he may produce, will be hampered in the least by a lack of milling facilities for preparing his products for use.

THAT GOOD FELLOW

Yes, he brought it Monday morning, and bless Pat, it was not just one, but two. We had a nice tale fixed up to tell our readers about the splendid man who brought us the first big luscious watermelon—but here he comes with two big ones, and just completely knocks the whole yarn out of us. This is written before the feast has taken place. When the editor takes off his coat and hat, puts aside his pipe and "specks" and gets his head buried up to the ears in a big red "rasher" he may think of something appropriate to say on the occasion. But anyway, the good friend who brought the coveted treasure is none other than that well-known and justly famous fellow citizen, Jody Lansford of Flakto. Here's to you, Jody—watermelon juice.

ARTISTIC WALLS AND CEILINGS

The trend of interior decorations in modern homes is simplicity and harmony of color effects, restful and artistic combinations to blend perfectly with the entire furnishings of a room. Gaudy wall-papering and other materials have been superseded by Flat Oil Paints, such as Pee-Gee Flatkoatt. This is now extensively used in the finest residences, public and private institutions and fills the ever increasing demand for a durable, sanitary, artistic finish for walls and ceilings.

With PEE-GEE FLATKOATT you can carry out most any color scheme you bear in mind. It is made in 24 deep, rich, velvety, permanent colors. Another advantage of PEE-GEE FLATKOATT is that it is absolutely sanitary. It becomes part of the wall and can be easily cleaned with water and soap. For this reason it is extremely economical, because it does away with the inconvenience and expense of frequent redecorating.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.— Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days ...I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go...I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle...I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. E 78

How many pounds to a ton—2000 or 1500?

HOW many pounds of real roughage are you getting to a ton? If you are buying old style hulls you are getting about 1500 pounds because they are about one-fourth lint which has no food value.

If you are buying

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

you are getting 2000 full pounds because they are free from lint and are practically 100 percent roughage. Try them and see how much farther they go.

Other Advantages

Cost much less per ton than old style hulls.
Allow better assimilation of other food.
No trash or dust.
Sacked—easy to handle.
They mix well with other forage.

Mr. W. C. Owens, Charlotte, N. C.,

feeds thirty cows. He considers Buckeye Hulls the cheapest feed and gets the best results.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

IMMIGRATION —and the L&N

POPULATION—men and women of integrity, and ability to create and develop—is essential to the prosperity of every country.

Realizing this, the L. & N. has maintained for a number of years a thoroughly equipped and efficiently managed Department of Immigration and Industry.

No section of the globe is more pregnant with rich natural resources than the balmy, fertile South. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended by the L. & N. to induce immigration of the highest type to come to the South to develop and increase property values, and create those social and community interests which make life worth while.

AFTER these immigrants come South the L. & N. supplies men expert in every line of farming, cattle and poultry raising, fruit and berry culture, mining, manufacturing, merchandising—in fact everything from tick eradication to locating a factory site—to confer with and advise the immigrants in the best uses of Southern facilities and opportunities.

This L. & N. service is not confined to new arrivals, but demonstration cars and excursions are conducted throughout the entire L. & N. territory and all interested may attend and gain the benefits.

The service, which is free to the people, is cheerfully paid for by the L. & N., because the L. & N. knows the development and prosperity of the South means the development and prosperity of the L. & N. The interests of the L. & N. and the interests of the South are mutual.

SHE FEELS LIKE WRITING A BOOK

Would Publish Broadcast the Good Tanlac Did, So Others Could Know About It.

GAINED FIFTEEN POUNDS

"I Wouldn't Take All the Money in Memphis for the Good Tanlac Has Done Me," Says Mrs. Bond.

"If the people in this city realized what Tanlac did for me, you'd sell ten thousand bottles here tomorrow," said Mrs. Mattie C. Bond, 510 Mosby street, Memphis, Tenn., recently.

"I suffered ten years," she continued, "and was just about as near a physical wreck as a person could be. I had trouble with my kidneys and stomach and got to where I had to live on the very lightest food and could eat very little of that. The pains in my stomach were awful. I was extremely nervous and couldn't sleep and was seldom free from headaches. I felt tired all the time and was easily irritated and worried. I lost a great deal of weight and finally got so weak and rundown I could hardly drag myself around. My color was bad too, and I was finally told I would have to go to the hospital and be operated on. All the medicine I had taken seemed to make me worse instead of better.

"I have actually gained fifteen pounds on Tanlac and I feel like a new woman in every way. I can just eat anything I want and everything agrees with me perfectly. Honestly I wouldn't take all the money in Memphis for the good Tanlac did me. I have no more pains about my back or stomach and am not nervous like I was and I sleep fine every night. I don't know what it is to have a headache now and all the tired, bad feelings have left me and have taken with them that dread of an operation. Tanlac has done me so much good I can hardly keep back the tears of gratitude, and I feel like writing a book on Tanlac and sending it broadcast, where it will reach those who suffer like I did, so they will know about this wonderful medicine."

There is a Tanlac dealer in your town.—Adv.

The Hearing.

By far the biggest part of the hearing we do is done with our ears. We hear at eve the thrush with our ears and the milkman in the morning. Then there is the other sort of hearing that we do quite a bit, and could do just as well without ears.

"I hear the Jonses haven't spoken to each other for a week!" Lots of hearing of this sort is done. The way people like to hear! We hear this and we hear that. The amount of real hearing that was done in the first place would have left the Jonses' reputation in fairly good order.

An enterprising real estate dealer, in addition to the view or the healthfulness of a community, might advertise the hearing. Next to being heard people like to hear.—Exchange.

FOR BETTER ROADS

HARD ROADS ARE NECESSARY

Big Essential in Using Trucks for Transportation of Farm Products to City Markets.

The farm truck is destined to play an important part in the marketing of farm produce, but in the meantime much attention must be paid to the roadways over which they are to be operated, in the opinion of W. H. Sanders, instructor in farm motors in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"To use a truck to advantage hard roads are necessary," said Mr. Sanders. "Trucks have been used with marked success for a number of years on paved streets. Although they were used to transport food and water to the United States troops during the recent occupation of Mexico, the war department soon decided that hard roads were a requirement in operating trucks to the best advantage.

"Use of a truck on the farm saves time and reduces the number of men required to do the farm hauling. When a truck is operated on the farm greater care will be used in laying out the fields so as to give a more efficient use of power expended. Time will be saved, because less time will be spent on the road between town and the farm. The number of farm hands will also be reduced."

PERMANENT ROADS IN FAVOR

Money Spent for Location, Grading and Drainage of Roads Is Useful Expenditure.

Investing money in the proper location, grading and drainage of roads is about the most permanently useful expenditure of public funds that can be made. Usually courthouses are considered typical of such an investment, but a well-located road is serviceable for a far longer period. The courthouse is outgrown at the end of a quarter century; if it continues in use longer it must be remodeled and the public officials in it clamor for better quarters. But a road laid out on proper lines and grades serves the public forever, and on that account its location should be made by a competent engineer. Furthermore, even the local roads should be laid out with the same care, so that as the country develops they will improve with it and not require expensive purchases for new rights-of-way. Foresight in such matters will have valuable results within a comparatively few years in a country growing as fast as the United States.

FIRST ROAD UNDER U. S. AID

Will Be Located in Apache National Forest, Arizona—Several Advantages of Highway.

The first national forest road to be constructed under the federal aid act will be located in the Apache National forest, Arizona, a survey for which has been authorized by Secretary Houston. The proposed road will be 71 miles in length and cost about $342,500, to be borne equally by the federal government and the local community. Among the advantages of the highway will be the opening up of enormous industrial resources and a magnificent recreation area for tourist travel.

Influence of Automobile.

The influence of the automobile upon road improvement is constant and omnipresent. It reaches the remotest rural regions and tends to convert bad roads into good and good roads into better.

Cost Is $800 a Mile.

The average cost for repair and maintenance of 7,300 miles of highway in Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey and Rhode Island for the year 1912 was about $800 a mile.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR JULY 22

SENNACHERIB IN DAYS OF JUDAH.

LESSON TEXT—II Kings 19:20-22, 28-37.

GOLDEN TEXT—God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.—Psa. 46:1.

Last week's lesson was a great picture of the reform of the nation. Today we have another picture which needs to be carefully put before the children. It is a national picture of a ruler and the invasion of his country. In reality it reveals the principles which are the same today, and which affect the lives of boys and girls as well as men; the dangers, temptations, the need of prayer, the need of a life of faith in God, the care of a heavenly father, deliverance and victory. It is a great thing for any nation or any individual to have such a marvelous experience of God's salvation. It occurred probably B. C. 701, the latter part of Hezekiah's reign. Assyria on the north was enlarging its borders and seeking to overcome Judea. Read parallel accounts in II Kings 18; II Chron. 32 and Isa. 36:37. We have on the Taylor cylinder an account by Sennacherib of the victory over Hezekiah, found in Nineveh in 1830 and now in the British museum.

I. The Situation. When the great Sargon died at Nineveh, the Syrian governments sought to assert their independence. It was a good time for Hezekiah also to assert his independence. Accordingly they refused to pay the customary tribute to Assyria. For a time Sennacherib was too busy attending to other portions of the empire to pay much attention to the city of Jerusalem. Later, however, he subdued the cities on the coast and threatened Egypt itself.

II. The Supplication (vv. 20-22). God does things because we pray. There was more power in Hezekiah's prayer than there was in his army. Through his prayers he laid 185,000 of his enemies in the grave. Hezekiah's God saved his people out of the hand of Sennacherib (v. 19), God did it. One great reason why he heard Hezekiah's prayer was because it was for God's own glory that Hezekiah asked (v. 19). One great reason why so many of our prayers are not answered is because they are selfish—seeking our own gratification and not God's honor (James 4:3 R. V.). Rending his clothes and putting on sackcloth, Hezekiah went to the house of God while his messengers sought out the prophet Isaiah. From II Chron. 32:20 we find that Isaiah joined with Hezekiah in his earnest prayer (Matt. 18:19, 20), thus the king and prophet worked as well as prayed. They showed their faith by their work (James 2:17, 18). At the same time they waited upon God for an answer, not because God was unwilling to bestow good things, or must be importuned, but that his gifts may bring the greater benefit. He sometimes delays his answer, thereby fitting us to receive them because of the intensity of our desire and to appreciate the things he has to bestow. God is as ready to say to us as to Hezekiah, "Thy prayer is heard," if we will not meet the conditions of prevailing prayer (I John 3:22; I John 5:14; Rom. 8:26,27).

III. God's Glorious Deliverance (vv. 23-37). God permitted the Assyrians to attack and they thus imagined they were having their own will and could do as they pleased, but when his "rod" had done its work, they found the difference. The God against whom they raved guided them as with a "bridle" and turned them back to Assyria. Sennacherib considered himself more than a match for God (Ch. 18:23-25) but had to return like a conquered beast of burden with God's "hook" in his nose and bridle on his lips. God allows the enemies of his people to go a certain length in order that his people may be humbled and seek him. Then he puts forth his hand and says, "This far and no further." Jehovah gives us the same promise he gave Hezekiah, "I will defend this city." Is not the city of Jerusalem that God defends more safe than a city defended by an army? (Psa. 46:5, 6; 27:1). God had promised David that his kingdom should not perish, for in it lay the hope of the world and his plans for the redemption of mankind. Not because of the people did God defend the city, but because of his oath. This is a most dramatic picture, the mysterious destruction of the Assyrian army (vv. 35, 36). The Lord sent his angel, literally his "messenger," who applied his own plan for the accomplishment of his purpose.

There is a sort of a grim irony in the ending of Sennacherib's career. He who had so defiantly asked, "Who are they among all the gods of the country that have delivered their country out of mine hand," is led back to the house of his own god whom he imagines to be so potent to worship and in that very presence is slain by the hands of one of his own sons. The importance of this event is shown by the fact that it is referred to in three books of the Bible and probably referred to another, occupying seven or eight chapters, besides being recorded on the great cylinder to which reference is made.

WHAT CAN WE DO?

After an auxiliary of the Red Cross has secured a permanent place of meeting and has equipped it as a workroom, the next thing to do is to determine just what kind of work the auxiliary will undertake to do. If it is decided to make surgical dressings and hospital supplies, it must be remembered that these include many different things which must be made according to very definite specifications and up to certain set standards. Most hospital and surgical supplies are the product of needlework and the sewing machine. They include pajamas, bathrobes, sheets, pillow cases, different sorts of bandages, compresses, gauze rolls, wipes or sponges, and gauze drains.

The auxiliary should organize a class in the preparation of surgical dressings and employ a qualified instructor to teach the correct methods for making all surgical dressing. Members of the class, having taken the course, will be in position to instruct others and supervise the work of volunteers.

A portion of the money received for membership fees may be used for paying for the services of an instructor. In many communities women in sufficiently good circumstances have taken the course at their own expense, and afterward donated their services, instructing classes in the work of making surgical dressings. Upon completion of the course a certificate is issued to those who pass the examination qualifying them to become instructors, and a card certifying to this is issued by the bureau of nursing service. The bureau furnishes also a circular of information concerning the conduct of classes and their examination. Further and full information concerning the course in the preparation of surgical dressings and the formation of classes will be furnished upon application by addressing

Bureau of Nursing Service,

A good many weeks before they will be needed, simple dresses for school wear next fall, make their appearance. Those for the younger girls, just presented, are very plain and present about the minimum in the word of making. But they are smartly cut, and have a few new and noteworthy points in their make-up.

One of these early models for fall is pictured here, and it is suited to any of the familiar wool materials, or to heavy cottons. It is cut in one piece, with two single box plaits at the back and at the front. A short sash of the material of the dress is fastened at each side under one of the front plaits, brought to the back and looped over. The sleeves are long, and large at the top, and the skirt is cut with an outward flare. It is somewhat longer than knee length, and without trimming of any kind. The dress buttons at the front and has a short "V" shaped opening at the throat. It is shown with a white pique collar, as plain as the dress, but collars of thinner materials, like organdie or dimity, finished with very narrow crocheted edging, might be substituted for pique. In the interest of preparedness a variety of easily handled collars for the schoolgirl are to be furnished with a few substantial dresses; for fresh and pretty collars contribute daintiness and something of variety to the schoolgirl's dress.

Now that everyone is asked to help to conserve wool, it is not out of place to suggest that wool dresses that have been discarded by grown-up members of the family should be handed down to the younger girls and remodeled into schooldresses and frocks for everyday wear. Even though there is no need to economize, so far as the family is concerned, it is patriotic to make use of discarded woolen dresses in some way. If they are not needed at home, no one will have to go far to find a place where they can be used to the best advantage. Some women hoard clothes and other belongings which they cannot use, rather than to give them away. This is always stupid, but just now it is considerably worse than stupid.

SIMPLE DRESSES FOR SCHOOL WEAR.

Reducing Waistline.

While these are the days of the Venus de Milo waists, still there are some women with waists that need reducing. A good exercise for the purpose is as follows: Placing the hands on the hips, bend the trunk forward and stretch the arms down until the fingertips touch the floor. Exhale as you bend down and inhale as you straighten up. Repeat this exercise four or five times daily.

Wide Belts of Ribbon.

Wide ribbons can hardly be too wide, indeed wide enough to form the belt, which reaches from the waist to bust and goes under the arms. Vivid greens and pinks and reds often assert themselves somewhere in a young girl's toilette. Such ribbons also border skirts.

A Pinked Sport Hat.

Worn with a suit of beige jersey was a smart little sports cloche made entirely of row after row of pinked white broadcloth with navy silk showing through the pinked edge. A tiny blue silk bow finished the crown front.

A Touch of Color.

Wash blouses showing trimming contrast often give the home dressmaker ideas for color combinations that lift a blouse out of the ordinary. An expensive blouse seen recently was a sky-blue handkerchief linen. All the seams were hemstitched. Its decoration was a frill about 4 inches wide of white down the front, a sailor collar and turned-back flaring cuffs of white organdie. The collar had two rows of narrow lace, one on the edge, one a half-inch inside. The front frill was run into horizontal short tucks from the point of the collar to the belt, and the edges left free formed little ruffles edged with a bordering of valenciennes lace the same width as the collar. The cuffs had two rows of creamy val spaced like the collar.

A Student of Publicity.

"There is a time and a place for everything."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum sadly; "and it's rather unfortunate that one of the most reliable ways to attain publicity is to say something at the wrong time in the wrong place."

Lemons Beautify! Make Quarter Pint of Lotion, Cheap

Here is told how to prepare an inexpensive lemon lotion which can be used to bring back to any skin the sweet freshness, softness, whiteness and beauty.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands, and see for yourself. Adv.

Just Talk.

"The Huns," said a government official at luncheon, "talk big about a war indemnity and annexation, but they don't mean what they say. They just hope by their big talk in the beginning to make a better bargain in the end.

"The Huns are like the chap who entered the banker's office and said:

"'Pardon me, but are you carrying sufficient life insurance to satisfy your conscience?'

"'I am,' said the banker, shortly.

"'Could I interest you, then, sir, in a player piano with electrical attachment at a thousand dollars?'

"'You could not.'

"'What about a gold-mounted talking machine in satinwood case, reduced to seven hundred and fifty dollars?'

"'Nothing doing.'

"'I wonder, sir, if an unexpurgated set of E. P. Roe, full levant morocco, blind tooled, going at five hundred dollars, dirt cheap, would appeal to you?'

"'No, it wouldn't.'

"'Want to buy a filing cabinet, sir?'

"'No.'

"'Ahem. Then what would you say to this five-cent stick of shaving soap—a nickel stick of shaving soap, just to get rid of me? Anything doing, sir?'

"'My goodness, yes! Here! Take this.'

"'Thank you, sir, and good day.'"

MRS. KIESO SICK SEVEN MONTHS

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Aurora, Ill.—"For seven long months I suffered from a female trouble, with severe pains in my back and sides until I became so weak I could hardly walk from chair to chair, and got so nervous I would jump at the slightest noise. I was entirely unfit to do my housework, I was giving up hope of ever being well, when my sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and today I am a healthy woman able to do my own housework. I wish every suffering woman would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and find out for themselves how good it is."—Mrs. CARL A. KIESO, 596 North Ave., Aurora, Ill.

SOME STRANGE INDIAN NAMES

That Red Man's Cognomens Retain Picturesqueness Is Shown by Those Figuring in Recent Land Sale.

That Indian names still possess their early strength and picturesqueness is shown by the names that figured prominently in the recent sale of Indian lands in the Standing Rock reservation in North and South Dakota.

An inspection of the list reveals such names as Kate Good Crow, whose nearest neighbor is Barney Two Bears, Mary Yellow Fat adjoins Melda Crowghost, while Mrs. Crazy Walking, on the southeast quarter of section 19,23-25, has probably reached the state indicated by her name by being in the same section with Elk Ghost.

Mary Lean Dog rather envies Agatha Big Shield her aristocratic name. In like manner, Jennie Dog Man and Mary Shave Head may be all too willing to assume on short notice the heroic name borne by Morris Thundershield, heir apparent to Long Step Thundershield.

Mrs. Did Not Butcher, judging from her name, is in no condition to supply the wants for her nearest neighbor, Mrs. Frosted Red Fish, who lives on a half section, not far from Helen Difficult.

And on festal days there gather such notables as Francis Many Horses, Joseph Shoot the Bear, Mrs. Stanton Grindstone, Mrs. No Two Horns, Pius Broguth, Good Voice Elk, See the Bear, Married to Santee, Her Holy Road, Tiberius Many Wounds, Pius Shoot First and Shave on One Side.

"Right at the head of the class," was the boastful reply. "The teacher told me that if the class were turned upside down I'd be at the head, and it certainly was upside down this morning, because we didn't study or do anything but shoot paper wads, whisper and act up."—Indianapolis News.

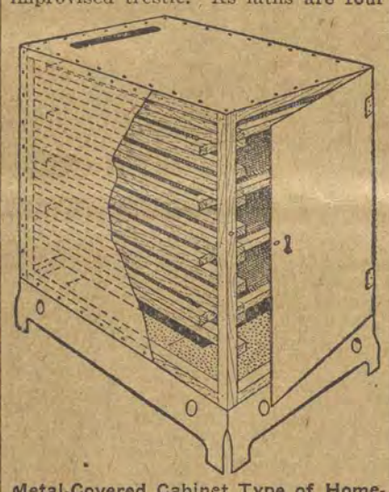
DRYING IN THE SUN

Have All Fruits and Vegetables Properly Prepared.

SIMPLE APPARATUS FOR WORK

Bright, Hot Sunny Days Are Best, and Close Watch Should Be Kept That Rain or Dew Does Not Hit Product—Avoid Insects.



(From FARMERS' BULLETIN 841, United States Department of Agriculture.)

The drying of fruits and vegetables in the sun is a simple process if they have been prepared properly. In its simplest form such drying consists in spreading the freshly prepared slices or pieces on sheets of paper, or, if there is danger of the product's sticking, spreading on old pieces of muslin held down with stones. Bright, hot, sunny days are chosen for this work, and a close watch is kept to see that no rain or dew wets the product. If flies and other insects are abundant, a mosquito bar is thrown over the product. Once or twice a day the slices are stirred or turned over with the hand and the thin ones which dry first are taken out. Sun drying has much to recommend it, since it requires no expenditure of fuel and there is little danger of the product becoming overheated. Dust, however, gathers on the product, and, unless it is protected carefully, flies, and especially certain insects which habitually attack dried fruits, will lay their eggs upon it. These eggs later will hatch out, and the worms, or larvae, will riddle the dried fruits or vegetables, rendering them unfit for the table.

Trays of Uniform Size.

Fruits and vegetables, when dried in the sun, generally are spread on large trays of uniform size, so constructed that they can be stacked one on top of the other and protected from rain by means of a cover made of oilcloth, canvas or roofing paper.

A very cheap tray can be made of strips of lumber three-fourths of an inch thick and two inches wide, which form the sides and ends, and lath, which is nailed on to form the bottom. Spaces one-eighth inch wide should be left between the laths for ventilation, and the traps can be raised off the ground by placing them on poles or an improvised trestle. As laths are four feet long, these lath trays are most economical of material when made four feet in length.

Better but more expensive trays can be made by substituting galvanized-wire screen, one-eighth or one-fourth inch mesh, for the laths, in which case the most economical size would depend upon the width of the wire screen obtainable.

A cheap and very satisfactory drier for use over the kitchen stove can be made by any handy boy or carpenter from a small amount of small-mesh galvanized-wire netting and a number of laths or strips of wood about one-half inch thick and two inches wide. The screen may be tacked directly on the framework to make the drying shelves, or the framework can be made to support separate trays. By using two laths nailed together, the framework can be stiffened and larger trays made if desirable. This form or any of the lighter makes of driers can be suspended from the ceiling over the kitchen range or over the oil, gasoline or gas stove, and it will utilize the hot air which rises during the cooking hour. It can be raised out of the way or swung to one side by a crane made of lath when the stove is required for cooking purposes, and lowered or swung back to utilize the heat which otherwise would be wasted when the top of the stove is not in use.

Another homemade cookstove drier can be used on a wood or coal range or a kerosene stove can be made easily and cheaply. Dimensions: Base 24 by 16 inches; height 36 inches. A base six inches high is made of galvanized sheet iron. This base slightly flares toward the bottom and has two small openings for ventilation in each of the four sides. On the base rests a boxlike frame made of 1 or 1½-inch strips of wood. The two sides are braced with 1¼-inch strips which serve as cleats on which the trays in the drier rest. These are placed at intervals of three inches. The frame is covered with tin or galvanized sheet iron which is tacked to the wooden strips of the frame. Thin strips of wood may be used instead of tin or sheet iron. The door is fitted on small hinges and fastened with a thumb latch. It opens wide, so that the trays can be removed easily. The bottom of the drier is made of a piece of perforated galvanized sheet iron. Two inches above the bottom is placed a solid sheet of galvanized iron which is three inches less in length and width than the bottom. This sheet rests on two wires fastened to the sides of the drier. This prevents the direct heat from coming in contact with the product and serves as a radiator to spread the heat more evenly.

The first tray is placed three inches above the radiator. The trays rest on the cleats three inches apart. A drier of the given dimensions will hold eight trays. The frame of the tray is made of one-inch strips on which is tacked galvanized screen wire, which forms the bottom of the tray. The tray is 21 by 15 inches, making it three inches less in depth than the drier. The lowest tray, when placed in the drier, is pushed to the back, leaving the three-inch space in front. The next tray is placed even with the front, leaving a three-inch space in the back. The other trays alternate in the same way. This permits the current of heated air to pass around and over the trays. A ventilator opening, about two inches wide and six inches long, is left in the top of the drier, through which the moist air may pass away.

This principle of construction is followed so that currents of air will pass over the product as well as up through it, gathering the moisture and passing away. The movement of the current of air induces a more rapid and uniform drying. The upper trays can be shifted to the lower part of the drier, and the lower trays to the upper part as drying proceeds, so as to dry the products uniformly throughout.

Another Home Drier.

Still another home drier is the cookstove oven. Bits of food, leftovers, especially sweet corn, can be dried on plates in a very slow oven or on the back of the cookstove and saved for winter use. If the oven is very warm, the door should be left ajar and the temperature of the oven often noted. Trays for use in the oven can be made from a convenient-sized galvanized wire screen by bending up the edges one or two inches.

Cookstove driers on the market are of two types. One type consists of a series of trays upon which the material to be dried is spread. These trays are placed in a framework one above the other, forming a compartment through which the heated air rises, carrying off the moisture. The second type consists of a shallow flat metal box filled with water and designed so that one end can rest on the back of the stove and the other on a leg reaching to the floor. It also may be supported over a lamp.

Use of Electric Fan.

The use of an electric fan in facilitating drying is feasible for those who already own a fan. It has been found that many sliced vegetables and fruits placed in long trays three by one foot and stacked in two tiers, end to end, before an electric fan can be dried to the requisite dryness within twenty-four hours. Some require much less time. For instance, sliced string beans and shredded sweet potatoes will dry before a fan running at a moderate speed within a few hours. In many cities the electric fan will cost not more than one-fourth of a cent an hour to run. The fan should be placed close to the stack of trays, and they should not be filled so full that the air cannot pass freely through them. The fan method has a marked advantage in that the product keeps cool owing to evaporation while it is being dried, thus tending to retain the color and eliminate spoilage.

CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK, UGH! IT'S MERCURY AND SALIVATES

Straighten Up! Don't Lose a Day's Work! Clean Your Sluggish Liver and Bowels With "Dodson's Liver Tone."

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. Take a dose of the vile, dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you feel sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store or dealer and get a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it cannot salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.—Adv.

ONE FISH IS SOLD FOR $329

Return of Sturgeon to Delaware River Surprising, as It Was Thought to Have Been Exterminated.

Sturgeon fishing in the Delaware river and bay has showed a surprising improvement over past years in the number of catches and size of the fish, the Philadelphia Record states. Old river men are mystified by the return of the sturgeon, as it was thought these big fish has been about exterminated. Recently a number of exceptionally big fish were caught, some averaging well above 200 pounds and a few 300-pound sturgeon have also been caught.

The cow sturgeon are just now filled with roe and some of the big ones yield from 90 to 100 pounds, selling at $2.75 a pound at the wharves. One fisherman who brought in a 300-pound sturgeon last week was paid $305 for the roe and $24 for the fish, his catch netting him $329.

Harry A. Dalbow of Pennsgrove, who has been buying caviar here for many years, says that this is one of the best sturgeon seasons in the bay he has seen for a long time. There is a big demand for the roe this year, as importations of caviar from Russia, where sturgeon are caught extensively, have been cut off by the war.

How It Started.

"Who is that man who just spoke to you?"

"I don't know."

"But he spoke as though he knew you."

"Perhaps he does. I may have met him somewhere, but I don't recall his name."

"That's queer. Men don't usually speak to other men unless they know them. Perhaps he's someone you're ashamed to let me know you know."

"I tell you the man is a stranger to me. He may be a minister of the gospel for all I know."

"That isn't very likely. The few ministers you've ever met you could remember easily enough. It's more likely he's a gambler or a barkeeper."

"Great Scott, woman!"

"Oh, there's no use losing your temper. I'm just a poor fool of a woman, not supposed to know anything or have any sense at all, but just the same I'm thoroughly convinced you're hiding something from me."

Joke on Mother.

Returning home one afternoon, little Richard's mother found him apparently in great pain. Careful questioning failed to disclose the cause of the lad's suffering. Previous experience told the mother that Richard probably was in need of that oil so unpopular with children, and she proceeded to administer a generous portion despite the crying resistance of Richard. A few minutes later the boy appeared, apparently in great glee.

"I've got a joke on mother—I've got a joke on mother," he cried.

Members of the family were curious, of course.

"Mother thought I was sick and gave me oil, but I got the toothache," he exclaimed between laughs.

Richard's earlier reticence was due to dread of the dentist's chair.—Indianapolis News.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription othine — double strength — is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

Mr. Ira Billingsly was in Birmingham last week looking after business affairs.

Thorsby Barber Shop has moved to new quarters back of the postoffice in the Masonic Building.

The Catalogue of Thirsby Institute is in the printer's hands, and will be issued within the next week or ten days.

The First Cavalry Regiment camped in Thorsby last Wednesday night on their hike to Montgomery. Their camping place on the Institute ground drew many visitors during the day, who wanted to see what soldier life was really like. A feature of the afternoon was the lowering of the Institute flag shortly before sunset, while the bugles sounded "retreat" and the soldiers stood in salute. A goodly number of the soldier boys attended the prayer meeting at the Congregational Church that night, and some lingered for half an hour after the prayer meeting and enjoyed themselves singing gospel hymns.

The peach growers of Thorsby are beginning to ship their peaches, which are said to be as fine as have ever been grown here.

Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, Mrs. Alice McLane, Misses Agnes Gerald, Olga Soberg, Lillian Pate, and Messrs C. E. Woodham, Walter Martin took the teahcers examination in Clanton this week.

CLANTON LOCALS

If you notice a walking stick about your store or place of business, and don't know who it belongs to, please tell W. W. Fox about it, and let him see if it is his. He lost one Wednesday.

Enoch Foshee of Beat 1 was in town Monday in the interest of the road situation. Mr. Foshee is the overseer of the roads in that Beat now.

W. F. DeShazo of Maplesville was in town Monday in attendance at Commissioners court.

A big delegation from Cooper was here Monday in the interest of matters connected with the county road law.

J. P. Rushing a good old friend of The Union-Banner, from near Verbena, was here Monday on business.

FOUND DEAD IN BED

News reached Clanton Wednesday morning that Mr. Aaron Littleton, whose home was at Thorsby, was found by members of his family, early Wednesday morning, dead in bed. It was not stated what was thought to have caused his sudden death. Mr. Littleton was an old and highly respected citizen.

Young Women Awaiting The Great Crisis

Of all the vital times in life, the birth of a baby is the climax of nature's most wonderful evolution. After a period of anxious waiting, the hour arrives for the advent of a new life. Nature must be aided during this waiting period if the pain and danger of the crisis is to be avoided.

Three generations have found great relief from the many discomforts of approaching motherhood, by the safe, time-honored massage, "Mother's Friend".

It gently softens every fibre, cord, tendon and ligament. The drawn skin becomes soft and elastic. Tension and strain upon the expanding abdominal muscles is relieved when baby arrives; morning sickness or nausea usually is not felt and the crisis is passed with infinitely less pain and danger.

"Mother's Friend" has been used by expectant mothers with the greatest success for over forty years.

Get a bottle from the druggist today and write the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. E, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., for a valuable book brimful of useful information. The book will be mailed to you without charge. Do not by any means neglect to begin the use of "Mother's Friend"; the preparation is undoubtedly a real and wonderful aid to nature in her work.

Report of the Treasurer of Chilton County.

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME VI. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., JULY 26, 1917. NUMBER 17

CHILTON COUNTY MEN IN THE FIRST DRAFT

List of Names of First Division Who will be Called Before Exemption Board.

First 240 Numbers Drawn in Washington Last Friday will be Called For the first Examination.

Chilton County will have to furnish 120 men for the first division of the conscripted army. These 120 will come out of the first of the numbers in the lottery at Washington last Friday.

The first call provides for summoning twice the number of men necessary to fill the required quota. Therefore, the first 240 men drawn in Chilton County will be the first summoned to appear before the local exemption board for this county for examination.

If the 120 men needed are not gotten out of the first 240 which are summoned, the law provides for additional calls to be made of the men next drawn down the line, and they will be examined and accepted or exempted till the required number is obtained.

Below follows the numbers and the names of the first 240 men in Chilton County which were drawn at Washington. The list is not official, but it is fairly accurate. It gives a reasonably reliable idea of the place of each man in the order. It is the most authentic list obtainable until the official reports of the drawing are sent out from the army headquarters at Washington.

CLANTON, ALA.

ELOQUENT TRIBUTE IS PAID TO SPIRIT OF UNITED STATES ARMY

Democracy Kindred to that in French Force, says High Officer.

At the permanent American base in France. July 21.—Here is the most eloquent tribute I have yet heard for America and its army. It comes from a high French officer:

"The Democracy of the American army is kindred to ours. Your men and our men follow, are not driven into battle. Your officers and our officers direct their soldiers; they do not bully them. The mutual man to man understanding in service sweeps away rank. In the French army are ex-Ministers of State, renowned scientists, artists and captains of industry. In the American expeditionary forces there are ex-ambassadors, millionaires, two sons of the ex-president and two sons of a general.

"Your leading business men are gladly fighting for America. Your army ideals are similar to ours. We respect and admire the English, Italians and Russians as brothers in arms, but the Americans in addition, we love as brothers at heart. The world's two greatest republics, assisted by their allies, will insure the triumph of democracy over autocracy."

NON RESIDENT NOTICE

State of Alabama, Chilton Cohnty. Probate Court, July 18, 1917

In the matter of the estate of Avrilla Abrams, deceased, to Alberta Mosley, non resident of the State of Alabama.

Whereas, H. A. Harris, as administrator of the estate of Avrilla Abrams, deceased, has filed his petition in writing under oath in said Court, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate, described in said petition, for paying the debts due by said estate, upon the grounds that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts, and the 20 day of August, 1917, has been appointed for the hearing of said petition:

You are therefore, hereby commanded to appear before the said Court on said day to contest said petition if you think proper.

Witness my hand, this 18 day of July, 1917.

L. H. REYNOLDS,

REVIVAL AT UNITY

We are requested to announce that there will be a revival meeting at Unity, 1½ miles from Clanton on the Lock 12 highway, beginning on the Third Sunday in August, and continuing for ten days. The services are to be conducted by two of the ablest Baptist preachers in this county, Rev. W. P. Lowery and Rev. Ben Hughes. Everybody is urged to attend.

The record of these two able preachers warrants us in saying that it will be many times worth your while to go and hear them.

STATE SOLDIERS TO EAT HOME GROWN PRODUCTS IN CAMP

Farmers will list Crops with Food Bureau, which go to Quartermaster.

Soldiers in training in Alabama camps will have an opportunity to eat Alabama grown products.

This has been made possible by the Food Preparedness Bureau, through the efforts of John H. Frye, Chairman. Alabama farmers will be expected to list their salable products with the bureau of the central office, Chamber of Commerce Building, Birmingham, T. P. Hay, Jr., Secretary. These lists will carry prices and will be sent in printed form to the Quartermaster's Department. All farmers should apply for blanks for making their list at the Birmingham office of the Bureau.

Though formal announcement of this work has just been made by the Food Preparedness Bureau, a number of applications for blanks have been made for the suggestion that such a move be undertaken. It is believed that when this service has become generally known to the farmers of the state, a large per cent of the available crops will have been tabulated.

A conference with Captain Carlton Friday in Montgomery, at which Secretary Hay offered the services of the Bureau in assisting in assembling food products for the soldiers in Alabama camps, brought out the knowledge of the fact that food for all Southern camps is being purchased and assembled in the two army depots in Atlanta and New Orleans.

Captain Carlton advised Secretary Hay that when farmers have listed their products and tabulations made, the printed lists be filed with the army depots in Atlanta and New Orleans, thereby furnishing information to the Quartermaster's divisions of various camps as to where products in various parts of the State may be bought.

The Bureau has been commended for this undertaking, since it is believed that the plan will afford a ready market; for a number of largely increased crops in the State at this season is supplying fresh products on short hauls to the soldiers in Alabama camps.

On learning that sweet potatoes are not on the list of contract foodstuffs for the army, the Bureau telegraphed to Senator Oscar Underwood, requesting him to use his influence in getting this product included in the army list.

MEXICO TO GET LOAN

Uncle Sam to Advance Southern Republic Big Loan, is Report.

Mexico City, July 21.—Mexico soon is to obtain a loan from the United States, it is rumored in official circles today. It is understood the amount will be between $30,000,000 and $50,000,000, and that part of it will be used to establish a bank.

NORTH CAROLINA MAN HAS 5 OF HIS 6 SONS IN FIRST DRAFT

Durham, N. C., Juyl 21.—Five of the six sons of C. C. White, prominent Durham tobacco man, were drawn in yesterday's draft lottery and probably none will claim exemption, it was said here today.

DOCTORS' MEETING

All doctors who are in the active practice of their profession, regardless of their intention to offer their service to the government, are hereby requested to attend a meeting at Clanton, Wednesday, August the First, at 10, A.M.

Dr. McConnico of the medical reserve corps of the United States army will be present to make a talk on the workings of Medical Reserve Corps and to examine applicants. If you desire to join, come prepared for examination.

M[illegible]SANT

Reynolds, Adv.

Dear Editor: Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words.

Health is very good at present. The farmers are about done laying by their crops, for the rain says it is time to quit plowing.

The singing here was enjoyed by a large crowd. We had with us Prof. R. A. Smith.

The prayer meeting is just doing fine. The house is always crowded.

The revival meeting will start at this place on July 28th.

Mr. George Sorrells and family from Birmingham spent the week in this community.

Mr. Jim Jones and wife spent a few days with Mr. Buck Kelley.

Mr. Jno. Mc. Foshee and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones went to Birmingham last Saturday and returned Sunday p.m.

Mr. John Jones of Woodlawn is spending some time with J. Wiley Foshee.

GENERAL PERSHING STARTS ON TOUR OF BRITISH FRONT

American Commander to be Guest of Sir Duglas Haig.

Paris, July 21.—Major General Pershing, the American Commander, with two staff officers, left Paris yesterday on his first visit to the British front. The American officers will be the guests of Sir Douglas Haig, the British commander-in-chief, returning to the Capitol Sunday.

General Pershing will make a long tour with General Haig, along the British lines, studying the methods employed by the British with a view to the adoption of those methods by the American troops.

American Training Fighting Camp in France, Juyl 21.—Another large group of American officers left the Camp today to witness fighting demonstrations similar to those attended by General Sibert yesterday. So many officers expressed a desire to see the movements that automobile trucks had to be requistioned to transport them all.

The start was made at an early hour and the officers expected to return to camp late today. When all the officers here have been initiated into the latest methods of fighting the demonstrations will be extended so that the troops can see and practice them.

BOOKS ADOPTED FOR ALABAMA TEACHERS' READING CIRCLE

The following books have been adopted by the Reading Circle Committee for the reading circle year, beginning July 1st, 1917, and ending June 30th, 1918:

1. Society, its origin and development.—Rowe, $1.00.

2. All the children of all the people.—Smith, 98c.

3. Language in the elementary schools—Thomas, $1.40.

These books may be obtained from Loveman, Joseph & Loeb, State Depository, Birmingham, Alamaba, delivered at the prices quoted.

In order to be eligible to apply for a certificate a teacher must have read books 1 and 2, and either of the books under 3. Blanks to be used in making application for certificates may be had upon request for the State Department of Education, at Montgomery, Alabama.

It is encouraging to note that 2,516 certificates and 98 diplomas were issued during the reading circle year beginning July 1, 1916 and ending June 30, 1917.

Library List.

The library committee has arranged eighteen $10 libraries, and in addition to a miscelaneous list of 200 books.

Those desiring information in reference to reading circle work or libraries should write the State Deparement of Education for the bulletin entitled "Alabama Teachers' and young Peoples Reading Circle, and Alabama Library List." The bulletin has just been published and is ready for distribution.

WILL VOTE ON THREE MILL SCHOOL TAX

Commissioners Court Grants Authority to Hold Election on August the 27th.

At a meeting of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County last week, the matter of calling for an election on the three-mill school tax for Chilton County was brought before the body. It was unanimously agreed by the members of the court to allow an election on the question to decide whether or not Chilton County shall levy the special tax for the support of the public schools. The date set for the election was Monday, August 27.

In calling for the election, the Commissioners did so at the request of hundreds of citizens of the County, who had signed petitions requesting the election.

ROAD OVERSEERS APPOINTED LAST WEEK BY COMMISSIONERS

At the four-days session of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County last week, the principal business expedited was in regard to the public roads of the county. A number of things were done in regard to the enforcement and efficiency of the road regulations. All requirements necessary to the beginning of operations under the new system of road laws were completed.

One of the main things which they did was the appointment of the road overseers for the various beats of the county, and the specifications of the roads which each will look after. Following is a list of the overseers:

Beat 1.—Enoch Foshee.
Beat 2.—J. M. Beasley.
Beat 2½.—Will Scott, Horace Smitherman, Robert Leach, T. G. Cofer, F. T. Adkerson.
Beat 3.—Lee Palmer, Will McGraw, Arthur Martin, Floyd Bates, Fletcher Carter, Hugh Davenport, Will White.
Beat 4.—Ed Minor, L. M. Taylor, B. F. Higgins, Bud Jones.
Beat 4½.—H. E. Culver, D. H. Tyus, John Mims, T. J. Baker.
Beat 5.—J. P. Jones, Bryant Long, Leonard Boyd, J. M. Mims, Fred Dennis, Frank Dubose.
Beat 5½.—R. B. Abernathy.
Beat 6.—J. F. Pool, R. N. Wilkins, Bob Williams, J. A. Huett.
Beat 7.—I. C. Blackmon, Oliver Chambers, C. C. Coburn, Harvy Gentry.
Beat 7½.—Joe Hicks, J. W. Lawrence, C. W. Wallace, W.M.D. O'Neal.
Beat 8—Grady Hutson, R. L. Ousley, W. H. Foshee.
Beat 9.—Lee Gore, John Maddox, Tom Robinson.

Judging from the number who are constantly inquiring about their conscription numbers, there are many who are afraid they will get left when the crowd starts for Germany. Don't worry, boys. There will no doubt be a chance for all or us to get to go.

On the 27th of next month the voters of Chilton County will have an opportunity to say whether or not the county shall levy a special three-mill school tax for the support of the public schools. Every man who is a qualified voter should begin now to look into the question and be prepared to vote in the right way on election day. There will be much discussion of the issue between now and then, and everyone will have a chance to look through the proposition.

The Union-Banner force is thankful to our friend, Mitchell Powell, for a nice watermelon presented to us last Thursday. Such friends as he are indeed worth having.

THE WAYNE COUNTY PILOT

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a copy of the Wayne County Pilot, published at Collinwood, Tennessee. Mr. P. K. Toksvig is the editor and Miss G. R. Toksvig is associate editor. We are glad to note the splendid appearance of the Pilot. Judging from the issue which we received, we take it that the paper is thoroughly representative of all that stands for the progress and development of its home section. Mr. Toksvig, the editor, was formerly a resident of this county, having lived at Thorsby for some time and has many friends there who will be gratified to learn of his enterprise in the field of newspeper activity.

GRANT BEATS 'EM ALL

Everybody who knows Jim Grant (and they are many) is aware of the fact that it is characteristic of him to pop up about the time somebody else has done something and proceed to "cap the climax." This is espelially true when it comes to arguing politics, telling yarns, etc. But Monday morning he revealed another line in which he is capable of beating the other fellow just a little bit.

You remember us telling you last week about those watermelons our friend Lansford brought us last Monday morning. Well, on Monday morning of this week, Mr. Grant drove up in front of our sanctorium, and as he alighted he proceeded into the office with a couple of the finest mush melons you ever saw. He deposited them and stepped back to the buggy and from under a big corn sack he took a Mitchell watermelon as big as that one the Dallas County plantation nigger dreamed about. As he came in he stated that us felows up here thought Jody Lansford had played the devil when he brought us two little old Watson watermelons. "Here" he said, "is a watermelon as big as both those things Jody brought you, and a couple of mush melons for good measure."

He came on in and left the whole feast with us. And the Union-Banner bunch just recovered in the niche of time to get the paper out to our readers on Thursday mornig.

Now, if anybody should surpass Grant as much as he did Lansford, why you may never get another Union-Banner out of this crowd.

FOOD EMERGENCY

There is more or less humbug in the schemes for meatless days, sugarless days, etc. It takes a certain quantity and variety of food to keep human beings in normal health. The man who goes without lunch eats enough breakfast and dinner to make up. Going without meat means an increased consumption of other commodities. The chief opportunity for economy is in avoiding waste of food, and within reasonable limits, the consumption of other commodities. If variety is sacrificed for cheapness health is likely to fail. Government bureaus can render good service by informing the people from time to time what food contains the largest food value in proportion to cost, but this should not be consumed. Going without needed food is not economy—It is waste of human energy.

PEACE AFTER VICTORY

If the kaiser is moving toward peace with the idea that the "peace without victory" movement still stands, he may be disappointed. We intend to be sure that he "won't do it again."

THE DUTY OF REGISTERED MEN

In another place in this issue of the Union-Banner, you will find an article that completely outlines the duties of the men who are registered for military service, and whose numbers have been drawn for appearance before the exemption boards. The article comes direct from Washington, and covers the details that have been given out by the Provost Marshal, General Cowder. If you are registered, and expect to be called before the local board for exemption, you could find no place that would outline your duties more clearly than this article.

Out in Portland, Oregon, a city commissioner has discontinued the use of a large touring car furnished him by the city, and has discharged the chauffer. When he has occasion to travel on public business he will ride with one of the inspectors. Now, if this real economy idea would only spread. to Washington, D. C., a lot of big autos, to say nothing of yachts, might be available for real public service.

MR. DIEFENDERFER CRITICISES PICTURE IN BIRMINGHAM NEWS

To the Editor of the Union-Banner:

A little space will be appreciated.

No doubt, quite a number of the readers of the Union-Banner, noticed the war picture that the Birmingham News carried on its front page, in its afternoon edition of the News of Saturday, July 21, 1917.

On the front page of the News that evening was one of the mose horrid scenes that a person could look at. And I wonder if the management of the Birmingham News has any idea of how many aches and pains they caused to pierce the hearts of the mothers of the boys that have been conscripted for the United States army, and these poor mothers thinking that perhaps in a short time their boy or boys will be engaged in a struggle of that kind.

What pleasure can the News get out of that war picture, or is it that the News is trying to scare some of the boys that have been drawn to make up the army for Uncle Sam?

And the News was not satisfied with having the horrible looking war picture on its front page the next day after the army drawing in Washington, but went on to say the following, which was printed above the picture: "If drafted, you will go through scenes like this before you see the roses bloom again." Now, what kind of a feeling has a newspaper got for the boys that have been conscripted, and the ones that are registered?

How does the Birmingham News know that the boys that are drafted into Uncle Sam's army are going to have to go through scenes like the one that the News took so much pleasure in printing last Saturday?

And where does the News get the authority to say that the war will still be in progress when "the roses bloom" again?

It looks very much as though when a newspaper gets to putting such things as those on their front pages at this time, when every one is wondering who will be called next, that that paper is in a bad for first page photograph features.

That war picture in question, was criticized by everyone here who saw the News that afternoon, and made the hearts of the mothers and sisters of the boys that will be drafted sad with grief.

We are all glad that all the newspapers will not permit their pages to be covered with such scenes, and we also trust that the News will take a second thought the next time that she tries to print such war pictures, just in order to get herself more fame.

Respectfully,
L. E. DIEFENDERFER.

FALSE AND FALICIOUS

In a country like ours, possessing the greatest abundance and the greatest variety of natural resources known to any country on earth, the doctrine of free trade, of unrestricted foreign competition is a strange doctrine to advocate seriously. Considered in its relation to the exceptional conditions surrounding this people and this land, the vast achievements of the past and the vaster possibilities of the future, considered in its relation to the highest moral and material welfare of a nation of the most prosperous and most fortunate people known to human history, it is a doctrine so strange that one is almost tempted to think it must conceal some superior truth. But it does not. It is false and falicious. One by one the civilized nations of the world have discarded it. The end of the present great war will find protective tariffs in all producing countries—except the United States. Unless the war lasts beyond March 4, 1921, its close will come with the present free trade tariff in operation. The election of 1920 will bring in a congress and an administration committed to the restoration of full and adequate Protection.—American Economist.

OFFICIAL LIST READY TO MAIL OUT FROM CAPITAL TUESDAY

Washington, July 23.—The master list of the drawing last Friday, which fixed military liability under the draft will not be ready for distribution to the local exemption boards until tomorrow. It had been hoped to mail it today, but a delay resulted from mechanical difficulties in printing.

Pending publication of this official result of the drawing, no authentic information is available to check the unofficial report transmitted to the newspapers during the drawing. It is probable a copy of the official list will be given out here tomorrow.

The governors will be furnished with two copies for each local board in their states. On receipt of their lists each local board will cancel the numbers higher than the top red ink number in its district and then from the remaining numbers enough men to make up double the district's quota will be notified to appear for physical examination.

Provost Marshal General Cowder ruled today that posting at the board headquarters of the list of men ordered to appear, constitutes legal notification. Those ordered up will also be notified by mail, but the period allowed for appearance will count from the posting of the list.

The ruling was in connection with an order issued by the war department holding the ranks of the regular army open to registered men for voluntary enlistment up to the time such men have been posted as ordered to appear. Registered men may enlist also in the navy or national guard up to that time.

In apportioning draft quotas credit was given for all voluntary enlistments prior to June 30, but there has been no indication whether credits will be given for men coming in since that date. It is probable that the voluntary system has provided close to 50,000 men for the 687,000 called for under the draft act as necessary to fill up the regulars and guard and create the first increment of the national army, and it is entirely likely that in the end every man who enlists voluntarily will reduce by one the quota of his home district.

The office of the provost marshal was swamped today with applicants for blanks requesting transfer of examination. He then may get necessary blanks from the board within whose jurisdiction he is at the time. His physical examination can be transferred and affidavits regarding exemption claims may also be received and considered at a temporary residence.

Every man finally certificated for military service, however, will return to the jurisdiction of his home board and go with the troops from his home town.

There is a considerable scramble going on around Clanton for fruit jars and cans. The supply seems to be somewhat less than the demand right now. The cannig idea is very popular among our people, and it is very good.

JAMES E. ROBINSON, P.M.

Thirty Y M C A secretaries have gone to France with the expeditionary forces accompanied by large shipments of equipment and supplies. Among the secretaries was Francis B. Sayre, son-in-law of President Wilson, who served as Y M C A secretary with troops on the Border. The National Council has received a cable asking for five hundred Y M C A secretaries with a speaking knowledge of French to work among the French soldiers.

When the "Kanson" went down as the victim of a German submarine last week, it carried to the bottom $18,000 worth of Y M C A supplies being shipped for the use of secretaries operating with the American troops in France. Among the items in the shipment was an automobile truck for the delivery of supplies, five hundred folding chairs, a number of folding organs and several tons of milk chocolate. These supplies have been reshipped.

Since July 4th two army Y M C A tents have been in operation at Camp Sheridan, Montgomery, for the use of the Alabama Brigade. Two buildings are already under construction, which, when completed, will replace the tents. These buildings cost approximately $3,500, and are fitted with class rooms, a moving picture outfit, writing tables, ogice for the distribution of free stationery and a stage for entertainments and public execersises. At one hundred and fifty points similar units are in operation under temporary tents, and forty one buildings are already completed and in use.

Work in a tent has been opened for the men in the navy yard at Pensacola which is included in the territory of the Alabama State Y M C A. This work is in charge of Secretary F. W. West, who has served as secretary with the regular troops on the Panama Canal Zone, and later with the Alabama cavalry on the Mexican border.

Dr .Benjamin Cox, pastor of the First Baptist church of Memphis, Tenn., came to Montgomery last week to be associated with camp secretary E. D. Langley as director and promoter of the religious activities centering in the buildings.

Secretary R. L. Alexander is in charge, and secures the gratutious use of a vacant store, or the use of space in some occupied store, in each of the towns in which the troops camp over night, opening up Y M C A headquarters for correspondence and the sale of stamps. In this war the Y M C A will follow the flag wherever the American soldier may go.

EXEMPTION RULES ARE MADE PUBLIC

Directions for Registered Men Given Step by Step.

ALL CLAIMS UNDER OATH

Industrial Needs and Dependents Are Chief Basis on Which Draft May Be Avoided—Make Claims in Person.

Washington.—Provost Marshal General Crowder has issued complete instructions for the men registered under the selective conscription law. So that everyone will understand just what is to be done, he gives the directions, step by step, as follows:

1. LOCAL BOARDS—In every county in the United States and for every city of over 30,000 there are one or more local exemption boards. Each of such boards is in charge of the registration cards of persons registered in the area, over which the board has jurisdiction, and has jurisdiction of all claims for exemption, except those based on industrial grounds. FIND OUT WHAT BOARD HAS YOUR CARD AND WHERE THE OFFICE OF THAT BOARD IS.

2. DISTRICT BOARDS—In every federal judicial district there are one or more district boards, having appellate jurisdiction over a number of local boards and having original jurisdiction of claims for exemption on industrial grounds. IF YOU INTEND TO MAKE A CLAIM ON INDUSTRIAL GROUNDS, INCLUDING AGRICULTURE, LEARN WHAT DISTRICT BOARD TO APPLY TO.

Meaning of Numbers.

3. RED INK SERIAL NUMBERS—Every board has numbered the cards in its jurisdiction with red ink in a series running from 1 to the number representing the total number of cards in its jurisdiction. Lists showing the names of persons in the jurisdiction of each board and the red ink number of each are open to inspection at the office of each board. INSPECT THE LIST AND INFORM YOURSELF OF YOUR RED INK SERIAL NUMBER.

4. ORDER OF LIABILITY—These red ink numbers are to be drawn by lot to determine the order in which registered persons are to be called by the various local boards. As soon as the drawing is complete lists showing the order in which these red ink numbers are drawn will be published in the press, and will be posted at the office of each local board. GO TO YOUR LOCAL BOARD AND FIND OUT THE ORDER IN WHICH YOU STAND FOR CALL.

5. As soon as quotas are assigned to each state and each board, each board will call upon persons whose cards are in its jurisdiction instructing them to present themselves for examination. This call will be posted at the office of the local board and the papers will be requested to print it. A notice will also be mailed to you, but the posting of the list at the office of the board will be deemed sufficient notice to charge you with the duty of presenting yourself. The law therefore makes it your duty to inform yourself when you are called. The mailing is for your convenience, but if the letter never reaches you you cannot make that an excuse.

Watch the lists at the office of your board and see when you are called for examination.

6. Physical examination—you must report for physical examination on the day named in your call.

If you are found physically disqualified the board will give you a certificate which will explain to you what your further duties are.

If you are found physically qualified and file a claim for exemption within seven days after your call you will be given ten days after filing your claim of exemption to file proof in support of your claim of exemption. See (VII) below.

Watch for Your Name.

If you are found physically qualified and file no claim for exemption, or if you do not appear for physical examination, your name will be posted to the district board as one who was called for military service and was not exempted or discharged. On the eighth day after call, or within two days thereafter, copies of the list of persons so posted to the district boards will be given to the press with a request for publication, will be posted in a place at the office of the local board accessible to the public view, and notice will be mailed to you at the address on your registration card.

THEREFORE WATCH THE NOTICES POSTED IN THE OFFICE OF THE BOARD ABOUT TEN DAYS AFTER THE DAY YOU WERE CALLED AND MAKE ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE PROMPT RECEIPT OF MAIL.

7. EXEMPTION OR DISCHARGE.—No claim or discharge on account of the industry in which you are engaged can be decided by a local board. (See Par. XV, below.)

WHETHER YOU FILE A CLAIM OF EXEMPTION OR NOT, YOU MUST PRESENT YOURSELF FOR PHYSICAL EXAMINATION ON THE DAY NAMED IN THE NOTICE.

From the day notice that you are called is mailed and posted you have seven days in which you may file a claim of exemption or discharge. The form for filing this claim is simple. If you wish to file such a claim—

Go to the board and get Form 110 for exemption or Form 121 for discharge. If the board has not the printed forms ask to consult the form pamphlet and copy the form shown there.

Fill out the proper form and file it with the board.

Do this within seven days of the posting and mailing of notice to you to present yourself.

The following are the only grounds for exemption:

That you are an officer, legislative, executive or judicial of the United States, a state or territory, or the District of Columbia.

That you are a regular or duly ordained minister of religion.

That you were on May 18, 1917, a student preparing for the ministry in any recognized theological or divinity school.

That you are in the military or naval service of the United States.

That you are a subject of Germany, whether you have taken out papers or not.

That you are a resident alien who has not taken out first papers.

In addition to claims for exemption claims for discharge may be made on any of the following grounds, which are the only grounds for discharge by a local board:

That you are a county or municipal officer.

That you are a custom-house clerk.

That you are employed by the United States in the transmission of mails.

That you are an artificer or workman employed in an armory, arsenal or navy yard of the United States.

That you are employed in the service of the United States (under certain conditions). See paragraph (e) of section 20, Regulations.

That you are a licensed pilot regularly employed in the pursuit of your vocation.

That you are a mariner actually employed in the sea service of any citizen or merchant within the United States.

That you are a married man with a wife or child dependent on you for support.

That you have aged or infirm parents dependent upon your labor for support.

That you have a widowed mother dependent on your labor for support.

That you are the father of a motherless child under sixteen dependent upon your labor for support.

That you are a brother of an orphan child or children under sixteen dependent on your labor for support.

That you are a member of any well-recognized religious sect or organization organized and existent May 17, 1917, and whose then existing creed or principles forbade its members to participate in war in any form and whose religious convictions are against war or participation therein in accordance with the creed or principles of said religious organization.

These are the only grounds for exemption or discharge by a local board.

Another person can file a claim in your behalf, but must use different forms in filing the claim.

8. Proof of claims—Your claim of exemption or discharge must be filed within seven days of the day on which notice to you that you are called was posted and mailed. But after you have filed your claim for exemption or discharge you have ten days within which to file proof.

The method of proving claims is very simple, but it is rather exact. If you follow the rules given below you will have done what is required of you:

(a) Go to the local board and consult the regulations to find out the form number of the affidavits that you must submit for your particular claim.

(b) Ask the board for the blank affidavits that are necessary in presenting your proof; if the board has not the forms, ask to consult the pamphlet of forms.

(c) Have the affidavits properly accomplished and return them to the board within the time limit assigned you—ten days from the filing of your claim.

Remember:

(a) You must submit your proof in the prescribed form and the board has no authority to exempt or discharge you unless you submit all the affidavits required by regulations.

(b) There will be no argument before the board and no proof other than the prescribed affidavits, unless the board calls for other proof, which it will do in only a limited number of cases.

Action as to Claims.

9. WHEN CLAIMS ARE DECIDED—Every claim for discharge or exemption will be decided by the local board within three days after your affidavits have been filed.

10. CERTIFICATES OF EXEMPTION OR DISCHARGE—If your claim is allowed, a certificate of exemption or discharge will be issued to you.

Remember:

(a) This certificate may be recalled at any time.

(b) If it is temporary or conditional it becomes of no effect when the time or the condition named is fulfilled.

(c) You have been drawn for military service and when the condition that has postponed your posting to the colors ceases you may be recalled at any time.

(d) Remember that your case may still be appealed to the district board by the government, and on this appeal your certificate may be withdrawn at once. When so withdrawn you stand precisely as though you had been selected for military service by the local board.

11. ADVERSE DECISIONS ON CLAIM—If your claim is disallowed by the local board your name will be certified and sent by the local board to the district board as one who has been called for military service and not exempted or discharged. Within two days thereafter, if practicable, a list of those so certified to the district board will be given to the press with a request for publication, will be posted in the offices of the local board accessible to the public view, and notice will be mailed to the address on the registration card.

Therefore, if you have filed a claim for exemption and proof in support thereof watch the notices in the office of the local board, beginning about five days after you have filed your proof, to see what disposition was made of your case and make arrangements for the prompt receipt of mail.

Carrying Up Appeals.

12. HOW TO CLAIM APPEALS TO DISTRICT BOARDS—Claims of appeal may be made by a person within ten days after the day when notice has been posted and mailed that such person's name has been certified to the district board as one who has been called for service and not exempted or discharged

Therefore if you desire to appeal—

(a) Go to the local board and get or copy form 153 or 154 for filing your claim of appeal.

(b) Get or copy also form 151 or 152 for notifying the district board of appeal.

(c) File your claim of appeal (153 or 154) with the local board.

(d) Send your notice of appeal (form 151 or 152) to the district board.

(e) Do this within ten days from the day when notice that your name was certified to the district board was posted and mailed.

Remember:

(a) You can only appeal the final order of the board exempting or discharging or refusing to exempt or discharge you. You cannot appeal other orders or actions of the local board.

13. PROVING YOUR APPEAL—You have five days after the district board receives your notice that you have filed a claim of appeal in which to file evidence additional to that filed by you in the local board, but all such evidence must consist of affidavits.

Reception of Decisions.

14. DECISIONS ON APPEAL—The decision on your appeal must be made within five days of the closing of proof, and you will be notified by mail of the action of the board on your appeal.

15. CLAIMS FOR DISCHARGE ON INDUSTRIAL GROUNDS—Only the district board can receive claims for discharge on the ground that they are engaged in industry, including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment, the effective operation of the military forces, or the maintenance of national interest during the emergency.

Such claims must be filed with the district board on or before the fifth day after the mailing and posting of notice that you have been certified by the local board as one who has been called for service and not exempted or discharged.

If you desire to file such a claim:

(a) Get a copy at the local or district board of form 161 or 161a.

(b) Fill the form out properly.

(c) File it with the district board within five days after the mailing and posting of notice that your name has been certified from the local board to the district board. See section 44, regulations.

16. PROOF IN SUPPORT OF INDUSTRIAL CLAIM—Only affidavits can be used in filing proof before the industrial board of a claim for exemption on industrial grounds. All such affidavits must be filed within five days after the filing of the claim.

Industrial Claim Rulings.

17. DECISIONS ON INDUSTRIAL CLAIM—Within five days after the closing of proof in any industrial claim the district board must decide the claim.

If the decision of the district board is in favor of the claim the board will issue a certificate of discharge. If the decision is against the claim the district boards will so notify you.

Remember that you have been called for military service and that the certificate of the district boad is only conditional on your remaining in the kind of industrial service on account of which you were discharged. No such exemption shall continue when a cause therefor no longer exists and your certificate of discharge may be withdrawn or modified by the district board at any time that the district board shall determine that the circumstances require it.

18. APPEALS TO THE PRESIDENT—Only decisions of district boards on industrial claims for discharge can be appealed.

If you desire to appeal the decision of the district boards to the president, you may do so within seven days of the date of mailing to you of the decision of the district board. To perfect your appeal:

(a) Get or copy from the district or local board Form 163.

(b) Fill out the form and file it with the district board.

(c) Do this within seven days after the mailing of notice to you of the decision of the district board in your case.

19. HOW YOU WILL BE NOTIFIED—As soon as your case is finally disposed of, the adjutant general of your state will notify you by mail that you have been selected for military service.

Your local boards will post a list of all persons selected for military service in a place at the office of the local boards accessible to public view. The local boards will also give lists of persons selected for military service to the press with the requests for publication.

Notice that you have been selected for military service will not necessarily order you into service.

The notice to report for military service will come when the government is ready to receive you.

Naturally.

ELIGIBLES ON STATE BOARDS CANNOT SERVE

Because of their liability for military service under the select service law, all members of exemption boards in Alabama who are between 21 and 31 years old, will be removed and their scucessors appointed by President Wilson at once.

Brigadier General G. J. Hubbard, head of the state military department, received notice from the war department Monday to advise it at once of all persons between the ages. General Hubbard notified the boards to make reports at once and when they are received his department will recommend successors.

The war department first decided that any persons sould serve, but afterward ruled that a man eligible for service should not be called upon to pass the eligibility of others. As a result of the order, several persons will be removed from the exemption boards.

The above ruling of the war department effects two of the three members of the local exemption board for Chilton County. Circuit Clerk M.D. Foshee, and the Examining Physician of the board, Dr. Arthur Johnson, are both within the conscription age limit, and therefore, are declared ineligible for service on the board. Their successors will be named in a short while.

Used successfully a whole year all over the South

BUCKEYE Lintless Hulls have been fed by farmers, dairymen and stockmen throughout the South for the past year. Reports from these feeders indicate that these lintless hulls when properly fed, are a great improvement over the old style hulls.

By actual use, these feeders have found the following advantages of using

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

Every pound of the Buckeye Hulls contains much more food value because the lint on the old style hulls has no food value.

The price per pound of real roughage in the form of Buckeye Hulls is very much less than in the form of the old style hulls. Buckeye Hulls do not clog or flux the digestive tract. Other foods mixed with them are readily assimilated.

They are free of trash and dust.
They are sacked and easy to handle.
They take half as much space in the barn.

If you have not tried Buckeye Hulls, please remember that thousands of feeders are using them and will use no other roughage. If you have not given Buckeye Hulls a fair trial, let the experience of these successful feeders guide you in using them as they should be used.

Mr. Olwey Yarber, Booneville, Ark.,
has fed a carload of Buckeye Hulls to cows and calves to get them ready for the range. He had been feeding hay and he finds that they did much better on Buckeye Hulls as roughage. He has another car of Buckeye Hulls bought.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

CONTRACTS FOR GUNS AND MOUNTS HARD TO PLACE

Washington, July 22—In a statement tonight explaining his request for an appropriation of $7,500,000 to increase the capacity of the gun factory at the Washington Navy Yard, Secretary Daniels declared that contracts for guns, mounts and other ordnance supplies "are becoming increasingly difficult to place."

"Had not the navy possessed the present factory," continued the statement, "the supply of all ordnance material would be so much less efficient than it is at present that the matter would have undoubtedly been forced to public notice. The matter of additional guns and mounts is most urgent owing to the demands made by our own and other governments for such equipment."

WILLFUL MISREPRESENTATION

Of L & N Railroad Co by Western Union Telegraph Co

DISCLOSED BY THE FACTS

Representatives of the Western Union Telegraph Co. recently secured a large number of affidavits from people in the States of Alabama and Florida (the affidavits having been previously prepared in the offices of the Western Union representatives) upon the misrepresentation that the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. was about to cut down the telegraph poles of the Western Union Telegraph Co. and forcibly remove the telegraph wires from the L. & N. right of way in the State of Alabama, thereby disrupting business and social telegraphic facilities, jeopardizing Montgomery's and Alabama's chances of securing an army cantonment, and otherwise seriously interfering with the Army and Navy in the successful prosecution of the world war.

By this misrepresentation, and before the L. & N. had any knowledge of the unwarranted activity, or any opportunity to issue a statement of the facts, many prominent and patriotic citizens were deceived into signing the affidavits, thereby giving aid to the Western Union in its secret effort to create prejudice against the L. & N.

Without the slightest foundation in fact, and in violation of business ethics, the Western Union caused its attorneys, without regard for or consideration of the Federal Judge before whom the hearing was then pending, to present the matter to the Secretary of War of the United States and to the Attorney General of the United States.

Being deceived by the Western Union, Secretary of War Baker telegraphed to the President of the L. & N., and Attorney General Gregory wrote to the Federal Judge who then had the case in charge, that the L. & N. must not be permitted, in view of the present war situation, to cut down the poles and forcibly remove the wires of the Western Union from the L. & N. right of way in Alabama.

Not to the knowledge of the L. & N. does any chapter of history of business contain a parallel to this effrontry and misrepresentation practiced by the Western Union Telegraph Co.

FACTS IN THE CASE

In 1884 the Western Union Telegraph Co. entered into a contract with the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. whereby the poles and wires of the telegraph company were to occupy a section along the right of way of the railroad company. The contract contained a clause that notice was to be given twelve months in advance of an intention on the part of either party to continue or terminate the contract at the expiration date.

In accordance with the terms of the contract, the mere existence of which constituted an acknowledgment by the Western Union of the right of the L. & N. to exercise authority over and ownership of a right of way which the L. & N. held either by deed of gift or outright purchase, the Western Union gave voluntary notice within the stipulated time of its intention to terminate the contract on August 17th, 1912.

Thereupon the Western Union instituted condemnation proceedings in the courts in an effort to secure the L. & N. right of way without any contract or obligation to the L. & N. at all.

WESTERN UNION ENJOINS L. & N.

Correctly anticipating that the L. & N. would resist this proceeding to the full extent of its ability the Western Union, under date of December 28th, 1912, secured from the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Kentucky a temporary injunction to prevent the L. & N. from removing the Western Union poles and wires from the railroad right of way, (the L. & N. having given the telegraph company 4 months notice to remove its wires and poles) and then began to push its condemnation proceedings.

The law of Alabama, a most excellent law, which protects the interests of the people against those who enjoy the right of eminent domain, stipulates:

"If the property sought to be condemned, or any portion thereof, or interest therein, has already been subjected or devoted to a public use, such land or portion thereof, or interest therein, shall not be taken for another and different character of public use unless an actual necessity for the specific land or portion thereof, or interest therein shall be alleged and proven, and unless it be alleged and proven that such other and different character of public use will not materially interefere with the public use to which such property is already subjected or devoted."

The law was passed by Alabama in 1903 and is the law of the State at the present time. However, and without regard to State Rights, or authority of Alabama to pass laws for its government, the Western Union asserted that it had every right to condemn the right of way of the L. & N. Railroad Co. in Alabama without compliance with the provisions of this law.

COURT DECISIONS FAVOR L. & N.

Upon its failure to secure a favorable decision in first one Alabama court and then another, including the Supreme Court of that state, the Western Union carried its contention to the Supreme Court of the United States, where, after one brief week, a decision was rendered adversely to the Western Union and in favor of the L. & N.

In compliance with the voluntary termination of the contract by the Western Union, and in accordance with the decision of the various courts of Alabama and of the Supreme Court of the United States rendered on June 11th, 1917, the L. & N. filed with the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Kentucky, which Court granted the temporary injunction, an amended and supplemental answer to the injunction, seeking to have the temporary injunction dissolved insofar as the injunction related to the L. & N. right of way in the State of Alabama.

ALLOW REASONABLE TIME

In its application to the Court the L. & N. said:

"Wherefore, the defendant (The L. & N.) prays that the temporary injunction granted herein on Dec. 28th, 1912, and since continued in force from time to time, be dissolved insofar as the plaintiff's telegraph lines on defendant's railroad right of way situated in the State of Alabama are concerned, and if the court shall be of opinion under the facts disclosed by the record herein that such dissolution should be upon equitable terms and conditions, and that plaintiff (the Western Union) should be allowed a reasonable time in which to remove the telegraph poles, wires or apparatus owned by the plaintiff from defendant's said right of way, situated in Alabama, and to vacate the premises occupied, then, and in that event, the defendant prays that such time, for that purpose, be limited to a period of three months, with the assistance of the defendant to be furnished as hereinbefore set forth."

The assistance to be rendered by the L. & N. to the Western Union constituted "furnishing of cars, engines and necessary equipment at and between stations for the purpose of effecting such removal."

Competent telegraph experts, at the expense of the L. & N., had previously estimated that the Western Union could easily remove its poles and wires from the L. & N. right of way within three months without any interference or interruption to Western Union telegraphic service whatsoever; and further, that the Western Union had every legal right to occupy a right of way for its poles and wires along the margin of any public highway, as permitted by the just and liberal laws of Alabama.

HAD NOTICE IN ADVANCE

A copy of the motion to dissolve the injunction was served in advance on the Western Union, and the Western Union had complete information in advance of the orderly and legal procedure proposed by the L. & N., and had further knowledge that the L. & N. would be in contempt of the United States Court if it removed or attempted to remove, by force or otherwise, the Western Union poles and wires from the L. & N. right of way until full and complete hearing and final dissolution of the temporary injunction.

In spite of these facts the Western Union secured affidavits throughout Alabama, and in sections of Florida, on the misrepresentation that destruction of Western Union property by the L. & N. was imminent, with consequent serious interference with the successful prosecution of the world war.

Adjutant General G. J. Hubbard, of Alabama, was induced to sign an affidavit wherein was recited the serious consequences to the mobilization of troops in Alabama, which concludes "any destruction or interference with the Western Union Telegraph Company's lines along the right of way of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company in Alabama would be a most serious handicap to the military service, and asks that said lines of said telegraph company be not removed or interfered with until a reasonable time after the termination of the present war."

Commandant C. P. Nelson, of the United States Navy Aeronautic Station at Pensacola, Fla., was induced to sign an affidavit along similar lines, and concluded with the request "that the lines of said telegraph company be not ordered removed from the right of way of said railroad company until a reasonable time after the termination of the present world war."

United States Marshal Jas. B. Perkins, for the Northern District of Florida, was induced to give an affidavit outlining that serious consequences would result to the business interests, naval vessels and merchant marine service, and concluded with the request "that the lines of said telegraph company in Alabama be not ordered removed from the right of way of said railroad company until a reasonable time after the termination of the war."

(How many misrepresentations are being made in the name of the war!)

Many other patriotic citizens who signed affidavits upon similar misrepresentations later expressed regret and stated had they known the facts in the case they never would have signed. A great many refused outright to sign the affidavits, and others gave counter affidavits, upon being told the facts in the case, withdrawing and refuting statements contained in the Western Union affidavits.

MAKES THE WAR THE EXCUSE

Having completed its chain of misrepresentation the Western Union caused its attorneys to present in conference its tissue of distorted facts to Secretary of War Baker, the conference culminating in the following formal letter addressed to the Secretary of War by the attorneys for the Western Union:

"Washington, D. C., June 28th, 1917. Hon Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, Washington, D. C. Sir: Confirming conversation yesterday with several officials of your department, and on behalf of the Western Union Telegraph Company, we beg to call your attention to a matter which affects the public interest, and particularly the Army and Navy.

"A motion will be heard tomorrow in the Federal Court at Louisville, Ky., to dissolve, as it affects the territory of the State of Alabama, an injunction heretofore obtained by the Western Union Telegraph Company restraining the Louisville and Nashville Railway Company from removing from the rights of way of the railway company the poles and wires of the telegraph company. If the motion is granted it is expected that the Louisville and Nashville Railway Company will immediately cut down the poles of the telegraph company upon its right of way—(the Western Union attorneys had positive knowledge to the contrary on June 19th, before they wrote this letter on June 28th)—and, as a glance at the map will show, this will result in the crippling of the service of the Western Union Telegraph Company in the State of Alabama, and also its interstate service routed through the State of Alabama.

"Under the Act of July 24th, 1866 (Rev. Stat. Par. 5263 et. seq.) the Western Union Telegraph Company is rendering service to the War and other Departments at rates fixed by the Postmaster General, and the telegrams of the Government have priority over all other business of the company and the Government has a right to acquire title to the Company's lines.

"Affidavits obtained by the Telegraph Company and to be presented at the hearing show that the service from the War Department at Washington to points on the Mexican Border is frequently routed via Montgomery and Mobile, Ala., over the right of way of the Louisville and Nashville Railway Company. Numerous other Governmental services are rendered over these lines affecting other Departments. The affidavits show that serious interference is likely to result to the service of the Navy Yard in Pensacola, Fla., and various Naval activities through the port of Mobile, Ala. The time is too short to lay before the Department the detailed facts and we quote a telegram received this morning from the President of the Telegraph Company, as follows:

" 'New York, N. Y., June 28th, 1917, 11:07 A.M.

Wilson, Huidekoper & Lesh, Washington, D. C.: I am wiring you to confirm in all respects statements made in message sent you last night by General Attorney Benedict. The Western Union Telegraph Company urgently desires the good offices of the War and Navy Departments to secure through the United States Attorney at Louisville a postponement of the hearing of the railroad company's motion to dissolve the injunction at least until the government can ascertain the facts. The Adjutant General of Alabama has made affidavit "that in the mobilization of troops it is absolutely necessary to make considerable use of the Western Union Telegraph Company in a very large part of the State of Alabama at parts that are only reached by telegraph over lines that are now on the right of way of the Louisville & Nashville Railway Company" and further stating "that any destruction or interference with the Western Union Telegraph Company's lines along the right of way of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company in Alabama would be a most serious handicap to the military service." (Signed) Newcomb Carlton, President W. U. Tel. Co.

"It is a matter of general information that all transportation facilities, including the telegraph company's, are only by the utmost exertions able to cope with the greatly increased governmental business, and the destruction of lines of the Telegraph Company so important and over so great an area is certain to result in damage which will be fully appreciated only if the destruction is accomplished.

"We therefore respectfully and urgently request that the government, particularly the War Department, take steps to prevent this crippling of the telegraph service, or at least to postpone it until the Government can ascertain the facts, and to this end we suggest that the United States Attorney for the District in which Louisville, Ky., is located be instructed to take such action with regard to the motion which will be called for hearing tomorrow as will conserve the Government's interest. Respectfully. (Signed) Wilson, Huidekoper & Lesh,

SECRETARY OF WAR BAKER ACTS

Upon receipt of that letter Secretary of War Baker sent the following telegram:

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

"Washington, D. C., June 29th, 1917, 6:05 P.M.

Milton H. Smith, President, Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co., Louisville, Ky.

I am informed that a controversy exists between the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company as to the right to maintain lines and poles on the right of way of your company. The Government has no interest in this controversy, but the continued maintenance and operation of the telegraph lines is essential to the public safety. No damage must be permitted to them, and if necessary the government will seize the lines and operate them for military purposes. (Signed) Newton D. Baker, Sec. of War."

President Smith referred the telegram to Col. H. L. Stone, General Counsel for the L. & N., who replied by telegraph as follows:

POSTAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY

"Louisville, Ky., June 30th, 1917, 12 o'clock noon.

Hon. Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.

Your wire to President Smith received. Western Union's lines on Louisville & Nashville right of way constructed and operated by contract which was terminated voluntarily by Western Union itself as of August 17, 1912, whereupon Western Union, by suit in Federal Court at Louisville, obtained temporary injunction enjoining railroad company from taking possession or interfering with telegraph lines until Western Union's suits brought to condemn in State Courts were determined. The Courts of Alabama, after five years litigation, have finally denied Western Union's right to condemn railroad Company's right of way in that state. These judgments of the Alabama Supreme Court were affirmed by United States Supreme Court on 11th instant. The railroad company has entered motion in the Federal Court here set for next Monday to dissolve injunction as far as lines in Alabama are concerned, allowing Western Union reasonable time to remove from premises, having suggested three months for that purpose. This Company has no intention to use force to effect removal, but is proceeding in an orderly way through the Federal Court to obtain possession of its own right of way, which it has been deprived of for nearly five years without being paid any compensation whatever for use and occupation thereof. Either party has right of appeal from order on motion. No interruption of telegraphic service to the Government will result. Railroad Company has its own telegraph and telephone lines in Alabama in its rights of way over which it has heretofore and is now performing Government service and is ready, able and willing to continue such service, and if necessary to increase its facilities for same to extent needed or desired, under its acceptance of Act of Congress filed in 1912 with Post Master General. It has also heretofore offered to rent to Western Union space for its wires on railroad Company's pole line, to which they may be transferred without interruption of telegraph service to the Government or the public at usual and customary rental, and has also heretofore offered to lease to Western Union present location on Railroad right of way in Alabama at reasonable rental. Under these conditions, I, therefore, hope the Government will not take any steps which will interfere with railroad company's effort to secure control of its own property as against one who has no right to occupy it without the owner's consent, but who has already thus held it for five years. Please wire by Postal Telegraph at my expense copy of statement made or filed with you or your Department by Representative of Western Union concerning this controversy. H. L. Stone, General Counsel.

Secretary of War Baker replied as follows:

POSTAL TELEGRAM

"Washington, D. C., June 30, 1917.

H. L. Stone, General Counsel, Louisville & Nashville Ry. Co., Louisville, Ky.

Telegram received. The Government, of course, will do nothing to prejudice the rights of either party in such a controversy. No reason exists why you should not proceed to judgment in your rights, but actual interference with the operation of the lines cannot be permitted. If such step should seem to you necessary, communicate with the War Department and, if necessary, the Department will take over the lines for the Government operation until substitute facilities are adequate. Letter follows. Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War."

NO KNOWLEDGE OF FACTS

Secretary of War Baker, under date of July 4th, addressed the following letter to Col. Stone:

"Washington, July 4th, 1917. My Dear Mr. Stone: In further response to your telegram of June 30th, I enclose herewith a copy of a letter left with the Assistant Secretary of War by Wilson, Huidekoper & Lesh, Counsel for the Western Union Telegraph Company. I have not the least intention of interference in this controversy between the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company. The matter is in Court and the rights of the parties will doubtless be adjudicated as they ought to be without any sort of consideration beyond the rights involved. The War Department, however, feels obliged to insist that the physical integrity of these telegraph lines be not interfered with in the public interest; and if it should become necessary to do so I will request the President's authority to take over the lines, operating them for official communication under such terms and conditions as will protect the emergency interests of the Government during the war.

"The action which I am taking must, of course, be understood to be wholly without reference to the respective rights of the railroad company and the telegraph company in the legal controversy. I do not assume any knowledge of the facts, or of the law, in that matter. Respectfully yours, Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War.

Not having received the information requested in his telegram of June 30th, and before receipt of the letter from Secretary of War Baker, dated July 4th, Col. Stone addressed the following letter to the Secretary of War under date of July 5th:

"Louisville, Ky., July 5th, 1917. Hon. Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, Washington, D. C. Dear Sir: Your telegram of the 30th ult., concerning the controversy between this Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company as to the latter's right to maintain lines and poles on this company's right of way, was duly received, and I am gratified to note your statement that no reason exists why this company should not proceed to judgment in its rights. You conclude your telegram by stating "that letter follows". I have not yet received your letter as promised.

"In my telegram, to which yours was an answer, I requested that you wire by Postal Telegraph at my expense, copy of statement made or filed with you or your Department by the representatives of the Western Union Telegraph Company concerning this controversy. I assumed that the letter which was to follow your telegram would furnish me with this information.

"All that this company is endeavoring to do is to obtain possession as soon as practicable of its rights of way in the State of Alabama where the Western Union has been denied by final judgment the right to condemn such rights of way for the purpose of continuing its telegraph line thereon.

"The contract between the two companies was terminated by the Western Union itself in August, 1912, and since then it has, against this company's will and consent, held possession of the Railroad Company's rights of way without paying any sum whatsoever for the use and occupation thereof.

"In this company's motion to dissolve the temporary injunction granted by the Federal Court here in December, 1912, so far as the lines in Alabama were concerned, it was insisted that if the Court was of opinion the Western Union should have a reasonable time within which to remove its telegraph poles, wires and fixtures from this company's right of way a period of three months was sufficient for that purpose, and the officials and attorneys of the Western Union were fully aware of the fact that this company did not propose to destroy or interrupt the service to the public or Government rendered by the lines of the Western Union on its rights of way in Alabama; on the contrary, its motion was to the Court to dissolve the temporary injunction heretofore granted since the effort by the Western Union to condemn the Railroad Company's rights of way in Alabama had proved unsuccessful, and said injunction had only been granted temporarily and until that stage had been reached. The resistance by the Western Union to the motion made by this Company is for delay and to avoid paying any compensation for the use and occupancy of this Company's rights of way, and any statement made by the Telegraph Company or its representatives to you or your Department or to Attorney General, who has written a letter to the Federal Judge before whom this injunction suit is pending, contrary to the foregoing statement of facts, is without foundation and doubtless intended to prejudice the officials of the Government against this Company.

"I, therefore, repeat my request that you furnish me with the information referred to in my telegram to you of the 30th ult.

"I wish to assure you that all this company desires is either possession of its rights of way, to which it is entitled, or compensation from the Western Union for the use and occupation thereof until such possession is obtained by due process of law. Respectfully yours, H. L. Stone, General Counsel."

WRITES TO TRIAL JUDGE

In the meantime similar misrepresentations had been made to United States Attorney General Gregory, causing Attorney General Gregory to address the following letter to Judge Walter Evans, of the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Kentucky, before whom the application to dissolve the injunction in Alabama had been filed. The letter was given wide publicity in the newspapers throughout the country:

"Hon. Walter Evans, Sir: The Secretary of War has brought to my attention the situation arising out of the litigation in your Court between the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company with reference to the operation of telegraph lines on the Louisville & Nashville right of way.

"He states that an effort will be made next Monday to dissolve the injunction restraining the railroad company from removing the telegraph poles from its right of way, and that in the event the injunction is dissolved the railroad company has announced that it will immediately cut down the poles and thereby destroy the telegraph lines in question. Such action will seriously interfere with the mobilization of troops and other military operations and under existing conditions cannot be permitted by the Government.

"In this situation the Secretary of War has telegraphed to the Presidents of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company that, while the Government has no interest in their controversy, the maintenance and operation of the telegraph lines were essential to the public safety and that, if necessary, the Government would seize the lines and operate them for military purposes. Copies of these telegrams are enclosed for your information.

"The Government does not desire to take such action unless the military use of these lines cannot be assured in any other way, and I am writing this letter to put you in possession of the facts which have developed here, so that you may in the exercise of a wise discretion and public duty take such action as you may find proper to avoid further embarrassment to the Government's military operations at this critical time.

"I assume that no immediate action changing the status quo will in the circumstances be taken, and that, in the event you desire a more formal presentation of the Government's views, suitable time will be allowed for this purpose."

WIDESPREAD MISREPRESENTATION

Not only was this exchange of correspondence indulged in, but under date of July 4th there appeared in the public press throughout the country an authorized statement issued by the War Department, of which the following language is a part:

"As the case approached the point of deadlock it was understood that the road officials had given orders to gangs of their workmen to arm themselves with axes and remove the telegraph company's property by the simplest possible method—chopping down the poles."

There is not now, never has been, and never will be the slightest intention on the part of the L. & N. to illegally destroy property, not only Western Union property, but any property whatsoever. If the L. & N. is anything it is a constructive force in the community and not a destroyer. These facts the Western Union well knew and well knows.

The Western Union has already used the right of way of the L. & N. since August 17, 1912, without paying any compensation to the Railroad Company whatsoever therefor. The suggestion made by the Western Union that the telegraph lines be not removed from the Railroad Company's right of way until a reasonable length of time after the termination of the present world war is simply a play for time on the part of the Western Union to enable it to continue to use the right of way of the L. & N. without compensation.

SEEKS TO STIFLE COMPETITION

There is another angle to the activity of the Western Union. That company well knows that the L. & N. has telegraphic and telephonic facilities which are in many respects superior to the facilities offered by the Western Union. The L. & N. has its own telephone and telegraph lines and connections, including its main line between Cincinnati and New Orleans, a distance of 920 miles, and is now serving the Government, and is prepared to serve the public, in Alabama and elsewhere on its system, promptly and efficiently and with entire satisfaction in the transmission of telephone and telegraph messages. The activity of the Western Union, in addition to its determination to use the L. & N. right of way without compensation, is to stifle and eliminate from the telegraph field what it knows will be formidable competition.

The L. & N. regrets extremely the necessity for this communication to the people, but is fully determined that it will not submit supinely to misrepresentations by either individual or corporation with consequent prejudice to it in the minds of the general public. The L. & N. has faith in the people and is content to rest its cause with the people once a correct understanding of the facts is had.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD CO

The People Shall Be Advised

Five years ago the L. & N. Railroad Co. inaugurated a policy of publicity, designed to inform the public through the medium of paid advertisements, concerning problems involved in the operation of the L. & N., and to correct and refute any false, misleading or malicious statements made about the L. & N. Carrying out that policy the L. & N. here issues an advertisement of the misrepresentations practiced by the Western Union Tel. Co., secure in the belief that the people will see that justice is done. And the L. & N. puts the Western Union Telegraph Co. on notice that any further misrepresentations will be as promptly and vigorously exposed. The people shall be advised.

AMENDMENTS TO COUNTY ROAD LAW

Amendment to Section 35 of the Road Laws of Chilton County, Alabama.

It is ordered by the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, that Section 35 of the road law of Chilton County, Ala., be, and the same is, hereby amended, so as to read as follows:

Sec. 35. All persons hauling logs, lumber, timber, turpentine, naval stores, ore, coal, graphite or cord wood, over the public roads of the county to sell or for another for hire and not for their own use or for the improvement of their farms, and persons regularly engaged in the business of hauling over the public roads of the county shall pay a license of one dollar per month for each two-horse wagon, two-mule wagon or two-ox wagon. He shall pay a license of one dollar and a half per month for each three-horse wagon, three-mule wagon or three-ox wagon. Any person hauling with a greater number of horses, mules or oxen shall pay a license on the same ratio as set out above. Parties using such teams on public roads shall apply to the Judge of Probate for such license, monthly or quarterly. If quarterly, Jan. 1, April 1, July 1, or October 1, or license may be issued for the two last months of the quarter. And it is the duty of the Judge of Probate to issue such license and to keep a correct statement of the money received from such license, which money shall be as nearly as practicable expended on the particular roads where such teams have been hauling. Said money to be paid out by the order of the Commissioners Court as provided by law. It is not intended to require a license for private hauling connected with or usual to ordinary operation of the farm, nor any one hauling stove wood or kindling, whether for sale or not. It shall be unlawful to do any hauling forbidden without first procuring such license. The Judge of Probate shall furnish proper tags where license have been paid, said tags to be fastened on the rear axle of the wagon, where they may be seen by the public.

No tag is to be used where the license is taken out for only one month, and the receipt from the Judge of Probate shall be proper authority for the person so hauling under said license. When any person is hauling under a one-month license, it shall be his duty upon request to show his receipt to any apportioner, overseer, or any one else whose duty it is to report violations of the road laws; and any one failing to show said receipt as herein required shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable as such.

The Judge of Probate shall receive a fee of 25 cents for issuing each wagon license for a period of time greater than one month, which he shall retain out of said license, but no fee shall be charged where the license is taken out for only one month.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this Section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined as provided by law, such fine to be applied as the license taxes are applied in this Section.

Amendment to Section 8 of the Road Laws of Chilton County, Alabama.

It is ordered by the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, that Section 8 of the Road Laws of Chilton County, Ala., be and the same is, hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 8. No person shall be required to work on any public road out of the road precinct of his residence, and shall be required to work and shall work on the public roads of the county five days of ten hours each, each year, that is to say, from January 1st to January 1st; provided that, if after the first day of January and before the first day of March of any year, any person subject to road duty may pay to the Judge of Probate of the County, taking a receipt therefor, the sum of $5.00, the payment of which shall exempt him from further road duty for the year in which it is paid; provided however, that all men subject to road duty shall work two and a half days of ten hours each on public roads from July 1st, 1917, to January 1st, 1918, or pay to the Judge of Probate $2.50 by August 15, 1917, the payment of which shall exempt him from further road duty for the year 1917, unless he shall have already worked more than seven and one-half days, in which event he shall only be required to put in enough time to make up the required ten days.

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-Draught. Relief From Headache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.— Mrs. Chas. Gaston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Thedford's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the Spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, we would take Black-Draught pretty regular until the liver acted well, and we would soon be up and around again. We would not be without it, for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Thedford's Black-Draught has been in use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit.

If your liver is not doing its duty, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Thedford's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Thedford's, the original and genuine. E 79

CANADIAN AVIATORS SILENCE GUN THROWING HUGE SHELLS

Canadian Army Headquarters in France, July 24.—The firing of German shells weighing nearly threequarters of a ton that were dropped twenty miles back of our firing line was quickly silenced Sunday by the bombs dropped by Canadian aviators who discovered the monster gun's position after an air raid over the enemy line. By their vigilent work, our airmen are saving towns and villages far behind the front from bombardment with shells, one of which is capable of grinding a house of powder.

"German airplane activity completely failed to stop our reconnaissance, photographic and artillery work in spite of the enemy's efforts," reads last night's official statement.

SORGHUMS FOR SILAGE

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The earliest varieties of sorghum, sometimes called millet or sugarcane, do not yield as large amounts of green forage and silage per acre as the late, or medium late, varieties do. Amber which is a black seeded variety, is probably the earliest and yields under surghum conditions from 8,000 to 16,000 pounds (green weight) of silage per acre; while Texas Seeded Ribbon, sometimes called Honey Drip, or Japanese sorghum, yields, under similar conditions, from 12,000 to 20,000 pounds per acre.

The early varieties require from 80 to 95 days from date of planting to mature silage, while the late varieties usually require from 90 to 110 days. If planted in April, a longer time is required to secure full growth and maturity than is required if the planting is delayed until the last of May or the first of June.

Almost any kind of soil will produce some silage or green forage, but to secure large yields sorghum should be planted on strong, well drained land. Poor land makes a small spindling stalk that is well suited for hay but is undesirable for silage.

Stable or barnyard manure, at the rate of eight or ten tons per acre with 200 pounds of acid phosphate is recomended for most land. An application of 75 to 100 pounds of nitrate of soda when the cane is knee high will greatly increase its growth. The manure may be scattered broadcast over the land before plowing, or put in the drill with the seed.

They may be drilled at the rate of 20 to 25 pounds per acre, with an ordinary corn planter, which usually has plates for cane.

If the germination of the seed is good and the stand is too thick, the stand may be reduced by allowing some of the soil to fall on the plants at the first cultivation. Frequent shallow cultivation with a scooter and scrape or spring tooth cultivator is desirable to keep down the weeds and to maintain a surface mulch of the soil.

Better Farming in the South

ORDER FALL FERTILIZERS EARLY

Railroad Service is a Serious Problem—Fertilizer Dealers Will Be Required to Accumulate Orders So That Full Carloads Only Shall Be Shipped—Railway Authorities Say Fertilizers Can Be Handled in Half Number of Cars Ordinarily Used — A War Measure.

Farm Service Bureau, Atlanta, Ga.
C. A. Whittle.

The world is hungry. To get more food is an alarming problem.

How can the farms produce more food when labor is so scarce?

How can more acres be planted to food crops or how can more work be given the acres usually planted without more labor?

Increase of labor is hardly to be expected, but there is one important means of help which the Southern farmer has been utilizing in the past and that is Fertilizer. But this too is beset with difficulties.

Fertilizer can increase production without increasing labor except at harvest time. The warring nations appreciate this fact, and are giving all the encouragement they can to the use of fertilizers.

The railroads can't do the business expected of them unless every freight car is loaded to full capacity. To load them to full capacity the fertilizer dealer must have enough orders in to make up a full car load before he can reasonably hope to get a shipment. The earlier the carload orders are placed the better chance, of course, of getting a shipment. Because of the shortage of equipment, the railroads should have as much time as possible to plan for moving the fertilizer. Early orders will give them a knowledge of the number of cars that will be needed.

Government Authorities Backing It

The National Council of Defense has sent out a bulletin on this very subject, urging farmers to order their fall fertilizers early so full carload shipments might be made and the largest amount of human food produced.

The United States Department of Agriculture through the States Relations Service and Bureau of Soils; and agricultural colleges and county agents, are advising the same.

The railroads are very urgent about the matter. The fertilizer manufacturers are offering to help the dealers and farmers as much as possible to overcome the transportation difficulties.

Half Cars Can Be Saved

Railway authorities have statistics to show that half of the cars ordinarily used for hauling fertilizers could do the business, if only they are loaded to their maximum capacity.

Where a full car load can not be made up for one destination, then it is to be filled with orders for neighboring stations along a railroad.

How Long Must I Suffer From the Pangs of Rheumatism?

Is there no real relief in sight?

Doubtless like other sufferers, you have often asked yourself this question, which continues to remain unanswered.

Science has proven that your Rheumatism is caused by a germ in your blood, and the only way to reach it is by a remedy which eliminates and removes these little pain demons from your blood. This explains why liniments and lotions can do no permanent good, for they cannot possibly reach these germs which infest your blood by the millions.

S. S. S. has been successfully used for Rheumatism for more than fifty years. Try it to-day, and you will find yourself at last on the right track to get rid of your Rheumatism. You can get valuable advice about the treatment of your individual case by writing to the Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. D Atlanta, Ga.

NEWTON ASKINS IS NOW REGISTERED PILL ROLLER

Recent returns from the examination of applicants for state license to practice pharmacy in Alabama, brings the encouraging information that Mr. Newton W. Askins of the Upchurch Drug Co., was one of the successful ones to be passed by the examiners. Mr. Askins is a graduate of the Max Morris School of Pharmacy of Macon, Ga. He now has license to practice in Alabama and Georgia.

FIRST MEN CALLED IN DRAFT WILL GO IN REGULAR ARMY

Washington, July 22.—Those selected for service under the draft will be permitted to enlist in the regular army or national guard at any time prior to their call for examination before exemption boards, probably ten days hence, Provost Marshal General Cowder announced tonight. They will be allowed however to join the marine corps.

The first men actually drafted probably will be detailed to the regular army in order to bring that branch up to its full war strength of 300,000 if the 35,000 enlistments are not obtained before examinations begin. The next will be put into the national guard.

Exemption machinery for virtually the entire country is complete. The provost marshal general's office announced tonight that the names of members of the appellate would be announced tomorrow. Those for 32 states were given out yesterday.

POLITICAL "PULL" WILL NOT WORK IN EXEMPTING MEN

Washington, July 23.—(Special)—Alabamians who attempted to employ "pull" in eliminating themselves from the draft for war services may be numbered on the fingers.

The few exceptions prove the rule that the young men of the state who have been called are calmly awaiting their fate.

Through a friend, a gentleman in eastern Alabama represented to a congressman today that he should be exempted because he is an invaluable newspaper man.

A gentleman in western Alabama having recently occupied a farm, asked for exemption in order that he might proceed to feed the army.

The number of such requests arriving today is less than 12. No hope of escape on the grounds suggested was held out by the congressmen.

A bad taste in the mouth comes from a disordered stomach, and back of that is usually a torpid liver—a condition which invites disease. HERBINE is the remedy needed. It corrects the stomach and makes the liver active and regular. Price 50c. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME VI. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., AUGUST 2, 1917. NUMBER 18.

TO ASSIST FARMERS IN SELLING THEIR PRODUCTS

List what you have to Sell With Food Preparedness Committee at Birmingham.

This fall the farmers are going to have on hand a large amount of surplus products of one kind and another of which they have need only to place on the market of the cities and obtain the cash in return. The markets exist all right, and in various places, but the farmer is handicapped in getting in touch with these agencies which are capable and willing to handle his stuff.

In order to bridge the space that lies between the farmer and the man who will buy his products, the Food Preparedness Bureau of the State of Alabama has been organized in Birmingham. The purpose of the committee is the promotion of better marketing facilities, and the stimulation of increased production of food products in Alabama.

Our farmers who will have anything in the way of produce to put on the market should at once get in touch with this bureau, and avail themselves of the opportunity that awaits them in getting rid of whatever hey have to sell.

The Union-Banner is in receipt of the following letter from Mr. T. P. Hay, Jr., Secretary of the bureau. We are reproducing it here in order that our readers may get a full idea of what is is intended to do.

"Birmingham, Ala., July 30, 1917.
"Mr. W. M. Wyatt, the Union-Banner,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir:

"It was suggested that we send you a copy of the report of the activities of the Food Preparedness Bureau in order that you might become acquainted to some extent with what this bureau is trying to do.

"We are devoting almost our entire efforts now towards helping the farmers find markets for their crops. In this connection it will interest you to know that this bureau has been asked to assist the Quartermasters in locating farm products to be used in the training camps in the state and in the South. If we render any useful service to the government, it will be necessary to have many farmers list with this bureau what they will have for market, and when it will be ready. Therefore, may we not rely on you to help get this word to them through your valuable paper? You can readily see that this will very probably afford a profitable market for many crops.

"When a large number of farmers have sent their listings into this bureau, they will be published in bulletin form and distributed among buyers. We do not buy or sell farm products. We inclose for your information a copy of the blanks used and also a poster, which we would thank you to put in a conspicious place.

"Thanking you for your interest in this matter, and assuring you of the hearty co-operation of this bureau, I am, Yours very truly,

"T. P. Hay, Jr., Secy.

We especially urge our farmers to get in touch with this bureau, and tell them what you have to sell. Address your communications to Mr. T. P. Hay, Jr., Secretary, 214 Chamber of Commecre, Birmingham, Ala. Ask him to furnish you with the necessary blanks for listing what you have to sell, and furnish you with all the information available in regard to the matter.

GOOD ROADS DAYS FOR STATE OF ALABAMA

Statement on the Subject by Mr. Rountree and Judge L. H. Reynolds.

ALL URGED TO WORK

"Birmingham, Ala., July 28, 1917.
"Judge L. H .Reynolds,
"Clanton, Ala.
"Dear Sir:

August 14 and 15 are legalized holidays in Alabama, for the purpose of working the public roads of the State. In accordance with the law creating Good Roads Days, it is made the duty of Governor Henderson to issue a proclamation, also the Judges of Probate and Mayors in their respective counties and towns.

"Now, Governor Henderson has issued a proclamation calling upon the people to observe these days. We are in receipt of another letter stating that he has written to the Probate Judges urging them to stir up all the interest possible in Good Roads Days. Now, if you have not issued your proclamation and commenced to organize your people to observe Good Roads Days, won't you please take this matter up at once and stir up all the interest possible?

"We desire to make Good Roads Days this year more successful than ever. Hope that you will secure the co-operation of the weekly and daily papers in your county and start to take active steps in regard to same.

'The Alabama Automobile Dealers Association, the Alabama Rural Carriers Association, the Alabama Farmers Union, and Alabama Good Roads Association, have all passed resolutions this year endorsing Good Roads Days, and promising to co-operate, and several commercial bodies have done likewise.

"Now, we hope that you will not hesitate to take the lead in this matter and help to make a success of same in your county. Please send us a copy of your proclamation, also clippings from your county papers in regard to activity in this matter.

"We are, yours very truly,
"Alabama Good Roads Assn.
"Per J. A. ROUNTREE, Secy."

Suggestions From Judge Reynolds.

The Governor of Alabama has designated August 14 and 15 as Good Roads Days, and has requested all Probate Judges to call the attention of the people in their respective counties, and ask them to observe these days.

I appeal to the people of our county to observe the above days, and do all they can to improve the public roads in their respective neighborhods.

Just think of the good that could be done on the roads if all parties owning teams would only give two days on the roads, and all men able to work would give two days work. My, how many miles of road would be improved!

I hope all the overseers will see all persons living near their roads, get them to bring out their teams, ask all those that have no teame to bring some kind of tools, and let's all put two good and honest days work on the public roads.

We are imposing on the public road in many places in the County by turning water from its natural channel into the road. Some persons are actually plowing in the roads.

Let every neighborhood have a meeting, agree on some particular road. You know where the places get so bad you cannot travel them. All take your teams and put in the two days, not for some people away off but for yourselves.

Hoping the 14 and 15 of August, 1917 will be long remembered, in Chilton County by the many miles of good roads built, I am,

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS, Judge of Probate.

THE NEW ROAD LAWS OF THE COUNTY IN QUESTION

Judge Reynolds Urges a Fair Trial of Law Before it is Condemned.

Editor Union-Banner:

Dear Sir: There seems to be much misunderstanding about the new road law which I think ought to be explained.

The law provides for overseers on different roads, and as many as is required. We hope each year to reduce them, and to be able to furnish them with tools as fast as we can. We know the overseers cannot work the roads to much advantage without tools, but we hope they will do their best under the circumstances.

One thing I want to make plain to all overseers and apportioners is that we have no money to work with. The bond issue paid two hundred thousand dollars of our debt, but we are still behind, and all of the taxes due this fall have already been spent.

It will take good management to get the county on a cash basis in another year, and I do not want to buy anything that we can do without until we can pay for it.

Now, I want to make one thing plain: There are some people that will do all they can to make this road law unpopular. One saw mill man, who told me that it was the only thing to do, to put a tax on wagons hauling lumber, etc., and yet, this same man has been out on the streets knocking the law in every way he could. He even went so far as to say that I got 25 per cent. of the wagon tax for my trouble, when he knew it was not true. I get 25 cents for issuing a tag for three months or more, but where license is taken out for only one month I do not get anything. I have to keep the money credited up to the road it belongs to, write the receipts, keep all books necessary. I have to issue receipts for money where hands pay instead of work, and I do not get one cent for all this.

Now, I will make this proposition to anyone you hear talking about my fees on roads: I will give anyone all the fees I get for my work in carrying out the new road law, and then give them $20.00 per month extra to do all that I have to do under this new road law.

Some people do not want the law to work the roads They want it repealed. Some parties in the Commissioners Court tried to have it repealed.

This law is for you, the people of Chilton County. It is to work your roads for you to travel over. The wagon tax is intended to help fix the bad places that they tear up, and to help keep up the public roads. When you hear certain fellows talking as some of these saw mill fellows do, stop for a moment, and think what an awful condition some of your roads were in last winter around some sawmills.

In conclusion, I want to say that it will be a long time before there will be any money to amount to very much to be spent on the public roads of this county. If we ever have any roads we must build them. I am going to do all I can to build up your roads. I am going to do all I can to keep up the roads that have been built, and if the public roads of this county go down, I am going to put the responsibiliay on the people, and you cannot blame me. I intend to no my part as your Probate Judge.

I hope every overseer will do his duty—work his road. If I can help you, call on me. I will come when I can, at my expense to help you. You know where the roads get muddy in winter. Fix them this summer and fall. Fix the mail routes first.

Let's all pull together for better roads. I do not think this law puts any burden on anyone, but if it does it is the poor fellow that has to pay five dollars or work five days that has not got any thing. The saw mill man has done more to tear up the roads than most any other business you can mention.

This county has gone in debt beyond its limit. Our taxes are so high now the people are groaning under the tax burden. I promised not to raise taxes, but to reduce them if I could, when I was a candidate. I am now opposed to raising taxes under any condition. I know the people cannot pay any more taxes but we must keep up the roads. We cannot afford to let them go down. And remember that we, the people of the county will have to work them if they are worked.

Let's try this new law before we condemn it and see if the operation of this law will not work the roads. We can amend it where it needs it.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

ROOSEVELT MAKES ADDRESS TO THE MOOSE

Says No Man Should be Allowed to Grow Rich as Result of the War.

Pittsburg, July 26.—Amid cheers of thousands of visitors gathered here for the international convention of the Loyal Order of Moose, former President Theodore Roosevelt today declared the continuation of universal military training in the United States after the war is the only security against a repetition of unpreparedness such as handicapped the country in the present crisis and which he said, amounts to a "miracle of national inefficiency."

The former executive assailed the theory that the war can be financed by a tremendous tax on incomes and declared for heavy and progressive taxes on excess profits. While a reasonable profit should be given on government war contracts, he said, no man in America has a right to become tremendously wealthy as a result of this war.

"We are in a war, and our first business is to fight," said Mr. Roosevelt. "Only a few months ago I heard people say they would give money, potatoes, and other things, but would let someone else fight for them. This is pawnbroker patriotism. The foremost place in patriotism is that of the American who actually goes to face the shells and cannons."

In another brief address earlier in the day, Mr. Roosevelt said all his kin who were eligible had "lined up" for military service and that "it isn't my fault that I'm not over there now."

A war relief fund of $550,000 was voted today by the convention. It will be raised through a membership assessment of $1 per capita.

A monster parade tonight in which Mr. Roosevelt apeared was the closing feature of the day's probramme.

BURDEN WILL BE LIGHTER

If the Three-Mill School Tax election is carried, it will increase the school fund for the county between $20,000 and $21,000, while the farmers and laboring people will pay less than $5,000 of this and the corporations, investment companies, etc., will pay the remainder of it. This may seem like placing a great burden on the people, but it will actually lighten the burden now upon them.

At present the farmers and laboring people of Chilton County are paying about $6,000 supplements to help run the schools, and if they were allowed to pay this increase of $5,000 in taxes they would be relieved of this $6,000 spuplement burden, and would thereby save $1,000. In addition to saving the $1,000 for the county, the county board of education will set the teachers' salaries at a reasonable amount and will guarantee that each and every white school in the county will be given a seven months school term absolutely free from all supplement or tuition, and will be given an increase of about thirty per cent. in the number of teachers for the county, or an ample teaching force for each school. If this election does not carry, the county cannot expect the schools to be as efficient hereafter as they have been, for the compulsory attendance law becomes effective the first of next October, and the law says that the compulsory attendance period must be free. This means that there will be an average of between 60 and 70 pupils to each teacher in the county, and there is enough public money to run the schools about four months. If this is not carried, it just means that the term average will be cut about one-fifth, the number of pupils to each teacher greatly increased; and as a whole, the poorer teachers will come to Chilton while the better trained ones will go to other counties that have already voted this tax, where they can get from seven to nine months instead of four in Chilton.

The law provides that no officer can be paid one penny of this tax. The tax assessor and collector do not receive any commission for assessing and collecting it, neither would the county superintendent receive any commission for disbursing it. In fact 100 cents in each dollar will go directly to the schools of this county. The money will never leave the county but will be used just as the one-mill special school tax has been used heretofore.

The time for which the tax would run is set at three years. This short time was suggested by the Trustees Association so that the plan could be tried out fully before fixing it upon the county for a longer time. After the three years expire, it can be voted in again or voted down, just as the people see fit to do.

It hasn't been a great while since the Editor of the Union-Banner was a shirt-tail lad out here in the hills, walking four miles to a country school every day, and traversing at great hazard the rugged path that led to the light of a little knowledge. We have by no means forgotten the handicaps that were upon the little school we attended. They were of course, not visible then, but our clear memory lets us see them plainly now. Those same inpediments rest upon our schools to this day with unmitigated weight, and after a while, they will be increased by the application of compulsory attendance. Not only does the writer see these conditions and realize their import. But nearly every man of the county sees them and must give credence to their weight. The great bar to progress that does and has always held our public schools down is now in the act of being removed. Let us think of what it means if it is removed. Then we cannot do else but express ourselves in favor of taking down the gate and turning our boys and girls free upon the wondrous rich pastures that are held for them within the limits of the three-mill local tax for our rural schools.

Now is the time for the man who has children to send to school to get his ear to the ground and listen to the rumbling of the noise that proclaims the approach of his salvation and the salvation of his children. And hearing the noise of the battle, let him not stand afar off and be uninterested, but gather unto himself all the zeal that lies in him and enter the ring on the side of his boys and girls and their better interests.

AS OTHERS SEE US

Anent the proposed three-mill Chilton county school tax proposition, prints the following the daily Ledger of Birmingham publishes the following editorial in Tuesday's edition:

"Chilton County will vote on the three-mill tax for schools. That county doesn't like bonds, but may put its schools out of reach of the politicians by means of a special school tax. There is not much room for argument. Of course, there ought to be enough money from the present taxes to suport the schools, but office-holders will not permit it.

"It may be well for Chilton to elect a couple of women to their school board to a distinct school issue. Then, when the new tax is voted it will all go to the schools and the proper share of the regular taxes will have to come also, or these women will know why.

"Chilton has changed recently from democratic to republican administration, and like nearly all the counties, the money is gone, the debts are flourishing and one set of office-holders accusing another set. The best way for the people to get schools is to vote the tax. It is very small and goes to the schools, and is out of reach of the office-holders. That county, like others, needs reforming, and the people will do it when they get tired of electing men to office for politics instead of for business. Chilton is already doing some reforming. This schol tax will help the schools, and that is the main thing."

There are, of course, many ways of looking at the three-mill school tax proposition. There are, we know some good things in favor of its adoption, and some reasonable points of objection. But is is our opinion that if you will take the whole proposition into consideration, and strike a balance of the points which argue for and against the measure, you will be bound to find the difference in favor of the adoption of the tax.

The Union-Banner doesn't know who the parties are who started all this idea about the Judge of Probate getting 25 per cent. of the wagon license tax of the county as his personal compensation for issuing the license. We judge though, from the color of the story that it comes from the camp of the ancient political enemies of Judge Reynolds.

But we can say one thing for them. They most certainly haven't read the law relating to this point, or else they must not have very much of a turn for understanding what they read (if they have read it.) And still further, if neither of the above conditions fit them, we must just guess that they just read the law and laid it aside and formed this cheap fabrication just to have something to punch at the Judge of Probate and Commissioners.

Some of our good honest well-meaning citizens have been made to believe by these evil informers that it is a fact that "Reynolds" does get 25 per cent. of the wagon license tax. Those who are innocent and are wrongly informed are not to blame. But the ones who started the thing willfully and are keeping the flame fanned and spreading, are doing both the county and the Commissioners Court a grave injustice. But it must be remembered that there are those in our midst who would be willing to sell the whole of Chilton County into perdition at one lump, just to secure even the least injury to Judge Reynolds.

If you will read the Road Laws of Chilton County you will find that Judge Reynolds does not get 25 per cent. of the wagon license tax. He gets 25 cents for issuing each license for three months or over. Such license is three dollars, and you know 25 cents is not 25 per cent of three dollars. In cases where license are issued for less time than three months the Probate Judge does not get one single penny for issuing the license.

The enforcement of the provisions of the new road laws places a big burden on the office of the Judge of Probate, and in turn, it is right that he should get a small fee somewhere to compensate for his trouble.

We hear several fellows declaring that the new road law will not give us any better roads than we had under the old system. But they are just guessing. They have not tried the new law to see what it will do. We have tried the old laws and systems, and we all know that they did not make us any roads at all. So, even if the new law does fail, we will not be in any worse fix for having tried it. But we believe if the new system is given a fair trial it will prove to be much mure efficient than the old way. Don't be too hasty to condemn it. Let's give it a trial and be sure it will not work before we lay it aside.

COTTON CROP ESTIMATED AT LESS THAN 12 MILLION BALES

In the monthly report of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, the entire crop of cotton in the United States is estimated at 12 million bales. The report places condition of crops as 70.3 per cent. of normal.

PROMPT WORK EXPECTED OF EXEMPTION BOARDS

Reports begin to Come in at Washington from Some Local Boards.

Washington, July 30.—Prompt and efficient work by district exemption boards is expected by government officials as a result of stripping all red tape from the procedure of the tribunals.

President Wilson's executive order outlining the principles to govern exemptions coupled with instructions to the boards from Provost Marshal General Crowder are regarded here as setting in motion the last phase of the selection process with a momentum that insures a minimum of confusion and delay.

Time is Big Object.

The object of instructions is to instruct the boards with a view that their primary purpose is to select the personnel for the national army in the shortest possible time. They have been informed that no legal precedents bind them and that there need be no adherance to technicalities of court procedure.

Attorney General Gregory set in motion today machinery to increase the size of the registration resevoir from which the 687,000 men of the first call are to be drawn. Thousands of men failed to register, it has been found. Through the District attorneys, the department of Justice is rounding up these men and when found, they will be assigned numbers which will insure their being called up for examination at an early date. They will be given the serial numbers of men near the top of the list already permanently discharged for physical reasons.

Reports Coming In.

The first reports of the local boards on physical examination are beginning to apear. As yet, however, they are not complete enough to make possible any logical deduction as to the probable average of rejection for reason. Draft statistics of the civil war showed between 25 and 30 per cent rejected on this ground. Such figures as have come from the local boards are in general harmony with the old average.

The average of rejection on physical grounds in the regular army recruiting has been far higher, but conditions are entirely different with the selective draft forces. In many districts a large number of men have asked for affidavit blanks on which to submit applications for exemption because of dependent families. This is no criterion of the exemptions to be granted, however, as each case be considered on its merits.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Mullins are spending a few days this week with relatives out in the country.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY:

I desire to announce that since my announcement as to the placement of velvet bean, corn, and wheat machinery for the accommodation of the public in caring for this year's crop and future crops, I have perfected arrangements to begin work on the foundation for the machinery and buildings to house it at once. I expect to have the buildings constructed and the machinery placed in ample time to grind the bean crop, the corn crop, and the wheat crop in commercial salable form, so that the farmer may get the best market price for his products.

Respectfully,
WILLIAM M. ADAMS.

When you yawn a good deal in the day time, feel dull, achey, and want to stretch frequently, it is an unmistakable symptom of malaria, and unless you do something at once you are booked for a spell of chills. But HERBINE is a chill medicine that will prevent or cure the disease. It drives out the impurities on which the malarial germ thrives, strengthens the liver and cleanses the bowels. Price 50c. STATE FARMERS UNION IN BIRMINGHAM LAST WEEK

Annual Convention elects Officers for the next Year and adjourns.

Birmingham Ala., July 27.—At the final session of the Farmers Union Convention in the courthouse Thursday, S. T. Jones, of Newton, was elected president of the State organization for the ensuing year.

The new president is from Dale County, and has been a progressive and enthusiastic worker in the ranks of the organization.

O. P. Ford, of McFall, who has been president for the past six years, was elected Secretary with C. M. Dinsmore, of Morgan County, as Vice-President, and the following executive Board:

J. J. Robinson of Lafayette, E. C. Bassett of Troy, J. B. Crews of Sampson, R. C. Hicks of Bibb County, and W. H. Conway of Jemison.

The appointment of the lecturer was conferred on A. E. Smith.

The most enthusiastic advocates of agricultural enlightenment and progress ever convened in the State was the designation employed in one of the addresses of welcome. The resolutions adopted on the Food Control Bill, good roads and recommendation to the government for the choice of the Alabama location for the nitrate plant, and many others were characterized as marking a new era in the progressiveness of the modern agriculturalist.

An unqualified endorsement of the United States Good Roads Association was passed, and the legislative committee urged to use every effort to cooperate in the passing of legislation for the employment of convicts on the public roads.

An almost unanimous vote of the delegates was cast in favor of woman suffrage. Uniformity both in the growing and packing of farm products was discussed at length, and recommendation that county agents be induced to keep the farmers in each district posted as to marketing the crops and the best time to sell products was made.

Arthur Tippett volunteered to service in the United States Navy last week, and is at home on furlough, awaiting further orders.

SAY VICTORY IS NEAR FOR ENTENTE ALLIES

Simonds says Time has arrived to re-dedicate nation to Ideals of a Great Struggle.

New York, July 28.—It lacks just a month now of being three years since representatives of the French, British and the Russian governments signed an agreement to fight the war out.

When that agreement was signed, victorious German armies were approaching Paris, the French government was already on its way to Bordeaux, and German victory seemed inevitable.

Now, after three years, we have a rededication. We have a re-affirmation of the determination of the nations which have been fighting this war to continue until the German menace is finally abolished, until doctrine of force and the policy of ruthlessness have been deferred unmistakably.

The declaration of purpose of the Allies in Paris is one to which all Americans can subscribe; it is one which would be indorsed officially by the United States government.

War's Main Issue.

The main issue of the war remains what it was on the day when the first German troops broke into Belgium in defiance of all human obligation and moral law. The issue of the war remains what it was when German troops turned Louvain into a shambles. It remains what it was on the morning of the Lusitania, whan American women and children, together with those of other nations were slaughtered to satisfy the German purpose. We were more fortunate than the French or the Belgians in that the Germans were able only to murder our women and not to dishonor them. But their purpose and their method were written into the Lusitania in unmistakable fashion.

Such adversities as have come to the allied side in recent months should be, and must be, only a new incentive to greater effort and larger sacrifice. We have seen the procession of German horrors unfolding for three years from the moment of the invasion of Belgium to the hour when women and children were driven into slavery—themselves the survivors of those who have been murdered and dishonored.

How can any man or woman think of peace now, when Germany faces the world unashamed and unrepentant considering only what portion of the booty wrung from the world by violence she may retain now and forever?

Baptism of Terror.

We have passed through three years of terrible war. We are nearer to victory at this moment than at any time since the war began. We shall lose the war now, if we lose it at all, not upon the battle fields, but around the green table.

There was never a time in human history when it was more necessary to fight and more futile to talk, and there never was a war since the beginning of strife in which the issue was more clearly written, more unmistakably. It is a good thing and a hopeful thing to see the nations which have long fought Germany united in a rededication of all they have to the common cause of civilization.

The United States should set its hand and seal to the latest Paris document. The American people should join the French, the British, the Italian, the Russian, in a resolution to have no peace which does not establish the right of every race, big and little, to live its own life; of every human being—man, woman and child—to live, even when a German purpose is served by murdering them.

The Germans sought to conquer the world by arms and failed. She sought to conquer it by terror and she has failed. There are German agents all over the world now seeking to disorganize the armies of the nations which have fought Germany, and to accomplish within the nations at war, what German arms have been unable to accomplish on the field. Let us not mistake their purpose or serve their ends.

Nature Needs Assistance In Keeping You Well

A little help goes a long ways.

If you would keep your body in a healthy and robust condition, throbbing with that splendid vitality that indicates freedom from all ailments, first of all see that your blood is kept pure. Any slight impurity that creeps into your blood will soon effect the well-being of your whole system.

A few bottles of S. S. S. will give just the assistance that nature needs in keeping the blood absolutely free of all impurities. This old remedy is a wonderful purifier and tonic, and has no equal for keeping the blood rich and pure. It builds up the appetite and tones up the entire system.

S. S. S. is sold by druggists everywhere. It has been successfully used for more than fifty years, and people in practically every state testify to its great worth. Write for booklets and free medical advice to Swift Specific Co., Dept. E Atlanta, Ga.

If you feel "blue", "no-count", lazy you need a good cleaning out. HERBINE is the right thing for that purpose. It stimulates the liver, tones up the stomach and purifies the bowels. Price 50c. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

NON RESIDENT NOTICE

State of Alabama, Chilton Cohnty. Probate Court, July 18, 1917

In the matter of the estate of Avrilla Abrams, deceased, to Alberta Mosley, non resident of the State of Alabama.

Whereas, H. A. Harris, as administrator of the estate of Avrilla Abrams, deceased, has filed his petition in writing under oath in said Court, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate, described in said petition, for paying the debts due by said estate, upon the grounds that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts, and the 20 day of August, 1917, has been appointed for the hearing of said petition:

You are therefore, hereby commanded to appear before the said Court on said day to contest said petition if you think proper.

Witness my hand, this 18 day of July, 1917.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

Women Love Babies

It is woman's nature to naturally respond to the charm of a pretty child. Who does not admire babies? The longing to possess a baby is often outweighed by the inherent fear of the period of distress.

There is a most wonderful external preparation known as "Mother's Friend".

It is a safe external massage which relieves pain and discomfort at the crisis; makes elastic those fibers and muscles which nature is expanding, and wonderfully soothes the inflammation of breast glands.

It enables the expectant mother to preserve her health and strength, and she remains a pretty mother by having avoided the suffering and danger which would otherwise accompany such an occasion. Every nerve, muscle and tendon is thoroughly lubricated. Get a bottle today from the druggist, and write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. G, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga. They will mail you an intensely interesting little book, "Motherhood and the Baby". The book is free. Every woman should herself aid nature in her glorious work. "Mother's Friend" makes it possible for you to do so and should be used regularly without fail night and morning.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by that certain mortgage executed by Guy H. Gerald and Hattie Gerald, to O. P. Lindquist on March 25, 1915, which said mortgage being recorded in Vol. 150, page 426, record of mortgages, in theo fice of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Ala., I, O. P. PASSENGER SERVICE
L&N

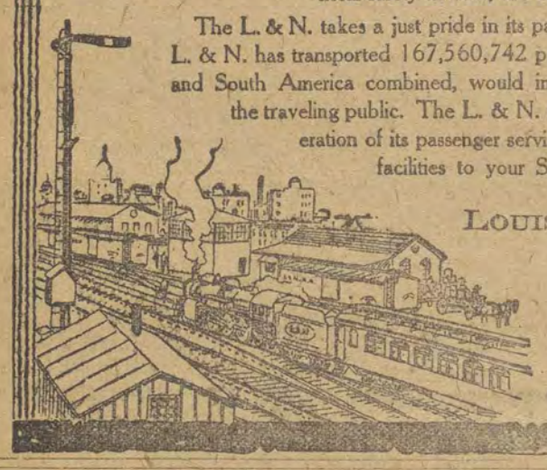
THE primary object of L. & N. Passenger Service is Safety, Comfort and Dispatch. Courtesy to every one and personal attention for the aged, for ladies and for children, or any one else desiring it, is a matter of custom with loyal, well trained L. & N. employes.

Powerful locomotives—the best mechanical genius has yet devised—pull all-steel, luxuriously upholstered, vestibule coaches over heavy rails laid on minimum grades and curves at a rate of speed scheduled as fast as consistent with safety.



Whether on a short trip, or traveling from Chicago to Jacksonville, Cincinnati to New Orleans, St. Louis to Atlanta, the L. & N. will put you there as per schedule a large percentage of times. The record for schedule maintained is an enviable one.

Solid Pullman trains, excellent dining car service, club cars, observation cars, filtered water, carefully cleaned and fumigated coaches—every courtesy and facility demanded by the modern traveler—is supplied by the L. & N. A large percentage of the system is double track.

L. & N. passenger officials are ever active to maintain the unapproached L. & N. standard of service. Every new or improved facility of merit is immediately installed.

L. & N. passenger operatives, assisted by block systems and electrical safety devices, are ever alert to safeguard life and property.

The L. & N. takes a just pride in its passenger service, and the fact that in sixteen years the L. & N. has transported 167,560,742 passengers, or a total equal to the population of North and South America combined, would indicate an appreciation of that service on the part of the traveling public. The L. & N. requests your favorable consideration of its passenger service, and pledges its unsurpassed facilities to your Safety, Comfort and Dispatch.

JUSTICE TO GOVERN EXEMPTION BOARD

Claims of Drafted Men Must be Viewed Without Fear, Favor, Affection, Partiality, says Crowder

Sacrifices Demanded of Entire Population; President issues Order Against Excusing Men that are not Invaluable.

Washington, July 28.—The Draft Boards must judge claims before them dispationately; there must be no excuse for sympathy, affection, or favoritism.

Thus Provost Marshal General Crowder counselled tonight, in a letter sent all the local boards in the eve of drawing the national army. At the same time, President Wilson issued an executive order, cautioning government departments against certifying employes for exemption as indispensible unless they are actually invaluable.

And in closing he added a note of warning to all industrial interests asking that they exercise the same conscientious and scrupulous caution to the end, less there appear to be favored or exempted classes among citizens called by law to the national defense.

Crowder's order pointed out that a sacrifice is demanded from every one, and that all classes should be viewed without respect to the board's personal special sympathies or affections.

"It will strengthen you to remember, "Crowder wrote, "that for every exemption or discharge that is made for individual convenience or to escape personal loss of money or property or for favor of affection, some other man whose time would not otherwise have come must incur the risk of losing his life. There can be no room for hesitation in such a case."

President Wilson's letter was aimed at governing branches and contained a three-line suggestion to big bussiness on the end.

General Crowder's letter.

General Crowder's letter in part follows

"To the members of local boards:

"You are entering on a difficult task, the gravity of which is beyond anything that can be said in the way of discussion.

"War demands individual sacrifices to the common cause. No person ever approached war with a calmer appreciation of that sacrifice or a firmer resolve to bear it and present themselves 'to be classified for service in the place to which it shall serve the common good to call them.'

"This calm determination could not exist were it not for the confidence of the nation in its institutions. In this public confidence is found the very spirit of the selective service law. The most equitable rules that could be devised have been prescribed for guidance, and the administration of these rules and the sacrifice that is offered by your neighbors is entrusted in your hands.

Sacrifices for Everyone.

"From everyone is demanded a sacrifice. But there is one thought to be kept always in your mind. The selected man offers his life. There is no greater giving than this; and that thought should guide you always.

"Another fundamental thought is this:

"You are not a court for the adjustment of differences between two persons in controversy. You are agents of the government, engaged in selecting men for the government, and there is no controversy. You acting for the government are to investigate each case in the interests of the nation and never in the interest of the individual. There is no one exemption or discharge in the law or regulations that is put there for the benefit of any individual.

"Therefore, no one has a right, by himself or by attorney, to urge, by argument or pleading, his individual case upon you. You should rigidly exclude this. Ordinarily you should act on affidavits. If you desire more information you may proceed to get it. But no claimant has a right to submit other proof than that called for by regulations or that you may call for."

100 per cent. Roughage

BUCKEYE HULLS are real roughage in every particle. They are free of everything that has no value as forage. They are free of lint. They are free of trash. They are free of dirt and dust. When you buy

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

you are paying for nothing but roughage, and you are feeding your stock nothing that is worthless or injurious. Buckeye Hulls look like a real feed and are a real feed. Their very appearance will convince you that you should use them.

Even if Buckeye Hulls cost as much as old style hulls it would still be to your advantage to use them. Selling at several dollars per ton less, they put old style hulls beyond consideration.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls allow better assimilation of other food.
They are sacked—easy to handle.
They take half the space for storage.
They mix well with other forage.
Every pound goes farther.
2000 pounds of real roughage to the ton—not 1500.

Mr. S. L. Jones, Jackson, La., says:

"I have been feeding my dairy cows Buckeye Hulls and find that they do as well on Buckeye Hulls as on old style and that they like the Buckeye Hulls better than the old style."

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

DR. PARRISH LICENSED TO PRACTICE VET. MEDICINE

The State Board of Examiners has granted to Dr. W. Lonnie Parrish a license to practice veterinary medicine and surgery in the State of Alabama. Dr. Parrish received his certificate from the authorities on Monday. He is a graduate of the Veterinary Department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, and will be located here for the practice of his profession. Dr. Parrish is a home boy, and his many friends here congratulate him upon his successful completion of his studies, and hope him further success in his practice.

ANTI-DRAFT MEETINGS ARE BEING HELD IN GEORGIA

Athens, Ga., July 30.—Opponents to the selective draft, attending a mass meeting here at Bold Springs, Franklin County, today jerred loyal citizens who sought to warn them against unpatriotic acts. The meeting was one of a series of demonstrations in Georgia against the law. The presence of a United States Commissioner with a squad of deputies probably prevented any violence. A fund of $1200 was raised to test the constitutionality of the law, which will be sent to Thomas E. Watson of Thomson, it was said. The majority of those attending the meeting were men beyond the ages affected by the draft.

Augusta, Ga., July 30.—Resolutions opposing the selective draft law were adopted today at a mass meeting of 300 citizens at Lincolnton. A fund of $200 was subscribed to test the constitutionality of the law.

"SAMMIES" TO GET NERVES STEELED BY SIGHT-SEEING

Men will be sent in small groups out To the Battle Front.

American Field Headquarters in France, July 28.—That the nerves as well as the bodies of the men may be steeled for the coming conflict, sight-seeing tours to the front are being arranged by the general staff for American soldiers.

The general who is expected to return from his visit to the firing line Saturday night, will undertake the organization of the first trips forth with, in accordance with the French military authority.

Enlisted men with the highest records of capability and good behavior will be the first chosen to participate in the visits to the trenches. They will go out in small groups and will remain in the battle fields for several days. Thus, they will get used to the sound of shells singing over their heads and lose the nervousness that few men can escape the first time under fire. Also they will acquire a thorough understanding of the necessity of learning the art of digging trenches in all its details.

Most important of all, they will be able to tell their comrades in arms how the war really looks—and feels. I received striking evidence of the fact that this force is a real citizen's army in visiting the colonel of one of our best infantry regiments this morning. In the midst of the eulogy of the American training camps and the officers they turn out, he remarked that only fourteen of his sixty officers had been more than four months with the colors before arriving in France.

"And yet," he added, "there isn't an inspector general in the world who would notice it."

One of the three batallion commanders in this regiment is a Plattsburg graduate, a son of a particularly destinguished father. The officers with whom I talked are enthusiastic about Major ——. They say he is one of the best proofs that the United States will have little difficulty in finding a sufficient supply of officers for the great new army now in process of organization.

GREENSBORO MAN KILLS SELF IN SAVANNAH WHEN DRAFTED

Savannah, July 28.—James B. Nabors, 29, a traveling salesman, shot and killed himself in a local hotel tonight after receiving a summons to appear before the examination board at Greensboro, Ala., where he was registered for the military draft.

Nabors' number in the drawing was the first drawn—258—according to the official notification, which was found open beside his body. His friends here said he had brooded a great deal over the probability of being drafted.

War Predicted in Detail Three Centuries ago.

In a publication called "Omens of the Great War," the following remarkable allegory, written by Brother Johannes, three hundred years ago, appears. In deciphering the allegory it must be remembered that France is represented by a Cock; England by a Leopard; Russia by a White Eagle; Germany by a Black Eagle; and Austria by the "other Eagle," while the Lamb stands for justice, mercy and truth.

The allegory follows:

Towards the year 2000 the Antichrist will manifest himself. His army will surpass in numbers all that can be imagined.

There will be a Christmas among the legions, and there will be Mohamedans and savage soldiers among the defenderso ft he Lamb.

For the first time the Lamb will be all red. There will not be a single spot in the Christian world that will not be red, and red will be the heavens, the earth, and the waters, and even the air, for blood will flow in domains of the four elements at once.

The Black Eagle will throw himself on the Cock, who will lose many feathers but will strike back heroically with his spurs. He soon would be crushed were it not for the Leopard and his claws.

The Black Eagle will come from the country Luther, will surprise the Cock from another side, and will invade the country of the Cock up to the middle of it.

The White Eagle, coming from the North, will surprise the Black Eagle and the 'other Eagle' and will invade the country of the Antichrist from one end to another.

The Black Eagle will see himself forced to liberate the Cock in order to fight the White Eagle, into the country of the Antichrist to help the White Eagle.

The battles fought up to then will be as nothing compared to those which will take place in the country of Luther for seven angels will together pour on the fire of their censers on the impious earth, which signifies that the Lamb will order the extermination of the race of Antichrist.

When the Beast sees that he is lost, he will become furious, and for many weeks the beak of the White Eagle, the claws of the Leopard, and the spurs of the Cock will furiously strike at him.

They will cross rivers over the borders of the plain, and these, in places, will change the courses of the waters. They will bury only the men of noble families, the leading commandants, and the princes, because of the carnage made by the armies will be joined the wholesale death of those who will die from hunger or the pest.

The Antichrist will ask many times for peace but the seven Angels who walk in front of the three Animals defending the Lamb have declared that victory will only be granted on the condition oft he Antichrist be crushed like straw on the barn floor.

The executors of the justice of the Lamb cannot stop fighting as long as the Antichrist possesses sodliers to fight against them.

That much makes the decrees of the Lamb so implacable that the Antichrist will has pretended to be a follower of Christ and to act in His Name and if he does not perish the fruit of the redeemer would be lost, and the doors of Hades would prevail against the Savior.

The fight which will take place where the Antichrist forges his arms will not be in any way a human fight. (This may have reference to Essen, where the Krupp works are, and many authorities believe that the decisive battle may take place in Westphalia.)

The three Animals defending the Lamb will exterminate the last army of the Antichrist, but they will be forced to erect on the battlefield a pyre as large as a city, for the bodies of the dead will change the aspect of the countryside, as there will be mounds of the slain.

The Antichrist will lose his crown and will die in solitude and madness. His empire will be divided into twenty states, but none of them will any longer be possessors of fortresses, armies or vessles.

(Curiosity enough, this number coincides with the number of German states.)

The White Eagle by the order of St. Michael will drive the crescent from Europe and will install himself at Constantinople. Then will begin an era of peace and prosperity of the earth and there will be no more wars, each nation being governed according to its desires and living according to its rules of justice.

There will no longer be Lutherans or Schismatics. The Lamb will reign and the supreme happiness of humanity will begin. Happy will be those who escape the perils of that period, who will be able to enjoy the fruit of the reign of the Spirit and of the purging of humanity, which can only come after the defeat or the Antichrist.

PROHIBITION FOR NATION WINS OUT IN THE SENATE

Washington, Aug. 1.—A a resolution for submission to the states of a prohibition amendment to the Federal Constitution was adopted today by the Senate. The vote was 65 to 20, eight more than the necessary two-thirds. As adopted, the resolution contains a provision that the states must be asked to ratify the amendment within six years. The House must get act on the resolution.

ALABAMA GOOD ROADS DAYS

The Governor of our state has designated August 14 and 15 as legalized holidays in Alabama for working the public roads. These are days set aside for doing patriotic work on the roads. All men, whether subject to road duty or not, are asked to donate these two days to work on roads. There are places of road in every community which need mending badly, and it is the purpose of these days to have the citizens meet and agree to put in two day's work in repairing these bad places. In such a way, much bad road could easily be made good, and at little expense to the people. It is hoped that Chilton County will make a good showing on these days. Judge Reynolds urges our people to contribute their time and energies toward the working of the roads on August 14 and 15, and the people can do no better deed than to respond freely.

HEAT CAUSES NEAR 300 DEATHS THROUGHOUT UNITED STATES

Press dispatches from chief cities of the country suffering from the excessive heat in recent days give the following unmber of deaths in each city:

New York, 115; Philadelphia, 68; Chicago, 32; Pittsburg, 24; Cleveland, 14; Detroit and New Ark, N. J., 10 each; Baltimore 3 and Norfolk, 1.

FIRST BALE SOLD AT DOTHAN

Cotton is opening rapidly throughout this section.

FARM LOAN APPLICATIONS

It will be to the interest of those who expect to file applications for loans on farm lands, to do so at the earliest practical time, on account of the fact that the unusually good crop conditions gives the applicant an advantage in getting a satisfactory report on inspections.

WILLIAM M. ADAMS.

A MEETING OF FRIENDS

On Thursday a number of friends and relatives met at the home of Mr. J. D. Colins near Clanton for a day of peaceful and pleasant friendly association.

The company in addition to the family of Mr. Collins, was composed of Mrs. W. P. Murrah of Collins Chapel and two daughters, Misses Mollie and Lummie, also her son, W. E. Green of Anniston, Mrs. Wm. Dorminey and Miss Mae Dorminey of Union Grove and Messrs John and James Dorminey from Georgia. The two latter are the sons of T. J. Dorminey and Wm. Dorminey, and are now members of the Georgia National Guard. They are at home for a brief visit with friends and relatives before they depart for France.

The day was spent in a joyful manner. Mr. Collins is amply fixed up at his home for the entertainment of his friends, and he knows how to make them enjoy themselves.

MARRIAGES

The following marriage license have been issued by Probate Judge:

Allis G. Waldrup, Warrior, and Mrs. Zoralice Snyder.

Wm. Cooper, Mt. Creek, and Miss Effie Aldridge.

L. G. Roberts, Clanton and Miss Cora Mae Pounds.

Alfred Fail, Montgomery, and Miss Lucile Hamilton, Montgomery.

Miss Conradine Lane writes that she will return to Clanton during next week.

WILL HAVE COUNTY FAIR AT CLANTON THIS COMING FALL

The Chilton County Fair Association makes the pleasing announcement that they will hold the County Fair as usual at Clanton this fall. The exact date has not been set yet.

This is good news, as the Fair is a good institution, and if managed right, as in the past, will prove a benefit and stimulant to our agricultural progress.

Arrangements have already been made for printing the catalogue and premium list, and it will be ready for distribution in about a week.

Let our farmers now begin to look forward toward making a good show of their products at the Fair this fall. The Fair should be made as good as ever in the past.

Mr. Ruben Reynolds, Misses Lessie, Annie and Myrtle Reynolds and Miss L. E. Morgan motored up to Shelby Springs on Wednesday night to meet friends there.

CHILTON CO. SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION AT THORSBY, ALA.

The annual convention of the Chilton County Sunday School Association met at Thorsby, on July 26 and 27, 1917. We had about thirty registered delegates, and only about fifteen schools represented.

Reports show the Sunday School interest in our county is growing. We owe it all to our faithful County President and District Officer, and willing voluntary workers. Prof. H. C. McDonald of Clanton was never too busy or too tired to report to a call for a service when it was possible for him to go. Prof. J. L. Johnson was always ready and willing to give his service to this great work, and there are many others who would gladly respond to a call which we appreciate more than words can express. We regret very much that only 2 district presidents were present. District No. 1, with faithful president and secretary almost reached the gold standard. No. 3 showed better work than we have had for some time. Reports from other districts, as best we could get was very encouraging. District No. 5 almost attained to the front line standard.

We were glad to have so many ministers with us. We appreciate their co-operation and help in carrying out thep rogram. Every address made by both to whom subjects were assigned and volunteers were inspiring and practical.

Mr. D. H. Marbury of Marbury, Ala., and Prof. A. L. Davis of White City, have offered their service to Chilton County, and we hope to have them again. The state was represented by Mrs. Leon C. Palmer, the state elementary superintendent, on the 26 and 27, Miss Freda Bose on 26, Mr. J. O. Webb on the 27.

We wish to thank the good people of Thorsby for their kind hospitality shown us while there, the bulletin committee for their faithful service, the county papers for their kindness in printing programs and notices of our county and district meetings.

We were glad to see Clanton Baptist Sunday School carry the banner home with them, which was offered to the school having the largest number of miles traveled by delegates.

J. B. NORTHCUTT, Pres.
DELLA WILLIAMS, Secy.

Mr. Charles A. Barton of Hartford, Conn., representing the interests of life insurance companies engaged in making loans in Chilton and adjoining counties spent two days of this week in this County, with Mr. W.M. Adams, who is the local agent of the companies.

Mr. Barton was very favorably impressed with the crops of this county and the method of cultivating. He stated that he had made inspections throughout the entire South, in the boll weevil section and out of it, and that the general crop conditions were equal to if not better than than they were in any secion which he had previously visited. This should be encouraging to our farmers.

Quite a bunch of cordial Clanton young people attended a dance at Verbena on Monday night.

Alfred Mims of Thorsby was in Clanton on Thursday.

County Treasurer J. Bice, and sons, Clarence and Grover, and John Henley and son, Clarence, went down to Montgomery Thursday. They are going to spend a night with some relatives and friends in the army.

This Means You, Mr. Merchant!

DID you know that you and this paper have an interest in common? Your success helps the community as a whole which in turn is of benefit to us.

COURSE TO FOLLOW WHEN SOLDIERS DIE IN FRANCE

The Following Memorandum Approved by the Adjutant General, has been released to the public.

In event of death among officers or enlisted men of the army, the Adjutant General's office will continue the present practice of sending individual notices to the next of kin immediately upon receipt of such notice.

This notice will generally consist of a brief notice giving the date, place and cause of death.

The details attending the death will be given by the deceased's late organization commander.

All deaths occuring among the troops of the expeditionary forces in France will be published in the Official Bulletin as soon as notice thereof has been received.

Under the law, a deceased soldier's commanding officer has full jurisdiction in the matter of disposing of any personal effects that may have been in the possession of the soldier at the time of his death; and when the effects are not claimed by the legal representative within a reasonable time, the proceeds of the sale are deposited in the United States Treasury subject to the claim of the legal representative, and all such claims are settled to the Auditor for the War Department.

If it is desired to make claim for the personal effects, an application for the same should be at once addressed to the commanding officer of the late soldier's company. This application should be acompanied with affidavits of the fact that the claimant is the legal representative entitled to receive the effects of the deceased soldier.

The accounts of deceased soldiers are settled by the Auditor for the War Department, Washington, D.C., who is the official of the Treasury Department, charged by law with the settlement of claims of this character and to whom application should be made by the legal representative of the late soldier for settlement of his accounts. Any correspondence relative to the remains of the deceased soldier, for the place of burial, should be addressed to the Quartermaster General of the Army, Washington, D. C.

In cases of death among troops in the United States the commanding officer at the place of death communicates with the relatives of the deceased as to the disposal of the remains. In event, however, that burial has already taken place, all correspondence relative to the removal of the remains of the deceased should be addressed to the Quartermaster General, United States Army, Washington, D. C.

People sing joyfully yet the World War sends a pang through the minds. "Ah!" says some minister. "The war just had to be." No it did not have to be. If man would have learned the great lesson otherwise, but he would not. So the ordeal must be met. Evil is permitted that man may learn the exceeding sinfulness of sin. Through these judgments and trials man will be taught righteousness ,and the greatest blessings of all history will follow. "Light is shining behind the cloud."

IN MEMORY OF MR. LITTLETON

On July 18 Mr. Aaron Littleton was found dead in bed. God called him home while sleeping. Mr. Littleton had been in ill health for a number of years, but seemed to be doing very well shortly before his death.

He was 67 years old; was a loving and devoted father and husband. He left a wife and nine children to mourn after him.

He was a devoted Christian and worked for the church as long as he was able. He was a shining light for his people, and tried to set good examples for them to follow. To know him was to love him.

How his many friends will miss him. But all we can hope for is to live the life he set before us and meet him in that home above where there will be no more parting.

He was laid to rest in the Collins Chapel Cemetery, where he has been a member of the church for a number of years. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. P. Lowery and Rev. Hughes.

We know that his family will miss him, but our loss is heaven's gain.

One Who Loved Him.

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME VI. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., AUGUST 9, 1917. NUMBER 19.

YOU ARE ENLISTED IF YOU DON'T COME

Crowder Issues a Statement of Warning to those who fail to Respond that it means automatic enlistment into the Selective army.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Registered men who resist the selective draft law face military caurt-martial for desertion and the possibility of execution for desertion in time of war. The whole military and civil power of the federal government and the civil power of the states, cities or counties will be employed to bring them to book.

This was announced in a formal statement tonight by Brog.-Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, provost marshal general, in response to reports from North Carolina, Georgia, and Oklahoma of anti-draft disturbances. As yet, the power of the federal government has not been invoked by the governors of the three states nor by the agents of department of justice. The only official notice received in Washington of the disturbances was a telegram from the governor of North Carolina, saying that the registered men of two townships in that state might refuse in a body to comply with the summons for examination.

No official word came from Oklahoma, where the most serious situation prevails. It was believed the governor, both in his official capacity and as the direct agent of the president in the execution of the draft law, is confident that order can be restored without military help. There will be no hesitation, however, in employing federal troops if they are needed.

Crowder's Statement.

General Crowder's statement formulated after conference with officials of justice department, follows:

"Press reports and other advices received indicate that in one or two widely separated districts, individuals misinformed as to the purpose of the law, and misguided as to its result, are threatening forcible resistence to the draft.

"There is nothing to resist at this stage in the execution of the law. All male persons between the ages of 21 and 30 inclusive have been enrolled for military service. A preliminary call has gone forth to some such persons, but the immediate and actual object of this call is merely to provide an opportunity for such persons, or for someone else in respect of them to present to the government reasons why they should not be finally ordered to report for military duty.

Penalty for Failure.

"If such persons do not appear and present these reasons, they have just neglected to take advantage of an opportunity that was offered solely for their benefit. The failure of persons to take advantage of this opportunity does not interfere with the raising of the army and interests the government only as punishable crime of omission. If they do not desire to make any such claims, or if for any other reason, they fail to appear, their names are automatically posted as having been called and not exempted or discharged. Automatically also they are inducted into military service and made subject to military law. Failure to appear merely hastens this automatic process.

Capital Offense.

"When the time allowed for making these claims has elapsed, these persons will be enrolled as in the military service. They will then be ordered to appear as soldiers. From this point on they will be under the swift and summary procedure of a court-martial. Failure to report for duty when ordered to do so constitutes desertion. Desertion in time of war is capital offense. Deserters may be apprehended by either civil or military authority, and, after the mandate of the federal government has gone forth, the whole strength of the military arm of the government as available to apprehend deserters if it is necessary to use such force.

Futile Strokes.

"Demonstrations against the local boards are simply futile strokes in the air. All the records necessary to hold such persons are already on file at state headquarters and at the national capital ,and since local boards have no occasion to use any force in simply offering a beneficial opportunity to registered persons, there is no field for resistence. If resistence is attempted later when the army seeks to apprehend deserters, it will instantly encounter troops of the federal government."

In practice under general Crowder's instructions on the law, registered men who do not appear for examination will be posted to the District Boards as selected for military service as soon as the five-day period allowed them to put in an appearance after they have been summoned has elapsed. Two days more will elapse after their names reach the district board to await appeal action by the individual. They will then be posted to the adjutant general of the state as selected to fill the quotas of their districts.

Order for the mobilization of the selected men will be given sometime during the present month. If the register fails to obey that order he will be set down as absent without leave and the machinery of the army will be set in motion to bring him in. In addition, all state and municipal police authorities and all United States marshals will be used to apprehend him. When it is clear that he is willfully absenting himself with no intention of reporting for the army, a charge of desertion will be placed against him. From that time on any civil official, who arrests him will earn a reward of $50.

Death May Result.

If found guilty by court-martial of desertion, the individual may be sentenced to death and only the president can save from punishment.

General Crowder believes that the resistence in Oklahoma and elsewhere are acting under a delusion, fostered probably by agitators, that they are conducting a political campaign against the draft, whereas, the time for that passed when the registration was completed. The government will take no interest in their proceedings now, unless they fail to report to their companies when called. There is no question invovled of civil courts or local juries. Thirteen army officers will pass on the cases of the men when they are brought to book and the armed strength of the nation is available to bring them to book.

Aiders and Abettors

As to those who are aiding or abetting the registerers the situation is different. While the government will make no effort to bring in men who do not obey the summons of the local selection boards or attempt to enforce their attendance in any way until they have passed ino the military status, it will use every energy to stamp out disorders designed to prevent the execution of the federal law. For this purpose the president has legal power to employ the army in any state without reference to the state authorities. In pracice, however such a step would not be taken until the governors asked for military forces to restore order. They would be furnished promptly by department commanders without red tape or delay.

Reduce Exemptions.

General Crowder also took action today to reduce the number of applications for exemption which news reports indicate are being filed. In a telegram to all governors he directed that local boards be instructed to furnish to newspapers hereafter from day to day, names of all registered men who apply for exemption, the grounds asserted to support such claims and the action taken by the board. In cases of discharge for physical disqualifications, this does not apply, as these are not cases where exemption is claimed, but are the result of rejection by a board. The specific reason for rejection will not be published.

General Crowder's message follows: "The names of all registered men are on a list arranged in the order in which they will be called for military service. Wherever any registered persons impose upon a local board and improperly secures a certificate of exemption or discharge he advances the time for call of all other uncalled for persons on the list.

"For this reason every registered person and, to some extent, every person in the community is more or less directly interested in seeing that the facts are brought to the attention of the government. For every local board a person has been designated who will receive information of such cases and take appeal to the district board or inform the local board.

"For this reason, the public is entitled to know the grounds upon which claims for exemption or discharge are being asked by registered men.

To Publish Names.

"Local boards should therefore be instructed immediately to make available to the press from day to day the names of persons claiming exemption or discharges, the grounds on which such claims are based, and in general, the number of cases that are being disposed of by the boards from day to day. This instruction does not apply, of course to discharges on the grounds of physical disqualifications."

Effect of Order.

Officials believe the effect of this order will be to curb applications for exemption to a large extent. Men who do not have legitimate excuses are not expected to court the scorn of neighbors who would recognize the weakness of their pleas when published. Men whose cases are clear, however, and who are entitled to exemption, officials believe, will be glad to have their neighbors know that it is not lack of patriotism or fear which has permitted them to seek relief from military service. Exemption in such cases, officials declared, will be generally approved and the parents and relatives of boys who will be taken are entitled to know why the boys of their neighbors were not taken.

Far from regarding the progress of the process as slow, General Crowder believes rapid strides and being made. If reports were available tonight he said, for each of the 4600 local boards, it would be shown that many thousands of men have already been passed physically, filed no application for exemption and are merely awaiting orders to join the colors. An accurate estimate of the number in this class is not obtainable.

PLEA FOR WORLD PEACE URGED BY THE RUSSIANS

Workmen and Soldiers to Issue Proclamation Outlining Their Position.

Petrograd, Aug. 4.—Russia wants world peace. The Executive Committee of the Workmen's and Soldiers' Congress today determined upon a proclamation to the world which would detail the "tragic position" in which a continuance of the war places the new Democracy. Such a continuance, the prolamation will declare, means the wrecking of all democracy won in the revolution and all prayers for world-wide and a just peace.

At this same time, this all-powerful executive committee determined upon this far-reaching appeal for settlement of the war, party leaders of the three great Russian representative assemblies met at the Winter Palace.

They are the workmen and soldiers, the Duma members and the peasants. They vote! general confidence informer Premier and Minister of War Kerensky. Going even further, they declared him the "only man with sufficient authority to assure success of government."

The commercial and industrial elements flatly refused to join in a new ministry. Kerensky faces the task of forming a new cabinet with only radicals and socialists.

In pressing this recognition, Kerensky sent a letter to Vice-President Nekrasow, of the Cabinet. which became public only today, declaring he could "no longer continue responsible to the country in view of the impossibility—despite all measures which he had taken—of constituting a Provisional Government."

DRAFT ARMY WILL BE READY TO PROCEED BY SEPT. FIRST

Washington, Aug. 4.—The national army will be ready to proceed to cantonments by September 1, Provost Marshal General Crowder stated today.

"If any great urgency demanded," he added, " we could undoubtedly mobilize thousands at this moment. By September 1, the work of examination, notification and listing will be over, and the army may be on its way to the cantonments."

PROSPECT OF PEACE BRIGHTEN IN EUROPE

British Premier Openly States That End of Great War Will Come Sooner than Expected.

London, Aug. 4.—Europe, bled out white by three years of war, many of her cities in ruins, her people burdened by debts of billions which this generation, nor the next, will ever pay, is turning again to thoughts of peace and rehabilitation.

This today becomes more than ever evident. The word which has breathed for three years only in secrecy of Europe's chancellories is now being openly discussed in public by leaders of the warring nations.

David Lloyd George, British Prime Minister, today flatly predicted an early victory. He was speaking before a great patriotic meeting in Queen's Hall commemorative of the third anniversary of the war. In Berlin, Chancellor Michaels, back from an interview with the Emperor of Austria, who is known to be anxious to the point of impatience for peace, while conceding that peace prospects were not promising, hinted that "unexpected developments" might make a sudden change in the outlook.

Meanwhile, tottering Russia, anxious for peace, but determined to fight to hold her new won liberty,, was desperately trying to recognize her cabinet and compose her internal affairs, while her armies continued to retreat into their own territory before the final desperate spurt of the Germans on the eastern front—a spurt designed to force Russia's withdrawal from the war.

Germany, meanwhile was completing the reorganization of her cabinet—the so-called "peace cabinet" of the "Peace Chancellor," Michaels. Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann, opponent of the Tirpitz policy of ruthless submarine warfare, was reported to have been appointed to the post of Foreign Minister, recently vacated by Herr Zimmermann, Junker leader, and Dr. von Wallraff, Burgommamster of the Cologne, was reported to have been made Secretary for Home Affairs.

Desptaches from Rome indicate that the Vatican is seriously considering throwing the whole of its political weight into the scales for the allies, the continued importations of Belgians by Germans being regarded as unbearable by the pope.

Vienna continues to utter peace talk. The Emperor is anxious for any sort of an agreement which will guarantee the Empire its former boundaries.

This is inspired, it is believed, by the fact the Austria-Hungary is rapidly nearing the end of her resources, human, financial and industrial. Hungary today is declared in Swiss dispatches to have raised the age limit of her armies to 52 years, all Landstrum under that being called to the colors.

But the most important pronouncement of the day by far is that of Lloyd George. The premier's own words on peace are:

"The sunshine of Victory is just ahead of the allies.

"Nobody in Britain, France, Italy, Russia, or even in Germany and Austria has any idea now near the summit of hopes we are."

The premier's speech was one of the most powerful he has ever delivered. His optimism was contagious and his words carried such imputation of facts to support them that edthe whole empire tonight is heartened both by the prospect for an early victory and an early peace .

Lloyd Gregeos'dyaa ,lzxflg....

Lloyd George's speech was not for England alone. It was for the European allies and the United States. To the latter it had an especial bearing. The prime minister flatly declared that England had saved the Monroe Doctrine once—in 1914—by entering the war. He further asserted that Germany, balked then, still harbored, the determination to return to the attack a second time. But he declared, "there must be no second time; Germany must never again be permitted to imperil the peace of the world."

"Germany never subscribed to the Monroe Doctrine," he said. "We all know her ambitions are to South America, and a year after a German Peace, Germany would start realizing them.

"If Britain had not gone into the war, with her whole strength the Monroe Doctrine would have been treated by Germany as a 'scrap of paper.'

"While the German plot miscarried, the Prussians are determined to succeed the next time. There must not be any 'next time'. Let this generation eliminate war."

"The German war lords are glib in discussing peace, but stammer over the question of restorations. Before we enter a conference they must learn utterance.

Sunshine of Victory.

"It is certain that the Russians are responsible for 'no annexations, no indemnities' policy, and now realize their mistake. Russia's collapse is like a deep glenn through which we are passing. Though, it is not true that we have reached the darkest depth, nevertheless, across the velley, we can see the sunshine of victory."

There is much speculation tonight over the possibile connection between Lloyd George's prediction of an early victory and the present operations in Flanders in which the French and British are again forging ahead. It is certain that the government has at its disposal reports on conditions in the German army and behind the lines not available to the public and deep significance is attached to the Premier's words.

The German people already are being prepared for bad news from Flanders. Semi-official warnings are contained in the Press that the "battle only begun and that grave losses must be faced." Other dispatches assert the German troops on the Flanders front have "lived through a fortnight of hell."

Significance to Conference.

Considerable significance is attached here to the Vienna conference between Emperor Charles and Michaels, on which the latter is expected to report to the Kaiser Sunday. Reports are persistent that Austria is smarting under the German military yoke and is anxious for peace at any reasonable price.

One outgrowth of the present peace duscussion which would cause no surprise, would be statements from both camps of amended terms. The opinon prevails in some high quarters that President Wilson might open the way for such declarations by an open statement of the war aims and peace terms of the United States.

The food shortage in Germany is apparently becoming more and more serious as the weeks pass and the crops fail to come up to expectations. The spectre of several European neutrals closing their frontiers against her as led to threats from Berlin, according to unofficial dispatches received by the way of Switzersland, and such action would be construed as an act of war.

The neutrals which have been letting dairy products containing most of the fat which Germany so vitally needs be imported into Germany were said to be considering the action because of the threatened embargo by the United States, which, if enforced against them, would lead to the starvation of their own people.

The nation most directly referred to and threatened by Germany is said to be Holland.

EVERY FIFTH MAN WILL BE ACCEPTED BY EXAMINERS

Washington, Aug. 4—The war department is still of the belief that the draft probably will get one man out of every five called. The belief was expressed however, that out of five called, four men would be left either through physical rejections, exemptions or rejection after reaching the mobilization point. This figure is unofficial and not based on actual reports, for as yet, there are no available figures.

At this rate, in order to get the 687,000 men for the first increment, it would be necessary to call up 3,345,000 men from the ten million registrants.

No reports have been received at the Provost Marshal General's office yet, but it is probable that within a few days, there will be some information from the various boards that will indicate how the proportions of rejections and exemptions will run.

In a telegram to the governors of all states tonight General Crowder directed that local boards should publish the names of persons claiming exemption for discharge and the ground on which the exemption is claimed. Only physical rejections are expected under this rule. False exception claims may then be more readily detected.

FRANCE IS STRONG IN DEFENSE OF RIGHT

High Commissioner says the Republic is not Nearly Exhausted.

Washington, Aug. 4—France is mighty and unafraid. Though today she bears the principal exertion of our dreadfur foe, she is powerful in men, equipment and determination.

That emphasizes a set of dazing figures and statements submitted to Secretary of War Baker by French High Commissioner Andre Tardieu, to offset an impression that France is on her last legs.

Designed as a tonic after an attack of pessimism, the report pictures a game nation, prepared to engineer further decisive operations, with America's aid—a nation that says:

"Severe was the ordeal; stronger is the national energy. Now it is a question of striking the last blow to the adversary."

It shows France holding a line more than four times as great as the British with a mess of men and puns in charfe. It shows that, though she has shed much blood, she is now suffering fewer casualties, because of increased efficiency.

"We are certain, with the resources of our metropolitan and colonial depots, to be able to maintain that number up to its present level for a long tome to come," Thardieu said.

As a measure of the offensive and defensive quality of French troops, Tardieu points out that on the western front—with a total extension of 739 kilometers—27 kilometers are held by the Belgians, 138 by the English and 574 by the French.

On the same front, 81 German divisions are opposing the French, and 42 are opposing the British.

France is adequately supplied with artillery and is increasing the number of heavy guns daily. An average of one heavy gun for every 26 kilometers of front is being used in the present offensives, while a summing up of all trench-field-heavy artillery shows one gun for every eight metres, (about nine yards) in the sector of attack.

"Our output of munitions in August 1914 was arranged for 13,000 shots of 75 centimeter guns a day. It is now arranged for 250,000 shots of '75s' and 100,000 shots of heavy guns. During one of the last offensives the French poured 1,442 kilograms of projectiles per lineal metre into the German trenches. Twelve millions of shots of all callibre were fired."

In addition to supplying her own armies, France has completely re-equipped and re-armed the Belgian, Serbian and Greek armies, and has furnished the allies with more than 600 heavy guns.

French expenditures since the beginning of the war have been as Tardieu's report shows, 82,647,000,000 francs. Up to 1917, she had received from foreign countries, 6,000,000,000 francs and during the same period had loaned allied governments 4,000,000,000 francs.

"Such is the situation."

Tardieu's letter concluded, "Severe was the ordeal; stronger is the national energy. Now it is the question of striking the last blow to the anniversary. You will help us.

"But at the moment when American soldiers arrive in France, it is proper to let them know they will find a country which, today as well as during the last three years, bears the principal exertion of our dreadful foe; a country which maintains to the maximum of her power, her strength. her means and her will."

PEOPLES TELEPHONE 96.

In 1906 When the one-mill special tax for schools was voted on, the first time in this county 432 voted for the tax and 174 voted against it. In 1912 when the proposition to renew the tax was voted on, 734 voted for it and 52 voted against it. By the six years operation of the tax in the county the number who favored it increased 303 and the number who opposed it decreased 122. This argues a good point for special tax for school purposes.

We hope that our farmers will not forget the article we had in last week's paper calling attention to the efforts and purpose of the Food Preparedness Committee which is centralized at Birmingham. It is the intentions of the bureau to help the farmers find a market for their products; and we would like to add that a more laudable undertaking could not be attempted. Our farmers this year are going to produce an untold amount of food and feed stuff. They are going to make more than they will need themselves, and the greatest problem that confronts them in respect of this is getting a suitable market for what they have to sell. We commend them to the food preparedness bureau, Mr. T. P. Hay, Jr., Secretary, 214 Chamber of Commerce, Birmingham, Ala. By communicating with this agency, you will be furnished with full details of the work that it is intended to do; also directions as to how to proceed in order to be one of those who will help reap benefits from the proposition. Write to Mr. Hay about your products.

We see absolutely no ground for opposition to the three-mill school tax, in the argument that it may be gobbled up and never reach the children of the rural districts. Neither is there any reason for the statements that it is just a scheme among the teachers to get their salaries raised. Neither of these arguments have enough bottom in them to hold shucks. The county board of education will do their duty in the matter if the money is placed in their hands. And as a general thing, when a teacher wants his pay increased, if he can't find a school here that will pay his price, he picks up and "like the Arabs, silently steals away" to where they pay more. Teachers do not connive around and try to get their pay envelope increased. They prepare themselves for the work in such a way as pleases them. Then they set their price and let the school call them. They don't take the school and then go to work to get their salary raised. This is the very reason that our best teachers are going away from us every year. They have their price and because we can't pay it, they go somewhere else and leave us to put up with what we can get. We need more money with which to get better teachers, and not more money to pay the incompetents.

TO OUR DEAR MERCHANT MEN WHO SHOULD BE ADVERTISERS

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said,
"My trade of late is growing bad,
I'll try another ten-nich ad."
If such there be, go mark him well,
For him no bank account will swell,
No angels watch the golden stair
To welcome him the millionaire.
The man who never asks for trade
By local line or ad. displayed,
Cares more for rest than worldly gain
And patronage but gives him pain;
Tread lightly friends: let not a sound
Disturb his solitude profound.
Here let him live in calm repose
Unsought except by men he owes,
And when he dies go plant him deep,
That naught may break his sleep—
Where no rude clamor may dispel
The quiet that he loved so well,
And that the world may know its loss
Place on his grave a wreath o'moss;
And on the stone above, "here lies
A chump who wouldn't advertise."

ELECTRICITY ON THE FARM

Electricity, which is solving so many problems of the world, is revolutionizing farm life to such an extent that the present trend of movement is from the city to the farm, rather than from the farm to the city. The recent perfection of an electrical lighting and power plant which can be installed cheaply and easily and can be run without any degree of technical knowledge has offered to the farm all the advantages of city life, and has made the drudgery which has always been associated with farm life a thing of the past.

In many respects, similar to the advent of the automobile, these electric plants have been adopted first by the very wealthy for their large estates; but more recently they have come into general use by all up-to-date farmers of moderate means, who recognize in them the means of carrying on their work in a thoroughly efficient and labor saving manner.

It is no uncommon thing now to pass homes in the country districts that are lighted by electricity, and to see the various farm appliances run in the same manner. At the front gate, in the house, on the piazzas, in the barn, the gleam of electric lights now offers comfort and protection on every hand. The protection feature has been especially emphasized in the past few days when a farmer, being aroused by a passing automobilist for help, shot the man, thinking that he was trying to force an entrance into the house. If the farmer had had a porch light, operated by switch, such a deplorable accident never would have occurred.

The electric lighting of barns has been of especial advantage, because of the great danger that has been attached to lanterns in the hay lofts and other places where there is much inflamable material. One of the leading farmers of this section who recently installed an electric plant with many attachments, mentioned especially this feature.

"Electricity gives us the best light we ever had," he says, "and more than that, it gives us the light where it is needed most. This is particularly true in the barn where we have lights behind the cows and horses, in the feed and harness rooms and in the loft. It saves half the time it used to take to do the chores.

"The electric power which we now generate on the place has also relieved us of many hours of unpleasant and tiring labor which we used to consider a part of our day's work," he continued. "We have our water pumped into every room in the house, it turns the churn, the grindstone, the washing machine, the cream seperator, the sewing machine and a dozen other labor saving appliances.

"But better and more convenient light and labor saving power are not the real significance of electricity on the farm. Through these things, it has made our lives easier, more comfortable, more worth while."

Equipment such as this farmer mentions is comparatively cheap and well within the reach of the average farmer.

LOCAL U. S. MARINE "FIRST TO FIGHT" FOR U. S. IN FRANCE

Among the specially selected men who are to first to fight for the Stars and Stripes on the firing line in France is Otis L. Hudson, Mt. Creek, this County.

He has gone with the regiment of U. S. Marines which forms a part of the first American overseas contingent.

Otis, who is a son of S. Hudson of Mt. Creek, enlisted in the United States Marine Corps at its Birmingham recruiting station on December 8, '14. He is with the 45th Company.

The "soldiers of the sea" are the oldest branch of our military service, and they have a splendid record. Its activities date back to 1775, and since that time they have been first to fight for America in many centuries. The Chilton boy has already proven his mettle and will doubtless continue to uphold the motto of the Marines,—"Always Faithful."

MOTHER KILLED BUT BABY ESCAPES BOLT IN BAD STORM

Tuscumbia, Ala., Aug. 6.—News of the death of Mrs. A. M. Guiton, wife of a wealthy farmer residing five miles east of Tuscumbia, was received in this city today. Mrs. Guiton was struck by lightning and instantly killed during a terrific thunderstorm yesterday. She and her two small children were in the house alone at the time, the husband being in Tuscumbia. Two other large children having gone to the spring for water, she had in her arms a seven-months old baby and, as she was in the act of closing down a window, she was hit by the bolt which entered the room through the chimney and fireplace. The baby was torn from her arms, but escaped injury. Mrs. Guiton was thirty years old and is survived by her husband and three children.

Our good friend, Jasper Howell, one of the most famous citizens of Lock 12, Alabama, was in Clanton Tuesday. Jasper was here having Dr. Crumpton doing some repair work on his chewing apparatus.

MAKING SORGHUM SYRUP

The acreage planted to sorbhum for syrup has been increased this year and the time for making syrup is at hand. Sorghum must be made right or it will be practically worthless. Most of the cane grown in this country is ground on the small horse power mills and the juice cooked in an open evaporator. A few farmers who have large acreage, have steam or motor power mills but they are few in number. It is the horse power mills with which we have to deal. Most any fellow thinks he can make syrup, but the unexperienced can make stuff that he would probably be willing to eat himself but which would be worthless on the market. It takes an experienced and careful man to make good syrup. The cane should be stripped and cut before it gets real ripe, being careful to keep the buts out of the sand and to see that the dead dirty fodder is removed before grinding. The mill should be in good condition, screwed up tight, fed regularly and have plenty of horse power to extract all the juice. Unless this is done, forty per cent of the juice will be left in the cane as is usually the case. The juice should flow from the mill into the barrel through a filter which should be changed and cleansed regularly. From the barrel it should flow through another filter or fine screen into the rear of the evaporator. As the juice boils it should be carefully skimmed. Very few syrup makers skim their syrup enough to secure the best color and flavor. As the juice is cooked it should gradually be worked to the front of the evaporator without mixing with green juice any more than can be avoided. Most people tell when the syrup is ready to draw by dropping it or by the looks of the bubbles. This is a very poor way of making uniform syrup, and only an experienced expert can do it. It is best to get an hydrometer; dip the syrup with a deep cup and drop the hydrometer in the cup and draw the syrup when it registers between 32 and 35 on the scale. The syrup should pass through another fine sieve while hot. See that the buckets or barrels in which you put the syrup are clean and dry. Do not use old sour syrup barrels, if you can help it. If the syrup is for the market, use clean new barrels. It will pay you, as the barrel will sell at the syrup pound rate.

Cane Mash Valuable.

Cane mash may be put into an insilage cutter and blown into a silo or dried immediately and ground into feed meal. It makes fairly good silage for feed meal, if used immediately after being mashed. Very few people are prepared to handle mash in this way. It is practically worthless after it sours, and be used for stock bedding or to stop gullies.

Do not allow cane to get too ripe before grinding. In case of overripeness allow it to lie at the mill two days before grinding to prevent syrup from turning to sugar. Save all fodder and seed. Cane seed sold as high as six dollars per bushel last spring.

MILL WORKERS WALK OUT OF BIG LOMAX MILL

Mill Men putting in Big Plant Call Strike, and all Leave their Jobs at once.

On Monday morning the saw mill workmen who have been for some time engaged in putting in the big lumber plant of the Vida Lumber Co., at Lomax, called a strike, and all gathered up their tools and left the job at once.

The trouble is said to have grown out of some dissatisfaction among the mill wrights and carpenters over the system of wage-paying which had been inaugurated by the owners of the business. There seems to be no trouble over the amount of the pay the men were getting. Only the system of pay has been in objection.

The strike has not yet effected the workmen who are engaged in building the Company's railroad from Lomax out to the timber lands on the river. But rumor has it that they are also considering a strike.

Up to now it is not known whether the mill owners have made any offer of concession or compromise to the workmen. Those who called the strike loaded on the train and some went to Montgomery, Birmingham and Anniston.

ANTI-DRAFT RIOTERS TO BE PUNISHED IN OKLAHOMA.

Men Who have been making armed Resistance are subject to the Penalty of Death.

Oklahoma City, Okla., August 6.—Without waiting for a conclusion of the state's campaign against organized resistence to the selective draft in Oklahoma, the United States government today moved to punish the 200 men under arrest in connection with armed opposition to military service. Warrants charging treason were served on the prisoners, who were taken to the penitentiary at McAlester or the jail at Muskogee to await trial, at which United States District Attorney W. P. McGinnis will ask that the death penalty be imposed.

Announcement that exereme punishment would be asked was expected to aid materially in bringing to terms the few resisters still sheltered in the hills.

Posses in three counties—Seminole, Hughes and Pottawatomie—reported tonight that isolated groupes refused to surrender, but that they apparently were discouraged and seeking to avoid an encounter. Except for the fact that several agitators, regarded as leaders in the disturbance and dangerous to remain at large, are among those maintaining a show of resistence, the authorities would be inclined to let the bands break up, confident that the less important members could be arrested later.

Determination of the possemen to run down all of the leaders was strengthened today by confiscation of half a freight car of dynamite found on a siding in Seminole county. An investigation is being made to establish ownership. The car was unaccompanied.

Clashes between the resisters and posses have cost three lives and numerous injuries. Two objectors to the draft have been killed and a traveler was shot when he failed to heed a posse's warning to halt.

EXEMPTION BOARD BEGAN WORK ON WEDNESDAY

The local exemption board of Chilton County worked all day Wednesday just like fighting fire. Eighty registered men apeared for examination, as per the call, and 57 were given physical examinations. 21 of these were discharged on account of physical disability. 23 of the accepted men entered claims for exemption and 13 made no request for discharge. The Board will take up on Thursday morning where they left off Wednesday night, and continue their work. It will probably take all this week to complete the work of examination.

In addition to Sheriff Harris and Hon. Thos. A. Curry, Drs. J. P. Hayes and N. S. Johnson are engaged in the work of examination

FLORIDA FARMER HELPS FEED NATION; MAKES MONEY AT IT

Seventeen cars of Irish potatoes, twelve of watermelons, and one of cucumbers—this is the record of W. C. Barrineau's shipment from Oakhurst farm, near Cantonmet, this season.

In addition, Mr. Barrineau has supplied Molino and Pine Barren with potatoes, watermelons, and cucumbers, and is putting up barrels of the latter in brine, finding there is more money in the pickles than the fresh vegetable.

Thirty acres of the potato land Mr. Barrineau now has in as fine a crop of corn as was ever seen; and he has besides many acres of sweet potatoes, the finest vegetable of them all.

"Oakhurst" is a sufficiently convincing answer to the question, does farming pay in West Florida?

The above item is a clipping from the Pensacola (Fla.) Journal, and the man whom it concers is a brother-in-law of Hon. J. Osmond Middleton of this city. Mr. Barrineau seems to have established an unsurpassable record for truck farming in the state of Florida. And we doubt if there is a better record coming from any other state.

This summer we placed a special line of Men's High Grade Sumer Shirts in the latest fancy paterns. They have sold well and pleased the buyers. A few of these shirts remain, and owing to the late season now, we offer them at Bargain Prices.

Prices range from One Dollar on up.

Neckties and Collars

There has never been a prettier line of Men's Fancy Neckties than those which we have left over from the lot we bought for our trade this summer. They are the latest and most equisite colors, most attractive to the eyes. Also a fine line of Collars for men and boys. Special bargains now being offered in both Collars and Ties.

Cool Summer Suits.

We have on hand a few more suits of our special summer stock of Cool Cloth. Also a few pairs of pants for hot weather wear. We urge you to buy one of these suits to help you over the remaining hot days of summer time.

Slippers and Straw Hats

This is a little late in the season to buy Low Cut Shoes, and for that reason we offer some special prices on the remainder of our stock of this kind. We have a few pairs of Palm Beach Canvas shoes at bargains.

We have a few Straw Hats in the latest styles, which we want to dispose of as quickly as possible.

Other Mens Furnishings

Anything else you want in the way of Gents' Furnishings. Fine Hose, Belts, Handkerchiefs, Underwear, etc. All specially reduced in price owing to late season.

We have anything noy need to piece out your wearing apparel to the winter season.

Ladies Dress Goods

In our Ladies' Department, as well as all the other lines, you will find special prices on all goods in order to close out our summer stock. You already know the reputation and class of our ladies' wearables. The very latest things in the way of dress goods, specially suited for the summer comfort. Come in and let Miss Thomas show you what we have left in these lines.

All Kinds of Notions

Not only will the ladies find dress goods here, but many other little items which they alweys need. All kinds of ribbons, lace, thread and trimmings.

Special lot of Ladies' Hose in Silks, which we want to close out soon. Also Ladies' Shoes and Slippers in both Leather and Canvas. Our Ladies' Department is complete in every detail.

We are especially anxious right now in the remaining days of the summer to reduce our stock. The best way to move goods is make the price right. Now we want you to come and see these goods we are offering, and find out what money-savers they will be to you.

All Traces of Scrofula Eradicated from the System

By the greatest of all purifiers.

A common mistake in the treatment of scrofula has been the use of mercury and other mineral mixtures, the effect of which is to bottle up the impurities in the blood, and hide them from the surface.

The impurities and dangers are only added to in this way.

For more than fifty years S. S. S. has been the one recognized reliable blood remedy that has been used with highly satisfactory results for Scrofula. Being made of the roots and herbs of the forest, it is guaranteed purely vegetable, and absolutely free from all mineral ingredients.

You can obtain S. S. S. from any drugstore. Our chief medical adviser is an expert on all blood disorders, and will cheerfully give you full advice as to the treatment of your own case. Address Swift Specific Co., Dept. F Atlanta, Ga.

SORGHUMS FOR SILAGE

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The earliest varieties of sorghum, sometimes called millet or sugarcane, do not yield as large amounts of green forage and silage per acre as the late, or medium late, varieties do. Amber which is a black seeded variety, is probably the earliest and yields under surghum conditions from 8,000 to 16,000 pounds (green weight) of silage per acre; while Texas Seeded Ribbon, sometimes called Honey Drip, or Japanese sorghum, yields, under similar conditions, from 12,000 to 20,000 pounds per acre.

The early varieties require from 80 to 95 days from date of planting to mature silage, while the late varieties usually require from 90 to 110 days. If planted in April, a longer time is required to secure full growth and maturity than is required if the planting is delayed until the last of May or the first of June.

Almost any kind of soil will produce some silage or green forage, but to secure large yields sorghum should be planted on strong, well drained land. Poor land makes a small spindling stalk that is well suited for hay but is undesirable for silage.

Stable or barnyard manure, at the rate of eight or ten tons per acre with 200 pounds of acid phosphate is recomended for most land. An application of 75 to 100 pounds of nitrate of soda when the cane is knee high will greatly increase its growth. The manure may be scattered broadcast over the land before plowing, or put in the drill with the seed.

They may be drilled at the rate of 20 to 25 pounds per acre, with an ordinary corn planter, which usually has plates for cane.

If the germination of the seed is good and the stand is too thick, the stand may be reduced by allowing some of the soil to fall on the plants at the first cultivation. Frequent shallow cultivation with a scooter and cotton or spring-tooth cultivator is desirable to keep down the weeds and to maintain a surface mulch of the soil.

Mr. Business Man

WHY not make your appeal for patronage through the columns of this newspaper? With every issue it carries its message into the homes of all the best people of this community. Don't blame the people for flocking to the store of your competitor. Tell them what you have to sell and if your prices are right you can get the business.

PRACTICAL CANNING

During this streneous age, when practical domestic economy should be the key-note in the affairs of every woman, it is becoming when one has gained a practical idea, to pass it on to every daughter of America.

Some time ago, my atention was claimed by a thrifty housewife, who successfully conserved her supply of fruit and vegetables by packing it away in ordinary tin lard buckets. This thorough-going woman sterilized her buckets and lids in just plain, practical, common-sense hot soap suds way; prepared her products as for her self-sealing jars, and after filling and covering buckets, she proceeded to seal with melted sealing wax, a nickle's worth of which will easily seal one dozen buckets.

Tin syrup buckets make admirable containers for canned fruits and vegetables, and are very much cheaper than fruit jars. This method of conservation, though not generally known will be found to be thoroughly satisfactory when properly managed.

The revival services which have been in progress at Mt. Pleasant church were brought to a close Thursday night. 22 members were added to the church and 17 received the ordinance of baptism. Rev. A. R. Aldridge did the preaching.

THE THREE-MILL SCHOOL TAX BY SUPT. W. T. BEAN

Clanon, Ala., Aug. 8, 1917.

To the Voters of Chilton Co:

Over 900 voters of Chilton County have signed a petition calling an election to determine whether or not this county shall levy and collect a special tax of thirty cents on each one hundred dollars of taxable property in the county, for a term of three years.

This election will be held on August 27th, and whether it is carried or not, this county will, on the first of next October, enter upon a new era for its schools, for then the compulsory attendance law becomes effective and there are nearly 7,000 white school children in the county, and all except those exempt by law, will be required to attend school for a period of not less than 80 days. There were 101 white teachers in the county last winter and if the same number is employed next winter, there will be an average of between 60 and 70 pupils to each teacher. If we expect a few very small schools, the number of pupils in the larger schools will reach an average of nearly 80 pupils to the teacher.

This compulsory attendance period must be free, and I have closely estimated the length of term the public funds will run the schools, and find that it will be impossible to run them but just a little better than four months upon an average. With the large number of pupils to the teacher in regular attendance for only about 4 months will be but little better than no schools. The county can not expect to maintain even as good schools as has been heretofore.

If the election carries and the taxes are collected the school fund will be increased between $20,000 and $21,000, which will enable the county board of education to guarantee that every white school in the county will be given a seven months free school with an ample teaching force for each school.

Without this tax, we can expect about four months school with an average of between 60 and 70 pupils to the teacher, but by levying this tax we can have seven months with an average of between 40 and 50 puuils to the teacher. I believe that it is worth considering.

Each tax payer's taxes would be increased by exactly one fifth over the amount of taxes paid on his real estate and personal property last year, other conditions being the same. It would be an increase of about $1.80 per year to each farmer upon an average, or an increase of less than one half cent a day. Get your old tax receipt, divide the amount of taxes on your real estate and personal property (do not include your poll tax or dog tax) by five, and compare that amount with the amount of supplement you paid into your schools last winter. For the county a t large the increase in taxes would be approximately $1,000 less than the amount paid in school supplements. The fact that our burden would be lightened to the extent of $1,000 a year is enough to justify us to vote for it, but at the same time, we get an increase in the length of the term with an increase of 20 per cent in the number of teachers.

In addition to the increase in the number of teachers, it cretainly will increase the efficiency of the teaching force, for the better teachers will go to where they can get the longest terms, while the poorer teachers will be crowded out and we will have to take such as we can get. Of course, there are numbers of the best teachers who are tied here by the ties of home and the hopes of this three-mill tax being carried, but there are less than one-half as many first grade teachers employed in the county at this date than there were last year at the same date.

Twenty-three counties have levied the special tax and it seems that a great number of the better teachers are drifting in that direction while a few good teachers are making application for our schools. The advantage to them is not an increase in monthly salary but they prefer 7o r 8 months employment there to what they expect to get here.

The county board of education has set the salaries of the teachers (provided this election is carried) at a reasonable amount and the people will be given the benefits in stead of the teachers. The only benefit the teachers will receive will be the increase in the length of the term. However, the board has agreed to be lenient with all teachers whose ability to teach is greater than is shown by the grade of certificate held, and give them one year to build their certificate up to the equivalent of their ability.

The official ballot will state that this tax should be used for the extension of the school term and for the addiion of teachers where needed. Not one cent of it will ever leave the county. It will be handled just as the one-mill school tax has been for the last eleven years. The tax assessor and collector nor the county superintendent will receive any commission for the services of handling it. One hundred cents in the dollar will go directly to the schools in Chilton County.

Ifully realize the seriousness of this world-wide war question and realize that the voters are giving school questions but little consideration at the present, but this war may be over within a few months, or it may not be over within several years but as I see it, we cannot afford to let the schools go to ruin on account of the sad fact that several of our boys will have to go to the war. It, in general is not the boys who are drafted that will pay the taxes, for the corporations, investment companies etc., will pay about 76 per cent., or approximately $16,000 of it, and the children of probably some of our soldiers will be educated while they fight.

Remember that the county board of education gives you an official guarantee that every white school in the county will be given seven months of free school with an ample teaching force for the period for which this tax is levied providing all other school funds remain undiminished, and the schools will get the benefit of the tax next winter.

Clean up days For Town

Tuesday and Wednesday, August 14th and 15th, have been set apart by the Mayor and Council to impress the citizens with the importance and necessity of every citizen of the Town giving their premises a thorough cleaning up.

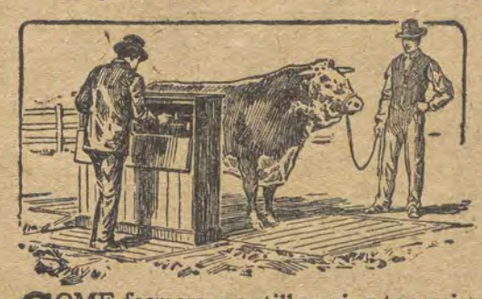
That all melon rinds or other matter that decays readily not be thrown out into the alleys, but put where it will be carried off with the other garbage.

That the owners of vacant lots throughout the town that are not in cultivation, have all weeds cut on same.

That weeds and other trash that is gathered up around the home should not be thrown out into the streets and alleys as is frequently done.

That co-operation is essential in the development of all matter pertaining to the progress and betterment of the community, and your Mayor and Council earnestly request the hearty co-operation of all citizens of the Town of Clanton in their cleaning up campaign which we feel is very important.

W. A. KEMP, Acting Mayor
H. M. SIMPSON, Clerk.



The condition of the weather during the present week has prevented active work on the lot in Clanton upon which W. M. Adams is to place his velvet bean mill, the ground being too wet to build foundations for machinery.

TO BUILD MODEL SCHOOLHOUSE

The people of Fairview community are to be commended for their splendid school spirit. They have a move on hand to erect a $1300 model school building according to plans and specifications approved by the state department of education. The other Saturday night Superintendent Bean went out to assist in working up the proposition at a meeting of the citizens, and how much do you suppose was subscribed at this little meeting? Well, you would hardly believe it, but they raised over $600. We think this is simply "going some" for a rural school district the first dash out of the box. And, too, we might add here that the people of Fairview community are a majority in favor of the three-mill school tax.

Will you wet down your roughage and save several dollars on every ton?

SOME farmers are still paying top prices for old style cottonseed hulls because they prefer a bulky filler. Others are paying much less for and are making them as bulky as old style hulls by wetting them down a half hour or so before using.

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

By adding an equal part of water to Buckeye Hulls and stirring thoroughly they will swell and give you as bulky a roughage as you want. Most important, the bulkiness will be due to water which is of value to your cattle —not to lint which has no food value whatever.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls go farther.
They allow better assimilation of other food.
No trash or dust.
Sacked—easy to handle.
They mix well with other forage.
Take half as much space in the barn.

Mr. Benjamin Thompson, Baldknob, Ark.,

is feeding Buckeye Hulls to stock cattle. He says that he gets more food value per ton with less waste. He has bought five tons and has them stored in barn. He says that they occupy less space than old style hulls.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

Better Farming in the South

ORDER FALL FERTILIZERS EARLY

Railroad Service is a Serious Problem—Fertilizer Dealers Will Be Required to Accumulate Orders So That Full Carloads Only Shall Be Shipped—Railway Authorities Say Fertilizers Can Be Handled in Half Number of Cars Ordinarily Used — A War Measure.

Farm Service Bureau, Atlanta, Ga.
C. A. Whittle.

The world is hungry. To get more food is an alarming problem.

How can the farms produce more food when labor is so scarce?

How can more acres be planted to food crops or how can more work be given the acres usually planted without more labor?

Increase of labor is hardly to be expected, but there is one important means of help which the Southern farmer has been utilizing in the past and that is Fertilizer. But this too is beset with difficulties.

Fertilizer can increase production without increasing labor except at harvest time. The warring nations appreciate this fact, and are giving all the encouragement they can to the use of fertilizers.

The railroads can't do the business expected of them unless every freight car is loaded to full capacity. To load them to full capacity the fertilizer dealer must have enough orders in to make up a full car load before he can reasonably hope to get a shipment. The earlier the carload orders are placed the better chance, of course, of getting a shipment. Because of the shortage of equipment, the railroads should have as much time as possible to plan for moving the fertilizer. Early orders will give them a knowledge of the number of cars that will be needed.

Government Authorities Backing It

The National Council of Defense has sent out a bulletin on this very subject, urging farmers to order their fall fertilizers early so full carload shipments might be made and the largest amount of human food produced.

The United States Department of Agriculture through the States Relations Service and Bureau of Soils; and agricultural colleges and county agents, are advising the same.

The railroads are very urgent about the matter. The fertilizer manufacturers are offering to help the dealers and farmers as much as possible to overcome the transportation difficulties.

Half Cars Can Be Saved

Railway authorities have statistics to show that half of the cars ordinarily used for hauling fertilizers could do the business, if only they are loaded to their maximum capacity.

Where a full car load can not be made up for one destination, then it is to be filled with orders for neighboring stations along a railroad.

CLANTON ASTONISHED BY A MERCHANT'S SCTORY

A merchant relates the following: "For years I could not sleep without turning every hour. Whatever I ate caused gas and sourness. Also had stomach catarrh. ONE SPOONFUL buchthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka relieved me instantly." Because Adler-i-ka flushes the entire alimentary tract it relieves ANY CASE of constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has quickest action of anything we ever sold. HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ———about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

PRESIDENT WILSON WANTS NO PEACE TALK AT PRESENT

Can be depended upon to say When, says Lewis Following Conference at the White House of Late.

Washington, Aug. 6.—President Wilson had a long conference today with Senator Lewis, the democratic whip, urged haste in the final enactment of the food control and revenue bills and is understood to have indicated that he does not consider the present the time for duscussion of peace negotiations with Germany.

Senotor Lewis would not duscuss the latter phase of his conference, but it was believed the President indicated that he did not consider Germany's recent peace feelers to be genuine, and that he can be expected to let the country know when he believes the time has come for discussing peace. Senator Lewis declared the President would not allow the American people to lose any rights or suffer any wrongs which his diligence could prevent.

The Illinois Senator told the President he believed Congress could adjourn September 1.

After he left the White House, Senator Lewis said:

"The conference was on the general legislative situation. The President is anxious that everything be done possible to hasten the war legislation that congress and officials can get some rest before the December session begins. Particularly does he desire that the officers of the Senate Press to an early finish the food bill and the revenue bill. He wishes me to convey his desires to the senators and his hopes for quick action as will give all some rest."

Asked whether he had discussed Senator Lewis said:

"On that subject I do not quote the President, but do say for myself that when the true signs of peace based on the principles for which America went into this war shall appear, the president will be the first to treat with them, but when they shall come disguised as peace—only to serve the further cruelties of war—and the betrayal of America, Woodrow Wilson will be the last to be caught.

"The country will hear from the President on peace or war just as soon as truth or new actual conditions call for him to take congress and the people into his confidence. He will allow the American people to lose no rights nor suffer any wrongs his intelligence would prevent."

U. S. TO EXERT HER POWER FOR LIBERTY

Men, Money and Supplies Now being thrown in Balance in favor of the Allies.

SPOTS IN WAR WITH GERMANY

April 6—United States declared a state of war with Germany.

May 16—Flotilla of American destroyers arrived in British waters.

June 5—Nearly 10,000,000 men between the ages of 21 adn 31 register for selective service.

June 8—Major-General John J. Pershing and staff arrived in England.

June 13—Pershing and his staff arrived in France.

June 9—Vice Admiral Simms took command of Allied naval operations in Irish waters.

June 27—American Sammies arrived in France.

July 20—Lottery held to determine order in which American men shall report for examination for draft.

July 30—Approximately 10,000,000 young men report for physical examination, preparatory to forming first national army of 680,000 men.

Washington, August 11.—Dawn of fourth year of the world war finds the United States, 120 days after the entrance, at the head of the powers in death grapple with German militarism.

The allies frankly look to this country's resources in men, materials and money to win the war. World supremacy in food, aeroplanes and ships—the three roads to victory—are in Uncle Sam's control already or will be within eighteen months.

Whether the war lasts that long or not, "everything that we are and everything that we have," as president Wilson said in his war message to Congress on April 2, is going into the battle.

The million men are at attention awaiting the call to selective service. Seventeen billion dollars will be spent in America's first year of war. Food control and conservation at home and an embargo on exports together with a mighty mobilization of industry, for war-making are other sweeping plans. Picked American troops are training for fighting in France while United States men-at-war hunt submarines and convoy priceless cargoes to Europe.

In short, America is swiftly executing the most gigantic war moves in history.

The country's resources, thrown into the balance when most of the other enemies of the central powers admittedly had reached the breaking point, naturally gave America leadership in the world war. Great Britain, France and Italy and other allies are depending upon the United States for the food, ships, fuel, aeroplanes and raw materials to carry on the war. France needs our blood and to her will go our fighting men. That, officially, is the plan.

War Activity Increasing.

The next few months will see the greatest war activity in this country. Months of preliminary organization will bear fruit in stupendous industrial changes. Shipbuilding will be trebled to overtake submarine losses. Hundreds of plants will be turned oved to the $6,400,000 aviation program. Cantonment camps of the new national guard camps—32 in all—and a doxen aviation training grounds will teach nearly a million youths the art of modern warfare.

What the ideal officials are striving for is "a nation in arms," with every interest subordinated to winning the war. Higher taxes, stricter food control, greater war expenditures and long lists of casualties from France are officially predicted—unless peace comes first. Official hope of peace is nil here.

Whatever Germany's internal troubles, her military position is admittedly superior to that of the allies, with a stalemate likely unless America's fullest weight thrown into the balance turns the scale. Officials declare America's fullest powers cannot be exerted against Germany until next year, and then may take another winter or two to bring Germany to her knees, a sincere peace suppliant.

The third year of the war closed with the prospect that it will continue two or three years more.

America, now in her fourth month as an antagonist of Germany, is shaping her plans with another three years of strife in mind.

Three years ago the world was startled by the crash of arms. Aghast though, it was, the public could see no such length to the struggle. Now, America and her allies are reconciled to more months and months of turmoil; ready to give all to crush Teuton autocracy.

Today finds fourteen powerful nations in arms against Teutonism, nine others avowedly unfriendly, and many neutrals "between the devil and the deep blue sea," ready to side one way or another soon.

Cost to be Enormous.

Peace, shunted far in the background by America's entry into the war, can only come through strong, sustained blows and America's part in men and money will be— and already has been—enormous. The past year, however, witnessed some startling efforts at peace—efforts which would be the great feature of the twelve-month were it not for the United States joining the war. When President Wilson's efforts to bring order and reason to a warring earth failed because Germany refused to lay her peace cards on the table, and instead cast all U-boat restrictions to the winds, the last hope of peace vanished until such time as Hohenzollernism—"schrecklichkeit"—is crushed.

How soon this can be accomplished depends upon the speed and force of America's blows. The nation has already appropriated billions in loans to the allies, has set aside billions more for building war vessels ,transports and ships in which to forward supplies to suffering France, Italy, Russia and Belgium.

America Mobilized.

She is mobilized for duty.

Her warships are in European waters cooperating with those of the allies, and thousands of her soldiers and marines are in France to fight with the Teutons and pollus

Thousands of aircraft are under construction with which to blind the eyes of the Germans. Her food and war supplies of all kinds are being conserved as never before to keep her allies from great want.

These blows the United States already has struck in some force. She has stopped the shipment of supplies to neutrals adjacent to the central powers, when there was reason for believing those supplies were reaching enemy hands.

She has done what she could to create in enemy countries reaction against the powers that throttle the people's will.

But thus far, she has acted with no pronounced result. Germany fights on vigorously. There is suffering in the Kaiser's kingdom, but no revolution. Russia is in deplorable straits. Military authorities believe that the end now depends entirely upon the United States. The bulk of the fighting, financing and general war work has been dumped in America's lap.

The peace wave which swept the world, began December 12, 1916, with a joint note addressed by the central powers to their enemies proposing to enter into peace negotiations. It followed a victorious advance into Rummania and came at a time when the German military position was at its crest.

It was all German peace feelers have been, an effort to get peace while German arms were in the ascendancy.

President Wilson on December 19 suggested to the warring nations that they outline their peace aims. Other neutrals sided with Wilson.

Now it is "thumbs down" and the powers that be here are doing their utmost, backed by a united people, so that the war shall not be brought to America's shores.

HALF OF THE FIRST 120 MEN FROM CHILTON ARE SELECTED

Out of the 240 Men Examined, Only About Sixty Men Are Accepted as Fit for Service—Another Call will be Issued to Complete the First Quota of 120.

As a result of the work of the local board of exemption for Chilton County, so far, 55 men out of the 240 summoned on the first call have been passed up as fit and qualified for military service, and have been certified to the office of the District Board of the Middle District of Alabama at Montgomery.

This list of accepted men is made up as follows: 38 who were accepted on physical examination and made no claim for exemption; 8 whose claims for exemption have been considered and denied by the board; 9 men who failed to appear for examination, and who are therefore automatically enlisted for service.

The exemption board has been in session daily since the physical examinations began last week, and have been closely engaged in the consideration of the many details of their work.

The first men to be accepted and qualified for the service were those who passed the physical examination and failed to file any claims for exemption or discharge. There were 38 of such, whose names are as follows:

J. C. Wilson,
Winston Boykin,
Arthur Poe,
Arnold Cherry,
John Townsend,
Jim Wyatt,
Howard C. Collins,
Johnnie M. Burnett,
James Eugene Rasberry,
Tom Holley,

Robert L. Wiliams,
Gerald C. Smith,
Jimmie Clay Gardner,
Mose Cooper,
Walter Williams,
Alvin Marler,

Out of the 240 summoned for physical examination there were 16 wha failed to appear. Seven of these have been accounted for, which leaves only 9 who will be automatically enlisted by their fealure to answer the call. The names of all those who failed to appear for physical examination are as follows:

John Varner,
Bud Klinner,
James Sidney Gore,
Shade Laird,
Charlie McKee Gary
C. J. Jackson,
Arthur L. Farley,
Clarence Morgan Graham,
Zeak Lawrence,
Morey Bell Northrup,

Something over 60 claims for exemption have been taken up and considered by the Board. Out of this number 8 men have been certified to the District Board as qualified, and their claims not considered sufficient to exempt them. Their names are as follows:

Reuben E. Wyatt,
Dock Goodgame,
Hughie J. Taylor,
Tommie Hand,
Bernard Guy Smith,
Emmett Lake Thompson,
Tolbert Huett,
Mims H. Tyus,

The following have claims filed with the board and they are still under consideration.

Whaley Herman Hyatt,
James M. Scott,
Grady D. Williamsm,
Samuel R. Powers,
Sheb Ellison,
Will Bishop
Harvey Pool,

The following have been granted temporary discharge, and their claims will again come up before the board for final action about September 15.

James W. Wood,
Walter Worth Adams,
Richard G. Chandler,
Othel Baker,
James Oscar Jowers,
Bailey Elijah Miller,

Out of the number of claims for discharge which have been taken up and considered by the board, the following have been granted discharge on the grounds that they have dependent families to support.

ANOTHER CALL TO BE ISSUED THE LAST OF THIS WEEK

Owing to the fact that the local board has obtained only about half the required number of men out of the first call, it is practically certain that they will issue an additional call this week for more men to appear for examination. It is not yet known just how many will be called, but estimating it on the percentage of the number already accepted out of the first 240 it is practically certain that it will be neecssary to call another 240 in order to secure the required number.

PROPER BASIS FOR PEACE NEGOTIATIONS ANNOUNCED

Washinnton, August 14.—(Special corespondence.) At the request of the American Union against Militarism, Senator Stone, as chairman of the Senate Committee on foreign affairs, has agreed to open up a discussion in the Senate regarding America's conception of the proper basis for peace negotiations. He announced this in the Senate as follows:

"A communication has come in to me in an official way, as chairman of one of the committees of the Senate, asking me to raise in this body some discussions of the proper basis for peace negotiations. As this request comes from citizens of undoubted respectible character and responsibility, I have thought it proper to submit it to the Senate. I make no observation upon it at this time. I have had it read and ask that it lie upon the table for I desire to make some observations respecting it at an early convenient date. I am not prepared to proceed this morning. I shall hope during the coming week to find an opportunity to say something with respect of these ladies and gentlemen, and with respect to the subject which they ask me, in my official capacity, to make some action."

It is reported that Senator Borah of Idaho and Senator LaFollette expect to join in the discussion of peace [illegible] The administration "stand patters" like Walsh of Montana and Ollie James of Kentucky will insist that congress should ignore the Russian peace proposals and the Reichstag announcement and leave all discussion of peace terms to the President.

The proposed resolution which the American Union submitted to the senator as a tentative basis for discussion read in part as follows:

"Be it resolved that the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring, hereby declares its sympathy with the attitude of democratic Russia toward the war and its willingness to enter into peace negotiations with the Russian formula as a basis, recognizing, however, that Belgium is plainly entitled to special restitution from Germany and recommending that the disposition of certain much disputed border lands should be determined by plebescite under the supervision of an impartial international tribunal, on the principle of the right of the population to control its own destiny.

That the congress of the United States welcomes the German Reichstag peace resolution as an attempt on the part of the German people to express their desire for a permanent peace of reconciliation without annexation and without indemnity."

WILL TEST DRAFT IN THE SUPREME COURT

Foes of Conscription have Succeeded in Getting a Case before the high court.

Washington, Aug. 11—Foes of the draft are about to succeed in bringing a case into court. A case designed to test the constitutionality of the conscription act will be docketed in the United States court next week and probably will be called for trial during the fall term.

The case will come up on a writ of error from the District Court of the Northern District of Ohio.

Charles H. Ruthenburg, recently Socialist candidate for mayor of Cleveland: Alfred Wagenknecht, Ohio state Secretary of the Socialist party, and Charles Baker, Ohio State Organizer of that party, were convicted of having conspired to induce persons subject to the conscription act to evade the law in violation of section 332 of the penal code. They were sentenced on July 25, by Judge Wesenhaver to a term of one year in the Canton, Ohio, workhouse. The defendents sued out a writ of error and citation was served on United States Attorney Wertz on July 25, returnable August 24.

Efforts have been made by persons not in sympathy with the conscription act to raise funds with which to test the law. This case, it is believed, will bring its constitutionality before the courts.

NOTES FROM BEAT 11 ....

To the honorable voters of Chilton County: The time is close at hand for more special tax. It looks like our tax is enough at present; and I think we had better wait till we can get in better shape before we get any more taxes on our hands.

Think of it! It means 30 cents on the hundred dollars worth of property, and we, the laboring people have it to pay. There is a majority against it boys, so let's all turn out and vote it down, at present till we can get in better shape, for we have got as much as we can go with at this time.

The big man don't pay one cent of it, nor does the corporation company pay one cent of it. The laborerers have it all to pay. Boys, think well of it before you vote for it.

From the action of the local exemption board up to this time, it would seem that they arei nclined to exempt all married men who have wives and children dependent on them. So far they have not denied any claims in which such conditions exist.

A news dispatch from Washington says that the United States government is encouraging the planting of millions acres of wheat in Siberia. Suppose they plant the what and at about the time it gets ripe for harvest Russia negotiates a separate peace with Germany. But we hope Uncle Sam can see far enough ahead to handle his cards so as not to be raising wheat to feed the Germans while they are fighting us.

Dr. Samuel E. Johnson who is in the U. S. Naval service at New Orleans, is at home here this week on furlough. The doctor says he likes his work just fine. He has an idea though that it may not be so sweet a little later on when we get straightened out on the chase for the Kaiser's "mutton."

We heard one man say he had always favored any reasonable proposition that meant better rural schools in the county, but he also said that he could not afford to vote for the three-mill tax. Strange that he should at the very time when he could do the most for the cause of education by his ballot, refuse to cast it in the support of the schools. One vote for the three-mill tax would mean more for the schools than every vote he has ever cast heretofore. Now is the time to figure close on this proposition.

The local exemption board for Chilton County has been some busy "piece of machinery" for the past week. The physical examination of the first call was completed Saturday afternoon. Monday morning the details of the papers in charge of the board were taken up and arranged preparatory to the consideration of the exemption claims that were on file. Action has been taken on practically all the cases in the first call. Now the board will begin to arrange for the additional call which will be necessary in order to complete the quota of 120 men which the county is due to furnish on the first call.

We do not see why it is that those who object to the county road law have waited to this late day to turn the world up side down in denunciation of the provisions of the laws. Before a single section of the new enactments of the Commissioners was placed on the records as permanent laws, the whole thing was published abroad over the county, and request after request was issued to the people to come and concur with the court in the discussion and perfecting of the laws. Particularly were the members of the court anxious that the laws should serve the best interests of the county, and not work any unjust and undue burden on any class of citizens. Each request of the court brought a few men out to their meetings, and those who came were agreable to the new laws and pleased with the whole process of the court in seeking better road conditions for the county.

But now that the laws have been completed and put into effect, there are some who are kicking "like a bay steer." We don't see why they didn't raise a kick before the laws were passed if they are so outrageous and unjust. They had the same opportunity to kick then as they have now.

TO OUR DEAR MERCHANT MEN WHO SHOULD BE ADVERTISERS

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said,
"My trade of late is growing bad,
I'll try another ten-nich ad."
If such there be, go mark him well,
For him no bank account will swell,
No angels watch the golden stair
To welcome him the millionaire.
The man who never asks for trade
By local line or ad. displayed,
Cares more for rest than worldly gain
And patronage but gives him pain;
Tread lightly friends: let not a sound
Disturb his solitude profound.
Here let him live in calm repose
Unsought except by men he owes,
And when he dies go plant him deep,
That naught may break his sleep—
Where no rude clamor may dispel
The quiet that he loved so well,
And that the world may know its loss
Place on his grave a wreath o'moss;
And on the stone above, "here lies
A chump who wouldn't advertise."

ADVICE FROM MR. HOBBIE AS TO FEEDING ON VELVET BEANS

Following is a letter received from Mr. Richard M. Hobby, the expert on agricultural questions, to Mr. J. N. Dennis:

"Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 10, 1917.
"Mr. J. N. Dennis, Clanton, Ala.
"Dear Sir:

"Thinking that probably the attached would be of interest, we are sending you a copy. We will ask that you note, especially, the first seven lines of the third paragraph on page two, in regard to feeding cattle on velvet beans.

"Yours truly,
"RICHARD M. HOBBIE."

Mr. Hobbie's Letter.

Dear Sir:

We have your letter of the 2nd, and in reply will say that the writer has, as you doubtless know, been appointed by President Wilson on Mr. Hoover's staff and assigned to Alabama. We feel that our first problem in Alabama will be in finding of markets at satisfactory prices for the farmers who have raised food stuffs. Due to shortage in ships, congestion in terminals and shortage in cars, these crops will necessarily move slowly.

Priority will be given to cotton seed, peanuts and soy beans, as these are all oil producing. These crops should be marketed as soon as they mature and sent immediately to the oil mills, which will be ready to receive them, so that the oil may be extracted and sent forward at the earliest possible date, both for the use of our allies as food and for our own use in the manufacture of nitro glycerine.

Alabama will, this year, raise approximately 100,000,000 bushels of corn. While possibly only 25 per cent will leave the farms; yet in our opinion, it will take six months to move this enormous amount of corn. We will ask, therefore, that you urge all farmers to immediateyl erect corn cribs of poles, if lumber is not instantly available, in which to store the corn, being sure that a good roof is put over it to protect it from weather damage. This is necessary, for if the farmers attempt to dump this corn on the market during the three full months, as is usually done, the price will, without doubt, be broken down to such a point that it will be neither satisfactory nor profitable to the farmer, and because of the cheap price, much corn will then be wasted, and next summer will again rise to a price that will be beyond the reach of the consumer.

Every bushel of corn raised in this state will be needed during the next twelve months, and should be very carefully consumed. Due to the shortage in cars, very little corn, if any, should move to market on the cob and in the shuck, as only 300 to 400 bushels can be loaded in a car. Corn should be shelled and shipped in bulk for the came car will carry 1500 to 2000 bushels of shelled corn in bulk. Further, there is no reason why the farmer should be taxed on every bushel with the freight of 30 pounds of cobs and shucks, which are valuless in the terminal markets and which are usually destroyed by burning, but are of some value on the farm. It has taken us fifty years to learn to market cotton. Let us profit by this experience and not dump our corn on the market this fall, but house it on the farm and feed it to the market as the market demands.

Due to the shortage in the world's wheat crop, a very large percentage of corn will be used during 1918 for human food. This is another reason why corn should be carefully conserved. Stored corn should further be treated with carbon bi-sulphide, in order to kill weevils.

As a substitute for the corn we feed to animals, we suggest that farmers use velvet beans, peanut and cotton seed meal, peanut hay, pea vine and Johnson gress hay. In this way we figure that we can safely send out of our state for the use of our allies, 25,000,000 or possibly 30,000,000 bushels of our corn.

The velvet bean crop will have to wait till the food crop has gotten undey way, therefore, farmers should also make provision for storing that portion of their beans which they do not harvest with their hogs and eattle. We believe that the most profitable way for a farmer to market his beans is, if he is able, to buy cattle and hogs and fatten them on his beans. In this way ,he can make a handsome profit on both the cattle and the hogs and still have his fertilizer. At present, the writer is trying to perfect a way whereby we may be able to move a large portion of the velvet bean crops, both in the shape of beans and bean meal, thru to the middle west, to be used in the dairies there. It is absolutely necessary, Mr. Hoover states, that these dairies be speeded up in order to supply milk and butter to the large cities and cheese and condensed milf for shipment to our allies. These dairies are now suffering by reason of high priced dairy food, and we hope that by March at the latest, we will be able to have flowing a big stream of velvet beans and velvet bean meal over to these districts. In the meantime, we beg that the farmer take care of he larger portion of this crop as there will be no available storage space in the larger portion of this crop as there will appreciate your help in getting these suggestions to the farmers in your neighborhood and we will also appreciate any suggestions or criticisms which you wish to make, all of which, we assure you will help us in this work. Will you kindly send us the name of four or five intelligent, progressive farmers who will also volunteer to help?

If you or some of your neighbors have not already placed your order for a corn sheller, we suggest that you do place an order at once, as it is very difficult indeed to get immediate shipment of any machinery at this time. We are now using the corn sheller, manufactured by the John Deere Plow Co., who have an office at Atlanta, and we have purchased another sheller manufactured by the Sandwich Co., of Sandwich, Ill., and we understand that the International Harvester Co. also manufactures a sheller. We trust that you will write to one or all of these concerns immediately. As stated in the beginning, we wish to cooperate with the farmers in finding satisfactory and profitable markets and we trust that you will help us all you can.

Yours tryly,
RICHARD M. HOBBIE.

POLICE CHIEF WAS ENTIRELY HELPLESS

"I Am Glad To Say A Good Word For Tanlac Says Chief Riley"

"I can understand now why everybody is praising this Tanlac, for it has filled me with new life and energy and I feel better than for months past," said Chief of Police, George S. Riley, of Macon, Georgia, in an interesting interview, some time ago.

"I was always a healthy man until June 1915," he continued, "when I had a serious attack which confined me to bed for three months, and left me with troubles that developed pleurisy and other complications. I underwent several operations and tried many different medicines, but couldn't get rid of the catching pains in my hips and the small of my back and a hurting all through my feet and legs, and for a long time I was entirely helpless. My kidneys were also affected and my system seemed to be poisoned with uric acid.

"From the very time I began taking this Tanlac, I improved until I am now feeling like a new man in every way. The pains in my side have left me entirely, I haven't a sign of trouble with my kidneys, the pains have left my lower limbs and I am in better shape than I have been for many months. I sure am glad to say a good word for Tanlac, for it has put me on my feet again."

Tanlac is sold in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co., in Mt. Creek by J. E. Deon, in Jemison by Langston Drug Co., in Thorsby by A. K. Horn & Son, in Cooper by McSwain Mercantile Co., in Verbena by Gulledge Bros., in Marbury by the Plateau Drug Co., in Riderville by E. E. Jackson Lumber Co., in Stanton by W. C. THORSBY ITEMS

Mr. J. L. Winslow is spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Rachel Winslow at Marion, Ala.

Miss Juanita Atkinson of Jemison spent Friday and Saturday on last week with Miss Agnes Leary.

Prof. Foster Williams of Goodwater and Mr. Dan Williams of Americus, Ga., spent a few days last week with their brother, Prof. C. M. Williams.

The following young people of Thorsby took advantage of the excursion rate of $1.00 to Birmingham and return last Sunday: Misses Agnes and Ruth Gerald, Olga Soberg, Walter Morgan, Herbert Hughes, Leon Peterson, Leon and Gordon Stanley.

Miss Alma Dippery, a graduate of Thorsby Institute, who has recently completed a course in stenotypy and typewritinp in Wheeler Business College, Birmingham, has been appointed to a civil service position in Washington, D.C. She left on Tuesday of this week to take up her work there.

Rev. E. W. Butler attended the Bear Creek Association of the Congregational Churches at Houston, on August 10 to 12.

Mr. Herbert Hughes of Pigeon Creek, Ala., is an arrival at Thorsby Institute. He is assisting with the painting and repairing of the Girls Dormitory. He expects to be in school here next year.

Mrs. C. E. Dippery spent Sunday and Monday with her daughter, Alma, in Birmingham.

Mr. A. L. Gaines left on Wednesday of last week for Anniston, where he has accepted a position.

It will be interesting to the many friends of Mr. Arthur Villadsen to know that he has recently joined the Aviation Corps of the army and has been sent to San Antinio, Texas.

Quite an interesting program was rendered on last Suday night at the Union meeting of the three young peoples' societies, Luther League, B. Y. P. U., and Christian Endeavor, held at the Baptist Church. Talks were made by Rev. S. H. Herbert, and Rev Arnold Nelson on Chrictian patriotism.

We suppose there are some who do not see their way clear in voting for the three-mill school tax, but The Union-Banner does not expect to fall out with them for such a view. They are entitled to their own opinion, just as is everyone in regard to all public questions. But we would like to ask each and everyone who is inclined to be opposed to the adoption of the tax to give the question the closest consideration, and see if they cannot find justification for a ballot cast in favor of the proposition on August 27.

NOTICE ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE

In pursuance of a decree rendered by the Probate Court of Chilton county, Alabama, on the 27th day of July, 1917, annulling and settnig aside the sale of land heretofore made by me as Administrator of the estate of R. A. Hancock, deceased, and directing me to re-sell said land; said re-sale to be made as directed in the decree previously granted directing the sale of said land, in the first instance; I, as administrator of said estate, will sell at the courthouse door in Clanton, Ala., to the highest bidder for cash, on the 18th day of August, 1917, the following described real estate, situated in Chilton County, Ala., to-wit:

That part of the south half of the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of Section 16, Township 21, Range 15, lying east of the Clanton and Cooper public road; and one and one-half acres of land in the north side of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of said section, township and range; said land being known as the R. A. Hancock place.

Said sale is made for the purpose of paying the debts of said estate, and for distribution of the remainder of the funds after the debts are paid among the children of the decedent.

This, the 27th day ow July, 1917.

Taking Cathartics Every Day for Weeks Don't Cure Stomach Trouble

They do not eliminate the poisonous bile accretions from the system, so declares a leading Chicago stomach specialist. Often gall stones, cancer and ulcers of the stomach and intestines, auto intoxication, yellow jaundice, appendicitis and other dangerouse ailments are the consequences. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is the ideal prescription for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. It has restored millions. One dose will prove that it will help you. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is for sale by Upchurch Drug Co.

High Cost of Living

BRADSTREET maintains a careful record of prices. In 1896 the annual index number stood at $5.9124. In 1916 the figure had increased to $11.8251, which means that the price of the same kind of living has doubled in cost in 20 years.

Railroad service is an important item in the cost of living. Yet the record shows that the cost of living to railroads in general, and the L. & N. in particular, has increased tremendously, whereas the railroads now receive actually less for service than 20 years ago, and thus actually decreased the cost of living in so far as freight and passenger service enters into the cost of living.

In sixteen years L. & N. mileage increased 54 per cent.; yet expenses increased 122 per cent., labor increased 116 per cent., material and supplies increased 107 per cent. and taxes increased 174 per cent.

In the same sixteen years the L. & N. passenger rate per mile actually decreased 7.7 per cent., and the L. & N. freight rate per ton per mile actually decreased 10.8 per cent.

No business enterprise can continue to pay increases of from 50 per cent. to 175 per cent. for its material, supplies, labor and taxes and receive less for the service rendered. Even rigid economy, efficient management and volume of traffic will give way under the strain.

The L. & N., in common with the general public, has had to pay its 100 per cent. increase in the cost of living. But unlike the general public the L. & N. has not received increased revenue with which to pay the increased cost.

Government statistics show that railroad revenue per ton per mile in the South decreased 9.7 per cent., or a total of $35,367,239 in a single year, whereas in the entire United States for 16 years the revenue per ton per mile increased .003 cents, or 4% per mile. In 16 years L. & N. earnings per ton per mile actually decreased 10.8 per cent.

The railroads of the South are entitled to consideration equal to that shown the railroads of other sections of the United States, and the L. & N. is entitled to consideration equal to that shown other Southern railroads.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Cure fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Sacked hulls mean convenience and economy

PUTTING Buckeye Hulls in sacks is just one of the important little things that have been done to make this roughage an improvement over the old style. This makes easier to handle when putting them in the barn and easier to measure out when mixing feed. It keeps them clean and makes your help think of them as forage—not as bedding.

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

Even though sacked, Buckeye Hulls sell for much less than loose old style hulls. It costs us money to sack them but we believe that anything that will help you use this product to best advantage is worth the expense.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls are free of lint which has no food value.
2000 pounds of real roughage to the ton—not 1500.
Buckeye Hulls allow better assimilation of food.
No trash or dust.
They mix well with other food.
They take less space in the barn.
Every pound goes farther.

Kimbraugh Bros., Indianola, Miss., say:
"We are using Buckeye Hulls and are very much pleased with them. We think they are superior to old style hulls."

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

BUY PAINT WITH YOUR EYES OPEN

There's as much difference in the character of paints as in people. You want paint that not only looks well on your property, but that will give you the best service at lowest cost.

That is the reason you should buy a paint containing the greatest amount of zinc. Without it paint rapidy darkens, scales off and decays.

Mastic Paint, the kind that lasts, is made with pure white lead and zinc-oxide, 50 per cent. each, ground in pure Linseed Oil.

Mastic Paint lasts longest, has greatest covering capacity, and is very economical.

Be sure to use MASTIC PAINT—it is guaranteed and must give you absolute satisfaction.

WOULD PROHIBIT SENDING MEN FROM U. S. WITHOUT CONSENT

Washington, August 14.—(special correspondence). Senator Hardwick of Georgia who is generally considered a conservative administration supporter, has introduced a bill which, if passed, would call a halt to the proposal to send the drafted men to Europe without their consent.

His bill, which he says he introduced in response to overwhelming sentiment in Georgia—where he is up for re-election next year—bears the number S.2717, and reads as follows:

The Bill.

A Bill prescribing rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces during the period of the existing war with Germany.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that for and during the period of the present existing war with the Imperial Government of Germany the following rules and regulations for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces of the United States shall be followed and observed:

No person heretofore or hereafter drafted into the military service of the United States, pursuant to any law thereof, shall be ordered or required by the Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy, or by any other military or naval authority, to render military possessions of the United States, unless and until such person shall have first voluntarily consented to such foreign service.

The bill was introduced, read twice and referred to the Senate Committee on military affairs, where senator Chamberlain will probably endeavor to have it pigeonholed for the remainder of the session. A strong fight will be made to bring it out and force it to a record vote in both houses.

The American Union Against Militaryism has demanded a hearing on the bill before the Senate committee on military affairs.

COOPERATION IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS WORK IS URGED

As we are just beginning a new year in the international Sunday School Work of the county, we ask that the district presidents and the superintendents of the different schools begin now and let's make this the best year in the history of S. S. work in the county.

We find that many of our schools have a very low per centage of the banner school points; and there are about 15000 white people in the county out of Sunday School. We can and we must raise the per centage of our schools and get those 15000 in Sunday School. Will you help us?

MRS. POOL DIED SUDDENLY

Last Tuesday evening late Mrs. W. M. Pool died very suddenly at the home of the family four miles northeast of Clanton. The lady is said to have been in her usual state of good health, and up to the time of her death she was in a particularly cheerful spirit.

Her daughters were preparing to go to church Tuesday night, and all were jolly and cheerful. Suddenly it was noted that the mother had fallen to the floor on the front porch, and her daughters at once observed that she was unconscious.

Dr. Hayes was summoned and her husband called at the same time. At the time the doctor arrived he found the lady in a delirious state and all his efforts to revive her were futile. Life left her about nine o'clock, and she never became conscious from the time she was first stricken.

Hemorrhage of the brain is ascribed as the cause of death.

AMERICA AND ITS ALLIES FACE A GREAT SHORTAGE IN WHEAT

Government is making World Survey to Determine Other Crops.

Washington, August 11.—America and her allies face a shortage of 250,000,000 bushels of wheat to tide them over until the 1918 harvests, the "national service handbook" issued tonight by the official bureau of public information, declares.

Simultaniously it is learned from other sources that the government is making a world survey to determine other sources of wheat supply. Careful inquiry has been made into the possibility of encouraging the planting of wheat in Siberia, with assurance of large purchases from the allied governments.

"In the United States," says the new official document, "the crop of winter wheat is very definitely far below normal. Even with the increased acreage for spring wheat the forecast for the United States is but 659,000,000, which added to the possible 100,000,000 carried over from the present makes approximately 1,006,000,000 bushels.

"We will need for the coming year for flour manufacture for the United States and Canada 550,000,000 bushels. For seed to plant the 1918 crop, 90,000,000 bushels will be needed. Various industries will require 10,000,000 bushels, and carrying half the present surplus would add 50,000,000 bushels more, making a total of 700,000,000 bushels for the United States and Canada.

"The allies will need at least 550,000,000 bushels of wheat and 425,000,000 bushels of feed grain to carry them through to harvest. We will have but 300,000,000 bushels to export a shortage of 250,000,000 bushels."

The handbook then says that every effort and some sacrifice must be made by the country to meet the threatened shortage.

The book is designed, according to Chairman Creel, of the committee, "to point out the most useful avenues of service" to the people of the country, and at the same time inform the public what the government is doing in its efforts to press the war to a quick and successful close.

RUSSIA IS TAKING DRASTIC STEPS TO REBUILD STRENGTH

Kerensky again Appeals to Army to Eliminate Treason and Cowardice.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Russia is taking drastic steps to strengthen her military, financial and internal situation, the Russian embassy here announced today.

Premier Kerensky has issued an order to all Russian commanders to lose no efforts, however rigorous, to eliminate treason and cowardice from the army. General Korniloff is putting up a desperate defense on the Galician-Bessarabian frontier to prevent the Germans from over-running the grain fields of Bassarabia, and Moldavia and the Black Sea Region.

The Russian government will issue orders to all Russian consular agents in the United States to restrict importations to Russia. The reason for the order given by the embassy is that promiscious buying of goods destined for Russia has served to demoralize exchange of commodities and lower the value of the Russian ruble. This step, together with the cooperation enterprises for buying and selling being organized by the Russian ministry of finance, it is hoped, will improve materially Russia's financial position.

The new Russian liberty loan is meeting with great success, the embassy announced. Many regiments are subscribing to the loan in a body.

Military Operations.

Russia's military operations are now under direction of Premier Kerensky, vice premier Nekrasoff, foreign minister Terescenko and General Korniloff, commander-in-chief of the Russian army. These men are no longer interfered with either by the other members of the ministry or by the council of workmen and soldiers.

Russia has abandoned the office of Procurator of the holy synod. Instead, a minister of religious cults has been created.

M. Kartasheff has been appointed to fill the post. This is regarded as an important internal reform in the direction of religious tolerance, as the office of procurator had a rather unsavory reputation particularly since its occupation by the late anti-Semite, Pobedonostzeff.

Minister of education, Nikitin, socialist has ordered that all schools be opened September 1. M. Nikitan is a young Moscow lawyer and in the days of the old regime, often incurred the wrath of the government for his fearless revolutionary activities.

The Real American Beauty

How glorious and wonderful is the advent of another life. When baby is born there comes into the world a new soul, the real American Beauty. When the hour arrives it should be the dawn of a new and perfect future. The joy of motherhood should be as free from fear and danger as it is possible to make it.

Thousands of women have used the safe and reliable application, "Mother's Friend". It is a wonderful help to nature in relieving strain and distress brought about by expanding muscles. The nerves, too, will be calm, making the period one of cheerful days and restful nights. The breasts are kept in good condition and the abdominal muscles relax with ease when baby is born. "Mother's Friend" makes it possible for the expectant mother herself to actually aid nature in the glorious work to be performed, and no woman should neglect or fail to give nature a helping hand. It will mean infinitely less pain at the crisis.

Do not fail under any circumstances to get this greatest remedy, ever compounded for expectant mothers. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. J, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., for their book, "Motherhood and the Baby". They will send it free. It is not only very useful, but will make you helpful to others. Remember to ask your druggist for a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today.

DOES TRAINING PAY?

When people go to employ a lawyer they think it pays, when they need a doctor they think it pays, when they need a dentist they think it pays, when they need officers for their soldiers they think it pays; and when they need carpenters or blacksmiths they want trained workmen. When our cows or our horses are sick we want trained veternarians.

Shall we change the rule when we go to educate our children? Trained teachers are the best asset the state can have.

There are four training camps for teachers of Alabama,—the four class A normal schools, located at Jacksonville, Troy, Livingston, and Florence.

SHIPPING BOARD WANTS BILLION DOLLARS MORE

Contracts already Approved Include 125 Vessels Costing More than $100,000,000.

Washington, Aug. 11.—After approving contracts for more than 125 vessels to cost upwards of $100,000,000—its biggest single day's work—the government shipping board today decided to ask Congress for an additional appropriation of nearly a billion dollars.

It was announced tonight that of the approved contracts, Chairman J. H. Hurley, before leaving for Atlantic City, signed for 50 vessels, aggregating 200,000 tons, to cost $25,000,000. The other contracts will be signed next week.

The shipping program will be more tremendous than ever dreamed. Instead of 3,000,000 tons the first year, double this tonnage will be attempted. The new estimates to be submitted to Congress shortly will cover plans for fabricating a standardized steel cargo carrier of about 7,500 tons capacity, which can be turned out by the hundreds in the country's big steel plants and assembled at the seashore.

The board's contracts already let will consume most of the $750,000,000.

MAILING RULES GIVEN PUBLIC

Postmaster urges Citizens to be Careful in Addressing Letters to Camp.

The personal attention of all postmasters and citizens has been called by the Postmaster General to the importance of complete and correct addressing of mail intended for officers and enlisted men in the army and navy.

To insure adequate and satisfactory service for the National Army and National Guard cantonments in the United States and for the mobilization and training camps the department has authorized the establishment at each of these camps or cantonments of a military branch of the nearest large post office. The official names of these branches have been published, or will be published from time to time as they are established.

For facilitating the work of the military branch post offices the department has urged that careful attention be given the addressing of mail.

The following form of address to soldiers and officers in the training camps has been suggested by the Post master General: "Private William K, Jones, Company C, First Regiment, Pennsylvania National Guard, Camp Mead, Maryland."

French Soldiers at Dawn Tell Story of Big Victory

FIGHT LASTS THROUGH NIGHT

Grand Headquarters of the French Armies in France, August 20.—When prisoners came back in hundreds immediately after dawn this morning the observers knew that the sharp blow decided on by the French higher command in order to give more breathing space at Verdun had been successful.

After the artillery had pounded the German positions stretching along a front of 14 miles from south of Bethincourt to Bezonvaux, until they must have been like pulp, the infantry advanced as the first or dawn lighted the sky and occupied all the positions they had set out to conquer, at the same time sweeping into their net many prisoners of several divisions of the German crown prince's army.

Not Bled White.

The French soldiers showed once more that they were not bled white. When the order was given for them to go over the top in the face of the hundreds of batteries of heavy and light artillery and thousands of machine guns, they advanced singing and nothing could stay their dash. They were handled in such a way by their officers that they escaped thru the most dangerous part of the field with almost negligible losses, reaching the German positions before the German barrage fire.

The night preceding this battle was fairy-like in beauty. There was no moon, but the stars were brilliant and the natural effects were enhanced by bursting shells, while flares almost incessantly arose, making the surrounding area brighter than day.

Disturbing Sounds.

The only disturbing sounds were the terrifying screeches and the whistling of smaller shells and the train-like roar of larger projectiles, while the dull thuds of trench torpedoes reverberated along the ground.

The French troops awaiting the order to advance were not in the slightest dismayed by the difficulties of the task confronting them. They knew that this was unsuitable terrian for attacking forces but the fullest confidence reigned among them.

Facing them were German divisions which had been massed for resistence to any effort the French might make to extend their circle of territory around Verdun, which the Germans call the door to the heart of France. The French not only pushed the German intruders back as far as they intended but took many prisoners from chosen German regiments.

All Through the Night.

All through the night the German artillery had poured thousands of shells of every calibre into the roads and communicating trenches leading to the front. They introduced a novelty in the shape of 15-inch shells containing enormous shrapnel bulls which burst overhead and scatter pieces far and wide. But the disposition of the French troops was so cleverly contrived that they suffered but little.

Verdun itself received hundreds of shells which simply added to the destruction in the city. All the ground within eight miles of the front lines was strewn repeatedly with shells containing a horrible new German gas known as "mustard gas," affecting the mucous membrane and any portion of the body which was exposed, causing terrible blisters, and its base was sulphuric acid, and bringing a slow and painful death it entered the lungs.

The aviators were up and busy as soon as the light permitted and the correspondent saw two German machines shot down by gunfire, while German airmen who make a specialty of attacking the observation balloons twice attempted to destroy these but were driven off on each occasion.

Information comes from various parts of the line that the French have in several places gone farther than was originally intended and that the prisoners taken number far into the thousands.

THREE MILL SCHOOL TAX IS EXPLAINED THOROUGHLY

Prof. W. T. Bean's Ideas on Proposed Taxation for Support of Public Schools of Our County.

Clanton, Ala, Aug. 21, 1917.

To the Voters of Chilton County:

On Monday, August 27 you will be called upon to vote on the three-mill school tax question, and I trust that every voter will take time to go to the polls and vote his sentiment for or against this proposed tax.

I hope every voter has taken time to correctly inform himself as to just what this question means to Chilton County. It would mean this: that if the tax is levied we shall have longer schools, better schools, and better trained teachers, and no supplements, while if it is not levied, we shall have shorter schools, crowded schools, and ultimately poorer teachers. Which will you vote for, four or seven months free school?

There seems to be but little outspoken opposition, but we hear of some opposition such as the farmer cannot send to school more than fou months a year and the school ter will be long enough without the t This may be true in some instan where the children are large eno to work, but what we need is an quate school system so that the dren may obtain at least an el tary education before they are la enough to work, and this can be don when this tax is levied and not before. Should it become necessary for any school to have a divided term, the county board of education will allow a vacation.

Some are opposed to this tax, claiming that there are too many poor teachers and that teachers have been getting too large salaries. The fact that there are too many teachers is the very strongest argument for the need of the tax, for if there were more teachers the county would not have to use the poorer ones, and if there were enough money to give them a longer term there would be more teachers to stay in the profession, but Chilton County has to employ about one-third of its teachers from other counties. It seems to me that if there were too much money in teaching school and the job so easy, that the demand would be supplied. There are usually several applications for each fat job, but that is not the case with the teaching profession.

Some are opposed to this tax being levied on account of the expected war tax, but the farmers will have but little if any of this to pay, for we do not pay a war tax on cattle and land, etc. Some suggested that we should have waited till this war tax is paid before levying any more. Should we do this it is very probable that the schools should lag along for twenty years, or longer with from 60 to 70 pupils to each teacher running from 4 to 4½ months each year.

There are a few people opposed to to this tax saying that the farmers indirectly pay all of the taxes paid by the corporations, investment companies, etc. There may be a small amount of this tax paid indirectly, but to say that the farmers pay it all is bosh. Do you think that by raising the merchants' taxes they would raise the price of their goods enough that the farmers would have to pay their part of it? Do the merchants of Chilton County regulate the markets of the whole country? Is it not a matter of fact that the merchants charge all they can now for their goods? Is it not true in regard to the railroad companies? If the farmers have all of this corporation tax to pay, why did these theorists kick so when the Alabama Power Company was exempt from taxation. It seems to me that they should have been glad that the company was exempt, so that the farmers would have been relieved of having to pay this great burden indirectly. If this argument be true, why don't those theorists advocate that all corporations and large tax payers be exempt from taxation so that the farmers would be relieved of that indirect tax. It is because they know that it is right for all corporations, etc. to pay their taxes just as individuals do, and tha is why this question of local taxatio is of such great importance to th poorer people.

If this tax is levied it will increase every tax payer's taxes by exactl one-fifth, but in return the count board of education will guarantee tha your School District will be given teachers of your school's own choice for seven months absolutely fre from all tuition or supplements, pr viding you enroll as many as 51 re ular pupils, and providing that other school funds remain undimi ished, but the county board of ed cation does not agree to furnish first-grade teacher for each posi in any school.

Compare the increase in taxes the amount of supplement wo been paying or would have to get the above named benefits.

REMEMBER IF THE TAX IS LEVIED THAT

1. One hundred cents in th will go directly to the school county.
2. Not one penny of it leave the county.
3. The teachers' salaries w by the county board of edu a reasonable amount, and the people will be guara benefits of this tax.
4. No officer will get this school tax money.
5. The period for whic run is just three years—
6. The compulsory att becomes effective Octob
7. The compulsory period must be free.
8. There will be upw white children in schools
9. Every white schoo ty will be given a seven term with an ample te for the number of pupil

Farm Lands for Sale

I have a number of nice farms listed with me of from 30 to 1600 acres each and with prices to suit anyone. Can give terms. NOW is the time to see about getting your farm. Write me.

W. HARRY PEEBLES

WHIGHAM, GA.

FROM BEAT NO. 2

Editor Union-Banner:

Will woy allow me a few words in ur paper?

The health of this community is at present and fodder pulling soon be at hand, and I think from ooks of the corn fields that peo- ill not have to buy high priced another year.

ould like to ask Judge Reynolds question and anlo the Commission- ers, and that is if they think their road law is any better than the one that Judge Deason made; and if they think so I would like for them to show me where it is. Judge Reynolds said that there had to be some- thing done for the roads and that quick. I think they are doing some- thing for the roads and doing it quick.

The overseer warned the hands here and he would not allow any one to put his team on the road and give them any time for it at all. He said that you all would not allow him to hire any teams or would not give him the privilege to get any. I would like for you to fix a road with shovels and nothing else. You cannot do any thing but walk over the roads like the overseer did today. He went over a road which always takes us two days to work, and I guess you all know how it was worked. The work that they did was not any good at all. The hands had better been at home or somewhere else at work for the good they did.

I would like to know if you are going to give the old overseers any time for what time they were over- seers. I would like to know.

You know when Judge Deason and the Commissioners made the first new road law, how you went about over the county making speeches that the law was not any good, for the over- seers were getting all of the people's money and were not putting it on the roads, that they were having just a gravy train of it. And I would like to know who has the gravy train this time. It is not the overseers this time for they are not getting enough for them to want it, and I guess Judge Reynolds and the Commission- ers must have the gravy train. They have all the road tax and the wagon tax to go through their fingers. I guess they think they are better than Judge Deason was. He did not ask for the money to come to his office at all, he only wanted a report of how the overseers were every month, and he did. This was arranged so that the money would stay in its own precinct; but you have got to have it to come to your own office, and I don't know where all of it will go to. I guess some will go to first one place and the other—and the other place is in yourall's pockets.

I think that you all had better begin to get busy if you all aim to do any thing for the roads. When Judge Deason's road law was in force here in Beat 2, J. H. Martin was the over- seer, and he built aboutt twenty miles of road in one and a half years, and it is as good now as ever for there has not been any roads worked since he quit working the roads by tax- ation; and I am sure that it has been that way all over the county.

I am not kriting this way because I am fighting the parties, for I have been a Republican all my life, but I think when either side is in office and they need kicking, you know where I say, give it to them.

I would like for Judge Reynolds to send me a copy of his so called road law. Well, I will close for this time, with best wishes to the Union-Banner.

Lowest cost per pound of real roughage

OLD style hulls cost more per pound of roughage than the price per ton indicates. This is because they are one-fourth lint which has no food value. To know how much each pound of roughage in this form is costing you, you must divide the price per ton by 1500—not by 2000.

TRADE MARK

BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS

LINTLESS

cost exactly what you pay for them. Every pound is all roughage—no useless lint. To really know the difference in cost between old style hulls and Buckeye Hulls you must know the cost per pound of real roughage.

Even though Buckeye Hulls do sell at a much lower price than old style hulls, you can't realize how much less they are costing you until you consider how much more real roughage a ton contains.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls go farther.
They allow better assimilation of other food.
No trash or dust.
Sacked—easy to handle.
They mix well with other forage.
Take half as much space in the barn.

Mr. Dan Wolf, Hammond Bldg. & Mfg. Co., Hammond, La., says:
"I am feeding Buckeye Hulls to milch cows and find them a satisfactory filler when mixed with cottonseed meal and other concentrates. At the present price of feed stuff, Buckeye Hulls are the cheapest roughage on the market."

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

1917 Premium List of The Chilton County Fair, Clanton, Alabama

Announcement of Dates will be Made in Papers In Near Future.

ANNOUNCEMENT

On a date to be announced later, the Chilton County Fair Association will hold its ninth annual Fair, and hereby extends a cordial invitation to everybody that is interested in the improvement of agricultural conditions in Chilton and adjoining counties, to assist us by coming and bringing such exhibits as they can. If you have anything of special interest in any line, be sure and bring it.

We hope to beefit each other by encouraging improvements in all our work, especially in growing farm products of all kind, together with live stock.

To interest and encourage the ladies in their line of work, domestic and household affairs.

There will be exhibits of the best of everything produced in the County.

Competent judges will be secured to judge each article, said judges to be experts in their line and parties who have no personal interest in any exhibits.

On account of the general depression in business, we will be compelled to first pay the actual expenses of hilding the Fair, and then appropriate all excess toward the payment of premiums in proportion to the amounts as catalogued up to the amount of premium.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

1—Competetion open to citizens of Chilton county only.

2—The Fair grounds will be open to the public Monday, and will close the following Saturday at midnight.

3—The gates will be opened at 8:30, a.m. each day, and close at 11, p.m.

4—No disorderly conduct of any kind will be allowed.

5—Every animal and article upon the grounds shall be under the control of the Association, and while every precaution will be taken for the safe-keeping of the same, the Association will in no case be responsible for any loss, damage or accident that may occur.

6—All entries for exhibition will be received and receipted for by the Manager or his assistants, and will be entirely under the control of the manager during the term of the Fair.

7—All privilege and concession people, together with their employees and helpers, must follow the rules and regulations of the Association, as they may be notified by the manager. Any neglect or refusal to comply will forfeit any rights that parties may have by virtue of such privileges or concessions.

8—Any place, privilege or concession is simply rented or leased, and the Fair Association and its officers reserve the right to inspect such places at all times.

9—The Association reserves the right to refund in whole or in part any concession or privilege money and refuse to allow any objectionable party or article or game to operate, should it be necessary.

10—The Association reserves the right to amend or add to the above rules and regulations, should occasion necessitate such action.

For any other information see or write Manager M. D. Foshee, Clanton, Ala, or W. T. Bean, Secretary, Clanton, Ala.

SUGGESTIONS FOR EXHIBITORS

Carefully preserve your catalogue. Prepare your exhibit by the catalogue, having in mind the Department, Class and Number, when you desire to compete.

Do not place your name on specimens offered; the judges must not know the owner until after the award is made.

If you desire to place on exhibit some rare or worthy article for which no place has been provided in the Catalogue, please attach a card to it bearing your name, stating "no contest."

The duplicate entry tag given by the Secretary when the article is entered, is your receipt for the sam, and if you preserve these tags, you will have no difficulty in gtting your specimens at thec lose of the Fair.

All exhibits should be in vessels to which the entry tag can be securely tied.

All exhibits must be entered in the name of the maker or owner.

Articles entered for single premiums cannot be used in displays. Judges to make awards in any department must be satisfied that the article and variety are worthy of a premium before an yaward is made.

The observance of the above directions will be mutually helpful to directors, officers and exhibitors.

CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 4TH

Announcement has been made that the opening of the Clanton Grammar School will take place on Tuesday, September 4th, 1917.

Prof. J. L. Johnson, who has already served as principal for one term has been retained to that position, and promises a much more successful school this year than any year previous to this.

The assistants are, Miss Gladys Wood of Daphue, Ala., Miss Elsie Nonenmacher of Anniston, and Miss Hattie Hancock of Alexander City. Miss Hancock takes the place which was occupied by Miss Flemming last session.

Prof. Johnson has the rare privilege of offering to the children of Clanton a fine building with all modern and convenient equipment. The School grounds are all placed in good order for the opening.

The faculty has the promise of a much larger enrollment than they had last year, and feel that the passage of the three-mill school tax would help them materially.

It Helps!

There can be no doubt as to the merit of Cardui, the woman's tonic, in the treatment of many troubles peculiar to women. The thousands of women who have been helped by Cardui in the past 40 years, is conclusive proof that it is a good medicine for women who suffer. It should help you, too.

I can't tell just how and where I hurt, about all over, I think . . . I began Cardui, and my pains grew less and less, until I was cured. I am remarkably strong for a woman 64 years of age. I do all my housework." Try Cardui, today. E-76

THE VETCHES

By D. J. Burleson, Agronomist for Extension.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Among the many species of vetch, there are only three which are of much value in the cotton belt. They are hairy vetch, narrow leaf vetch and Oregon or English winter vetch, the latter being of least importance. All are winter growing, vine-like, annual legumes. Since they reseed themselves freely, a stand may be obtained year after year by allowing the plants to shed seed.

Hairy Vetch whether grown for hay or for winter grazing should be seeded with one of the sma" grains for supporting the vine-like vetch. The two plants make a greater yield than one alone. Such a mixture may be pastured judiciously in winter, and if the stock are removed before the grain begins to form stems, the two crops may make good yields of hay, or of seed and grain. If grown for hay or for grain, the mixture should consist of red oats and hairy vetch, as these mature at about the same time.

Narrow Leaf Vetch is earlier than hairy vetch. For hay it should be grown with Fulghum oats or wheat, since red oats mature too late. Probably narrow leaf vetch is better for occupying Johnson grass meadows in winter than is hairy vetch. However narrow leaf vetch is not quite so hardy to cold as hairy vetch. The severe cold of last winter killed nearly all the former, while the latter withstood the cold better than most of our other winter legumes.

Last year certain samples of narrow leaf vetch seed contained cockle seed. The Alabama Experiment Station (press bulletin 85) found that dissolving 5 1-4 pounds of nitrate of soda in one gallon of water gives a solution of such density that all cockle seed float and the vetch seed sink.

The vetches should be planted in September or October. At the present high price of seed it would seem advisable to plant about 20 pounds per acre. Inoculation for the vetches is generally necessary to get satisfactory growth. Soil where vetch or English peas have previously grown successfully will furnish good inoculating material.

For further details write Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn, Ala., for press bulletin No. 31, Hairy Vetch.

ROOT-KNOT CONTROL

By H. B. Tisdale, Associate in Plant Breeding, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Root-knot or root gauls occurring on the roots of cotton and many other plants, causes each year a considerable loss in yield. The affected plants turn yellow and cease to grow, and if the roots of these plants are examined, swellings or gauls of varying sizes can be seen. The swellings are caused by nematode worms which live in the soil and feed and multiply on the roots of many plants.

In fields where root-knot is prevalent, plants resistant to the nematode worm should be planted for three or four years before cotton is again planted in the same field. Some of the most common resistant plants are as follows: Corn, velvet beans, peanuts, sorghum, millet, oats, wheat, rye, barley, Iron cowpeas and Brabham cowpeas. Those resistant plants best suited to the individual farmer should be worked into a rotation for three or four years, after which time the nematode worms will be starved.

Clean cultivation is necessary in order to keep down weds, many of which furnish food for the nematode worms.

GOOD SEED NECESSARY

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Profitable crops cannot be produced without a good stand of plants, and to secure a full stand it is necessary to plant pure, live seed. Their purity and ability to germinate are therefore important factors that cannot be overlooked under the present high cost of production.

All farmers should now decide upon their fall crops, and calculate the amount of seed that will have to be bought to plant each one properly. After deciding upon the amount of good seed necessary, they should ascertain where such seed may be secured, and arrange without delay for the needed amount.

The amount of vetch and clover seed will likely be limited. Their price will doubtless keep pace with the price of other seed and be high. Their scarcity and high price will cause dishonest dealers to sell old seed or adulterated seed. Therefore, it is important to buy from reliable farmers or seedsmen. A guaranty of purity and germination may be required, or a sample of the seed may be submitted for examination to the Seed Laboratory, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Now is the time to locate fall seed oats and buy before they have been fed away or shipped to some other part of the country. Good pure Southern grown seed will be scarce and hard to get. If you wait until planting time you may have to plant some unsuited variety, or not plant any.

The Coming of the Sun Beam

The coming of the sunbeam—the new baby—should be a happy time for the expectant mother. She should help nature by the daily use of the safe, penetrating external preparation, "Mother's Friend". By its regular use the breasts are kept in good condition, the tendency to morning sickness is avoided. The abdominal muscles relax without strain when baby is born and the crisis is naturally one of less pain and danger.

To neglect the use of "Mother's Friend" for a single night is a mistake. Send or phone to the druggist for a bottle today and write for valuable free book, "Motherhood and the Baby". Address The Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. K, 300 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga.

LET HYDRAULIC RAM PUMP YOUR WATER

By R. U. Blasingame, Agricultural Enneer, Alabama Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The thrift of a community is often determined by the utilization of its natural resources. Water flowing from one elevation to a lower plane is certainly capable of doing some useful work. It develops horse power in proportion to its quantity and the distance it falls.

Alabama is blessed with an ample supply of streams, springs, and flowing wells. By the use of the hydraulic ram this water may be delivered to any place desired. The ram is cheap, simple to operate, and easily installed. After installing its operating cost is nothing.

Facts About the Hydraulic Ram.

1. It is a combination engine and pump. Operates day and night.

2. The hydraulic ram must be placed at least two feet below the spring, and ten feet away, and must be supplied with at least one gallon of water to operate successfully.

3. Measure the capacity of the spring by catching the flow in a tub or a bucket of known capacity.

4. The ram wastes considerable water in order to pump a small amount. Therefore, it is necessary to provide for the waste water to drain away.

5. To find amount of water that will be delivered by a ram per minute.

Number of gallons furnished to ram multiplied by height water is to be raised equals number of gallons put into tank.

Subtract 1/3 for friction in pipes. (Drive head is vertical distance from spring to ram).

EXAMPLE: Suppose a spring supplies 10 gallons per minute and drive head is 5 feet. How much water will be delivered in tank 60 feet high?

$\frac{10 \times 5}{60}$ = No. gals. put in tank—5/6 gals. per minute.

$5/6 \times 24 \times 60 = 1200$ gals. per 24 hrs

Subtract 1/3 for friction in pipe 1200-400=800 gals. per day.

6. The length of drive pipe should be about 8 to 10 times the drive head. Example: If drive head is 5 feet, drive pipe should be 40 or 50 feet long.

Table showing size of drive pipe, delivery pipe, and size of ram to install with varying water supply from spring.

BAKER SCHOOL HOUSE

Dear Editor:

As I have not seen anything from this place in your paper for quite a while, I will write a few words in regard to our settlement.

We are glad to note that health is very good at this time. We have had up to this time quite a lot of rain, but so far has not done much damage.

We are proud of our new saw mill that has just been erected by Mr. E. M. Jones, Jr., at Falakto. The mill has been operating some three weeks and is turning out some fine lumber.

We are glad to say that there was a singing at Mr. Bess' last Saturday night, which was well attended by the young folks around here.

Mr. G. H. Vinson spent last Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Yates of Clanton Route No. 5. He and Mr. Yates visited Fiquette's saw mill Sunday.

Fiery Eczema and Skin Eruptions Readily Yield to This Old Remedy

Sucessfully used for fifty years.

Eczema and similar skin troubles come from a disordered, impure condition of the blood, and they can only be cured by giving the blood a thorough cleansing, and removing from it all traces of impurity.

This is why S. S. S. has been used so successfully in hundreds of cases of Eczema and other skin eruptions.

This wonderful remedy is without an equal as a blood purifier, being probably the oldest blood medicine on the market. It has been sold by druggists for fifty years.

GERMAN CRISIS PUT OFF, NEWSPAPERS SAY

Believed Present Parlimentary Struggle will have far-reaching Effect.

The Hague, Aug. 24.—The German latest crisis has doubtless been a storm in a teacup, but one likely, nevertheless, to entail for reaching consequences, the press admits.

The Rhenish Westphalian Gazette says that there is no doubt that the interior crisis is only postponed and that the postponement is of short duration. The Tageblatt says the crisis is only temporarily averted.

The Cologne Volkszeitung says that Germany's enemies will soon be able to talk of German lack of internal unanimity and advises the Reichstag main committee to choose another path, saying that "the highest authority in the empire has already declared against the annexationists."

The majority coalition without any doubt intends to make use of every opportunity to exert its influence and gain power. The government finding it impossible to prevent an outburst, is using the agitation as an advertisement abroad and at home of Germany's democratic spirit, although, in reality the Reichstag is still impotent. The mere fact that the Chancellor can continue serenely with practically no support indicates this.

The Chancellor has already attained the unidentified position which Bethmann had when he was ousted, a target of the distrust of all parties, distrust by the majority owing to his quibbling over the peace resolution and by the pan-Germans, owing to the fact that he proposes to take the party leaders more into his confidence by the formation of a subcommittee to duscuss affairs before they come before the grand committee.

Meantime, in order to calm the majority and draw a red herring across his path, Michaels unexpectedly says that he consents to the majority view of the Alsac-Loraine question, that the district become an autonomous state of the empire, with full status as such. This and the withdrawal of the Chancellor's first statement after Von Payer had presented on ultimatum to him has somewhat soothed the ruffled feeling.

The Chancellor who suddenly departed for Great Headquarters, will return on Monday when the discussions will be resumed. The press states that this journey is not connected with the recent events in the Reichstag Committee, but is probably in connection with the question of Alsac-Lorraine.

The question of reviving the Council of the empire is again on the tapis but unless the constitution is reformed all these are only palliative measures. Count Zu Reventlow, in the Tageszeitung, says the Chancellor has no intention of having the helm taken out of his hands, in spite of the majority resolutions.

Meantime, the party has achieved a partial triumph by the fact that the National Liberals have definitely agreed to support the domestic reform program with mental reservations regarding foreign policy.

GERMAN LOSSES AT LENS ARE COUNTED AT 15,000

Brilliant Story of How the Canadians Have Pushed on Over Obstacles.

War Correspondents Headquarters on the British Front, August 24.—To the south of Lens there is a slag heap overgrown with weeds, called the "Green Grassier." It is clearly visible across the Souchez River, beyond a broken bridge, and I have often seen it from the lower slopes of Vimy. It was the scene of great fighting yesterday, for in the morning the Canadians, who are showing an indomitable spirit after ten days of the most furious attack and counter attack, launched an assault upon it and seized the position.

Later in the day the enemy came back in strength and after violent efforts succeeded in thrushing the Canadians off the crest of this old mound of cinders, though they still cling to the western side of it. This is another incident in the long series of fierce and bloody encounters, which since the battle of Vimy on April 9, have surrounded the City of Lens, and given to its streets and suburbs a sinister but historic fame.

The Canadians have fought here with astonishing resolution. They have hurled themselves against fortress positions and by sheer courage smashed their way through streets entangled with quickest hedges of steel, through houses alive with machine guns fire, through trenches dug between concrete forts, through tunnels under the red brick runis, sometimes too strong to be touched by shell fire, and through walls loopholed for rifle fire and hidden machine gun emplacements designed to infilade its advance.

Through the cities of St. Laurent, St. Theodore and St. Emile, to the north and west Lens, they fought past high slagheaps and pitheads, along the railway embankments, down sudden leads, until they had broken their way through the frightful defenses to the western streets of the inner city.

Every day nd sometimes many times a day, they have been counterattacked by swarms of Germans, coming up out of their tunnels and between their attacks they have been under terrific gunfire from a wide semi-circle of heavy batteries.

Six German divisions have attacked them in turn and been shattered by them. These are the seventh and the eighth, the fourth guards division, the eleventh reserve, the 220th and the first guards reserve divisions. In addition to these six divisions some persons, at any rate, of the 185th division and of the thirty-sixth reserve divisions have been engaged.

The total german strength used at Lens must well exceed fifty batallions (upwards of 50,000 men), and the German losses may, perhaps, be estimated at between 12,000 and 15,000 men. The Canadians themselves have been hard-pressed at times but have endured the exhaustion of the great struggle with amazing strength of spirit, grimly and fiercely resolved to hold their gains unless overwhelmed by numbers in their advanced positions, as it has sometimes happened to them.

END OF WAR WITH VICTORY FOR ALLIES NEAR

Many Hopeful Signs of Close of Hostilities are Seen in France.

Paris, Aug. 25.—"Is the end of the war really near? is the question one is beginning to hear in well-informed circles in Paris, which for the first time are inclined to admit the possibility of a successful termination of hostilities in the not distant future.

At a risk of being suspected of premature optimism I will try to set forth the reasons and arguments that are being advanced by people in Paris in support of the expectations which they have hitherto scarcely ventured to consider.

To begin with, the reception accorded the Pope's peace offer in the Allied countries has dealt a fatal blow to the theory advanced by the pessimists. Despite American intervention, the national morale in France, Englond and Italy had so fallen that their governments would be soon forced by popular pressure to accept almost any peace short of absolute submission to Germany.

France, especially, which the croakers said would never face another winter of war, met the papal olive branch with universal and uncompromising hostility and thereby brought a victorious peace nearer by a giant struggle. It is realized here that Germany has been beting on the chance of French weakness (for France, as the greatest sufferer among the big allied powers) as her last desperate stake, the final "double of quits" that might snatch victory from defeat.

Despite the false statements about submarines and military strength Gerhas, it is thought, nothing else to hope for; but while the chance of France throwing up the sponge was possible, it was obvious that the German war chiefs would hold on to the bitterest end. Now that this chance has vanished, it is believed that the effect on the German people will be vital.

A veteran French diplomat stated the case plainly to me this morning:

"In the early summer we passed the dead line that separates failure from success. You know what happened then—how the disappointment of the extravagant hopes placed by the people in the April offensive was craftily turned to account by pacifism or German-paid propaganda.

"What a contrast today. Under a chief who will rank with the greatest generals of antiquity, their few legitimate grevances appeased by wise reforms, their courage unsapped by lies and calumnies from the rear, our soldiers are winning victory before the fortress that the Germans boasted should symbolize their triumph forever.

"In the rear French justice has stamped her foot, and the rats of treachery have scuttled to their holes. Legitimate complaints were adjusted, and new confidence was born, which no one again will dare to try to undermine.

"But our moment of weakness gave the Germans hope. They said: 'France faints: let us appear undaunted and deal our best hammer blows. Her resistance will soon end.'

"I am no military expert, but I am convinced that their tremendous attacks on the Aisne, where it is stated that they lost more troops than in the first battle of Verdun, were inspired by some such reasoning. What can they hope for now? You have the answer on the banks of the Meuse."

I submitted the point to an important staff officer, who replied: "The French army was never stronger than today, which is the best refutation of the stories of momentary weakening. However the latter acected the German plans. There is no doubt their Aisne assaults were primarily what we call preventive, that is really defensive and based on making it impossible for us to undertake a big offensive later, rather than on the hope of gaining a definite advantage.

"Verdun last year gives a parallel. In the spring it was an offensive to roll up the French line; in the Summer a preventive, to interrupt our preparations on the Somme. As is the case today, the German sacrifices were vain. I, too, am of the opinion that the present French aggressiveness at the front and the strong confidence in the rear—in which America has helped us enormously—will shorten the war by affecting the German morale even more than by actual military advantages, and they justify our increasing hopes.

"In Flanders one is struck by the growing proportion of German officers among the killed and prisoners, as the battle continues. That means that the men's morale is weakening, and that the officers are forced to expose themselves more to make them follow. Perhaps the same thing will happen at Verdun. Then we can be certain that the equilibrium is tending to be upset.

"Civilians seem to be mislead by military phrases about limited Allied offensives and the impregnable German line. I have heard people say: 'But if we can advance only three miles and are then compelled to wait for the artillery to move up and smash the next three miles, what is to prevent the Germans falling back in short stages for years?'

"Of course, from a military point of view, such a theory is impossible; no army could retreat for long without its morale being affected enough to break the equilibruim—least of all the Germans at the end of three hard years of war. You've only to look at the way they sacrifice men in counter attacks to see that they know the danger of retreat.

"As things are going now, the Allies are breaking their hearts, as Grant broke those of the Confederates in the battle of the Wilderness, and when the defenders' hearts are broken the most impregnable position may fall like a house of cards. Remember, we have still two more months in which to maintain the pressure.

"Personally, I consider the recent German bombing of hospitals significant. Cortez burned his boats behind his men to prevent their retreating. The Germans burn hospitals before theirs to prevent their surrender from fear of French vengeance.

"Best of all, now for the first time Austria and Germany are hard pressed together. When the Crown Prince is forced to asked Rupprecht, of Bavaria, for reserves, and the latter is waisting the Prussian Guard like water in the effort to retain Lens, it is not likely that German troops will be sent to stiffen Austria as has been done in the past.

"I regard the Italian victory as of the highest improtance. There is Germany's weak point. If the Allies pierce the armor there, the end may be nearer than men think."

As regards Austria, information from Switzerland, through financial and diplomatic channels, paints her situation in the darkest colors. Bankrupt, drained by terrible losses, disunited, with a general stride in Bohemia just repressed under condition resembling open revolt, her military machine upheld by the unpopular Germans, Austria had placed her last hope on the papal peace move.

Many Swiss observers assert that this was in reality a cloak for an Austrian attempt to make a separate peace with the allies through England, her old friend — an attempt rendered abortive on the one hand by the impossibility of reconciling Austrian and Italian claims and by the mailed first of Hindenburg, who got wind of the affair, on the other hand but instead of peace comes Italy's greatest offensive, and Hendenburg cannot help his wavering ally.

From Austria came the beginning of the war, said a member of the great international banking house to me.

"From Austria will come the war's end. Either Austria will crack and leave Germany to her ruin, or her dead weight on Germany's shoulders will weaken the latter beyond endurance, and the line will go into France.

"You ask me when. I cannot say. But I tell you this—that the Austrian banker, Rosenburg, who cleaned up millions here on the Bouse 3 years ago, by selling everything in sight during the last fortnight of July was offering to bet a fortune in Switzerland that the war would be over before Christmas. Let us hope that he is still as good a guesser as he used to be."

ANOTHER LOCK AND DAM TO BE BUILT ON COOSA

The Alabama Power Company to Build a Dam and Lock 13 Miles Below Lock 12.

The Alabama Power Company, owing to the fact that they see the need of more power, have decided to build another Lock on Coosa River just thirteen miles below the Lock 12 Dam.

There has been talk of this for some time, but it is known now as a fact.

Blue prints have been made and all preliminary steps taken looking to procuring of lands that are liable to indulation.

This dam will have only thirteen miles for back water, up to where the present Lock 12 has thirty miles. This short space will necessitate the building of dykes in some places.

The depth of the pond at its head at Lock 12 will be four feet more than the present depth of the river at that particular point, and this will necessitate the construction of safety structure in order to protect the present power improvements below Lock 12, where the power house for machinery has been built.

All this means more money to be put into circulation in Chilton county, and a great enhancement in the value of land situated on the river for the thirteen miles mentioned.

THREE-MILL SCHOOL TAX CARRIED IN ELECTION ON MONDAY

Majority in favor of the Propositin Runs well Above 250.

In the election held on Monday to determine whether or not Chilton County should levy a special three-mill school tax for the support of the public schools, a majority of those participating in the election expressed themselves in favor of the proposition. Something like a majority of 250 or upwards voted in favor of the taxation.

The following is a tabulated vote of the whole county by precincts, as nearly as it is possible to get it correct before the official count is held on Friday:

U. S. NAVY NOT COMPLETE

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 23, 1917.
Editor of The Union-Banner,
Clanton, Ala.,
Dear Sir:

In some way the impression has gotten out that the United States Navy has been recruited up to its strength and does not need any more men. This is entirely erronious and I am writing this to ask you if you will please correct it. We need fully 25,000 more men for the Navy and they are slow in coming forward. Though, we cannot take men who have been notified that they are selected for the national army, but we can take those who have not as yet been notified.

As the navy offers many attractions to its fighting force it seems strange that the great State of Alabama does not furnish its quota of twenty-two volunteers each week. Can you help us in spreading the news that we need them? Any help in this matter will be greatly appreciated by me in person and by the navy in general.

Thanking you in advance, I am.
Yours truly,
J. E. MURDIRL,
Lieut. U. S. Navy, Recrt. Off.

CO-OPERATIVE BOOSTER CAMPAIGN IS LAUNCHED

In today's paper we begin a fifty-two weeks' Booster Campaign. The object of this movement is to work in cooperation with business firms (whose names appear in these columns) for the upbuilding of everything that is for the best interest of this community along all lines of civic, commercial, agricultural and economical life.

We realize that there is a great responsibility resting upon us as a newspaper, and we sincerely ask the cooperation of every one in this section to help us make a greater Clanton and a better Chilton County.

THE REASON

"The idea got recognition only when and because there was a feeling that the war was not being managed satisfactorily," says Collier's Weekly, in giving an account of the adoption of the Senate amendment for a joint committee on war expenditures. Collier's has been friendly to President Wilson's administration, but it is not of that sort of friends who sneezs whenever the President takes snuff and who change every time the President changes. The article from which this quotation is taken explains that Weeks-Madden resolution was introduced early in this session of Congress but made little headway at first. Continuing Collier's says:

"The air of Washington and of the country was filled with episodes which were changeable to lack of effective administration by the President. The Denman-Goethals situation, which was held up for months the vitally needed building of ships, was but the most conspicious of many aspects of the management of the war which gave apprehension to the friends of the administration and opportunity to its enemies."

Several other instances of bad management are cited, all supporting the conclusion above quoted, thatt he Senate vote of 53 to 31 in favor of the joint committee, in a body a majority of which is democratic, arose from realization that the war was being mismanaged.

THE SANE STATESMAN

The sanity and poise of judgment and general statesmanlike character of Secretary Lane's work, either as an Interstate Commerce Commission or as a member of the Cabinet may be explained—in fact some folks do explain them that way—by the fact that he, having been born in Prince Edward Island, iis not eligible for the Presidency and, in consequence, is not bothering himself with the problem of how anything he may do will affect his chances for the Democratic nomination in 1920. So he just goes ahead and does the thing which commends itself to his sense of justice and to his intellect—both of which are normally developed.

We have heard one man who is prominent in the educational activities of Chilton County express it this way: "Monday was the brightest day in the history of educational progress in Chilton County." That is it exactly. No matter whether or not you were opposed to the tax increase, you must and will admit that the levying of the three mills for schools will bring to our educational institutions an era of progress and progressive efficiency that has never before been equaled in our county. Seven months free schools with from one to four teachers in the rural districts is going to make many men who voted against the tax glad it carried by this time next year. It will make many who did not go to the polls and vote ashamed of themselves for not lending a hand in the securing of such wonderful advantages for the poor people. By the time the three years are out there will not be enough people in the county against it to hold an election.

VELVET BEANS

All velvet beans should be gathered and stored until after December, as the demand and price will be twice as good the first of the year as it will this fall. There is no danger of damage from rats or weevils. Moisture, rot and mold are the greatest dangers to overcome in the storage of velvet beans. Such damage can be avoided by keeping the beans stirred until fairly dry.

Boston Herald—The Russians are honest enough not to try to make the world think that each retreat is a victory.

HARVESTING CORN

The excessive moisture for the past month has caused a very heavy growth of velvet beans. These vines are producing heavy clusters around the corn tassels and will pull the stalks down, causing the corn to rot and make harvesting difficult. It is best to go into the fields and turn the stalks down by bending them just above the ears. Bending the corn tops will not injure the beans or the corn, if the ears are matured but will save the corn from shade rot. Corn should be harvested just as soon as it is ripe enough to keep. Much damage from falling, shade rot and weevils can be avoided by early harvesting.

The future corn market continues to tumble. Already rumors are now heard in the speculative circles that Alabama corn will sell for seventy-five cents per bushel this fall. If Alabama farmers can hold their surplus corn in their own cribs until March, April and May, I venture the assertion that they get $1.50 per bushel for it at least. There will be no seventy-five cent corn in Alabama unless it is the poor fellow who owes money and has nothing but corn with which to pay it. This is the penalty of debt. The wise man will suffer want rather than debt and the profit is all his own. Boll weevils, floods or war have never hurt farmers so much as debt, and, strange to say, they resist it so little. Corn should not be marketed by the wagon load in the shuck. It should be shelled and marketed loose in car load lots or in two and one-half bushel bags. Power corn shellers should be installed in every community where much surplus corn exists. It may be necessary for the communities to own the shellers co-operatively to protect their own interests.

Principal S. H. Herbert has recently returned from a vacation trip to the mountains of North Carolina on which trip he visited a number of schools similar in operation to Thorsby Institute that he might study their methods and apply any suggestions he found to the work of the school in Thorsby. He reports that during his absence the letters from prospective students accumulated to such an extent that it took a couple of days steady work with a stenographer to answer them. He is very much encouraged over the prospects and thinks that the enrollment for the coming year will be as large if not larger than last year. Several students are already on the grounds helping with the work of getting ready for the opening of school. The girls' dormitory has been thoroughly overhauled. New floors have been laid on both upper and lower porches, and the upper porch is being screened for a sleeping porch. The rooms and hall on the second floor have been kalsomined or painted and the reception room is being re-decorated and the entire building is receiving a new coat of paint on the outside. Other minor repairs in all the other buildings belonging to the school will be completed before the opening of school. Arrangements are being made to rent the J. F. Patterson place so that there will be accommodation for more students and also more land to be farmed for the coming year.

Thorsby Institute is becoming increasingly well-known throughout the state, and young people from all parts of Alabama are looking toward it as a place where they may be helped in their desire to secure an education under non-sectarian, but definitely religious supervision.

PLANT TURNIPS

Have you planted a fall turnip patch yet? No farmer, no matter whether a land owner of tenant, who has the health and living expenses of his family at heart will fail to plant turnips. If he does not plant a turnip patch, he is negligent and might as well be called trifling. The time to plant turnips is now. A good rich cow lot or manured place makes the best turnips, but fertile moist bottoms and fresh cleadel lands are also good. If you put off sowing, the weather may turn dry and prevent the seed from germinating or cause the young plants to die before they are started. Sow turnips now while the time, soil and weather are favorable.

Our good friend, John W. Hayes from Mobile County was in Clanton last week in a visit to his many old friends. Mr. Hayes has just been away from Chilton one season, and we are glad to learn that as soon as his crop is gathered he is coming back to us. You will remember that Mr. Hayes is the man who came so near being County Commissioner a few years ago, and he kindly intimated to the editor Saturday that when he gets back up here again he is going to give such fellows as D. H. Gentry and Will DeShazo a good chase for something.

INCREASE PRODUCTION OF BEEF IN THE SOUTHEAST

By Carl G. Filler, Agent in Beef Cattle Extension.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The livestock interests of the nation are confronted with the necessity of increasing beef production, and at the same time conserving grain. In the present emergency, the Southeast is the logical field in which beef production can be increased without the necessity of feeding large quantities of grain. In this section there are extensive tracts of unused lands fairly well adapted to grazing throughout the greater portion of the year.

Reports from all the Southeastern States indicate a very large current increase in the production of feed crops. Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi have planted something like 5,000,000 acres of velvet beans. This crop alone will add enormously to the supply of feed that will be available for stock. Something like as many tons of velvet beans will be produced as there are acres planted to this crop, and probably half of this can be most profitably used in feeding or wintering beef cattle, and would finish for the market something like 2,500,000 or 3,000,000 head of steers, or furnish enough grain for the wintering of three to four times that many females.

The feed crops produced in the Southeast this year should not be sacrificed on a glutted market, but should be used to increase the nation's meat supply, and, at the same time, more than double the profits of the producer. Practically all cattle, except a small percentage of the most inferior grade, should be fed on velvet beans and some cheap roughage before being marketed, in order to avoid selling at the low price which grass cattle command.

Parties who have not sufficient cattle to make use of the feed they are producing this year should secure them as soon as possible, while they are being forced on the market at a low price, and run them in the velvet bean fields later on, or feed them out in the feed lot. However, this is only one of the ways by which beef production may be increased.

Present Emergency Demands Action.

We are not growing as many cattle in the Southeastern States as it would be profitable to do, nor as many as we should grow. Changed economical conditions, resulting from the present emergency, now demand the immediate and fullest utilization of all agricultural resources. This means the use of all available grazing lands by the best female beef cattle that it is possible for us to secure.

The success which has attended the campaign for tick eradication, and the increased knowledge of the cattle industry in this section, justify a plan which promises quicker returns than by the slow process of grading up our common cattle by the use of pure-bred bulls.

The Southwestern Range Most Important Source of High-Grade Beef Cattle.

The Southwestern Range is today the most important available source of well-bred, unregistered beef stock. For years the ranchmen of the Southwest have used pure-bred bulls of the highest quality. At a time when good bulls could be purchased for around $100, the large ranch companies were purchasing car loads of the pick of such herds as those of Messrs. Gudgell & Simpson, Cornish & Patton, the Sothams, and the Vanattas, at prices ranging up to $200, or even, in some cases, to $250 per head.

In the past the range has retained all well-bred cows and heifers, disposing only of those of inferior grade and quality. At present the range has practically reached its maximum production, and every year large numbers of good high-grade heifers are being forced upon the market. This stock usually comes on the market in the fall. However, owing to the serious drought in a large section of Texas, many good cattle are now being forced upon the market and sold at a sacrifice. These cattle can be bought at reasonable prices, considering the quality and breeding.

United States Department of Agriculture Assisting.

To assist in saving females needed for breeding purposes, the United States Department of Agriculture has placed experienced men in the Southwest to locate cows and heifers that are likely to be forced upon the market. This stock will be graded according to age, quality, breeding and condition. The very best grade and quality can be purch sed for 8 cents per pound. The cost of shipping will add about another cent per pound. This is the cheapest female stuff that can be purchased for breeding purposes, as calves from these cows and heifers will produce beef so much more economically than calves from our common or scrub cows.

The United States Department of Agriculture has also placed a man in the Southeast to co-operate with commercial organizations interested in the livestock development of this section, and with the Extension forces of the various State Agricultural Colleges. The purpose is to locate such persons as will be able to handle this class of stock, and put prospective buyers in touch with present owners.

Southeastern Cattlemen and Land Owners' Opportunity.

By taking advantage of this opportunity those desiring to stock large tracts of unused land can put themselves from six to a dozen years ahead in the cattle business. Persons interested in obtaining one or more car loads of steers or heifers should get in touch with their County Agricultural Agent, or correspond with Carl G. Filler, of the Alabama Extension Service, Auburn, Ala., or with the Animal Husbandry Division of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

These cattle will come from tick-free areas, or will be dipped under Federal supervision, and freed from ticks before being moved inter-state.

DEATH OF A WORTHY MAN

The Union-Banner regrets most sincerely to note the death of one of the most worthy citizens of our county, in the person of Mr. P. K. Villadsen of Thorsby. Chilton county was the adopted home of this good man. He had seen much of this world, his experiences had been wide and far-reaching, no doubt bringing him into touch with many of the varied elements and aspects of human activity; but he chose the quiet little city of Thorsby, there with other men of his nationality, in which to spend the declining years of his life. His death was sudden and unexpected. We, with many other of his friends, sorely regret his departure. He is a good man, gone to his reward—one of those whom it hurts us to lose, and by whom heaven is enriched and glorified.

Wet Buckeye Hulls carry the feed perfectly

ROUGHAGE is of little value if it allows the concentrated foods to sift to the bottom of the trough and become separated from it. There is no danger of this with

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

when they are wetted down a half hour or so before using. Then they combine more thoroughly and uniformly with the other forage than the old style hulls.

Use Buckeye Hulls properly and you will find them a better roughage than old style hulls and far more economical.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls cost much less than old style hulls.
They allow better assimilation of food.
No trash or dust. No lint.
2000 pounds real roughage to the ton—not 1500 pounds of roughage and 500 pounds of lint.
Sacked—easy to handle.
Take less space in the barn.

Mr. E. W. Leonard, Ellendale, Tenn., has been feeding Buckeye Hulls to three milch cows. He says that the cows are giving more milk and butter and are in fine condition. He prefers Buckeye Hulls.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

PROFESSIONAL TRAINING

Alabama has four class A normal schools—institutions which are devoted exclusively to educating and training teachers. These schools, located in Florence, Jacksonville, Livingston, and Troy, were attended last year by 1200 students. They graduated 200 teachers — men and women who had proved themselves qualified to teach, and who were sent out with the diploma and first grade certificate which are tangible proof of the work they had done in preparation for the greater work they will do in teaching and training the children of the State.

About eighty per cent of them go to the rural and village schools. Their work is real teaching. It is education and community building and citizen making. It is the kind of work that characterizes the graduates of normal schools.

These four normal schools are in session from September to September. They are training teachers every month in the year. Their sole object is to prepare the best possible teachers for the schools of Alabama, and they are proving signally successful in this work for the state.

CLANTON'S FIRST BALE OF COTTON FOR THIS SEASON

On Monday afternoon the first bale of Chilton County's cotton crop for this season was brought to Clanton by Archie Hall, who lives four miles west of town. It was ginned by J. A. Maddox. The bale weighed 538 pounds and sold at 22.75, bringing the owner—seed and all—$150.00. There have also been other bales brought to town this week, but Mr. Hall has the honor of the first one.

You Can Shake Loose from The Tortures of Rheumatism

By using S. S. S.

The germs of Rheumatism are in the blood, which is laden with millions of the minute demons of pain, causing untold suffering and bringing its victim from vigor and strength to almost helplessness. To get real and genuine relief from this disease, these disease germs must be completely routed out of the system through the blood.

S. S. S. has been used for fifty years with satisfactory results in the treatment of Rheumatism. It acts directly upon the blood, which it promptly purifies of all disease germs. It is a powerful antidote, and eliminates from the blood all trace of rheumatic germs, building up and strengthening the run-down system.

Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Cure fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE NEED FOR INCREASED STORAGE THIS FALL

By J. F. Duggar, Director of Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

In years past the warehouse facilities have been insufficient to completely protect the largest crops of cotton that the State has produced. This year Alabama's need for storage facilities is far greater than ever before. This is because we have now to put on the market not alone a compact article, cotton, but the bulky farm products—corn, velvet beans, peanuts and sweet potatoes.

Not only has the character of crops to a large extent changed, but the quantity of these bulky crops has been increased many fold as compared with their production in any previous year. For example, corn occupies about 1,000,000 acres more than last year, and the prospects are that last year's crop will be fully doubled, with the possibility that the aggregate yield of corn in the State will come close to 1,100,000 bushels.

Velvet beans are estimated to occupy more than 2,400,000 acres. If these average one-half ton of beans per acre, and if one-half the bean crop be harvested by hand we should need to provide storage for the greater part of this 600,000 tons of this bulky but valuable product.

The shortage of corn, together with the large production and consequent danger of a slump in prices if attempt is made to sell this grain as soon as gathered, requires that provision should be made on the farms to store a large part of the immense crop of corn, velvet beans, and peanuts.

All this means that every period when work is slack should be utilized in the erection of cheap storage shelters. The advance in the cost of metal roofing, composition roofing, and lumber will often make it desirable for these roofs to be of boards. The main point is that the erection of such structures should not be postponed until the time for gathering the crop is upon us.

Why Suffer?

Mrs. J. A. Cox, of Alderson, W. Va., writes: "My daughter . . . suffered terribly. She could not turn in bed . . . the doctors gave her up, and we brought her home to die. She had suffered so much at . . . time. Having heard of Cardui, we got it for her."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"In a few days, she began to improve," Mrs. Cox continues, "and had no trouble at . . . Cardui cured her, and we sing its praises everywhere." We receive many thousands of similar letters every year, telling of the good Cardui has done for women who suffer from complaints so common to their sex. It should do you good, too. Try Cardui. E-77

CRIMSON CLOVER

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Crimson clover can be made a profitable crop on most farms in Alabama. It is primarily a soil improvement crop, but it can be used for hay, winter cover crop, and grazing. This clover will grow on almost any kind of soil that is well drained and has humus. On poor sandy land that has its humus burnt out by long continuous cropping in cotton or corn, it makes a poor growth the first year, but as the supply of organic matter increases and the soil becomes thoroughly inoculated, the growth of clover will become greater.

Crimson clover may be planted in the cotton or corn middles or on especially prepared land. When planted in inter-tilled crops like corn and cotton the seed may be sown broadcast and covered with a large scrape and scooter or "gee whiz" harrow. These implements will not do much damage to the crops if the plants have not fallen down, and short single trees are used.

To make a good seed bed the land should be plowed early enough to permit the surface being firmed by rain. The fact that it requires a firm seed bed to get a satisfactory stand should not be overlooked, nor be taken to encourage careless preparation.

Most lands need to be inoculated to grow crimson clover successfully. This may be done by inoculating the seed with soil from some neighbor's crimson clover field, or place where one of the true clovers has grown. The seed may be mixed with the damp soil and both sown together. This should be done some cloudy day or in the evening, as the direct sun's rays tend to kill the bacteria.

A second way to inoculate seed is to put the inoculating soil in a bucket and cover it with water. Dip the clover seed in the muddy water and spread them out in the shade to dry. They should not be kept damp long, as they will sprout quickly.

The cleaned seed are planted at the rate of 15 to 20 pounds per acre. They may be sown by hand, or with a seeder, and covered lightly, one half to one inch deep.

The best time to plant is from 15th of September to the 1st of October. About the autumnal equinoxial gale period several days of cloudy weather usually occur that affords favorable conditions for planting. The plants are so tender when they first come up that they can't stand much dry, hot weather.

If you wish to secure a good growth the first year, make a liberal application of stable manure in the preparation of the land or as a top dressing after the plants come up. The stable manure not only fertilizes the plant, but also aids in inoculating the soil.

Some causes of failure are a lack of proper inoculation of soil; sowing when weather is too dry and hot; sowing so late that the young plants freeze before becoming firmly rooted; and planting poor seed.

Admire Babies?

Every normal woman's heart thrills with the thought of possessing a baby. What man can fully perceive the sympathetic understanding and the lovelight that glows in a woman's eyes at the sight of her flesh and blood represented in the tiny infant. Every woman in the joy of coming motherhood should prepare her system for the crisis and the unusual strain. Three generations have found the tried and reliable external application, "Mother's Friend" of the greatest help at such a time. By its daily use throughout the period, the skin of the abdomen is made soft and elastic, the expanding muscles relax naturally and with ease, when baby arrives, and the inflammation of breast glands is soothed.

By no chance neglect to obtain this great preparation which science has offered for so many years to expectant mothers. Write the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. L, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., for their helpful and interesting book, "Motherhood and the Baby". It is free and is well worth writing for. No woman should fail to help nature in the severest strain ever put upon her. "Mother's Friend" is procurable from any druggist and is a real help to nature in her glorious work. "Mother's Friend" is absolutely and entirely safe.

A Railroad's Share in Southern Industry

Haulage Record—Freight and Passenger

NO BETTER evidence of the service rendered the people of the South by the L. & N. can be offered than the figures showing the liberal appreciation accorded L. & N. service by the people.

During the past sixteen years the L. & N. has carried 167,560,742 passengers, a number of people equal to the total population of North and South America combined. The number of passengers carried one mile in sixteen years was 6,831,186,990, about four times the population of the earth. The revenue received from five billions of those passengers had to be paid out for the operation of the trains.

The total number of tons of freight carried in sixteen years was 414,340,026, and these figures speak eloquently of the part played by L. & N. service in the South's development. The number of tons carried one mile was 70,773,607,021. The revenue received from forty-six billion tons had to be paid out for the operation of the trains.

During sixteen years the L. & N. has transported 9,800,000 bales of cotton, 207,000,000 bushels of corn, 125,302,800 bushels of wheat, 26,907,065 tons of lumber, 57,637,354 tons of ore, 20,519,355 tons of coke, 133,796,950 tons of coal and 86,309,672 tons of merchandise and manufactured articles.

Since the prosperity of the country is, and must be measured by the ability of the railroads to transport its commerce, it will readily be seen what a prominent part the L. & N. has taken in the development and prosperity of the South, especially when it is remembered that 96 per cent. of L. & N. mileage is in the South. The L. & N. may be relied upon to continue to maintain the high standard of service rendered the South, and asks the sympathy, understanding and co-operation of the people of the South.

NEW CHURCH ORGANIZED ON THE EAST SIDE OF CLANTON

As an evidence that the eastern part of Clanton, or in other words that part of the town which lies out across the creek on the Lock 12 Road and the adjacent community is fast coming to the front as a most progressive center of activity, we call attention to the fact that a live and most promising Baptist Church was organized there last Friday, and has started out with a goodly number of supporters and active members. Rev. Ben Hughes, a strong and hustling Baptist preacher from Birmingham was called into the community to conduct a revival at the house of the old Unity Presbyterian Church, which has been inactive for a number of years. Much interest was displayed at once, and prospects at once were revealed, showing splendid posibilities for a church. The people of the adjacent community were interested and faithful enough to bring in the necessary credentials to organize themselves into a Baptist Church ,and with the assistance of Rev. Hughes the work was done in due order.

The revival continued till Sunday night, and at the close the new church had a total of thirty-four members. Prospects are good for at least that many more in the near future.

At a little business meeting Sunday night, the church elected the following officers: S. M. Adams, Pastor; W. M. Wyatt, Clerk and Treasurer; J. L. Bennett, W. J Miner, J D. Collins and W. O Rich, Deacons

The people of the community out there are proud of the church and are proud that the spirit of church work and Christian co-operation is so live and promising in their midst. Much credit is due to Rev. Hughes for the splendid work which he did there. He is a powerful preacher of the undeniable truths of the Gospel, and his stirring words did much to arouse the sentiment that has already crystalized itself into an active and promising church.

An effort wil be made by the members of the new church to purchase the property of the former Presbyterian church, and use it as a meeting place. But if it should be impossible to acquire that property, a movement will at once be started to erect a new church building somewhere not far from the one which already stands there.

All who are inclined to help out in the work of the church are invited to come and participate. Preaching will be held regularly every second and fourth Sundays and on Sunday nights following.

The new sanctuary is to be called the Friendship Baptist Church.

Mr. W. P. Thompson has been placed as manager of the Marbury Journal. Mr. Thompson will divide time between Clanton and Marbury.

Miss Thomas Howell, of Montgomery is the guest of Mrs. Claud Reynolds this week.

VOLUME VI. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., SEPTEMBER 6, 1917. NUMBER 23.

THE COMMANDFR-IN-CHIEF SENDS MESSAGE TO ARMY

President Wilson Tells Men Who are to Form National Army that the Eyes of the World are on Them, and to Live and Fight to Honor Old Glory.

Washington, September 3.—The Soldiers of the national army were welcomed into the nation's service today by President Wilson with a message of affectionate confidence and a prayer to God to keep and to guide them. Everything that these young men do, the President told them, will be watched with the deepest solicitude by the whole country and the eyes of the world will be upon them because they are "in some special sense the soldiers of freedom."

The first soldiers of the army to be raised under the draft law will start from their homes to the training cantonments Wednesday. The President asks them as brothers and as comrades in the great war to keep straight and fit by a standard so high that living up to it will add a new laurel to the crown of America.

The message follows:

"White House, Washington.

"To soldiers of the national army:

"You are undertaking a great duty. The heart of the whole country is with you. Everything that you do will be watched with the deepest interest and with the deepest solicitude not only by those who are near and dear to you but by the whole nation besides. For this great war draws us all together, making us all comrades and brothers, as all true Americans felt themselves to be when we first made good our national independence. The eyes of the whole world will be upon you, because you are in some special sense the soldiers of freedom. Let it be your pride, therefore, to show all men everywhere not only what good soldiers are, but also what good men you are, keeping yourselves fit and straight in everything and pure and clean through and through. Let us set for ourselves a standard so high that it will be a glory to live up to it and then let us live up to it and add a new laurel to the crown of America. My very affectionate confidence goes with you in every battle and every test. God keep and guide you!

"WOODROW WILSON."

HOOVER WANTS BANKS TO AID FARMERS BY LENDING MONEY

Washington, Sept. 2.—Food Administrator Hoover has enlisted the aid of the Federal Reserve Board in a campaign to increase the meat supply of the country. Mr. Hoover has asked the Board to help the farmers by suggesting that the banks lend them money at no more than 7 per cent interest, as compared with the legal rate of 8 per cent, or more, and the board has transmitted the request, through the Federal Reserve Banks, to the bankers of the districts concerned.

Uncle Ben Gray of Mt. Creek was a visitor to Clanton on Monday.

ALABAMA BOYS WANT TO SEE CITY OF NEW YORK

Members of two Companies Attempt to Break Quarantine and Overpower Police.

Camp Mills, Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Military punishment today was facing members of two companies of the one hundred and sixty-seventh infantry (Alabama Guardsmen) who late Sunday attempted to break the quarantine regulations and overpower the military police.

More than forty of the guardsmen broke from their regimental camp and attempted to stampede the camp guard of the one hundred and sixty-fifth infantry. A prolonged fight resulted, in which a majority of the guardsmen were cut or bruised. The Alabama guardsmen were ordered into quarantine shortly after their arrival here because several cases of the measles had been discovered in the regiment. The regiment explained that being so closely confined and having wanted to see something of New York was the cause of the trouble.

PUBLIC SCHOOL OPENING WITH PROMISING PROSPECT

About 155 Pupils Enroll on First Day of Session Wednesday.

Indeed was the opening of the Clanton Public School most promising Tuesday. There was the largest attendance and opening that the school has had in recent years, and this session bids fair to be the most successful we have had in some time.

Much of the school interest that has been aroused in our town must be credited to the principal of the city school, Mr. J. L. Johnson and his splendid assistants. Miss Gladys Wood who has been a teacher here for several sessions, is his first assistent; Miss Elsa Nonenmacher, who i likewise well known here as a former teacher, has charge of the third and fourth grades; Miss Hattie Hancock has charge of the first and second grades.

This year the school will be practically free. As a result of the carrying of the three-mill tax, there is provided seven months free school. The first two months will be financed by incidental fee of $2.50 for each pupil, supplemented by funds from the town.

The opening of the school this year finds the school house and surroundings in splendid condition for the accommodation of those who will attend. Through the efforts of the school improvement association, the civic league, and individuals who are interested, the floors of the building have been oiled, the play grounds cleaned off, and everything put in good shape. This interest is much appreciated by the teachers and by the pupils.

The citizens of Clanton are urged to make any reasonable sacrifice they can for the promotion of our school. The teachers want everybody to stand by them in the discharge of their duty, and the result will be felt as a mighty force in upbuilding our town morally and educationally.

BIG "MOONSHINE" RAID

U. S. Marshall Wall, Sheriff Harris and Deputy Gillespie Make Big Raid near River.

On last Friday morning before good daylight, Sheriff Harris, Deputies Gilespie and Cobb, accompanied United States Marshall Wall and Revenue Officer Baker to 12 miles east of Clanton where a plant containing two large stills was making "moonshine" whiskey.

The officers raided the place, destroyed 400 gallons of mean stuff, and then wrecked the plant.

FARMERS TO MEET AT CLANTON ON SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 15

Will Seek Co-operation in Securing Adequate Prices for all Farm Products. Permanent Organization will be Effected for the County on that day.

COUNTY ORGANIZATION TO BE THE BASIS OF STATE PLAN.

The time has come when men who are interested in the situation of the Farmers of Alabama are taking gauge of the surrounding circumstances and seeking a way that will get for the producer the recompense which he deserves for his labors. The best thought and brain of the state is becoming centralized on the question of proper markets for the farmer's products. All over Alabama the need of some place to dispose of what the farm has produced this year is imperative.

Hon. Joseph O. Thompson, well known farmer and land holder, of Birmingham, writes Judge Reynolds about the matter, and requests a meeting of the farmers here September 15th. His letter follows, and within itself is explanatory. It is easily understood, and needs no comment.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 1, 1917.

Hon. L. H. Reynolds,

Clanton, Ala.,

Dear Judge:

Unless something is done, some movement started, some organization formed by the farmers of the South, we are going to see the farmers robbed of their big diversified crop as they were of their cotton crop in 1914. I want to propose that you call a mee'ing at the court house in Clanton, if you think it advisable, for Saturday, Sept.. 15, for the purpose of organizing a farmers' protective league for Alabama. At the Clanton meeting, which will be attended principally by county people, you can select the officers and put them to work. A good organizer as president should be able to organize the State in sixty days.

The purpose of the organization will be to bring about co-operation among the farmers in withholding all crops from the market until adequate prices can be received. The South should ask no more in proportion for its products than the West; they should ask as much. Unless something is done, however, we will not get anything like what we are entitled to. Wheat has already been stabilized at $2.20 per bushel. Why shouldn't we ask that cotton be stabilized at a minimum of 25cents, peanuts at $1.50 per bushel, corn at $1.50 per bushel, and velvet beans at $1.50 per bushel. We are not going to get them stabilized, but we can withhold the stuff from the market until adequate prices are obtained. There is a program, which, if the Alabama farmer will pursue it will enrich him and the state in a few years. The program provides for the growing of cotton as well as other crops. It is as follows: one-third corn, one-third cotton, one-third peanuts, with velvet beans in the corn, subject to variations with other crops such as the individual farmer may choose from time to time.

You have a paper there that may be used as the State organ for its organization, provided the editor is an aggresive and reliable fellow. There are many good uses that this organization could be put to. I tried such an organization, as you know, in 1915, but I started it wrongly by organizing the State all at once. The organization must come as suggested above, if it is to be successful. It is possible for such an organization, properly officered, to save the State this year one hundred million dollars. I will be glad to be connected with such an organization.

Yours very truly,

JOS. O. THOMPSON.

TALKING TO FARMERS AND CATTLE MEN

Mr. W. H. Conway and Mr. J. N. Dennis attended the meetnig of the farmers and dairy men at Billingsley, and told the people just what they knew about farming, raising stock and the dairy business. It was a large meeting of progressive Chilton County people composed of men and women interested in farming and the cattle business.

STILL CAPTURED IN BEAT 16

On last Wednesday Deputy Gillespie with J. P. Gore and Bernie Cobb captured a still in Beat 16 on Coosa River, together with about 200 gallons of beer. The still was of 100 gallons capacity and was made of copper and complete in every way. No one has, as yet, been arrested, but the officers say that they will bring in the owner within a short while. It is intimated that one of them is connected with a very prominent family in Beat 16.

JUDGE REYNOLDS ISSUES CALL FOR MEETING

To the Farmers of Chilton County:

Being in accord with the facts set out in the letter of Mr. Thompson above, and realizing the need of the farmers of this county and state for such a marketing organization, I hereby take the liberty to call a meeting as suggested, for Saturday, September 15. and request that every farmer in this county, who has anything he needs to sell, meet with us at the court house on this date, for the purpose of organizing and discussing the situation of the farmers as outlined above in the letter of Mr. Thompson. I hope every farmer in the county will at once wake up to the predicament he is in, and come to this meeting with his mind made up to take some action to secure justice for his labors this year and for years to come.

Respectfully,

L. H. REYNOLDS.

FARMERS SHOULD ORGANIZE SYSTEM OF SELLING CATTLE

The suggestion has been offered, and it is a good one too, that the farmers of Chilton county should organize themselves into some system of selling their cattle and hogs.

There is not a dealer in the county who is prepared in a true sense, to handle cattle and hogs when they are brought in just one at a time every now and then by a farmer here and there. Under such a system the dealer, if he buys them, does not have a fair chance to come out on the proposition, and hence he is not able to make the farmer a fair proposition.

Judge Reynolds has suggested that the farmers of the county get together and set a day on which to all bring their cattle and hogs to Clanton and sell them. In that way a car load, or possibly more, could be centralized here in one day, and the proposition would then be much more attractive from the standpoint of the buyer. If it were known that on a certain day the farmers of the county would bring their cattle and hogs here to sell them, there would be dealers from Birmingham and Montgomery here prepared to buy them. They could put them directly on the cars and send them to their destinations, and would not be hampered by keeping them here till a collection could be gotten together. This convenience for the buyer would warrant them in giving the farmers a better price.

Something will be done about this matter at the meeting at the court house on the 15th of this month. It will be important and worth the while of the farmers who are to have cattle and hogs to sell later on to be present and help outline the system so that it may be successfully carried out.

MEETING OF CLANTON TRIBE OF THE IMPROVED O. R. M.

Good Addresses and a Splendid Supper Supplied for the Occasion.

On Tuesday evening the I. O. R. M. of Clanton and vicinity met, and after a brief meeting in the hall, the Red Men went to the Exchange Hotel with their wives and daughters, where arrangements had been made for a regular "Alabama Supper."

During the feast Rev. W. J. Armstrong, Great Sachem of the Great Council of Alabama made an address in which he referred at length to the many laudible achievements of the Red Men, a body looking to the betterment of mankind.

Rev. A. R. Aldridge made the opening address which was well taken.

After supper the Red Men (112) and their lady friends visited the Ideal Theatre, where a pleasing entertainment was awaiting thm.

"HOW TO FINANCE A COUNTY"

Judge L. H. Reynolds was invited by the official of Bibb County to come up and tell them "how to finance a county." The question was explained to Judge Reynolds on his arrival that the people of Bibb County were anxious to follow Chilton County as to its practice in financial matters.

Judge Reynolds was introduced to the audience by Judge Nicholson, and then he entertained the audience with an address as to how to finance a county and place it on a cash basis..

FIRST MEN ARE DRAFTED FROM CHILTON COUNTY

Six are Called to the Colors under Provisions of Selectove Draft.

On Tuesday the local exemption board for Chilton County called six of their qualified men to service under the conscription law. This number comprises five per cent of the entire quota which this county will have to furnish.

Following are the names of those who will go from here to the training camp this week:

Joseph Warren Franklin,
David C. Mooney,
Robert L. Williams,
Miles Vander Smith,
Will Henderson,
Samuel Kelsey Walker.

These men will go to Camp Gordon at Chamblee, Ga. On the 19th of this month forty per cent of the quota will be entrained.

DEATH OF MR. ALBERT PATTERSON OF JEMISON

Albert Patterson, a prominent citizen and Mason of Jemison, was buried with Masonic honors at Pleasant Grove Cemetery, near his old home. Mr. Patterson was one of the oldest and best citizens of Chilton County for forty years. He had been a member of the Missionary Baptist Church and a consistent Mason.

One of the largest crowd that ever assembled on such an occasion witnessed the funeral, which was conducted by the Masons of Jemison under the supervision of Judge L. H. Reynolds.

Mr. Patterson left no family other than an adopted child, his wife preceding him across the river, several years ago.

REPORT DISEASES TO PREVENT DEATHS, SAYS HEALTH BOARD

Any resident of Alabama who has knowledge of the presence of a case of communicable disease and who fails to report it to the health authorities as required by law may become a real enemy to the country. Health officers cannot take steps to protect the public against disease unless cases are promptly reported.

The diseases which the state of Alabama requires to be reported include Chicken pox, Diphtheria, German Measles, Glanders, Hydrophobia, Infantile Paralysis, Malaria, Measles, Meningitis, Mumps, Ophthalmia neonatorum, Pellagra, Scarlet Fever, Small pox, Tetanus, Trachoma, Trichinosis, Tuberculosis, Typhoid fever, and whooping cough.

Prevention is accomplished by stopping communication between the sick and the well, by the control of flies, mosquitoes, and by general cleanliness.

Apropos of this subject, one may quote from the Michigan State Bulletin:

Ten Commandments for Prevention Of Disease.

1. Honor thy country and keep its sanitary laws.
2. Remember thy cleaning day, and keep it wholly.
3. Thou shalt love thy children and provide for them decent homes and playgrounds.
4. Thou shalt keep fresh air in thy house day and night.
5. Thou shalt keep celan and in order thy alleys, thy back yard, thy halls and stairways.
6. Thou shalt not kill thine own, nor thy neighbors' bodies with poisonous air and disease breeding filth.
7. Thou shalt not let filthy flies live.
8. Thou shalt not steal thy children's happiness from them by neglecting their health.
9. Thou shalt not bear filthy, decayed teeth in thy mouth nor tolerate them in the mouths of those about thee.
10. Thou shalt not spit on the sidewalks, nor on the floor, nor in the street car, nor in any public place whatsoever.

JURY TERM OF COURT HERE THIS WEEK

Judge McCord Disposing of Cases on the Civil Docket with Due Form and Procedure.

This week the Jury term of the Circuit Court of Chilton County is in session, presided over by Judge Leon McCord of Montgomery. This is the term of court which was due to be held last month, but was postponed till this week.

Judge McCord, up to the time The Union-Banner goes to press, is crowding the court business along with due regard to the importance of the many cases.

J. W. Oakes recovered $4,000.00 from the L. & N. Railroad for personal injuries. No appeal was taken.

J. H. Middleton was awarded $1,000.00 against the Alabama Power Company, for damages to property.

A number of other cases of minor importance have been disposed of. With this week Judge McCord will finish up the civil docket, a number however being deferred to the next term of court.

On Monday the criminal docket will be taken up, and it is expected that there will be "something doing" then. One murder case, the Clanton Bank failure cases, and some whiskey cases will face the court for disposal.

In addition to the docket of civil cases, which are being disposed of by the Judge, the grand jury is in session with Solicitor F. Lloyd Tate in charge. Following is a list of the men who are serving on the grand Jury:

J. Wiley Littlejohn, Foreman,
T. Calvin Jones,
Elijah Robinson, Jr.,
Enoch H. Adams,
Ross J. Mahan,
J. H. (Dock) Owen,
Thomas N. Howard,
Jim G. Miner,

AS THE "JOURNAL" SEES US

"The Journal welcomes the Clanton Banner on the exchange list. The "Banner" is well edited by W. M. Wyatt, while the business end of the concern is looked after by Mr. J. B. Wells; and Jean Wyatt has charge of the Merganthaler-Hoe firing line." —The Marbury Journal.

The Deputies from Sheriff Harris's office last week made themselves quite a record at chasing wild cat stills. Gillespie and Cobb took part in the capture of two big stills, and in fact, it might be said that their parts were the principal parts. They were assisted in one of the raids by United States Marshals, but it is to the credit of the local force of officers that the outfits were located.

The farmers of this land and country have got to get out of the old plan of cutting each other's throats. Increased production has assumed such proportions that we cannot rely on selling a handful of this, that and the other, here and there, and at any kind of a price, just to sell it before the other fellow does. We have got to unite for the common good of all. That is by far the easier of the two ways. Let us do it. The 15th of this month is going to be our start toward better things in this county.

A POLITICAL APPOINTMENT

President Wilson has finally made the order placing control of exports under the new committee of which Vance McCormick is chirman. Mr. McCormick was chairman of the Democratic national committee in the last campaign and is, therefore, peculiarly fitted for service as chairman of an administrative committee non-partisan, in character. Perhaps!

'REVELATIONS' CAUSE DEBATE

Ambassador Gerard's "revelations" are causing sharp debate in the Reichstag at Berlin. But we have heard no voice raised in Congress at Washington to inquire how it happens that Mr. Gerard has possession of and can sell original documents from his Embassy files, how it happened that he sought to cheer up the Kaiser in opening days of the war, and how in the face of all that he knew better than anyone else, he went back to his post early last winter and made his famous speech extolling the close and friendly relations that, he said, existed between the German government and the United States.

PENSIONS, OR INSURANCE?

In considering the relative merits of a pension system or an insurance system for our new soldiers, one thing is likely to be lost sight of, and that is that the pension system applies to all alike, whereas, the insurance system is very likely to result in a larger benefit to the man of larger means. The proposal is to furnish insurance at the rate of eight dollars a thousand. The man of means who has been conscripted will take as much insurance at this rate as he is permitted to buy; so will the man of smaller means. But the wealthier man will necessarily take a great deal more than the poor man will or can. To that extent the proposed insurance plan will work to the advantage of the man of wealth; whereas, in a pension system, rich man and poor man will benefit to the same extent. Each would get so many dollars a month, depending upon his disability and not upon his capacity to pay premiums.

MEDALS FOR HEROES

Congressman Daniel R. Anthony has drawn up a bill to amend the present law regarding the awarding of medals of honor. Hereafter, Mr. Anthony would have the President award a medal of honor to officers and men who perform feats of exceptional heroism beyond the call of duty while in actual conflict with the enemy. A distinguished service medal is provided in the measure for service of slightly less importance, carrying with it an increase of $2 a month in the soldier's pay. Further distinguished services by the same man will entitle him to added bars on his medal and $2 a month for each such occasion. Mr. Anthony stands high in the committee on Military Affairs, to which the bill has been referred, and early action on the measure may be expected.

The Clanton Mercantile Co., has just gotten in a car load of new syrup barrells. The price is $2.00 each.

A PROMISE FULFILLED

We are glad of the fact that Chilton County has at the head of its business a man of such recognized business ability and judgment as Judge Reynolds. He has shown himself squarely to his constituents in the brief period which he has been in the Probate office. When he stood on the steps of the courthouse at midnight on November 7th, and said that he would put the affairs of the county on a cash basis and back in the hands of the people in less than 12 months, he was laughed at by some who did not have grit enough to be present and hear the words he spoke. But those who heard him believed him; and now they are gratified that his statements have all proven true. He has done what he said he would do.

Outside our own county his ability is recognized. Not many days ago he was invited over to Bibb County by the officials there to discuss with them the business of financing the county. He went, and it goes without saying that the men who heard what he had to say were benefitted by the ideas he gave them.

Chilton County has long been proud of this man. We have cause to be proud of him. And we will be still more proud of him in the future for so long as he has life and energy, he will be found zealous in the pursuit of the things that mean the betterment of the public interests.

The Ladies Missionary Society Circle No. 3, will give an entertainment at the High School auditorium on Thursday at 8 p.m., which will be deivered by both foreign and local talent. Admission 10c and 20c. Proceeds to new church fund. Everybody invited to come.

The Union-Banner wants to say that we heartily endorse the idea of co-operation among the farmers as outlined in the letter of Hon. Joseph O. Thompson, which is published this week. We have taken special notice of the surrounding conditions of the farmers, not only this year, but also for other years, and more than ever now are we convinced that the salvation of those who till the soil lies in their standing together on the proposition of safe and sane marketing of what they produce.

We wish to say that the Banner stands ready, willing and anxious to play any part in the program, which lies in its power to do. The success of each of us, one and all, is mutual. Our interests are mutual. Therefore we plead for united effort, and pronounce that we are ready to strike now while the iron is red. And we must strike truly and forcibly. There is no time to waste with effort expended in the wrong direction.

We cannot come to the meeting on the 15th and twist and quibble over the things that confront us, and go away with nothing accomplished. While we are wasting our time, the velvet beans, peas, corn and hay will be getting ripe, needing harvesting, and going to waste just the same. We must come here prepared to act. We must come with the intention of settling on some plan that will bring our farmers cash for the things that they have raised and cannot use at home. Farmers, the markets are waiting for what you have to sell. All you have to do is to get yourselves into systematic plans to reach the markets with your goods. We cannot fail, now that we are so near our goal.

MAKE HAY WHILE THE SUN SHINES

Now, that the rainy seaon is probably over for a few weeks, it is time to cut and cure hay. A luxurant growth of all hay crops such as sorghum, cow peas, soy beans, peanuts, sudan, Johnson grass and many winld grasses exist all over the State. If all the hay now in the state could be saved it would carry all the live stock through the winter and leave a fine surplus for sale to other states. As a general rule, much hay is never cut and a great deal that is cut goes to waste for lack of proper care in curing, stacking and storing. This is one of the times that every pound of hay should be saved in the best possible condition. It will save much grain for the cash market that would otherwise be fed away where hay is not available for a substitute. People in the dry districts of Texas and Oklahoma are already inquiring now about Alabama corn and hay.

Hay should be cut and allowed to lie broadcast about two sunny days. It should be raked the third morning and cocked the same evening. The cocks should be built around a pole set in the ground and two cross pieces nailed about a foot from the ground. As soon as the hay is thoroughly cured, it should be collected and baled and stored or stacked in a large stack with a covered top. Much good hay is damaged or lost by trying to cure it in little piles flat on the ground. This method usually cuses the hay to absorb moisture out of the ground as fast as it dries from the top. Labor is too scarce and too high to cut and stack hay to rot later in the stack. If storing is lacking and stacking is the only dependence, the stack should be large and some kind of cover or shelter placed over it. Hay grows entirely too coarse in this country and our winters are too wet to expect it to pass through the winter in good condition in unprotected stacks.

KAISERISM NOT ONLY MENACE TO AMERICA DECLARES GOVERNOR KILBY

WARNING SOUNDED AGAINST GROWTH OF SINISTER FOREIGN INFLUENCES IN AMERICA

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF STATE MUST BE KEPT DEMOCRATIC

SHADOW OF ROME AND CROWNED MADMAN OF EUROPE SCORED BY ANNISTON CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR IN ADDRESS TO CONFEDERATE VETERANS

Jacksonville, Ala., August 10.—Lieut. Gov. Thomas E. Kilby delivered a strong address at the annual reunion of the Confederate Veterans at Schenck's Sulphur Springs yesterday, and his remarks was the subject of much favorable comment from the large audience. Mr. Kilby's address in part follows:

"Mr. Commander, Comrades and Ladies and Gentlemen:

Comrades in Spirit

"I have addressed you as comrades, and since you know I am too young to have followed you in the '60s, you wonder why I chose that salutation. I did so because I conceive of comradeship as being spiritual and not physical; because I can go back in spirit and become one with you, just as you become young again in contemplation of those heroic days of trial that lifted men's souls to immortal heights. A great poet has said that 'all souls are of one age,' and it is as a comrade that I love to mingle with you and look in your faces and read there the lines that tell me you have become great in spirit through the sufferings you have borne. Suffering and sacrifices have ever been precedent to peace, liberty, freedom and life more abundantly. Man is born into this life through suffering. It seems a part of God's divine tempering process that he should continue to suffer and to sacrifice, in order to reach a higher stature. It was true with the ancients; true in the day of Moses; magnificently exemplified on the Cross of Calvary, and so on through the ages.

History Repeats Itself

"History is continually repeating itself. In 1776 a little army of patriots signified to the world that they were willing to die, if need be, in order that the men of this nation might enjoy the inalienable right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. In so doing they drew up a bill of indictment against a British King who sought to rule with autocratic power and after the continent was baptized in blood, the head of political autocracy was crushed, never to rise again in America.

"We are fighting again for the principle that all men are endowed by the Creator with certain inalienable rights, which I have mentioned, that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, and that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it.

Crowned Madman at Large

"Those principles have been challenged by Hohenzollern Germany. Hohenzollern Germany has undertaken to destroy for all the world that generous faith in the rights of men and establish in its stead the ancient creed of the divine right of kings. It was difficult for us in this land of freedom to realize that believers of that tyrannous superstition will live and actually would invade our freedom. Born and nurtured in liberty ourselves and respecting the rights of other nations, we could not concetve of an enlightened nation in this twentieth century going forth with sword and torch in hand to spread feudalism and vassalage throughout the world. But when we saw unoffending Belgium invaded, her fields laid waste, her cities destroyed, her temples shot to pieces, her people reduced to starvation and carried into bondage, we knew that a crowned madman was at large. When we heard the piteous cries of the women and children victims of the Lusitania sea murder, we knew that ruthless savagery was abroad. And finally, after hundreds of our own citizens had been murdered, after scores of our industries had been burned or wrecked by the Kaiser's agents, after a plot to stir invasion on our southern border had been exposed, we realized that no effort to be peaceful and friendly could protect us against a militarism that inherently hated the things that we loved, and we entered upon the fight for the principles for which our forefathers had fought and died.

Autocracy Is Scored

"I am not here today to eulogize you as soldiers of a lost cause, remnant of the bravest, most unselfish and knightliest armies that ever went forth to battle. I would not cheapen your fame by any attempt to picture it in my feeble words. Nor would I attempt to enumerate your deeds of valor, for in mingling together here today, on this old camping grounds you have doubtless "counted them o'er each one apart," and eloquent tongues have paid tribute to the nobility of your cause. But I am here today to take my stand with you in a new age; in an old fight for old principles on a new battlefield. I am here to join you and the rest of my countrymen in this war against autocracy. Autocracy! I hate the very word. It is a synonym of hell. The crimes committed by its copper-capped minions cover the blackest pages in history. I am against all autocrats, be they Kings, Czars, Kaisers, popes, princes or potentates of lesser estate; whether they attempt to sway by so-called divine right or by human right, and I believe that when the madman of autocracy in this enlightened day bade defiance to the stronghold of democracy in the land of liberty, he not only sang his own untimely knell, but marked the beginning of the end of the rule of monarchs of his stripe on the face of the earth. At least, that is our hope and our prayer, and in this day of preparedness we are not only praying, but are keeping our powder dry.

All Must Play a Part

"I believe America will come out of this war victorious, for America has never lost a fight, because she has always been on the side of right. But we must hasten to victory, and if this would be done, we must all lend our aid. We must uphold the hands of the great man who is at the head of this nation, for God alone knows the weight of the responsibility that is resting on the shoulders of Woodrow Wilson. Shakespeare said, 'All the world's a stage, and every man must play his part.' This was never so true as today. The world stage is set with the scenery of Mars, and each of us has a place to fill in the gigantic war platform that has been erected by the federal administration. Those of us who have reached middle-age, and those who have grown too old, cannot go to the front, but there is a place for us on that stage. Whether we be farmer or merchant, lawyer or doctor, clerk, manufacturer or what not, a part of this stupendous responsibility is ours; for this is a government of the people, for the people and by the people.

Slackers Encourage Kaiser

"If every man lives up to the full measure of his responsibility, the war may not last so long, and many of the young men that have been called to serve at arms may not have to cross the waters, but if this country does not meet that responsibility, the end of war may be far off and the issue in doubt. Every slacker that protests against the call of his country offers encouragement to Berlin and prolongs the battle just that much longer.

"I have a son within the sound of the cannon's roar in the land of La-Fayette, that great Frenchman who came to our aid in our battle for freedom from a despot's rule, and only you who are fathers can understand how I hated to see that boy go. His country did not call him, for he is not yet 21; but he heard the call of duty, and went forth in freedom's name, and I can well endure the anxiety that I feel in return for the knowledge that a patriot's heart beats within his young bosom. It will be hard, too, I know, for many of you to give up sons or brothers or other loved ones, but we must remember that we are fighting for liberty and peace and we must be willing to sacrifice and to suffer, just as did the great souls that went before and fired the way for the civilization we enjoy today. If we lose this fight, we lose many of the blessings of democracy. Militarism will be forced upon us, as it was forced upon the nations or Europe; for should Canada and Mexico become German prizes, as this will if Germany wins, we would be compelled at all times to maintain a tremendous standing army and bear heavy taxes for the national defense from invasion from the north and south. But we will not lose. We must not lose. I have an abiding faith in the patriotism of our people and in the power of the nation. That patriotism and that power will give us the victory.

Separate Church And State

"We must not allow the war, however, to obscure our duties as citizens in civil life. We must not forget that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, not only national liberty but civil and religious liberty within the state and nation. So, if we crush the power of the Kaiser in the contest of arms, as crush him we will, we must then look to the affairs of state, and see that no foreign influence is allowed to grow up in Alabama that will interfere with free speech, with religious and political liberty or the independence under state rule of our public schools, and we must see that church and state are kept forever separate. We should tolerate no domination of our public affairs by any institution or organization, secular or religious, that is more responsible to the mandates of a foreign power than to the laws of this land; that seeks to carry on its work behind a veil of secrecy, as if afraid of the pitiless light of publicity. Before the shadow of Kaiserism was cast upon the face of the world, we were warned of such an influence by Washington, Lafayette and other forward looking men of their time. Later on President Lincoln, whom we understand better as the years roll by made, this statement:

"'I do not pretend to be a prophet. But though not a prophet, I see a very dark cloud on the horizon. And that dark cloud is coming from Rome. It is filled with tears of blood. It will rise and increase till its flanks will be torn by a flash or lightning, followed by a fearful peal of thunder. Then a cyclone, such as the world has never seen will pass over this country, spreading ruin and desolation from north to south. After it is over there will be long days of peace and prosperity, for popery, with its Jesuits and merciless inquisitions, will have been forever swept away from our country. Neither I nor you, but our children will see these things.'

"Let us guard against that day. Let us be true Americans in every sense of the word, true guardians of the liberties of the people, standing loyally by our institutions and pledging the best of our abilities to crush out autocracy in this country in whatever garb it may arise. We who have studied the history of reconstruction find in the example of you heroes of the Confederacy a most worthy precedent, and if we but breathe into our lives the stalwart spirit that was yours, cherishing your victories and emulating your virtues, I believe that Alabama will be made and kept safe for democracy, and that this nation will continue a beacon light of civilization and of Christianity."

What Do You Know About Your Blood Supply?

Your ignorance may startle you.

Few people know of the many functions of the blood supply, and just how important it is that it be kept absolutely free from all impurities. The health of the entire body depends upon the condition of the blood. You are invited to write and obtain a booklet that gives you some invaluable information on this important subject. It tells how to keep the blood strong and free from the many impurities to which it is constantly subject.

It gives the history of S. S. S., the world's most successful blood remedy, which has been sold for more than fifty years by druggists everywhere. This book will be sent free to all who write to Swift Specific Co., Dept. A Atlanta, Ga.

SELECT SEED FOR NEXT CROP

Many people act as though there is nothing to be gained in seed selection, and a few have the ignorance and nerve to say it is not worth the while. If this conclusion be true, then all cattle are just cattle irrespective of breeding. Shorthorns, herefords, angus, jerseys, gurnseys, and scrubs are all the same thing. Then hogs are just hogs. Duroc, berkshire, hampshire, poland china, and piney woods rooters are all one and the same thing. Any man with half sense knows better. These breeds of cattle and hogs are the result of years of breeding and selection that established their color, type, quality and superiority over the general average of the scrub.

The same natural laws that govern the improvement of animal life will hold true in plant life. The type of corn you would like to grow next year must be in the seed you plant. These very plants are in your field now. Will you go select and save them for seed in order that your crop next year will be more nearly like them?

You will be raising sand next winter and offering big prices for early prolific cotton seed to plant to beat the boll weevils. The early prolific plants scattered around in your field that beat the weevils this year are the very ones with which to do it next year. Will you go now and select the seed from them while they can be easily found? I am selecting my seed today for the eleventh time.

I am not writing just to keep my job going. I am trying to get action, Mr. Reader, that will help you and the whole state. Have you selected your seed for next year? If not, will you be so kind and thoughtful to do it right away?

HALEYVILLE MAN INJUNED IN VERY PECULIAR WAY

Hearse Overturned During the Funeral Hour When Horses make Dash Away.

Haleyville, Sept. 5.—Carlton Webb, prominent business man, was seriously and almost fatally injured here on Tuesday afternoon in a most unusual way. J. W. Williams was also injured but less eriously.

The accident occurred during the funeral hour of W. W. Kyle, and it took place near his late residence, just before the body was placed in the hearse. The horses drawing the hearse ran away, the vehicle was overturned while Mr. Webb was sitting on top of the hearse. He was thrown to the ground and one of the horses stepped on his face, literally grinding out his left eye. It was thought for a whilet hat Mr. Webb was fatally injured and he is still in a precarious condition, but is resting easier than he was Tuesday.

SAVE ALABAMA'S CORN CROP

By W. E. Hinds, Entomologist.

Prepared by Extension Service. Auburn, Ala.

The great need of the world today is for food. Alabama's principal contribution in the line of food materials is corn, and the prospect now is that we shall gather this year the largest corn crop ever produced in this state. There is good reason to expect that the crop will exceed 80,000,000 bushels. But even then we shall not have surplus corn for export, as we require over 100,000,000 to supply our own needs. We cannot expect to import corn this year from the Middle West, as their surplus corn will be going abroad. It is imperative therefore that we in Alabama save every bit of the crop that we are raising.

Experiment Station Studying Problem.

For eight years past the writer has been studying, for the farmers of Alabama, the problem of saving the corn that we raise in this state from the great loss that occurs through the insects that attack corn in the cribs. The results of this study are now available and may be the means of accomplishing an immense saving in corn at this critical time.

Importance of Insect Control.

It is necessary, first of all ,that we should realize as clearly as possible the immense importance of this problem. Let us make it as definite as we can. The figures we shall use are all conservative and are based upon careful studies made of actual losses occurring under usual methods of handling the corn crop in the past eight years. Take the estimate of 80,000,000 bushels as our probable yield and allow that one half of that amount will be used up before March 1, 1918, and that the balance will be used at the rate of 8,000,000 bushels per month. Under usual methods of handling it is extremely conservative to assume that one-fourth of the total crop, or 20,000,000 bushels, will suffer a damage of five per cent. between the time of its maturity in the field and the following March. After March 1st it is also conservative to figure a loss from all insects in the crib amounting to five per cent per month for the balance of the crop still carried in storage under ordinary conditions. On this basis we must look for an insect tax of fully 7,000,000 bushels that Alabama corn raisers and corn users must pay if this year's big crop is handled as crops of recent years have been. Think what 7,000,000 bushels of corn means. First, a cash value of around $10,000,000; second, an amount of corn in the shuck that it would require 14,000 freight cars to move. If these cars were made up into 400 trains of 35 cars each, they would make a solid line extending 114 miles in length. What would these trains contain? Not a grain of edible corn. This is only waste—the refuse or remnants—shucks and cobs left from corn destroyed by insects in Alabama.

Do you still think that weevils in the corn are only a trifling item or are you now prepared to do your part and save half or more of this easily preventable loss?

Utilize Early Corn as Trap Plot.

By changing somewhat their methods of harvesting and storing corn, Alabama farmers can save more than $5,000,000 worth of corn without using any insecticide or adding materially to the expense of handling the crop. How? First, by realizing that most of the weevils on any farm may be found in the very first matured plot of corn for about six weeks after that corn is in the roasting ear stage.

They are breeding there rapidly and after this six weeks period the first generation will emerge and spread from that plot to later maturing corn. Therefore, that earliest corn should be considered as being a trap plot and the ears from it all gathered with the husk on to keep the weevils from being scattered. Harvest this just as soon as it is mature enough to feed, which is within the six-weeks period mentioned above, and either fumigate it in the crib or feed it out promptly to prevent the general infestation of the main crop. The amount of corn in this field makes little difference, but all of that earliest maturity should be gathered at this time. It is an easy matter to find where the weevils are most numerous by opening up the ears having exposed tips as the shuck dries and shrinks away from the hardening grain. Most of them are likely to occur in fields near corn cribs or barns and on the outside rows.

Prompt Action Important.

This prompt gathering of the earliest maturing corn is the first and most important step in preventing the general infestation of later maturing fields. Other steps are necessary to reduce insect damage to a minimum and these will be published in due season. Tell your neighbors about this matter and get every corn raiser in your community to act with you in this important step toward saving millions of dollars worth of corn. Do not delay action and miss this opportunity.

OBITUARY

On Wednesday night, August 22, the death angel visited the home of Mr. H. M. Ferguson of Ensley, and wafted away thes pirit of the beloved wife and mother. Mrs. Sallie Ferguson was enjoying perfect health when she retired at ten o'clock Wednesday night and had only been asleep a short while when her husband heard her making a strange sound and tried to arouse her, and found that life had almost gone.

She was sixty-eight years old, was a faithful wife and loving mother. To know her was to love her, kind, patient and loving.

This is a bright, glad and beautiful world, fragrant with the odor of flowers, and yet, its attractions now are unnoticed by us, for grim, merciless death has appeared in our midst and snatched away one of our loved ones, and in our hearts there is a dreary, dismal, aching, void feeling.

Our only consolation is that our heart's ideal has heard the words from the Father's lips, "Well done, good and faithful servant. Enter thou into the joys of the Lord."

Our loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God that has bereft us.
He can our sorrows heal,
Yet, again we hope to meet thee
When the day of life is fled,
When in heaven enjoy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tears are shed.

Her niece,
MRS. ELDA TAYLOR.

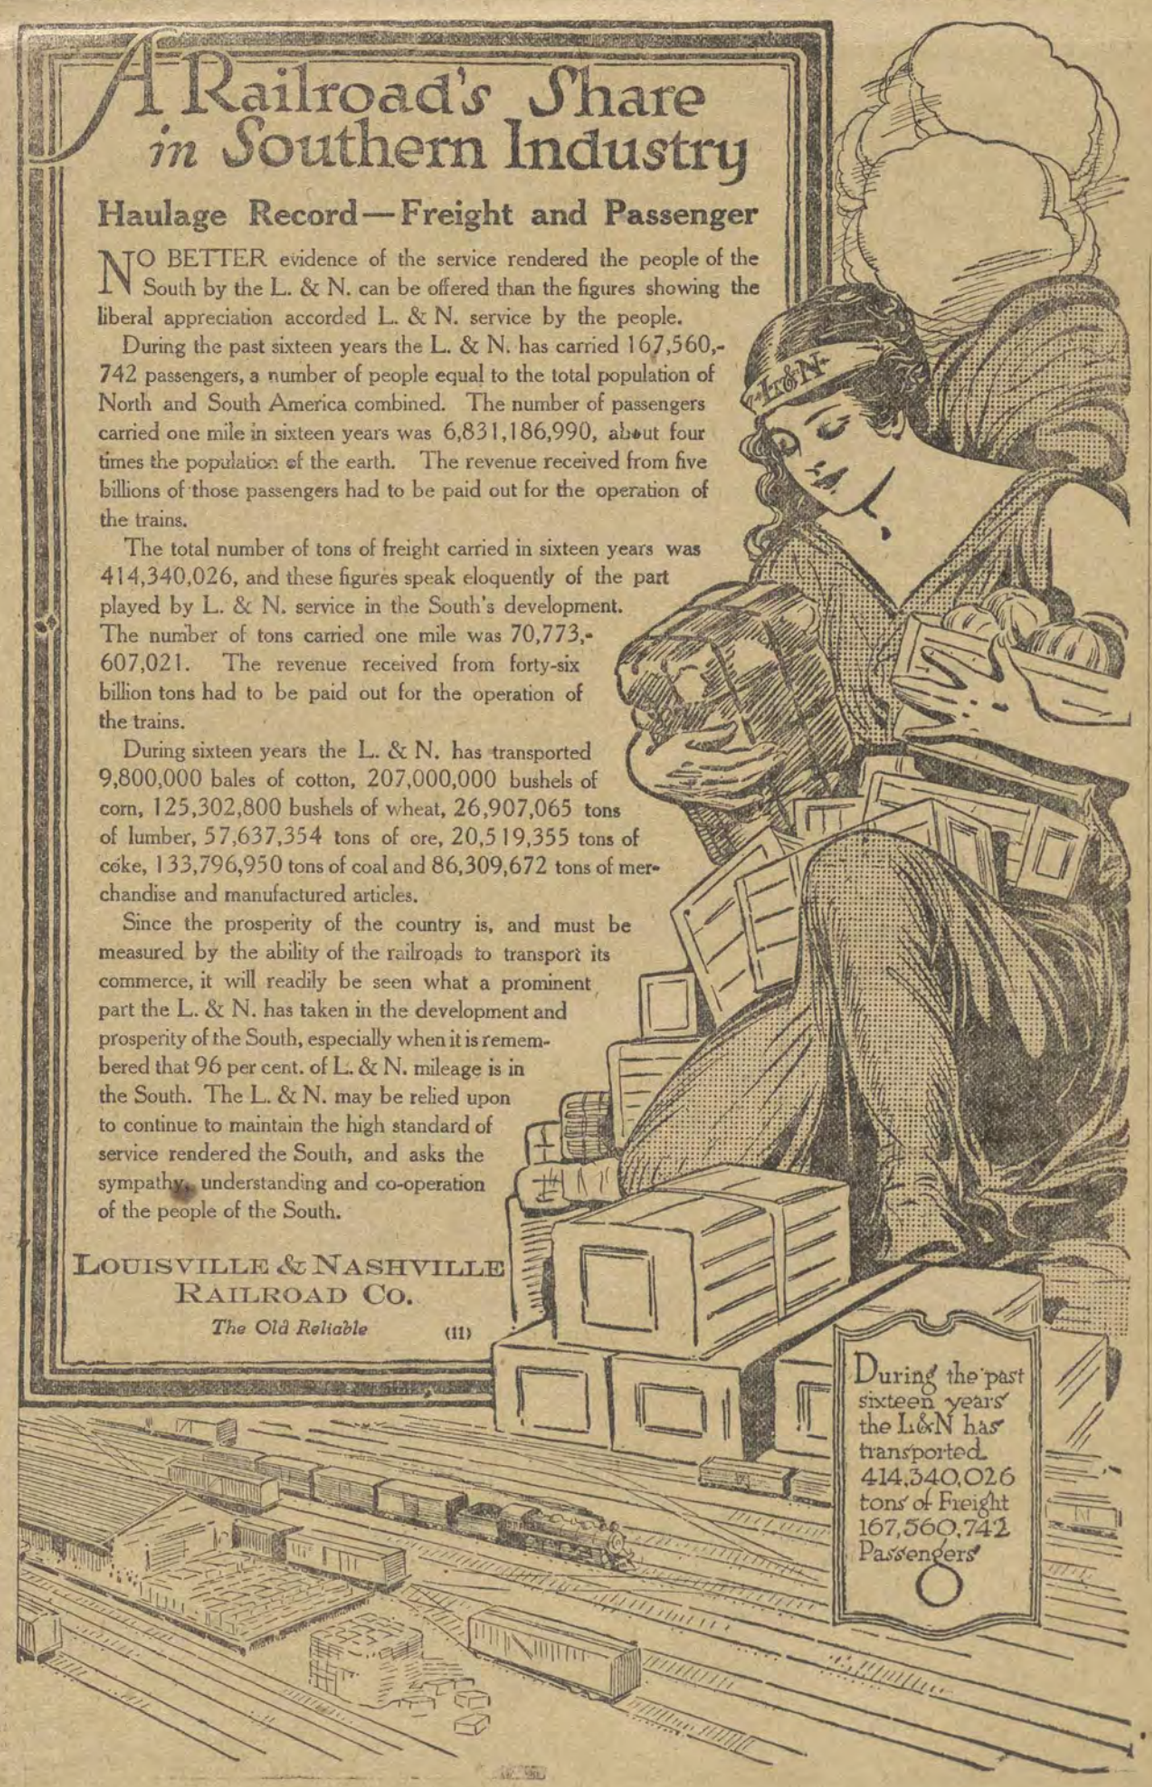
A Railroad's Share in Southern Industry

Haulage Record—Freight and Passenger

NO BETTER evidence of the service rendered the people of the South by the L. & N. can be offered than the figures showing the liberal appreciation accorded L. & N. service by the people.



During the past sixteen years the L. & N. has carried 167,560,742 passengers, a number of people equal to the total population of North and South America combined. The number of passengers carried one mile in sixteen years was 6,831,186,990, about four times the population of the earth. The revenue received from five billions of those passengers had to be paid out for the operation of the trains.

The total number of tons of freight carried in sixteen years was 414,340,026, and these figures speak eloquently of the part played by L. & N. service in the South's development. The number of tons carried one mile was 70,773,607,021. The revenue received from forty-six billion tons had to be paid out for the operation of the trains.

During sixteen years the L. & N. has transported 9,800,000 bales of cotton, 207,000,000 bushels of corn, 125,302,800 bushels of wheat, 26,907,065 tons of lumber, 57,637,354 tons of ore, 20,519,355 tons of coke, 133,796,950 tons of coal and 86,309,672 tons of merchandise and manufactured articles.

Since the prosperity of the country is, and must be measured by the ability of the railroads to transport its commerce, it will readily be seen what a prominent part the L. & N. has taken in the development and prosperity of the South, especially when it is remembered that 96 per cent. of L. & N. mileage is in the South. The L. & N. may be relied upon to continue to maintain the high standard of service rendered the South, and asks the sympathy, understanding and co-operation of the people of the South.

BRITISH ALSO WANT EXPENDITURE CHECK.

The people of the United States are not alone in the idea that there should be some check or control over war expenditures in order to guard against waste or worse. A similar demand is heard in Great Britain. A recent issue of the "Financial News" of London, says that the large loans made by the United States to that country "do not in any way relieve the government from the obligation of exercising the most drastic economy compatible with efficiency, and earnestly endeavoring to check the huge and disquieting expansion which is taking place in public expenditure. Niggardliness in times such as these would be wrong, horribly wrong, but economy in the broadest and best sense of the word, economy produced by improved organiation and by the use of better methods of control over war finance, is urgently needed." In the early stages of the war, Canada uncovered not only waste but corruption. A little more effort to manage government business economically in our country would be neither unwise nor at variance with experience in other countries.

COLLINS ADVISES ON WHEAT SOWING.

Select a good high, dry piece of land, that is free from stumps and manure on and plow under, two or grubs, and put a good application of manure on and plow under. Two or three weeks before you drill (always drill if you can). Sow ¾ bushels to the acre. Sow but little and prepare it well. We have always made a mistake by sowing too much and not putting it in right. There is where the success lies. Don't send off after seed if you you can get what you want from a reliable friend. I made 20 bushels per acre this year, and what I have done you can do. My choice is the Purple Stem. I have no seed for sale; I am only giving you my advice for your own good.

All wheat should be planted as shortly atfer October the 1st as is convenient.

AMERICAN SYSTEM OF FINANCE IS NOW FIRMER THAN EVER

Banks of Country are Definitely Established Upon New Reserve Basis, the Board Reports.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The country's financial system, the federal reserve board announced today, is stronger than it has ever been before.

"Adjustments necessitated by reserve transfers from members banks to federal reserve banks, with the consequent shifting of funds, have been completetd," says the board's statement. "The banks of the country are now, therefore, definitely upon the new reserve basis established by the act of June 21.

Resources Liquid.

Act of June 21: Federal Reserve Banks have continued the policy of maintaining their resources in as strong and liquid condition as possible, showing on August 24 a percentage of reserves against deposits of 80.6 per cent and against notes of 86.5 per cent.

"There has been a continuance of the movement of state banks into the Federal Reserve system while the opening clearing accounts with the Federal reserve banks and sending in gold and gold certificates nonmember banks in various parts of the country have been co-operating actively with federal reserve banks in consolidating the gold resources of the country.

"But of these and other contributing factors, the federal reserve banks finds itself in the opening of autumn in an unprecedentedly strong position, its total holdings of cash on August 24 being $1,424, 769."

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL OPENING ON WEDNESDAY.

Fourth Year of the Institution promises to be a Record of Success.

The Chilton County High School opened yesterday for the reception of pupils for the 1917-'18 session. Quite a large audience of citizens of the town and county gathered at the auditorium of the elegant high school building for the opening exercises.

Prof .H. C. McDonald, Principal of the school, presided at the exercises, with his usual culture and dignity. In a few well chosen remarks he showed the importance of the school to the town and county as well. He also showed the necessity of being progressive and keeping up with the demands from an educational standpoint of these hustling times.

Short talks appropriate to the occasion were made by Rev. T. G. Jones of the Methodist Church, Rev. Gable of the Baptist Church, Prof. W. T. Bean, County Superintendent of Education, Mr. J. J. Pickens, and Mr. W. I Mullins, and others

Dr. J. H. Norman of Georgiana, Ala., will have charge of the Music Department of the school this session. This is the department that was formerly taught by Prof. Tinsley.

Prof. A. H. Bowers of Lacy Springs will hold down the position held by Mr. Owens last year.

Miss Marie Sewell, of Wetumpka, a graduate of the Womans College of Montgomery will have charge of the English department.

Miss Ruth Sightler of Montgomery who is also a graduate of the Womans College of that city, will teach expression.

Mrs. M. R. Richardson of Elmore will have charge of the weaving basketry department, and other work of a similar nature for the ensuing session.

Prospects indicate that this year the enrollment of students will surpass in number that of last year.

MAN OVER AGE MAY HAVE TO SERVE IN NEW U. S. SERVICE

Albany, Sept. 5.—Because James B. Kitchens, aged 32 years, was so thoughtless as to register he finds that he is about to become a soldier. Mr. Kitchens did not understand the provisions of the draft law when he made application for a red ink serial number. The Morgan County Seletcion Board has ruled that he must appeal to the district board and furnish affidavits substantiating his claim to 32 summers before he can be discharged. The district board, then may not let him go.

RUSSIAN OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTER IS LATE REPORT FROM MOSCOW

Strong Endorsement Given to Korniliff and Plans of Reform.

London, Aug. 25.—A dispatch to the London Times from Moscow, dated Wednesday gives this view of the conditions preceding Moscow Council called for today:

A meeting of provincial commissaries in Petrograd some days ago came to the conclusion that Russia was suffering from a state of "organized anarchy," due to the local committees. It was resolved that the moral control over their acts was necessary and that commissaries should have the power of challenging any act contrary to the policy of the provisional government.

The government went a step further and decreed plenary powers for the ministers of the interior and food supply, enabling them to take repressive measures against objectionable persons or bodies.

The necessity of saving the socialist regime from organized anarchy, which is thus recognized, has taken the form of the introduction of a dictatorship, there being no organized force behind it, but it serves as an indication of the general trend of Russian feeling.

The summoning of the members of the four Dumas and about 6,500 representatives of party and class interests to assemble in the conference at Moscow had already given evidence that the Socialists were conscientious of their inability to bring Russia up through the present ordeal. A reaction is plainly permeating the country against the methods which entailed the collapse of the army and the invasion of the country.

Apparently misgivings have been aroused regarding the scope and character of the Moscow deliberations, hence the attempt to introduce a Socialist dictatorship. Hence also the campaign against General Kornliff in the Socialist press, he being a very strong man, whom the nation and the army expect to save them from utter disaster. The exile of ex-Czar Nichols is another indication of the same thing.

The moderate parties which will attend the conference held a private preliminary meeting here yesterday. Several hundred public men, soldiers and civilians, assembled under the presidency of M. Rodzianko. The speech of the day was delivered by General Alexiff, and among other speakers were General Kaledin, a recognized leader of the Cossacks and General Bruisloff.

A delegation of Cossack units stationed at Moscow and of newly formed associations of Knights of St. George, which already number hundreds of thousands, assured the meeting of their support and their resolve to conquer or die. A message was sent to Korniloff expressing unbounded confidence in him and his program of army reform.

Three Killed, Five Injured When U-Boat Bombards English Coast.

London, September 5.—Scarbrough on the English east coast was bombarded last night by a hostile submarine, it was oficially announced today. About half of the shells in the thirty rounds fired from the undersea boat landed, three persons being killed and five injured, but little material damage was caused. The official announcement reads:

"A hostile submarine appeared off Scarbrough coast about 6:45 o'clock last night and fired about 30 rounds, about half of which fell on land. Three persons were killed and five injured. The material damage was slight."

GIVE YOUR HEIFERS A CHANCE

By J. P. Quinerly, Agent in Dairying.

Prepared by Extension Service. Auburn, Ala.

I want to call attention to what is probably the biggest and most general mistake dairymen are making in Alabama. I have seen it in all parts of the State.

We are allowing our heifers to breed too young. As a result they often drop calves before they are old enough to be bred and always earlier than is permissible for best results. Such heifers become stunted and the result is small delicate cows with little constitution, small capacity and less ability to produce milk. Generations of such practices have been responsible for the very small size of our native cows. A heifer cannot develop into a good cow if she is carrying a foetus and producing milk from feed that ought to be used entirely for body growth.

While in the dairy districts of Ohio recently, the thing that impressed me most was the size and capacity of the cows. We saw herd after herd of Jerseys that averaged from 900 to 1000 pounds in weight and 320 pounds of butter fat per year! I asked those dairymen how they got such wonderful cows. They replied: "Feed the heifers well, keep them growing, and do not breed them to freshen at less than thirty months of age." I didn't see a single pasture with the bull running with the cows and heifers. As a rule the heifers are kept in a separate pasture and always the bull has a lot to himself. I noticed that those Ohio dairymen were more particular about giving their heifers the best chance to develop and not allowing them to breed too young than almost any other dairy practice. And well they might be, for it is fundamental. Do you not realize that your heifers of today wil in a short time be the cows of your herd?

A heifer is made or ruined during the first eighteen months of her life. She should be fed liberally. Feed skim milk a year if she is a valuable heifer. Never cut it out at less than six or eight months. Feed oats and corn in such quantities as she will clean up. Always have hay in her reach. It will insure a large spring of rib and big barrel capacity. Only such a cow can eat enough feed to produce much milk. Provide good grazing, and DON'T LET A BULL OF ANK KIND RUN WITH HER. Some heifers will breed when less than six months old. I saw one the other day, fifteen months old, with a calf at her side. She will no more make a profitable cow than will the colt make a valuable horse if put to work as a yearling.

Our only chance to get good cows is to raise them from our native cows, using bulls bred-for-production. But no matter how good the bull nor how promising the calf, the cow will not be worth while unless the heifer is properly developed. Start with the heifer as a calf. Never allow it to lose its baby fat. A case of scours will usually stunt a calf for life. By all means don't allow her to breed under eighteen or twenty months of age. Try this plan once and you will be surprised how much more profitable your cows will be. Write the U. S. Department of Agriculture for Bulletin 77, which tells how to raise dairy calves.

REDTOP

By D. J. Burleson, Agronomist for Extension.

Prepared by Extension Service. Auburn, Ala.

Redtop has a wide range of adaptability of soil and climate. However, it is best adapted to low, moist lands, and does fairly well even on rather poor land of this type. Soil for this plant does not require liming. In fact, redtop can endure a considerable amoount of acidity.

The most important use of redtop is as a part of permanent pasture mixtures. It combines well with lespedeza and white clover to form permanent pastures on rather moist soils. Redtop is sometimes used for hay in the northern part of Alabama, but is only fairly palatable.

Ten to fifteen pounds of recleaned seed should be planted per acre in early fall. The sed need only light covering. Successful seedings are sometimes made by sowing broadcast, allowing the rains to cover the seed, but this practice is not to be generally recommended.

Redtop grows rather slowly the first year. It is well to fertilize the crop on poor soils.

GIRL'S STATEMENT WILL HELP CLANTON PEOPLE

Here is a girl's own story: "For years I had dyspepsia, sour stomach and constipation. I drank hot water and olive oil by the gallon. Nothing helped me until I tried buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka. One spoonful helped me instantly." Because Adler-i-ka flushes the whole alimentary tract, it relieves any case of constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has quickest action of anything we ever sold. FALL OATS FOR ALABAMA

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service. Auburn, Ala.

The splendid price of oats makes them a profitable crop for Alabama farmers. Many growers insist that money is made from them when they yield 25 bushels per acre and sell for 50 cents a bushel. The present high price and increased demand for them will doubtless continue.

Between spring planting and fall planting at the Alabama Experiment Station, the fall planting exceeded the spring planting by a yearly average covering the past ten years of 25.1 bushels per acre, or 153 per cent. The average date of the fall planting was October 25th, and of the spring planting about February 10th. There are other reasons for fall planting. The oats form a winter cover crop that protects against soil erosion and leaching. They furnish some grazing during dry winter days if planted on good soil. The weather conditions for planting are usually better in the fall than in the early spring, and the crop comes off the land from ten to fifteen days earlier, making way for a good hay crop of summer legumes.

For fall planting the variety tests at the Alabama Experiment Station show that the members of the Red Rust Proof group have led in production. Among the highest yielding varieties are Appler, Bancroft, Texas Red Rust Proof, Culberson, Cook, etc. Culberson was found to resist best the severe February freezes of the past winter. Fulghum, which is about ten days earlier than the ordinary Red Rust Proof oats, did not resist the freezes as well as the others. It does not have so much beard, and is a splendid oats for average winter conditions, especially if it is planted in an open furrow.

Fulghum and Bert varieties are well suited to spring planting.

Do not delay the getting of your seed oats for fall planting. Select the fields now, and calculate the number of bushels necessary to seed them. Home grown seed, if not mixed, is usually better adapted than seed brought from other states.

For further information on oat culture, fertilizers, etc., ask for bulletin 173, Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn, Ala.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Auto-Intoxication Causes Death

Do you know why you have sick headache, diabetes, neuralgia, rheumatism and liver or kidney troubles? It's because you are being poisoned by products of your own body. Your organs of elimination are not working properly. Waste material that should be thrown out is being retained to poison and intoxicate your system. That could not happen if the bowels were kept open with Granger Liver Regulator. This splendid preparation is purely vegetable and non-alcoholic. Demand Granger Liver Regulator at your drug store—25c a box—and take no other. There is nothing "just as good."

COLOR LINE IS IGNORED IN NEW DRAFT ARMY

Washington, Sept. 4.—How color lines have been ignored in the assignment of negro troops in the drafted section of the national army is revealed in general orders issued today showing the war department's intention to apportion the negro troops evenly where possible in all cantonments. The order provides that in every cantonment there shall be one negro infantry regiment where sufficient personnel is available.

Protests have been made against quartering negro troops in certain parts of the South, but no modification has been made.

The order is taken as in indication of what the war department will do in disposing of similar regiments in national guard camps.

Representative Dent protested to the war department again today against location of negro troops in Alabama, but did not receive any promise that they would be withdrawn. The department is inclined to stand on its order and deal with the situation as it develops.

"TEN LITTLE 'TATERS"

There is a gingle going the rounds of the press which tells the story of "Ten Little 'Taters," like this: Ten little 'taters growing on a vine; local buyer got one, then there were nine. Nine little 'taters shipped away by freight; railroads got one, then there were eight. Eight little taters another ride were given; transfer got one, then there were seven. Seven little 'taters sold to Commissioner Dix, the commission man got one, then there were six. Six little 'taters in a store arrive; retailer took one then there yere five. Five little 'taters consumer paid for the ten.

Mrs. W. M. Anderson was hostess to the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church on Monday afternoon. There was a good attendance of the members, and encouraging reports especially on the finances of the Society were made. Special prayer was made for the soldier boys who have gone to the front. Mrs. Boss Jones sang with much pathos "He leads Along the Way," accompanied by Mrs. H. F. Chandler at the piano. The hostess read an interesting paper on our work. Delicious tea and sandwiches were served.

TROUBLE IN MOUNTAIN CREEK MUNICIPALITY

A Large Delegation are at Clanton To Attend County Court.

On Monday the streets of Clanton were crowded with Mountain Creek citizens long before Judge L. H. Reynolds called the case of T. J. Henderson vs. George W. Coburn, Policeman Weathers and J. Gray all charged with particapting in the "free-for all" which occurred when Office Henderson attempted to arrest Mayor Coburn and others.

Mayor Coburn is charged with extortion in addition to resisting an officer.

The witnesses included a large number of the leading citizens of the town.

Judge Reynolds, after considering and consulting decided to defer the "unpleasantness" until the first week of October term and to hear the case on Monday.

MRS. MARY E. BLALOCK PASSES HER EIGHTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY

Dear Editor:

I wish to write of spending the 89th birthday of my grandmother, Mary E. Blalock, born August 20th, 1828 in Montgomery County, at the site of the state capital, before the city was established. There were only two stores there at that time, one being Curis Barrett's the other her father's. The storehouses were constructed of small swamp logs.

She was married to W. J. Blalock on November 29th, 1849, and lived happily thereafter for a period of 56 years, when the death angel visited their home on January 26, 1906, and took her husband from the walks of life.

She is the mother of 9 children, 7 of whom are living. She has 108 grand children, 100 great-grand children, and 5 great-great-grand children.

Her health is excellent and her memory good. She delights in having company and being a great talker, makes it a pleasure for anyone to hear her talk of the days gone by.

She spent her eighty-ninth birthday, which was enjoyed by all present, at the home of her second son, G. B. Blalock. There was a most delicious dinner prepared for her on that day. Two nice cakes were presented to her, one by a friend, Mrs. Cattie Lewis having her name "Mary" inscribed thereon, and the other by her grand daughter, Mrs. Ivey Dupriest, having her age inscribed on it.

Yours sincerely,
IVY DUPRIEST.

Our good friend, W. P. Thompson, is now the editor of the Marbury Journal. Since assuming charge of the paper, only a few days ago, his experienced hand and mind in newspaper work has put a new touch of interest in the paper. THORSBY ITEMS

IN HONOR OF THE MEMORY OF MR. PETER K. VILLADSEN

In the world's work it is perfectly natural that we prize most highly the person who renders the largest service, or who serves with greatest devotion. It is fitting that some public expression of real appreciation would be made when death puts an end to the physical activities of a co-laborer. The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of Thorsby Institute hereby attempts to express in part its apreciation of the services of one of its most active and faithful members.

For the past four and one half years Mr. Peter K. Villadsen of Thorsby, Ala., was a member of the Board of Trustees of Thorsby Institute, and erves in an official capacity the major part of the time. His devotion to the work has been such as to couse him to leave oft times his personal work, and to forego opportunities for personal recreation in order to serve the Institute. He was ever faithful to attend the meetings of the Board and its several committees of which he was a member. As a member of the Institute building committee he was always working to the end that the property should combine comfort, cleanliness and beauty, and his finger prints and foot steps will be in evidence for years to come. His desire to see Thorsby Institute render the highest service to its growing student body and the local community, seemed to be uppermost in his mind. In his death which occurred August 23, 1917, there was a great loss to his family, his church and to our school.

We extend to his widow and children our sincere sympathy in this hour of bereavement. We also rejoice with them in the fact that his life as we knew him was such as to leave behind him a record for patriotism, high ideals and large sympathy for his fellowmen. We pray that his children may emulate to his good examples.

Resolved, that a copy of this resolutions be published in the county paper, a copy spread upon our committee records, and a copy placed in the hands of the widow of our departed friend and brother.

Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of Thorsby Institute.

The Thorsby Public School this session will be in charge of Prof. J. Leonard Harris, assisted by Mrs. McClain and Miss Bertha Littleton. The opening of the school will be next Monday.

THREE COMPANIES OF ALABAMA BRIGADE ORDERED TO MACON

Will Entrain Monday Night with Detachments of Signal, Ambulance and Hospital Units.

Montgomery, Ala., September 2.—Three companies of the Alabama National Guard, E. First Infantry of Mobile; I., Second Infantry of Luverne; and tropp C., First Cavalry of Tuscaloosa, tonight were ordered by Brig. Gen. Robert E. Steiner to leave Monday night for Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga., to prepare camp for the coming of the remainder of the Alabama Brigade. Detachments of the signal Company, ambulance company and field hospital also were ordered to entrain.

The Mobile Company is commanded by Captain Miles D. Savelle, the Luverne company by Capt. Tobe R. Farmer and the Tuscaloosa troup by Capt. Wiliam D. Hays.

Sheridan Near Readiness.

Camp Sheridan will pass completely into the hands oft he Ohio division the later part of the week. Although Alabama officers decline to say when the brigade will move to Camp Wheeler at Macon, Gen. Steiner returned from Macon Sunday, and private information from Camp Wheeler was that the brigade could move during the week. The moving day will not be made public, and no information will be given out until the troops are quartered in the new camp. Several Ohio regiments could entrain for Camp Sheridan at any time, now, as the advance companies have put the camp in good condition. However, it is improbable that the final order for entrainment will be given until supplies of tentage and other equipment already ordered are received.

Sleeping in Open.

Several companies have been sleeping in the open with nothing over them but mosquito nets, because of the lack of tents. Heavy rains fell Saturday night and they were forced to seek the dryness of the mess halls which have not been put into use.

Although al lunits were given leave of absence from the camp Saturday night, the guard of 70 established by Major General Haslett, Provost Marshal, made only about six arrests and they were for minor infractions of the rules. No work was done at Camp Sheridan Sunday, the men not even being required to answer reviele and retreat, and Sunday was spent by oficers and enlisted men in making their first tramp over Montgomery and seeing interesting points where the Confederate States was born 50 years ago.

Would you mix your cattle-feed with cotton?

YOU know that such a combination would be carried through the digestive tract without giving the milk-producing and fat-producing food a chance to be assimilated. The lint on old style hulls acts the same way. It forms a pad or cushion-like covering around the concentrates that prevents the digestive juices from extracting the full amount of protein.

TRADE MARK

contain no lint to clog or flux the digestive tract. They are digested and they allow the other forage to be digested the same as hay or any other roughage.

When you mix your feed with Buckeye Hulls you know that you are using roughage that will help—not hinder—the meal, corn, oats, or whatever concentrate you prefer.

Other Advantages

2000 pounds of real roughage to the ton—not 1500.
Cost much less per ton.
Go much farther.
No trash or dust.
Easy to handle because sacked.
They mix well with other forage.
They take less space in the barn.

Mr. C. K. Henderson, Aiken, S. C., says:
that he would rather have Buckeye Hulls than any others. He uses Buckeye Hulls altogether — says they are cheaper and better.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

PREPARATION OF TEACHERS

In these days of war, Alabama is having her great struggle with her great enemy—ignorance, illiteracy.

To wage this campaign, Alabama has four training camps—her four Class A Normal Schools, located at Florence, Jacksonville, Livingston and Troy.

These schools must go on. Alabama cannot afford to neglect teacher training. Trained teachers mean leadears who are qualified to go into cities or towns or villages or remote country districts and to promote the factors which make for better living conditions, better health, better government, stronger, finer, happier men and women.

Such is the meaning of teacher training. Such is the trend of education in Alabama. This is not the mere acquisition of knowledge. It is knowledge plus the ability to act wisely for the good of the individual and the country. It is patriotism in the highest sense. It is true education.

The normal schools of Alabama have made it so. They have put education on a high plane, and they are sending out teachers who can maintain this position. They are in session twelve months in each year.

REPLY TO REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY

The Grand Jury reports as follows:

"We find that there are ten female and four male inmates in the county poor house, and two female and one male who receive aid from the county but who do not reside at the county poor house at present.

"Words are not strong enough to describe the condition in which we found our county poor house. To put it mildly, it is a disgrace to the good name of Chilton County. To find that those, who, through disease and poverty, are unable to provide for themselves, and who thus have a just claim for comfort and maintenance against the county are provided for in a manner in which a committe of this Grand Jury ascertained is horrifying indeed.

"We feel that it is our duty to make this report in ordert that the public may know of conditions there. Weeds have taken the place; comforts are few; filth abounds, and the food and raiment furnished the inmates, so far as we could ascertain, would in quantity and quality compare most unfavorably with that furnished our slaves in the days before the war. Medical attention is not such as it should be, and we found one of the inmates suffering from disease, her sores covered with flies, and her surroundings such that no decent person could long remain in her presence. Soap is cheap and water is plentiful, and there certainly can be no excuse for the very unclean and unsanitary condition in which we found the things.

"The system upon which the poor are cared for in this county is wrong in principle, and diametrically opposed to the higher instincts of civilization. They are farmed out at so much per head per month for their clothing and food to their keeper, and his profit must come, and can come only from the amount he is able to squeeze each month from the comforts and necessities of the inmates. We learn that he has a contract to keep the poor on these terms till January 1st, next, towit: $9.00 per month for each inmate, this to furnish both food and clothing. Under existing prices, this is too little, if every cent were spent upon the inmates; but as the keeper must make his own profit out of this besides, except what he gets from the poor farm, which he receives free of rent as part of his consideration, one may well wonder how conditions could be otherwise as to food and raiment.

But there can be no excuse for the uncleanliness which abounds. We are constrained to say that we consider the present mangement of the poor house entirely inefficient, and recommend that the Commissioners cancel his contract at once, or ask for his resignation; or take any steps neccssary to dispense with his services and employ a competent man in his stead."

The above report is pretty strong and I think that it needs some explanation that the people of the county may know the law and surrounding conditions of the poor house. In the first place the law provides, "The County Board of Health shall elect a County Health Officer," this board of health is composed of all the Doctors and Physicians of the County. This law is like many others of the Statute book, it takes away from the people the right of self government in that, that the Commissioners Court nor the people have no power in the selection of the County Health Officer, the law even fixes the salary of the County Health Officer and the Commissioners Court has no authority in this.

"To visit the county jail, all convict camps where any convicts are worked, and the county almshouse, at least once a month and to make a careful inspection as respects the drinking water, the food, the clothing and bedding supplied to the prisoners of the former and the inmates of the latter; also as to the ventilation, air space, heating and bathing facilities, closets, drainage, etc., of these institutions, and when any of said supplies are said to be inadequate in quantity or deficient in quality, or any of said conditions unsanitary, it shall be the duty of the health officer to make in writing a circumstantial report thereof to the Judge of Probate and Court of County Commissioners or other like board, whereupon, it shall be the duty of said Judge of Probate and Court of County Commissioners to carry out whatever recommendations are made by the County Health Officer as respects the county jail and County almshouse."

Now I suppose the Grand Jury was advised of the law when they wrote this report, and they certainly must have been familiar with the law which makes it clear that it is the duty of the County Health Officer to look after health conditions at County Poor House. You see that it is his duty to visit the almshouse at least once a month, and report to me, as Judge of Probate, or to Commissioners any suggestions that he sees fit. The last report that we had from the County Health Officer was dated June 12, 1917, and signed by Dr. Samuel E. Johnson, and was as follows:

"June, 12, 1917.

To theHon. Probate Judge and Commissioners,

" Gentlemen:—I beg to submit my report for the month of May as required by law.

I visited poor house on May, 11, 1917, and found it to be in good condition. There are 13 inmates.

"Respectfully,
"Samuel E. Johnson, M. D.
"County Health Officer."

The law says that we must pay the County Health Officer not less than $467.50 per year. When I came into office January, 15, 1917, the county was paying Dr. Samuel E. Johnson $1,000.00 per year for his services as County Health Officer. Since the finances of the county were in such a distressed condition the Commissioners Court reduced it as low as the law would permit.

Besides the $467.50, which the County Health Officer receives as his duties for such the County has to pay him extra for trips made to the poor house.

Now as to the criticism that the Grand Jury sees fit to heap upon the Commissioners Court regarding the contract with Mr. Golden, I want to say that I had nothing to do with it, as it was made by the former Judge of Probate and the Commissioners before I came into office. The contract was for two years, but he agreed to deliver the home and farm back to us after this year.

I have visited the poor house four times in person. Last week I heard there was an old lady that needed special attention. I went to the house last Sunday and visited every room. I asked this old lady if there was anything that she needed and she said that Dr. J. P. Hayes, who is County Health Officer, had seen her recently and there was nothing that she especially needed. I did not find conditions as bad as the Grand Jury reported.

The Commissioners Court and I, with the limited means of the county have done the best we could for the poor house. We had all the inmates' houses screened this spring and there is no necessity for flies being there if proper care is taken.

I have tried to make this explanation plain and to make the people of this county understand whose duty it is to look after the sanitary conditions of the almshouse. I would like to ask why it was the County Health Officer, Drs. S. E. Johnson, N. S. Johnson and J. P. Hayes, were not mentioned by the Grand Jury. Why was their attention not called to their duty as well as the Commissioners Court's, and why was the blame put on the Commissioners and me for the County Health Officers not doing their duty?

There was special mention of flies in the Grand Jury's report, but they say nothing about the homes of the inmates of the poor house being screened, which was recently done, and not at the request of the County Health Officer, but my own.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

NEW FRIENDSHIP CHURCH PROSPERING AGREEABLY

The new Baptist Church north-east of Clanton had a good day last Sunday. Two new members were received, one for baptism and the other by letter, making in all 35 members. Fourteen of this number were baptised—eight two weeks ago and six last Sunday. Rev. Ben Hughes did the baptising.

The church also ordained four deacons, Brethren Rich, Miner, Bennett and Collins. Rev. A. R. Aldridge preached the administration sermon, and our pastor, Rev. S. M. Adams delivered the charge to the church and deacons. Rev. Adams also preached Sunday night, and he delivered as usual a very strong and forceful sermon.

And so our new church, Friendship, begins with hope in God, and prospects bright for good work.

THORSBY INSTITUTE OPENING

Thorsby Institute opened for its twelfth year on Tuesday of this week. The enrollment on the opening day, in spite of the wr conditions and the consequent shortage of older young men, showed a 10 per cent. increase over any previous year. A number of others are expected to enroll during this present week. Students are already present in the school from 13 counties in Alabama and two in Georgia. A larger number are present from Chilton county than in recent years. Addresses were made at the opening exercises by Rev. J.M. Graham and Rev. Chas T. Rogers.

The Girls' Dormitory has been newly painted inside and out and other improvements made and it now houses more young women than at the opening of any previous school year. The school has made arrangements whereby it has secured the use of the large residence formerly owned by J. F. Peterson for use as a Boys' Dormitory. Arrangements have also been made for the use of additional land for farming so that the school is able to offer an opportunity to a larger number of young men to earn their expenses wholly or in part by work, while attending school, Principal, S. H. Herbert, will be glad to get in touch with any young people of Chilton county or elsewhere who desire to attend high school and have not been able to do so because of financil difficulties, as he may be able to help them to solve the difficulty by giving them an opportunity to pay part of their expenses in work.

Howard Collins, who was killed in the auto accident near Columbiana Sunday night, was a brother of Jim Collins who was killed in the same way a few years ago. Friends of the family here are grieved at the unfortunate occurrence.

Prof. J. W. Moore, Clerk in the Probate's office has been quite ill for a week.

MR. GOLDEN SAYS THE REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY IS FALSE

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 9, 1917.
Editor Union-Banner:

Will you allow me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to the false report of the Grand Jury. Their report regarding the conditions of the county poor house is false from start to finish.

First, they reported that the food that is given the inmates was such as was not known in slavery time. This is absolutely false. They came into the cook room, and asked no questions, and turned and went out facing the smoke house. They did not go in, nor ask for any permit to go in.

They complain about the clothing. There was only one inmate who had on patched clothes. They also reported one inmate in a horrible condition. And they say that soap is cheap and water plentiful. I wish to say that I do not use cheap soap to wash her wounds. I use Cuticura, which costs 25 cents a bar. I use it once and twice each day. Soap and water will not kill the odor in her condition.

And as to her sores being covered with flies, I will say that the house in which she stays has screened windows and veranda also. And the rest they said about her is false.

As to the medical treatment, the doctor has been prompt to come, and I have carried out every suggestion that has been made to me by the County Health Officer.

They also complain about the wood and pine. I never knew anybody to freeze in August or the first of September.

I invite the good people of this county to visit this home as often as they like. I deem it unnecessary to say any more. Please read what the neighbors and doctors have to say about it.

R. L. GOLDEN, Supt.
Chilton County Alms House.

Clanton ,Ala. Sept. 10, 1917.
To the Hon. Commissioners Court of Chilton County:

I have been living in plain view of the poor house ever since Mr. Lee Golden has had charge of the same, and as for the way he has treated and cared for the inmates, I wish to say that it has been very good. I have visited the inmates and talked with them in regard to their treatment, and all but two or three of them told me that it was as good as they wanted. As for their food and clothing, they have plenty to eat, and it is as good or better than most of the people have. Their clothes are better than those the people of the country generally wear. In regard to the physical conditions which have been reported their, it seems to me to be impossible for anyone to live in such conditions as have been said to exist there. From the conditions surrounding the place it looks to me that everything has been very well cared for.

Yours very truly,
B. C. GLASS.

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 9, 1917.
To whom it may concern:

Since I have heard of such an awful report on Mr. R. L. Golden, the county poor house keeper, I feel it my duty to publish what I know about it. I live in a quarter of a mile of the poor farm and have visited it often and have taken meals there. I found that the food was plentiful and good enough for anybody. I am not guessing at it either.

Mr. and Mrs. Golden have given all the attention to the inmates that they could ask for, and they have been clothed far better than I am able to clothe my family. And as for the treatment it is as good as could be asked for. Everything is kept nice and clean.

Respectfully,
Mr. and Mrs. M. G. HENSON.

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 10, 1917.
Since I have heard such reports on the superintendent of the county poor house, I feel it my duty to say a few words. I live in sight and work land in 150 yards of the buildings, and I have never seen or heard him abuse or ill-use any of the inmates. Everything I have seen about the place was kept nice and clean.

Respectfully,
W. H. SHARPE.

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 10, 1917.
In regard to the keeping of the county poor house, I wish to say that I have been there two or three times to preaching since Mr. Golden has been there, and I did not see or hear anything out of the way. I have never at any time, heard that he did not do his duty in regard to caring for the inmates the best he could.

Yours truly,
S. J. GODDARD.

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 9, 1917.
Since I have heard such a report about the condition of the inmates of the poor house I feel it my duty to say a few words about them.

I have been living in one-half mile of the poor house for ten years, and it is my opinion that Mr. Golden is the best keeper that has been there. I pass there very often and never hear any quarreling at all, but heretofore I could hear them fussing to my house. I feel that the Grand Jury's report is all untrue.

J. W. GORE.

DR. HAYES MAKES STATEMENT AS TO CONDITION OF THE POOR

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 11, 1917.—
To whom it may concern:

I wish to make a public statement as to the condition of the County Poor House since I have been County Health Officer, inasmuch as the question of its sanitation, condition of the inmates, and conduct of the keeper has been recently opened up by a report of the Grand Jury of this County.

As to the sanitry condition of the poor house, I will say that it is being kept by the present management, in about the same status as it was by former keepers.

As to the report that there were maggots found in or on the person of one of the inmates, Nancy Guy, I wish to say that this report came to me, and I immdiately, in consultation with Dr. N. S. Johnson, made an investigation of the report. We examined the party named in the rumor, and did not find such conditions of her body as had been reported. Concerning the bad dor that exists, I say that it is due to the cancerous condition of her hand, that cannot be remedied under present circumstances. On the whole, it is my opinion from what I can observe, that speaking generally, the poor house and farm, under the management of Mr. Golden has been kept to bout the same standard as that set by his predecessors.

Respectfully,
J. P. HAYES,
County Health Officer.

Dr. Johnson's Statement.

Clanton, Ala., Sept .7, 1917.
I visited the poor house on the above date with Dr. J. P. Hayes and the above statement in my opinion is correct.

N. S. JOHNSON, M. D.

Dr. Gragg's Statement.

Clnton, Ala., Sept. 12, 1917.—
To whom it my concern:

I will state that I have had occasion to visit the poor house several times to see inmates during the 3 months preceding August 1st of this year.

It gives me pleasure to substantiate the foregoing statement of the present health oficer, and to add that the houses are now screened, a thing that was repeatedly recommended but only partially accomplished during my term in that capacity.

Respectfully,
V. J. GRAGG.

NEGRO TROOPS TO BE KEPT SEPARATE

National Army Policy Will Be In Line With Handling of Regulars, Says Baker.

Washington, Sept. 10—Negro troops of the Nationl Army will be organized in separate units, as is done in the regular army, and so far as possible will be trained in the states where they are raised. The call for negroes to mobilize at their camps will be postponed to allow the officers at the camp to arrange for the organization of these separate units.

Both white men and negroes of the selective forces will be given an opportunity to volunteer for service in the batallions of troops for service on the line of communication, their work being military, but non-combatants. However, there will be negro fiting regiments of the National Army as there are of the regulars and the National Guard.

Secretary Baker outlined this policy toward department officials today in a statement dealing with the method to be followed in the organization and training of negroes liable to draft under the National Army act. Presumably the negro regiments of the regular army and hte National Guard will be retained as they are as fighting units. The statement follows:

"The rule of the regular army governing the training and organization of colored troops will be followed in the National Army and they will be assembled and trained as separate organizations.

"The call for colored troops will be postponed until one of the latter calls, so that they will be called at camp at a separate time, giving an opportunity for the officers at the camps to assemble the organizations of which they are a part at one time. They will not be called last although they will be included in one of the latter calls.

"All colored troops called in a State which has cantonements in it will be trained there. Provisions will be made, but has not yet been made, for the assembling from those states which have no cantonments of their quotas of colored soldiers for training.

"Opportunity will be given to both the white and colored troops of the selective forces to volunteer in certain line of communication forces which it will be necessary to organize, and it is hoped that an adequate number wil volunteer for this military duty, but non-combatant service. There will be both combatant and non-combatant colored regiments."

The effect of the policy announced by Secretry Baker will be to delay the mobilization of the negroes of the National Army until the units already assembled or under orders to assemble this month hve been organized and are under training.

When the confusion incident to the organization of the new regiments, brigades nd divisions has been cleared up, there will be time to assemble and organize separate regiments, battalions or companies of negro troops. Of the 687,000 men called for the first increment of the National Army, it is estimated that approximately 70,000 will be negroes.

PEOPLES TELEPHONE 96.

We are pleased to hear a number of our farmers say that they are intending to come to the meeting at the court house on Saturday. This is a day and a time when farmerswho have hope in their work and interest in their future cannot help but be on the look-out for anything that tends to lead them into better things. The tide is drifting at a mighty rapid rate and we know it is not drifting in the direction of advantage altogether of the farmers. It never has, and it does not now. The farmer must make his own destiny in spite of conditions. He must "make his calling and election sure." He must force his way into what he chooses as right and proper recognition for his work and the products of his work.

The great agents of finance and commerce have ever been ready to declare that the farmer is the backbone of progress and development. Politicians have made this their cry from every stump throughout the breadth of the land. They all are ready to tell you anything about how the progress of the earth in its orbit depends on the farmer—but beyond the mere fact that they tell you these things, how much do you know of them?

The sum and substance of the whole thing is simply this: Bankers organie for the promotion of their interests; merchants counsel with one another to secure the ends they determine; all classes of commercial activity are united, and stand together for the good of the whole class. Farmers, likewise can depend only upon a valid and workable union. They are absolutely hopeless unless they unite in common purpose and declare to the world that they are ready to consider things that concern them in equitable terms that will bring them the justly deserved recompense for their work.

No class of people have ever attained success and recognition until they concluded to stand together and demand the things that they want. Farmers have been told these things thousands of times, and they KNOW IT IS THE SOLID TRUTH.

It now remains for them to step out on the strength of the faith they have in themselves and name their terms. When they do this, and back up their assertions with the proper organization, the rest of the world will readily bow their heads and bend their knees and listen and heed.

Come to Clanton Saturday. About 2000 farmers are expected to be here. Come prepared to tell what you know and believe about the situation we are in, and let's get our heads together on the best plan to adopt and pursue.

TIME LOST—GONE FOREVER

The Denman system for the construction of wooden ships is now definitely in the discard. No more contracts for such craft will be let; and the shipping board will devote itself exclusively to the building of a standardised fabricated steel ship, the competent parts of which will be manufactured in the steel mills and assembled in the ship yards. Under the plans as completed and accepted by large ship builders a 500-ton ship can be turned out for every two working days. This plan was laid before the shipping board in the days of the Denman domination as long ago as last April; and five precious and irreplceable months have been lost while the country was regaled with the Denman-Goethals controversy, which the president was so reluctant to terminate.

A GRUESOME REMINDER

The Eastland of tragic memory on the Lakes is to be converted into a gunboat for use as a training ship and will be known henceforth as Wilmette. Everyone will hope that her later days may obligate the gruesome recollections of her earlier career—but most people who see her will be reminiscent, we imagine, and among their reflections will be some over the pitiful way in which Secretary Redfield dealt with the problem which was presented to him when the Eastland turned turtle at her dock and carried hundreds of excursionists to their death.

The Weser Zeitung says that the German reply to Pope Benedict's peace plea will contain no details but will accept in principle the Pope's peace program. The paper adds that the reply will not be submitted to the main committee of the Reichstag.

The German Kaiser may conquer the world but even the God of War cannot withstand a discharge of little old Cupid's amorous arrows.

Very happily some of the fellows at the top of the ladder in this country have awakened to the importance of letting the little fellows know just why Uncle Sam has taken up the task of war with Germany. They have seen the lack of enthusiasm among many of our people in the prosecution of the aims of the government; and they know full well that no people can fight freely and zealously and efficiently unless they know why they fight, and believe in their own hearts that the cause is honest and worthy.

For the men who know why the United States is at war and feel conscientously that our men can afford to lay down their lives for the cause, it may seem rediculous that others in our country do not see these things and realize them as they themselves do. But this condition should not breed disgust for those who know. It should inspire them to make every other citizen in the country also see our situation in the proper light. They should not question the patriotism of the man who does not understand the underlying causes of the war There are few men among us who would not die for the country even if he is convinced that to die is the rendering of a worthy service to a worthy cause.

The Louisville Courier-Journal advances the idea that a speaking campaign should be inaugurated, and properly informed men from among those who know why the United States is at war, and feel and realize that we are justified in our aims, be sent abroad over the land to talk to the people in campaign stump style about the situation. In this way, it is believed that the people may be shown that they are justified in waging war for the causes maintained by our government. In the same suggestion, Col. Watterson's paper names Col. Roosevelt as a most appropriate man to put on the list of so-called informers.

But our friend, the Birmingham News pops up at once to say that Col. Roosevelt might do good in some parts of the country, but he would be hopeless in the South.

We are of the opinion that it is the denial of such influence as that of Roosevelt that has put us into such apathy on many of the live issues. We know there are people in the South that do not like Roosevelt; and right in those very people you will find plenty of them who do not like to fight this war with Germany. If more of the people of this country were imbued with Roosevelt's spirit of nationalism we would not have so many who are "slack" upon the subject of this war with Germany.

It is strange that placement cannot be found for the responsibility of conditions reported by the Grnd Jury at the county poor house. In fact the grand jury are the only ones who assert that conditions up there are and have been so bad. We have been unable to find anybody else who concurs exactly in the things which are reported. But we do not understand how it could be that the Grand Jury would report conditions that do not exist. Then too if they do or did exist, as is reported, somebody must certainly be responsible for such a negligence. Now if the poor house has not been managed properly, it is not a very big job to see that it is done properly. The law is very plain and explicit, and there is no excuse for any complexity to arise in the administration of it. It would be well for all concerned with the matter in any way to stop trying to lay some blame on somebody else for the alleged conditions, and on the other hand, exert every possible effort toward the welfare of those poor old unfortunate souls who are there and dependent upon the mercies of the county for their little remaining portion of life and happiness.

That meeting of farmers here next Saturday is the biggest thing that has happened here in many a day. The formation of a Protective league here among the farmers for the successful marketing of their crops is going to be a neucleus around which will be built a state-wide organization of the same purpose. Next week similar meetings to the one at Clanton Saturday will be held in other counties of the State, and the work of the League will be launched in full swing. Chilton should pride herself in having the honor of being the first county in the state to organize her farmers for this splendid work. The cause which prompts us in beginning this work is a just one. We must follow it with all the zeal that we possess. It is worth the while of everyone, and we cannot hesitate. All farmers are invited and urged to come in and take part. It is an effort for the welfare of the farmer, and no one else will have a say-so about what shall be done.

Everybody around here knows Hon. Jos. O. Thompson. He has been here on a number of occasions and has spoken to the people here a number of times. He is a man who figures closely on the farmer's situation and calculates wisely the destiny that awaits the man between the plow handles. He is coming here Saturday in the interest of the farmers and it is good for us. He wants to speak to every farmer in the county. Everyone of us need the things he is to say. Don't fail to come. You will be amply repaid.

Jobson System Being Brought To This County

Prominent Firms And Citizens Are Interested In Method To Increase Food Crop—Local Dealers Praised By Atlanta Official.

One of the most important announcements we've had the good luck to make to the farmers of this county in a good many years is just this: the Jobson System of common sense farming is coming to this county—and coming to stay. What this means in the way of a crop increase next year will be perfectly plain even before the next crop is gathered, for good healthy corn and oats and grass don't wait till the harvest to let you know when it's been treated right.

Too much can't be said for this system and John B. Jobson's remarkable plow which has already done so much for other sections of the South. To sum it up briefly, this plow cheapens the process of deep tilling and places the benefits of the most improved methods within the reach of the "one hoss" farmer as well as the big planter.

Realizing this, a number of the best and most progressive merchants in our county have gone into the work of securing these plows and giving out information about the Jobson methods. These gentlemen are well known and their interest in bringing this benefit to the communities they serve will be appreciated by every man, woman and child who realizes just what this thing is going to mean to us.

Referring to our local agencies, Maj. Jno. W. Norwood, manager of the Atlanta office of the Jobson Plow Co., said, a few days ago:

"These men are a credit to this section. They're the only kind of agents we appoint, because we must have men with broad ideas of service. Officials and members of Boards of Trade in other sections are becoming enthusiastic over the Jobson System and are helping to spread it among their people, and you have here just as patriotic men and women as may be found on the face of the earth.

"Selling a few plows is not the big idea about our work," he continued. "The Big Idea is that of bringing the gospel of deep plowing and simpler and better paying methods to the great mass of farmers who have not been able to see its practicability and have not had the means to purchase expensive outfits. We and these dealers in your county are 'doing out bit' and we're going to do a big thing right here in the matter of crop increase."

Among other things, the Jobson agents mentioned below are giving out free to all who call for them copies of the little booklet entitled "The Common Sense of Deep Plowing and Bigger Profits on the Farm." This contains full particulars of the famous Jobson System and has more good, hard common sense about plowing in it than anything that's been published since the Civil war.

The State Commissioner of Agriculture, Hon. James D. Price, of Georgia, said this about the book: "I wish every former in Georgia would get a copy and read it." It has also been commended by as high authority as Hon. F. J. Merriam, editor of the Southern Ruralist, and writer for at least a million Southern farmers.

These agencies also give out copies of the new farm paper published by the System. They can be had freely for the asking, but none will be given away to those who do not ask.

Following are Jobson System agents in this county to whom the Atlanta official was referring, and who are glad to serve the people with full and complete information:

Downs Hardwars Co., of Clanton, McSwain Mercantile Co., of Cooper, Jemison Hardware Co., of Jemison, Gulledge Bros., of Verbena.

SOME PRACTICAL ECONOMICS

The Raleigh, North Carolina, News and Observer publishes a column-long article on the soy bean industry, and says that soy beans are now grown successfully in every county of that state. It also makes the comment that 19,000,000 gallons of soy bean oil were imported into this country last year from Asia. We would suggest that the good people of North Carolina communicate these facts to Sentor Simmons of that state, who is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and, as such, is the principal factor in the making of a tariff law. Notwithstanding the fact that a tariff bill must originate in the House, its most important features are sometimes determined by the Senate. We would also suggest that those people in North Carolina who want to see North Carolina's soy bean oil substituted in our home markets for the product of Asia, write a letter to the Tariff Commission, which just now has not very much to do and indicate to that commission their views upon the desirability of a protective tariff which would discourage the purchase of the products of Japan and China.

HONOR TO A HERO

In the midst of our hurried preparation for participation in the war, it might not be wasted effort to stop long enough to pay the fitting tribute to one of the heroes who has recently passed to the freat beyond. General Frederick Funston is one of the great characters in American military history. He was a hero whose merits achieve no less recognition than that given to such men as Jackson, Sherman and other well known heroes of previous wars. A liberal provision made now for the erection of a suitable statue to General Funston would do much to stimulate those whom we are now sending to the trenches in Europe. We must not send our boys across the ocean with the impression that republics are ungrateful.

THE FARMER HAS DONE WHAT UNCLE SAM ASKED OF HIM

September 5th, 1917.—

"Mr. J. A. Wade
Commissioner of Agruculture,
Montgomery, Ala.

"My Dear Mr. Wade:

"I have read with a great deal of interest your letter to the farmers, urging them to plant more wheat, and urging them to help in this great struggle.

"The frmer is very ready to do his part, but is he getting a square deal? Last year about this time, the bankers, the government, and through you the state, were urging the farmers to plant food crops. President Wilson said that the man who planted food crops was doing a greater work than the man in the trenches. This was true, and the farmers went to work as I had never seen them before and they have produced enough food to lant them for two years. This is enough to last the entire state for 16 months. They made this crop under adverse circumstances, as you know. To start with ,we had a very late spring, and many of us had to plant our corn over three times and had to pay three prices for our seed corn, but we determined to win and let nothing come between us and our duty, believing that the government, the bankers, and the president would assist us in getting a fair price for our products. Are they doing it? Please put your ear to the ground and listen and see if it is not a fact that the speculator and manipulator are planning to force the farmer to dispose of his crop at less than cost of production.

"Our food commissioner tells the farmer to hold his corn until next summer when he can sell it for a fair price. Does he know that 80 per cent. of the farmers started this crop financially embarassed and that they had to borrow money from the banks and make their notes payable in October, November and December? If you are not aware of this investigate the records of the county court houses.

"The banker says: 'If you want to keep your credit good, pay your debts promptly.' The banker knows that the farmer has no way to pay his debts except by the sale of his farm products. These products cost the farmer more to produce them than ever before; his horse feed cost him three times the usual price, every pound of meat, lard, sugar, and flour, cost him the same in proportion. In fact, everything necessary to preserve life, except air and water, has cost him three times the usual price.

"We were forced to pay $2.65 per bushel for meal in August, and now as we are getting some of our corn ready for market, what do we find? We find that we can get ONLY $1.00 PER BUSHEL for corn in the market, which means 65 cents on the farm. Is this right, just or fair? Do you think for a minute that the laborer will remain on the farm to produce another crop? He will not. He had rather be in the army where he will get clothes, nourishing food and a salary. Those who cannot get in the army will look for work in some of the munition or rubber factories or in some of the other public works.

"You know as well as I do that we cannot count on wheat as a money crop. You know that Alabama cannot successfully raise wheat because the rainfall is too great. You know that if we get a great deal of rain when the wheat is in bloom it will ruin it. About one out of every five years we make a very good wheat crop, that is, about 15 bushels per acre, and the other years we make from 5 to 8 bushels per acre. After the farmer makes his wheat he hasn't a mill near his farm where he can get his wheat ground for toll, but is forced to sell it at a fixed price and pay the miller whatever he chooses to ask for flour. We have only a few small mills in the state where we can get our wheat ground for toll. I would not have quit raising wheat, but I had to carry it forty miles to Montgomery to have it ground and then I had to sell and buy flour. I quit the game.

"Now is it a fact that corn meal and bean meal can be substituted for flour, and is there a deficiency of 400,000,000 bushels of wheat? If this is so, is it not a bad policy to discourage the farmers by forcing them to sell his corn and beans at prices that mean starvation to him? Must these speculators always get all of the cream and most of the skimmed milk?

"Now, Mr. Commissioner of Agriculture, you know as a practical farmer that if the government will guarantee the farmer a fair price for his products he will produce these crops and you need not make any appeal to him. The government allows a profit to the munitions plants, the speculator, the farm leeches, and even to the distillers, but the farmers must let the speculators have the crops and then the government will buy them from the speculators for fancy prices.

You will see the smallest food crop in Alabama in 1918 that you have seen in several years, if the farmer is forced to sacrifice this crop, and you will see a great exodus of labor in this section.

"We want to farm—we love it; but with the army drafting our best labor, and with the government paying the amunition and steel plants so much profit, that they can pay a common farm hand $5.00 per day, how can they expect us to produce food crops?

"When the farmer can plant 5 or 10 acres and make food for himself and his family without going in debt, why should he strain every nerve and mortgage his soul to produce food for the towns, cities, and for the speculators, when they won't pay him cost of production? Please answer these questions honestly.

Your humble friend,
J. M. ADAMS,
A farmer who works 14 hours a day.

All Choked Up With Catarrh? Why Continue Makeshift Treatment?

Sprays and douches will never cure you.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing painful and difficult breathing and other discomforts. But the real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs.

This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface. To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which completely routs from your blood the Catarrh germs, for which it is a perfect antidote.

S. S. S. is sold by all druggists. If you wish medical advice as to the treatment of your own individual case, write to-day to Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. B Atlanta, Ga.

VELVET BEAN MILL, FEED MILL, AND MEAL MILL.

The work on the velvet bean, feed and meal mill being constructed by William M. Adams, in Clanton goes steadily forward on his lot in the central portion of the town.

The power machinery, and the new and old kind of rocks for the manufacture of corn meal will be placed this week, and the construction of a warehouse in a western direction to the L. & N. Railroad siding is being pressed forward.

On the question of the shipment of the velvet bean mill and feed mill Mr. Adams has received the following telegram from Williams Patent Crusher and Pulverizer Company, St.Louis Missouri:

"St. Louis, Mo. Sept. 10, 1917.
Mr. William M. Adams,
Clanton, Alabama.

Your velvet bean mill and feed grinder of three tons capacity per hour will be shipped between the 25 and 30 of September.

"Williams Patent Crusher and Pulverizer Company."

This mill will arrive in a short time after its shipment. As previously announced, this mill is built to grind in saleable form, velvet beans, the velvet bean stalks and vines, hay and corn and corn stalks. It is therefore, to the interest of the farmer to save all of his feed and forage crop and dry and house it.

It is expected by Mr. Adams to provide means of securing the daily market quotations on all products raised on the farm, and used in the household, as well as on all feed products, so that the best available market price may be procured by our farmers for the present year's crop.

TWO KILLED WHEN AUTO IS WRECKED AND BURNS.

Howard Collins and Max Quinn Dead and their Companions Arrested After the Accident.

Columbiana ,Ala., Sept. 10—Two men were kiled and two other men and a woman were injured in an auto accident Sunday night at 11:30 at the Southern Railway crossing six miles west of Columbiana when the car in which they were riding struck a rail in the track and a wheel of the machine was smashed.

The dead are: Max Quinn formerly a newspaper salesman of the Birmingham News, and Howard Collins of Calera.

The injured are Charles H. Trim, J. H. Whitten, and Missouri Broom.

The latter are held in jail on a charge of transporting and keeping for sale intoxicating liquors. The 3 were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Fulton after the accident.

The car in which the party were riding was completely destroyed by fire which followed the wrecking of the machine.

The body of Quinn was burned to a crisp and is being held here for directioins from his people for final disposition.

It is said that the car was moving at a rapid speed when the railroad track was struck, and the three members of the party who were held in jail were thrown from the machine, while the two dead men were pinned under it and could not be rescued.

Only about two gallons of the whiskey said to have been carried in the car was taken in charge by the officers, as the greater part of it was consumed in the flames which destroyed the car.

SUDDEN DEATH OF VETERAN

Mt. Creek, Ala., Sept. 10.—Veteran L. E. Bushnel, age 72 years, was found dead in his bed Sunday morning. Heart failure was the cause of Mr. Bushnel's sudden death. Interment was made in the Home Cemetery on Sunday afternoon.

SOLILOQUY OF THE SPECULATOR AND THE MANIPULATOR

(By William Watson Thompson.)

Well done, thou good and faithful farmer. You have done as you have been advised and have made the best and largest food crop ever produced in Alabama. We cannot buy and store your corn for speculation, for if Mr. Hoover and Mr. Hobbie; our commissioners, catch us, they might take our corn and only pay us 10 per cent net profit, when we are accustomed to 100 per cent and over.

Now come on, dear farmer, bring us your corn in good even weight bags, and only as we can manipulate it, and we will pay you the enormous price of $1.00 per bushel to produce this corn for we charged you three prices for your food and everything else that you had to buy. We know that it will cost you 16 cents per bushel to shuck and shell your corn, we will charge you 8 cents per bushel for sacks to put it in, the country merchant or shipper will have to have 5 cents, and we will only dock 5 cents off grades, so you see, you will get about 64 cents per bushel for the corn that cost you only $1.00.

We know that we joined hands with distillers, cornered the corn market after the corn was out of the hands of the producer, and made the consumer pay $2.65 per bushel for it. Now, listen, you give us your corn at $1.00 per bushel, and we will make it into mixed feed and meal, or feed it to hogs, and in this way get $2.80 per bushel for it, or make it into grits and get $3.00 for it. It is all clear to us now. Come on my dear farmer friend and give us your corn for $1.00 per bushel. You will only lose 35 cents per bushel, and think what we will make. Why should you have the impudence to expect cost of production; you have never gotten it. You have always brought us your crops and asked us what we would give you for them and gone on your way rejoicing.

Now, if you do not come across, we will tell Uncle Sam that you are not loyal citizens, and we will have Mr. Hoover and Mr. Hobbie fix a price of $1.00 per bushel on your corn and then we will get it. If you kick or raise a noise, we will have you drafted for the army. Then we will make your corn and beans into flour and sell it to Uncle Sam to feed you on.

Why, some of us have contributed to the $57,000 fund for the cantonment, and we might have a million dollars for this.

Be good now, you farmers, for I have seen it written: "Blessed be the farmer who expecteth nothing, for he shall not be disappointed."

A BIG HAND MADE AGAINST LAWBREAKERS RECENTLY

Sheriff Harris Lands Six Burglars In County Jail.

On Tuesday night Sheriff H. A. Harris and deputies made a haul at Jemison and "bagged" six burglars in the "drag net."

The burglars had previously raided Mr. McNeil's store, and the Sheriff was "on to them" and knew of their intentions of raiding Mr. Cooper's store at Jemison on Tuesday night, nd so he and a deputy were on guard. They arrested and lodged in the county jail, the following: Thomas Hines, Tom Henderson, Douglas Towbrin, William Groshan, Pritt Northcutt and Leon Franklin.

These burglars were "caught in the act," and they are now in the county jail "looking out."

On one of the burglars a bunch of keys that would unlock fifty different locks was found.

Sheriff Harris deserves credit for this haul, for it was made at the point of guns.

John M. Patterson of Route 2, was in town last Friday. Mr. Patterson ordered the Union-Banner to print him labels for 200 gallons cans of syrup, which he is making on his frm this year.

48 MEN WILL GO AWAY ON THE 19TH OF THIS MONTH

The Local Exemption Board for Chilton county announces that they are called upon to furnish 48 men for the national draft army from this county on the 19th of this month. The list will be made up of those of the first selection who did not claim any exemptions, with the privilege of volunteering extended to those who claimed exemption but were denied. There will be need of about eighteen men besides those who did not claim exemption, and anyone who desires can volunteer in this number, provided he is one of those of the first selection who has been qualified by the District Board.

NOTICE

I am now ready to pay all outstanding Chilton County warrants of all kinds against the general funds also against the fine and forfeiture fund.

J. BICE, County Treas.

CATTLE DIPPING IS IN PROGRESS

The Union-Banner has been informed by Mr. J. N. Dennis that the dipping of cattle for ticks in this vicinity has put on a considerable advance move in the last few days. There is a vat on the farm of Mr. Dennis a mile south of Clanton, at which over a hundred head of cattle have been dipped in the last week or so. Among those who have dipped there are Judge L. H. Reynolds, D. C. Alred, Frank Higgins, N. J. Calloway ,J. E. Robinson, and J N Dennis. In the last few days Judge Reynolds has lost two cows which died with tick fever, and Mr. John Boockholdt of Beat 6 has lost one.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to call from the walks of men our beloved and worthy brother, Albert Patterson, therefore, it is resolved that we bow in humble submission to Him who does all things well.

Resolved second, that in the death of Bro. Patterson, our Masnic Lodge has lost a true friend and one who loved free masonry, the Baptist Church a true Christian, and his community a good citizen.

Bro. Patterson was about 75 years old and had been a Mason for a long time. He profested faith in Christ when a young man and joined the Missionary Baptist Church at Pleasant Grove, and remained a member there until his death.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. M. Honeycutt, fter which his body ws laid to rest with Msonic honors.

Resolved third, that this be given to each of the county papers for publication.

CLANTON BANK OFFICIALS SET FREE BY COURT HERE

Judge Leon McCord's court commenced business on Monday morning and Clanton was crowded with visitors owing to the fact that some important cases were on the docket.

The first case called was that in which George Tackett was charged with violating the prohibition laws, and the second case was that of Perry Glass charged with the killing of J.M. Cambell, and after examination the case was set for October 13th.

Then the joint indictment against the defunct Clanton Bank officials was the next case on the docket.

Solicitor Tate, when the Bank case was called, moved to nolle pross the indictment, which virtually confirmed ll of the nineteen different charges, and after consideration, Judge McCord affirmed the motion; and thus, the Clanton Bank failure case ended.

Just what bearing this proceeding will have on the case of Dr. E. A. Matthews, who is now serving a term is a matter of future result.

FARMERS TO FORM SECRET BODY TO AID IN SELLING OF CROPS

First "Protective League" Will be Formed at Clanton Next Saturday.

"KEEP THE MIDDLE MAN FROM GETTING IT ALL."

New Organization s ito be Non-Political nd to Have Branch in Every County in State.

The Farmers Protective League will be organized in Clanton Saturday of this week.

According to information obtainable in Birmingham yesterday the agricultural producers of Alabama will band themselves together in a determined effort to prevent "Middlemen" from acquiring their record breaking food crop at only nominal prices.

It is understood that 2000 farmers have signified intention of attending the Clanton meeting. Tuesday of next week a second gathering will be held in Autauga county, and Thursday a third will be held in Lowndes. Thereafter the farmers, county by county will be organized.

Farmers Deeply Aroused.

The cause of the preparation of the farmers to resist what they term the "taking away of their products,"is said to be an alleged concerted action on the part of the grain merchants to pay for corn only 75 cents per bushel.

It is reported that the farmers of the state are deeply aroused. They are represented as keenly resenting to dispose of the record breaking crops of corn, peanuts, velvet beans, and hay only at a sacrifice—food crops which they claim to have produced in a patriotic response to the appeal of the government and agents.

Word reaches Birmingham from outlying agricultural districts that the farmers are forecasting an all-cotton crop next seasonunless the government successfully aids them in the disposition at a profit of their present food yield.

Secret But Non-Political.

Unlike the Farmers Alliance which held sway in Alabama a score of years ago, the Farmers Protective League will be non-political. But it will be a secret organization. Its members will be limited to the white men, and men "75 per cent farmers." The latter clause will be adopted to prevent country merchants conducting a little farm as a side line acquiring membership.

To emphasize the non-political tendency of the organization, it is stated that at Clanton Saturday, the farmers will be ddressed by both Democrats and Republicans, among them to be some of the best known men of the state.

It is understood the farmers will agree to hold their production for a better market with the hope of the government stepping in with aid as it has been so insistent that they raise a great amount of foood.

They want the government to care for the southern farmer as it has cared for the western wheat growers.

May Become Southern.

The prime factors in the contemplated farmers organization predict that the movement will spread thruout Alabama, and state by state, thru out the South.

They contend that the farmer cannot protect himself until he organizes and forces a natural market. They expect the government, which urged the farmers to bandon money crops, and plant food crops, will come to his assistance.

Those in position to state further plans of the farmers were unwilling to be quoted yesterday. They declare however, that after the Clanton meeting, wide publicity will follow.

The above article is reproduced from the Birmingham Age-Herald of Tuesday.

BIDS WANTED FOR ROAD WORK

In pursuance of an order adopted by the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, at their regular adjourned meeting on September 5th, 1917, I, L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate, have requested to be published the following notice:

Notice is hereby given at a regular adjourned meeting of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala held at Clanton, Alabama, on the 5th day of September, 1917, an order was adopted providing for the building or construction of a public highway from Clanton to Maplesville, in Chilton county, along or near the line of the present graded road or highway between said points.

Said road to be built by grading and graveling. The work to be done by contract, said contract to be let to the lowest bidder under sealed bid the same to be deposited with the Court on October 5th, 1917, at William Walker's place about twelve miles west of Clanton, on said road, from 11 to 12 o'clock noon. The Commisioners court will be in session a this place on above date for the receiving or the bids and the convenience of those who desire to bid on said work.

The bids shall set forth the number of yards of work each party will be able to perform, whether the same to be graded or graveled, and the charg per yard for each kind of work.

The payment for the building and grading of said road or highway to be made by issuing warrants on the county treasury, payable when the work has been done.

All persons offering to bid upon said work for the building or grading of said road, or any number of yards of the same, may deposit their bid in sealed envelope marked "Bids for County Road Work,"and addressed to the Commissioners court on or before 12 o'clock on the 5th day of October, 1917, at which time said bids will be passed upon by the court.

The court reserving the right to reject any and all bids made on said work.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

GIRL'S STATEMENT WILL HELP CLANTON PEOPLE

Here is a girl's own story: "For years I had dyspepsia, sour stomach and constipation. I drank hot water and olive oil by the gallon. Nothing helped me until I tried buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka. One spoonful helped me instantly." Because Adler-i-ka flushes the whole alimentary tract, it relieves any case of constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has quickest action of anything we ever sold. REPORT OF GRAND JURY

State of Alabama, Chilton County. To Hon. Leon McCord, Presiding Judge:

We, the Grand Jury, duly empanneled and sworn, at the regular Fall Term, 1917, of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, beg leave to make this, our final report.

We have investigated — alleged violations of the law, and have returned into your Honor's Court 9 true bills.

We have inspected the County Court House and Jail, and find both well kept and in good condition. The prisoners confined in jail are properly cared for.

A committee of this Grand Jury made such inspection of the books and accounts of the various county officers as they were able to make, and examined the bonds of the county officers. All the books and records were found neatly kept, and insofar as this Grand Jury was able to determine, correctly kept. The report of the County Treasurer is hereto attached, as Exhibit "A" and made a part of this report.

The Grand Jury is of the opinion that crimes are on the decrease in Chilton County, and that this is, in a large measure, due to the rigid enforcement of the prohibition laws, and the laws in regard to carrying concealed weapons. We recommend that in cases of convictions for these offenses that hard labor sentences be imposed by the Courts.

The Grand Jury has had under consideration cases of alleged incendiary fires, and alleged cases of purjury of witneses testifying in court. and we are of the opinion that more attention should be given to the investigation of these two classes by future Grand Juries, to the end that the practice of using perjured testimony in the trial of cases in the courts may be stopped, and that people who would burn their property in order to collect the insurance may be deterred.

We beg to report that we have, after due investigation, reached the conclusion that certain indictments should no be returned to your Honor's Court, and we, therefore beg to suggest that Otis Burns and Jim Hammond be released from our county jail. Not being able to get the testimony before this Grand Jury in cases No. 8 and No. 24, on account of absent witnesses, we respectfully ask that your Honor have the proper order entered continuing these two cases on the Grand Jury Docket for investigation by the next Grand Jury.

We find that the roads of the county have not been worked recently. This is due to negligence on the part of no one, so far as we are able to learn; but is because of the fact that the present Board of County Commissioners are now engaged in trying to work out a plan or system for working the public roads of the county. They have not yet completed the details of their plans, but we are informed that they will soon have a plan looking towards the working of the roads of the entire county, and so soon as their plans are completed, work will begin.

We cannot stress too much the suggestion that our Commisioners do not make the mistake that other counties have made, and that is that in their zeal to build new roads, they neglect the roads already built, and allow them to get in bad condition. This, we think, is poor economy and bad business, and entails unnecessary road expense upon the county.

We find that there are ten female and four male inmates in the county poor house, and two female and one male who receive aid from the county but who do not reside at the county poor house at present.

Words are not strong enough to describe the condition in which we found our county poor huse. To put it mildly, it is a disgrace to the good name of Chilton County. To find that those, who, through disease and poverty, are unable to provide for themselves, and who thus have a just claim for comfort and maintenance against the county are provided for in a manner in which a committe of this Grand Jury ascertained is horrifying indeed.

We feel that it our duty to make this report in ordert that the public may know of conditions there. Weeds have taken the place; comforts are few; filth abounds, and the food and raiment furnished the inmates, so far as we could ascertain, would in quantity and quality compare very unfavorably with that furnished our slaves in the days before the war. Medical attention is not such as it should be, and we found one of the inmates suffering from disease, her sores covered with flies, and her surroundings such that no decent person could long remain in her presence. Soap is cheap and water is plentiful, and there certainly can be no excuse for the very unclean and unsanitary condition in which we found the things.

The system upon which the poor are cared for in this county is wrong in principle, and diametrically opposed to the higher instincts of civilization. They are farmed out at so much per head per month for their clothing and food to their keeper, and his profit must come, and can come only from the amount he is able to squeeze each month from the comforts and necessities of the inmates. We learn that he has a contract to keep the poor on these farms till January 1st, next, towit: $9.00 per month for each inmate, this to furnish both food and clothing. Under existing prices, this is too little, if every cent were spent upon the inmates; but as the keeper must make his own profit out of this besides, except what he gets from the poor farm, which he receives free of rent as part of his consideration, one may well wonder how conditions could be otherwise as to food and ramient.

But there can be no excuse for the uncleanliness which abounds. We are constrained to say that we consider the present mangement of the poor house entirely inefficient, and recommend that the Commissioners cancel his contract at once, or ask for his resignation; or take any steps necessary to dispense with the services and employ a competent man in his stead.

We beg to thank your Honor for the able and efficient charge which has made our line of duty clear, and to thank our able and efficient solicitor for his valuable assistance and advice given us, also the Sheriff and his deputies as well as our Bailiff for prompt and courteous services rendered. Having now completed our duties for this term of this Court, we respectfully ask to be discharged.

Most respectfully submitted,
WILEY LITTLEJOHN, Foreman.

YOUR Railroad

THE L. & N. SYSTEM penetrates the very heart of the industrial South and its steel rails are arteries over which Southern commerce circulates to the markets of the world at a profit to the people of the South.

By creating a railroad in the South, the L. & N. affords constant, lucrative employment to hundreds of thousands of people of the South.

As the South prospers, the duty of the L. & N. to supply increased facilities increases and additional employment is afforded.

During this time the L. & N. is not only supplying good service at minimum rates, but is co-operating with the people of the South in building for the future development of the South.

The annual average payroll of $21,839,547.66 is the means of support for 30,460 L. & N. employees and their families, and is a subject of vital consideration to the welfare of the South, because every one of these employees lives in and spends his money in the South.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company is pre-eminently a Southern road: ninety-six per cent. of its operated mileage is below the Mason and Dixon line, and its interests and the interests of the people of the South are mutual.

OAK HILL NEWS

Editor Union-Banner:

We had preaching here Sunday with our pastor, Bro. Stephenson presiding.

The cream supper at Mr. A. K. Durbin's was a grand success with a large crowd. Also there was a guessing cake, which was won by Mr. Earl Cable.

A large crowd went to the singing at Geneva Cable's.

Miss Ivey Sulley spent Saturday night with Miss Gertrude Durbin.

Miss Martha Howard spent the day Sunday with Miss Ora Durbin.

Mr. Bud Williams of Bessemer is spending a few days with home folks this week.

We are sorry to hear of Vester Langston's illness.

Syrup making is all the go in this community this month.

Our school begins the Fourth Tuesday with a rally. Everybody is invited to come and bring their dinner. There is sure to be something good.

OBITUARY

Died at his home at Sylacauga, on August 12th, Bernie Cofer. His remains were laid to rest in Mars Hill Cemetery, attended by a large concourse of people. Bernie was a nice good young man. He leaves a young wife, one child, and a host of friends and relatives to mourn his early demise.

He is gone. And the natural thought is where are the dead? Holy writ answers that they are sleeping in the grave, waiting the return of earth's rightful king, when they will be called forth from the prison house of death.

We sympathize with Mr. Cofer's relatives; but let them be consoled with the thought that he has escaped probably the severest trials of earth's history, and when he returns it will be blessings untold.

SINGING AT MT. MORIAH

On the 26th was a great day at Mt. Moriah Church, near Wessington. The day was spent in singing until 3 p.m., when Rev. Abercrombie of Randolph preached to the vast audience. Prof. Milstead was the chief music director for the day, and he did his work well. The class was large and attentive. Kindness and good feeling abounded. The weather was ideal. It is a great pleasure to attend Prof. Milstead's singings.

SINGING CONVENTION

The Chilton County Singing Convention was held on the 1st and 2nd insts. at Hampton, west of Verbena. It was a good session, several of our best directors being present. Attendance was good.

Elected officers for the ensuing year: Prof. J. H. Williams of Clanton, president; Prof. J. Henry Scott of Verbena, vice-president, Z.J. Jones of Jemison, Secretary.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, a visit to the people of Hampton has been so pleasant and will be the source of many sweet memories in the future, therefore, resolved that we most heartily thank them for their great kindness to us during our stay with them. Resolved that we as a convention strive harder to grow more perfect in the divine art of music, that our gatherings may grow in interest and that our songs may be truly the songs of our pilgrimage on the way to the sweet Highlands of Heaven. Whereas, our worthy president, Mr. T. J. Jackson, at his own request, has been excused for the present from the presidency of this convention; and whereas he has been so untiring in his labors for us, therefore, resolved that we ever appreciate most highly him and his work while presiding over this convention.

The service in memory of the noble Mrs. E. Driver by T. C. Jackson was quite impressive.

In behalf of the convention, we wish to thank the county papers for their liberal notices of this session. Our visit to Hampton will be remembered with pleasure.

J. H. WILLIAMS, Pres.
Z. J. JONES, Secretary.

Awaiting Motherhood

Women, almost without exception, are prone to nervous apprehension when on the road to motherhood. A woman knows that however many people there are close or dear to her, she must face the crisis alone.

There is nothing today prepared for women at such a time that receives such heartfelt expressions of gratitude as does the absolutely safe, tried and reliable preparation, "Mother's Friend".

By the use of this penetrating massage, the expanding muscles of the abdomen relax naturally when baby arrives. The nerves, ligaments and tendons beneath the skin are soothed; the tendency to morning nausea is avoided, and the expectant mother enjoys days of cheerfulness. The nights are not disturbed with nervous twitchings and the crisis is one of great happiness and less pain.

Get a bottle from the druggist and write the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. N, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., for their interesting little book, "Motherhood and the Baby", It will be sent without charge to any woman. "Mother's Friend" is a wonderful help to nature and no woman should fail, by any chance, to apply it herself night and morning.

More than twenty men, members of ero squadrons stationed at Kelly Field, Texas, are at the army base hospital, suffering from ptomaine poisoning. They are out of danger.

CHEAP FEED NECESSARY FOR PROFITABLE DAIRYING

By J. P. Quinerly, Agent in Dairying.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

There are many factors which play an important part in successful dairying, but the most important one is cheap feed. We must raise the feed at home and feed our cows by the rule of plenty if we wish the dairy to make a satisfactory profit. Very few, if any, of the cows that we have or can buy are efficient enough to declare dividends on bought feed at present prices. For this reason, no farmer should go into the daily business unless he plans to raise practically all his feed at home. His product must be sold to the Creamery on a butterfat basis—and that means from 12 cents to 15 cents for the cream from a gallon of average milk. Even the city dairyman who receives 40 cents or 50 cents per gallon for his milk usually finds it difficult to make much profit on bought feed. The prices received in both cases are high enough. It is a problem of cheaper production—better cows and home raised feed. We must not expect the consumer to pay us a premium on our inefficiency.

Nature's feed for dairy cows is grass and other pasture plants, hence we should devote our best land and attention to pastures. Our long growing season makes it possible to utilize grazing much longer than can dairymen in many other sections. A piece of waste land full of gullies and bushes is not a pasture and cows will not produce profitably under such conditions.

Green, succulent feed is necessary all the year for profitable dairying. "Canned" pasture should therefore be provided for all seasons when field pastures are not good. Fill the silo with corn or sorghum, or both. No farm investment will pay as great dividends as a silo where dairy cows are kept. In fact many farmers who fed silage during the past winter report that they got excellent results and would not think of milking cows again without a silo even if they were sure of an abundance of velvet bean pasture. In many cases the silo has spelled the difference between profit and loss on dairy farms right here in Alabama this season.

We should feed our cows, first all the pasturage or silage they will eat; then what hay (preferably a legume such as cow-pea, peanut, soy bean, or alfalfa) they will clean up; and grain in proportion to their individual ability to produce milk. When on good pasture, a cow does not require much if any hay or grain unless she can produce over fifteen or twenty pounds of milk per day.

Very satisfactory results follow the feeding of velvet beans (in the pod or ground) alone as the grain part of a dairy ration, but it is more profitable to feed some corn meal (or corn and cob meal) and a small percent of cotton seed meal (not over one-fourth of each) with the beans. Experiments and practical experience show that velvet beans in the pod are worth practically half as much as prime cotton seed meal for milk production. They can be produced for $5.00 per ton or $10.00 for two tons—the equivalent of a ton of $40.00 meal.

Nowhere in the world is it possible to raise feed for dairy cows cheaper than in Alabama. And there is no place where the farmer who depends on bought feed will make much less than here.

Why not profit by recent experiences and "play safe" next summer and winter? Plan now for a plenty of raised-at-home feed—real pastures, good silage, and an abundance of velvet beans, corn, and hay. These mean PROFIT in the dairy business.

NEW BULLETIN OF FEEDING VALUE ON VELVET BEANS

The velvet bean is now one of the leading crops in South Alabama and is attracting considerable attention in other parts of the State. A bulletin on the feeding value of this crop has been prepared by G. S. Templeton, Animal Husbandman, and E. Gibbens, Assistant. It is issued by the Alabama Experiment Station as Bulletin No. 192, and is entitled "Cotton Seed Meal Compared with Velvet Beans for Fattening Steers."

The bulletin gives the result of an experiment to determine the value of the velvet bean as a concentrate for fattening steers, the experiment being part of the Local Experiment Work provided for by the Legislature of 1911.

COMPULSORY ATTENDANCE SCHOOL LAW OF ALABAMA

The following is a synopsis of the Compulsory Attendnce School Law of Alabama, which becomes effective October 1st, 1917:

I. Goes Into Effect. The compulsory attendance statute becomes effective October 1, 1917, the beginning of the next school year. (Sec. 1).

II. Period of Compulsory Attendance Begins. The compulsory attendance period must begin with the opening of the school unless the county or city board of education shall, by resolution, designate a different time for its beginning. (Sec. 1)

III. Length of Period of Compulsory Attendance. The compulsory attendance period is for a term of eighty days, but the board of education may, by resolution spread on their minutes, reduce the time for not less than sixty days.

IV. Required to Attend School. All boys and girls between the ages of eight and fifteen years of age, inclusive, must attend school during the compulsory attendance period.

V. Exceptions to the Law. The following are exempt from the provisions of the law requiring school attendance:

I. Any child who has completed the elementary course of study of seven grades or the equivalent thereof.

2. Any child living two and a half miles or more from the nearest public school, unless transportation at public expense shall be provided.

3. Any child who is physically or mentally incapacitated for the work of the school.

4. Any child whose services, because of EXTREME poverty, are necessary for his own or his parent's support.

5. Any child whose parent or guardian shall make affidavit before a justice of the peace that the child is without the necessary books and clothing for attending school and that the parent or guardian is unable to provide the same.

VI. Attendance at Private, Denominational and Parochial Schools may meet Legal Requirements. The law will be satisfied by the attendance of any pupil falling within the compulsory age limits at a private, denominational or parochial school for the required time, provided such school is taught by a competent teacher, and provided further that the officials of such schools shall make such reports as are required by the proper state, county and city authorities. These reports will be substantially such as are made by teachers in the public elementary schools.

VII. Formation of Attendance Districts and Appointment of Attendance Officers. It is the duty of the county board of education to arrange the county into not less than one nor more than five attendance districts and appoint an attendance officer for each district so created. The city board of education in towns of two thousand inhabitants and more will appoint one or more attendance officers as may be needed. The attendance officer serves in the district for which he was appointed and at the will of the appointing board.

VIII. County Superintendent furnishes List of Pupils to Teacher, Principal or Superintendent. The county superintendent, not later than ten days before the beginning of the compulsory attendance period, must furnish each principal teacher teacher of a rural school and the superintendent or principal of each city or town school system in his county, a list of all the children between the ages of eight and fifteen years of age inclusive, who should attend the school or schools in charge of said principal teacher, superintendent or principal. The list so furnished shall give the name, date of birth, age, sex, race, estimated distance from the schoolhouse by the nearest traveled road, and the name and address of the parent or guardian.

IX. County Superintendent Prepares the list with the aid of School Trustees and Secretaries of Boards of Education in cities of two thousand inhabitants or more. The County superintendent of education shall prepare the list of pupils required above during each even numbered year from the census booklets on file in his office. In the odd numbered years he shall prepare the list by correcting and supplementing the list for the preceding even numbered year. In order that the superintendent may properly do this work, the trustee of each school and the secretary of the board of education in incorporated towns of two thousand inhabitants and more must furnish to the county superintendent of education not later than August 15th of each odd numbered year a list of all pupils between the ages of eight and fifteen years of age inclusive, who have moved without the school district, and an additional list of those who have moved into the school district during the scholastic year, together with the necessary information about age, sex, race, estimated distance from schoolhouse by the nearest traveled road, and the name and address of the parent or guardian.

X. Teacher uses list and reports Absentees to Attendance officer. At the end of the fifth day of the compulsory attendance period of any school the principal teacher must report to the county or city superintendent of schools the names and addresses of all persons between the ages of eight and fifteen years inclusive, who have failed to enroll in the school, and, thereafter, the principal teacher shall, at the close of each day, report to the county or city superintendent of schools the names and addresses of any and all pupils between the ages of eight and fifteen years inclusive who have been absent from school for five days without lawful excuse rendered by parent or guardian.

Likewise, it shall be the duty of any private tutor, the superintendent or principal teacher or other official of a private, denominational or parochial school to furnish to the board of education not later than the fifth day from the beginning of the compulsory atendance period, a list of all children of scholastic age enrolled under their supervision and direction. The county superintendent shall certainly recheck all such lists promptly and furnish to the attendance officer a definite list of all children, subject to the compulsory attendance law, who are not complying with the law.

XI. Teacher must excuse child for Temporary absence in an extreme case of Emergency or Domestic Necessity. The principal teacher of any school with the approval of the attendance officer is authorized under the law to excuse a child for temporary absence from school in an extreme case of emergency or domestic necessity, as for example, the sickness of the pupil himself or of some member of the family that demanded the presence of the pupil. The teacher must exercise sound discretion in granting such excuse in order that the purpose of the law not be thwarted. The county or city board of education should make rules and regulations governing the exercise of the teacher's authority in excusing pupils for temporary absence.

XII. Attendance officer must Investigate cases of absence and non-enrollment and Institute Proceedings against the offenders. The Attendance officer must investigate all cases of failure to enroll in the school and all cases of unexcused absence reported to him by the teacher in the manner fixed by the county board. If no valid reason is found for failure of child to attend, the attendance officer must give written notice to the parent or guardian either in person or by leaving it with some person over twelve years of age living at the place of residence of the parent or guardian. This notice shall require the attendance of the child at school within three days from the date of the notice. Should the parent or guardian fail to comply with the law and the terms of said notice, the attendance officer must make complaint against the parent or guardian in the name of the State of Alabama in some court of record.

XIII. Duty of the County and City Attorneys to Prosecute Offenders. It is made the duty of city and county atterneys to prosecute all complaints filed and actions brought under the law.

XIV. Penalty in Case of Conviction. Said court of record has full authority to try all complaints against parents or guardians for failure to comply with the compulsory attendance statute and in case of conviction to impose a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars, and also, to commit the offending parent or guardian to the county jail for a term not to exceed thirty days. All fines go into the public treasury.

XV. Children of compulsory attendance age shall not be employed by any merchant, corporation, company, or other person during compulsory attendance period. Any merchant, corporation, company, or other person that shall employ during the hours of school any child between the ages of eight and fifteen years inclusive, during the period of cumpulsory attendance is operative, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be subject to the same penalty as mentioned under XIV above.

XVI. Teachers must make monthly reports showing pupils who have been truant or habitually absent. Each teacher in the public schools before receiving any month's salary and each tutor, principal, superintendent or other official of a private, denominational or parochial school must make a report to the county superintendent of education or to the city superintendent of schools, showing the names and addresses of each and every pupil who has been truant or habitually absent from school during the month for which the report is made. The report must show the reason for each case of truancy and absence. All cases so reported must be placed in the hands of the attendance officer for investigation.

XVII. The attendance officer, when directed, must investigate cases of habitual absence and truancy. It is the duty of the attendance officer to promptly investigate all cases of habitual absence and truancy when directed to do so by the county superintendent of education or by the city superintendent of schools.

XVIII. Method of dealing with Incorrigible and Habitually truant pupils. When a pupil has become a habitual truant or is incorrigible, the attendance officer must report the facts to the parent or guardian who must be held liable for his regular attendance and good conduct. The parent or guardian may escape legal responsibility, however, by filing a written statement with the attendance officer that he or she is unable to control the child. It then becomes the duty of the attendance officer to institute proceedings agains such incorrigible or truant pupil before a court of competent jurisdiction. Any pupil so convicted may be sentenced to the proper penal institution; if a white boy to the Alabama Boys' Industrial School; if a white girl to the Mercy Home and Industrial School; if a negro boy, to the Alabama Reform School for Juvenile Negro Lawbreakers; if a negro girl, to such custodial institution as the judge may designate and for such time as he may decide. Any pupil committed to one of the aforesaid institutions must be accompanied by a suitable person. A woman must always accompany a girl so committed.

XIX. Records and Reports by Attendance Ofifcer. Each attendance officer must keep an accurate record of all notices served, of all cases prosecuted and of all other services performed by him and must make an annual report including all the above items, to the county board of education or to the city board of education by whom he is employad.

XX. The Pay of Attendance Officer. He shall not receive more than three dollars per day for the number of days he actually works. He serves at the will of the appointing board and, inasmuch as the maximum compulsory attendance period is eighty days, he cannot legally serve for more than that number of days in a year. He will probably serve for a considerably shorter time. The attendance officer is paid by the county or city in which he is employed, and in the same way other employees of the county or city are paid. The attendance officers before receiving any pay for services rendered must file an itemized statement to the number of days actually employed and this statement must be certified to by the county superintendent of education or by the secretary of the board of education in the city in which the atendance officer is employed.

Mr. Arthur Villiadsen left on Friday evening of last week for San Antonio, Texas, going by way of Birmingham. His mother accompanied him to Birmingham where she was met by her son Reno Villadsen.

Mrs. A. H. Warren of Montgomery accompanied by her small son, spent a few days in Thorsby last week visiting her father, Mr. A. K. Horn.

Misses Elizabeth Hoopes and Elizabeth Wilkins, teachers in Thorsby Institute, attended a church rally at the Stony Point Church near Deatsville, Saturday night and Sunday.

The many friends of Robert Robinson will be glad to know that he has been transferred from Fort Bliss Texas, to the Officers Reserve Training Camp, Fort Sheridan Illinois.

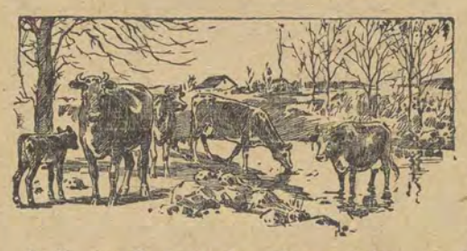
Miss Edith McCrilliss, who has been visiting in Eufaula, Ala., and Appalachicola, Fla., has just returned to Thorsby.

Miss Fae L. Smith of Marshalltown Iowa, and Miss Elizabeth C. Wilkin of Delaware, Ohio, teachers in the Thorsby Institute, for thecoming session, arrived Friday of last week. Miss Clark, who spent the summer in the Summer School of the South, and Mont Eagle Summer Assembly, arrived Thursday evening. Miss Angel, the librarian, who spent her vacation in Florida, arrived Saturday night. Miss Cyrena Slayton of Hillsdale, Michigan, arrived on Tuesday of this week.

The Public School of Thorsby opened for the session of 1917-18 on Monday, September the 10th. In connection with the opening of the school a new flag pole was raised and a flag the gift of the Patriotic Sons and Daughters of America. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. M. Graham; Principal S. H. Herbert of Thorsby Institute, who made a few remarks on the need of educated men because of the war. County Superintendent Bean spoke at length to the pupils and parents on the importance of the school work. The teachers for the coming year are, Principal, J. L. Harris, Intermediate, Miss Bertha Littleton, Primary Mrs. Alice McLean.

Miss Lois Abernathy spent a day at the Girls Dormitory last week while on her way from Ensley to spend the week-end with her mother in Montgomery. She returned to enter school on Monday night of this week.

Mr. Thos. Bosworth returned recently from Indiana, after a two-month's visit with relatives and his friends there.



Prof. and Mrs. C. M. Williams returned from their vaction trip to Georgia during the past week. Mrs. Williams was accompanied by her sister, Miss Inez Garrick, and cousin, Miss Gladys Putnam of Senoia, Ga., who will register this week as students of Thorsby Institute.

Every pound goes much farther

A POUND of old style hulls contains about ¾ pound of real roughage and about ¼ pound of lint. After being eaten, the old style hulls swell to twice the weight, or 1½ pounds. A pound of

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

also doubles after being eaten but as they are 100 per cent roughage, the original pound becomes 2 pounds—not 1½ pounds.

Therefore, a pound of Buckeye Hulls goes a third again as far as a pound of old style hulls. In other words, you only have to feed ¾ pound of Buckeye Hulls to give the same food value as a full pound of old style hulls.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls cost much less per ton than old style hulls.
Buckeye Hulls allow better assimilation of other food.
No trash or dust.
Sacked—easy to handle.
They mix well with other forage.
They take less space in the barn.

Mr. Ben Faulk, Dothan, Ala.,
prefers Buckeye Hulls to old style hulls because cows like them as well, they are cheaper, they agree with the cows, and they go farther, one sack lasting as long as two sacks of the old style.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

Reception Given in The Honor of Drafted Men

Ladies Missionary Society Receives Chilton's 48 Drafted Boys at Clanton Methodist Church.

APPROPRIATE SPEECHES MADE

The young men who were to leave Chilton County as the "advance guard" of the soldiers that are to follow soon, were recipients of the farewell tendered in their honor by the ladies of Methodist Missionary Society at the Methodist Church on Tuesday evening, which was surely convincing of the esteem and respect that the brave boys are entitled to.

The meeting was opened by the choir singing an appropriate selection which was followed by prayer.

Hon. J. B. Atkinson made a short address full of patriotic utterance and then introduced Hon. J. Osmond Middleton as the speaker of the occasion.

Mr. Middleton reviewed ancient and modern history as to notable events and the great men who participated; he spoke feelingly and eloquently as to the young men who were being honored by the Clanton people. He referred to the World War and America's forced entry into it, owing to the Kaiser's ruthless practices on the high seas. He paid a highly enthusiastic compliment to our nation and our rulers and complimented the young men who would soon join hands with the English and French soldiers in the war which is being waged in order to insure the march of a religious and moral customs.

Col. Middleton delivered a thirty-minute oration that was filled with sentences of admiration, love and respect.

Prof. McDonald spoke for a few minutes and assured the young men that they were leaving friends who would pray to God for their safe and speedy return to their homes and to their friends here in Chilton County.

The church was crowded and the audience was composed of Clanton's good Christian people, who came solely for the purpose of honoring by their presence the esteem and love entertained for the brave boys who are going to carry the flag of our country across the Atlantic and defend America't honor by offering up their own individual lives, if necessary. Clanton people who were present and assisted in their leave-taking surely evidenced by their presence a worthy recognition of the occasion.

The "honor roll" is as follows of those who left for the war:

Henry C. Mullins
George T .Tippett
Joseph Archie Jones
Charles J. Cobern
Walter M. Heaton
Willie W. Shaw
Moodie McGee
Thos. Clinton Foshee
Isaac N. Atchison

After the church exercises the young men were entertained at the Wilson and Exchange hotels, where refreshments were furnished.

Sheriff H. A. Harris accompanied the young men to the train Wednesday morning and a large number were present to bid the soldiers a heart-felt good-bye.

A reportorial mention of the meeting would be incomplete without a mention of the young ladies, Misses Lane and Harper, who acted as ushers. In fact all—audience, singers and speakers are deserving of praise for this most elegant, appropriate leave-taking of the noble young men who leave Chilton County to serve the country, and when shot and shell are swiftly hurled at them on the battle field, they will no doubt think of the dear, good people of Clanton, who with moistened cheeks and trembling voices bade them good-bye on the eve of their departure..

Again Clanton should feel proud of the occasion and the work of the Methodist Missionary Ladies.

The program, as arranged by Mrs. Killabrew and Miss Lurline Harper was exceptional as to appropriateness and rendition.

The music furnished by Dr. Norman at the Hotel Wilson, both instrumental and vocal, was of a character most creditable.

The civic improvement society is entitled to much praise for their timely attention, devotion and respect to the gallant boys, whom they assisted in entertaining.

At the train when the boys were about to leave there were several noticeable occurrences—several mothers and sisters kissed some of the brave boys good-bye.

FOOD CROPS FOR MAN AND ANIMALS

Their Gathering, Storing, Manufacturing and Preservation.

On account of the limited experience of the Editor of this paper, it probably does not seem fitting that he should attempt to advise the expert and experienced farmer on the methods of gathering, storing, manufacturing and preserving his crops. However, it would not be amiss to call attention to the fact that it will be much to the interest of our farmers to gather all of their grain, such as corn on the ear, velvet beans and soy beans in the pod, in-so-far as possible. Where this method of gathering and saving is not possible then it would be to the interest of our farmers to gather as hay or forage all velvet bean vines, with the beans on them, all hay and all corn stalks and store them in a place where they will dry, if possible.

All such forage products and grain can be manufactured into a mixed feed of the highest food value for animals, on the bean mill and food crusher being constructed by Mr. W. M. Adams at Clanton. This mill will turn out at least thirty tons per day, of mixed feed, such as the kind that is sold and bought at the feed stores in our midst. This Williams mill is guaranteed to mix in the fine form of meal, all hay, corn salks, bean vines, the ear corn and shuck and the velvet beans. It, therefore, is of the utmost interest to our farmers to gather and save every product on their farm this year, so that as it is needed for home consumption, or for sale, when the market price justifies selling, they can place their product in manufactured form which will give it the highest feeding value, or increase its market value.

Mr. Adams informs us that in a short time he will install a flour mill of twenty-five barrels daily capacity, to do some of this year's wheat grinding and to take care of the next years crop of wheat.

This business enterprise located centrally in Clanton will be of much benefit to the farmer and general public.

L. J. DUNCAN DIED SUDDENLY EARLY MONDAY MORNING

Prominent Citizen and Business Man of Clanton Succumbs to Instant Stroke.

About nine o'clock Monday morning sudden death ocurred to Mr. L. J. Duncan, one of Clanton's foremost citizens and business men.

He came down to his place of business as he was always accustomed to do, in ordinarily good health. He went directly to work at his business, and as he was at work about nine o'clock a severe pain seized him in his head.

A few customers and friends were in his garage when he was stricken, and they immediately called in Drs. Hayes, Gragg and Downs. They made every effort to revive the man but to no avail. His pain grew more severe until about twenty minutes he was unconscious, and death relieved him. Mrs. Duncan and his children were brought to his side as quickly as they could, but he was past speech or recognition when they arrived.

Mr. Duncan seemed to realize from the moment the pain seized him that death was certain. He expressed himself as knowing that it meant death, and gave those present his dying message to his wife.

For a number of years Mr. Duncan has been conducting an automobile business in Clanton, and had become the friend of many people all over the county. He had made himslef a splendid reputation here. His sudden death came as a shock to the people of the town.

He leaves a wife and three children, who have the sincerest sympathy of their many friends.

Funeral services were held at the family residence on Tuesday afternoon, after which interment was made in the Clanton cemetery.

Omar L. Reynolds, son of Judge L. H. Reynolds is again at the University of Alabama.

Miss Kathleen Mullins leaves today for Shorta College, at Rome, Ga.

FARMERS PROTECTIVE LEAGUE OF THE STATE OF ALABAMA

Permanent Agricultural Organization Formed, with Interest Directed Mainly toward Properly Marketing and Disposing of Products of the Farm.

The Organization was made Statewide, and the Officers Were Elected. Local Leagues to be Formed in Every County in the State.

Pursuant to the call recently made by Judge L. H. Reynolds at the instigation of Hon. Jos. O. Thompson of Birmingham, a large number of Farmers of Chilton and adjoining counties met at the court house in Clanton last Saturday, interested in the subject of successful marketing of farm products.

At the appointed hour Judge Reynolds called the house to order and entered a motion that Mr. Thompson act as Chairman of the meeting. The suggestion was approved by the audience, whereupon Mr. Thompson came forward and presided. Before taking his chair Mr. Thompson addressed the meeting with a few of the most forceful remarks in touch with the conditions confronting the Southern farmers of to-day. His broad knowledge of agricultural conditions, obtained by wide observation and careful aplication, made it possible for him to present the brief summing up of the facts of the case clear and to the point; in fact he did, as one would say, tell "the whole thing in a nut shell."

Mr. Thompson was followed with an address by Hon. Emmett A. Jones, formerly the man in charge of the Markets and Immigration Bureau of the Department of Agriculture of the State of Alabama. The things which he said were very conclusive indeed, showing strngth and cleverness. Mr. Jones is heartily in sympathy with the farmers, and he desires above all else, to have it brought about in some way for the producers to secure what they are justly entitled to for the things which they are raising.

Judge S. M. Adams followed Mr. Jones with a strong plea for organization and co-operation among the farmers in order to obtain the success and recognition which they deserve.

These discussions brought the audience of interested farmers up to a pitch of mind ready for action, definite and pronounced. Accordingly a motion was carried that proceedings be entered into for the organization of the Farmers' Protective League of Alabama. All who were eligible, and who desired to join were invited to remain in the house. The matter of organization was done in due form with the following officers for the State Organization: Chairman, Hon. Jos. O. Thompson, of Birmingham; Secretary-Treasurer, Hon. Emmett A. Jones, Montgomery, Ala.; State Lecturer and Organizer, Judge S. M. Adams, Clanton, Ala.

A Constitution and By-Laws for the organization was perfected and adopted as follows:

ARTICLE I.

Sec. 1. Name—The name of this organization shall be the Farmers' Protective League of Alabama.

ARTICLE II.

Sec. 1. Object—Its object and purpose shall be to foster the organization of as many local Farmers' Protective Leagues in as many communities of the several counties of Alabama as will best conserve the interest of the farmers in the uniform development of agricultural conditions, by properly assembling preparing and distributing farm products to the end that a profitable price for farm products may be obtained by the farmers and not by the speculators.

Sec. 2. Co-operation with all Local Organizations.—By strengthen- and up-building the work of local agricultural organizations and the Farmers' Union, in particular.

Sec. 3. County Co-operation.—By bringing about harmonious co-operation between the several counties of the State.

ARTICLE III.

Membership in the Farmers' Protective League shall be constituted as follows:

Sec. 1. A white man or woman over 18 years of age, a profound believer in Almighty God, of good moral character, a citizen of the United States, a firm believer in America and American principals—and whose greatest interest is in agriculture and the profitable marketing of such products.

Sec. 2. Applications.—Application for membership shall be in writing, signed by the applicant, addressed to the State Secretary-Treasurer, recommended by two members of this organization and be accompanied by one dollar initiation fee. Upon receipt of application and initiation fee the Secretary and Treasurer shall receipt for same and forward a card of membership, entitling him to all benefits and privileges of this organization.

The annual dues of this organization shall be $2.00, payable every six months—50 per cent. of same to be remitted to the State Secretary and Treasurer of the Farmers' Protective League for operating expenses and the remainder to be retained for the maintenance of the local League.

Sec. 3. The first meeting of the State Farmers' Protective League shall be held in Clanton, Alabama, on the first Tuesday in January, 1918, and each year thereafter. At such time officers for the ensuing year shall be elected by ballot.

Sec. 4. Officers:—A President, a Vice-President, a Secretary-Treasurer and a State Lecturer and Organizer.

The State Secertary and Treasurer shall give a good and sufficient bond which shall be approved by the President.

County organizations of this Institution may organize in the same manner as the State organization and also elect one delegate to represent the county organization to the State assembly of the Farmers' Protective League.

Sec. 5. Amendments.—This Constitution and By-Laws or any part thereof may be repealed, substituted or amended at any regular or special meeting of the Farmers' Protective League called for the purpose; but no such repeal, substitute or amendment shall be adopted unless notice of the character and nature thereof as well as the time when same will be presented shall be given in writing to the regular elected delegates to the State Protective League.

The following Declaration of principles was adopted by the members of the League in session:

Agriculture was honored by the Creator when He assigned to man the work of tilling the soil.

We believe that agriculture is the most essential of all other vocations in life.

We believe that the farmer should be educated in his business. That he should know, not only how to prepare the soil and to cultivate the same, but he should know how to market his crops. No successful business man ever allowed the public to price his goods, and the farmer should not allow the speculator to price the products of the field.

The combined activities of the producers of farm products is truly an immediate necessity in order that they may protect themselves against inadequate prices for their products.

Manufacturers have increased their profits from 100 to 900 per cent. Is not the producer entitled to at least a fair and just profit for his labors? The Farmers Protective League answers that HE IS.

ALABAMA POLITICS WILL BE OPEN BEFORE LONG

POLITICAL POT WILL BEGIN TO "BOIL" BY JANUARY THE FIRST, IT IS PREDICTED BY AGE-HERALD.

Prospects Now Look Like We Will Have a Lively Race for the Gubernatorial Chair.

Montgomery, September 16,—If the stories may be believed, Alabama's political flivver will be runnig well on four cylinders by January 1. Before that date William W. Brandon of Tuscaloosa and the state-at-large will have formally announced his candidacy and started his campaign for governor, Thomas E. Kilby of Anniston will have entered fully into the fight and John H. Wallace, Jr., of Montgomery, will have started a speaking campaign which will be continious with short interruptions until the second Tuesday in August, when the issues will be submitted to the democratic voters of Alabama.

Each candidate and prospective candidate has indicated that he hopes the campaign will not be started until next spring, but, nevertheless, it is starting now, and the man who intends to be in the thick of the fight must start his maneuvers right away.

Signs during the past month have pointed to the starting of the campaign before many weeks. Just as B. B. Comer's speech in Etowah county started the fight in 1914 long before it had been expected, Thos. E. Kilby's address to the Confederate veterans at Jacksonville early August has renewed interest in politics of the 1918 variety.

New Issue In State

No one can know how wide is the effect of Mr. Kilby's declaration against the spear of Romanism, but there is every indication that an effort will be made to make the issue of paramount importance. Mr. Kilby's opponents contend that he is backed in his declaration by Thomas E. Watson of Georgia and Gov. Sidney Catts of Florida. Whether this be true or not, Mr. Kilby will find ready support from a large portion of the anti-Catholic voters of Alabama. This statement is supported by the fight in Birmingham today, one great issue apparently being employment of members of the Catholic church in the municipal government. The election in Birmingham next month, it is felt here, will determine how strong the anti-Catholic party or "True Americans," as they call themselves, are in Birmingham.

Watching Birmingham

This issue was raised in Jefferson county several months ago. It is a matter of common knowledge that one strong point against the man who became health officer last year and whose work was hampered for sometime by litigation was that he was a Catholic. The Birmingham election will be a criterion for the state.

This does not mean that Birmingham will point the way for the state, but only that the election will show whether or not the issue will be an important one in the state campaign.

Mr. Brandon is expected to make his formal announcement within 30 days. He is already a candidate and is making addresses throughout the state, mainly at Woodmen celebrations and unveilings of monuments.

Mr. Wallace hopes the campaign will not open until spring, but is ready to begin his speech making campaign at any time.

Attorney General Race

Lawrence E. Brown of Scottsboro, special assistant attorney general, is looked upon as a probable candidate for attorney general as the successor of William L. Martin. He is well known throughout the state and in addition to the support of the Martin faction, will obtain votes from those who opposed Mr. Martin in the last campaign.

Fitzhugh Lee, secretary of the state board of equalization and former chief clerk of the state auditor's department, probably will be a candidate for auditor. His opponent, or one of them, will be R. E. Morris of Birmingham. Mr. Morris announced soon after the last election and is making an active canvass of the state.

Two persons are tentative candidates for secretary of state, John Moffat, recording secretary to Governor Henderson, and William P. Fonville, state fire marshal. They have not filed their declarations, but will do so at the proper time. William P. Cobb of Tuskegee is also looked upon as a candidate for this office.

Another Big Fight.

A big contest is expected for positions on the public service commission. The story goes the rounds that friends of Samuel P. Kennedy, president of the commission and of Governor Henderson, will attempt to defeat S. P. Gaillard of Mobile for re-election as associate commissioner, contending that he has not stood with the majority in many matters which were for the best interests of the state. These matters have not been enumerated. An effort is being made to get John Gamble of Troy to enter the race against Mr. Gaillard. Mr. Gamble informed friends a few days ago that he did not seek any political office. He is now a member of the district exemption board for the middle district.

Spright Dowell. who will become state superintendent of education October 1, as the successor of William F. Feagin, resigned, will be a candidate to succeed himself for a full term. S. R. Butler of Huntsville is the only person mentioned as a candidate in opposition.

James A. Wade, state commissioner of agriculture, will be a candidate for state treasurer, while M. C. Algood, state auditor, is expected to enter the race for commissioner of agriculture.

Thomas C. McClellan and A. D. Sayre will be candidates to succeed themselves as associate justices of the supreme court. Their terms will expire in January, 1919. Insofar as is known, they have no opposition.

William H. Samford will ask for the unexpired term of John Pelham as a member of the court of appeals. He was appointed by Governor Henderson this year, but the law requires the filling of a judicial position at the next election. If re-elected he will serve the full six-year term.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

SPIES OF GERMANY SHOULD BE CRUSHED WITHOUT MERCY SAYS MRS. MATHIS

H. W. Davis, 3-1-18.

CELEBRATED WOMAN FARMER AND LECTURER DENOUNCES SPIES AND SAYS IF AMERICAN BLOOD IS SPILLED IN FRANCE HANGING WILL BECOME FREQUENT

MAKES SPEECH AT EMPIRE.

Relates Fact That Her Son Is On the Ocean Bound for France And Is At the Mercy of Spies

"Unless the German spies in America cease their disreputable operations the American people will rise up and hang at least 100,000 of them," was the ringing declaration of Mrs. G. H. Mathis before an audience of nearly 1000 persons at Empire Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mathis never appeared more deadly in earnest than when she denounced the German spies in America and advocated their rapid extermination. Her voice quivered with emotion which she held in check with an effort and her eyes flashed as she told how her only son was on the wide ocean bound for France and his life was imperiled by and at the mercy of German spies that are harbored and protected in this country.

She said that she regretted very much to say it, but that when the news came back home that some of our boys have with their blood crimsoned the fields of France it would result in wholesale execution within every state of the American union. Her remarks made a deep impression upon the miners, farmers and officials that heard her.

Represent Government

"I am representing Mr. Hoover, the food administrator, and the government," began Mrs. Mathis in her address. "I come to you direct from Washington and this, I hope, you will immediately appreciate.

"Alabama is my own dear home. I was born and reared at Florence. This is your own dear home and we must realize all of us, men, women and children, that we face a most serious war. I bring you the solemn warning of our government at Washington that because we have no armies fighting on our shores is no reason that we are not earnestly engaged in this deadly conflict. I declare to you that if Germany wins we will be invaded in 30 days. This is a fact that is known by our President, God bless him, and all of the statesmen at Washington. I hate to tell you this, but God knows it is the truth.

Spies Everywhere.

"America is honeycombed with German spies. Mexico is likewise honeycombed with these scoundrels. South America and Cuba are peopled with them. And the German Kaiser brags about the fact that he has a half million men in America that will turn upon us at his word and they are trained soliders. I want to ask you

'Editor Press—Will you please give me space to ask some smart Aleck to tell me how to get out of the brush?

"Last year the Tax Commissioners raised my tax to where I had to stop the Union-Banner and stop paying for Sunday school literature to save enough money to meet the raise. Now we have the three mill tax and that will take all I have to pay the preacher and the Press So what will I do? I must quit reading and going to meeting and Sunday school, and God only knows what the next move will stop me from doing.

"So let me ask these questions through your columns and maybe some bell weather can tell me the way out.

"TAX RIDDEN FARMER."

The fellow with the narrow ideas expressed in the above article in the Clanton Press of last week is not to be treated as an individual but as a class; as one who belongs to a particular "order" of farmers of whom, we are sorry to say, there are quite a few in the South.

To begin with we will illustrate his case by using the story of the Irishman which Judge Adams told at the court house Saturday. It very aptly applies to such farmers as the one who wrote the above.

The story is about as fololws:

An Irishman who belonged to the Catholic church became very extreme in the use of profane language. The priest reasoned and insisted with him for a long time in the effort to get him to cease his cursing. Finally the priest told him that if he used an oath three more times he would die instantly. Believing that the word of the priest was the law of God the Irishman went his way in wonder. He had not gone far before he let loose a vicious oath; in a little while another. He resolved certainly not to curse again, for he knew that it meant death. The next day he put a sack of corn on the back of his old mule and started jogging on his way to mill. Along down the road something happened to provoke him and out came his third oath with much force. Instantly he thought of what the priest had told him, and he just turned loose and fell over to the ground the sack of corn falling on top of him. As he lay there, making himself believe he was really dead because the priest had told him he would die if he cursed, an old sow came along and began to eat his corn. He raised up and said "You can eat it darn you, but if I wasn't dead you wouldn't."

Now, Mr. Tax Ridden Farmer, that is what is the matter with men of your kind. Somebody has harped on a hard luck story till they have made you believe you are dead, and all you know how to do is to yawn and say if it wern't for so and so and such and such I would do this or the other.

If you would give some good hard study to the questions that confront the farmer and make a true and honest to-goodness real gritty effort to accomplish something while you sit around and whittle and listen to some wind jammer belittle everything from the birth of Christ on down to kingdom come, you would not long need the advice of some smart aleck to find the way out.

No you don't have to quit reading and going to church and Sunday school and paying the preacher. Keep that up, in spite of all else, and it will give you ease of conscience when you are in need of consolation.

No, there is no telling what you will stop next. But let me tell you what would be the best thing for you to stop. It would be the best thing you could do to stop listening at every smart Aleck who comes along telling you what to do, and get your own head to work and figure out the best thing for you to do, and stop depending on the light and guidance that is so meagerly handed out to you by the little merchant every year via the chattle mortgage plan.

We express the universal sentiment of the people of Clanton when we say that in the sudden death of Mr. L. J. Duncan, the town and community loses a most splendid citizen. The heart of many a friend of the man is grieved sorely at the great shock of his death.

Never hurt anyone who likes you. You will discover later on that those who like you are mighty few and far between.

Some men can't keep up with the procession. And some are so far ahead of it that no one knows they are in it.

SOME POLICY

The late J. P. Morgan once testified before a committee of congress that he had frequently loaned a million dollars to a man upon no further security than his character. That seems to be the manner in which McAdoo has loaned hundreds of millions to the provisional government of Russia, taking the note of hand of the Russian representatives in this country, to whom no authority of the Duma or other repository of real power has been voted. The difference between Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Morgan is that the latter loaned his own money, while the former loans the money of the American people. In addition, Mr. Morgan's judgment of men was exceptionally keen, and whereas Mr. McAdoo is not so noted in that regard. It is possible that some men in New York have known both Morgan and McAdoo, might find other points of difference between the two.

Remember that in war vital results may depend upon small things. The old nursery story tells us that "for the want of a nail the shoe was lost, for the want of a shoe the horse was lost, for the want of a horse the rider was lost, for the want of a rider the battle was lost, and all for the want of a horseshoe nail". Don't withhold any nails, either literally or figuratively.

The case of Perry Glass charged with the killing of Jim Cambell, in the Circuit court last week was one of wide interest and no little importance. From a legal standpoint the contest was a pitched battle, with able lawyers contending against one another from both sides. The defendant was represented by Messrs. Longshore and Koenig of Columbiana, and the prosecution for the State was conducted by Solicitor Tate and Hon J. Osmond Middleton. While all the speeches in the case before the jury were of an exceptionally high order, that of Attorney Middleton for the State seemed to touch the most responsive cords in the ears of his listeners. It was a remarkable exposition of the precepts of the law, and filled with wonderful inspiration and a seemingly divine insight into the application of the broad principles of human nature in the display of personal relations, one man to another.

What the farmers of the South need at present is not so much a raise in the price of the farm commodities which the city consumers are paying, but some way to bring to himself (the farmer) these prices instead of letting the middle man get it all. The man who eats sweet potatoes in the cities of the north is paying a good price for them, but the fault is in the fact that the man who grows the potatoes is not getting the profits. The middle man stands between the producer and the consumer is causing the products to pass through his own hands and the consumer is paying him more profit than the middle man has to pay the farmer who grows the article sold. To overcome such a system as this, and place the farmer in direct touch with the consumer, and cut out so many transactions between the producer and the consumer is the prime secret in the question of successful co-operation among farmers for marketing their products.

"When your uncle Harmless gets elected to the next legisdature watch him introduce a bill abolishing most all of the Normal School districts agricultural schools and county high schools and apply the money to the common schools."—Collinsville Courier.

Yoy have gone too far with your "threats" in the above prediction of what you are going to do. You may get to the legislature, and we hope you do; and you may abolish some of the normal schools or agricultural schools; but you will strike a "knot" when you tackle the proposition of abolishing the county high schools. The latter are the best class of institutions in our state, and no legislature will have enough extremists in it to suffer these schools to be taken from the boys and girls of Alabama.

The scene at the depot in Clanton Wednesday morning when 48 of Chilton County's young men boarded the train for the army training camp at Ft. Gordon, Ga., was one of the deepest solemnity. A great crowd of friends and relatives of the boys was there to tell them good-bye, and this task many of them did with sobs and tears. The boys went away with the full impression that the hearts of their home people are with them. Everybody wishes that God may attend our boys in whatever circumstances their duty places them.

JUDGE ADAMS WILL GO OUT AND ORGANIZE FARMERS

Judge S. M. Adams, who has been elected State Lecturer and Organizer of the Farmers Protective League, is having the necessary literature and supplies printed and arranged preparatory to going out over the state and organizing Farmers Local Protective Leagues in the several counties of Alabama. He goes to Wetumpka Saturday to organize Elmore County, and has other appointments for places at subsequent dates.

MADDEN SAVED PRINT EXPENSE

Washington, Sept. 19.—The habit of many democrats in the House of "extending their remarks in the Record" on bills of popular concern, so that their ideas may be distributed free among their constituents, cropped out again when the measure providing insurance for our soldiers and sailors was taken up for consideration. "I ask unanimous consent" boldly remarked the democratic chairman of the committee having the bill in charge, "that the members who desire to speak on this bill and fail to do so may have ten legislative days in which to print their remarks." Republican Representative Martin B. Madden of Illinois was quick to object, and succeeded in preventing, with regard to this bill at least, the abuse of printing matter in the Congressional Record that has never been spoken in the House.

Last Saturday at the meeting of farmers at the Court House when the state organization of the Farmers Protective League was organized Judge S. M. Adams was elected State Lecturer for the organization. No better selection could have been made for this important place. The Judge is a man of much force and convictions, and he carries his ideas with him wherever he goes, plain and open to the world. When he has anything to say he says it. He has a lot of good things to tell the farmers over Alabama, and can help them wonderfully in getting together for the important work before them which is purposed to be accomplished by the Farmers Protective League. He will go all over the state into every county; and we commend him to the people whom he will meet and speak to. He goes out as a worthy and competent man for the administration of a profound and most laudable duty to the Farmers.

COUNTY ROAD BUILDING

You will note that the county commissioners are asking for bids on the work of building the Clanton-Maplesville highway. It will be good news to the citizens who live along this road, and in fact the whole county as well, to learn that this road will be built, as this is one of the most needful pieces of road construction that could be undertaken.

Our county has in the past few years, made much advancement in the way of road improvement, in spite of the undesirable plan upon which the roads were built—that is by the issuance of county warrants bearing interest.

In the matter of building the road to Maplesville, which is now before the commissioners, there is one feature that looks much better than the time warrants plan—that the money is in the county treasury with which to pay for the work as soon as it is done. Of course it is borrowed money, but the fact that it is secured by five per cent bonds is better than the uncertainty which inevitably hangs over the warrants system.

And there is one other thing about the present plan of the commissioners in building the highway that looks better to us than any former system that has been used in the county. The work is sought to be contracted out to men who live in Chilton County. In this way the money that is spent is kept at home among our own folks and not sent away. The money that is to be spent on the road in question, circulated from one farmer and business man to another over our county will soon be broken up into many pieces and provide pocket change for a great many of our people. It is a good piece of work to have this road built, as we have said many times before ,and it is better to have our local people do the work than somebody outside of the county. They can do it just as well.

EXAMINE ALL THE DRAFTS

From Washington comes the suggestion that it may be well to examine physically all the men drafted for the army, no matter what these numbers may be, or however improbably their chance to serve. The idea seems to be a good one. Waiting until each separate call is made is disquieting because of the uncertainty. One may be on the list with the fear that the call may come any time. A man hesitates to undertake any duty that could not be dropped when the call comes.

If the whole list be examined now, it relieves the uncertainty in many cases. A man may be found unfit and given his button, and can go about his duties with definite knowledge that he will not be a soldier. One may be found fit and subject to call. He is in no further doubt, and can arrange his affairs. Another may be found fit but not likely to be called, and he, too, knows what to look for.

The idea of settling such man's position at once seems reasonable. Get the uncertainey down to a certainty and save nerve tension of men and families. No doubt it has been the uncertainty that has disorganized the minds of the men who have committed suicide because of the draft. Have it over while the examinations are on.—Birmingham Ledger.

Some women are operated on so often that you wonder why the surgeons didn't equip them with a set of hooks and eyes the first time they opened them—Luke McClure.

JUDGE ADAMS URGES THE FARMERS TO ORGANIZE

Invitation Extended to Them to Unite With the Farmers Protective League of Alabama.

The farmers of Alabama will be called on in a few days to place on the market whatever crops they may have produced.

They have, in obedience to the universal advice of the press and of the country, diversified their crops; and as a result they have velvet beans, peanuts, potatoes, syrup, etc., and no market for any of them. Isn't it serious if not a reflection to know that the producers of the food for man and beast is facing the problem now, as in the past, of receiving a fair price for his labors, while all other businesses, without a single exception, are receiving the very highest prices, and other vocations reaping abundant profits? What is the matter? Can the men who are skilful enough to produce such a harvest not solve the problem? I believe they can if they will and will act at once. The speculator is preparing to buy not only the crops named above, but to buy the farmers' spare corn at 75 cents per bushel. Are the people willing to sit idly by and see their products that cost them $1.50 sell for 75 cents? If they are, this is just what will take place, and many other things like unto it.

We will be called on this year and next to feed a million men that are called from among us to do a soldier's duty in France. Besides, we will be called upon to feed the nations at war, who are farmers. Bro. Farmer, do you realive that now is the time for you and that this is your day; and now more than any other day it behooves you to wake up and act. Organize and do it with business methods, just like other business men, and thereby save the reward to yourself that you are justly entitled to, by placing one good business man in charge in each county, whose business it will be to put you in touch with your state agent, whise business it is to find a market for all that you may produce at a profitable price.

Let us get busy today. There is no time to lose.

PONTIFF HAS MADE LAST PEACE OFFER, HEARS WASHINGTON

Realizes that Further Negotiations Are Impossible at Present.

GERMANY MAY ACT ERE LONG

Peace Move from Berlin Before Winter is in Prospect.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Pope Benedict has made his last peace proffer, according to official cables received here today. The holy see believes the war must go on at least two or three years more—until the full effect of America's vast power has been felt and either a victory or a hopeless deadlock in the great struggle is reached.

The United Press states on the highest authority that the Vatican realizes peace or further negotiations at the present time impossible.

President Wilson's rejection of the pope's last peace offer, which rejection was approved by the Allies, has convinced the Vatican the allies want no place which will leace the central powers under their present rulers. No peace is possible, as the United Press announced semi-officially recently—which is based on mutual concessions as suggested by the pope.

Allies Have Upper Hand.

It is realized by the Vatican that the allies with America's vast resources thrown into the balance now have the upper hand and can wring from the central powers a peace acceptable to the democracies.

Any further profits from the pope would be foredoomed to failure—even as the last was—it was admitted.

Official cables today state that the Vatican circles throw out the suggestion of an understanding, at least between England and Italy, that no peace proposals eminating from the Vatican shall be seriously considered and that when peace negotiations begin, the church is not to be admitted into the pour parlers. These hints go so far as to say that Italy's entrance into the war hinged upon acceptance of this condition two years ago.

German Move Likely.

It is added that this has never been denied by the allied powers. Germany however, is expected to initiate another peace move before winter. The basis of this is seen in vague outlines of terms set afloat first in Washington three weeks ago and now seeping through the Berlin censor.

These appear to be "feelers" both for the benefit of the allies and the German people. They have been so confused in so many cases launched, only to be denied by the German foreign office when found unacceptable that no attention is now paid them.

Diplomats here are in intimate touch with the international situation and say there is positive knowledge that Germany will move again to end the war before 1918.

German Peace Discussion is Raging Unrestricted.

London, Sept. 19.—England sees in the recrudence of German peace feelers of a Russian plot that failed.

Germany now hopes to make peace stick before the Russian army, reorganized, rehabilitated and modernized by American aid, can get into action, making complete the cordon of the allies about her strongholds.

The German peace discussion is raging unrestricted by censorship in the German press. No doubt was expressed here that the greater part of the editorials and review articles are inspired.

As observers here read the signs today, Germany now sees herself balken in Russia. She fomented mutiny in the ranks of General Korniloff's soldiers when they began making alarming inroads against the Teutonic Lemberg line. She started what was extensively advertised as a tremendous land and sea offensive against Riga and Petrograd. She took advantage of General Korniloff's revolt to press her agents in the Russian army to redoubled activity.

YOUR Railroad

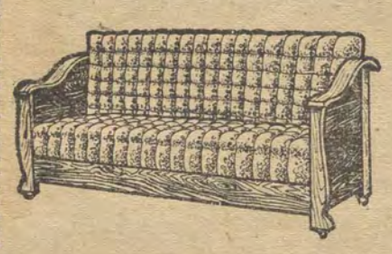
THE L. & N. SYSTEM penetrates the very heart of the industrial South and its steel rails are arteries over which Southern commerce circulates to the markets of the world at a profit to the people of the South.

By creating a railroad in the South, the L. & N. affords constant, lucrative employment to hundreds of thousands of people of the South.

As the South prospers, the duty of the L. & N. to supply increased facilities increases and additional employment is afforded.

During this time the L. & N. is not only supplying good service at minimum rates, but is co-operating with the people of the South in building for the future development of the South.

The annual average payroll of $21,839,547.66 is the means of support for 30,460 L. & N. employees and their families, and is a subject of vital consideration to the welfare of the South, because every one of these employees lives in and spends his money in the South.



The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company is pre-eminently a Southern road: ninety-six per cent. of its operated mileage is below the Mason and Dixon line, and its interests and the interests of the people of the South are mutual.

An Eight Year Paint Test

Mastic Paint Won Out Over All Other Paint in Longest Endurance.

In order to determine which paint would stand best the test of time, the Pacolet Mfg. Co., of Spartanburg, S. C., painted some sixty houses for an eight-year endurance test, using the leading brands.

Here is their opinion of Mastic Paint:

"After eight years we find that the ten cottages covered with 'MASTIC PAINT' are in better condition and stood the test better than any of the other paints we used. Will say further that the houses were all of the same architecture, weather-boarded with long yellow leaf pine of the same grade, having same exposure to the sun; that is, none of them were partially protected by shade trees, but fully exposed."

"We are well pleased with the results of the 'MASTIC PAINT' and can heartily recommend same to any one who is a buyer."

MASTIC PAINT contains highest percentage of zinc. It is the unadulterated combination of the finest Pure White Lead, ZINC-OXIDE and genuine Linseed Oil.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ———about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

NEW VARIETY OF VELVET BEANS RAISED BY MR. BEAN

On last Saturday Mr. Robert Bean left at the Union-Banner office a specimen of Velvet Beans which are growing on his farm this season.

The Bean's (velvet beans) are the New Osceola variety, recently introduced in this county, and are larger than the common variety which have been grown here for previous years. And one of the best features about the Osceola bean is that it is claimed not to have the qualities of stinging the flesh while being handled. The ordinary velvet bean is a very undesirable article to handle because of the stingers. It would be worth a great deal to have a variety of beans that do not sting. Samples of Mr. Bean's velvet beans can be seen at The Union-Banner office.

FEW WOMEN OF TODAY WORK BLINDLY

Used to be that daughters adhered strictly to mothers' methods of home management. They used certain baking receipes simply because they were favorites of a former generation.

Times have changed radically. Colleges and clubs have been established for the express purpose of determining just which baking methods and baking materials are best. Many domestic scientists devote their lives to research and experimental work. They are constantly testing food products. They conduct exhaustive comparative tests. They accept and endorse only such methods and baking processes as have been found superior through scientific measurement of merit. These decisions are given wide publicity. The result is that the housewife of today produces more wholesome and perfect bakings at less cost than ever before.

In investigating the decisions handed down by pure food specialists and eminent domestic scientists, it is very evident that the overwhelming majority employ and advocate the use of Calument Baking Powder. Calumet has won this popularity among experts on merit alone. They show no partiality. To obtain their approval a product must possess superiority. Calument has been granted that approval for several reasons—first because it is absolutely sure in results, never fails, and next because it is perfectly pure, leaves no trace of harmful residue in foods. Then because it produces a better grade of bakings such as cakes, biscuits, etc., that are remarkably light, tender and tasty. Finally—because of Calumet's surety and modern price, it is the most economical of all baking powders in cost and use.

This verdict—this hearty endorsement coming from experts who have proved Calumet's excellence beyond dispute certainly indicates that Calumet gives the housewife the utmost in Baking Powder value.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

The Union-Banner has direct information that ample capital, composed of interests locally and from Birmingham and Montgomery, has organized to serve the public promptly in the operation of works suitable to take care of all grain produced in the neighborhood of Clanton, and in the entire county.

In accord with foregoing notice, which has been carried in both the papers of the county, I have made arrangements to place upon my property at Clanton between the L. & N. railroad and Seventh Street, a velvet bean crusher of 25-tons per day capacity, and other grain machinery, to care for the grain crop. Ample storage room will be provided to take care of this situation.

Ample arrangements to market the product in commercial form will be perfected and daily quotations from the market procured.

The support and co-operation of every citizen whose personal and community interest is involved is respectfully solicited.

Respectfully,
Wm. M. ADAMS.

Dr. O. C. McGee, of Montgomery, Presiding Elder of the Prattville District will preach at the Methodist church in Clanton next Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Dr. McGee is a divine of great ability, having filled for a number of years prominent pulpits in the cities of Montgomery and Mobile. Attractive music will be furnished for the two services. The public is cordially invited to come.

Jobson Brings Bigger Crops To Our Farms

Georgia Boy's Big Idea Sets Farmers In Many States To Talking—Leading Men And Firms Get Behind It In This County.

That the day of small beginnings and ultimate greatness of accomplishment is not over is certainly proven to be a fact by the case of John B. Jobson, who, in the opinion of Atlanta capitalists, practical farmers and government agricultural experts, has given to the South and to the country one of the greatest inventions of the decade—one which, in the practical words of Loring Brown, a leading farmer and writer of Georgia, is "now sweeping over the South, and is going to give us a crop increase of at least a fourth."

Mr. Jobson has invented a plow—that's all. He hasn't wrought out a new rapid-fire man-killer or fashioned a model sword; but he has, it is thought, produced an idea that will make available, without a penny of extra cost, thousands of tons of natural fertilizers that have lain dormant right under the feet of the farmers of the country, but which have been so completely locked up in the soil that they have heretofore been of no profit whatever.

The Jobson System of soil cultivation and this remarkable plow will, it is claimed, open up new possibilities in soil tillage that have heretofore been impracticable and entirely beyond the reach of the backbone of this country—the "one-hoss farmer."

With its simplicity and practical adaptability to the one, two or three—horse stock; its easy adjustment to clay, loamy, hard or shallow land; its peculiar handling of the soil so that it can be worked several days earlier than the ordinary plow in wet land, and its wonderful digging and turning power which gives it more efficiency per horse-power—all of these combine to make it something which has set the farmers of this and adjoining states to talking deep plowing as they have never talked it before.

That Mr. Jobson's plow comes highly recommended is readily seen in the hearty indorsements of such men as F. J. Merriam, editor of The Southern Ruralist; W. A. Parker, vice president and general manager of Beck & Gregg, one of the biggest hardware firms in the south; W. L. Hunnicutt, editor of The Southern Cultivator; Hon. Jas. D. Price, Commissioner of agriculture; Dr. J. R. Horn, of Luverne, Ala.; R. C. Carlisle, U. S. Agriculture expert; E. G. Willingham, Sr., of Atlanta, and many others from all sections of the country.

That this plow and the Jobson Common Sense Methods have strong backing in this county can not be denied when we consider the names of the progressive dealers who are helping to introduce the plow and secure for our people the crop increase that will necessarily follow.

These firms, who are now giving out copies of the Jobson paper, "Common Sense Farming," are as follows: Downs Hardware Co., of Clanton, McSwain Mercantile Co., of Cooper, Jemison Hardware Co., of Jemison, Gulledge Bros., of Verbena.

NOTICE TO SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS

To the District Presidents and County officials of the Sunday School Association of International Work:

We find in the county, according to the last census, over eighteen thousand white people; there are possibly twenty thousand or over now. Out of this number only 2,848 are enrolled in the Sunday School—hardly 16 per cent.

Fellow workers, can we allow matters to stand as they are? Let every man double his efforts. This county must be evangelized through Bible study.

BIDS WANTED FOR ROAD WORK

In pursuance of an order adopted by the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, at their regular adjourned meeting on September 5th, 1917, I, L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate, have requested to be published the following notice:

Notice is hereby given at a regular adjourned meeting of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala held at Clanton, Alabama, on the 5th day of September, 1917, an order was adopted providing for the building or construction of a public highway from Clanton to Maplesville, in Chilton county, along or near the line of the present graded road or highway between said points.

Said road to be built by grading and graveling. The work to be done by contract, said contract to be let to the lowest bidder under sealed bid the same to be deposited with the Court on October 5th, 1917, at William Walker's place about twelve miles west of Clanton, on said road, from 11 to 12 o'clock noon. The Commisioners court will be in session a this place on above date for the receiving or the bids and the convenience of those who desire to bid on said work.

The bids shall set forth the number of yards of work each party will be able to perform, whether the same to be graded or graveled, and the charg per yard for each kind of work.

The payment for the building and grading of said road or highway to be made by issuing warrants on the county treasury, payable when the work has been done.

All persons offering to bid upon said work for the building or grading of said road, or any number of yards of the same, may deposit their bid in sealed envelope marked "Bids for County Road Work,"and addressed to the Commissioners court on or before 12 o'clock on the 5th day of October, 1917, at which time said bids will be passed upon by the court.

The court reserving the right to reject any and all bids made on said work.

Those farmers who were not at the organization meeting of the Farmers Protective League here Saturday will do well to inquire into the intents and pruposes of the institution, and put themselves in shape to reap the bnefits that await them if they will only make thep roper effort to secure the advantages.

Literature concerning the first principles and details of the work has been prepared and is now available for the public, in so far as the public workings of the League are concerned. It has been arranged—and well enough too— that the real business activities of the League be kept secret. But enough may be known on the outside to convince any very clearly-thinking farmer that it is a splendid opportunity for him to strike a death blow to his one dreaded adversary—the produce speculators.

If you are a farmer you need to look into this matter at once. You have already lost too much time.

HOW IT STARTED

Absolute knowledge I have none,
But my aunt's washerwoman's sister's son
Heard a policeman on his beat
Say to a laborer on the street,
That he had a letter just last week,
Written in the finest Greek
From a Chinese Coolie in Timbutcoo,
Who said the negroes in Cuba knew
Of a colored man in Texas town,
Who got it straight from a circus clown,
That a man in Klondike heard news
From a gang of South American Jews,
About somebody in Borneo,
Who heard a man who claimed to know
Of a swell society female fake,
Whose mother-in-law will undertake
To prove that her seventh husband's sister's niece
Has stated in a printed piece,
That she has a son who has a friend,
Who knows when the war will end.

BAKER ASKS MONEY FOR SECOND DRAFT

Indications are thrt Second Half Million Men will Be called Out in a Few Months.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Secretary of War Baker today submitted to the Senate Appropriations Committee $287,416,000 additional estimates for the army. He explained the imperative need of the money and asked that it be included in the $7,000,000,000 urgent deficiency bill.

Baker, in submitting the estimates forecast a call for 500,000 more men for the national army soon. He said "submission to these estimates is necessary to provide increased facilities for manufacture and storage of ordnance; equipment for additional half million men, in anticipation of a call for that number and in securing a supply of small arms ammunition for the machine gun, rifle and pistol practice for an army of 2,300,000."

Secretary Daniels is to submit additional navy estimates this afternoon. Of the sum Baker asked $10,000,000 is for ordnance service, covering chiefly storage of amunition.

Forty million dollars is for ordnance supplies exclusive of ammunition; $333,750,000 is for ammunition for target practice for an army of 2,300,000 men.

For the manufacture of arms, $32,690,000 is asked, and for new equipment at the Rock Island arsenal $500000; engineer equipment, $7,800,000.

Brigadier Generals Crozier and Black explained the urgency of the requests is due to conditions not apparent when regular estimates were made.

COUNTY BOARD TO NAME DATE FOR THE OPENING OF SCHOOLS

The county board of education will in the near future set a uniform date for the opening of all public rural schools in the county. Supt. Bean is now soliciting the opinions of all the district trustees as to what date will be most accepatble to all the schools. As soon as the trustees are heard from the county board will take up all the suggestions and decide on an average and select the date which is suggested by the largest number of trustees.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

(By Willus Lowe.)

The high school opened with about fifteen more pupils than they had last year. The new students are re-learning to work, and new ones are coming in every day. We feel sure that when the total for the year shall have been counted up we shall find ourselves considerably beyond the two hundred mark.

The department of music is showing up in a manner very gratifying to the management of the school.

The new departments—those of expression and practical arts, in the charge of Miss Sightler and Mrs. Richardson will find plenty of support and be a great asset to the school and the community.

It seems that Briggs enjoys being a Sophomore, as this is his third year in the Sophomore class.

Miss Sewell—Denson, will you spell altogether, please?

Denson—Yes, m'am, "altogather.".

Miss Sewell—You may stand in the corner until you learn to spell this word.

Marjorie and Myrtle were waiting until a freight train passed one afternoon when a crowd of soldiers drove up in a Paige. Marjorie got excited (naturally) and yelled, "Oh my, when is the pullman going to pass?" Just then the cab went by.

We are glad to have Miss Leona Pipes back in school again after a brief illness.

Miss Key in Chemistry class—Dick, Give me the properties of water.

Dick—If you fall in it you will drown.

Dr. Norman—Roberta, what is a tonic?

Roberta—I think it is a medicine to cure the colic.

The Senior Class is very glad to have Aaron Vines enroll with them.

Erle—I will study my English lesson if you will just give us 25 pages.

Miss Sewell—I don't have to hire you to study your lesson.

The C. C. H. S. is rough on rats.

Miss Sewell—Juilus, spell saucer.

Harold—'Wednesday."

Miss Sewell—Julius, spell soucer.

Julius—"Sacer."

Clara—Anice, what is the matter with your dress?

Anice—The front happened to be on the back.

Misses Kate McNeill and Eula Mae Vines joined the Junior class ranks Monday, giving them a total of 25

The New Exchange Hotel that is managed by W. H. Goodgame is crowded all the timeand could use several more rooms if they could possibly procure them.

Miss Beverly Hester leaves for Judson College today.

THORSBY ITEMS

The annual reception given by the Ladies' Guild to the Trustees, Faculty, Alumni and Students of Thorsby Institute, was held at Bates' Hall on Friday night of last week. A program of music and speaking was rendered. Punch was served and a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Caldwell of Pletcher, Ala., accompanied by Mrs. Pounds motored to Thorsby on Sunday last for the purpose of entering their daughter Miss Elsie ,a student in Thorsby Institute.

Mrs. H .M. Gerald and daughter, Agnes, spent Monday in Clanton on business. Miss Agnes Gerald, who graduated last June from Thorsby Institute, left on Tuesday of this week for Demorest, Ga., where she will enroll as a student in Piedmont College.

Mr. Albert Johnson, recently of Nebraska, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson in Thorsby on his way for enlistment in the navy.

Rev. Jas. M. Graham spent the week end with his family in Thorsby, and preached at the Congregational church on Sunday morning last.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McDonough, of Marvel, Ala., spent Saturday in Thorsby visiting their son, Clifford Mc, who is attending Thorsby Institute.

Miss Ella Gilbert, formerly a student of Thorsby Institute, and who now resides in Birmingham, was a caller at the Institute Monday of this week.

Mr. J. L. Johnson and little daughter, Esther, spent Saturday and Sunday in Birmingham.

Mrs. J. M. Scott, who has purchased the millinery stock of Mrs. G. H. Gerald, has opened up a millinery store in connection with the cafe and grocery store of J. M. Scott.

A number of new students enrolled in Thorsby Institute this week and others are expected in a few days.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The annual business conferences of the Clanton Baptist Church and Sunday School are being held this week. The active members of the church are agitating the matter of building a new house of worship at some time in the near future which will be a credit to the city and to the standing of the church in the county. A building fund has been started and is being added to in various ways.

The Unity Baptist Association, with which the Clanton church co-operates will meet on October the 9th at Evergreen church in Autauga County. It is expected that a full delegation of messengers will attend from here, and also that a way will be found for all who wish to attend. Some of our people favor the county association plan, such as is advocated by our mission headquarters. If all of the Baptist churches within the bounds of any given county form an association called by the name of the county, it not only locates at once the bounds of the association to those abroad in the state, but it also locates any particular church, which may be one of a dozen called by the same name in the state, when the association with which it is affiliated is named.

The Clanton Baptist Sunday School has adopted a progressive policy, it which, it is hoped, will materially increase the size and efficiency of the school. Teacher training classes have been started and other measures adopted for development under the inspiration of the deacons and church supervision and patronage. It is hoped that a standard Sunday School will soon be the outcome.

A Baptist Young Peoples Union has also been organized which meets on Sunday nights one hour before the preaching service. This is especially intended for young church members, and a course in the B. Y. P. U. Manual will be started on the night of September 23rd. In this the young people are prepared for the activities of Union work. A cordial welcome is extended to all who are willing to enter the various departments of the work of the church.

Mrs. Ben Harrison of Woodlawn spent several days with Mrs. W. I. Mullins and other relatives in Clanton.

Miss Mary Sue Mullins will enter school at the Barton Academy of Mobile this term.

Mr. Joe Kicker of Tuscaloosa is visiting his brother, Mr. N. A. Kicker this week.

B. Guy Smith is out of Clanton this week, but he is looking after love affairs this time—not war.

Mrs. Parrish of Montgomery is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. R. E. Luckie.

ROCKYMOUNT

On Saturday, September 22, there will be a public working on the Rocky Mount school house grounds. Bring your dinner and tools to work with.

On Tuesday, the 25th, the school will open with a school rally and dinner. Dr. Fielding, President of Boaz University, Prof. McDonald, Principal of the Chilton County High School at Clanton, and County Superintendent of Education W. T. Bean will be there. Come and bring dinner and spend the day.

J. B. NORTHCUTT.

Mr. Hobbie of Montgomery, the Alabama representative of Mr. Hoover, national food administrator, was in Clanton last Saturday and spoke to the Farmers Protective League in the afternoon. Mr. Hobbie expressed approval of the efforts of the farmers of the South in securing a favorable market for their farm products. Other government representatives of various branches of the agricultural departments were here with Mr. Hobbie.

Judge Longshore of Columbiana was in Clanton last week attending the Circuit Court. The Judge was one of the atternoys defending Perry Glass in the charge of murder.

Henry W. Pond and Mr. Porter of Rockford were in Clanton Wednesday on business.

Taylor Bros. are paying 30 cents per dozen for eggs, and the highest price for chickens.

THE NEWS

THE SPIES OF GERMANY SHOULD BE CRUSHED

what would Germany do if we boasted that we had a half million spies in the German empire? I will tell you. They would hunt them down like lions and they would kill them just as fast as they were found. That is what Germany would do. And, my friends, I want to warn you solemnly that we must go lion hunting. We must search them out here at Empire, in Birmingham, in every nook and cranny of America, give them a trial if you think best but hang them high as Haaman just as fast as you find them. I hate to tell you this, but it is time we were getting mad. We must give Germany a dose of the medicine that she arrogantly and boastfully gives the remainder of the civilized world.'

Facts to Bear in Mind

Mrs. Mathis gave a short history of German aggression and her disregard for neighborly relations and solemn treaties and then launched into a denunciation of the Germans higher up that take advantage of our democratic laws and hide behind them while carrying forward their deadly propaganda. She then recited three propositions that she wished every American to bear in mind:

"1. Watch the Mexican border for there is a terribly weak spot.

22. Hang the spies. Root them out Go lion hunting. Don't let up.

"3. Organize a home guard and don't let dissension creep into the American family.

"Do as Ambassador Gerard promised the Kaiser," cried Mrs. Mathis. "For when the Kaiser said he had 500,000 spies here Mr. Gerard said we had 500,000 telegraph poles on which to hang 'em.'

Mrs. Mathis said the people were wasting too much. She appealed to them to save; save and keep on saving. She impressively pointed her arm out to assembled miners blackened with grime form the mines and told them not to cease in their work of digging coal.

"For food can't be cooked," said Mrs. Mathis. "Ships can't cross the seas, machine factories can't be operated unless you men furnish the coal. Let me beseech you not to tarry. Work early and work late and let every pound of coal count."

Tribute to Coal Digger

She paid a glowing tribute to the coal digger when she declared in ringing tones:

"For every ton of coal you send out let your prayers to God be upon it. Christ calls upon you to go down into the bowels of the earth and bring out the treasure of coal that He has placed there to the end that this German monster may be crushed. It is the treasure of Jehovah that you are mining and with every pound of it you fire a shot across the lines into the Germans. God Himself will bless you in your work and oncoming generations will call down their blessing upon you if you stand by your duty as I believe you will."

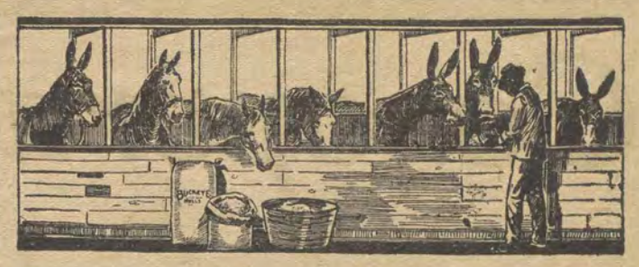
To the farmers before her Mrs. Mathis appealed that at least five acres be planted in wheat that we may have on abundance of bread for our folks and some for our allies. She advocated raising sheep instead of dogs and cattle instead of ticks. Mrs. Mathis reiterated her plea for harmony among all classes and said a united people, an earnest people and a consecrated people would convince all Germany of our intention to carry this war through.

Mrs. Mathis made the statement that the farmers had increased the food crop in this state in one year $200,000,000 through personal appeals and she was appealing to all people now to practice economy, work hard, save money and in this wise whip the Germans.

Congratulated Speaker

After Mrs. Mathis closed her speech the miners blackened with grim, farmers ladies and children crowded around her and congratulated her upon the speech. It was added by many of the men that if any German spies are caught in that section that they would deal with them without any foolishness. The statement was made that Mrs. Mathis was right in that the American people should get mad and start some wholesome work to rid this country of the spy.

Mrs. Mathis said that every mother who had given a son to the American army as she had and every person that had parted with a loved one should keep behind the German spy system until this country was free of them. She said that she did not mind so much her son fighting to make Democracy safe on a battlefield but she did not intend to stand idly by and see him murdered by an assasin in the back.



100 Spies Leave Birmingham.

Following the publication of the address of Mrs. Hathis Monday by the Birmingham Age-Herald it was reported to Mrs. Mathis that at least 100 spies had left Birmingham saying that some of the hot headed Southerners might start a lynching bee. This information was published in the Age-Herald for Tuesday.

From all indications the spy system is most menacing in Alabama as well as other states in the Union and action should be taken without delay.

As Mrs. Mathis says: "We should begin to get mad."

Is your barn a cotton warehouse?

WHEN you store a ton of old style cottonseed hulls you give space to almost 500 pounds of lint and all the extra bulk that the lint causes.

When you store a ton of

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

you give space to 2000 pounds of real roughage, free from lint, compact, concentrated, solid.

Buckeye Hulls save half your storage space or enable you to carry twice as much roughage.

Other Advantages

2000 pounds of roughage value to the ton—not 1500.	Better assimilation of other food. No trash or dust.
Priced much less per ton.	Sacked—easy to handle.
Every pound goes farther.	Mix well with other forage.

Mr. John Wicker, Forest, Miss., says:

that his first experience in feeding Buckeye Hulls was unsatisfactory as he fed them improperly. He now soaks the hulls over night, then feeds them and has very satisfactory results. Mr. Wicker states that these hulls are more economical than the old style hulls and thinks that they go almost twice as far as the old style hulls at a considerably less cost to begin with.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

UNDERCURRENT OF PEACE IS SENTIMENT AT CAPITAL

America's Sentiment toward Germany Unchanged, but Rumor Says That End is Near.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The "Christmas Bells" will be peace bells.

That sentiment, enunciated by Herr Leube, President of the German Reichstag, found a strange voice in Washington. "Peace negotiations will be in full swing by the new year, is a sentiment current in circles close to the White House.

Officially the State Department indicated that the United States had not been changed by the new Teutonic offers from her position as expressed in President Wilson's reply to the Pope.

That reply said no negotiations would be possible until a German government that could be trusted made the offer.

These two statements must be taken together to get the true significance of the attitude at Washington. It is this:

There will be no peace negotiations by the New Year—but there will be negotiations carried on under the terms laid down by the United States and the other allies.

They will be peace negotiations which will crown triumphant the fight for democracy. They will be peace negotiations that will have a more far-reaching effect on the future history of nations than any peace since the Middle Ages. They will be peace negotiations to make effective the universal community of nations preached by Woodrow Wilson.

Many Never Enter War.

There is still the amazing industry of those connected with the preparation of the United States for war. But there is also admission that the engine of battle which the United States is building may never be launched against the Germans.

"How long will you be in Washington?" a certain official here on special war duty asked today. He is one of the men closest to the center of the administration.

"I'll be here through the winter," he replied. "My job will keep me here a couple of months after peace is declared anyway."

In detail, the entangling developments of the day was the desire of the United States and the allies to find in the Teuton replies evidence of the "change of heart" which Secretary Lansing says will be the demand of Germany.

On the face of things no such a guarantee appears.

It is the same old German military autocracy which extended the right hand to Argentina while its envoy advised the "sinking without trace" of Argentine ships. It is the same old Kaiserism that gave and revoked the Russian pledge. It is the same old kultur that tore up the scrap of paper which protected Belgium. It is the same system of diplomacy that permitted Von Bernstorff and Von Papen and Boy-Ed to blow up ships and munitions factories, plot a Mexican war and try to corrupt the government of the United States while they enjoyed her protection as "friendly" diplomats.

EFFICIENCY IN EDUCATION

Efficiency is the need of the hour. We need efficiency in education as we need it in every other line, and we have only one way to secure it. That is, there must be general recognition of the fact that teaching is a profession that requires skill, trained workers; and there must be schools where prospective teachers may become skilled and trained; and there must be a refusal to accept any teacher who is not skilled.

To give this training, to make for efficiency, Alabama maintains four class A normal schools. They stand preeminently for efficiency in education. They give the prospective teacher an opportunity to become skilled and trained. To these schools Alabama looks for teachers who are efficient and who will be exponents of efficiency in education. To them, county superintendents of education and school boards are applying for men and women who are really qualified to teach. Through them Alabama is steadily gaining in her endeavor for efficiency in education.

These schools are now kept open for service twelve months in each year.

These schools are located at Florence, Jacksonville, Livingston and Troy.

Dudley Smith of Rome, Ga., writes the Editor of the Union-Banner that he has got him a new auto, and intends to come over to Clanton this week—about Thursday, and spend a while. We just put this local in as a warning to some young fellows of the society circle, for when J. D. gets here with his car he is going to put somebody on the faded list. He is bad enough without an auto. So you may know if he has got one of these things he will be some "bug" when he gets back home.

EIGHTY-ONE VETERANS NOW AT THE OLD SOLDIERS HOME

Mountain Creek, Ala., Sept 26—There are now 81 men at the Alabama Old Soldiers Home near Mt. Creek, and their ages are from 71 to 91 years. One man is seventy, seven men seventy-one, nine men seventy-two, twelve men seventy-three, seven men seventy-four, ten men seventy-five, five men seventy-six, five men seventy-seven, four men seventy-eight, five men seventy-nine, three men eighty, three men eighty-one, two men eighty-three, one man eighty-four, three men eighty-five, one man eighty-six, one man eighty-seven, one man ninety, and one man ninety-one years old.

There are at the home about an even dozen old soldiers ranging in ages from 45 to 65 years.

The occupations of these men prior to entering the home were varied. Carpenters, railroad engineers, farmers, show men, insurance men, book binders, river men, merchants, with doctors and preachers plentiful, as to percentage of numbers.

These inmates are being cared for by the state well, and they are in as good health as could be expected.

Of the 91 male inmates, about 25 of them are being cared for in the hospital, being almost helpless.

Dr. Eiland, the Commandant in charge, is well-liked, and Mrs. Eiland, the Matron is mindful of the attention the old soldiers require.

U-BOAT SITUATION IS PLEASING SAYS HIGH ADMIRAL BENSON

Believes that Percentage of Destroyed Ships Now Less than Ever.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Navy experts regard the submarine situation as highly satisfactory.

Admiral Benson, acting secretary of the navy, stated today that the percentage of destroyed ships is believed to be even smaller at present than the one-half of one per cent that had been lost up to a month ago.

Ships of all allied and neutral nations are being taken across the Atlantic under the protection of warships. Ships that have come through the Panama Canal joined the fleet leaving Atlantic ports in this country in great numbers.

Submarine operations recently in the Medeterranean around Gibralter, and around the Azores have been negligible, Admiral Benson said .

There have many reports of proposed new submarine activities, Admiral Benson declared. One of these is that a huge U-boat will operate in the mid-Atlantic. The Navy Department is working upon the assumption that the recent attack by six submarines upon a convoyed fleet of merchantmen near the European coast inaugarated a new policy of submarine warfare—that of meeting merchant fleets with submarine fleets.

MEETING OF CIVIC LEAGUE

The regular meeting of the Civic Improvement Club will meet with the president, Mrs. Callen, Tuesday October 2,a t 3:00 p.m. All members are urged to be present, pay up dues and elect new officers.

The Civic Improvement Club has donated a swing to the Grammar School, and will soon place on the grounds sand piles, seesaws, slides and other life-giving and beneficial accessories.

A thorough cleaning of the cemetery last week was a notable feature due mainly to the efforts of the President of the Civic Club.

Prof. J. Leonard Harris, Principal of Thorsby Public School spent Sunday with friends here, and attended the Singing out at Friendship Church.

RICHARD HOBBIE WILL MAKE TOURS OF ALL ALABAMA

Representative of U.S. Food Director Hoover Will Help Farmers With Marketing.

With Richard M. Hobbie, Herbert C. Hoover's personal representative in Alabama, as their leader, the marketing committees of the Food Preparedness Bureau Monday will begin their week's work in helping the farmers or North and Central Alabama in marketing their crops with added interest and enthusiasm.

Mr. Hobbie has expressed time and again the favor in which the Birmingham Bureau was held by the Administration, and has become so interested in its work that he will spend the entire week with one of the regular marketing committees on its tour of North Alabama towns.

Accompanying Carl B. James, S. W. Westbrook and T. P. Hay, Jr., Mr. Hobbie will visit Blocton Monday on an invitation of Mayor Griffin. A meeting will be held there of the farmers and merchants of the community, and on Tuesday the committee with Mr. Hobbie will go to Albany on the invitation of W.R. Hall, President of the Board of Commerce. There they will hold a similar meeting in the afternoon, and in the evening will hold a mass meeting in Decatur. This meeting has been arranged by the local marketing organization, and the farmers and merchants of the community have demonstrated their interest in the visit of Mr. Hobbie and the committee.

On the invitation of Ernest Hinn, the committee with Mr. Hobbie will visit Athens Wednesday, and at that place will make up the itinerary for the remainder of the week.

Mr. Hobbie is at the head of the work of the Food Administrator for Alabama. His services are voluntary and are given directly to Mr. Hoover himself.

Throughout the marketing tour the purpose of the committee with which he travels will be to assist the farmers and merchants of the marketing centers to provide warehouse facilities for storing part of the food crops, that they may be held for a profitable marketing price in place of being thrown on the market in such abundance at this time. The conservation of the food crops from early fall markets is one of the big services the food administrator hopes to do.

At the same time Mr. Hobbie is touring Alabama a committee headed by Emmett A. Jones will visit Noville and Alexander City.

Principal S. H. Herbert of Thorsby Institute was a visitor to Clanton Saturday.

Judge S. M. Adams, State Organizer and Lecturer of the Farmers Protective League, is in South Alabama this week organizing county locals of the league. The Judge was at Wetumpka last Saturday and organized the Elmore County branch of the league. He reports that the farmers of Elmore County are greatly interested in the movement that is being fostered by the new organization.

Rev. W. P. Lowery has been elected as pastor of Friendship Baptist Church east of town, to succeed Rev. S. M. Adams, who resigned last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Martin of Jemison were visitors to Clanton on Monday. Mr. Martin will begin teaching near Jemison in the near future.

Prof. James Franklin of Thorsby was down here Sunday to sing at Friendship Church east of town.

Felix O. Dudley of Montgomery was in Clanton Wednesday.

WISCONSIN MAN'S DISMISSAL FROM THE SENATE IS HINTED

Warrant for Arrest of LaFillette May Be Result of Speech Bitterly Attacking Administration.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 22.—A warrant for the arrest of Senator Robert M. LaFollette will be asked by the Minnesota public safety commission, if official investigation reveals that his speech at the non-partisan league conference here Thursday night was treasonable, Governor Burnquist declared today.

If the warrant is issued, and Lafollette refuses to return to this state for trial, evidence will be laid before the United States Senate and his dismissal from the body be sought.

In his speech LaFollette bitterly attacked the administration for its conduct of the war, particularly for its method of raising finances. Burnquist, also stated that other speakers will be held responsible for any seditious or treasonable remarks.

Says U. S. Went to War Over "Technical Rights."

St. Paul, Sept. 22.—Senator LaFollette told a large audience gathered at the closing session of the producers and consumers conference that he was opposed to war, that he thought Germany had been rather rough with the "technical rights" of American citizens, but that he did not think the exercise of those rights in traveling on belligerent merchantmen laden with munitions was worth going to war about.

When the senator, in making his declaration that the United States should have never entered the war, sought to defend the sinking of the Lusitania, there came cries of "You are yellow " Instantly there was confusion, but above the uproar the senator shouted: "Any man who says that in an audience like this is yellow himself. I'll take care of any man who interrupts me if you will give me a chance."

A PLEASING PRESENTATION

Mrs. J. C. Jones, president of the Methodist Missionary Society was the recipient of a handsome piece of cut glass, presented by the ladies of the society. The occurrence took place at the home of Mrs. Jones, and the presentation made in the presence of members of the society and other friends through Rev. T. G. Jones, pastor of Clanton Methodist church. Refreshments were served by the hostess and a happy time was enjoyed by all present.

On Monday afternoon veteran W. W. Thrasher, age 89 years, died at the Alabama Old Soldiers Home, and interment was made at the Home Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 p.m. Veteran Thrasher is survived by three sons and one daughter.

BOYS ARRIVE AT CAMP

A card from Ira Billingsley to Sheriff Harris, states the following in regard to the Chilton boys who left last Wednesday for Camp Gordon:

"We arrived all O.K. at Camp Gordon. All the men seem to be very well satisfied, and we hope to continue so. We have a fine camp.

"IRA BILLINGSLEY."

Letters have been received by the friends of other boys who went, stating that they are well situated and getting down to business at their training.

Do You Think

Such an enormous business as we are doing could be built up and continually increased if our goods did not have exceptional value and merit? Do you think we could have the trade of hundreds of people if our reputation for doing exactly what we say was not firmly established? Just think these things over carefully and then give us a trial. We have the goods and we sell them at prices that will please you.

Give Us a Call.

POPE IS HOPEFUL OF EARLY PEACE WITH THE TEUTONS

Rome, September 22.—Pope Benedict is hopeful the Teutonic replies to his peace appeal will result in ending of war at some early date.

The Papal Secretary of State tonight made this announcement to the United Press: "The holy father regards the replies at bottom definite acceptance of the proposals in pontifical appeal. He is hopeful of the negotiations for a 'just Christian peace' in the not far distant future."

The official attitude of the Vatican it was explained, is not only deepest sophistry can stand in the way of a just and durable peace.

The United Press was informed by the Papal Under Secretary of State that the holy father "finds replies generally satisfactory."

"The Pope" it was stated, "considers, inasmuch as both clearly accept the pontifical proposals as the basis for peace, there is no necessity for a repetition of the particulars for which the press clammors."

This was taken definitely to indicate that for the present, at least, the Vatican will issue no further peace notes.

MARKET CROPS GRADUALLY SAYS COMMISSIONER WADE

Farmers of Alabama are advised to store their large food and feed crop on the farms and market them gradually, thus stretching the market period to cover six or nine months instead of three months as previously practiced. This would be splendid advice if the farmers were all out of debt and the crop entirely surplus and sufficient storage room had been supplied. Only about twenty-five per cent of the farmers are able to do this unassisted. What about the other seventy-five per cent who owe money due this fall and have no storage facilities and no money with which to buy building material for storage? There is something for the business man and banker to do. If marketing must be done gradually to save the situation for all concerned, then collections should be made gradually and extended to conform to the marketing period instead of the usual "pay in the fall" policy. It is folly to advise a man to do two things when one prohibits the other. The farmer must do his part, but he can do but little unless the merchant and banker co-operate by collecting a little, extending payment on part and assisting in providing storage policy cannot be universally carried out as there are always individuals with whom we cannot deal leniently, but to a greater extent this kind of policy can and must be pursued, if the farmers are protected from a speculative depressed market and the program of diversified farming continued in the future.

HARVESTING AND STORING OUR CROP OF SWEET POTATOES

Farmers in this county grow great quantities of sweet potatoes. They do not grow many for market and comparatively none are grown here for shipment, although there may be some shipped away from here this year.

But every farmer has a patch of potatoes which he is growing for his own home use. And there is not a problem that confronts this farmer that is of as much concern to him as the problem of how to save the potatoes and keep them from rotting till they are consumed on his table.

About as many potatoes rot every winter in the average farmer's potato hill as he consumes. This is a great loss and should not be tolerated. Farmers would gain much if they could have for sale even the potatoes that rot and go to waste.

The Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station at Auubrn has issued bulletin No. 197 on the subject of "Harvesting and Storing Sweet Potatoes," and any farmer who desires a copy of this bulletin can secure same on request to the Experiment Station.

If you have been having trouble in keeping your potatoes, you should get this bulletin, as it will convey to you the very best and most approved methods of handling your sweet potatoes. Write for it. It will cost you nothing.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Davis gave a birthday party in honor of their daughter, Miss Jewel Davis.. About 30 of Clanton's young people were present, and an enjoyable evening was spent.

OLD CONFEDERATE VETERANS ELECTED AS DELEGATES

At a recent meeting of the Old Confederates of Chilton and Vicinity Judge J. W. E. Gulledge and Veteran H. C. Roberts were elected as delegates and W. P. Thompson as alternate, to the Confederate Reunion to be held at Birmingham on October 10 and 11, 1917.

ROOSEVELT WOULD OUST LAFOLLET FROM SENATE

"I Would be Ashamed to Sit in That Body until I did this," says the Col. in Kansas City Speech.

WANTS WAR DECLARED ON AUSTRIA AND TURKEY

Kansas City, September 24.—"If I were this minute a member of the United States Senate I would be ashamed to sit in that body until I found out some method of depriving Senator LaFollette of his seat in that chamber which he now disgraces by his presence there." Col. Roosevelt declared in a talk today at a luncheon given for Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood and himself as a part of the middle western patriotic celebration of this city.

Continuing his remarks concerning congress, Colonel Roosevelt asserted that if congress had taken that action three years ago that it has since the declaration of war the war would have been over.

"If we take the heed of any peace utterances Germany prepares, we will show that we are not prepared to go out yet into the world without a guardian," the Colonel added. "America must make good the words of President Wilson (make the world safe for democracy). For this reason we should declare war against Austria and Turkey."

At the conclusion of this talk, Col. Roosevelt was presented with a gold quill with the reminder that "the pen is mightier than the sword."

"But I would rather have a sword" the Colonel said. "This is a very exclusive war as far as I am concerned. I was blackballed by the committee on admission."

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, in a speech following the former President, said: "It is utter foolishness to say that American can win the war in the air or with chemical devices. It can only be won by men and with sacrifices."

After praising General Wood, Col. Roosevelt said:

"Now that I have spoken to you of Americans who stand for and are representatives of America, I now wish for a minute to speak to you of an American who represents the worst of American characteristics—Senator LaFollette.

"Senator LaFollette is at this moment loyally and efficiently serving one country—Germany. He is actenemy of democracy. He is doing everything in his power to enthrone autocracy under the German flag throughout the world by the attitude he is now taking toward the war.

"I read a couple of days ago of Senator Lafollette's utterances before an organization out in Minneapolis and hereafter any organization that asks Senator LaFollette to speak ought to be made to show conclusively why it should be considered a patriotic organization thereafter."

MARKET CORN THROUGH LIVE STOCK

Feeding experiments have proven that corn when fed to hogs produces pork at a cost of one cent per pound for each ten cents increase cost per bushel. Pork is selling at eighteen cents .per pound and gives corn a value of $1.80 cents per bushel when fed to hogs. There are one million six hundred thousand hogs in Alabama. Every hog for the market should be made as fat and large as possible. Summer pigs may be fed through the winter and marketed in the spring to good advantage and a splendid price secured for surplus corn, beans, and peanut meal which would otherwise go on a depressed market at a sacrifice. The same policy may be adopted with feeding cattle for the market. Much corn, beans and hay can be converted into a profitable and ready market by feeding them to cattle.

MARKETING MACHINERY

There are at present about fifty feeding stuff mills in the State which crush velvet beans. If these mills run full time they can crush only one-third of the velvet beans now grown in the state. A few power corn shellers have been established but not enough to begin to handle the surplus corn which the market will demand to be shelled. There were six million dollars worth of mixed feeds shipped into the state during the present year. We have the feed material, hence the need of marketing machinery and financing to prepare it for the market.

The situation is not one which the farmers can handle alone. It is a problem of co-operation between the farmers and business men consisting of gradual marketing machinery. Time is limited and quick action is needed. Farmers, put it up to your business men and bankers.

PEOPLES TELEPHONE 96.

Write to the Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station at Auburn and tell them you want their late bulletin of information on the subject of gathering, storing and keeping sweet potatoes. It will be much aid to you in preventing the loss you incur every year from loss of potatoes due to rotting as a result of improper methods of gathering and storing.

Thursday and Friday of this week the local exemption board of Chilton County will conduct physical examinations of 115 men, out of which they will complete the first quota of 120 men for the County. This Makes a total of 555 men examined to get the 120 qualified and acceptable ones.

Last week a party of Chilton County men who are interested in farm and agricultural conditions, made an auto trip of South Alabama counties for the purpose of observing and comparing farm methods etc. They went into Dallas, Perry and other counties, and report that they saw a great many things of interest. They were particularly observant of the great amount of hay and live stock which are being grown there.

Among those who went, we remember the names of W. H. Conway, J. N. Dennis, C. B. Cox, J. D. Collins. While down there Mr. Cox purchased a couple of head of fine blooded Hereford cattle and has brought them to his farm in this county.

Somebody said, what's the use of forming another organization of the farmers when the Farmers Union is already in existence for the same purpose for which the new Farmers Protective League was organized. On first thought it would seem a plausible question to ask, but when you come to reason on the proposition you can see into the matter better.

You might say that since the aims and purposes of the two organizations are similar—of likeness in purpose, we should just let one of them suffice, and all join and work under [illegible] churches point singularly to the salvation of souls of men and women, and the elevation of morals and ideals—they all have this purpose. But we do not hear anybody saying that all the churches should be done away with and merged into the creed and plan of one particular church.

Well, the idea is about the same as regards the organization of farmers in the advancement of their interests. The plan of the Farmers Union is good and ought to accomplish much. The plan of the Farmers Protective League is likewise good and ought to accomplish much. And we should encourage them and hope that each will succeed and bring to the farmers all the good and recognition which they deserve.

Having a likeness of purpose the two organizations should co-operate and work together in pursuing their common aims.

A BIG DEAL IN HOGS

Judge C. E. Thomas of Prattville has purchased the entire herd of Hampshire hogs formerly owned by Mr. Shaffir of Alendale, La. Mr. Shaffer being drafted into the army made a proposition to Judge Thomas and succeeded in closing the 600 porkers. These breeders will be brought immediately to a large ranch owned by Judge Thomas, near Prattville.

A large sum of money changed hands in this deal; one boar being valued at $800. There is included 106 boars, and Judge Thomas intends to scatter these Hampshire hogs among farmers in Chilton and Autauga counties, and thus improve hog culture in this section of Alabama.

This is the largest hog deal ever pulled off in the South, and this section is glad to learn of Judge Thomas's big venture.

Dr. Milton P. James, special representative of the U. S. Internal Revenue Department, was in Chilton last week and took part in the capture of the biggest whiskey business that has ever been raided by officers here.

DR. HOPKINS HERE MONDAY

A card from Dr. P. I. Hopkins of Dothan, announces that he will be in Clanton next Monday, October 1st and that he expects those having unsettled business with him to come and see him on that day.

GATHERING, DRYING, GRINDING AND STORING FORAGE STUFF

Suggestions on Methods of Saving Grain and Food Products on the Farm.

The national and state departments of agriculture have recently issued statements and circulars on the subject stated above, which circulars or bulletins can be readily obtained by writing the Department of Agriculture at Montgomery, or the national department at Washington, D. C.

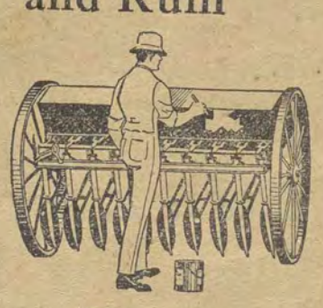
The velvet bean is the leading grain crop, which brings ready money, when manufactured into meal form, in combination with the hull. At the same time, it is of the most importance to save and store as forage, to be ground later, all forage, such as velvet bean vines, pea vines, hay, corn stalks, sorghum pummies, ribbon cane pummies and the skimming from the making of surghum and syrup. The mills of Louisiana have learned to use and are using to profitable advantage, this skimming from the making of sorghum and syrup, in the mixing of sweet feeds. The pummies when dried can be stored and ought to be stored and hauled to the mill and ground; when the pummies are placed in this fine concentrated form it makes an excellent base to be mixed with other stronger food pruducts.

The foregoing ovservations are the results of the experience of experts, who have tried out the different methods set forth in the bulletins referred to. Every farmer and person interested would do well to ask for the bulletins and act upon the suggestions. In line with the foregoing, the prompt construction of houses for the storage of sweet potatoes is of far reaching importance.

COUNTY BOARD SUGGESTS DAY FOR OPENING PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

At a meeting of the County Baord of Education on Wednesday it was agreed that the Board would suggest October 1st be the date for the opening of the public rural schools of the county. But it was voted that in no case should a public school be opened at a date later than October 15.

October the 29th was set as the date for the beginning of the compulsory attendance period.



Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Wilson and Mrs. Annie Killebrew spent Tuesday at Thorsby.

This issue of The Union-Banner contains a letter from Joseph Archie Jones, a Chilton county boy who went to Camp Gordon in the selected army last week. We are glad to have letters from these boys, and we know our readers will be interested to read the things they say.

Weber Wagons

Cheaper now than you can ever buy them again.

On account of the increased cost of all material used in the making of wagons, the manufacturer has found it necessary to advance the price considerably, and we are therefore obliged to raise our price also.

We placed an order some time ago for two car loads of wagons at a price higher than we had ever paid before, but at a less price than the present market value. One car of these wagons will be shipped in the near future, but we yet have a few on hand which we offer at the old price until the first of November, and on that date our price will be advenced according to our new cost, which will be from about $8.00 to $15.00 on the different sizes.

This is fair notice, and if you want one of the very best wagons made cheaper than you will buy it again within a year or two, you had better take advantage of this opportunity.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE

THE L. & N. represents an investment of more than $250,000,000 devoted to the public interest in the South.

During the past sixteen years the L. & N. has spent $148,000,000 or more than 100 per cent, in creating new, and improving existing facilities, such as modernizing its stations, building double track, and installing devices to increase the safety, and facilitate the operation of its trains.

The L. & N. has spent, and contracted to spend, $12,162,742 during eighteen months, ending Dec. 31st, 1917, to meet the high standards which the public demands in Freight and Passenger equipment.

In sixteen years the L. & N. paid out for the operation of its trains $559,448,992.52, or an average of $34,965,000 per year, of which $324,870,160.41, or 58 per cent, or an average of $29,304,385.02 per year was paid to employes, the average number of whom was 30,112.

During that time L. & N. passenger rate decreased 7.7 per cent and L. & N. freight rate decreased 10.8 per cent.

Every piece of construction is with a view of the South's present and future preeminence. Adequate transportation is a fundamental business necessity. The L. & N. will be able to do its full share, provided it is permitted to earn a reasonable margin of revenue over expenses. The South is equally interested.

The Storks Arrival

What a world of love the baby brings! Thousands of women for over three generations awaiting motherhood have themselves given nature a helping hand by the daily use of the time-honored external preparation, "Mother's Friend". By its regular use the tendons and ligaments are made elastic and the tendency to morning sickness is avoided. Stretching and bearing down pains usually are not felt and the muscles relax easily when baby arrives. Do not go a single night without applying it. By assisting nature, the crisis is one of less pain and danger. Ask for a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at your druggist's today and write for valuable book brimful of information, "Motherhood and the Baby". It is free. Address The Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. B, 300 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga.

NOTICE OF PUBLICATION

Notice is hereby given that Gaston Scott, whose post-office address is Montgomery, Alabama, did, on the 27 day of February, 1917, file in this office Sworn Statement and Application, No. 010140, to purchase the NE ¼ of the NE ¼, Section 2, Township 21 North, Range 16 East, St. Stephens, Meridian, and the timber thereon, under the provisions of the act of June 3, 1878, and acts amendatory, known os the "Timber and Stone Law," at such value as might be fixed by appraisement, and that, pursuant to such application, the land and timber thereon have been appraised, one hundred and sixty dollars, the timber estimated 60,000.00 board feet at $2.00 per M, and the land $40.00; that said applicant will offer final proof in support of his application and sworn statement on the 9 day of November, 1917, before Register or Receiver of the U.S. Land Office, at Montgomery, Ala.

Any person is at liberty to protest this purchase before entry, or initiate a contest at any time before patent issues, by filing a corroborated affidavit in this office, alleging facts which would defeat the entry.

GREATEST CIRCUS IN THE WORLD IS COMING SOON

Barnum and Bailey Show will Positively Exhibit in this Vicinity.

There is to be a real circus day this year—a Barnum and Bailey circus day. Advance guards of the greatest show on earth announce that this season's route carries it close enough to be visited by everybody in this vicinity. Thirty acres of tents will be set, and the big show will be exhibited in Montgomery on Oct. 18.

A wonderful new program is promised, and it is claimed that this season the monster entertainment has more and better things to show than ever before. Starting with a magnificent pageant entitled, "Aladdin and his wonderful Lamp," the circus will occupy three hours or more with events in air, on platform, and rings, and in the huge hippodrome surrounding. Not one moment will be lost in all of the spaces of the vast inclosure.

The opening feature is the first attempt at Chinese pageantry in the history of American circuses, and it has been described as the most gorgeous presentation ever attempted. The story of the genie slave of the magic lamp is too well known to need description here. However, it may be well to call attention here to the possibilities for display in coloring and magnificent settings in the Chinese locale, and to the fact that Barnum and Bailey have spent $1,000,000 to reproduce all of its glorious possibilities.

The circus program which follows the pageant, is made up almost entirely of names and acts new to the American public, the cream of all continental circuses having rushed to the big show's European agents for booking on account of the closing of the most big foreign curcuses. There is a complete Chinese circus, replete with thrilling aeriel and acrobatic feats; the famous Hanneford family, champion riders of Europe, will display their wonderful skill; Signor Bagonghi, the dwarf bareback rider, described as the equestrian comic of the century, will thrill and convulse with laughter; Pallenberg's wonderful bears will ride on high bicycles, skate and perform on trapeze, there will be more clowns than ever before, and in the menagerie will be seen many new specimens of wild and untamed animals. There a dozen of new baby animals in the great zoo.

There will be more than one hundred acts, and to name and describe them would occupy too much space.

The parade, which is entirely new, will start from the show grounds in Montgomery as nearly at 10 o'clock in the morning as possible. It will be three miles in length and there will be six bands, three calliopes and a steam piano to create music for the marching throng.

Do you think your father would be willing for you to marry me?, asked the enamored youth. He might be, replied the girl. Pa's queer at times, you know.

FIVE BOYS SENTENCED TO REFORM SCHOOL BY JUDGE

Last Saturday in the County Court of Chilton County before Judge Reynolds, the cases of the six boys who were charged with burblaring the store of J. D. Cooper at Jemison on September 12, were brought up for trial and disposition by County solicitor B. Guy Smith.

Five of the boys were ascertained to be under 16 years old, and the cases against them were transferred to the juvenile docket. Upon disposition of the charges against the boys Judge Reynolds sentenced them to the Alabama Reform School at East Lake. The names of the five boys sent to the school by the order of the court are as follows:

Howard Billings, Douglas Durbin, Willie Graham, Tom Hartman, Pratt Northcutt.

One of the boys, Hugh Brassell, was over 16 years old, and he was retained by the court and remanded to jail under $500 bond to await the action of the grand jury.

How Long Must I Suffer From the Pangs of Rheumatism?

Is there no real relief in sight?

Doubtless like other sufferers, you have often asked yourself this question, which continues to remain unanswered.

Science has proven that your Rheumatism is caused by a germ in your blood, and the only way to reach it is by a remedy which eliminates and removes these little pain demons from your blood. This explains why liniments and lotions can do no permanent good, for they cannot possibly reach these germs which infest your blood by the millions.

S. S. S. has been successfully used for Rheumatism for more than fifty years. Try it to-day, and you will find yourself at last on the right track to get rid of your Rheumatism. You can get valuable advice about the treatment of your individual case by writing to the Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. D Atlanta, Ga.

DATE SET FOR THE CHILTON COUNTY FAIR

October 29 to November 3 Selected as Exhibition Week for Chilton Agricultural Products.

FINEST SHOW EVER BROUGHT HERE FOR THIS YEAR'S FAIR

The date for the Chilton County Fair has been officially announced as the week from October 29 to November 3.

All who are interested in the exhibition of your products at the Fair are now urged to get their goods ready to show during this week. Secure a catalogue and premium list at once from Secretary W. T. Bean if you have not already done so, and make yourself familiar with the rules and regulations governing exhibitions. It is the hope of the Fair management that this may be made the most successful and most interesting Fair ever held from an agricultural standpoint.

Good Shows to Come.

It is stated on good authority that the shows which will furnish the amusement for this Fair are in a class that has never been approached by former shows here. The combined attractions are under the direction of the Great United Shows, and everyone of the many details are the fineset in their line. The show carries a 22-piece band of the the finest musical artists. The Merry-go-round is there for the kiddies. The best vaudeville shows on the road. The Old Plantation Show is high class, and is made up of 22 trained comedians and players.

See the monkeys drive real, sure-enough automobiles—something that has never been done here before.

These and many other great new features promise a week of the best entertainment the Fair has ever offered the people here before. Other announcements will be made from time to time. But you may rest assured now that the fair will be here for the week of Oct. 29 to Nov. 3

ANOTHER BIG STILL CAPTURED

The largest distilling plant ever found in this section was raided by Sheriff H. A. Harris and Deputies Gillespie and Gore, on Saturday.

The plant was located by the officers mentioned, and as it was run in violation of the U. S. government pure food law, the officers at Montgomery were notified and a rush for U. S. Deputies was made.

On the arrival of the United States officers a plan of action was determined and a raid made on the home of a Mr. DuBose, east of Clanton. Near by on a branch a most complete distillery was in operation. On searching the DuBose home an underground passage was discovered through a trap door, which led to a place 16 by 20 feet, where a 200 gallon copper still had been recently placed. Another subterranean passage had been made and pipes run to the home well where a constant small stream of water was run into the still when in use.

A gasoline engine was utilized for the purpose of furnishing power with which to run the actelyne lighting plant.

All of these facilities had been made and were most complete.

The owner of the plant and a man named Graham were on the premises, and on securing evidence, the officers pulled their guns and made prisoners of the men mentioned, and brought them to Clanton and taken to Montgomery, where they will be confined with the double charge of illicit distillery and violation of the pure food laws.

The whiskey and mash on hand was destroyed and the still broken to pieces and brought to Clanton, and it is now in charge of Sheriff Harris.

DuBose was owner and operator of another small still of fifty gallons capacity nearby, which was also destroyed.

Sheriff H. A. Harris and Deputies Gore and Gillespie are deserving of the credit for the destruction of this, the largest illicit whiskey plant as yet ever known in this vicinity.

The kids will want to see the monkeys driving automobiles at the fair this year. Prepare to bring them.

IN MEMORY

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Pyron on September 10 at 8 o'clock, a.m., and took away from them their darling little baby, James Edward.

Little Edward was 19 months old, and was a very bright little baby. He was loved by all who knew him.

Oh, how we will miss him. He leaves a father, a mother and one sister, and a host of relatives and friends.

While we mourn his death in this world the angels in heaven rejoice.

Little Edward was ill six weeks, during which time he suffered so much, but he bore his sufferings with patience till the dear Lord saw fit to call him home.

I want to thank the dear good people of Elmore for their tender care and kindness to Mr. and Mrs. Pyron during the sickness and death of their baby. May the Lord bless each and everyone of them. I also wish to thank Dr. and Mrs. Harmon for their kindness. We feel that everything was done for him that loving hands and kind physicians could do, yet all was in vain.

SACRED HARP SINGING

On last Sunday, your correspondent had the pleasure of attending the Sacred Harp Singing Convention held in Fraternal hall, Birmingham. It was a great success, spiritually, musically, and financially—all the expenses of the convention were met favorably. Attendance was large, various parts of the state being represented. Among the distinguished visitors we met our esteemed friend, Hon. Morgan D. Jones, of Dadeville. It was good to be there.

It would have been a rare treat to all our Chilton County singers to have heard the enthusiastic singing. Miss Bettie Jackson, the wonder of Sacred Song was there as one of the star directors.

Miss Heartsfield of Shelby was there, who is also a talented director. Another noted feature was the directing by four little girls of Blount County, aged about eleven or twelve years. It was a great convention.

FROM A BOY IN THE UNITED STATES ARMY

Dear Editor:

Please allow me space in the paper to say a few words. I haven't been in the army very long, but I find that it is not what it had been told to me by the boys that say it is a real bad place. It is just what they make it. If a boy is living right he gets through all right, but a boy who thinks not of what will become of him later he makes it hard on himself. You can live right anywhere you may be.

And if you have never thought of how you are living, you will think of yourself here in the army.

We have a good Sunday School at Camp Gordon. There are 3 churches in the camp, each church has Sunday School and preaching every Sunday and Sunday night. Each church receives members and will transfer them to their home church so as to let them become a member at home. We thank God for the good men we have in the camp. There is a great work going to be done here in the study of the bible.

In the church I visit we received 18 members last Sunday and we were glad to shake their hands and we were glad to shake their hands and bid them God speed in the work.

So now, I cant' forget to thank the good people and the young ladies of Clanton for their kindness and their respect shown us while we were sad and heart-broken. I can't forget you all while I live. The young ladies showed us a good time and bade us good bye. I ask you all to live a good life, and we will meet on one of God's good days.

I ask all of you to remember us while you are about your affairs and drop us a card sometimes to remind us that you haven't forgotten us yet.

God be with you,
ARCHIE JONES,

ABOUT SELLING CATTLE

Some week ago this paper called attention to the advisability of the farmers of this community having a day set on which to bring their cattle and hogs here to sell, and all sell at one time, instead of selling them out one at a time just now and then.

This plan of co-operation in selling would make it possible, as we have heretofore stated, to get buyers here who could handle car-load lots of cattle or hogs at a time, and thereby the farmers would get a better price than they can possibly obtain by selling in the old uncertain way.

One man who has property in Clanton, was talking with the editor of this paper about this subject. The man expressed himself as being interested to prepare a certain vacant lot which he has, to be used by the farmers for just such purpose, at their pleasure. The spirit of the man is indeed good, and our farmers who have hogs or cattle to sell should certainly be glad to take advantage of his kind offer, when the arrangements have been completed. Later a full announcement will be made of the details in the Union-Banner.

"Uncle" Moses Robinson of Beat 16 was peraminating around town Wednesday.

VELVET BEAN MILLERS MEET AT MONTGOMERY THURSDAY

On Thursday, the 20th of this month, the Velvet Bean Millers Association convened at Montgomery, for the purpose of discussing the problems of gathering the velevt bean crop, and the manufacture into meal form and other commercial feed of bean and other mixed feeds.

Mr. Wm. M. Adams, whose velvet bean mill and mixed feed mill is approaching completion, attended this meeting at Montgomery. Mr. Adams informs this paper that the question of markets for the velvet bean meal in its different forms was discussed by Mr. R. M. Hobbie, the Alabama Representative of Mr. Hoover, national food commissioner.

The Millers Association seems to be very hopeful that the farmers will get for their bean crop a good and constant market, especially if the beans are gathered and ground into the form of meal. It is of the utmost importance to the farmers to gather their beans and store and dry them. This adds commercial value to the bean meal. The farmers of this section and of Chilton County should consider themselves fortunate in having for their use the bean mill plant and warehouse of Mr. Adams at Clanton, which will place the bean crop in commercial form, either for shipment or for the use of the local market or trade. Every available bean as well as forage crop, such as the pea vine, velvet bean vine, hay and corn stalks should be cut, stored and thoroughly dried, so that different forms of feed can be manufactured out of it.

The Velvet Bean Millers Association will reconvene at Montgomery on October 9th, for the purpose of further considering the question of markets and other like questions of interest to the farmers and producers of beans and their manufacture

THORSBY ITEMS

A social was given by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church last Saturday night at Bates Hall. Misses Lois Abernathy and Lorena Graham and Mr. Orville Mastin deserve credit for the novel way in which the guests were entertained. The seats in the hall represented seats in a train. The conductor passed passed up and down the aisle taking up and punching the tickets which served as the invitations. A "Singing Valley" two songs were sung. At "Gossip Town" subjects were given for three minute talks. At "Speedway" there was racing for a prize, and at the "Cave of Months" an opportunity was given for everybody present to take part in the program. Those born in January gave a snow ball fight. All of the following months were represented with an original stunt by the persons born in that month. After refreshments everybody departed for their homes.

Mr. German Crosby of Detroit, Mich., spent three days of last week at the home of his uncle, T. W. Robinson, leaving for his home on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Caldwell motored over from Pletcher last Sunday and spent the day with their daughter, Miss Elsie, who is a student at the Institute.

Mr. A. L. Gaines, who is working in Anniston, spent a few days with his family in Thorsby.

Principal S. H. Herbert, Rev. E. W. Butler and Mr. C. R. Foss were business visitors in Clanton last Saturday.

Mrs. Lida M. Jones and Mrs. Collier of Clanton made a trip to Thorsby Sunday in the interest of the Girls Conference to be held at Selma, October 12.

Mrs. C. R. Foss is spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Reagin at Selma.

The Ladies Guild will hold their reception with Miss Hoopes and Miss Payne at the girls dormitory on Thursday of this week.

The first meeting of the Helen Keller Literary Society will be held at the Institute on Saturday night, Sept. 29th, when the following program will be rendered:

Song by Society; Devotions, C.E. Woodham; Parlimentary Drill, E.W. Butler; Music, Elizabeth Thompson; Value of Literary Societies, Robert Majors; Discussion—Wealth, Education, Herbert Hughes, Odie Lee Arthur vs. Walter Morgan, Olga Soberg; Story, Mae Belle McJunkin; Story, Louis Marshall; Sketch, "The Modern Way" by seven pupils.

Rev. F. E. Jenkins of Demorest, Ga., President of the Board of Trustees of Thorsby Institute, and Rev. Dwight S. Bayley of Birmingham, a member of the Board of Trustees, spent Thursday of last week here.

FOR SALE

Next Mondey the tax assessor and collector will begin their regular rounds for the assessment of property and collection of taxes. Their various appointments have been announced in the Union-Banner for several weeks.

Mrs. Belle George left Clanton for Birmingham, owing to the serious illness of her grand daughter, Miss Belle Acton.

When the bowels feel uncomfortable and you miss the exhilirating feeling that always follows a copious morning operation, a dose of HERBINE will set you right in a couple of hours. If taken at bedtime you get its beneficial effect after bfeakfast next day. Price 50c. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

The Union-Banner has direct information that ample capital, composed of interests locally and from Birmingham and Montgomery, has organized to serve the public promptly in the operation of works suitable to take care of all grain produced in the neighborhood of Clanton, and in the entire county.

In accord with foregoing notice, which has been carried in both the papers of the county, I have made arrangements to place upon my property at Clanton between the L. & N. railroad and Seventh Street, a velvet bean crusher of 25-tons per day capacity, and other grain machinery, to care for the grain crop. Ample storage room will be provided to take care of this situation.

Ample arrangements to market the product in commercial form will be perfected and daily quotations from the market procured.

The support and co-operation of every citizen whose personal and community interest is involved is respectfully solicited.

Respectfully,
Wm. M. ADAMS.

JOHN B. JOBSON

of Georgia, the man whose remarkably practical invention, it is said, will enrich the farmers of the country by untold millions.

An Interesting Character

John B. Jobson, the inventor of the remarkable plow which bears his name, and expounder of progressive theories of soil tillage, is one of the most interesting characters in Georgia. He is even more remarkable than anything he has yet produced, for his gritty struggle for over fifty years to realize the big dream of his life marks him as a man of unusual tenacity of purpose and unswerving faith in the soundness of his own judgment.

Born in Houston county, Georgia, sixty-six years ago, John B. Jobson was brought up to know the value of honest toil. When nineteen years of age he hired out as a regular farm hand at $12.50 per month, and it was his duty to get up at daybreak and blow the horn to start a 46-plow plantation on its long summer-day stretch of activity.

It was just at this time and on this very plantation that young Jobson began to study the underlying principles of plant growth and plant culture, and then and there he conceived the idea of a deep reaching tiller that would be practical for the average farmer. Even in those days he worked and schemed to get an instrument that would prevent the clay from being brought to the top to bake and clod.

His first ideas, he admits, were not practical, and were laid aside for many years, until he became an expert mechanically as well as agriculturally. When he did complete his famous plow, about the year 1905, he continued to conduct experiments and further perfect it until now he believes his work is finished and that nothing further remains to be done but to give the result of his labor to the people.

As announced in a recent issue of this paper, the Jobson Common Sense System has been brought to our county and is being introduced by some of the most prominent and public spirited merchants and leaders of the people.

Copies of the official paper of the Jobson System, "Common Sense Farming," is being given out free of charge to all who call on these merchants. The paper gives full particulars regarding Mr. Jobson's plow and contains much valuable information on other topics. It is spicy, readable and extremely useful.

To secure one of them our readers should call at one of the following Jobson agencies:

Save several dollars per ton on roughage

NO matter how much or little you are paying for old style hulls you always can save several dollars per ton by buying

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE
COTTONSEED
LINTLESS

You pay more for the old style hulls because you are paying for about a pound of lint to every three pounds of hulls.

You pay less for Buckeye Hulls because you pay only for hulls. The lint is sold separately.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls are 100 per cent roughage.	Every pound goes farther.
They do not contain lint which has no food value.	They allow better assimilation of other food.
You get 2000 lbs. of real roughage to the ton—not 1500.	No trash or dust.
	Sacked—easy to handle.
	They mix well with other forage.

R. S. Parkham, Greenville, Ga., says:
"I feed about fifty cows and calves and use Buckeye Hulls very successfully. I consider Buckeye Hulls as good feed and cheaper feed than the old style hulls."

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

Instructions are Received From Adjutant General Hubbard.

Instructions received by the local exepmtion board Monday morning from Adjutant General Hubbard will probably make it necessary to reopen the cases of a number of men who have been rejected for physical reasons.

General Hubbard, in his letter of instruction, calls attention to the reports from various local boards which indicate a great lack of uniformity in the physical examinations of the men called before them. In many of the counties the percentage of the men discharged on account of physical disability is said to be entirely too high, and "is out of line with all averages."

Discharges Revoked.

In view of this great lack of uniformity, says a letter of General Hubbard, I have been directed to request you to revoke all discharges on account of physical disability, except such as have been heard on appeal by the district board, and to recall and re-examine all persons discharged on account of physical disability, except such as were passed upon by the district board on appeal.

The instructions further direct the local board to comply with this immediately, and to have the examinations conducted in accordance with the modified regulations of the government, and in every case of doubt to give the government the benefit of doubt, by sending the men to the mobilization camp for final physical examination.

It is further specified that if a man is held for service, who, after physical examination, had been discharged, this would reopen his case, and he would be entitled to file any claim for exemption, and the whole case will be conducted as if he had been found physically fit in the first instance.

Exceptions Noted.

However, the instructions make exceptions in certain extreme cases, and as to these, the letter says, "It is not the purpose, however, hat men who are patently unfit for service should have their discharge revoked and be re-examined. There are many such cases, and this is not the class of cases intended to be re-examined."

The members of the district board convened this morning for the purpose of reviewing all claims for exemption from divisions 5 and 6 of this district, and the district board physicians met the physicians of the local board for the purpose of going over all cases of physical rejections from all divisins, in accordance with the instructions received.

These Men are Called Back for Another Examination.

The local board for Chilton County has received instructions to recall all discharges which have been issued for physical defects, and re-examine the men. This order affects the following list of men who are called back for examination on Oct. 9th and 10th.

FARMERS PROTECTIVE LEAGUE TO MEET AT CLANTON OCT. 13

The local Farmers Protective League of Chilton County is hereby called to meet at Clanton on Saturday, October 13th, at 10:00 o'clock a.m. We request every member of the Local to be present at this meeting, so we can further push the work of the league. Let every member boost the campaign till we get the county organized so we may be able to lay the corner stone of obtaining the best prices for our products.

Wm. J. BILLINGSLEY, Secy-Treas.

Miss Gertrude Popwell has left to commence her work as teacher for the season. Miss Popwell has, during the summer, assisted in the Probate office.

THORSBY POSTMASTER IS DRAFTED INTO U. S. ARMY

Mr. Walter M. Parnell, postmaster of Thorsby, has been drafted in the national army, and left for Camp Gordon on Wednesday morning. Mr. Parnell was granted a release by the post office department pending his services in the army, and his position at Thorsby will be given to him upon his discharge from military service. In his absence the office will be filled by Mr. Sam W. Collins.

A SAD ACCIDENT

The Banner has received intelligence of the sad burning to death of the 8-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Neal on Monday. The little one was playing near an open fire and the clothing came in contact with the flames.

Judge Gulledge and Uncle C. H. Roberts will attend the Birmingham re-union.

CHILTON COUNTY CHRISTIAN HARMONY CONFERENCE

The Chilton County Christian Harmony Conference, which was held at Union Grove last Sunday, was called to order at 10:15 o'clock, a.m., and the opening song was led by Hon. W. H. Conway and the tnue was No. 78—"Amazinz Grace," which raised the spirit of all. After the song we had prayer by J. N. Scott, then another song by Bro. Conway, No. 55 and "Am I Born to Die," something we all should be very much interested in. The last verse is as follows:

Soon as from earth I go,
What will become of me?
Eternal happiness or woe
Must then my portion be.

President J. E. Cobb took charge and appointed a committee on arrangements as follows: Bro. William Lowery, W. R. Scott, C. C. Conway, and after the report Bro. Lowery directed for 20 minutes. Each W. R. Scott, J. N. Scott and W. H. Conway directed; then recess for dinner one hour.

We had abundance of good eatables and plenty left, and at one o'clock we were called back into the house and had the following directors to lead lessons 20 minutes each: Roy Jackson, J. H. Martin and Bro. Blankenship; then recess for ten minutes. After recess we elected officers for the ensuing year: W. H. Conway, President; J. H. Martin, Vice-President; J. E. Cobb, Secretary. Then a place for the next convention was spoken of, but left with the President and Secretary to say where it should convene. Then Bro. Lowery led a short lesson before the closing song by our President—number 200. Dismission was rendered by Bro. Gore.

We claim the convention to be a success and we sure appreciate the young people's help, and especially young Mr. Lowery and others whom we are not acquainted with. Some of the young ladies did their part well. I would to God that all of you young folks would take a part in the old time singing because I think that is all the kind that is worth while for church services, and the church should be first of all things. I believe if everybody is saved or enjoys religion it is going to be thru the old way and the old time religion such as our old forefathers had.

J. E. COBB, President,
J. N. SCOTT, Secretary.

CAMPAIGN ON MARKETING AND GRAIN FOR COUNTY

There will be a campaign on marketing and grain for Chilton County, beginning October 8. We will have speakers from Auburn to meet the farmers at the following times and places:

Jemison, 9:00 a.m., October 8; Thorsby, 11 a.m., October 8; Mt. Pleasant, 1 p.m., October 8; Clanton 3: p.m., October 8; Fairview, 7:30 p.m., October 8; New Cedron, 9:00 a.m., October 9; Enterprise, 11:00 a.m., October 9; Evergreen, 2:00 p.m. October 9; Verbena, 4:00 p.m. October 9th.

All farmers and their families are asked to come out and hear these speakers.

W. H. CONWAY,
Co. Dem. Agent.

PROF. J. W. MOORE ELECTED PRINCIPAL LITTLEJOHN SCHOOL

Prof. J. W. Moore has been elected by the County Board of Education to the principalship of the Littlejohn School. This is a spelnidly equipped school, and much honor has been bestowed upon Prof. Moore by the board in giving him this appointment. He is to receive for his services $75.00 per month, and the vetcran teacher of Chilton County will make for the Littlejohn community a splendid school.

FREE SPRINGS

Health in this community is very good at present. Everybody is busy making syrup.

Some of the young people of this community attended the singing at Pates Chapel Sunday.

Mrs. Eva Brown visited her sister, Mrs. Martha Primm, Saturday night.

Miss Leona Scott visited Miss Ethel Primm Saturday night.

Mr. Clyatt Primm, who has been in the army since May, is now in New York, and thinks he will have to sail for Franee in a few days.

Miss Ethel Primm, one of the committee to collect money for the conference funds of the Methodist Church, has announced a box supper at her home for Saturday night, October 6th. We hope to have a large crowd. Everybody is invited. Girls, come and bring well filled boxes, and boys come prepared to buy them.

SAVE YOUR SWEET POTATOES

Mr. W. H. Conway is using efforts to instruct owners of sweet potatoes as to the best means of "banking" the crop.

Sweet potatoes will be in demand as the government intends to include this product in the army rations.

THE SECOND LIBERTY LOAN

The second issue of liberty bonds is about to be offered. The importance of this movement, and the necessity for its success need not be argued to any informed man. The present war calls for the very best that we have of munitions, of money, of men.

To those who do not know the frightful consequences to us, should Germany win, we commend a consideration of the following words, spoken to Admiral Dewey in Manila, in 1898, by Admiral Von Goetz, of the German navy, and reported to this government by Dewey:

"About fifteen years from now, my country will start a great war. She will be in Paris about two months after the commencement of hostilities. Her move on Paris will be but a step to her real object—the crushing of England. Some months after we finish our work in Europe, we will take New York, and probably Washington, and hold them for some time. We will put your country in its place with reference to Germany. The Monroe Doctrine will be taken charge of by us, and we will dispose of South America as we wish. Don't forget this, about fifteen years from now."

These are words worth thinking of. Germany has now one hundred and twenty-three divisions on the long eastern front. Each division numbers twenty thousand men, or more. What if Russia should collapse, and negotiate a separate peace? What if Germany's enormous eastern armies should be transferred to the western front? What if France should break down under the strain?

Each of the allies looks to us for financial aid. We are raising and equipping an army of one and a half million men. The number may reach four or five million before our task is done. We are making large expenditures on our navy. We are building a merchant marine to repair the ravages of the submarines.

Billions of dollars are needed for the successful termination of this war. The money must be subscribed, and will be subscribed. Loan after loan has been floated in Germany. We are not less patriotic than the Germans. The man who does not put on the uniform must stand squarely behind the soldier who goes to the front. We can do this by subscribing to the Liberty Bonds. Every dollar that is lent to the allies, every dollar spent on the army or navy, shortens the war and saves the lives of American boys.

If this is your country, if this is your flag, if the boys in khaki are your soldiers, you will gladly invest in the Liberty Bonds, every dollar which you can spare. No more effective blow could be struck at Germany at this time than the oversubscription of the second Liberty loan.

JUDGE REYNOLDS APPOINTED ON FOOD CONSERVATION

Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds has been appointed by Mr. Herbert Hoover, the national food conservation commissioner, to act as the local representative of the work of the national government under the direction of Mr. Hoover.

The official notification of such appointment came to Judge Reynolds Tuesday in a telegram from Mr. R. M. Hobbie of Montgomery, the chairman of Mr. Hoover's campaign committee for the state of Alabama.

Following is the telegram received by Judge Reynolds:

"Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 2, 1917.
"Judge L. H. Reynolds, Clanton, Ala.
"We take pleasure in advising you that Mr. Herbert Hoover has selected you as his representative in your county to take charge of the Registration campaign October 21 to 28. We will ask that you attend a meeting here Monday, October 8, at 10 o'clock, in the Senate Chamber at the Capitol. Will have a continuous session that you may go home that evening. Please wire your acceptance.

"R. M. HOBBIE."

Judge Reynolds Accepts.

Judge Reynolds accepted the appointment, and at once wired Mr. Hobbie as follows:

"Clanton, Ala., Oct. 3, 1917.
"Mr. R. M. Hobbie, Montgomery, Ala.
"Repyling to your telegram notifying me that I had been appointed Registration agent by Mr. Hoover, which position I accept, will say I shall take pleasure in assisting in any way I can to aid the county in conservation of food. I will attend the meeting October 8.

"L. H. REYNOLDS."

The movement for the conservation of food is nation-wide, and the President has put Mr. Hoover directly in charge of the great work. In each state Mr. Hoover has an assistant, which in this state is Mr. Hobbie. Then the states are subdivided according to the counties. Activities applying to the local aspects of the work will be detailed and set up at the meeting which Judge Reynolds will attend in Montgomery. After that local announcements of what is to be done will be made.

TWELVE MEN SENT OFF TO CAMP GORDON THIS WEEK

The third contingent of men who have gone from this county to Camp Gordon under the draft law for service in the national army left Wednesday morning. They were twelve in number and were in charge of Walter M. Parnell and Kin M. Vinson. The orders from the adjutant general called for another forty per cent of our first quota of 120, but there were not enough certified men to make up the number which would have been 48. Only twelve men were in a position to go. One of the twelve called to go failed to appear. His name is Adolphus B. Ratliff.

James Sidney Gore, who failed to appear for examination of the first call reported for duty and was sent with this number.

The names of the twelve who went on Wednesday of this week are as follows:

Jim Wyat,
Othel Baker,
Oscar Z. Kelley,
Kin M. Vinson,
Lee Jean Roberts,
John M. Anderson,
John Glasscock,
Eddie R. Brooks,
Walter M. Parnell,
Joshua George W. Sorrell,
Robert Lee Jones.

BOYS ENTERTAINED ON TUESDAY NIGHT

On Tuesday night, prior to their departure Wednesday, the boys were tendered a reception and entertainment by the people of Clanton at the Baptist Church. Music wsa furnished by the Thorsby Concvert Band, and a delightful occasion was made.

The Civic Improvement League served refreshments at the Exchange Hotel Tuesday night for the twelve boys.

ENTIRE MASONIC ORDER TO FIGHT BAKER'S PLAN

PERMISSION IS DENIED LODGES TO ERECT HALLS AT THE TRAINING CAMPS FOR SOLDIERS.

Atlanta,Ga., October 1.—The entire Masonic order of the United States will appeal to Congress against Secretary Baker's ruling that no secret order except the Knights of Columbus shall have the privilege of erecting lodge rooms at the national cantonments.

If congress fails to enact "such legislation as will forever bar a repetition of such outrageous discrimination," the Masons will appeal to the country at large and the question will become an issue in the next Presidential campaign.

Mills Fights "Embargo."

These facts became known today when Grand Master Frank O. Mills, of Georgia, made public through the International news service correspondence between Masonic officials and the War Department in which Secretary Baker personally upheld the embargo against Protestant orders.

The plan to have the Secretary's ruling set aside will begin when the Georgia Grand Lodge meets in about thirty days. It is very probable that the aid of other secret orders such as the Knights of Pythias, Woodmen, Redmen and Odd Fellows will be invoked.

Baker Severely Criticized.

In making the correspondence public Grand Master Mills was severe in his criticism of Secretary Baker's ruling:

"In my opinion, and unjust, unfair discrimination has been made," he stated. Certainly no one objects to the government allowing the Catholic secret order the same privilege in these camps as the Protestants, but we do object strenuously to the Catholic order being allowed privileges which are denied to Masons.

"Masons have made it a point to steer clear of politics, but in my opinion it is time for them to get busy now and take a hand in asking for some fair legislation, and in the next general election to see to it that parties are put into office who will accord us fair treatment."

Correspondence Pointed Out.

The first letter in the correspondence is a simple request from General Secretary Greenfield, of Atlanta, to Secretary Baker, for permission to erect a Masonic lodge and recreation room at Camp Gordon. This letter was answered by Adjutant General H. G. Leamard, who stated, "The Secretary of War desires me to inform you that no organization will be allowed on the grounds except the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus."

Grand Master Mills then took up the matter with Secretary Baker and pointed out that "the Knights of Columbus and the Y. M. C. A. are not at all in the same class, the former being as much a secret order as any in existence, while the Y. M. C. A. is open to any and every one."

"Advisory Committee" Figured

In reply Secretary Baker, under date of September 12, stated the decision has been recommended by on "advisory committee" and the department would abide thereby. The letter suggested that the Masons and other Protestant fraternal orders erect their buildings in the towns adjutant to the camps.

"The entire matter will be placed before a committee of Grand Lodge with the power to act," stated Mr. Mills. "We will fight because there is nothing else to do. We expect to win."

CITIZENS OF CLANTON SEEK PARDON OF DR. MATTHEWS

For the past week there has been a petition circulated in Clanton, calling upon the chief executive of the State of Alabama, for the pardon of Dr. E. A. Matthews, who has been serving a sentence in the state penitentiary for alleged mismanagement of the business of the Clanton Bank.

The petition meets with favor of practically every citizen of Clanton and Chilton County. It is the universal opinion of the people here that Dr. Matthews should be released immediately, since the courts have failed to convinct any of the other officials of the bank.

As soon as the opportunity has been given to everyone to sign the petition for pardon, the papers will be laid before the Governor and the Board of Pardons, asking for the release of the Doctor.

JOY AT SOLDIERS HOME

Dr. Eiland, Commandant of the Old Soldiers Home at Mt. Creek, paid the old boys and old ladies their money on Monday, and now they are ready to attend the re-union at Birmingham, on October 10 and 11, and "hear the band play" Dixie again.

THE EDITOR AND THE CORPSE

Perry Chapman tells the following on himself:

I fell asleep in a chair at Grand Junction last Wednesday night on my way home from Memphis, and let my train leave me. The hotel clerk told me to go upstairs and take the room on the right side of the hall with the lamp burning low. He said he was crowded and I would have o double up with a man. I went up and pulled off my things and went to bed without waking my bedfellow, who was sleeping soundly with the sheet over his head to keep off the muskeeters. Before I fell into the arms of Morpheus, I saw a young lady and a young gentlemtn came in and set down by the window. At first they talked so low I could not hear what they said. Finally I heard the little miss say: "Wallace, ain't you ashamed to try to kisse me right here where I was sitting up with a dead person?" I felt curious, I slowly reached over and touched the nose of the man I was in bed with, and saw at a glance that he was dead all right. I riz up instantly, and it was a race to a finish 'twixt us three for the bottom of the steps. It is useless to say that I was first past the post by two lengths. I didn't skeer that couple any wuser than the corpse scared me.

GOOD RESULT OF FARMERS ORGANIZATION

It is estimated that the cotton seed produced in Alabama this year will total approximaely 250,000 tons. The price per ton is now above $70.00. It has advanced about $10.00 a ton in the very recent past, equal to $2,500,000 for that by-product of the state's cotton crop.

This advance is the result, in large measure, of the well directed activity of the organization known as the Farmers Protective League, of which Jos. O. Thompson is President. Local branches of the league have been established in many counties. There should be one in every county.

Every farmer will find it to his advantage to become a member. Certain it is that cotton growers who have a good seed tonnage will not need much argument to be convinced that the league is a good thing. It is believed that the market for seed will go much higher. As every rise of $10 means an increase of $2,500,000 to the value of the cotton crop, it will be seen what a good work the leauge is doing.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

County Farm Demonstrator, W. H. Cnway was in Clanton Tuesday. He stated that he had just returned from a visit to several of the north Alabama counties, where he went in the interest of farm methods.

We have had some inquiry as to when the day is to set for the selling of cattle and hogs in Clanton. We are not prepared to state just here. In fact, the time is a little early right now to begin to sell. The editor had a talk with Mr. Conway on the subject and it is his opinion that the movement is a good one and should be developed. Mr. Conway will give some time to the consideration of the cattle marketing question this fall and winter, and as he goes over the county, will give the farmers all the advice possible. He will take a hand in the setting apart of the day for marketing.

WILL TAKE CARE OF KAISER

In a letter to the Editor from Ira Billingsley at Camp Gordon, he says he thinks the Chilton County boys will be able to take care of the Kaiser, after they have finished the training and gone to France. He reports that the boys are well satisfied in the Camp.

Much trading in real estate has been done between various parties in Clanton for the past few weeks.

Mr. Wallace C. Edler of Thorsby was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

The Ideal Theatre is going to have a mighty fine picture next Saturday and Sunday. It is to be shown under the auspices of the Local Red Cross Committee.

WANTED TO BUY—One or two good mules. E.H. Foshee, Clanton R 5

THE NUMBER OF A MAN

Numbers are very queer things. That there is a peculiar relation between numbers and sentiment beings has been proven in many ways. The number which is allied with God is one, and it represents His chief characteristic—unity. Three is the number of the Trinity, and so one might go on, but while it is absorbingly interesting, it is foreign to the purpose of this article.

Of all the peculiar combinations of numbers in relation to men that have ever been compiled, the following which we find in Puck is by far the most significant and interesting:

"While we do not take it very seriously that because the mathematical calculations made, give 1917 as a result, therefore this is the year that shall see the termination of the war, nevertheless we shall give it as it stands and allow each reader to draw his own inferences. We shall rejoice with those who do rejoice if it should happen to be true that hostilities will cease throughout the world in 1917.

"The bible makes reference to a certain number as being the number of a man. Rev. 13-18 reads: 'Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the number * * * for it is the number of a man. and his number of six hundred three score and six—666.' Many very exhaustive treaties have been published in efforts to solve the riddle of the number, but nothing so far has been published which seems to fit it exactly. One thing is peculiar. If one will add the consecutive numbers from one to thirty-six together, the total number will be 666.

"Now for the most wonderful compilation. It will be noted that in the list following each ruler of all the nations involved in the great world war is considered. Take the year in which they were each born, add to it the year in which he assumed office or reign, add to that the years he has held office or reigned, and then add to that the years he has lived, and in every single case, the sum total is the same. Read and study the list given below and marvel as you do it:

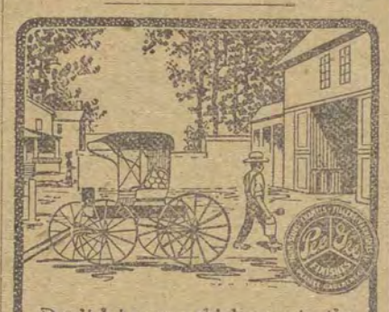
WADE'S WEEKLY LETTER

Save the Females

The greatest deficiency in food products in the world today is meat. The live-stock industry in the European countries is almost depleted and the warring nations are looking to America for meat. With hogs selling for eighteen cents per pound, cattle twelve to sixteen cents, sheep sixteen cents, lard compound twenty-one cents and bacon fifty cents, butter forty-five, hens twenty cents per pound, and eggs forty-five cents per dozen, it is the southern farmer's opportunity such as he never had to make money. It is as good as a gold mine and will last several years before production can increase sufficiently to lower these prices materially. It will last as long as the war goes on and for several years after the war is over. It will take a good many years for the European countries to restore their live-stock industry and until then, they will be dependent upon us for food. Meat, poultry and dairy products are selling at two and one-half times the prices that prevailed in normal times. Cotton would have to sell for 35 cents per pound, corn two dollars and twenty-five cents per bushel, oats one dollar and thirty cents and choice hay sixty dollars per ton to be in the same proportion with live stock, dairy and poultry products.



The only way we can increase our livestock is to save the females, especially the young ones. See to it that no females are slaughtered until they have shown themselves to be barren or poor breeders. Killing young females in times like this is the same as "Killing the goose that laid the golden egg." Do not sell your hens off unless you know them to be non layers. Twice as much poultry and live-stock are needed in Alabama as we now have. The best way to market corn, peanuts, velvet beans, and hay is to put them in a cowhide or pigskin. Corn is worth $1.80 per bushel and other products in the same proportion when fed to live-stock to prepare them for market. I would rather sell my corn to a four legged hog for $1.80 than to let a two legged hog have it at seventy-five cents per bushel. If the farmers had twice as many live-stock as they now have, very little would be heard about finding a market for corn, beans, peanuts, potatoes, and hay. The situation would solve itself and the talk now prevalent about being defrauded out of crops would not be heard. The remedy is to continue diversification, save and feed all young females among your livestock and poultry.

A COTTON ESTIMATE

Mr. W. H. Conway was in Clanton on Monday and called at the Banner office to say that, owing to recent weather conditions and the weevils, he would have to cut his cotton estimate for Chilton County to between 4500 and 5000 bales for 1917.

Weber Wagons

Cheaper now than you can ever buy them again.

On account of the increased cost of all material used in the making of wagons, the manufacturer has found it necessary to advance the price considerably, and we are therefore obliged to raise our price also.

We placed an order some time ago for two car loads of wagons at a price higher than we had ever paid before, but at a less price than the present market value. One car of these wagons will be shipped in the near future, but we yet have a few on hand which we offer at the old price until the first of November, and on that date our price will be advenced according to our new cost, which will be from about $8.00 to $15.00 on the different sizes.

This is fair notice, and if you want one of the very best wagons made cheaper than you will buy it again within a year or two, you had better take advantage of this opportunity.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE

THE L. & N. represents an investment of more than $250,000,000 devoted to the public interest in the South.

During the past sixteen years the L. & N. has spent $148,000,000 or more than 100 per cent, in creating new, and improving existing facilities, such as modernizing its stations, building double track, and installing devices to increase the safety, and facilitate the operation of its trains.

The L. & N. has spent, and contracted to spend, $12,162,742 during eighteen months, ending Dec. 31st, 1917, to meet the high standards which the public demands in Freight and Passenger equipment.

In sixteen years the L. & N. paid out for the operation of its trains $559,448,992.52, or an average of $34,965,000 per year, of which $324,870,160.41, or 58 per cent, or an average of $29,304,385.02 per year was paid to employes, the average number of whom was 30,112.

During that time L. & N. passenger rate decreased 7.7 per cent and L. & N. freight rate decreased 10.8 per cent.

Every piece of construction is with a view of the South's present and future pre-eminence. Adequate transportation is a fundamental business necessity. The L. & N. will be able to do its full share, provided it is permitted to earn a reasonable margin of revenue over expenses. The South is equally interested.

Success through Co-operation Comes from Persistent Effort.

One good Business Man has quit this space because he says his ad here is not bringing him any money. Now do you see the way he is looking at this business? His view is wrong. The idea is this:

These Business men did not contract with us to run this half-page space with the idea of standing by and seeing the dollars fall into their cash drawers fro mit. They did it because they were willing to Co-operate with this paper fo ra year in a campaign of boosting for the home town. They did not agree to even pay this paper for the ad. They agreed to pay the price they did to help us in the expense which we must go to in carrying our messages of boosting to the outside world, and on the side we just throw in the space which their ads occupy.

Now if you men do not want to co-operate in this campaign it is not hurting us. But you are just in effect saying that you are not willing to help boost your home town and community.

B. GUY SMITH AND THOS. A. CURRY CLASH IN DIFFICULTY

Late Wednesday afternoon B. Guy Oct. 27.

Smith and Thos. A. Curry two attorneys of Clanton had a fight on the streets of Clanton in which Mr. Curry was pelted and bruised about the face rather severely and Mr. Smith was scratched very slightly.

The trouble between the two men grew out of the course of matters concerning the case of Smith before the local exemption Board of Chilton county, of which Mr. Curry is a member, and the consideration of his claims before the District Board in Montgomery.

LEONARD HAYES HURT BY JUMPING FROM TRAIN

Last Thursday evening Leonard Hayes a young man 17 years of age was seriously hurt at Falakto when he stepped from passenger train No. 11 before it came to a stop at the station yard. It is said the train was moving at the rate of from 15 to 20 miles per hour as the young man stepped off. He lost his balance and was thrown to the ground, the result being severe injuries on the head.

He was picked up by the train crew and carried to Cooper where medical aid was administered. When the doctors saw the extent of the injuries, it was decided to carry the young fellow to Birmingham. Fast train No. 4 was stopped at Coopers and he was carried to a Birmingham infirmary. He is still in a dangerous condition and it is not known whether his injuries will be healed.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

There will be a special service held at the Clanton Baptist church on next Sunday morning for the newly elected officers and teachers of the Sunday School, who have been chosen by the church in its annual business meeting. The session of the Sunday School will be held much as usual, but the eleven o'clock hour will be given over to a special program for the occasion. Judge E. B. Deason has been elected Superintendent for the coming year, with Mr. T. E. Williams as assistant. Mr. E. E. Upchurch was re-elected Secretary and Treasurer.

The teachers who have had the charge of the classes have all been re-elected, with one change, in the case of Judge Deason's class, which will be taught by Mr. J. R. Mullins. An alternate or assistant has been selected for each class. A more complete grading is planned, as well as the use of graded lesson helps, especially for the smaller classes. At night the pastor will preach on the subject, "The relation of Children to the Kingdom of God."

The meeting was opened and closed with prayer. After the service refreshments were served at the Exchange Hotel by the Civic Improvement Club.

The Unity Baptist Association, with which the Clanton Baptist cuhrch is affiliated, will hold its annual session on next Tuesday, Actober 9th, at Evergreen church in Autauga County, about ten miles beyond Billingsley. The church is entitled to 12 messengers to the association, but about fifteen of the members are planning to go in four automobiles. Of course all will be welcome to go. The session will last two days. The messengers will leave early on Tuesday morning in order to get to Evergreen church by ten o'clock.

There is considerable sentiment in the Baptist churches located in Chilton County in favor of joining the Chilton County Association, thus making the bounds of the Association equal with the county lines. This would make the annual meeting of the association more readily in the minds of those who are not familiar with the Unity Association. It would also more readily locate any particular church by designating it as in Chilton County Association. At present the churches composing Unity Association are spread into three different counties. This matter will probably come up for discussion at the coming meeting.

BARNUM AND BAILEY CIRCUS IS COMING

Greatest Show on Earth will Soon Exhibit in this Vicinity.

Once again the glad tiding are being spread broadcast telling of the coming of Barnum and Bailey's Circus. The greatest show on earth is announced will positively be exhibited within easy traveling distance this season and , as usual, a large percentage of the population will declare a holiday to visit the show.

The big circus will exhibit in Montgomery on October 18.

It is promised that nothing to compare with the present Barnum and Bailey performance has ever been seen under canvas. New and novel features have been imported from abroad and a program of events, thrilling ,educational and screemingly funny, will occupy every instant in three rings, four stages, the riggings above and the hippodrome surrounding for moret han three hours.

There is a new and gorgeous pageant entitled, "Alladin and his Wonderful Lamp" in which nearly 1400 persons and one thousand animals appear in magnificent costumes rivaling the dress of the people of the famous "Arabian Nights" story. This will be followed by a host of acts in all parts of the great enclosure. There will be sixty clowns, a greatly increased menagerie of wild and untamed animals, four great herds of elephants, several caravans of camels and many recently born baby animals.

The free street parade, which will start from the circus lot at 10 o'clock on the morning of circus day, is entirely different from anything of the kind ever shown before. It will be three miles in length and there will beb ands on foot, on horseback, and riding on top of wagons of red and gold. There will be six bands in all and they will be assisted by three steam calliopes and an electric piano.

With the largest tent in the history of all circuses, the Barnum and Bailey circus promisest his season to make good again its boast that it is the greatest show on earth. Five railroad trains comprising 89 railroad cars, will be required to transport its paraphernalia, and more than 750 horses will be used to transfer its wagons from the railroad yards to the show lot.

Look for "Cinderella and the Magic Slipper," a wonderful moving picture to be presented by the Civic League at the Ideal Theatre on Saturday,

CLANTON, ALA.

WITH THE ALABAMA BOYS IN CAMP AT NEW YORK

In a sloping dust field on lower Long Island, where 3 roads meet and end, are encamped more than 3600 Alabama boys, the old Fourth Alabama National Guard, waiting to be called overseas with the famous rainbow of 42nd division. They are a strange collection of men,—clerks from Birmingham and Mobile; soft-tongued, swarthy mountaineers from their huts in the Lookout range; free-limbed, big-hearted, with the ancient creed of the mountains "When in doubt fight"; and a scattering of business men, and sons of old Alabama families.

For most regiments this time of waiting is full of life and adventure, the seeing of new things and faces, performing of new duties, and the learning of new customs, and life seems too full for the loneliness that gnaws and breaks a man's heart. But the Alabama boys have been hit square amid-ships. Coming to a muddy field in a strange flat country, during a sickly, misty, drizzle, measles broke out in their ranks the very next day, and for nearly three weeks not a man left the aching emptiness of that barren field. Men pulled from what seemed the ends of the earth, and thrown indiscriminately together were confined in a little two-acre lot, and there left to their own devices. The strain of the long grind of deadly monotony, and the restraint to which the easy going mountaineers were entirely unaccustomed, bid fair to break both their nerve and their morale, and would indeed have broken them had it not been for one saving factor.

In the middle of their camp stands a white, three-peaked, circus tent with a red triangle over the door, and in front a sign bearing the letters, "Y. M. C. A." The tent is open from nine o'clock until taps; and within the tent are five men working night and day to make life tolerable for these homesick strangers from a far country. From early in the morning till late at night they always are on the job, and nothing is too big or too small fir them to do, if it adds to the comfort of the enlisted men.

Let us tell you of just one day spent in the tent of the Alabama regiment, one out of hundreds of buildings or tents throughout the country, located wherever a body of men are gathered together in the name of liberty; not to mention the hunts, (many of them long ago wrecked by German shells,) which dot the blood-scarred trenches of northern France, and nestle in the muddy streets of London, offering aid and shelter to rich and poor, RomanCatholic, Jew and Prostestant, wherever help is needed.

Early in the morning, long before opening time, grimy hands stretch across the counter, and a soft southern voice begs, "Could yah give me some paper, now, mister? Ah reckon Ah'll write home today." The paper is immediately forthcoming, for no one has ever refused anything at the Y. M. C. A. tent, but the soldier doesn't go. Instead he stands by the counter, idly shifting his weight from foot to foot, and chewing the end of a cigarette. "Yes, ah wish ah was home this minute;" he finally volunteers. Then follows a personal conversation rather too sacred to put down in print, and before the man leaves he knows that he has found a friend.

By nine o'clock the great tent is crowded with men writing home, for nearly 14,000 letters are written from that one tent every week. A talking machine is grinding out "Goodbye Girls, I'm Through," and "There's someone more Lonesome than You." One Secretary is kept busy nearly all day writing out money orders, and through the Y. M. C. A. many thousand of dollars are thus saved to the men, which otherwise might have been lost in the crap game—or worse. During one week the Y. M. C. A. at Camp Mills wrote out money orders for more than $20,000.

Stamps, letters, soap, books, buttons, matches, all the thousand and one little things which help to make life tolerable pass over the counter every minute of the day. A big burly soldier comes up to the counter and wants a ten dollar bill changed. "What do you want it changed for?" asks the secretary in charge, counting out the money.

Ah just wants to pay some bills," says the man blushing like a school girl. "What do you want to know for?"

"Oh, I just thought you might like it in very small change," replied the secretary putting the money into his hand.

The man turns away; then comes sheepishly back to the counter, saying, "Ah reckon you'd better give me back that ten; they say the money a man wins at crap never does him any good, nohow."

So it goes all day long, and through it all is an atmosphere of friendliness that is life to the unseasoned soldier. Not the old-time glad handism, but a sincere interest tnd friendly feeling on the part of the workers toward the men, which makes them feel that they have someone to whom they can talk of their own lives, their loneliness, their families and sweethearts back in the Lookout Mountains, and which in some cases enables them to find in the Y. M. C. A. a friend, where they have never known one before.

Thus, the golden door is opened to the hearts of the men, and as the secretaries get close to their soldiers, vice and immortality, with its thousand kindred miseries, diminish, and the old ideals are not forgotten in the glare of the furnace in which their hearts are being tried.

All day an auto runs back and forth from the adjoining town, taking laundry, buying sweets, and doing countless other errands that the men in detention camp cannot get away to do themselves, while scarcely has twilight settled into night before moving picture shows, sing songs, vaudeville entertainments of every description, wrestling and boxing matches, and religious meetings have been organized throughout camp. Old actors, now in the service, educators, ministers, as well as Charlie Chaplin, and other movie favorites all help pass the time away. And not a moment is left empty, which may allow the bitter loneliness and longing for a frindly word, to creep in, which often goads a man to do things and to mix with people for whom under normal conditions he can have nothing but contempt.

And do these quiet workers in grey get the appreciation of the soldiers? Most assuredly they do. Allow one instance in passing. When the aviation school was first established at Mineola, a group of men came in from somwehere in the South, after nighfall. No Y. M. C. A. was ready for them. But a tent was hurriedly procured and although the hour was too late to put it up one of the secretaries slept on it. In the morning a great rough soldier from Virginia shouted to a comrade, "Where's that —— Y. M. C. A?, we cant live without that." "I'm sitting on it," announced the secretary from behind.

For these men who have left their homes and positions to toil with and to help the soldiers, there is no theoretic religion; they are working night and day to help all in need;—by the needs for a penny postage stamp, or a strong arm to pull them out of the moral mire. They are working body and soul to make Christ real; working for those who are at home, that the boys may come back clean and whole hearted as they left; and that they will never be without a friend.

The Alabama men are soon to go overseas. The Y. M. C. A. is already there waiting to welcome them, and working while it waits.

Across the water, where life is raw, where restraint is off, and the soldier hardened by the universal brutality and loneliness, are temptations and pitfalls worse than the death in the trenches. Disease walks rampant upon the earth; filth and squalor follow in her wake; corruption is everywhere to be found; and misery reigns "supreme upon her throne of eternal dirt." From the multitude of besetting ills of body, mind and soul, the Y. M. C. A. has already saved hundrehs, and the work has only just begun. Millions have been spent; many millions more are needed. Even now our men are in the field, and more are almost daily streaming across the Atlantic. For them, for yourselves, their families and sweethearts, by those letters which you have received, bearing the insignia of the Y. M. C. A., and in the name of the clean cut, four-square man, whom you hope will return to you, the organization asks your co-operation.

Positive—Convincing Proof

Many so-called remedies for anaemia are only so in name. Their makers are afraid to prove their claims by telling what their medicines contain.

The only way to be honest with the people is to let them know what they are paying for. Here is the Vinol formula. When the doctor knows what a medicine contains, it ceases to be a "patent" medicine.

℞ Cod Liver and Beef Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, Lime and Soda Glycerophosphates, Cascarin.

Any doctor will tell you that the ingredients of Vinol, as named above, will enrich the blood and banish anaemia and create strength. When the blood is pure and rich and red, the body is strong and robust.

You can prove this at our expense because your money will be returned if Vinol does not improve your health.

A Mother's Guidance

The mother who advises her daughter to use "Mother's Friend" can rest assured that the crisis will be one of much less pain and danger.

"Mother's Friend" is a safe, external application for the abdominal muscles and breasts. It certainly has a wonderful influence in relieving pain, discomfort and nausea, and is a most grateful encouragement to the young woman awaiting the happiness of coming motherhood. The action of "Mother's Friend" makes the muscles free, pliant and responsive to expansion. Thus tension and strain upon the muscles and ligaments is avoided when baby arrives.

Nervousness and twitching spells and that constant strain known to so many women is avoided. "Mother's Friend" is the prescription of a famous physician and may be had at the drug store. It will surely prove of the greatest value, not only to the mother, but to the health and future of the child.

Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. C, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., for their book, "Motherhood and the Baby". It is free and is a book which every woman should have. Every expectant mother should aid nature for by so doing pain at the crisis is avoided.

NOTICE OF PUBLICATION

Notice is hereby given that Gaston Scott, whose post-office address is Montgomery, Alabama, did, on the 27 day of February, 1917, file in this office Sworn Statement and Application, No. 010140, to purchase the NE ¼ of the NE ¼, Section 2, Township 21 North, Range 16 East, St. Stephens, Meridian, and the timber thereon, under the provisions of the act of June 3, 1878, and acts amendatory, known os the "Timber and Stone Law," at such value as might be fixed by appraisement, and that, pursuant to such application, the land and timber thereon have been appraised, one hundred and sixty dollars, the timber estimated 60,000.00 board feet at $2.00 per M, and the land $40.00; that said applicant will offer final proof in support of his application and sworn statement on the 9 day of November, 1917, before Register or Receiver of the U.S. Land Office, at Montgomery, Ala.

Any person is at liberty to protest this purchase before entry, or initiate a contest at any time before patent issues, by filing a corroborated affidavit in this office, alleging facts which would defeat the entry.

The Probate Judge's office was crowded Monday with old Confederate Veterans drawing their quarterly pension money.

If a fire had broken out in Mt. Creek Monday there wouldn't have been anybody there to put it out. Everybody from there was here at county court.

THE MT. CREEK MESS

The Cases nolle prossed Except that of T. J. Henderson.

In the Chilton County Court room on Monday a glance would have convinced anyone familiar with the faces of Mountain Creek citizens that they were here in force.

Arrests had been made a month ago of men charged with resisting an officer and other alleged offence.

It was suggested that thirty days contemplation would leave matters so that when Judge Reynolds called the case enmity would have ceased and the case would be to some extent called off, and so it was, by discharging everybody concerned except T. J. Henderson, who was assessed $10 and costs.

So now, the Mountain Creek people have settled the matter and all is peace and quiet again just as it should be.

The Thorsby Band furnished delightful music for the entertainment given the soldiers at Clanton on last Tuesday night. The Band also played some selections at the Ideal Theatre.

Keep Well

Do not allow the poisons of undigested food to accumulate in your bowels, where they are absorbed into your system. Cattle relish the sweet odor of wet Buckeye Hulls

BUCKEYE HULLS, after being wetted down for ten or twelve hours, acquire a taste or odor similar to the succulent ensilage odor that cattle like so well. Simply feed properly and your stock will like them better than any other roughage. Once they are accustomed to them, they will not be satisfied with anything else.

There is every reason why your cattle should relish Buckeye Hulls. They are all roughage; no lint that is worthless as forage; no dirt, trash or dust.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls cost much less per ton than old style hulls.
Buckeye Hulls allow better assimilation of other food.
Every pound goes farther.
They take less space in the barn.
They are sacked—easy to handle.
They mix well, when wet, with other forage.

Mr. L. R. Farmer, Louisville, Ga., says:
that he has used no other hulls but Buckeye for the past year and gets good results. Cows have not been bothered with cough since using Buckeye Hulls.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

Col. Burrell Hinstail says that he exploded Lomax County some centuries ago with the assistance of Gov. Eiland.

Miss Sewell—Denson, how long did Charles I live?

Denson—'Bout as long as anybody else, I reckon.

Mr. Bowers—Chester, what is the world's record in races?

Chester—About ninety hours per mile,—aw, I mean—

Mr. Bowers—No, you can't have a second trial. Next please.

Miss Key—Fonzo, give me a quotation from Shakespeare.

Fonzo—"The very deep did rot; O, Christ that ever this should be, yea, slimy things did crawl—"

Miss Key—Stop! Stop!

Miss Sewell, to Myrtle Popwell—Myrtle, you may sit in that desk.

Myrtle Roberts—She's absent so much, and that desk looks so lonesome, please let me sit there.

The Freshmen Class selected the following officers: Jennie Robinson, president; Leon Evans vice-president; Anice Kemp, Secretary; Claudie Pipes, treasurer; Burdie Teel, poet; and Izader Kanjutzky, historian.

Miss Sewell—Denson, what is the meaning of zephyr?

Denson—I think it is a striped animal.

Myrtle seems to be glad when it is time for English—as she gets to sit with Vernon.

After organizing the Sophomore Class, the following officers were elected: Herbert Davis, president; Bert Robinson, vice-president; Warrene Spigener, secretary and treasurer; John Lee Thacker, poet; Lee Sartor, historian; and Mittice Hyman, goat.

THREE CLANTON BOYS RETURN FROM CAMP

Last Sunday, three of Chilton County's boys, who had been sent to Camp Gordon, at Chamblee, Ga., returned to their homes, having been rejected by army physicians on account of failure to measure up to the requirements physically. Those who came back were William Arthur Robinson, Lemuel DuBose and Nicholas A. Miner.

The boys report that they were well cared for while in the Camp. They say they got plenty to eat and some good hard drill work along with it.

Mr. Phillip Horn spent Thursday night of last week in Clanton with his brother-in-law, attorney L. F. Gerald.

ENTERTAINMENT COURSE AT THORSBY

Arrangements are being made with the Redpath Lyceum Bureau for an Entertainment Course for the coming season. The course will open with a concert by the Oslen Sisters October 29th. The next number will be a male quartet. This is expected to come November 6th. Both these entertainments will contain musical numbers and other features, and will be very enjoyable. One of the most interesting numbers on the course will be an illustrated lecture by Lieut. McGibney, to be given sometime during February. Lieut. McGibney has been in France with the ambulance corps and tells of the experiences of war which he has himself seen. His lecture will be illustrated by stereopticon slides from photographs taken by himself. Sometime in April an entertainment will be given by the Honolulu Entertainers, who will tell of their country and will bring some of its distinctive music.

In addition to these numbers secured from the Lyceum Bureau, it is planned to have two additional numbers, one a concert and the other a lecture. These will be arranged so that one will come in January and the other in March, if possible. Tickets for the entire course of six numbers are being sold at the following prices: Adults, $1.50; students, $1.00; and children under 12 years of age, $.75. Subscriptions for tickets may be left at Horn's Drug Store or with Prof. C. M. Williams.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

The Union-Banner has direct information that ample capital, composed of interests locally and from Birmingham and Montgomery, has organized to serve the public promptly in the operation of works suitable to take care of all grain produced in the neighborhood of Clanton, and in the entire county.

In accord with foregoing notice, which has been carried in both the papers of the county, I have made arrangements to place upon my property at Clanton between the L. & N. railroad and Seventh Street, a velvet bean crusher of 25-tons per day capacity, and other grain machinery, to care for the grain crop. Ample storage room will be provided to take care of this situation.

Ample arrangements to market the product in commercial form will be perfected and daily quotations from the market procured.

The support and co-operation of every citizen whose personal and community interest is involved is respectfully solicited.

Respectfully,
Wm. M. ADAMS.

Don't Leave Coin Out In The Wet

Farmer Says He'd Just As Soon Leave Horse And Buggy Out All Winter As To Leave His Land Out. It's Like Washing Away Good Money.

A well-known Alabama farmer said this: "I'd as soon leave my horse and buggy out in the rain all winter as to leave my land out to wash away and lose all that richness I've worked to put in it." He's everlastingly right. Put a cover crop on your land. Don't throw away gold dollars just because they happen to be in the shape of nitrates and humus. You can coin 'em into "regular money" next year.

What this farmer said is nothing more nor less than good, hard common sense, and it's right in line with the Jobson System which he was discussing at the time.

This method and Mr. Jobson's remarkable plow are causing more talk and more enthusiasm in this country right now than anything that's been written about for 40 years; for everybody knows its not only bringing to our farms bigger crops on less labor but it's also going to be the salvation of our land.

For this reason a number of leading dealers are actively at work introducing the plow and the Jobson System in this county.

These dealers, who will be glad to give all interested customers who call for it a copy of the Jobson paper, "Common Sense Farming," are as follows:

BIDS WANTED FOR ROAD WORK

In pursuance of an order adopted by the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, at their regular adjourned meeting on September 5th, 1917, I, L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate, have requested to be published the following notice:

Notice is hereby given at a regular adjourned meeting of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala held at Clanton, Alabama, on the 5th day of September, 1917, an order was adopted providing for the building or construction of a public highway from Clanton to Maplesville, in Chilton county, along or near the line of the present graded road or highway between said points.

Said road to be built by grading and graveling. The work to be done by contract, said contract to be let to the lowest bidder under sealed bid for the same to be deposited with the Court on October 5th, 1917, at William Walker's place about twelve miles west of Clanton, on said road, from 11 to 12 o'clock noon. The Commissioners court will be in session a this place on above date for the receiving or the bids and the convenience of those who desire to bid on said work.

The bids shall set forth the number of yards of work each party will be able to perform, whether the same to be graded or graveled, and the charg per yard for each kind of work.

The payment for the building and grading of said road or highway to be made by issuing warrants on the county treasury, payable when the work has been done.

All persons offering to bid upon said work for the building or grading of said road, or any number of yards of the same, may deposit their bid in sealed envelope marked "Bids for County Road Work,"and addressed to the Commissioners court on or before 12 o'clock on the 5th day of October, 1917, at which time said bids will be passed upon by the court.

The court reserving the right to reject any and all bids made on said work.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

BUILDING A NEW CHURCH

A Foundation Fairly Commenced by The Baptist Ladies.

Church building. especially when ladies are engaged in the undertaking of serving "a chicken broil" in order to assist in the erection, is a most laudible and commendable work.

This "chicken broil" was served in the Mullins-Wilson grove, on Thursday evening by the ladies of the Baptist Church. Although the threatening clouds—forerunners of the recent story—hung heavily in the near west, still these ladies had prepared for the feast and entertainment and they surely did supply a menu copmosed not only of chicken, but other substantials of home-grown eatables.

"Little drops of water, little grains of sand," soon made an indoor late afternoon sociable, agreeable, and the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Wilson was comfortably crowded, where conversational minutes were pleasantly passed; and a determination to erect a new and magnificent Baptist Church building was uppermost in the minds of all present.

An attempt to mention those present would be unfair, for the reason that the "Banner" man was occupied at the time in "discussing the anatomy of a broiled chicken" with "fixins."

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION

Notice is hereby given that Emily H. NO PEACE WITHOUT DEFEAT OF GERMANY SAYS MR. WILSON

President, in Address to men who Would Educate People on Principles of War, States that Enemy to Democracy Must Be Crushed.

Washington, October 8.—Americans who are discussing early peace with Germany forget that it would mean the crushing of the democratic ideals for which the United States has always stood, said President Wilson today at the organizers of a patriotic educational movement who called at the White House. He said that the only way to win the war is by complete victory of the nations representing those ideals over Germany's doctrine of force.

Many people, said the President, are inclined to let their thoughts on the causes and principles underlying the war wander into byways, and forget that the main reason the United States is at war is to defeat a government which threatens even the existence of democracy.

President Wilson endorsed the plan of the organization, which includes a number of religious, business, labor and fraternal groups, for underlying the spirit of America. Little real misunderstanding of the war exists in the United States, he said, but there is evident considerable cloudy thinking which a patriotic educational movement can set aright.

CLANTON TO HAVE NEW BANK ORGANIZED ABOUT NOV. FIRST

Paid in Capital Stock of the Institution is Twenty-Six Thousand.

There is a movement on foot and in fact practically consummated, whereby the town of Clanton and the adjacent community as well, will have the accommodation of a new banking institution in our midst.

The new corporation is to be styled as the First State Bank of Clanton, and will be incorporated with a paid up capital stock of 26,000.00. The stockholders are C. B. White, T. E. Williams, Tom Kemp, J. M. Potts, J. M. Nix and Grady Reynolds.

It is encouraging for the business interests of this town and community for a new bank to be organized, and we confidentally hope and predict for the new institution a full and fair measure of successful operation. The men behind it are men who know the field in which they are to operate, and their former success here as business men insures a continuance of same in the new venture.

U. S. INTERNAL REVENUE LISENSE FOR COUNTY

Birmingham, Ala., October 1, 1917.
Hon. H. A. Harris, Sheriff of Chilton County, Ala.

Dear Sir:

No U. S. Internal Revenue License has been issued to your county in September, 1917.

I hereby certify that I have carefully examined the record of the Collector of Internal Revenue and the above is complete and correct.

Yours very truly,
SAM P. JONES,

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this fifth day of October, 1917.

ALABAMA MASONS TO ENTER PROTEST AGAINST BAKER'S CAMP FRATERNAL POLICY

Fraternity Men Indicate Georgia Movement will be Approved.

Anniston, Ala., October 3.—Prominent Masonic officials in this city state that Grand Master Walter Smith of the Masonic Fraternity in Alabama, has joined hands with Grand Master Frank Mills, of Georgia, in the fight instituted by Masons and other fraternal orders against the alleged discrimination shown by the War Department in allowing the Catholic order, Knights of Columbus, privileges not granted other fraternal orders and religious denominations within the cantonments of the United States army.

Steps have already been taken to secure an equal footing for the Masons and several other orders, and unless Secretary Baker recedes from his ruling the issue threatens to become an important one in national politics, and to figure prominently in the next campaigns, both state and national.

Scottish Rite Masons in Alabama are said to be almost solidly behind the movement to force the issue in their interest. A prominent Anniston Mason stated Tuesday that the Masonic fraternity would insist that they be given equal privilege with the other orders who are favored by the ruling of Secretary Baker.

Masons throughout Alabama will protest against the alleged discrimination and they will expect their representatives in Congress to act at once against what they term an unjust ruling of the Secretary of war.

FREE SPRINGS

Our protracted meeting began on the 7th. We have with us Bro. Brasher, also our pastor, Bro. S. Smitherman. It seems that God's word is being preached so clearly that the unsaved ones can't help but find the way to salvation.

Bro Brasher used for his text Sunday night Psalms, 51 12-13 and the last two verses of John 3.

Mr. L. A. Brown is to be complimented in that he made from one acre of land 260 gallons of Georgia Ribbon Cane syrup. Good for Mr. Brown.

Edd Brown and family motored up to C. L. Hayes' Sunday last.

The singing at J. M. Perry's on the night of September 30th was reported greatly enjoyed by all who were present.

T. J. Headley has the brag on velvet beans. 31 large Osceola beans on one bunch. In showing the pretty field of beans to his friends Mr. Headley likes to call their attention to the fact that the beans do not sting.

We were glad to have Miss Atchison with us on Sunday night, who acted as organist for us.

Eunice Watson doesn't think that syrup making is all the go. He can't get time to make his syrup for the many peas that he has to pick. Pick them, Eunice. They will be good feed for the stock next winter.

The story of Perry Chapman in last week's Union-Banner was very amusing to the little folks, and even caused the grown ups to smile some.

ALLIED ARMIES TO EXTEND VICTORY, BAKER PREDICTS

German Submarine Basis on Belgian Coast Threatened by Entente Ascendency.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Decisive ascendency for the Allies in the supreme test of battle strength now taking place on the bloody fields of Flanders is claimed by Secretary Baker in the weekly review of war operations issued by the War Department.

While it may be premature to assert that the British war machine has forced a decision over the Germans, Mr. Baker says the victories of the last fortnight, threatening the German submarine basis on the Belgian coast, are conclusive indications of Allied superiority. With favorable weather he thinks these victories will be repeated and extended.

The review which is for the week ending Saturday night, makes no reference to the American forces in France or to the great preparations for war going forward at home.

Battle's Scope Unprecedented.

"The attention of the world," it says, "is focused on the Titanic struggle now going on in Flanders. The battle raging there is proving an engagement of wholly unprecedented scope and potentialities.

"At the beginning of the week, owing to bad weather, the Germans were able to launch counter attacks against the positions recently gained by the British. Notwithstanding the fact, the Germans made use of smoke screens, liquid fire, and brought into action an imposing array of artillery in their attack against the advanced British lines between the tower Hamlets and Polygon wood as well as along Menin road, their efforts proved futile.

"Slowly but therefore the more irresistable, the allied drive at the heart of the German line in the west is sweeping onward.

The wisdom of the British in maintaining a great density of front will appear justified by the results achieved during the past week. It must be born in mind that it is due to the depth of the British line as much as to any other one factor, that while the enemy is still reeling under the blow, the allies are ready to deliver another and still a third.

"It has been characteristic of the campaign in Flanders hitherto that neither belligerent has attained what we may call a decisive success. The Germans have massed their greatest war strength along the battlefront.

Sound Strategy Pointed Out.

"To attack them at their strongest point of resistence is sound strategy. The defeats inflicted upon them during the last fortnight are conclusive indications of allied superiority. In the light of past experience it may be premature to assert that the British have succeeded in forcing a decision, but it may be stated with emphasis that in no engagement hitherto has such vigor, energy and concerted speed of action been displayed.

"The full success of these operations means that the Belgian coast, with its numerous submarine bases, will become untenable to the enemy. Zeebrugge, Ostend and the system of canals leading out of Bruges are threatened.

"The supreme test of the battle strength of the contending belligerents is taking place. The ascendency would appear decisive.

"The two immediate contributing factors of this success are air control and shell supply.

"The former made it possible for the Allies to locate enemy concentrations, the latter to break them up before they could be developed into offensive actions, at the same time permitting their own concentration of men and guns to be carried out with clock-work regularity, unhampered by enemy interference.

"The British are thus able to report that since July 31 last they have not lost a single gun, while they have captured 332 field and heavy guns and taken 51,435 prisoners. During the fighting of the past two days they have added 4,446 prisoners, including 114 officers to this imposing total.

"The enemy realizes the danger he is facing. We may expect him to counter attack in force. He may regain certain secondary objectives temporarily, but the British war machine is moving forward and if time permits and the combat season remains open, with the weather continuing favorable for reconnoissance and careful aircraft observation, the allied victories of the past two weeks will in all probability be repeated and extended.

"The enemy pressure along the eastern front has been relieved by the strong allied offensive in Flanders. No engagements of more than local importance are reported in the east.

"The German advance in the northeast has apparently weakened and the Russians have been able to reorganize their positions in the Riga sector."

The review sketches briefly the week's news from other fronts, with the comment that reports from the Russian front are more encouraging.

BREATH OF WINTER HITS FRENCH BATTLE FRONTS

High Winds, Snow and Fog Hinder Operations in Flanders, France and Vosges Mountains. Fighting Desultory.

London, October 8.—The first winter of the year has made its appearance on the western front. High winds, rain, snow and fog are hindering the operations of the British on the Flanders battlefield and the French in the Vosges.

Despite the gales and the fog, the British artillery continues to batter the German positions in Belgium and aviators performed extreme feats of valor in soaring out over the German lines of observation. A press dispatch from Paris today said:

"The line of heights dominating the Ypres basin from Warneton to Broodsiene have all been in possession of the British since Field Marshal Haig's big smash last Thursday and only feeble efforts could be put forward by the Germans to regain them. That section of the German army beaten back in the fighting Thursday night was demoralized.

The key position of Broodseinde, on the Pass Chendaele Ridge, was among the first of the German points of support taken when the British swept forward on Thursday morning. Broodsiende lies 60 yards above the sea level and is the highest pinacle on the ridge. Now it is the British who hold the ground dominating the Roulers plain instead of the Germans.

Advises from Amsterdam telling of German movements indicate that Von Hindenburg has already begun a rectification of the German front in Belgium, withdrawing his troops from the positions endangered by the latest British victory.

An extension of the artillery dueling on the West Flanders front beyond the zone of Thursday's drive indicated that the French and Belgian forces in Belgium may join the British when the next infantry thrust is made against the Germans.

SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTICE

To the Superintendents, teachers and workers of the Sunday Schools of the First District, as you are probably aware, November 4th has been set apart as "International Sunday School Day."

Therefore, we would suggest that you be governed accordingly, and invite everybody to the Sunday School service on that day. In order to succeed, begin the work at once, and make the best of the opportunity.

Everything absolutely free. No collections. These lectures will be in line with the oral and printed teaching of the world renowned pastor Russell, strictly undenominational.

DEATH OF MR. HENRY VEAZEY

On last Saturday morning, October 5, at 11 o'clock, the death angel visited the home of Mr. Henry Veazey and carried him away to b with his Heavenly Father, to await the coming of others. He realized that he was going to die and bore his sickness with patience. He called his wife to his bedside and told her how to manage the things he was leaving behind.

Mr. Veazey was about forty-one years of age and leaves besides his wife three sons, one daughter and a host of other relatives and friends.

His death was caused by Typhoid fever. His remains were laid to rest in Mulberry Cemetery Sunday at 11 o'clock, Rev. R. D. Bevis, his pastor, conducting the funeral rites.

DRAFTED MEN ARE ASKED TO GIVE CLOTHING TO BELGIANS

Secretary Baker will send Commission Agents to Camps to Collect Garmerts Contributed.

Herbert Hoover, Chairman of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, authorizes the following:

Drafted men entering the new national [illegible] to contribute civilian clothes they are about to discard for the duration of the war.

Judge of Probate, 1Jan16

Secretary of war Baker, at the suggestion of Herbert Hoover, chairman of the commission of relief in Belgium, has notified commanding officers at all cantonments that representatives of the commission will soon be on the ground to collect the clothing.

Permission has been secured to ship 400 tons of clothing into Belgium across the Dutch frontier. This will be a godsend to the needy population of America's pluck little ally, because the coming winter will bring even greater hardship than has yet been experienced since the German occupation began.

COTTON REPORT FOR COUNTY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2, 1917.—The tabulation of the card reports shows telegraph summary to be correct. There were 988 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Chilton County, from the crop of 1917 prior to September 25, 1917, as compared with 1,124 bales ginned to September 25, 1916.

You will please furnish these totals to all newspapers in your district, being careful not to discriminate in favor of any of them.

Very Respectfully,
Sam L. Rogers, Director.

SURRENDER OF DEVASTATED LAND IN FULL IS PROPOSED

Berlin Paper makes Semi-Official Announcement of Terms.

Amsterdam, Oct. 9.—Germany and Austria have agreed to make another peace offer on the basis of no territorial aggrandizement, surrender of Berlin and the French territories and no indemnity on either side, according to the Berlin Tages Zeitung.

The newspoper asserted that it made the announcement on "good authority."

No details were given on how the rumored peace offers would be advanced.

Speculation here was that Chancellor Michaels might make some sort of peace announcement today in his postponed speech advertised as likely to outline Germany's war aims.

A sensational session of the Reichstag is expected, according to Berlin reports. One dispatch said Chancellor Michaels was absent from Berlin, but in contradiction other messages reported him ready to speak.

Helfferich May Quit.

The German press is filled with comment on the crisis which Michaels now faces in the German parliament. The resignation of Vice Chancellor Helfferich was freely predicted in some comments.

Th radicals in the Reichstag and even many of the conservatives are solidly opposed to him because of his failure to announce a decisive governmental policy at Saturday's Reichstag session. Even a number of the conservative newspapers received here bitterly condemn Helfferich.

The socialist organ, Vorwaerts, boldly asserted that not only Helfferich but Michaels himself had both "proved to be failures" as well as the beaureaucratic system which they represent.

Today's debate, Berlin advices indicated, will center around a pending motion advanced by the independent socialists to censure Helfferich for his failure to respond to interpellations Saturday.

The old demand of the centrist-clerical group, for a statement by the government on the reichstag majority peace formula, is likewise becoming a burning issue again.

MUCH OBLIGED, MR. WILKINS

The editor of the Union-Banner is greatly obliged to Mr. R. N. Wilkins for a half gallon of the finest kind of good thick sorghum syrup, the best in the world. There isn't but one thing bad about it—that is getting it out of the jug these cold mornings. It is so thick that our biscuit gets cold before the "lasses" runs out. But that is no odds for us. We will get syrup if we have to wait till next summer for it to thaw.

Many thanks, Mr. Wilkins. It is indeed gratifying to be remembered by our friends

---

One young man fainted Tuesday when the Exemption Board informed him that he was accepted for military service. It must be evident that he is not in much of a notion to go to France. There are a good number who dread conscription but he is the first one who was so radically affected.

ALABAMA'S WASTE OF FUNDS

Money paid to unskilled workmen is always dearly spent. The greatest waste that can be made of people's money to spend it for crude and inefficient work in the school room. Poor teachers are high at any price. Shall Alabama continue to pay a large proportion of her two billion dollars school fund to teachers who are not trained?

Four class A normal schools, located at Jacksonville, Florence, Troy and Livingston are maintained by the state for the training of its teachers, and the thinking people of Alabama are demanding training and efficiency on the part of the teachers who do so much to shape the lives and character of our children.

President Wilson will not attend the dedication of the McKinley memorial which will soon take place at Niles, Ohio, where the martyred president was born. Yet, Mr. Wilson could go and come in scarcely more time than he spent motoring and playing golf with Col. House in Massachusetts a few weeks ago. And McKinley was a "war president" too.

The profit of $1.41 per bushel on wheat at $2.00 was figured out, it should be noted, by a professor of "agronomy." Agronomy bears the same relation to old-fashioned agriculture that modern engineering does to old-fashioned surveying.

Chauncey Depew says the Kaiser is feeding the hopes of the German people by promising them a big indemnity from the United States when the war is over. Chauncey would always have his little joke.

It is better to buy a bond than to be sorry.

BUILDING McADOO'S FENCE

One of the interesting incidents in the transfer of Daniel C. Roper from the Tariff Commission to the office of Commissioner of Internal Revenue is the announcement that his former position paid a salary of $7500 while his new one will pay only $6500. A transfer that means a $1000 cut in compensation certainly has much significance of some sort. The New York Journal of Commerce, which calls attention to this reduction also gives the information that Roper will have under him an army of revenue agents and collectors, which force is second to none outside of the U. S. Postoffice Department. The information is also conveyed that as first assistant postmaster general, Roper, obtained some valuable political schooling. It will be remembered that Abraham Lincoln said that when you find a number of men cutting and shaping timbers, which, when put together, fit exactly, it is reasonable to conclude that they were working in accordance with the plan that had been agreed upon. It is a safe guess that the McAdoo Presidential nomination fence is being built.

HOW WE HELPED GERMANY

Dr. E. E. Pratt, formerly Chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, asserts that the meat exported to neutral countries from the United States during 1916 would have surficed to support the entire German and Austrian armies for 275 days out of the year. During the same year 25 per cent of all the fats required by Germany were obtained from neutral countries. We were selling to the neutral countries and they were passing the supplies on to Germany. And here is what Secretary Lansing said in his note to Earl Grey, of the British Government, in defense of such trade:

"When goods are clearly intended to become incorporated in the mass of merchandise for sale in a neutral country, it is an unwarranted and inquistorial proceeding to detain shipments for examination as to whether those goods are ultimately destined fr the enemy's country or use."

That was the attitude of our department of State at a time when Bernstoff and his colleagues were plotting against the United States.

Nature Proves Jobson Theory

Little Green Spots Where Stumps Have Been Dug Teach Farmers A Valuable Lesson—Same Medicine Good For The Whole Field.

Did you ever notice little patches of deeper green and higher stalks of wheat or corn out in the field where old stumps have been dug? These little healthy spots have never failed to show up in such cases, and they never will—because that ground has been loosened up to a depth and the roots have gone somewhere. Now get your Jobson and give the rest of the field the same medicine. There will be no more green spots because it will all be green.

This is just one illustration of the way John B. Jobson developed his Common Sense System of farming, in accordance with nature's laws, for bigger profits and constant improvement of the land. His remarkable plow, which is now being pushed by some of the leading public men and dealers in the country, is designed to make these methods cheap and practicable for the small farmer as well as the large planter. It's going to do a great deal for the food crops right here in this county.

PREPARE FOR THE CRISIS

Every mother awaiting motherhood should get in condition for the crisis.

There is just one thing to do—give nature a helping hand throughout the waiting period.

No time should be lost in beginning the use of the penetrating external preparation, "Mother's Friend". By its use during the period the muscles of the abdomen are made pliable and elastic; they can then expand with ease when baby is born and pain at the crisis is naturally less. Ask for a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at the drug store today and do not go a single night without applying it. Write The Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. D, 300 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., and they will send you a book of scientifically prepared, practical information, without charge. "Mother's Friend" is composed of such penetrating oils and other ingredients as to make it entirely indispensable to expectant mothers.

All Traces of Scrofula Eradicated from the System

By the greatest of all purifiers.

A common mistake in the treatment of scrofula has been the use of mercury and other mineral mixtures, the effect of which is to bottle up the impurities in the blood, and hide them from the surface.

The impurities and dangers are only added to in this way.

For more than fifty years S. S. S. has been the one recognized reliable blood remedy that has been used with highly satisfactory results for Scrofula. Being made of the roots and herbs of the forest, it is guaranteed purely vegetable, and absolutely free from all mineral ingredients.

You can obtain S. S. S. from any drugstore. Our chief medical adviser is an expert on all blood disorders, and will cheerfully give you full advice as to the treatment of your own case. Address Swift Specific Co., Dept. F Atlanta, Ga.

Do You Think

Such an enormous business as we are doing could be built up and continually increased if our goods did not have exceptional value and merit? Do you think we could have the trade of hundreds of people if our reputation for doing exactly what we say was not firmly established? Just think these things over carefully and then give us a trial. We have the goods and we sell them at prices that will please you.

The Story of a Wonderful Pay-roll

NOT only is the L. & N. individually a citizen and large tax payer in nine Southern States, but it has many thousands of Southern people on its payroll who, likewise, are taxpayers. The L. & N. is essentially a railroad of and for the South, and maintains an enormous payroll in the South.

The total number of people employed by the L. & N. in the South for the past ten years, and their compensation, is as follows:

Year	Number	State	Ten Years	Compensation for 10 Years
1907	31,501	Alabama	88,013	$ 61,358,524.64
1908	24,707	Florida	11,876	8,032,265.83
1909	25,486	Georgia	5,315	3,984,761.75
1910	29,917	Kentucky	136,500	100,658,695.33
1911	29,307	Louisiana	6,655	4,754,745.21
1912	31,789	Mississippi	4,325	2,907,407.94
1913	32,785	N. Carolina	273	148,307.01
1914	34,276	Tennessee	49,109	34,698,885.82
1915	32,366	Virginia	2,447	1,850,883.10
1916	32,487
Total 10 Yrs..	304,603		304,603	$218,395,476.63

Labor constitutes 58.07 per cent of L. & N. expenses, and has increased 116 per cent in sixteen years. Out of every dollar of L. & N. revenue received, 42 cents is paid for labor.

In addition the L. & N. has paid out indirectly for Southern labor engaged by contractors for various construction and extension projects a sum that would materially augment the above enormous total.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD CO.
The Old Reliable

(2)

DURING the past ten years the L. & N. has paid out in the South for wages alone $218,395,476.63 which was distributed to an average of 30,460 employees, every one of whom lives and has interests in the South.

On the basis employed by the Bureau of Census that five persons are dependent on each wage earner, it is seen that the L. & N. contributes directly to the support of 152,300 people per annum.

LET ROAD CONTRACT

On October 5 the commissioners and Judge of Probate went to William Walker's place on the Maplesville road and considered bids on the grading and graveling of about three miles of the highway. The contract for the work was awarded to W. F. DeShazo. When this piece of work is completed it will make the road from Clanton to Maplesville in fairly good condition, being graded all the way and for the most part graveled.

"Cinderella" will be shown at the Ideal Theatre on Saturday, Oct., 27, under the ausnices of the Civic Improvement Club.

Attorney F. B. Collier, who has been for the past two months at Fort Oglethorp training camp for officers, is at home again.

Remember that the date of the Chilton County Fair is for the week from Oct. 29 to November 3rd.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

The Union-Banner has direct information that ample capital, composed of interests locally and from Birmingham and Montgomery, has organized to serve the public promptly in the operation of works suitable to take care of all grain produced in the neighborhood of Clanton, and in the entire county.

In accord with foregoing notice, which has been carried in both the papers of the county, I have made arrangements to place upon my property at Clanton between the L. & N. railroad and Seventh Street, a velvet bean crusher of 25-tons per day capacity, and other grain machinery, to care for the grain crop. Ample storage room will be provided to take care of this situation.

Ample arrangements to market the product in commercial form will be perfected and daily quotations from the market, procured.

The support and co-operation of every citizen whose personal and community interest is involved is respectfully solicited.

Respectfully,
Wm. M. ADAMS.

Attorney B. Guy Smith spent the day Tuesday in Birmingham on legal business.

Dr. Arnold Conway of Jemison was in Clanton a short while on Wednesday afternoon.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION

Notice is hereby given that Thomas J. Scott, whose post-office address is Montgomery ,Alabama, did, on the 27th day of February, 1917, file in this office Sworn Statement and Application, No. 010139, to purchase the NE ¼ of the SE ¼, Section 2, Township 21 North, Range 16 East, St Stephens, Meridian, and the timber thereon, under the provisions of the act of June 3, 1878, and acts amendatory, known as the "Timber and Stone Law," at such value as might be fixed by appraisement, and that, pursuant to such application, the land and timber thereon have been appraised, one hundred and sixty dollars, the timber estimated 60,000.00 board feet at $2.00 per M, and the land $40.00; that said applicant will offer final proof in support of his application and sworn statement on the 9th day of November, 1917, before Register or Receiver, U S.. Land Office, at Montgomery, Ala.

Any person is at liberty to protest this purchase before entry, or initiate a contest at any time before patent issues, by filing a corroborated affidavit in this office, alleging facts which would defeat the entry.

VINOL MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG

Positive—Convincing Proof

We publish the formula of Vinol to prove convincingly that it has the power to create strength.

Cod Liver and Beef Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, Lime and Soda Glycerophosphates, Cascarin.

Any woman who buys a bottle of Vinol for a weak, run-down, nervous condition and finds after giving it a fair trial it did not help her, will have her money returned.

You see, there is no guess work about Vinol. Its formula proves there is nothing like it for all weak, run-down, overworked, nervous men and women and for feeble old people and delicate children. Try it once and be convinced.

THE MAIL ORDER HOUSES ARE BIDDING FOR YOUR DOLLAR, BUT WHEN YOU SPEND IT WITH THEM IT IS GONE FROM HERE, FOR GOOD AND FOR ALL, AND THE COMMUNITY DOES NOT GET ONE PENNY OUT OF THAT DOLLAR FOR IMPROVEMENT AND UPBUILDING. WHILE, IF YOU SPEND IT WITH THE HOME MERCHANTS, WHOSE NAMES APPEAR BELOW, THE MONEY IS KEPT AT HOME, AND THE CONSTANT CIRCULATION OF IT HERE WILL BENEFIT POSSIBLY A GREAT NUMBER, THROUGH WHOSE HANDS IT WILL PASS. Success through Co-operation Comes from Persistent Effort.

One good Business Man has quit this space because he says his ad here is not bringing him any money. Now do you see the way he is looking at this business? His view is wrong. The idea is this:

These Business men did not contract with us to run this half-page space with the idea of standing by and seeing the dollars fall into their cash drawers fro mit. They did it because they were willing to Co-operate with this paper fo ra year in a campaign of boosting for the home town. They did not agree to even pay this paper for the ad. They agreed to pay the price they did to help us in the expense which we must go to in carrying our messages of boosting to the outside world, and on the side we just throw in the space which their ads occupy.

Now if you men do not want to co-operate in this campaign it is not hurting us. But you are just in effect saying that you are not willing to help boost your home town and community.

Last Saturday afternoon the Editor of the Union-Banner was over at the court house pasting some war news on the bulletin board in the front of the hall. Down the corridor we chanced to hear the sound of a voice that seemed familiar, and upon glancing around saw that it was old "Honest" Tom Littlejohn emerging from an office down the aisle. And just to think too that he came all the way from Knoxville.

Several Clanton people are attending the state fair in Birmingham this week.

Judge Gunter of Montgomery, presiding judge of this judicial district, was in Clanton on Monday on business connected with the court here.

H. N. Mullins of Mulberry was in Calnton Saturday.

Question—Where are you going, my pretty maid?
Answer—To the moving picture show, she said.
Ques.—How do you know that you can, my dear?
Ans.—It's Cinderella night—I have nothing to fear.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Erle Pinckard did not hesitate in answering this ad in the News:—Marry Rich Widow, worth $40,000; would marry right man. But Erle happened not to be the right man.

It has been circulated through school that Miss Inez Higgins and her best fellow are on a "bust up." She further says that she is never going to love again.

Isader Kanjutzky said that he could easily prove this statement, that it is much nicer to stand on the side line and watch a football game than to help play one.

Harold says that Jennie not only has a habit of saying but also putting into action the words "I'll slap you."

John Allen—Miss Sewell, you had better move Otto back over yonder before Minnie ruins her eyes looking around Maggie at him.

Miss Sewell (in French Class)—Kate, you may correct the next sentence.

Kate—I havent' seen the sentence yet for Margie.

The following officers have been elected for the Junior Class: President, Willie B. Jones; Vice President, Anita Norman; Secretary and Treasurer, Mary Mullins; Poet, Minnie Gable; Historian, Kate McNeil.

Ernest—John, what did you think about most during the game Friday?

John—I thought about how good I would feel if I had been at home.

Mr. Higgins—Flem, how do you like Latin?

Flem—Oh, fine. I'm reading about some crackerjack plans that Caesar worked out. I may use some of them when I get to be Commander-in-Chief of Uncle Sam's army.

Notice—If you want to know the final ending of a fight, see or write Roy Mahan or Jack Patton.

Myrtle Roberts has come to the conclusion that there is no one like Vernon. She has strong hopes of him becoming a great orator by'n by.

The Sophomore Class is sorry to lose one of its best members, Miss Rena Childress, who is now engaged in teaching.

Briggs Makes five every day on "The Ancient Mariner," as he has almost memorized the entire book these three years in Sophomore class.

Thomas Sessions and Aaron Vines seem to be in love with each other and the same girl, as they both visit her at the same time.

Book of Mixed Feeds FREE!

Useful to every owner of dairy cows, beef cattle, work oxen, horses and mules

TELLS you how to prepare mixed feed scientifically. Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells the percentage of protein and carbohydrates. Directs what amount of each mixture to feed for maintenance, for milk production, for fattening and for work.

This book also contains an interesting chapter on

TRADE MARK BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS LINTLESS

Shows why these delinted hulls have greater forage value than the old style hulls, why they allow better assimilation of food, why they go farther, why they take less space for storage, why they are easy to handle, why they mix well with other food, why cattle relish them, why they cost much less than old style hulls and why thousands of feeders are enthusiastic about them. The mixed feed formulas show how to combine Buckeye Hulls properly with concentrates and other feeds.

Mr. W. B. Lifford, Troy, Ala.,

prefers Buckeye Hulls to old style hulls. He says that they are less trouble to feed, are better for the digestive organs and seem to agree with the cows better.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

ARRANGEMENTS BEING MADE FOR CALL OF 2ND ½ MILLION

Plans and Details Under Advisement of the War Department at its Washington Headquarters.

MAY BE DECEMBER OR JANUARY

Washington, Oct. 12.—Discussion of the advisability of expediting the call for the second increment of the draft army is now in progress at the war department, and it appears likely that the date may be fixed for some time in December of January.

Mobilization of the first increment of 687,00 men is now far enough advanced to show clearly that there will be a big deficiency for the 17 national army divisions. More than 250,000 of the first increment are still to be assembled ,but it already is evident that there will be available at the 16 cantonment quarters for an additional regiment at each post, and at some for a full brigade of two regiments.

The strength of the new regimental organization is 3600 men. With a regiment lacking at each cantonment this alone would mean a shortage of nearly 50,000 men. In addition, there has been authorized a separate division of negro troops, which means nearly 30,000 men withdrawn from the original number assigned to the 16 cantonments.

Reason for Shortage.

The shortage is due partly to the necessity of taking out national army men to fill up national guard divisions. Two complete national army divisions of southern troops have absorbed in this way. The remnants of three other consolidated to form a single divisional unit and the surplus men sent south to make up the missing divisions.

Aviation Draft.

Drafts on the national army forces also must be made to fill the enlisted personnel of the aviation service, the medical corps and the service batalions needed behind the fighting lines abroad. Eventually there will be 250,000 men in the last named service alone, and aviation and the medical service will take nearly as many more, though not all of them will be taken from the national army.

Delay Expected.

Operating to delay the calling out of the second increment to make good these shortages are several factors. Clothing and equipment is coming forward only at a rate that can meet the demands of the forces already called, and the railways of the country have been overburdened with the job of moving the army and its necessities without hindering the freight shipments vital to the allies.

Crowder to Fix Date.

Fixing the date of the call for the second increment probably hinges also upon the careful study being made by Provost Marshal General Crowder and his assistants, of the results of the plan followed in assembling the men called first. Many questions have arisen which it may be desired to avoid hereafter, and substitute regulations to guide both the local and district board, prepared in the light of what actual experience taught may be issued, to govern the second call.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

On Tuesday and Wednesday of last week the messengers of Clanton church met with the Unity Association, with which it is affiliated. A great and good time was enjoyed by all at the meeting. Rev. J. F. Gable, the pastor of Clanton church, was unanimously elected Moderator of the Association for the year, and was also made chairman of the Executive Committee.

The gathering was very earnest and spiritual, and liberal in its support of the Kingdom of God. District meetings among the churches are proposed for the coming year. An appeal in behalf of the Baptist Orphanage at Evergreen resulted in a cash collection of $35.00 and the gift of a barrel of syrup by one of the Clanton messengers. It is worthy of mention that the Clanton Baptist church and Sunday school stood at the head in the Association as regards the varied activities and gifts, contributing fully fifty per cent of all that was raised in money.

Later a cash offering for State Missions resulted in the collection of $75.00, and the representatives of the churches accepted a proposed raise in the apportionments prorated from $1400 of the past year to $1500 for the year to come. This is to cover all benevolences. The entertainment in every respect was all that could be desired. The invitation extended by the Clanton church to the Association to meet here next year was unanimously accepted. It is proposed that the representatives of the thirty churches who will come shall have a good time.

The Clanton Baptist Sunday school is progressing in efficiency and enlarging in interest and power. The needs of the young people are being met also in the Young Peoples Union. The pastor expects soon to announce a series of sermons on "The blessedness of Full Salvation."

THE FARMERS "BIT" IN FOOD CONSERVATION

It is no longer a question that needs concern us whether America should have entered the war against Germany or remain neutral. Some of us think one way and some another. It matters not how we think, we are in it, and there is no honorable and safe way out but sure victory. This should be the only thought and the sole ambition of every true American. A speedy victory will lessen our grief and sacrafices in men and money. A sure and speedy victory can be obtained only by our feeding and financing our Allies who are now on the firing line and who are in need of such assistance.

This can be done only by striving hard for greater production and by rigid economy. As we are by heart an extravagant people and need many lessons in economy, it will do us good to economize if the war shuld close soon; and if the war should go on for years, it is one of the big essentials of final victory, for victory we must have; therefore, we appeal to you to save, believing that you will answer the call as nobly as you did last Spring, when we asked you for the largest food crop in the history of the State and you have so patriotically delivered the "goods."

In addition to the saving of food in your dining rooms and kitchens and the substitution of cheaper and more plentiful diet which is the duty of the good houskeeper, the men of the farms can effect a greater saving by clean harvesting and more careful handling and storing of food crops. There are thousands of bushels of corn, beans, peas, potatoes, and sorghum seeds left in the fields every year which can be saved by clean hervesting.

Many bushels of grain can be saved by stopping the leaks in the wagon bodies that strew grain along the public highways. While loading cars with corn, beans, cotton seed and other products, a great saving should be effected by a little carefulness. A more careful saving, gathering, and handling of all farm products will pay you handsomely for your trouble. Cultivate the saving habit which is so necessary to you as an individual and render a patriotic service to your country, the greatest country on earth, which shall speak peace to all mankind.

HERBERT HOOVER'S APPEAL TO ALABAMA

"The week of October 21 to 28 has been selected for a nation wide campaign to complete the enrollment of our forces in conservation of our food supply.

"The available supplies this harvest year are less than last year; the demand upon us is greater than last year. We can only meet the call upon us by savings and by substitution of commodities which cannot be transported.

"The allies are our first line of defense. They must be fed, and food will win the war. All Europe is on rations or restricted supplies. Only in our country is each one permitted to judge for himself the duty he owes his country in food conservation, although the world depends upon us to guard and provide it's food supply.

"This is a duty of necessity, humanity and honor.

"We are asking every householder, every hotel, restaurant, and dealer in foodstuffs in the nation to become a member of the food administration for conservation, and to pledge themselves to follow, insofar as circumstances permit, the suggestions that will be offered from time to time as to measures of food saving.

We wish only that our people should eat plenty, but wisely and without waste.

Therefore we appeal to the churches and to the schools for their assistance in this crusade; to all the organizations for defense, local and national; to all the agencies, commercial, social and civic, that they join the administration in this work for the fundamental safety of the nation.

"HERBERT HOOVER."

CLANTON'S NEW BANK TO HAVE ELABORATE PLACE

The First State Bank of Clanton, which will open for business about November 1st, is to have a well furnished place to stay, and everything is going to be fixed right "up to snuff." The new institution is to be housed in the Johnson building, formerly occupied by Elmore's next to W. A. Kemp's store.

Carpenters have already begun the work of remodeling the building. A fireproof safety vault is being built, and every detail of a modern banking house is to be installed.

Judge S. M. Adams went to Columbiana Saturday to organize a branch local of the Farmers Protective League of Alabama.

ALABAMA NEGRO SELECTMEN ARE GOING TO FORT DODGE

Montgomery, October 15—Twenty-five per cent of the negroes of Alabama who have been selected for military service will be sent to the colored training camp at Fort Dodge, Des Moines, Ia., during the five days beginning October 27. This information was given to the adjutant general by the provost marshal general Monday, and will be transmitted to all local boards.

One-fifth of the 25 per cent will be started each day so the movement will not increase the work of the railroads to such an extent as to prevent the handling of other business. This will be the first movement of Alabama negro selectmen. The department was not advised when the remainder of the negro soldiers will be started.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Quite an interesting event took place on the grounds of the C. C. H. S. Friday afternoon, when the Chilton eleven went up against the Fourth District Agricultural School eleven of Sylacauga. We are glad to state that the Chilton eleven defeated the "aggies" entirely. Although the Chilton team is very light, as usual, it is making good progress in football. (A rabbit can out run a cow sometimes.)

After failing on a Cicero lesson, Dick told Tom that he had already spent two years in Junior class and prospects were good for two more, after mid-term exams.

Agnes Howard—Love makes the heart light.

Howard—Yes, and love makes the parler dark.

Isader Kanjutzky has made his resolution, never to eat another peanut in school. He wishes to give this advice to his classmates: "Beware of Mr. Mc."

On Friday afternoon leaving school Lurline seemed to be so upset about going to Birmingham until she went to the grocery store to purchase a belt.

If you care to know anything about love affairs apply to Marjorie Pinckard.

John Lee must have been dreaming of Sylvester the other day as she missed her English.

Warren's history lesson was very interesting today, as she had an interesting companion to sit with—Willie Murphy.

C. C. H. S. is thinking about calling in a physician for every time Mittice is called upon to recite she has a severe headache.

We don't think it is very beneficial for C. C. H. S. to play Sylacauga as the girls fall desperately in love with them—especially Conradine.

Fonza—Miss Key, I am glad that it has turned cooler.

Miss Key—Why, Fonza?

Fonza—Oh, I don't know; oh, yes I do, the gnats are not so bad.

History is getting very interesting now for it seems like Miss Key is giving a lot of tests. (Freshmen.)

Miss Pink is getting along very well these days at school. (Rosa Kanjutzky.)

Oh, gee, Miss Sewell sure does have lots of letters to mail every morning. (Claudie.)

The Freshmen and glad to have Jack Patten back in school again after a brief illness caused by a fight.

THIRTY-SIX HUNDRED ALABAMA NEGROES EXPECTED AT DODGE

Camp Dodge, Ia., Oct. 15.—Thirty-six hundred Alabama negroes are expected to arrive at Camp Dodge on October 27, according to advices received from the war department by officials at the cantonment today. The negroes are the advance guard of 6600 from that state. Officers who graduated from the negro officers' training school at Fort Des Moines will be named as officers in the negro regiment to be formed.

DAVID VINES QUITS MAIL ROUTE

Mr. David Vines, who for the past four years has been the rural mail carrier on Route No. 5 from here, has tendered his resignation to the post office authorities, and will leave on Thursday of this week to take up a position at Akron, Ohio.

The many friends of this young man here are sorry to see him leave Clanton; but he has bushels of good wishes to take along with him to his new location.

LEM SIMS SOMEWHERE ON THE ATLANTIC

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Lemuel Sims, who is now a sailor on the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, somewhere in the Atlantic. All you can tell about Lem's letter is about as much as the old negro told when asked where a certain scooter plow was. He said it is over in the field on a stump or somewhere else. That's all we know about where our navy boys are.

Lemuel will be well remembered in Clanton. He was raised out at Fairview, and just prior to his enlistment in the navy he was engaged in the barber's trade here.

NEW RULING FORM WASHINGTON MAY RELEASE MEN

Gen. Crowder Makes Specific Ruling on Exemption of Married Men

The difficulties and vagueness as to the exemption of married men, from the operations of the military draft were practically removed by the receipt Wednesday by the Exemption Board of the Middle District of Alabama from Provost Marshal General Crowder of orders which probably will result in the release of married men already drafted from Chilton county, and which will halt the drafting of several others whose cases were pending.

Order General in Nature

The order is general in its nature and applied only to a specific class. It clarifies the law and the conflicting orders which have come out of Washington on the drafting of married men. The official order from Washington directs all boards to exempt married men who support their wives, by their labor of hand or brain, if they have no other separate means of support for their wives, notwithstanding the willingness of relatives or friends to support the drafted man's wife in his absence. In other words the married man who has actually supported his wife by his own earnings, and who has no private fortune capable of supporting her in his absence is to be exempted. The willingness of friends or relatives to support the wife, unless they are already doing it has no bearing upon the individual's case.

This ruling is expected to release ultimately ten or a dozen married men from here whose cases have been presented in the newspapers and about which there has been general discussion. These men, however, have been drafted so far as the local and district boards are concerned, and these boards have no power whatever to release them from the draft. If release is obtained, it must be done in an appeal to the Provost Marshal's office at Washington.

May Appeal To Washington

While no announcement has been made of appeals to Washington in these cases it is reasonably certain that the married men, who would be exempt under the new order, but who have already been drafted, will make immediate appeals to Washington, for the exemption, allowed under the new order. In the meanwhile the cases of half a dozen other married men now before the District Board have been suspended for future action.

THORSBY ITEMS

Mr. Amos Knott left on Monday of this week for his home in Loretta, Tenn. After a short stay with relatives and friends he expects to return to school.

What's the matter with the Chilton County local of the Farmer's Protective League? There was a meeting of the local called and duly announced to be at the court house last Saturday; and so far as we are able to learn there were not enough of the members present to hold a meeting. This does not look much like the farmers here are taking advantage of the opportunities which await them. Better get wise, Mr. Farmer. If you go to sleep on your job, there will be a hand reaching out in the dark to grab whatever you have not taken proper precautions to protect.

COMPLACENCY NEAR AN END

The mild temper which Congress voted upon Representative Heflin of Alabama may serve to temper his extravagance of speech in the future; and it is far less than he deserved. His unrestrained voice has so often poisoned the air at Washington that he should congratulate himself upon getting off so lightly now. When he goes back to the Capitol in December it will be interesting to note whether he presents himself in a chastened spirit or whether he will continue to essay the role of "spokesman for the administration." If he is to remain in this position, it may be fairly assumed that the White House stands sponsor for a policy of unjustifiable attach upon all and sundry who may chance to disagree with the administration. Under such circumstances the Republicans in Congress will feel free to abandon the complacency with which their patriotism has thus far led them to "stand by the President" whose own party has failed him. Indeed, Congressman Madden has already given notice that the next session of Congress will find a more self-assertive minority.

"What is the politics of your paper?" was the question propounded the editor by a gentleman from a sister county the other day. We told the gentleman we had been a resident of the Blackbelt for about 18 years and as there are only two Republicans in that county we thought that party had died out in Alabama. —Sylacauga News.

We predict that if Bro. Greer stays very long in the Fourth District he will come across enough Republicans to convince him that everybody in the world has not been "bagged" by the old worn out political humdrums that he has been listening to down in the black belt for these many years. We wish all your kind, Uncle Charley, who have got so much of that black belt stuff in them, could just come to Chilton or Shelby county and take a peep at some real Republican counties right herein your good old solid Democratic Southern state of "Here we Rest." It would maybe knock a few of the scales from your blinded eyes.

NOT A WAR OF RHETORIC

All this talk of the weakening of the German Army's morale may have a tendency to cause our soldiers to underrate the enemy against whom they will fight. There is very slight evidence that the German power of resistance is weakening, even if the power to attack has lost its vigor. It is still a long way to the Rhine and further yet to Berlin. The Southern Confederacy kept up a gruelling war fare against the Federal troops for fully two years after they found themselves in a worse plight than anything which Germany has yet experienced; and there is nothing to show that the Hun is within sight of real disaster. The war will not be over shortly; and military opinion at Washington is proceeding upon that theory. It is the politicians of the administration who are putting out the rosy views of a weakened Germany; and they are probably sowing the wind from which they will reap the whirlwind when the casualty lists begin to come in. The United States is in for a long, hard struggle which will not be won by rhetoric.

Peru adds herself to the list of the Kaiser's enemies; and at Potsdam they are now quoting Dr. Johnson's lines with slight modification: "Let observation with extensive view survey the foe from China to Peru."

H. W. Varden of Thorsby Route 1, was in to see us on subscription business last Friday. We are glad to see his kind.

ANOTHER FREE TRADER IN POWER

It is announced that Col. House, Democratic politician from Texas, will make a study of foreign trade conditions as they are likely to be presented after the war. He is one more free trader added to the already long list of administration agencies trying to tell American business men what to expect when the protective influence of the war has been removed. Our free trade administration is throwing up a coin and saying "heads I win and tails you lose."

The organized Sunday School firces of Alabama will co-operate in the food Administration Campaign in this State, according to a statement made by Leon C. Palmer, General Secretary Alabama Sunday School Association at the Food Administration Conference in Montgomery Monday afternoon.

"The Sunday Schools of Alabama" said the speaker, "enroll a total of a quarter of a million white citizens. The Alabama Sunday School Association, with its four hundred auxiliary county and district associations and twelve hundred employed and volunteer workers, is able to come into direct touch with practically this entire number. As this organization is the only channel through which the entire Sunday School forces of Alabama, including all denominations, can co-operate, we feel a sense of responsibility, and it gives me pleasure to tender to you our services in this patriotic movement."

Chairman Richard M. Hobbie of Montgomery, Federal Food Administrator, thanked the speaker and expressed appreciation of the promised service.

TWO ALABAMA MEN DIE FROM FUMES OF ILLUMINATING GAS

New York. Oct. 16.—Two soldiers were found dead from illuminating gas fumes today in a room they had rented the night before over a restaurant in the poorer section of Paterson, N. J.

The police believe them to have been in company H, 167th Infantry from Alabama. One had a postal card addressed to Frank Bial, Simlex Alabama. Officials at Camp Mills, where the 167th is stationed, were notified. The men rented the room early Tuesday morning. Employes of the place smelled gas and forced the door. The police believe the gas jet had been turned off and accidentally on again. The bodies are held at a morgue in Paterson.

CURING SWEET POTATOES FOR USE IN THE HOME

By J. C. C. Price, Associate Horticulturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Storing the sweet potato crop has been one of the most serious problems of the sweet potato grower. The practice of storing in banks, pits, or trenches is not safe or satisfactory. Sweet potatoes should be cured and then kept in a dry place and at a temperature of about fifty to sixty degrees Fahrenheit, as shown in Bulletin No. 197 of the Alabama Experiment Station, which has just been published. Those growing fifty bushels, or more, can well afford to build a storage house as described in the above named bulletin. If the grower has but five to fifty bushels, they may be handled as follows:

When the potatoes are well matured they should be dug, sorted and cured. Do not wait for frost to kill the vines, as frozen potatoes are dangerous for food and are hard to keep. The curing may be done by grading and spreading the potatoes in the sun for a week to ten days, being careful to protect them from rain or heavy dews. At the end of this period the potatoes may be packed in barrels, boxes, or crates and placed in a dry room and protected from freezing. Or they may be placed in an out room that is dry and protected from the cold by covering with dry fodder, hay or pine straw. Do not use cellars or out-houses with dirt floors that are damp.

If a vacant room is available that has means of heating, the potatoes may be kept there by carefully sorting and placing in slatted boxes, crates, or hampers, or the slatted potato barrel. A fire should be built as soon as the potatoes are brought into the room, raising the temperature to eighty or eighty-five degrees Fahrenheit if possible, with windows and door open. Continue the fire for ten days or until the potatoes appear to be thoroughly cured. On cold nights during the curing, the room may be closed.

As soon as the potatoes are cured, the room is closed. During a cold spell, when the temperature in the room falls to forty-five degrees Farenheit and the temperature outside is still falling, a fire should be built, but not hot enough to raise the temperature above sixty degrees.

If a farmer has just a few bushels and has plenty of floor space, the potatoes can be fairly well cured by spreading out in thin layers on the floor and let remain until cured and then store in box or barrel as described above.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE ANNUAL

CHILTON COUNTY FAIR

1917 October 29 —— to —— November 3 6 DAYS

This Year the Fair will be Made Bigger, Cleaner and More Worth While than Ever Before.

Purpose of the Fair:

The purpose of the Chilton County Fair is, and has ever been, first,to promiot the agricultural interest of Chilton County and to encourage every phase of our local home life and development. To serve this end the Fair Association was organized, and has labored for a number of years with the most zealous efforts.

In connection with the annual assembly of our products and exhibits we attempt to furnish our people a series of clean, wholesome and amusing features in the way of shows. We thereby hope to make business of the institution combine with the pleasure of the occasion in such a way as to stimulate the interest of the people, but always careful not to detract from the first intentions of the Fair.

This year we have done the best we could toward the accomplishing of these purposes, and we will submit our efforts to the public the week of October 29 to Nov. 3. We hope every citizen of the county wil come and aid us in making the Fair a success.

Announcements:

The Fair Association announces the opening of the Chilton County Fair for 1917, at the usual grounds in Clanton, on Monday, October 29. The exhibition will continue through and including November 3, a solid week. Six days of the most interesting features ever presented here.

The gates will be closed Monday, October 29 against alyl persons, except those bringing or making exhibits. The public will be admitted on Tuesday, October 30, at 8 o'clock.

Season tickets will be on sale again this year, and may be purchased from the Secretary, W. T. Bean.

One day will probably be given at the Fair as Educational and School day. Announcement will be made definitely as to this feature later.

The agricultural and home development feature of the Fair is particularly stressed this year, and we desire the people to bring the best things there are in the county and put on exhibit. Get them up and bring them to the Fair. Liberal prizes and premiums will be awarded for he best exhibits in every line.

Special Features:

The great United States Show will furnish attractions for Fair week. We feel safe in saying that never before has the Fair Association been able to secure a show that is superior to this one. It is absolutely a clean, respectable amusement company, and guarantees nothing but respectable features.

A big free attraction will be furnished each day. It will be either a high dive, balloon ascension, or aeroplane.

The monkeys driving real automobiles is a wonder never seen here before. Don't let the kids miss seeing this novelty.

The finest old plantation show on the road. 22 expert comedians make up the crew, and they are full of good new acts and jokes.

A splendid 22 piece brass band will furnish music for the week.

Many other special features to be announced between now and the opening of the Fair.

Get your Exhibits ready to place on the Opening day. Everybody is urged to co-operate in making the Fair this year a creditable and overwhelming Success.

Everyone who wants Individual Booths must notify Mrs. Annie Thacker, Clanton, Ala., not later than noon Thursday, Oct. 25, so arrangements may be made.

TEXAS RED RUST PROOF OATS

SEED NOW READY FOR FALL SOWING

I have just received a large shipment of these famous Seed Oats, and have them for sale to Farmers of Chilton County in particular.

READ THIS SWORN STATEMENT

The Howe Grain & Mercantile Company

Wholesale Grain, Hay, &tc.

Howe, Texas.

October 12, 1917.

This is to certify that we have this day shipped to Clanton, Ala,, for L. H. Reynolds of Clanton, Ala., two hundred 160-lb sacks,—32,000 pounds of Texas Red Rust Proof Oats, in M. K. & T., car No. 190115, and that said oats were raised near Howe, in Grayson County, Texas, in year 1917. Signed at Howe, Texas, this 12 day of October, 1917.

Loy Helney, Mgr. Howe Grain & Merc. Co.

Subscribed and sworn to bifore me, a Notory Public, in and for the County of Grayson, State of Texas, this 12 day of October, 1917.

(SEAL) A. B. Cowan, Notary Pub., Crayson Co., Texas.

These are the same quality and grade of Oats which I have sold here for several years, and so far, I have never had a single complaint against them. I aim to sell them as cheap as they can be sold this year, and would be glad for every farmer to come and see me and investigate this kind of oats before you buy for fall sowing this year.

Now Is a Good Time To Treat Your Catarrh

Mild weather aid treatment.

Don't be misled into thinking that your Catarrh is gone. The first touch of winter weather will bring it back with all its discomforts.

But this is an excellent time to thoroughly cleanse the blood of the germs of Catarrh, and be forever rid of the troublesome sprays and douches that can never cure you.

S. S. S., the great blood purifier, searches out the germs of Catarrh which infest your blood, and chases them entirely out of your system. It is by far the most satisfactory treatment for the disease, because it reaches down to its very roots and gets at the cause. Write to-day for full information, and expert medical advice regarding the treatment of your own case. Take advantage of this chance to-day. Address Swift Specific Co., Dept. G Atlanta, Ga.

A Mother's Love

Through all the ages, a mother's love has been the most beautiful sentiment ever expressed. It is the most pathetic, the most joyful and the most wonderful feeling mortals have ever felt. The mother who does not want her child to be perfect is yet unborn. The strongest characteristic of womanhood is a mother's love and pride for her baby.

The external application, "Mother's Friend", is prepared especially for expectant mothers. It relieves the pain and discomfort occasioned by the stretching strain upon the ligaments and the skin of the abdomen, when baby is born. It makes elastic those muscles which nature is expanding and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The expectant mother remains a pretty mother by using "Mother's Friend". Her form is preserved and danger is avoided.

"Mother's Friend" is to be had at your drug store. Write the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. E, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga. They will send you a most valuable and interesting book, without charge, "Motherhood and the Baby". "Mother's Friend" makes it possible for you to aid nature yourself in the wonderful work to be done and no woman should go a single night without using it.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION

Notice is hereby given that Thomas J. VINOL MAKES CHILDREN STRONG

And Invigorates Old People

Any doctor will tell you that the ingredients of Vinol as printed below contain the elements needed to improve the health of delicate children and restore strength to old people.

Cod Liver and Beef Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, Lime and Soda Glycerophosphates, Cascarin.

Those who have puny, ailing or run-down children or aged parents may prove this at our expense.

Besides the good it does children and the aged there is nothing like Vinol to restore strength and vitality to weak, nervous women and overworked, run-down men.

Try it. If you are not entirely satisfied, we will return your money without question; that proves our fairness and your protection. Millions of people have been convinced this way.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

The Union-Banner has direct information that ample capital, composed of interests locally and from Birmingham and Montgomery, has organized to serve the public promptly in the operation of works suitable to take care of all grain produced in the neighborhood of Clanton, and in the entire county.

In accord with foregoing notice, which has been carried in both the papers of the county, I have made arrangements to place upon my property at Clanton between the L. & N. railroad and Seventh Street, a velvet bean crusher of 25-tons per day capacity, and other grain machinery, to care for the grain crop. Ample storage room will be provided to take care of this situation.

Ample arrangements to market the product in commercial form will be perfected and daily quotations from the market procured.

The support and co-operation of every citizen whose personal and community interest is involved is respectfully solicited.

Wm. M. ADAMS.

One good Business Man has quit this space because he says his ad here is not bringing him any money. Now do you see the way he is looking at this business? His view is wrong. The idea is this:

These Business men did not contract with us to run this half-page space with the idea of standing by and seeing the dollars fall into their cash drawers fro mit. They did it because they were willing to Co-operate with this paper fo ra year in a campaign of boosting for the home town. They did not agree to even pay this paper for the ad. They agreed to pay the price they did to help us in the expense which we must go to in carrying our messages of boosting to the outside world, and on the side we just throw in the space which their ads occupy.

Now if you men do not want to co-operate in this campaign it is not hurting us. But you are just in effect saying that you are not willing to help boost your home town and community.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ———about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

How many pounds to a ton—2000 or 1500?

HOW many pounds of real roughage are you getting to a ton? If you are buying old style hulls you are getting about 1500 pounds because they are about one-fourth lint which has no food value.

If you are buying

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE
COTTONSEED
LINTLESS

you are getting 2000 full pounds because they are free from lint and are practically 100 percent roughage. Try them and see how much farther they go.

Other Advantages

- Cost much less per ton than old style hulls.
- Allow better assimilation of other food.
- No trash or dust.
- Sacked—easy to handle.
- They mix well with other forage.

Mr. W. C. Owens, Charlotte, N. C.,

feeds thirty cows. He considers Buckeye Hulls the cheapest feed and gets the best results.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

REGISTERED MEN HAVE NEW CLASSIFICATION

Separation into Five Groups of Those Registered for Service Planned.

NEW SYSTEM IS BASED ON BOARD ENDORSEMENT

Crowder Works out Plan to Establish Economic Positiaon of All Citizens.

Washington, October 20.—Nine million men, still subject to army draft will be divided into five classes, and called according to class.

Provost Marshal General Crowder announced this today, pointing out that economic considerations will govern the new system of selection, and that those least available, either for industrial or dependency reasons, will be the last called.

The new system, based on recommendation of draft boards the country over, will simplify their tasks and make the drawing hereafter even more equitable than in the past. The system is designed to get the best military material first and to allow the man himself to establish his own economic position. Each man will be allowed seven days to answer as to his industrial status and the dependency of any relatives.

The exact time of sending out these questionaire, or just what questions it will include, still are under discussion.

General Classification.

The classes in general will be divided about thus:

Class One—Bachelors without dependents; men with self-supporting wives; and others with no claims of dependency.

Class Two—Highly skilled farm laborers; men with wives who could work; and others of only slight dependency.

Class Three—Men with aged mothers; highly skilled operators in war industries.

Class Four—Men with large families dependent upon them—say with a wife and three or four children.

Class Five—Legless men, paralytics and others of the military unfit.

Class one would be called first; Class two next, if needed ,and so on.

In each class the men would be subject to call in the turn which the original drawing gave them. Appeals from the classification can be taken.

Only twenty forms will be needed in handling the clerical work under the new system as against 182 under the old.

"Number 1000" will be the form number for the questionaire. Crowder's announcement says:

General Crowder's Statement.

"Along with the reduction of labor, there will be provided a system which will classify each one of the nine millions of men who have not yet been inducted into military service, and each man will have been given his place in the national army of defense.

"To this it has been determined to obtain from each man complete information of a character which will definitely fix his economic worth as compared with his fellow registrants, and from the information thus obtained, to place him in one of five classes, each to be called in turn as the need arises.

"The method of obtaining this information is through a 'questionaire,' a series of questions calculated to produce the information required. This document will be mailed to every registrant not yet in service on a date to be fixed, seven days being given to each registrant to complete and return the same. Every opportunity will be offered to each man to complete his questionaire fully and without error.

"The local boards will then examine each questionaire and assign each registrant to one of five classes.

"These classes will be based upon every conceivable condition, from the family or occupational standpoint that should be properly advanced by a man desiring to be excused from military service Class 1 will be the first called for physical examination and service and when it is exhausted, if the nation's needs are such as to make it necessary, class 2 will follow and thus each man registered will ultimately take his place if needed.

"Every opportunity for appeal from each classification by the local board has been retained and perfected, but proceedings have been greatly simplified.

The tedious work of the local boards has been practically eliminated by the production of a form to be known as number one thousand, which will be the foundation stone of the system. Through its use all laborious work of making and posting lists has been eliminated. All of the old docket sheets and records will be made unnecessary and by arrangements of its columns work of the local boards will be reduced to a minimum.

"On this new form, the complete history of each man's case will appear at a glance, beginning with his order number and ending with his induction into a military camp. while at the close of each day's work the local board is enabled to complete in a few minutes with a rubber stamp what has hitherto taken hours to complete. The system is such that it will present each case almost automatically to the local board.

"The completion of the new system will solve problems which have confronted the Provost Marshal General and caused him much concern.

"One of the most serious of these has been keeping together the great organization of the local and district boards which from a numerical viewpoint, is of the strength of the national army division. Many of these division shave been clamoring for relief on account of the drain on their time, and the new system will make it easily possible for them to continue their duties for which they have proven themselves eminently fitted. Another problem solved was the question of expediency of continuing the examination of the entire registry, thus fixing each man's status. This would have involved a medical examination of each man, whose physical condition might change from day to day, thus making this great undertaking valuless.

"Again under the old system of exemption and discharge, it would have been necessary if the national boards had required, for the local boards to send for the exempted men to return for physical re-examinaiton while in the meantime his industrial or family status might have changed, thus envolving endless appeals and confusion.

"The new system fixes a man's class and calls him in his proper turn when he is needed. He will be examined physically only when needed. Thus the labors of the medical officers will be called for only when required. If the nation needs a half million men they will respond each in his turn fixed by his class.

"The man who can least be spared either as the head of a family or the head of a business necessary to the defense of the nation will be the last to go.

"The new plan is being made ready for the printer and will be submitted to the local and district boards in ample time to enable them to familiarize them with it and thus approach their next draft with a thorough knowledge of its requirements."

NOTICE TO APPORTIONERS AND OVERSEERS AND THE PUBLIC

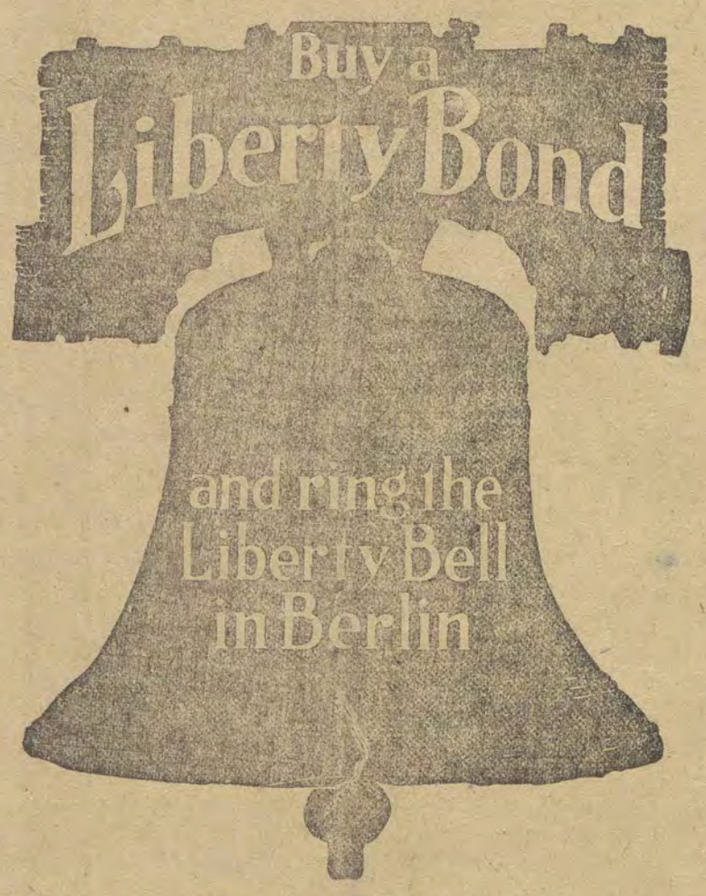
We want all the apportioners and overseers in the county to meet the Commissioners Court Tuesday, the 6th day of November, 1917, at 10:00 o'clock, a.m.

The Commissioners want to hear reports from all the public roads in the county, and they want to confer about the future working of the roads.

We will be glad for as many as feel interested in the roads to meet with us. We ask all mail carriers to meet us if they can, and if they cannot come we would be glad to have any suggestions from them concerning the needs of their routes, and if there are any places that get so bad in the winter they cannot travel them, specify them. Now is the time to work places that get bad in the winter, for after they get wet it is hard to fix hem.

We hope all the people will keep in minds the public roads and remember that if we ever have good roads we must build them. We will never see any more bonds or debts for roads.

If every team in the county were to help on the roads two days each year and every man that is able to work give two days, it would give us good roads all over the county, and no one would miss the time.



If anyne knows of an overseer who is not spending the money he has for roads as he should we would be glad to hear any complaints at this meeting or at any other time.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate,
W. T. HERROD,
A. P. VINSON,
S. E. WALDRUP,
R. J. WILLIAMS,
Commissioners.

DON'T FORGET US

While you are in Clanton next week at the Fair, don't forget that it is a mighty good time for you to come around and subscribe for the Union-Banner; or if you are already a subscriber, renew your subscription before it is out and your paper stops. You know we stop sending papers now on the very day the subscription expires. So you must be on the dot or else you will miss a copy.

But then, if you don't want to pay your subscription, we would be glad to have you call to see us. You are always welcome to our office. You may find us up to our eyes in printers ink and too busy to talk much, but we will find time to welcome you and extend a hand shake. Come to see us, friends.

AMERICAN FARMER PATRIOTIC— PROVIDES SUPPLIES AND MONEY

Few will question the patriotism of the American farmer.

If there is any man in whom the love of home, the love of liberty, and the love of independence is thoroughly grounded, it is the American farmer.

Naturally, therefore, he is the one man more than any other, who will stand firmly behind his Government in making the world safe for Democracy.

The farmer is doing, and will continue to do, all in his power in the matter of the production of foods to support our people at home, our boys in the trenches and our allies.

But it is as necessary to finance liberty as it is to fight for it, or to feed those who fight.

Because all of this is true and because he can afford it on account of the prices he is receiving for his products, the farmer should be one of the most eager purchasers of Liberty Bonds.

He should be willing and glad to share a part of his profits in support of his government in the prosecution of the war.

It should not be necessary to convince any man of the need of the Government for his aid.

Charity is not asked for, but help; and help of a kind that knows no selfishness.

If money is loaned to the Government at a fair rate of interest and repaid at the specified time full value has been returned.

The man lending the money always has something on which he can realize full value at any time he may need money.

The man who cannot on account of age, infirmities, dependents, or any other reason enter active service can send his dollars to fight for him, realizing every day that he has done his best and that full credit will be given him.

Small Investors Buy Liberty Bonds

Of the first Liberty Loan of $3,000,000,000 sixty-five per cent of the subscriptions were for amounts of $10,000 and less. The same ratio is expected to prevail for the second.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

CHILTON COUNTY FARM LOAN APPLICATION IS APPROVED

Mr. B. Guy Smith, Attorney and Secretary & Treasurer of the Chilton County National Farm Loan Association, has been advised by the Federal Loan Bank of New Orleans that applications to that bank for loans through the local association have been approved to the extent of twenty-one thousand dollars.

The local Association was handicapped and delayed in its infancy by the original papers not being properly fixed up, necessitating their reutrn for proper execution. This occasioned several months delay, but Mr. Smith was eventually able to get all in proper shape.

These loans are made to the farmers by the government at 5 per cent interest and long time payments. The letter which Mr. Smith has received means that there has already been approved $21,000 worth of applications and the local association has about 25 new applications to send off.

MAGNOLIA ENCAMPMENT CHANGES MEETING NIGHTS

Notice is given that a change has been made in the time of meeting of the lodge of Magnolia Encampment No. 75, at Clanton. Heretofore the Encampment has been meeting the first Wednesday night in each month. Henceforth, under the new order made by the Lodge the meeting time will be the first Thursday nights in each month. All members are urged to take due notice and govern themselves accordingly.

LOOKING FOR PLUNDER

The annual budget of the City of New York for 1918 lacks only about five thousand of being $240,000,000. This is a sum to excite the cupidity of Tammany, or of other political organizations. It is a great stake in a great game; and it is small wonder that New York in these days is displaying more interest in politics than in the Liberty Loan.

GIRLS CLUB WORK

This appeal is made to you not only as club members but as patriotic American citizens, as mothers and wives, as sisters and friends of the boys that are "somewhere in France" and the loved ones of your home land.

From October 28th to November 3rd has been set aside as food conservation week. Cards will be sent to your homes from the schools. We urge you to sign these cards and to put into practice the suggestions on them. To win the great war in which almost the whole world is engaged, we must feed them, and to do this we must use our food most judiciously at home.

There are hundreds of ways in which we can do this. Below are a few worthy suggestions from Food Administrator Hoover:

The wise and careful use of wheat, meat, butter-fat, milk;

The use of other fats for butter in cooking;

The use of other cereals for part of the wheat in bread;

The use of other meats such as fish and game or the use of eggs and cheese, to reduce the demand for beef, pork and mutton, should be advocated;

The larger use of fruits and vegetbles should be featured;

The proper nourishment of every member of your family is your first duty;

The substitution of the foods that are plentiful for the foods that are scarce, or especially needed for export, does not imply any cutting down in the ration of nourishing foods;

Waste in cooking and serving must be eliminated;

Perishable foods, locally grown, must be consumed more freely;

The "Gospel of the Clean Plate" must be preached.

The canning club members have been given many demonstrations in making cottage cheese and peanut butter, both good meat substitutes. There are a number of bulletins available at the department of agriculture with recipes for using these substitutes, and almost any information wanted can be obtained there, in regard to food value of the various products. Hundreds of bulletins have been distributed over the county, so I appeal to you to read them, sign a card and practice the economical use of food in your homes.

The poultry club members are urged to pay more attention to their poultry than ever before. You have this year raised almost a perfectly balanced egg ration for your hens—corn, soy beans, velvet beans, peas, wheat, peanuts and sun flower seed. Protect your flocks from the weather and you can expect large returns in eggs, which will go far in feeding the home.

I feel sure that every club member in the county will sign one of these cards and play their part in helping win the war.

LIDA JONES, Agent.

URGE CONSERVATION OF OUR FOOD PRODUCTS

TO THE PUBLIC IN CHILTON COUNTY:

We all know that our country is engaged in the most stupendous war the world has ever seen. This war is on and whether we want it or not is no longer a question. Many of our boys are now in Europe almost ready to go on the firing line, and they must be fed; and we are the ones to feed them, for our allies are not on their farms, but most of the men are at the front fighting, so the responsibility rests upon us to feed the world.

The government wants to get in touch with every family in the United States and we hope to reach every housewife by getting her to sign a pledge to help conserve the food supply of the country. Those who sign these cards will be in touch with the Department of Food Conservation at Washington and will thereby get much information that they would not otherwise get. No contribution of any kind will be asked. All information will be sent free, and we have all to gain and nothing to lose.

We want all the schools in the cunty to have appropriate exercises on Friday, October 26th and fully explain to the children and parents the necessity of signing the pledge cards, and we want all of the preachers in the county to lecture on the subject of food conservation on Sunday, Octber 28th.

We feel sure that all realize the necessity of taking care of our food and especially at this time, though it is a good lesson to learn at any time. Remember that it is possible and not improbable for this country to have the greatest food panic we have ever seen, and it is now our duty to take every opportunity to help conserve the food we have. We would be much better off to have food on hand that we did not need than to need food and not have it.

Remember that we should plant all of the winter crops we can and try to keep something growing in our gardens for table use and plant as many of the various small grains as possible.

Let us ask you this question: Suppose that the lumber business were to become dull and the steel plants stop. Who would feed the people who are laboring at this business and receiving their entire support from same?

I hope that everyone will do his duty and that every housewife will sign one of these cards and get in touch with the government. Everyone who signs should write their names plainly and give their rural route address so that the government can reach them often.

I have selected Mr. J. C. Jones, Dr. A. M. Gowan, J. Wiley Littlejohn and Prof. W. T. Bean as an executive committee to help in this work, and we trust that every teacher in the county will give us their hearty co-operation in this great movement.

The work is to begin on Monday, October 29th and continue for one week. All literature will be sent the teachers in due time for the registration.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Chm. Food Con. Com. Chilton Co.

IRA BILLINGSLEY WRITES FROM CAMP WHEELER, GA.

Editor Union-Banner:

I suppose you know of our move to Camp Wheeler. We came over Monday, and all the boys I have seen seem to be liking here just fine, tho they are not as well fixed up here as they were at Camp Gordon. I can't see much difference in it for it is all war. I am liking fine. Could not be doing any better anywhere than I am here. I am sure it will do us all good to havet his training.

I trust everything in Clanton is doing fine and that we will all be back again soon with you people.

I remain,

Your friend,
IRA BILLINGSLEY.

AN EVIDENCE OF WEAKNESS

The most vigorous stand which the German troops made before they were dislodged from the village of Poelcapelle during Haig's latest drive was from a position in a brewery. With machine guns they made a desperate defense, but they were compelled to withdraw. This more than any rumors of revolt in the army or navy, impresses us with the truth of the reported slackening in German morale. When a bunch of Germans can be driven out of a brewery they must be, indeed, in sore straights.

NEGROES WILL JOIN IN FOOD CONSERVATION

ERNEST ATTWELL APPOINTED COLORED FOOD ADMINISTRATOR

Tuskegee, Ala., October 23.—Mr. Richard M. Hobbie, the Food Administrator for Alabama has recently announced the appointment of Ernest T. Attwell of Tuskegee Institute, Ala. as State Director for work among the colored people. His first public activity in this connection is being felt in the Conservation Pledge Campaign which is to be intensified during the week commencing October 28th in an effort to secure signed pledge cards on the part of the heads of families throughout the state. There are perhaps over 200,000 negro families in the state of Alabama, and therefore, the work of engaging the interest and attention of the people to this important matter is one of the big jobs of the war. It is a work in which every individual family should give hearty cooperation and if these pledge cards do not reach persons during the week mentioned an effort should be made to get in touch with the County Chairman or Director Attwell so that no single family will be overlooked. The greatest opportunity since the war began is being given in this campaign for the colored people to make a fitting exhibition of their patriotism and loyalty in the part the nation is playing in conquering Germany and protecting the countries who are fighting for a world-wide democracy and universal liberty. Mr. Attwell's long connection with the Tuskegee Institute and his service thruout the state for movements for general welfare gives him a particular fitness to do this work which requires organizing his people in harmonious relationship to the activities of the people in the state under the plans of the Food Administration.

PROGRAM OF FAIR INCLUDES VARIETY OF BIG FEATURES

New Orleans To Have Events of Interest to Every State in the South.

One of the greatest tributes to the position attained by the National Farm and Live Stock Show, New Orleans, at a single bound and in less than a single year, was the granting of unusually low rates by all the railroads. It was recognition of the benefit of the enterprise to the farming and all other industries of the south, and of the wisdom of giving all the people of the south a chance to reach it and profit by it.

The war has placed an immense strain upon transportation facilities, and it is anticipated that there will be a shortage of cars and locomotives. For that reason the roads all over the country have largely reduced their concessions to the fairs. In some of the northern states there were no special rates put on, so that the attendance was seriously interfered with. The rates allowed the National are much better than last year, from the very cheap two days excursion privilege to the practically one-way fare for the round trip and "stay as long as you like."

The opportunity of taking in the big event with all its education and its chances to buy, sell and get acquainted, is too strong to resist. The farmer's and the farm wife's and the farm youths' difficulty is going to be to decide as to the days on which to come, for each day has its own attraction and its own appeal. The best plan is to go for the entire fair. The ten days will be equivalent to a college course and a trip to half a dozen states and markets. If that is impossible, then the proper course is to get together and organize parties to enjoy some of the bright spots that tempt most. To facilitate such a survey the list of days is appended, although the mere titles do not begin to furnish all the details, nor is the list entirely complete even so short a time before the show. However, here it is:

Saturday, Nov. 10—Inaugural Day parade, Louisiana Travelers' Day, School and Children's Day.

Sunday—New Orleans Day, Fraternal Day, Floral Night parade.

Monday—America and Allies' Day, Liberty Loan Day, Retail Merchants' Day.

Tuesday — Wholesale Merchants' and Manufacturers' Day, University and College Day, Land Day.

Wednesday—International live stock convention, John M. Parker, chairman; Louisiana and Mississippi Day.

Thursday—Farmers' and Planters' Day, Federal Land Bank Day, Agricultural Products Night parade, auction sale of Hereford and Holstein cattle, Duroc-Jersey swine and horses.

Friday—Pan-American Day, night horse show, auction sale of Angus and Jersey cattle, Poland China and Berkshire swine.

Saturday—Food Conservation Day, Boys' and Girls' Club Day, night horse show, Football Day, auction sale of Shorthorn and Red Poll cattle, Chester White and Hampshire swine, and various breeds of sheep.

Sunday—Concessionaires' Carnival Day, Trades and Labor Day, Press Day.

Monday—Negro Day.

The department of ethics and fair extension propaganda, under the direction of Mrs. M. R. Graham Bankston, has an individual and distinctive programme of days, each with a separate chairman and noted speakers. Patriotism, woman's progress, art, social service, ethnology, modern philosophy, economics, philanthropy and good times are the wide range of subjects that will appeal to thoughtful citizenship during nine days of public discussion and instruction.

The list of special days reveals the fact that the nights will be as attractive as the days. Friday and Saturday will be the night horse shows, among the most brilliant society functions given in New Orleans in years. There will be other features for various evenings, and the grounds will be as bright as day through the use of electric flood lighting, which is to receive its first test on such a big scale in this section.

A. B. Graves, superintendent of the agricultural department, originated and is organizing a series of night parades. The flower show will break out of bounds one night and stage marching gardens aglow with light and beauty. There will be a similar night when agriculture will be afoot. Towards the end of the show the concessionaires and the white city dwellers will combine in a carnival. The live stock buyers' convention and sale will run through almost a week, and it will be international in scope, for half a dozen nations as well as a dozen states will be represented.

National Farm and Live Stock Show, to be held in New Orleans, Nov. 10-19, is the best place for the man who wants to buy good cattle or hogs to meet the man who has them to sell. Auction sales of pure-bred live stock will attract thousands to New Orleans during the big fair.

38,000,000 BEAR ARMS; 27,000,000 FOR ALLIES

Central Powers Using 10,600,000, According to Latest War Department Compilation.

Washington, October 22.—At least 38,000,000 men are bearing arms in the war—27,500,000 on the side of the Allied Powers, according to the latest war department compilation from the published reports in various countries. These figures do not include naval personnel strength which would raise the total several millions.

Against Germany's 7,000,000, Austria's 3,000,000, Turkey's 300,000, and Bulgaria's 300,000, are arrayed the following armed forces: Russia 9,000,000, France 6,000,000, Great Britain 5,000,000, Italy 3,000,000. Japan 1,400,000, United States more than 1,000,000, China 541,000, Rumania 320,000, Serbia 300,000, Belgium 300,000, Greece 300,00, Portugal 200,000, Montenegro 40,000, Siam 36,000, Cuba 11,000, and Liberia 400. San Marina and Panama also have small forces under arms.

Military experts do not regard these figures as exactly correct, but believe they represent in round numbers the comparative strength of the contending armies as published recently. The War Department has many confidential reports on the forces of the allies and considerable data concerning enemy armies, but this information is not made public for military reasons.

Germany and Austria have made every effort to conceal the precise numbers in their armies, but careful estimates of the Allied Military Intelligence Departments have placed the total at about 10,000,000 with Germany's force more than double Austria's.

Used successfully a whole year all over the South

BUCKEYE Lintless Hulls have been fed by farmers, dairymen and stockmen throughout the South for the past year. Reports from these feeders indicate that these lintless hulls when properly fed, are a great improvement over the old style hulls.

By actual use, these feeders have found the following advantages of using

TRADE MARK BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS LINTLESS

Every pound of the Buckeye Hulls contains much more food value because the lint on the old style hulls has no food value.

The price per pound of real roughage in the form of Buckeye Hulls is very much less than in the form of the old style hulls. Buckeye Hulls do not clog or flux the digestive tract. Other foods mixed with them are readily assimilated.

They are free of trash and dust.
They are sacked and easy to handle.
They take half as much space in the barn.

If you have not tried Buckeye Hulls, please remember that thousands of feeders are using them and will use no other roughage. If you have not given Buckeye Hulls a fair trial, let the experience of these successful feeders guide you in using them as they should be used.

Mr. Olwey Yarber, Booneville, Ark., has fed a carload of Buckeye Hulls to cows and calves to get them ready for the range. He had been feeding hay and he finds that they did much better on Buckeye Hulls as roughage. He has another car of Buckeye Hulls bought.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

The aforesaid party having been adjudged a bankrupt, under the Act of Congress entitled "An Act to Establish a Uniform System of Bankruptcy throughout the United States" approved July 1st, 1898, meeting of the creditors of said bankrupt is called at the office of the under Referee, in the United States Court House, Montgomery, Alabama, on the 30th day of October next, at 10 o'clock, a.m., to make proof of debts, and for the election of a Trustee, and such other matters as are necessary and required by the Act of Congress aforesaid. M.S. Carmichael, Referee.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 17, 1917.

MINOOKA ITEMS

The health of our community is good at present, for which we are very thankful. Everybody seems to be getting along nicely harvesting their crops. Sorghum and velvet beans are plentiful in this section of Chilton County.

A Mr. Ellzey from Birmingham has bought out Mr. Jim Killingsworth and moved to our community. We are all glad to have him as our neighbor. Mr. Killingsworth's family has moved to Louisiana. Mr. John Killingsworth has also sold out. Mr. Walter Blankenship has sold his place too, but will remain in this community this winter.

There are several good farms for sale in this district.

The singing led by Mr. Woods of Calera at Minooka Sunday p.m. was a grand success. The house was full and running over.

The Sunday Schools both at Minooka and Mudtown are taking on new life. We hope, with the help of our teacher and Mr. Ellzey, we will pull this winter more successfully than ever in the past.

We have our same old teacher in the public school this time, Mr. F. B. Williams. He has been teaching a month next Friday. We hope to have an assistant to help him right soon.

Next Friday, October 26 we are all invited to spend the day with our teacher and children, and see what they have learned the first month of the school. There will be dinner on the ground, and everybody interested in school work will be welcome to spend the day with us. Two or three other schools have been invited to come to our school but we have not heard from them at this writing. We would be glad to have the County Superintendent and at least two or three members of the board of education spend the day with us. Everybody come.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE ANNUAL

CHILTON COUNTY FAIR

1917 October 29 —— to —— November 3 6 DAYS

This Year the Fair will be Made Bigger, Cleaner and More Worth While than Ever Before.

Purpose of the Fair:

The purpose of the Chilton County Fair is, and has ever been, first,to promiot the agricultural interest of Chilton County and to encourage every phase of our local home life and development. To serve this end the Fair Association was organized, and has labored for a number of years with the most zealous efforts.

In connection with the annual assembly of our products and exhibits we attempt to furnish our people a series of clean, wholesome and amusing features in the way of shows. We thereby hope to make business of the institution combine with the pleasure of the occasion in such a way as to stimulate the interest of the people, but always careful not to detract from the first intentions of the Fair.

This year we have done the best we could toward the accomplishing of these purposes, and we will submit our efforts to the public the week of October 29 to Nov. 3. We hope every citizen of the county wil come and aid us in making the Fair a success.

Announcements:

The Fair Association announces the opening of the Chilton County Fair for 1917, at the usual grounds in Clanton, on Monday, October 29. The exhibition will continue through and including November 3, a solid week. Six days of the most interesting features ever presented here.

The gates will be closed Monday, October 29 against alyl persons, except those bringing or making exhibits. The public will be admitted on Tuesday, October 30, at 8 o'clock.

Season tickets will be on sale again this year, and may be purchased from the Secretary, W. T. Bean.

One day will probably be given at the Fair as Educational and School day. Announcement will be made definitely as to this feature later.

The agricultural and home development feature of the Fair is particularly stressed this year, and we desire the people to bring the best things there are in the county and put on exhibit. Get them up and bring them to the Fair. Liberal prizes and premiums will be awarded for he best exhibits in every line.

Special Features:

The great United States Show will furnish attractions for Fair week. We feel safe in saying that never before has the Fair Association been able to secure a show that is superior to this one. It is absolutely a clean, respectable amusement company, and guarantees nothing but respectable features.

A big free attraction will be furnished each day. It will be either a high dive, balloon ascension, or aeroplane.

The monkeys driving real automobiles is a wonder never seen here before. Don't let the kids miss seeing this novelty.

The finest old plantation show on the road. 22 expert comedians make up the crew, and they are full of good new acts and jokes.

A splendid 22 piece brass band will furnish music for the week.

Many other special features to be announced between now and the opening of the Fair.

Get your Exhibits ready to place on the Opening day. Everybody is urged to co-operate in making the Fair this year a creditable and overwhelming Success.

Everyone who wants Individual Booths must notify Mrs. Annie Thacker, Clanton, Ala., not later than noon Thursday, Oct. 25, so arrangements may be made.

People are now being urged to co-operate in the Federal movement to conserve the food supply of the country. We are giving space elsewhere to some articles in this connection, and urge our readers to take notice of what is intended to be done and take the proper steps to aid in the work. It is a very necessary part of our national war campaign to conserve our food supply and curtail the waste in every way possible. Let us learn well this lesson of economy and thereby aid our country in the prosecution of its aims and purpose in the World War.

We want to ask one thing of those who come to the Fair net week, and it is this: if you need anything and expect to buy any goods of any sort, we urge you to go trade with the business men who are asking for your trade through the columns of the Union-Banner this week. Our merchants are extending a public invitation for you to come to see them when you come to the Fair and we hope you will do so and patronie them. You can't do better than to buy from these home merchants, and let your dollar stay in the community where you live.

Some farmers in Chilton County are to realize direct results from the Federal Farm Loan system. Attorney B. Guy Smith, Secretary of the County Federal Farm Loan Association, informs us that approval by the government has been made of applications for loans from farmers in this county in the aggregate sum of $21,000.00. This, with other applications pending, upon which government loans will in all probability be made, wil bring quite a deal of money into the hands of our farmers, much to their advantage and the general development of the county.

WINTER INACTIVITY NEAR

Snow has fallen in Northern Maine and snow is daily expected in Northern France, which is substantially in the same latitude. Before winter quarters are necessary, the Allied commanders seek to establish themselves upon lines whence they can come down upon the Boche with the melting snows of springtime, and when that time comes the sweeping tide of allied success will have been swollen to victorious proportions by the American contingent.

LITTLE CUSTOMS REVENUE

The daily treasury statement for October 10 is suggestive. It shows ordinary receipts of $1,849,000, and ordinary disbursements of $11,771,000; and it shows that only $104,000 of the receipts for the day were derived from customs duties. These figures are exceptional, of course; but they are indicitive of the trend of the fiscal policy of the Democratic party. The custom houses now yield the smallest percentage of the national income that they have ever produced, and the policy of the party in power is to render our tariff income negligible on the country's balance sheet. At the same time the direct taxes are being piled on thicker and thicker.

VELVET BEAN GRINDING

On account of the unexpected delay of a few days in getting completion of the work on a fifty-horse power engine, by Alabama Machinery & Supply Co., of Montgomery, the actual work of grinding will necessarily be delayed a few days longer than was expected. We hope and expect to have the entire plant ready to do business not later than between the 2nd and 5th of November. We have the assurance of Alabama Machinery & Supply Co. that this engine will be delivered to us in ample time to begin operation by the time needed. This engine will give our plant 85 horse-power, with the 35 horse-power engine which we now have on hand.

Everyone attending the county fair next week is cordially invited to inspect our plant in all of its details, and to discuss with us the question of markets and marketing of their products.

SPECIAL PROGRAM AT SCHOOLS NEXT FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26TH

To the Teachers of Chilton County:

The State Superintendent has requested that every school make arrangements to observe a special program on next Friday, October 26th, on the subject of food conservation for our nation and for our Allies.

This food conservation is a great problem before the American people today, and you can do a great part by acquainting yourself with the literature that you will receive and then arouse your patrons to the need of action at this perilous time. Whether the war was waged justly or unjustly is no longer a question, for it is upon us and we must feed ourselves and our allies or go down in disastrous defeat at the close of this war. The question now is "Conquer or be Conquered" and to have an ample supply of food for ourselves and our allies means a sure victory for us, but without this food we must be conquered and our own government be overthrown. Which do we prefer?

It has been said that the South wastes enough each year to feed the entire nation, but if every home can be reached and if more economy will be practiced the victory is ours.

Please begin as soon as you receive this notice to arrange for the observance of at least the latter half of next Friday afternoon. If you can not make a speech on this subject, you can read the literature and make some comments, but do your utmost to impress your people of the great importance of acting. It would be of much interest to formulate several problems for exercise work that would greatly impress upon the minds of those present the great importance of this movement.

You might formulate a great number of interesting little broblems using the following data, and figure what could be saved to the nation each day or each year by each person saving only one cent per day, or each family would save 10 cents per day or per meal, or if each child would save just one biscuit per day that is often wasted, etc. There are approximately 3500 families in Chilton County, 23,000 people, and 7,000 school children; and approximately 50,000,000 families in the United States. These little problems can be varied and made interesting and at the same time greatly impress that a vast amount can be saved.

Please do your best to have the heads of each home in your district present and have them sign one of the pledge cards. If your patrons do not attend your exercises, please fully explain to the children what is expected of their parents and see that a card is put into each home.

Yours very truly,
W. T. BEAN, Co. Supt. Ed.

NOTICE

Increase in Rate of Postage on First Class Mail, Including Postal and Post Cards.

Postmesters shall, on and after November 2, 1917, see that postage is paid at the rate of THREE cents an ounce or fraction thereof on letters and other first-class matter except drop letters. All drop letters, that is letters mailed for delivery from the office at which posted, including those for delivery by city, rural or other carriers of such office, are requested to have postage paid on them at the rate of TWO cents an ounce or fraction thereof. Postal cards are required to be prepaid TWO cents, and therefore, the one-cent postal cards must have a one-cent postage stamp affixed to them in addition to the one-cent stamp impression on such card. Post cards (private mailing cards) bearing written messages must have two cents postage paid on them. Postmasters at offices of address shall be careful to rate up the proper amount of postage due all mail reaching their offices with the postage insufficiently prepaid.

The above is a copy of the new postage law, and I wish to call special attention to the change in postage rate, and ask that the public comply with same.

Respectfully,
JAMES E. ROBINSON,
Postmaster.

We have arranged for a series of six interesting articles, "War Talks, by Uncle Dan," written by Mr. Howard H. Gross, president of the Universal Military Training League, of which this is the first. They tell in a graphic way why military training is of value, both to the nation and to the individual, and our readers will find them of unusual interest.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number One

America Must Fight Hard or Germany May Win—Necessity for Military Training.

"Now, Billie," said his mother, "your Uncle Dan is coming tomorrow to spend a week with us on the farm, and if you want to know about the war, here's your opportunity. Uncle Dan is probably one of the best-informed men in the country." Billie clapped his hands and gave such a whoop that he wakened the baby, but what could you expect of a fifteen-year-old boy who is a living interrogation point and wants to know about war?

Uncle Dan arrived in due time and Billie watched for an opportunity. It came that evening after dinner when Uncle Dan had lighted a cigar and taken a seat on the porch.

"I'm mighty glad you came, Uncle Dan. I want to talk to you about the war. We have just put military training in our township high school, but we had a hard time to do it. The Joneses and the Greggs objected. They said the war wouldn't come over here. Grandma Jones said: 'They ain't no use to worrit, it will soon blow over.' Well, we put the training in just the same. You orter heard Judge Brownell, the president of the school board, do the slackers up. He said unless we take off our coats and go to it, Germany may yet win, and if she does, she will take over the great British fleet as a war trophy and compel us to do what ever she wants to; that she could make us pay all the cost of the war; the kaiser could tax us as he pleased and that we couldn't help ourselves. He could make every one pay over a part of what he earns; that he could make the farmers pay rent for their own farms, etc. Now, Uncle, what do you think of that?"

"Well, my boy," said Uncle Dan, "all that Judge Brownell says might easily come true and may unless we go quickly to the aid of the allies with large numbers of men and help them break the German line. Unless we can beat the submarines, they may prevent us from getting enough food to the allies to keep them going. In that case Germany would win. As matters stand today, our greatest need is trained men. If we had had several millions of men with military training in our industries and on our farms when the war came, who could have been called at once for service, I do not believe the kaiser would have forced the war upon us. As it was, he had no respect for us, and now we are in it and must go through with it. But never again must we be caught so wholly unprepared.

"There is only one safe way," said Uncle Dan, "and that is to adopt permanently universal military training, apply it to every young man who is physically fit, say in his nineteenth or twentieth year. The training can be carried forward in the United States training camps that are now being established for training men called by the selective draft. As soon as these men vacate these stations, they should be filled by younger men, and this should be made the permanent policy of the country."

Billie's mother, Mrs. Graham, had overheard the conversation. She came out and said: "Really, Brother Dan, are you serious as to the dangers of our country? If it is as bad as that, it is high time for us to wake up and do something about it."

"Exactly," replied Uncle Dan. "It is better to wake up now than to be rudely awakened later. We may as well understand, sister, that this is our war and we must win it or God help America. Everything that we have or hope to have—our liberties, our blessings, our opportunities are all involved in the great issue before us. Nothing must stand between us and winning this war. It is a question whether the peoples' right or the kaiser's might shall dominate the world. If there ever was a holy war, this is it. We are fighting for world liberty. We are fighting for the freedom of humanity. We are fighting for the right of men to govern themselves instead of being governed against their will by a war-mad overlord. Perilous times are ahead of us. We must be prepared to make any sacrifice, to perform any service that may be required of us."

"Oh, Uncle Dan," exclaimed Billie, "may I bring my chum, Jimmie Collins, when we have our next talk? He is a bug on this war business and just crazy to see you."

"Certainly," said Uncle Dan, with a hearty laugh. "If we are to have more talks, I shall be glad to have Jimmie join us."

Billie clapped his hands and ran to the 'phone and told Jimmie to be over at seven o'clock the next evening.

WINTER GRAZING FOR HOGS

By J. C. Ford, Field Agent for Pig Clubs.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Since hogs are bringing the highest prices they have brought in fifty years, and since the state is overflowing with feedstuffs, Alabama farmers should give the best of care to their hogs this winter, especially to their brood sows and fall litters.

Some feedstuffs are as high priced relatively as hogs. This is especially true of corn and peanuts. Even at the present price of hogs, they will not make money when fed for very long on corn as the only feed. In order to make money out of hogs, it is necessary that a good part of their feed come from some cheap source. One of the most profitable sources for a good part of the hogs' ration is green feed which the hogs harvest themselves.

The experiment stations and successful farmers have found that such winter-growing crops as rape, rye, oats and barley will very successfully make up from half to three-fourths of the ration of sows and pigs and young, growing stuff and from one-fourth to one-third that of fattening hogs. It is a very bad policy, however, to force any kind of hogs to live entirely on such feed as they cannot eat enough of it to do well.

It is now too late for the fall seeding of rape in North Alabama. Oats seeded after October 15th in North Alabama will not give much grazing till toward spring. Rye will do better for late planting than oats. Barley does best if seeded after the weather gets a little cool. Barley and rye are hard to kill by freezing.

Rape is not very safe for central Alabama if seeded after October 15th, but rye will do well and oats will furnish considerable grazing of the weather is not too cold. In extreme south Alabama any of these crops may be planted as late as December 1st, but will be more valuable if planted earlier.

Rape will furnish about two or two and one-half times as much grazing per acre as the other crops mentioned. On fairly rich land an acre of rape will usually furnish plenty of grazing for a litter of six fall pigs throughout the winter. If the winter is mild it will do still better. Another half acre will take care of the sow.

The regular grain crop of oats, rye and wheat can be grazed during the winter by light hogs without material injury. They need to be taken off by February 1st or earlier in the southern part of the state and by March 1st, or earlier in the Tennessee Valley.

NOTICE—I grind wheat only two days in the week—Monday and Thursday.

SPEAKING AT COURT HOUSE ON THE ISSUES OF THE WAR

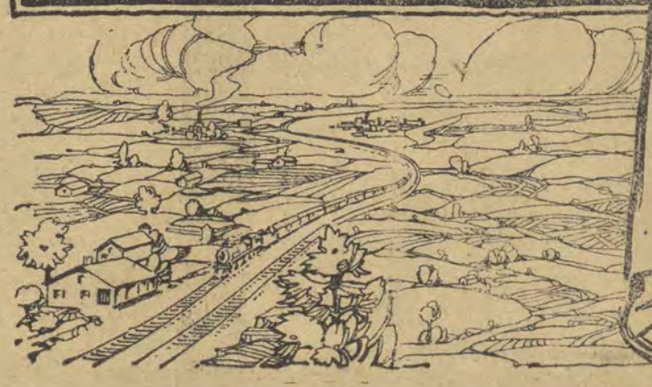
We are requested to announce that Hon. John S. Tilley, of Montgomery, and others will speak at the court house on Saturday. Discussion will be made of the issues involved by America's part in the war at present. The public is urged to be present and hear what is to be said.

EVERY DAY

the L. & N. distributes $148,300 throughout the South for operation of its trains and up-keep of its property.

This daily distribution is made possible through the successful management of a constructive railroad which is an important factor in Southern progressive development and commercial supremacy.

Because the L. & N. realizes that its interest and the interest of the people are mutual, it co-operates in every possible manner for better farms, (the foundation of all prosperity); for better industrial conditions; for better commercial co-operation; for better educational facilities; for more cordial social relations.



Through their share in the L. & N's daily distribution of $148,300 many individuals and enterprises are able to realize their desire for business prosperity and personal happiness.

A considerable portion of the $7,200.00 paid daily for taxes is devoted to Southern education.

One out of every ten people derives his or her means of livelihood directly or indirectly from the railroad industry. The L. & N. operates in nine Southern states. Therefore the ability of the L. & N. to operate successfully is a matter of vital concern to Southern prosperity.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD CO.
The Old Reliable

EVERY time the sun sets on the Southland, the L. & N. pays out $148,300 in the operation and upkeep of its line of road.

It costs every day—
$69,900 for wages,
$47,700 for materials and supplies,
$23,500 for interest and rent,
$7,200 for taxes.

SAVE PLENTY OF HAY

Before frost comes every farmer needs to make sure that he has an abundance of roughage to carry his livestock through the winter. Indeed, it is a safe rule to provide more hay and other roughage than will probably be needed. This is especially true the present year, when all food stuffs and all animal products are so high in price.

Those who did not sow a sufficient acreage in cowpeas, soybeans, sorghum or other crops especially for hay, should before frost mow such patches of crabgrass and other wild grasses as can be found. Even some classes of weeds make hay that will be eaten during the winter.

The roughage may be considerably increased by cutting a part of the corn stalks and curing them in shocks. This is especially advisable for late corn, or for the small corn plants growing on galled spots or in other places where the ears are small.

A still better forage, where sufficient shelter is available, is made by cutting the smaller corn stalks and the velvet bean vines if not too luxuriant. Some farmers have found this to pay, even though the cutting had to be done by hand, and even where it was practicable to cut only the upper part of the corn stalk and the upper part of the velvet bean vine, thus saving corn tops and velvet bean vines by a laborious hand process.

UNCLE SAM GIVES SOUTHERN FARMERS FINE OPPORTUNITY

Will Bring Greatest Exhibit To National Farm and Live Stock Show.

The United States is coming to the National Farm and Live Stock Show at New Orleans, Nov. 10-19, prepared to tell the farmer all it knows, and to illustrate the reason for all that it asks and advises.

This is the first time that the United States has sent its great agricultural exhibit to this section. This is war time and the government is very busy. It is sparing the time and the men because it realizes that the south is bound to be the main food source of the future, and it believes that by coming to New Orleans it will be able to reach most of the south at one time.

The United States department of agriculture had a great display at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, and thousands voted it a revelation and a marvel. The exhibit has been made much larger for the approaching occasion. It will be like a veritable four-ring circus of agricultural acts and features, and it will have dozens of experts along to explain the displays and give further information. It will run the finest kind of a moving picture show all day, and it will have frequent lectures in addition. There will even be chiefs of departments like Dr. George H. Rommel, head of the animal husbandry bureau, and probably Dr. Bradford Knapp of the states relations service, and others.

As the exhibit will crowd 12,000 square feet of space, and will be a complete fair in itself, it would require a book to give the details. Wherever the products themselves are not used, there are artificial duplicates, and there are models of all sorts of buildings to serve as guider to the farmers. There are collections of all the insects that affect crops, stuffed animals and birds that have direct bearing on agriculture, miniature orchards and forests, and a thousand other things. Meat inspection is shown in all its phases, with a tiny abatoir in action. There are types of barns and other buildings and equipment best suited to farm dairying. Poultry will have almost first place, not only the ideal structures being shown, but some of the very latest discoveries on the poultry experiment farm which the government operates near Washington. Reforestation is exploited in a picturesque way, and the growing tobacco industry is visualized in various ways. An entirely new exhibit compares and explains the newly established grades of cotton. The boys' and girls' clubs will be treated in their national aspect, affording a medium of comparison as well as example. The good roads display will be of immense service, especially as it will treat with construction material and methods as well as the benefits which follow.

Uncle Sam determined that if he would stop in his war rush to get up a fair exhibit he would get up one that would be of as much help and inspiration as possible; and the people can make it of more service by taking fullest advantages of its important lessons and demonstrations.

PLAN GREAT POULTRY EXHIBIT.

National Farm and Live Stock Show, to be held in New Orleans, Nov. 10-19, offers $1,450 cash premiums on poultry exhibits. R. E. Bruce, New Orleans, is superintendent. He states that poultry will be exhibited from more than a dozen states and some of the very best specimens of each breed will be included. Competition is open to all states. A special effort is being made to not only have every breed of chicken represented, but to have also turkeys, geese, guineas, ducks, pheasants, pea fowls, etc., shown in the big poultry building.

COMPULSORY ATTENDANCE OFFICERS APPOINTED

The County Board of Education has appointed the following persons as the compulsory attendance officers for the schools of the county under the provisions of the new compulsory attendance laws of the state.

S. M. Yates for the Southeast Division.

Quite a number of people from Clanton and vicinity attended the Circus at Montgomery last Thursday.

"Tell me the worst, doctor!" cried the sick man. The doctor hesitated.

"Can you stand it?" he asked very gently.

"Yes, yes, exclaimed the sick man. "Tell me the worst!"

"Well, if you insist," said the doctor in a hushed voice, "your bill will be $897.00."

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

A joint meeting is being planned by the churches of the city for next Sunday night, which it is hoped will be attended by everyone who possibly can. This is in the interest of the food conservation movement. The Federal government is sending out earnest and urgent appeals to all classes of people to avoid the waste of food in every way possible, so that the general markets will not be drawn upon more than is absolutely necessary. And the home stocks which may be preserved will doubtless have a high value for sale if such can be spared during the coming winter. The purchasers are receiving weekly bulletins which they are urged to lay before their people.

The pressing appeal to the people is not only to avoid waste, but also to use as little as possible of certain classes of food which may be best exported, and instead, use that which cannot well be shipped. The evident intention is to impress upon us that the future food supply of the world has a critical outlook, and that saving and sacrifice at home are necessary to feed the soldiers in the fields who are fighting our battles for us. In addition to the 40 millions of men who are withdrawn from productive labor must be considered the countless thousands who are starving to death in ruined countries, and whose only hope for life lies in America's food supply.

Wheat and meat can be most easily and economically sent abroad, the Europens know nothing of the use of our corn. Hence, it is urged that we use corn, vegetables, fish, and other home products which cannot be exported, and stint ourselves in flour, all kinds of meat except poultry, and in sugar, which is very scarce. In eastern cities stores are already having out "No Sugar" signs. Thus he who "remains by the stuff" shares in the honor of winning the war with "those who go down to the battle."

Is the church and church attendance to be lightly regarded? Does the Bible allow any ground for the belief that one who is not vitally connected with a church is truly a Christian? Spiritual life, like all other life, produces growth. Does church membership, then, without church cultivation and development, mean that the member's soul is saved? May he not be deluded and on the way to hell if he is not growing into the image and spirit of Christ? Is it not possible that men, in or out of the church, may be presuming upon the mercy of God and the saving Grace of Christ when their lives are not showing the "fruits of the Spirit" according to the word of God? These questions will be discussed at the Clanton Baptist Church on next Sunday morning, October 28th.

THE RURAL TEACHER'S OPPORTUNITY FOR SERVICE

By L. N. Duncan, Superintendent, Junior and Home Economics Extension.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

I sincerely trust that every rural teacher in our great State may catch the spirit of the times and make the school an efficient training camp for the big life work that lies before our boys and girls. There has never been a time when the necessity for training for effective service has been so great. Every teacher should strive to turn out from the school boys and girls possessing good health, the proper respect for law and order, a full appreciation of the higher and better things of life, and above all else equipped with a desire to make and the necessary knowledge for making a living.

If the teacher has the proper spirit, she will not confine her efforts to the school room alone. She should be a leader in the community. She should organize her boys and girls into a community club for study, recreation, and pleasure. Above all each boy and girl of the proper age should carry on some home project such as gardening, canning, poultry raising, corn growing, and pig raising. Get in touch with your County Farm Demonstration Agent and your County Home Demonstration Agent for help.

If we are to make the world "sawe for democracy," our farm boys must be taught to be skillful farmers, and our girls efficient home-makers. The hope is in the young generation. It is the teacher's opportunity.

Some Special Annonncements About the Chilton County Fair this year.

Exhibits in any and all departments will be received from Saturday, October 27th to Monday, October 29th, at 9:00 o'clock, p.m.

Those who desire to enter milch cows in contests to compete for prizes need only to have them at the Fair on Thursday, November 1st, as that is the day on which they will be judged.

Friday, November 2 will be school day at the Fair, and 3,000 school children are expected to attend on this day, when special attractions will be arranged.

Big free attractions will be furnished free every day, either Aeroplane, Balloon or High Dive.

W. T. BEAN, Secretary.

TO THE SCHOOL PATRONS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

I hereby give official notice that the Compulsory Attendance School law will become effective on October 29th, 1917, for Chilton County, and every child who was eight years old or older but was not fifteen on the first day of October, will be required to attend eighty days during this scholastic year.

If a child was seven years old on the first day of October, 1917, but becomes eight during the scholastic year, the law will not apply to him. If a child were fourteen during this scholastic year, the law will apply to him and he will be required to attend school eighty days.

Any child who lives two and one-half miles or more from the nearest public school for his race, the distance being measured by the nearest traveled route, will not be required to attend school.

Any child who is mentally or physically unable to do the work of the school may be exempted from this law, but such claim must be substantiated by a properly attested certificate from a practicing physician.

Any child whose services, because of extreme poverty, are necessary for his own or his parents' support, may be excused from attending any school, by the parent or guardian making affidavit that such necessity exists.

If a child is too young to be of service for his own or his parents' support and his parent or guardian makes affidavit that said child is without the necessary clothes and books for attending school, said child may be excused from attending school until he is provided with the necessary clothes and books through charity or other means.

Any child may be excused from this law when he can show to the satisfaction of the county superintendent of education that he has finished the elementary course of seven grades.

All children who are within the compulsory age limit will be required to attend eighty days in succession unless exempt, but the principal teacher may excuse any child for temporary absence in an extreme case of emergency or domestic necessity, but the time put in school since October 1st and before October 29th will be counted on the records.

It is the duty of the principal teacher to report to the county superintendent of education the names of all children subject to this law who fail to enroll within five days after the law becomes effective, and any teacher who fails to make such report is subject to having his contract and license canceled.

Any parent or guardian of any child who fails to attend school as is required by law, upon conviction, must be fined not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, and may be sentenced to jail for not more than thirty days. The parent or guardian s held responsible for the conduct of his child, but if any parent or guardian makes affidavit that he can not control his child, said child must be sent to the proper reform school.

Children of compulsory attendance age shall not be employed by any merchant, corporation, company or other person, during the compulsory attendance period, except when such child has a written permit of absence from school from the county board of education. and anyone violating this law shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction must be fined not less than five nor more than fifty dollars ,and may be sentenced to jail for not more than thirty days.

FAMOUS LECTURES

As per announcement in the Union-Banner, Mr. L. F. Zink of New York City, of the International Bible Students Association, lectured to attentive audiences on the 18th, in Union Springs community. First subject was "The Day is at the Hand"—the world judgment day; the golden age; the grand Sabbatic year; earth's great jubilee; a period of a thousand years when the world not the church will be on trial; when evil will be restrained; when all who will obey may have eternal life. He stated that that day was now at the door, introduced by world-wide trouble, such as would never be again.

rection of the deadat,handdygreTLa

His second subject was "The resurrection of the Dead," that during the thousand-yead day all the dead billions will be awakened from death. On this planet, man's normal home, that man with comparatively few exceptions really wished to go to heaven, the home of the true church, but preferred this earth as his eternal abode. His counsel to all was to get right as nearly as possible and thus be better prepared to obey the law of the thousand-year judgment day and live forever on the earth—that the great work of salvation would continue through this judgment day. The most joyful message ever heard. He is a forceful speaker of fine intellect, bold, definite and logical.

MODEL DAIRY BARN AT NATIONAL SHOW

A model dairy barn has been erected on the fair grounds at New Orleans and will be in actual operation during the second annual National Farm and Live Stock Show, to be held Nov. 10-19. Silo demonstrations will be given in connection. Almost every modern and practical labor-saving device is included in the dairy barn outfit. A home-made stall and stanchion which costs but 50 cents to make will be on exhibition.

The dairy barn will be under charge of C. H. Staples and C. W. Radway of the Louisiana agricultural extension department, and L. A. Higgins and his assistants of the Mississippi dairy extension service will also be on hand to answer all questions pertaining to dairying.

Keep Well

Do not allow the poisons of undigested food to accumulate in your bowels, where they are absorbed into your system. THORSBY ITEMS

The Christian Endeavor Society for the Congregational Church gave a social at Bates Hall on Friday night of last week. Everyone present enjoyed a pleasant time, and the success of the social was due to a well-arranged program prepared by Miss Payne.

Don't forget the Olsen Sisters on Monday night. October 29th.

The next program of the Helen Keller Literary Society will be rendered on Friday night of this week at Bates Hall. Everybody is cordially invited.

Prof. S. H. Herbert returned on Friday of last week from attending the national council of Congregational Churches at Columbus, Ohio. He reports a very pleasant and profitable time, and says that, contrary to some reports which were published in the newspapers, the council put itself on record as heartily supporting President Wilson in the conduct of the war.

Mrs. George R. Hoskins, spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson, returning to her home in Ensley, Ala., Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Chas. T. Rogers is spending a few days of this week with his family in Thorsby.

Mr. Clifford McDonough left his home in Marvel, Ala., on Saturday of last week.

Mr. Albert Peterson is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson. Mr. Peterson has served for years in the navy and has just returned from the War Zone.

Mrs. Anna Villadsen left Saturday morning of last week for Jasper, Ala., where she will visit a couple of weeks with her son, Mr. Reno Villadsen.

Mr. Lawrence Richardson of Georgiana, Ala., came in on Wednesday to visit with his sister, Belle, who is a student in Thorsby Institute.

Mr. C. E. Woodham, who is principal of Smith School, eight miles north of here, spent Friday night with friends in Thorsby.

Rev. W. H. Hopkins of Atlanta, Ga., preached at the Congregational Church last Sunday morning and evening. He also conducted chapel exercises at the Institute Monday morning.

Miss Elsie Caldwell, who is attending the Institute, spent the week end with her parents at Pletcsher. She was accompanied to Thorsby Sunday afternoon by her father and mother and her brother William, of Shuqualak, Miss.

Mr. Paul T. Bath of Atlanta, Ga., was in Thorsby on Monday of this week for the purpose of tuning the Institute pianos.

Mr. Walter Morgan left on Saturday morning of last week for Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga. He is another one of Thorsby Institute students to respond to Uncle Sam's call.

Mrs. H. M. Gerald was elected primary teacher in the public school this week to fill the vacancy made by the marriage of Mrs. McLean.

Mrs. C. W. Adams of Birmingham, accompanied by her little daughter, Elizabeth, was the guest at the home of her brother, Prof. C. M. Williams for a few days last week. Mrs. Adams was a student in Thorsby the first year Prof. Rosco taught in the building now occupied by Thorsby Institute.

Jim Grant, Senator from Beat 10, was in Clanton Monday to the delight of his many friends.

BUYING THE PLANTS FOR THE HOME ORCHARD.

By G. C. Starcher, Horticulturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The home orchard has almost disappeared from Alabama farms. The same is true of farms almost universally, and as a result fruit has become so scarce and high priced that it is now considered a luxury rather than a necessity. Damage wrought by insects and diseases is the direct cause of this condition. Until recently it was difficult if not impossible to control these plant enemies, but now their control is a very simple matter. Simple spray materials and spraying machinery can be easily purchased and the Agricultural College will gladly give the necessary directions for their use. Therefore, many new farm orchards should be planted this winter.

All of the fruits should have a season range. For the apple orchard buy such varieties as Early Harvest, Red June, Hackworth, Fanny Grimes Golden, Kinnards Choice, Stayman Winesap, Arkansas Black, and Yates. They are named in order of ripening. For the peach orchard select Mayflower, Greensboro Carman, Hiley-Belle, Belle of Georgia, Elberta and Salway. Plums—Red June, Wild Goose, and Shropshire Damson. Pecans—Schley Stuart, Success and Van Deman. Pears—Le Conte and Kieffer. Grapes—Moore's Early, Diamond, Delaware Concord, Scuppernong, and James Strawberries—Excelsior, Lady Thompson, Aroma, and Klondike.

Purchase one year apple, pear, plum and grapes. Buy small one year peach, or June budded peach. Either one or two year pecans will do.

J. L. Gore and W. H. Gillespie, Deputies of the Sheriff's office, are in Montgomery this week attending court as witnesses.

Fiery Eczema and Skin Eruptions Readily Yield to This Old Remedy

Sucessfully used for fifty years.

Eczema and similar skin troubles come from a disordered, impure condition of the blood, and they can only be cured by giving the blood a thorough cleansing, and removing from it all traces of impurity.

This is why S. S. S. has been used so successfully in hundreds of cases of Eczema and other skin eruptions.

This wonderful remedy is without an equal as a blood purifier, being probably the oldest blood medicine on the market. It has been sold by druggists for fifty years.

VOLUME VI. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., NOVEMBER 1, 1917. NUMBER 31.

Judge of Probate, Ala.

THIS IS FOOD CONSERVATION WEEK ALL OVER THE UNITED STATES

People are urged to co-operate with the Government in this vitally Important work.

This week is being ovserved all over the United States as Food Conservation Week, and the people are being urged in every way possible to aid and co-operate with the government in bringing about a more rigid adherence to the vital principles of economy in our kitchens and households.

This conservation of food will help our government to win the war, and for this reason alone, it should be carried out by every man, woman and child who is under the shadow of the stars and stripes. But it will do more than this: It will keep the high cost of living, for without economy the present high prices will go even higher.

Mr. Hoover's Statement.

We want to call your attention to something Mr. Hoover, the national food administrator, said recently in regard to economy in the use of foods in this country. It is this:

"There is no force by which conservation could be imposed upon the American people. Conservation can be accomplished in some countries by iron-clad law, or by forcing legal limitations on every individual in the country, but in our country that is not only unfeasible from the governmental point of view, but it is against the instincts of the people. On the other hand, we may accomplish the same result voluntarily if we can give the people a stimulus in the knowledge that every individual has here a definite service to perform. We have therefore never considered this problem from the viewpoint of force —we have considered it always from the viewpoint of voluntary effort. We have asked all to join us as voluntary workers, as we are to effect by a democratic movement the result which autocracy has only been able to effect by law and organization.

Indeed, we feel that there is a service here greater than the actual saving and the actual practical result. There is a possibility of demonstrating that democracy can organize itself without the necessity of autocratic direction and control. If it should be proved that we cannot secure a saving in our foodstuffs by voluntary effort, and that as a result of our failure to our country we are jeopardizing the success of the whole civilized world in this war, it might be necessary for us to adopt such measures as would force this issue, but if we come to that unhappy measure, we shall be compelled to acknowledge that democracy cannot defend itself without compulsion—that is autocracy and a confession of failure of our political faith.

If we can secure allegiance to this national service in our 20,000,000 kitchens, our 20,000,000 breakfast and lunch tables; if we can multiply an ounce of sugar, or fats or what not per day by 100,000,000 people, we have saved 180,000,000 pounds in a month. If we save a pound of flour per week, we save 125,000,000 bushels of wheat per annum. It is this multiplication of minute quantities—teaspoons full—slices, scraps —by 100,000,000 and 360 days that will save the world. Is there anyone in this land who cannot deny himself or herself of something? Who cannot save some waste? Is not your right to life and freedom worth this service?

Sign Pledge Cards.

The people are being urged this week to sign pledge cards in co-operation with the government in the conservation of food. We hope every family in Chilton County will sign and return one of these cards to the government representative.

Following is a copy of the card, which you are asked to sign:

TO THE UNITED STATES FOOD ADMINISTRATION:

I pledge myself to use the practical means within my power to aid the Food Administration in its efforts to conserve the food supplies of the country, and as an evidence of my support I wish to be enrolled with yourselves as a volunteer member of the Food Administration.

Name .....

Street .....

City ....., State .....

There are no fees or dues. We want your help, in the form both of your personal efforts to economize food and your influence with others toward food economy and wise control of our national supply. If you will give this help it will be a direct service to your country.

Reports are coming in from some parts of the state to the effect that there is some opposition to signing he Food Conservation Pledge Cards during Cnservation week. This opposition it is believed arises from the fact that the people of the state are not familiar with the pledge which they are asked to sign, and are laboring under the false impression that they are asked to bind themselves to something which will involve unusual self-sacrifice or cause much personal inconvenience.

To eliminate this misunderstanding and to show how simple is the the pledge asked for, we publish above the text and form of the card.

Sign the pledge card and fall in line with others to prove your Americanism and help to win the war.

NOTICE TO APPORTIONERS AND OVERSEERS AND THE PUBLIC

We want all the apportioners and overseers in the county to meet the Commissioners Court Tuesday, the 6th day of November, 1917, at 10:00 o'clock, a.m.

The Commissioners want to hear reports from all the public roads in the county, and they want to confer about the future working of the roads.

We will be glad for as many as feel interested in the roads to meet with us. We ask all mail carriers to meet us if they can, and if they cannot come we would be glad to have any suggestions from them concerning the needs of their routes, and if there are any places that get so bad in the winter they cannot travel them, specify them. Now is the time to work places that get bad in the winter, for after they get wet it is hard to fix hem.

We hope all the people will keep in minds the public roads and remember that if we ever have good roads we must build them. We will never see any more bonds or debts for roads.

If every team in the county were to help on the roads two days each year and every man that is able to work give two days, it would give us good roads all over the county, and no one would miss the time.

If anyne knows of an overseer who is not spending the money he has for roads as he should we would be glad to hear any complaints at this meeting or at any other time.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate,
W. T. HERROD,
A. P. VINSON,
S. E. WALDRUP,
R. J. WILLIAMS,
Commissioners.

NOTICE

All persons having accounts with me will please call and settle with Mrs. Johnson at the office.

Dr. SAM JOHNSON.

Mrs. K. M. Vinson has returned from a visit to her husband who is in the military training camp at Macon, Ga. She reports that Kin is getting along fine.

LODGES TO BUILD CLUBS IN OUR MILITARY CAMPS

Atlanta, Ga., October 29.—The Masons, Odd Fellows and other Protestant fraternal orders are to be permitted to erect a combined club house in each of the army camps, according to additional information received from Washington today on the decision of the War Department, to reconsider its former ruling barring all Protestant secret orders from the camps.

In Washington today to work out the plans for the erection of the clubhouses are a number of prominent Masonic officials, including Geo. F. Cooper of Washington, and Barton H. Smith of Columbus, Ohio, commanders of the Southern and Eastern Jurisdictions, respectively, of the Scottish Rite, and Lee Smith of Pittsburgh, head of the Knights Templar.

They will confer with Secretary Baker and formulate plans whereby all fraternal orders may combine and have one community clubhouse in each camp. This is regarded as a satisfactory settlement of the controversy.

THORSBY ITEMS

Rob Roy Quartet, presenting a progarm of Scottsh humor and song, will be the next number on the entertainment course coming Thursday, November 8th.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson. who has been visiting relatives and friends in Milton and Pensacola, Fla., the past two weeks, returned home last Sunday.

Miss A. E. Parker of Birmingham is visiting at the home of Mrs. W. L. Leary. The Ladies Guild of Thorsby entertained in honor of Miss Parker on Wednesday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. Leary.

Mesdames H. M. Gerald and P. W. Horn spent Saturday of last week in Birmingham shopping.

Thorsby regrets the loss of Dr. O. C. Mastin, who left on Sunday of this week for Midway, Ala., where he expects to practice his profession.

Mr. L. E. Diefenderfer is rejoicing over the arrival of a little son, October 26th.

Miss Lois Abernathy spent Sunday at Calera with her mother, who is visiting Miss Sallie Williams.

The citizens of Thorsby and neighborhood regret the loss of Dr. A. M. Wooley, who has been called into military service.

Messrs Arthur Johnson and Marvin Marshall spent Tuesday of last week in Montgomery for the purpose of consulting an oculist.

The many friends of Miss Lena Franklin will be glad to learn that she is very much improved and that she will return home soon.

Mr. F. A. Gulledge of Verbena was in town Monday making arrangements for repairs on the hotel, which he expects to open the first on Nov.

DR. HOPKINS TO BE HERE

Dr. P. I. Hopkins requests us to announce that he will be in Clanton November 3rd and 4th, to see those who have business with him. He is now in New York, doing post graduate work.

Just say a good word for Clanton

COTTON SEED PRODUCTS UNDER FOOD CONTROL

President Wilson's proclamation putting cotton seed products under the food control and providing for licensing ginners, buyers of seed and oil mills has created a fear on the part of cotton growers throughout the South that it will tend to reduce the price of cotton seed to such an extent as to put it below a par value of other products, and thereby tend to discourage the production of cotton another year. There is no provision in the food bill that will permit the naming of a maximum price that may be paid to the farmer or to force him to sell at any given time or price. The licensing of buyers and oil mills, restricting them to a reasonable profit and regulating them to the amount of stocks they may keep on hand, does tend to eliminate or regulate the independent buyers, which has a tendency to take the keen interest out of the market and allow the price to sag of its own weight. The matter was discussed before the food administration committee by Commissioners af Agriculture, Farmers Union Officials, and oil mill representatives at Washington October 15th 16th. It was agreed that suspension of operations of the law was impossible in wiew of the fact that the proclamation was made and became effective October 5th. There remained nothing else to do but to promulgate the best possible rules and regulations in carrying into effect the purposes and intent of the law. This was done and will become operative in the near future. The effect it will have on the seed market remains to be seen. Farmers will be allowed to hold their seed for any length of time or purpose they desire. Independent buyers may be allowed to enter the market and buy not to exceed one hundred and fifty tons without regulation, unless the privilege has been stricken out since the conference.

Grain Plentiful.

The large yield of corn this year seems to have dispelled all fear, for the present, of a grain shortage, in the opinion of Mr. Hoover. He gives as his opinion that the greatest shortage will be in fats and oils, and that the shortage will be acute by next April or May. This being the case, a market for surplus corn, beans and hay can best be had by feeding hogs and cattle.

The European countries are killing off their breeding animals at such rate as to deplete their stock in three more years. America will have to produce meat and fats for the countries in Europe during the war and for at least five years thereafter, in addition to furnishing them a supply of breeding animals for the war. A wise farmer will get into the live stock business as fast and as efficiently as he can. It is the best opportunity ever offered to American farmers and those who grasp it first will get most out of it.

"WITH THE COLORS"

Dear Editor:

Will you please allow me space for just a few words?

I am in the United States Army and like army life fine. I had been told before I came here that army life was awfully hard, but I find it is all a mistake. I have been here at Camp Gordon only one week and have already learned to love the place. We have many good boys here, which makes me feel much better than I expected I would when I first came here. We also have good Sunday Schools and preaching here, and entertainments of all kinds. We have an entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. almost every night. Sometimes we have movies, sometimes music, and sometimes concert and singing.

We have anything to make life a pleasure. Many thanks for the Y. M. C. A. I think the Y. M. C. A. is just grand. It is doing great work for our country.

I and my friend, Mr. Robert Baker, went to Atlanta this p.m., Oct 27. We had a splendid time, and I wish some of our old friends from home could have been with us.

I would like to have a letter from anyone, who wishes to write to me.

Yours truly,
CHAS. E. HEADLEY,
7th Co., 2nd Tr. Bn., 157 Depot Brigade, Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga.

County Superintendent of Education W. T. Bean is busy this week with a force of clerks and assistants, getting everything in proper shape for the enforcement of the compulsory School Attendance Law in this county. There are a great many details to the operation of the law, but our best educators say it is in every way advantageous when enforced.

THE COUNTY FAIR WILL BE SUCCESS THIS WEEK

Bad Weather to begin with will not Affect a Good Showing the Latter part of week.

In spite of the unfavorable weather with which this week began, the County Fair offers every indication of a successful termination. The exhibits are all in place, and the return of sunshine weather will bring hundreds of people out to the Fair grounds the remainder of this week.

The school children are restless for the big time they are to have on the school day—Friday. The fair management predicts a big day for the kids. They are preparing to entertain 3,000 school children on that day. The agricultural and live stock exhibits are about up to the standard of former years, and speak well for the industry of our farm citizens.

ADMISSION SAME AS EVER

The price of admission to the Fair this year is the same as it has ever been before. The season tickets are $1.00 and the price of gate tickets where no season ticket is purchased is 25 cents.

There is a false impression among the people over the county in regard to the price of admission. The above prices are correct.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

A Shakespearean Club was organized last Thursday afternoon, and the following officers were elected: Miss Leona Pipes, President; Miss Roberta Curry, Vice-President; Miss Inez Higgins, Secretary & Treasurer; Miss Sightler, Critic; and Miss Sewell, Manager.

The club agreed to study Romeo and Juliet First. They expect to do a great work this year.

Last Friday a week ago, the Chilton High eleven defeated the Marbury High eleven in a football game on the former's field. The Chilton boys made nineteen points; Marbury did not make any.

Marjorie—Alice, why did you look so sleepy, and why did you miss your algebra?

Alice—Oh, it was 12:30 last night when my friend from Verbena left, and I could not study or sleep either.

Elizabeth seems to be very happy now, as she is about to get Vernon from Monk.

Denson says that he must quit walking the campus and get to studying, as he thinks he will soon be elected Judge.

Earlie says he can't keep his eyes still when he is around Miss Sewell.

The girls have almost decided to quit wearing white shoes to school on rainy days.

A little freshman girl said that she knew some of the girls were sleeping very miserably now, for they wore their hair curled every day.

Oh, Gee! The fair's here, and just such lessons!

Bert (at the breakfast table one morning)—Oh, mama, I'm full of glory.

Mrs. Robinson—Why, child, what do you mean?

Bert—Well, mama, a sun-beam got on my spoon and I swallowed it.

Quite an interesting football game was played Friday between Shelby County High School and Chilton, on the latter's field. The game resulted in a tie—each team made six points. The game was witnessed by a very large crowd—people from Clanton, marbury, Coopers and Thorsby.

WANTED—To buy a few tons of good hay at a reasonable price.

E. E. UPCHURCH.

UNION GROVE

Health here is very good at present. The farmers are almost done gathering their crops.

The speaking at this place was enjoyed by a large crowd.

Dr. A. A. Conway and wife visited home folks Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Mae Dorminey spent Sunday with Miss Mattie Dorminey.

Miss Bessie Chandler spent Sunday with Miss Lessie Vinzant.

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Collum spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Shaw of Jemison spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Dorminey.

Miss Lessie Robinson spent Sunday with Miss Orella Robinson.

The literary school at this place is progrsesing nicely.

Rev. Bevis, of Jemison will preach at this place Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Everybody is invited to come.

NOTICE—I will grind wheat at Thorsby Flour Mill on Monday and Tuesday of each week, and corn on Saturdays.

FARMER NEAR CLANTON HAS TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE

"I don't think anybody ever suffered more pain than I have. Twice I was operated for gall stones and a third operation was advised. A friend in Iowa wrote me how he was cured by taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. I took a bottle of it on his advice with good results, and have also taken the full course. My pains are all gone and I feel that I am permanently cured. It removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflamation that causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments includoing appendicitis. One dose will convince or money will be refunded.

Think of nice, hot corn muffins, delicious, creamy, Southern batter-bread; tender chicken or duck; fish, fresh ar salted, as you like best; eggs in wonderful sauces, creamed or tasty brown; tender, green vegetables; mealy baked potatoes, piping hot; fruits in an infinite variety.

Does that sound difficult to you?

Yet, if you eat those, consistently, you will serve your country as truly as he who carries a gun.

BECAUSE—that will leave the meat, the wheat, the fats and the sugar to go across the sea to the army and the allies.

FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR!

Judge S. M. Adams was in Birmingham Monday. While there he had a counsel with Mr. Thos. E. Kilby of Anniston, whom the Judge believes will be our next Governor. As compared with some other of our state administrations, we believe that Mr. Kilby in the chair would be somewhat of a blessing to our state.

According to press dispatches, Senator Gore, Democrat, of Oklahoma, "recommended taxation to reduce the cost of living." If taxation would reduce the cost of living, no one will deny the democratic administration credit for making every possible effort. Increased taxes were in order before the war began and three years before we entered it.

The Argentine is evidently the Katy-did and Katy-didn't of nations. Her congress votes by large majorities for diplomatic break with Germany, but her president refuses to act. Members of the cabinet threaten to resign because of it, but they all hold their portfolios. Von Luxburg receives passports, but he remains in the country. Our Ambassador at Buenos Ayres is a novelist, maybe he can unravel the tangled threads of all this.

A special dispatch to the New York Journal of Commerce says that administration officials are having lots of trouble interpreting the new tax law, and that "the more it is examined the more complex does it appear." Well, it was in the control, from first to last ,or committees overwhelmingly Democratic. The final touches were placed upon it by 2 Democratic statesmen from North Carolina. If the administration has any complaints to make, they can be addressed to the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Senate ,both of whom gave frequent evidence of their willingness to confer with the administration officials while the bill was under consideration.

About two years ago when William Jennings Bryan was following the administration lead of opposition to preparedness, he asserted that there was no need of preparedness, for, in case of war, "a million men would spring to arms over night." In the latest issue of the "Commoner", he has this editorial paragraph:

"Those who are inclined to criticize the government for alleged slowness in getting the troops equipped and started seem to overlook the fact that fitting out an army is not one of those propositions that can be taken care of by merely putting in the order over the long distance phone and expecting delivery the next day."

Mr. Bryan, like President Wilson, has changed his mind. Undoubtedly they are to be commended for changing their minds when they found they were wrong, but what shall we have to say for such men as Theodore Roosevelt and Leonard Wood who were right all the time and did not have to change their minds. Mr. Wilson condemned such men as are "nervous and excited," and has never made suitable amends. Nor has any suitable acknowledgment been made to former Secretary of War Garrison who was forced out of the cabinet for the apparent reason that he was too aggressive an advocate of preparedness.

Mr. R. I. Prkins, a prosperous farmer and prominent citizen of Dollar, Coosa county, was in Clanton Wednesday on business.

Elbert Bone, son of Dock Bone, returned Wednesday from Camp Gordon. He was drafted into the army recently, but was rejected at mobilization camp.

M. J. Barrett of Thorsby was a visitor to Clanton Wednesday.

Commissioner A. P. Vinson of Route 6 was in town Wednesday.

Richard M. Hobbie, Food Administrator for Alabama, has received a telegram from Herbert Hoover, United States Food Administrator, stating that sugar scarcity in the eastern states is another evidence of the importance of heeding the advice of the national food administration, regarding the hoarding of food supplies and the restriction of their use.

Mr. Hoover says that the present sugar condition in the eastern states points a great moral to the rest of the country. If the consumption had been restricted as had been repeatedly advised by the Food Administration, a shortage might have easily have been avoided and the one hundred thousand tons of sugar for which France was imploring, could have been shipped.

"Food Pledge Week," Mr. Hoover says, "means the uniting of American consumers of food stuffs to follow the Food Administrator's advice."

The observance of this advice will prevent the necessity of drastic action in regard to the fixing of prices or restriction of consumption on other conditions.

Mr. Hoover's telegram also says that a number of the principal railroads of the country have requested pledge cards by the thousands for distribution to every passenger traveling on these roads during Food Administration week.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION

Department of Interior, U. S. Land Office, Montgoremy, Ala., October 6, 1917.

Notice is hereby given that Russell I. Perkins, whose post-office address is Dollar, Ala., did, on the 14th day of March, 1917, file in this office sworn statement and application, No. 010149, to purchase the SW¼ of the SW¼, Section 36, Township 22 N., Range 16 E., St. Stephens Meridian, and the timber thereon, under the provisinos of the act of June 3, 1878, and acts amendatory, known as the "Timber and Stone Law," at such value as might be fixed by appraisement, and that, pursuant to such application, the land and timber thereon have been appraised One Hundred Fifty-one and 75-100 Dollars, the timber estimated 56,000.00 board feet at $2.00 per M., and the land $39.75; that said applicant will offer final proof in support of his application and sworn statement on the 20th day of December, 1917, before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Rockford, Ala.

Any person is at liberty to protest this purchase before entry, or initiate a contest at any time before patent issues, by filing a corroborated affidavit in this office, alleging facts which would defeat the entry.

GO-TO-SUNDAY-SCHOOL DAY NOVEMBER 4.

This is a day to be observed by all Sunday Schools of every Denomination in America. A Rally-Day, a day when all efforts will be put forth to get as nearly everybody in Sunday School as is possible to get them.

The President of the United States and the Governor of Alabama have issued proclamations calling upon everybody to go to Sunday School on November 4th, 1917.

The Sunday Schools of Clanton are going to observe the day. This was decided at a joint meeting of the Sunday School teachers of the town Monday night. It is hoped that every Sunday School in Chilton county will take advantage of this day and build up their Sunday Schools.

E. L. Jones of Verbena was in town Wednesday. He remembered The Union-Banneer with a call to renew his subscription.

First Lieutenant, Dr. Hosea F. Downs, of the U. S. Medical Reserve Corps, is showing his friends in Clanton how he looks in his official "duds" before he is called to the service under his Commission recently received from the war Department. He is awaiting orders to begin his active service.

FALL ORCHARD WORK

That the farm orchard may be made one of the most productive parts of the farm throughout a large part of Alabama has been demonstrated beyond the question of a doubt. Alabamians do not seem to realize the fact that fruit will grow in Alabama as successfully as elsewhere if the same common sense methods of orchard management are adopted as are practiced in the states of the East and West. Wonderful changes have been made along other lines in agriculture in Alabama, yet no more wonderful than is possible in the development of our farm orchards. A few suggestions that may be put into practice are given below.

Remove grass and trash from around or near the trees, as material of this character harbors insects and rodents and oftentimes aids in the destruction of the trees, if fire happens to get a start. The apple and peach trees should all be examined just at and below the surface of the ground for boring insects. These insects are most easily destroyed by cutting them out of the bark with a sharp bladed knife. In the apple trees it may be necessary to destroy the insect in its burrow with a wire or slender twig.

All dead, dying, surplus or broken branches should be carefully removed with a saw, making the cut very close to the trunk of larger branch. Trees should be ordered to fill all vacant spaces. Trees which are so badly diseased from any cause that they do not promise fruitfulness should be dug out by the roots to permit tillage and later replanting of the same ground. Small calves, sheep and hogs may be permitted in the orchard, but they will do more harm than good.

The orchard should be thoroughly sprayed, as soon as the foliage is off the trees, either with concentrated lime sulphur solution at winter strength or with Scalecide. It is not necessary to ask what this spraying is for, since there is not an orchard in Alabama that does not need a thorough application of one or the other of these solutions. One is about as valuable as the other for destroying insects and disease spores.

Most orchards should be plowed. The plowing may be deep between the rows but in no case should it be deep enough in any part of the orchard to seriously interfere with the root-system. If the roots are shallow, the plow should be run shallow above them. Many of the orchards, which are located on good soil, will not require plowing if proper methods of fertilization are practiced later, but most of the orchards would be benefitted by plowing. If plowing can be done early enough in the season, rye may be sown for a cover crop, which would help to catch and hold much of the plant food that becomes available during the winter season. The rye would furnish excellent pasture for poultry and young stock during the latter part of the winter and it could then be plowed down to further enrich the soil.

Fruit trees respond wonderfully to fertization. Most Alabama farmers should make a great effort to apply the fertilizers made on the home farm, thus reducing their fertilizer bill to a minimum. Manure from barns may be hauled out to the orchard throughout the winter, or, if preferred, it could be stored under a dry shed to be applied about thirty days before the growing season starts in the spring. If a cover crop is used, the manure should be applied to stimulate its growth. If the supply of home fertilizer is so limited that all of the orchard cannot be treated, then commercial fertilizer should be purchased for an early spring application.

If the foregoing simple directions are followed and a careful schedule of spraying is adopted for the coming season, fruit will be grown on many an Alabama farm that will be a revelation to all who see it, and a charm will be added to life on the farm which has long been wanting.

You Can Shake Loose from The Tortures of Rheumatism

By using S. S. S.

The germs of Rheumatism are in the blood, which is laden with millions of the minute demons of pain, causing untold suffering and bringing its victim from vigor and strength to almost helplessness. To get real and genuine relief from this disease, these disease germs must be completely routed out of the system through the blood.

S. S. S. has been used for fifty years with satisfactory results in the treatment of Rheumatism. It acts directly upon the blood, which it promptly purifies of all disease germs. It is a powerful antidote, and eliminates from the blood all trace of rheumatic germs, building up and strengthening the run-down system.

Write to-day to our medical director, who will give you valuable advice regarding the proper treatment of your own case. Address Swift Specific Co., Dept. I Atlanta, Ga.

WHAT GRAINS NEED SEED TREATMENT

By J. F. Duggar, Director Extension Service and Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

No oats should be sown this fall without treatment of the seed to prevent smut. An article on the method of treatment appeared in these columns a few weeks ago. The formalin treatment is the simplest. If the directions for making it have been mislaid, write to Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn, Alabama, for a number of copies of the brief direction, and distribute them among neighbors who still have oats to sow.

It should be remembered that while the ordinary black smut of oats is easily prevented by the formalin treatment, that neither this treatment nor the bluestone treatment prevents that one of the smuts of wheat which somewhat resembles the smut of oats. That is, it does not prevent the loose or "black" smut of wheat.

If the seed wheat should contain any grains affected with the concealed (stinking) smut of wheat, which is never conspicuous, the formalin treatment, and to some extent the bluestone treatment, would constitute a means of prevention. But fortunately it seems that most of the seed wheat grown in this latitude is not troubled with this latter disease, the inconspicuous concealed smut. Much of our Southern wheat has the other kind ("black"), for which no treatment is generally recommended.

A Woman's Happiness Depends Upon Care

Joy in its supremest mood thrills in the ecstacy of motherhood. The expectant mother pictures a miniature of self and soul, and her thoughts console her for the days of suspense. For over three generations, thousands of women have used the tried and well-known preparation, "Mother's Friend". By its daily use the muscles which nature is expanding relax easily; when baby is born strain is relieved. Tendency to morning sickness or nausea is counteracted and the inflammation of breast glands is soothed; they are kept in good condition, and the time before baby comes is full of quiet repose and joyful anticipation. This makes greatly for the health of the mother and for the future good nature of the coming child.

Write the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. G, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., for their helpful and very interesting book, "Motherhood and the Baby". They will send it to you without charge. Your druggist will supply you with "Mother's Friend". It is a mistake to go a single night without using it for the preparation is truly wonderful and its use makes it possible for you yourself to do your share in aiding nature in its difficult task. By doing so pain and danger at the crisis is avoided.

TO ROAD APPORTIONERS AND OVERSEERS OF THE COUNTY:

Gentlemen:

I would advise that you take special notice of all persons hauling logs, lumber and such other articles, as set out in the Road Laws of Chilton County, upon which there is a license.

There are a number of persons over the county who have not paid for October, and who should have paid some time ago. I would suggest that you notify these parties to take out license at once.

Tags have been issued to each person who has paid the license since October 1st, 1917. These tags are printed on red cardboard, and have "October, 1917," and the number of horse-wagon, for which they were purchased.

Please look after this at once, and see that all persons, who are due the license, at once pay the same.

EXTENSION WORK FOR WOMEN AND GIRLS.

By Mary S. Keown, Assistant State Agent Home Demonstration Work.

Home Demonstration work in Alabama has recently received greatly increased co-operation from the United States government. Under the provisions of the Food Production Bill just enacted by Congress, the Department of Agriculture has undertaken on a larger scale than ever before, the task of maintaining during the war an ample supply of food.

One of the most important steps to be taken this winter will be the extension of the existing force of county demonstration agents. In Alabama, there were on September first, 29 Home Demonstration agents at work in 29 counties under the direct supervision of the United States Department of Agriculture, and the State Extension Service at Auburn. These women have given their entire time to stimulating interest in the production of garden truck, poultry and other products, among the women and girls, and have advised and instructed the people in their counties in regard to the most efficient methods of food utilization and conservation.

Under the emergency appropriation, there will be appointed home demonstration agents in every county in Alabama. The work of the Home Demonstration agent is one of extreme practicality. In the organized clubs, a four-year course of study is offered to girls between ten and eighteen years of age. Upon use approved methods in planting tenth-acre gardens. This tenth acre garden is the basis of the individual club members' work but it is by no means the only work the club members undertake.

During the first year the girls select tomatoes as their main crop, learning how best to market both fresh and canned products. Each girl keeps an accurate record of the year's work, in a book provided especially for this purpose.

Lessons in plain sewing are given in the making of attractive uniforms, caps, towels, etc. The girls are taught to can, preserve, and dry various fruits and vegetables, while the study of the preparation of vegetables for the tables and contests in bread-making and instruction in this matter are given active places.

The work with women will follow the same general plan as that with the girls. Women will be encouraged to plant gardens, but special work will be done with them in showing ways and means of economizing in the preparation of the food for the family. A study of the food needs of the family will be given, and lessons in the making of various household conveniences, such as the iceless refrigerator, the fireless cooker, and others.

In order to do the most effective work, the counties must be thoroughly organized. With this end in view, community centers will be selected in each county, and the work will be conducted from these central points. Clubs for girls and women will be formed at these points, and in co-operation with the agent and the local school teachers, definite programs will be planned and followed. Every woman and girl in the surrounding territory is urged to join one of these clubs and learn to do her part under our present war conditions.

This season attention has been given especially to conserving the large food crops raised throughout the state. Hundreds of thousands of cans have been filled, and pantries of the homes in Alabama are better filled than ever before. In some parts of the country, however, the statement has been repeatedly made that the government intends to take from every family, all goods put up in excess of 100 puarts. The authorities state emphatically that no such course has ever been contemplated by the government. On the contrary, the Department of Agriculture, and the Food Administration are strongly urging house-wives to can and preserve all surplus fruits and vegetables in order that the households themselves may have a cheap and plentiful supply of food.

Meet your County Home Demonstration Agent and learn from her what you can do to aid in this great work.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The Sunday School, under the leadership of Judge E. B. Deason, the newly installed superintendent, is doing well and increasing in interest. The classes are becoming interested in helping to swell the fund for the new church building, and the weekly collections are growing.

Prof. McDonald's Baraka Class, which weets at 10 o'clock in the old Banner building, is popular as usual. There is still room for others in all of the classes, and it has been well remarked by some that the people lounging around on Main Street on Sunday mornings could either be induced to go to Sunday School or be made very uncomfortable in the effort to do so.

This is food conservation week and the mass meeting held at the Baptist Church on last Sunday night gave it quite a "send-off" although not so many attended as were looked for.

Besides the interest and enthusiasm aroused in the movement, its intent and purpose was made clearer. It seems that in some places persons willing to misrepresent the government have been telling the people that a general confiscation of all available food is being planned, and they will be robbed if they sign the cards. It reminds one of the tactics employed during the amendment campaign for state prohibition. It is hoped that every family that is willing to carefully save its food and sugar, and use home products such as corn, vegetables, poultry, syrup, etc., rather than the usual amounts of flour and meats (both imported and domestic), will sign the cards and give such assurance to the food conservators appointed by the government.

Rev. J. F. Gable, the pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church, has been appointed Vice-President of this interest for the Unity Baptist Association, of which he is Moderator.

The subject of the sermon at the Baptist Church next Sunday morning will be "Divine Economy in the Midst of Plenty." At 7 p.m., the pastor will preach on "Inherited Blessings, and Our Care for them."

The Baptist Young Peoples Union which meets at 6 p.m., is forming into a live and interesting organization under the leadership of President J. L. Johnson. Systematic work and regular Bible reading is being entered upon.

The Childrens Sunbeam Band, which meets at two o'clock on Sunday afternoons, has Mrs. McDonald for a leader, whose very name is a guarantee of good work.

At the prayer meetings on Wednesday nights a study of "The Life of Christ, the Marvel of the Ages" will occupy a part of the hour. After the prayer meeting a choir meeting is held directed by Dr. Norman, Professor of Music at the High School. All of these services are intended for the pleasure and benefit of the public, and everybody is invited to attend regularly.

Mr. C. C. Ellzey of Minooka was in Clanton Saturday and subscribed for the Union-Banner. Mr. Ellzey is a recent settler in North Chilton, coming originally from South Carolina, but recently from Birmingham. He is enthused over conditions and has purchased a large farm on which he will grow crops and live stock. From our brief talk with this man, we judge that the community which he has selected to live in will be much benefitted by his presence and activities, for he is a man who believes in striving onward and upward. A man like Mr. Ellzey is a welcome and a valuable asset to any community.

VELVET BEAN GRINDING

On account of the unexpected delay of a few days in getting completion of the work on a fifty-horse power engine, by Alabama Machinery & Supply Co., of Montgomery, the actual work of grinding will necessarily be delayed a few days longer than was expected. We hope and expect to have the entire plant ready to do business not later than between the 2nd and 5th of November. We have the assurance of Alabama Machinery & Supply Co. that this engine will be delivered to us in ample time to begin operation by the time needed. This engine will give our plant 85 horse-power, with the 35 horse-power engine which we now have on hand.

Everyone attending the county fair next week is cordially invited to inspect our plant in all of its details, and to discuss with us the question of markets and marketing of their products.

100 per cent. Roughage

BUCKEYE HULLS are real roughage in every particle. They are free of everything that has no value as forage. They are free of lint. They are free of trash. They are free of dirt and dust. When you buy

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

you are paying for nothing but roughage, and you are feeding your stock nothing that is worthless or injurious. Buckeye Hulls look like a real feed and are a real feed. Their very appearance will convince you that you should use them.

Even if Buckeye Hulls cost as much as old style hulls it would still be to your advantage to use them. Selling at several dollars per ton less, they put old style hulls beyond consideration.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls allow better assimilation of other food.
They are sacked—easy to handle.
They take half the space for storage.
They mix well with other forage.
Every pound goes farther.
2000 pounds of real roughage to the ton—not 1500.

Mr. S. L. Jones, Jackson, La., says:

"I have been feeding my dairy cows Buckeye Hulls and find that they do as well on Buckeye Hulls as on old style and that they like the Buckeye Hulls better than the old style."

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

WAR TALKS

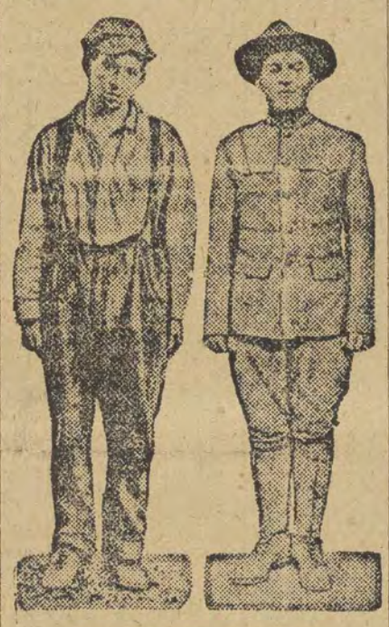
By UNCLE DAN

Number Two

Jimmie Collins Tells What He Saw—What Military Training Does for Boys.

"Well, here we are!" exclaimed Billie, presenting his chum, Jimmie Collins.

"Very glad to see you, Mr. Collins," said Uncle Dan with a smile.



"Aw," said Billie, "Just call him Jimmie. That's the only name he knows. He's the pitcher of our baseball nine, and he's some pitcher, too. Just feel of his arm."

"Well," said Uncle Dan, feeling, "That's a mighty good arm!"

"Now, boys," said Uncle Dan, "what do you want to talk about?"

"Well," said Jimmie, "I was down to Galesburg a few months ago when the boys came home from the Mexican border. They looked fine. Everybody was surprised to see how straight they stood and how manly they were. The boys seemed proud to wear the uniform. I tell you their muscles were as hard as nails. I heard Banker Haskett say that the training and discipline the boys had had was exactly what every boy in the country ought to have, and that now these boys could get a better job at higher pay than they could have had before. Do you think that's so, Uncle Dan?"

Uncle Dan replied: "I have a friend who employs hundreds of young men. He always gives boys having had military training the preference; he says it pays to do so. He finds they are more alert, more prompt, more courteous; they know how to carry out orders; they are quicker to think and to act than those without training. He said from his experience he believed that six or eight months of intensive military training would add at least 20 per cent to a man's earning capacity, and that it was the best investment any young man could make.

AFTER FIVE MONTHS.

The two pictures are of the same young man. The first was taken the day he enlisted and the second after he had had five months' military training. His home is in North Carolina.

"Billie, if you will go up to my room and bring my small handbag, I will let you see two photographs of the same young man, showing what only five months of intensive training on the Mexican border did for him."

The bag was brought. Uncle Dan, showing the pictures, said: "Well, here they are. They tell their own story and it is a mighty interesting one. The young man, before training, has a discouraged look; he has seen but little of the world. There was very little in his surroundings to bring him out. When he joined the colors and Uncle Sam took him in charge, life for him took on a new meaning. He saw a chance to do something and be something. He woke up. His captain says he is twice the man he was when he joined the army. This may be one of the extreme cases," said Uncle Dan. "I can tell you, though, that war or no war, no one thing will do the young men of this nation so much good in so short a time as a few months of intensive military training. It fits a man to fight his own life battles in the business world as well as to defend his country and its flag.

"Nearly every civilized country gives its boys military training. It is compulsory. It is based upon the fact that it is the duty of everyone to help defend his country; and as war is now carried on, no one can do much unless he is trained. Also, the records show that the killed and wounded among untrained troops is nearly three times as great as it is with well-trained men who know how to fight and how to protect themselves. By this plan a nation has trained men to defend her and the individual is a stronger and better man for the training.

"If the Chamberlain Bill for Military Training is passed by congress, as it ought to be, the same thing would be done for millions of other young men throughout the land. Everybody ought to demand of his congressman and senators the passage of this bill."

"All right, sir, exclaimed Jimmie, we will see Judge Brownell, Mr. Haskett and Professor Slocum, and get them busy."

VOLUME VI. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., NOVEMBER 8, 1917 NUMBER 32.

AMERICANS AND GERMAN SOLDIERS ENGAGE IN THE FIRST TRENCH COMBAT

Three U. S: Soldiers killed and Others taken Captive by Superiors in Numbers.

With the American Army in France, November 5.—A small detachment of American infantrymen was attached in the front line trenches early Saturday by a much superior force of German shock troops. The Americans were cut off from relief by the heavy barrage in their rear. They fought gallantly until overwhelmed, solely by numbers.

The fighting in the trenches was hand to hand. It was brief and fierce in the extreme. As a result of the encounter three Americans were killed and four wounded. A sergeant and corporal and 10 men were taken prisoner.

Two French soldiers who were in the trenches also were killed. The enemy lost some men but the number is unknown, as their dead and wounded were carried off by the retiring Germans.

From the beginning of the engagement until the end the Americans lived up to all the traditions of the American army, the records showing the bravery of the detachment and of individual members.

Second Contingent

The German raid on the Americans trench was carried out against members of the second contingent entering the trenches for training. These men had only been in a few days. Before dawn Saturday the Germans began shelling vigorously the barbed wire front of the trenches dropping many high explosives of large calibre. A heavy artillery fire was then directed so as to cover all the adjacent territory, including the passage leading up to the trenches, thereby forming a most effective barrage in the rear as well as in the front.

Lieutenant Knocked Out

The young lieutenant in charge of the detachment of Americans started back to the communicating trenches to his immediate superior for orders. The barrage knocked him down, but he picked himself up and started off again. He was knocked down a second time, but, determined to reach his objective, got up again. A third time he was knocked down down and badly shell-shocked and put out of action.

Soon after that Germans to the number, according to the report, 210 rushed to the wire entanglements on each side of the salient, their general objectives barrage in the forefield having lifted for a moment. The Germans went into the trenches at several points. They met with stout resistance. Pistols, grenades, knives and bayonets were freely used.

Much Confusion

For many minutes there was considerable confusion in the trenches, the Germans stalking the Americans, and the Americans stalking the Germans. In one section of the trench an American private engaged two Germans with the bayonet. That was the last seen of him until after the raid, when a dead American was found on the spot. Another was killed by a blow on the head with a rifle butt from above.

Some of the Americans, apparently at the beginning of the attack, did not realize just what was going on. One of the wounded, a private, said: "I was standing in a communication trench waiting for orders. I heard a noise back of me and looked around in time to see a German fire in my direction. I felt a bullet hit my arm."

The Germans left the trench as soon as possible, taking their dead and wounded with them.

Left Hurriedly

An inspection showed, however, that they had abandoned three rifles, a number of knives and helmets.

The raid was evidently carefully planned and American officers admit that it was well executed. As a raid however, there was nothing unusual about it. It was such as is happening all along the line. There is reason to believe that the Germans were greatly surprised when they found Americans in the trenches instead of the French.

The French general in command of the division, of which the American detachment formed a part, expressed extereme satisfaction at the action of the Americans, for they fought bravely against a numerically superior enemy the handful of men fighting until they were smothered.

The bodies of the American dead were brought back to divisional headquarters and buried with honors today. The wounded are at the base hospitals.

The whole American expeditionary forces are thrilled by the fight put up by their comrades and all are anxious to get a chance to deal a blow.

RED CROSS WILL AID THE CAPTURED U.S. SOLDIERS

Washington, November 5.—Arrangements for supplying captured Americans with food and clothing in the German prison camps have been made through the Red Cross, which has a committee in Switzerland to send rations and other necessaries at regular intervals. As the number of Americans in German hands increases it may be necessary to make further provision for them through the Spanish ambassador in Berlin, who is caring for American prisoners in Germany. Other military prisoners have been used on roads and the fields and presumably the Americans will be treated the same way.

Secretary Baker would make no comment today on the capture. The facts made public were all that had reached the department, he said, and spoke for themselves. As to treatment of prisoners and reports of brutality in the German camps, Mr. Baker's on ly comment was that the United States was bound by the Geneva convention and would live up to the mso far as any prisoners falling into the American hands are concerned.

Y. M. C. A. WAR WORK

The American Red Cross has done and is prepared to do a wonderful work for the United States soldiers and sailors when they are ill or wounded.

But what about it when they are perfectly well, husky and full of pep?

And most of them are in that condition all the time.

Right-o,-Well, that's the job of the Red Triangle. And the Red Triangle is the war work of the Y. M. C. A. They are both red,-the Red Cross and the Red Triangle. But they are just as separate and distinct as anything could be. Not only are they entirely separate as to the class of service they perform but they are wholly unassociated as to organization.

Money subscribed to the Red Cross is used and used well as soon as fighting men get into the hospital. But before they get there it's up to the Y. M. C. A. to look after a very large number of their needs. The war department provides them with food, clothing and shelter. It trains them for their military duties. The personal influence of the officers is splendid in developing character, but the officers are busy and have little time to reach the men in large numbers for this definite porpose. The army and navy chaplains do their part but there is much they cannot do.

The Red Triangle does the rest. It supplies the fighting men with writing paper, envelopes, pens, pencils, postage stamps; it mails their letters for them, gives them picture shows, provides lectures on vital subjects, supplies them gymnastic exhibitions and musical and other entertainments; its buildings are equipped with pianos and victrolas for the use of the men; it conducts classes in French and English. it issues books and magazines; it promotes outdoor and indoor games, baseball, volly ball basket ball, football, checkers, chess, dominoes; it holds Bible classes and promotes a strong religious work program. It takes care of these strong well fighting men's spare time in a way that they like and that is good for them. It is not only a school, theatre, gymnasium, church and home but is a sort of club, as well. It is the thing that keeps him fit mentally, morally, physically and socially.

And the work is as broad as it is deep. In the great National Guard, National Army, Naval Station, Aerial Service, Officers' Reserve and other camps, the Association has established nearly 600 great buildings in this country manned by five secretaries each. Each building has 90 different items on its list of furnishings. "A book of twos", please",; "May I have some writing paper?"; "Have you got any wrapping paper?"; "Any twine?"; "Will you write a money order for me?"; "Can I get a testament here?". These and a thousand an one other requests are filled, always with a smile and a word of personal greeting or encouragement, and without a charge of one cent to the enlisted man for any of the things enumerated, excepting of course for the postage stamps.

This work is to be carried overseas as fast as the American troops cross the Atlantic. It is to be placed in the armies of our allies, France, Russia and Italy,—England already has it.—and it is to go into the camps of the prisoners of war. To do this a great nation-wide campaign is to be waged from November 11 to 19 to raise $35,000,000 which will be needed until July 1, 1918. Not a cent of this is to be spent on anybody but the fighting men,—the well ones, which the Red Cross cannot serve.

Reuben E. Wyatt came home from Camp Gordon last week having been rejected by army physicians on physical examination. He arrived here Friday.

A number of people from various parts of the county were in Clanton Monday attending county court.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The Websterian Literary Society has been organized. Its officers are: Willis Lowe, President; Horace Popwell, Vice-President; Aaron Vines, Secy-Treas.

The boys decided to meet at the high school building on each Thursday evening. One meeting has been held with a very interesting program, one number being a debate—resolved that the United States should force boys under 21 years of age to go into military service. Speakers for the affirmative were Aaron Vines and Thomas Jones; negative, Horace Popwell and Fonza Cunningham. The negative won.

Fonza—Say Denson, you know I believe there are same girls that do not intend to get married.

Denson—Why, Fonza? What makes you think that?

Fonza—Well, just because I have proposed to several of them and no one has taken me up yet.

Otto—John, did you know that everyone had a chance to be President of the United States?

John—Yes, but I will sell mine for fifty cents.

Notice—Anyone wishing to exchange a first-class wheel-barrow for a 1917 Ford, apply to John Allen, as he thinks Lucile had rather ride in a Buick Six.

The Freshmen do not think that it is good for Moses to come to school, for all the girls are in love with him—especially Alice and Clara.

Clara—Pink, please give me some chewing gum.

Pink—I haven't any more but you may chew the other end of this piece with me.

Miss Roberta Curry announced to the class that she had gone into the retail business. Erle immediately carried her a shirt to be retailed.

Wallace—Tom, why does Miss Sewell always blush when you say "rock the cradle"?

Tom—Ask Conradine.

NOTICE—Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock the largest football game of the season will be played between Bibb County High School and Chilton High, on the latter's field. Everyone is urged to see this game.

FIRST AMERICAN WAR SHIP SUNK BY A SUB

TWO ALABAMA BOYS AMONG THOSE WHO LOST LIVES IN ENCOUNTER.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The American patrol boat Alcedo was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine in the war zone early Monday morning and one officer and twenty enlisted men are missing. The Alcedo, a converted yacht, carried a crew of 7 officers and 85 men.

The Alcedo is the first American war vessel to go down in the war. The destroyer Cassin on patrol duty was torpedoed recently, but she made port safely with the loss of only one man.

No details of the engagement were given in the brief dispatch announcing the yacht's loss.

Announcement of Navy.

The navy department announced the disaster tonight in this statement: "The navy department has been advised by Vice Admiral Sims that at 1:30, a.m., November 5, the American patrol boat Alcedo, a converted yacht, was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine in the war zone. One officer and 20 men are missing. The ship sank in four minutes after being struck. Several vessels were searching for possible souvenirs at the time the report was made. The Alcedo carried a crew of seven officers and 85 men."

Aalbamians Missing.

The two men from Alabama who lost their lives in the engagement are E. H. Harrison, Tyler, Ala., and John T. Melvin, Selma, Ala.

HOW TO GET GOOD CROP OF EARLY HAY IN SPRING

An early crop of hay may be grown on most Alabama farms by planting this fall a mixture of grain and hairy vetch. For the northern part of the state, the seed should be sown in September or early in October; for the middle part, in September or October; and for the southern part, in October or November. As soon as the fall rains come, the land should be plowed and planted.

HAIRY VETCH is a vine winter legume, which furnishes excellent grazing from February to May. If the seed are allowed to ripen and fall on the land, they will reseed.

The kind of grain to mix with the vetch depends upon whether it can resist winter-killing or not. In that part of the state where oats winter-kill, rye or wheat is the better grain, but, where oats stand the winter, they with the vetch make the largest tonage of hay.

Seeding the Mixture.

Vetch and grain do well on a great variety of soils including pood, sandy and clayey types. It enriches the soil and increases the yield of any summer crop that may follow. On land that makes half of a bale of cotton per acre, one and a half tons of oats and vetch hay has been housed by the first of May.

Vetch and grain can be sown broadcast on soft unplowed land that is comparitively free from trash. If it is hard or has a lot of litter on it, the land should be plowed before seeding. An application of 200 pounds of acid phosphate per acre usually increases the yield. If the soil is sour six or eight barrels of slaked lime per acre will prove beneficial. Sow broadcast 20 to 40 pounds of vetch seed and one bushel of either rye or wheat or two bushels of red rust proof oats per acre and cover them 2 or 3 inches deep. This may be done with a disk, spring-tooth, or spike-tooth harow.

The hairy vetch seed should be inoculated before planting. This consists in adding certain germs that will form nodules on the roots of the vetch plants. The nodules are homes of bacteria that add atmospheric nitrogen to the plant and enrich the soil.

The inoculation is done easily by mixing the vetch seed with soil taken from where vetch or English peas have grown successfully. The soil may be dampened and mixed with the seed. and both sown together, or the seed may be dipped in muddy water made from the soil and then sown, taking care to cover the seed promptly before they dry off.

VARIETIES OF RYE FOR USE IN THIS STATE NOW.

From the habit of growth rye may be divided into two distinct classes—one spreading out its early leaves close to the ground like turf oats, the other holding its early leaves more nearly upright, like Burt oats. Most of the so-called Tennessee and Piedmont ryes belong to the former class, and the Abruzzi and Florida ryes to the latter.

The Alabama Experiment Station has tested a number of varieties for several years and has found that the Florida rye, Georgia, (seed grown in Georgia many years), and Abruzzi rye give the largest seed yield. During the three years just closed, the average yield of these varieties planted on sandy soil was about 13 bushels per acre, while the seed from varieties grown from the north yielded about 50 per cent less. The northern varieties are usually late and consequently are often seriously injured by rust.

The Abruzzi and Florida rye (seed came originally from Leon County, Florida, where it is said to have been grown for many years) make an earlier and taller growth and produce more hay. The Abruzzi is not damaged so badly by rust. In some sections may be found a variety that has been grown there for many years. Such a variety usually gives better results for that community than seed brought from some other State.

Through the middle part of Alabama rye may be planted from the first of September to the last of November. Early September planting may suffer from dry, hot weather and loose a part of its stand. The rate of seeding is usually from 45 to 75 pounds of seed per acre. Where the land has had a clean tilled crop, like cotton or corn and is not hard, the seed may be sown broadcast by hand and covered with a disk harrow or spring-tooth cultivator. If the land is hard or has a great deal of vegetation on it, it should be plowed before seeding.

GRAINS SUITABLE FOR LATE SOWING.

By J. F. Duggar, Director Extension Service and Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

In the Northern part of Alabama it is getting late for the sowing of oats. However, by using the open furrow method, oats may be sown early in November further north in the State than is otherwise safe.

Wheat is much hardier toward cold than oats, and may be sown later. For Central Alabama the sowing of wheat need not be stopped until the first of December, though somewhat earlier sowing usually affords a larger yield.

Rye is even hardier than wheat, and the sowing of rye may continue even up to the first of December. Indeed, it may be sown several weeks later, but this would be inadvisable, especially in a year when seed are so expensive as now.

The same general consideration applies generally to the other grains; namely, that prompt sowing is more important in years when seed are high priced than when seed are cheap.

MIDDLE MAN GOUGES PRODUCER & CONSUMER

Wade Says Market Your Products in Cow hides and Pig skins—not crates and boxes.

There is not now and never has been a general business plan for marketing all the diversified crops grown in this country without a bunch of middle men operating between the producer and the consumer. So thick and anxious are these middlemen to live and speculate that they gore the sides of the producer with one elbow and that of the consumer with the other. They nudge the price downward to the producer and upward to the consumer, thus effecting a wide margin varying from moderate profits to excessive speculation.

The reason for such a condition is the lack of cooperative organization, storage and understanding of the producers, their failure to keep posted on market conditions, their disposition to sell all products in the crude form and to cash the whole years production in a few weeks. They trust too much with others to assemble, grade and prepare products for the convenience of the consumer instead o fperforming these functions and getting the extra profits themselves. They are too prone to live too close up to their income and sometimes ahead of it, often operating on short term loans. The habit of indulging in spring credit to be paid in the fall is not profitable because the interest rate is high; it takes the thrift out of one's economical management and forces a sale of his products when the money is due regardless of deman or price. It is nearest a form of servitude that can legally exist in this country, and one from which every farmer should refrain even though bitter economy must be endured.

These practices must end sometime, why not now while the country is at war, economy the slogan, and the state bright with the largest food crop in its history.

Market Crops in Cow Hides and Pig Skins

Farmers do not study the market and figure how one crop may be converted into another with a higher value. At the present time corn is worth fifty cents more per bushel when fed to hogs than when sold on the open market. The same may be said of peanuts, velvet beans and potatoes.

All these products including hay of all varieties and pasture grasses could be converted through cattle into beef or dairy products and sold at very high prices. The difficulty is that we have not the hogs and cattle in sufficient numbers. The increase in live stock is so rapid as to double in one or two years time if all the females are saved, bred and properly cared for. Meat and fats are higher than ever known and bid fair to be higher. They will not be cheap during the next ten years. Do away with boxes, crates, sacks and barrels and market your surplus crops in cow hides and pig skins. All you will have to do is to produce the crops and grow the skins and put them together. They are automatic fillers and will walk to the local markets and save hauling. There is a risk from diseases we know, but the risk is no greater than that of droughts, floods and storms on cultivated crops. Stop kicking and go to thinking. The world needs meat and you need money; figure it out.

WHERE WILL THE END BE?

On Monday the people of the United States read the first chapter of a history that is being enacted, and the end of which no one knows. This first chapter we read was the story of the first engagement between Americans and Germans in the trenches in France. We have recorded therein the names of three young men who gavet heir lives for the causes for which this country is fighting.

The first grim reality of what the war is going to mean to our peaceful homes has been felt somewhere in our land. And from one side of our country to another the gray father by the fireside and the young man in the schoolroom have read the first of the frightful chapter. God alone knows where it will end or how many of us will be permitted to live and see the bright rays of a peaceful sun shine out from behind the remorseful cloud. We know not how many of our homes and hearts will be blighted by the fearful monster of war ere it is done. But let us so hope that God will so direct the cause of our country that every life which is sacrificed may be rewarded by the consciousness of a just and worthy cause for which to die, and may the mothers and fathers of those who may die in the conflict be made sure that the lives of their dear ones were not wasted.

If you saw a little child liying on your doorstep dying of hunger. would you pass him by and go in to your own abundant meal?

Or would you leave him there because you thought some one else in your street would probably feed him as much as he needed?

Or, perhaps, because your husband is very particular about his food and the child might require something that he wanted and he would be cross?

Or, just because it wasn't your child, anyway, so why think about it?

The idea, even, of such cold-hearted conduct would bring a cry of protest from the women of the United States.

Yet, that is substantially what many of you are doing.

The fact that the child is not actually on your doorstep does not alter the principle. Realize him. Visualize him and all his tiny, suffering brothers and sisters in Belgium and Northern France.

Realize also that from America must come the food for them.

Sign the pledge card of the United States Food Administration and be comforted with the knowledge that your thought and self-denial are helping to feed the babies across the sea.

Did you sign the food conservation pledge card? Whether you did or not you should have done so; and whether you signed it or not you can help to conserve the ration by economizing in your own kitchen and dining room. Conservation means a certain brand old-fashioned stinginess about your eating business, and now is the time to get "stingy" along that particular line.

The government says go easy on the consumption of meat. But the fellow who has to pay ninety cents for a piece of meat big enough to boil in a little mess of peas for dinner does not particularly need the assistance of the government in calling a halt on his meat buying. He is like the little boy who picked up the red-hot iron; he didn't wait for the grizzled old blacksmith to see what he had done and tell him he should not handle the iron. He put it down without being told to do so.

Up in the State of Massachusetts the people have had before them and this week voted on a constitutional amendment which would prohibit the granting of state aid to any institution not entirely under public control. Cardinal O'Connell of the Catholics protested that it was a blow aimed at the Catholic Church and its subsidiary institutions. We would like it only the better if we knew that it was a direct shot at some of the infamous Catholic institutions which are so numerous in that state. We hope it does result in a keen rebuke to Father O'Connell and his priests.

Luther Bennett who is at work in Birmingham, spent the first of the week at home with his family. He expects to remove to Birmingham some time next month.

ANENT TICK ERADICATION

In our mail Wednesday there came a communication from Verbena in regard to tick eradication in Chilton County. The article was not signed, and we do not know who was the person who sent it. Neither do we know whether or not it was intended for publication. But anyway, we are taking a chance at it, and publish the text of the letter, as follows:

"Verbena, Ala., Nov. 7, 1917.
Editor Union-Banner,
Clanton, Ala.
Dear Sir:

I write to elicit the active co-operation of the two county papers for tick eradication. Why have you editors, in your zeal for other good causes, never gotten busy along this line, and thus come out on the Lord's side, as it were? The only well regulated dairy in Chilton County, owned by Mr. M. J. Barrett, of Thorsby, Ala., is likely to soon become a thing of the past, owing to the inactivity of people who are for tick eradication, and should have demanded it by word and by money years ago. It is indeed strange that Chilton County people are among the last in Alabama to take up and push an act of real progress. I would like to hear from the editors along this line with their approval or denunciation of this most progressive move. The Alabama agent for tick eradication is now in Chilton County making a canvass and I hope will meet with approval, by at least a majority of our people. Mr. Barrett was likely to sell me a bull calf when I saw him, and yet, when he got home, the calf was dead, all chargable to the want of this the faoresaid act of progress. Editors, get busy. Don't stay in the background. Come out in the open. It may cost you a few subscriptions, but tick eradication is bread cast on the water that will come back to the people fifty and four fold in the future.

Respectfully,

In regard to the inactivity of the Union-Banner on the subject of tick eradication, we wish to say that we have always felt that the farmers of the county who own and raise cattle are more acquainted with the things they need and want than the editor of this paper, who neither owns nor is directly interested in even as much as a milch cow. If we felt that we knew more about the farmers' cattle business than he does himself, then, we would very frankly offer him our advice through the columns of our paper. And if we chance to learn enough about the tick business to be in a position to advise at any time in the near or distant future, we will forthwith do so.

So far, we have seen and read some statements by experts on the subject which seems to us to be greatly favorable to eradication, but the farmers of the county have the same privilege of reading and learning these things as we have, and if they do not accept them as to their advantage, and rather on the other hand repudiate the arguments, then we say let them have their way. We do not presume to say what they shall do or have.

Our columns are, in regard to this question as in every other instance, open to full and free discussion. We have in a number of instances heretofore printed articles from the U. S. experts in regard to the subject. And we will gladly give all the space desired to anyone who feels that he is capable of showing our farmers whether or not eradication of the tick will be profitable and advantageous.

As for the Union-Banner, we can only say that we are in favor of the people deciding the matter for themselves. Then let the whole county be governed by the voice of the majority.

Now, if you have any arguments to offer for or against tick eradication, don't worry about why somebody else hasn't done thus and so, but get your dope ready and we will put it up to the people for you in black and white, and let them be their own judges.

The Verbena correspondent says it may cost us a few subscriptions, if we come out on the "Lord's side" for tick eradication. We don't see how he figures that way, for if we should come out for the movement we believe we could do it in a way that would not antagonize those who would be on the opposite side. What is there about the proposition that led this correspondent to think that we might lose some rfiends by making a fight for this movement? Does he estimate that we would have to disregard the rights of some citizens and in that way offend them by forcing something on them that they do not want?

If that is the way we must support tick eradication we will tell you right now this paper will not do much of it. If we ever conduct a campaign for or against tick eradication, we promise you right now that it will be in a spirit of absolute fairness to our opponents, with every just and equitable consideration for the rights and privileges of each individual citizen of the county, whatever he may contend for.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number Three

How War Methods Have Changed Everybody Must Help.

"Hello, Uncle Dan, Jimmie and I have been waiting for you."

"Sorry if I have kept you long," said Uncle Dan. "Your mother has been telling me how bashful I used to be. She said if a girl spoke to me I would blush to my hair roots. Well, I reminded her of the time your father first came to see her and the joke we played on them, so I guess that will hold her for a while."

Continuing, Uncle Dan said: "You want to talk more about the war, do you? Well, war methods have undergone many changes and they are still changing. No two wars are fought alike. In early times, the weapons were stones, clubs, spears, bows and arrows, swords, etc. In this kind of warfare, victory was with the strong right arm. Men of enormous size and strength were the great warriors. The invention of gunpowder, however, has changed all this. It has enabled men to kill one another at a considerable distance, and do it wholesale. The war, as we know it now, is a combination of chemicals, machinery, mathematical calculations and highly trained men. Just think of it! Airplanes, submarines, armored tanks, or caterpillars, poison gases, and curtains of fire are all used for the first time in this war; and they are destructive beyond anything heretofore known.

"The methods followed by the kaiser and his allies are simply devilish. He must answer in history to the killing of thousands of innocent women and children. He has broken every international law and every rule of warfare; he has bombarded hospitals and undefended cities, sunk Red Cross ships on errands of mercy; he has destroyed cathedrals and priceless treasures of art that can never be replaced; he has made slaves of his prisoners; he has tried to get us into war with Japan; his emmissaries have blown up our ships, burned our factories and fired our forests. He knows no mercy or honor. The most charitable view to take of this blood-thirsty tyrant is that he is crazy.

"One thing is certain," continued Uncle Dan, with great emphasis, "Our liberty, the safety of our homes and our country, and the security of the world demand the speedy and absolute overthrow of the kaiser and crushing out once and forever the reign of Prussian brutality."

"How about the German people," said Billie.

Uncle Dan replied: "The splendid German people were happy, thrifty, prosperous and contented. They have been tricked into war and made to suffer the tortures of the damned; they have been cruelly and systematically deceived. God grant that the real facts may get to them, and if they do, Lord help the kaiser!"

"Of course the allies will win," said Mrs. Graham.

"Probably so," said Uncle Dan. "But if we are to win, we must go the limit. We must check the awful destruction to shipping by the German submarines, or we may not be able to get food and supplies to our own men and to our allies; we must also put hundreds of thousands, and perhaps millions, of first-class soldiers in the battle line.

"Food is the first consideration," Uncle Dan continued. "No army can hold out against hunger. It has been said that food will win the war, and this is largely true. Hence the importance of the farm in the war plans of our country."

Mrs. Graham interrupted by saying: "In view of the importance of farming, don't you think, Daniel, that the farmers ought to be exempted from war service?"

"No, a thousand times no," said Uncle Dan, striking the table so hard to emphasize his protest that he tipped over a vase of flowers. "We must have no class legislation. The duty to serve is the common duty of all, and no class must be relieved of this obligation. The question of exemption must be a personal one and decided by the facts surrounding each case. In no other way can we have a square deal, and to insure this, it is the duty of congress to pass immediately the Chamberlain bill, or some such measure, which is fair to all classes. It would settle all these questions and do it fairly. Safety now and safety hereafter demands such legislation, and let me suggest that you and your friends get busy with your congressman and senators and urge them to prompt action.

"It is time for us to realize that we are not living in a fools' paradise; that this great country of ours cost oceans of blood and treasure and it is only due to the loyalty, sacrifice and service of our forefathers that we have a country, and it is our highest duty to preserve it unimpaired and pass it on to posterity, no matter what the cost may be. Our citizenship and their ancestors came from all parts of the world to make this country a home and enjoy its blessings and opportunities; hence, in the crisis before us, it is the duty of everyone to stand squarely back of our country and be prepared to defend the flag. Everyone in this crisis is either pro-American or pro-German. Great as the country is, there is not room enough for two flags."

HIGHEST QUALITY AWARDS

Marbury, Ala., Nov. 6, 1917.
Dear Sir:

Will you please announce in your paper that I will begin a meeting in Clanton in the Methodist Church at 11 a.m., on the 3rd Sabbath of November. All most cordially welcome. I would thank you in advance for your kindness.

Yours very respectfully,
Wm. H. WHITE.

VELVET BEAN GRINDING TO BEGIN AT AN EARLY DATE

To the Farmers of Chilton County:

We expect to have all of our machinery placed and connected up during the present week, so as to begin grinding during next week. The delay has not been on account of lack of diligence on our part or on the part of the machinists with whom we have been dealing, but has resulted from the scarcity of labor in the machine shops and the overcrowded condition of the work at the machine shops.

Announcement by circular and by 'phone will be made immediately upon the starting of the mill. We appreciate any and all inquiries from the public as to when the mill will begin work.

THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE AT THE IDEAL THEATRE

Friday and Saturday, Nov. 9 and 10.

The admission will be 15 and 25 cents, which includes war tax.

You are helping win the war, and helping us to continue to show good pictures every time you attend our shows.

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a letter and subscription from J. Edgar Barrett, a Chilton boy who is stationed at the U. S. N. Medical dispensary, Pensacola, Fla. He says he is well situated and wants to get into France where the real fun is going on. His friends here would be doing a good deed to drop him a line at the above address. If you know any of our boys in the service you should write them a card or letter often. It would make them feel mighty good to hear from old friends at home.

STRAYED HOGS

I have three hogs which strayed from my place, two miles north of Clanton, the first of this week—one black gilt and two barrows, all marked swallow fork in the right and a split in left. I will reward any information as to their whereabouts. Notify me on Route 1, or phone line No. 6. TOM JONES.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE LAWS

The woman suffrage advocates have taken on much encouragement from the splendid victory which they won in the election in New York on Tuesday. The result in that state gives to the women the unlimited privilege of the ballot.

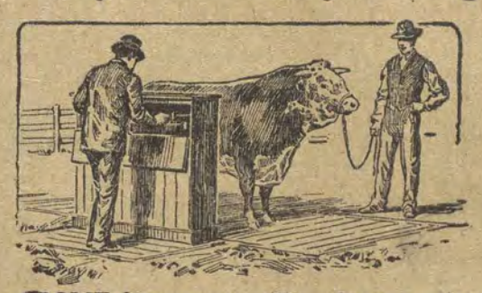
While the victory for the women in New York was complete and signal, it appears that the anti-suffragists won in the state of Ohio.

But all in all, the suffragists find much cause for rejoicing at the outcome of Tuesday's balloting on the whole.

G. P. ALDRIDGE DEAD

Mr. G. P. Aldridge, an honored and well known citizen of Clanton died on Tuesday night, after a short illness.

For the past few years the health of Mr. Aldridge had not been very good but the immediate cause of his death comes as a surprise to his many friends.



Funeral and burial ceremony were made Wednesday.

Will you wet down your roughage and save several dollars on every ton?

SOME farmers are still paying top prices for old style cottonseed hulls because they prefer a bulky filler. Others are paying much less for and are making them as bulky as old style hulls by wetting them down a half hour or so before using.

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

By adding an equal part of water to Buckeye Hulls and stirring thoroughly they will swell and give you as bulky a roughage as you want. Most important, the bulkiness will be due to water which is of value to your cattle —not to lint which has no food value whatever.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls go farther.
They allow better assimilation of other food.
No trash or dust.
Sacked—easy to handle.
They mix well with other forage.
Take half as much space in the barn.

Mr. Benjamin Thompson, Baldknob, Ark.,
is feeding Buckeye Hulls to stock cattle. He says that he gets more food value per ton with less waste. He has bought five tons and has them stored in barn. He says that they occupy less space than old style hulls.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

ARMY "Y" BIG AID TO SOLDIERS

(Above) Boys write letters and enjoy refreshments from Y. M. C. A. tent during rest period on practice hike.
(Below) Standard War Work building; 450 constructed or authorized.

"It's always on the job."

That's what the soldiers and sailors of Uncle Sam say about the War Work of the Y. M. C. A.

Athletics are organized, recreational games are fostered, educational classes are maintained, social times are arranged with entertainers and moving pictures, Bible classes are conducted and a strong program of religious work developed.

Building 108 at Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C., was crowded the night Dr. G. R. Stair gave his famous sermon on "The Potter's Clay." The invitation had been given and men were signing the War Roll and were being presented with the customary soldiers' Pocket Testament. One young man approached by Physical Director Arthur E. Bagley upon the question of making a decision, responded affirmatively at once. When the Testament was handed to him he said: "I am doing something for you that I refused to do for my mother. When I left home in Idaho a month ago, she asked me to take a pocket Testament with me, but I thought it was no part of a soldier's kit. This old Y. M. C. A. has surely made me change my mind. I'm going to sit down and write to her not to worry any more."

A different kind of work is shown in the experience of Captain Stanley Borleska of the Portland, Oregon, troops at the same camp. Borleska was a member of the University of Michigan football and track teams in 1914 and was chosen for the mythical all-star western intercollegiate football and track teams that year. He told Bagley what the "Y" had meant to him. He said: "When I came into this camp I wondered how I was going to keep in physical condition. I saw no opportunity or place to do any training. You Y. M. C. A. fellows have sort of made opportunities for me to recreate and exercise, for since I have been here, I've averaged three evenings each week out with my company football team."

To keep up this work in America, to follow the soldiers and sailors across the seas and to extend the same services to our allies, the Y. M. C. A. is conducting a great nation-wide campaign for $35,000,000 from November 11 to 19. The states of Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, North and South Carolina and Tennessee have been asked to contribute $1,500,000 of this. Checks may be sent to the local committee or to C. K. Calhoun, Department Campaign Director, at Atlanta, Ga.

You Can Shake Loose from The Tortures of Rheumatism

By using S. S. S.

The germs of Rheumatism are in the blood, which is laden with millions of the minute demons of pain, causing untold suffering and bringing its victim from vigor and strength to almost helplessness. To get real and genuine relief from this disease, these disease germs must be completely routed out of the system through the blood.

S. S. S. has been used for fifty years with satisfactory results in the treatment of Rheumatism. It acts directly upon the blood, which it promptly purifies of all disease germs. It is a powerful antidote, and eliminates from the blood all trace of rheumatic germs, building up and strengthening the run-down system.

Write to-day to our medical director, who will give you valuable advice regarding the proper treatment of your own case. Address Swift Specific Co., Dept. I Atlanta, Ga.

TO ROAD APPORTIONERS AND OVERSEERS OF THE COUNTY:

Gentlemen:

I would advise that you take special notice of all persons hauling logs, lumber and such other articles, as set out in the Road Laws of Chilton County, upon which there is a license.

There are a number of persons over the county who have not paid for October, and who should have paid some time ago. I would suggest that you notify these parties to take out license at once.

Tags have been issued to each person who has paid the license since October 1st, 1917. These tags are printed on red cardboard, and have "October, 1917," and the number of horse-wagon, for which they were purchased.

Please look after this at once, and see that all persons, who are due the license, at once pay the same.

PROVIDENCE BEAT 16

In accordance with the internatianal proclamation, the Sunday school at this place assembled in an all-day session on last Sunday to observe the day that had been set apart by our rulers as go-to-Sunday-School day.

We had Sunday School in the morning and a brief song service before noon.

Dinner was served on the church ground, and in the afternoon we returned to the house for another song service.

One hour was given to a discussion of the Sunday School lesson of the day and many valuable points drawn from the lesson were brought out very forcibly.

We were all glad to observe the day according to the request of the President, and we pray that God will help our country to win as he did the King of Israel against the Syrians, as taught in our lesson for the day.

The campaign now under way for the securing of full and final reports on the results of the War Drive for Red Cross Funds in the Gulf Division, consisting of the states of Alabama, Louisiana, and Mississippi, is of live interest to Red Cross Chapters throughout the division. The Chapters are interested in two phases, one financially, one membership. In many communities the people were told that 25 per cent of the gross sum raised would be awarded to the Chapters representing the community, so that the chapter might use the fund for the purchasing of materials with which to make things for the soldiers.

Many of these communities were also advised that subscribers to the fund in the sums of one dollar or more would be entitled to membership in the Red Cross.

A great number of Red Cross organizations have used all of their other funds in making up supplies, and have been seeking to secure financial assistance which might enable them to continue the work.

It has been found a difficult matter to straighten out all of these cases by means of correspondence with Washington and the Bureau of Development of the Gulf Division has been called into service, so that the information might be collected at first hand, properly prepared, and all adjustments quickly made.

All chapters or other Red Cross organizations are requested to apply to Mr. W. J. Leppert, Washington Representative of the Red Cross War Fund, at New Orleans. Mr. Leppert will send to all inquirers a form, which, if properly filled out, will receive speedy attention, and permit of such quick adjustment as to clear up all doubt respecting membership matters, and enable the chapters immediately to get the funds to which they may be rightfully entitled.

You Say You Believe in Clanton

And want to see this town become the best town in the State. That's Good!

But say, Did you know that Faith Without Work is Dead? Well it is anyhow.

IF YOU ARE ONE OF THOSE GOOD FELLOWS WHO WANTS TO SEE PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY GOING ON, BUT EXPECTS THE OTHER FELLOW TO DO ALL THE PUSHING, YOU ARE ALL RIGHT EXCEPT YOU ARE NOT WORTH ANYTHING TO YOUR TOWN AND COMMUNITY. ALL YOU NEED IS JUST A GOOD STRONG HINT TO KNOCK YOU DOWN A TIME OR TWO AND MAKE YOU WAKE UP TO THE FACT THAT THE JOB OF MAKING A GOOD TOWN AND A GOOD COMMUNITY IS AS MUCH YOUR RESPONSIBILITY AS IT IS THE OTHER FELLOW'S. YOU ARE GETTING YOUR MEAT AND BREAD FROM YOUR LABOR HERE, AND YOU OWE A PORTION OF IT IN RETURN TOWARD MAKING THE GENERAL ATMOSPHERE OF THE PLACE BETTER IN A SOCIAL, BUSINESS, RELIGIOUS AND MORAL WAY. EVERY MA NWHO LAGS ON THE JOB MAKES THE GENERAL EFFICIENCY OF THE TOWN ORGANIZATION LACK THAT MUCH OF COMING UP TO WHAT IT SHOULD BE. EXAMINE YOURSELF AND SEE IF YOU ARE BACKING UP YOUR FAITH IN YOUR TOWN WITH THE PROPER AMOUNT OF ACTUAL WORK.

America's Future

The future of America is in the hands of its women. It is and has ever been woman's sphere to rear the generations.

Thousands of women awaiting motherhood have helped nature in her glorious and wonderful work by the use of the safe, penetrating external preparation, "Mother's Friend". The muscles relax easily when baby is born and the crisis is safer for both the mother and the baby when "Mother's Friend" is used.

All druggists supply "Mother's Friend". Ask for it today and write The Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. H, 300 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for free book, "Motherhood and the Baby". It will be sent to you at once.

To neglect the use of "Mother's Friend" for a single night is a mistake. The preparation has brought relief to millions of women at the most critical time in their lives.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF ALABAMA,
Chilton County.

Circuit Court, in Equity. Oct. 10, 1917.

Mary Townsend Complainants vs. Lucian L. Townsend Defendants.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register, by the affidavit on file of A. C. Smith, Solicitor for complainant that the Defendant, Lucian L. Townsend is a non-resident of the State of Alabama, and resides in a place unknown to affiant and further that in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant Lucian L. Townsend is over the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the Union-Banner a newspaper published in Clanton, Ala., once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him the said Lucian L. Townsend to answer, plead or demur to the Bill of Complaint in the above cause, on or before the 10th day of November 1917, and failing so to do within thirty days after service of this summons, a Decree Pro Confesso may be taken against him in said cause.

Witness my hand, this 10th day of October 1917.

H. M. SIMPSON,
Register.

M. D. Foshee made a business trip to Birmingham Thursday.

Keep Well

Do not allow the poisons of undigested food to accumulate in your bowels, where they are absorbed into your system. Indigestion, constipation, headache, bad blood, and numerous other troubles are bound to follow. Keep your system clean, as thousands of others do, by taking an occasional dose of the old, reliable, vegetable, family liver medicine.

Thedford's

Black-Draught

Mrs. W. F. Pickle, of Rising Fawn, Ga., writes: "We have used Thedford's Black-Draught as a family medicine. My mother-in-law could not take calomel as it seemed too strong for her, so she used Black-Draught as a mild laxative and liver regulator . . . We use it in the family and believe it is the best medicine for the liver made." Try it. Insist on the genuine—Thedford's. 25c a package. E-75

If the Union-Banner decides to wage a campaign in favor of tick eradication, we will be perfectly willing to take our chances on losing subscribers.

Ira Jackson Cox and Alfred Marler have been certified by the district board to the local board here as accepted for military service. They will be forwarded to training camp in the near future.

FAMOUS LECTURER WILL BE HERE FOR ONE WEEK

Wm. Loyd Clark will Expose Erroneous and Political Romanism.

WILL SPEAK AT COURTHOUSE EACH NIGHT AT 7 O'CLOCK

This will afford an exceptional opportunity for our people to hear one of the fremost lecturers of the country n the supreme question of the hour. It is a rare thing to listen to a public speaker with Mr. Clark's ready command. of every weapon of oratory from wit and humor to tears and pathos. And these superb qualities of his are magically connected with a profound sincerity which he possesses in a mighty revolt against the terrors of Romanism.

Such men stand for great principles—for your liberties and mine, and it behooves every true American citizen who holds dear the old rock principles of our civil liberties to come and hear him. He will speak at the courthouse in Clanton every night form now until next Thursday. Come and hear him and tell your friends to come too.

The last night he will deliver a lecture for men only. This is admitted to be the greatest lecture entertainment before the American public today. Admission fee will be charged to the last lecture. All the others are free, and the public is cordially invited.

Pays 25c a Month for Perfect Health

For 15 years, E. A. Little, Bessemer, Ala. has paid 25c a month to keep in perfect health. Read what he says:

"I desire to add my endorsement of Granger Liver Regulator. I have not used any other medicine for fifteen years, I know it is the best for all liver complaints, and will cure any case of indigestion known. When I first commenced to take your Granger Liver Regulator the Pegram-Patton Drug Co, was buying it by the dozen. Now I am told they buy it by the gross. I use one box each month and would not be without it for anything."

Granger Liver Regulator

is strictly vegetable, non-alcoholic preparation, and is highly recommended for sick headache, indigestion, biliousness and all stomach and liver complaints. Your druggist can supply you—25c a box.

OUTSTANDING FEATURES IN TUESDAY'S ELECTION

The outstanding feature of the elections of the United States Tuesday was the apparently assured victory for woman suffrage in New York State by a majority of approximately 40,000. While the suffragists were winning in the east, early returns from Ohio indicated defeat for them in that state.

Two states, Ohio and New Mexico, voted on prohibition. Immediate returns from Ohio showed that the contest in that state was very close with the wets leading by a small margin. The prohibitionists evidently had carried New Mexicon.

The entire republican state ticket headed by Governon Samuel W. McCall won an overwhelming victory in Massachusetts while the democratic state ticket headed by Westmoreland Davis for governor was successful in Virginia.

Interest of the municipal elections centered upon New York, were John F. Hylan, democrat, defeated Mayor John P. Mitchel, candidate for re-election, by a plurality of more than 140,000. The entire Tamminy city ticket also was elected.

William A. Maggee, former mayor of Pittsburg, seemingly was defeated by E. V. Babcock, a wealthy business man. Both are republicans. Harry L. Davis, republican, was re-elected mayor of Cleveland. Charles W. Jewett, republican, was chosen mayor of Indianapolis. By electing George W. Smith mayor of Louisville the republican party in that city scored their first victory in 10 years. John Calvin, republican, was chosen mayor of Cincinnati.

George F. Buck defeated Louis P. Fuhrman, the incumbent, for mayor of Buffalo. Buck is a republican. Hiram H. Edgerton, republican, was elected mayor of Rochester, and Walter R. Stone, also republican, mayor of Syracuse.

Schuyler Merritt, republican, was elected to Congress from Connecticut to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Ebenezer J. Hill, republican.

Morton E. Lewis, republican, was re-elected attorney general of New York state.

"Your Money's Worth or your Money Back."

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

DURING the past sixteen years the L. & N. has hauled through the South 133,796,950 tons of coal, for industrial and domestic purposes. If this vast tonnage were loaded into L. & N. modern, all-steel 50-ton coal cars it would require 2,675,939 such cars to hold the coal. If these cars were coupled they would make a single train extending practically around the world. Good service at remarkably low rates was rendered on this enormous volume of traffic which involved millions of detail and supplied lucrative employment and support to hundreds of thousands of people of the South. Increased facilities are added as fast as L. & N. earnings permit.

Coal is essential to industry and personal comfort. It is therefore a commodity carrying an extremely low freight rate. And yet during sixteen years 32.5 per cent of L. & N. freight service was rendered to the people of the South on this necessity at an extremely low rate. This is practical, constructive co-operation.

In addition to distributing this enormous amount of coal, the L. & N. paid $43,082,955.39 for fuel which has afforded employment and financial revenue to the coal mines of the South, and has been the means of distributing millions of dollars among the merchants and manufacturers.

THORSBY ITEMS

The Rob Roy Quartet Thursday night, Nov. 8th, will be one of the musical treats of the year for the people of Thorsby and vicinity. Everyone who enjoys music and a good time should be present.

A merry company of people from Thorsby Institute, accompanied by Prof. S. H. Herbert, Mr. C. M. Williams and Miss Cyrena Slayton, attended the Chilton County Fair Educational day, and while there took in the moving picture show, "The Fall of a Nation." A pleasant time was reported by all.

Rev. Mr. Bice of Billingsley has been called pastor of the Baptist Church here and will preach regularly on the First Sunday of each month both morning and evening. He met his first regular appointment Sunday, November 4th.

Alabama-Go-to-Sunday-School Day was observed by the Congregational Church last Sunday, and as a result there was an increase in attendance of about 33 1-3 per cent. The church was beautifully decorated and a program as outlined by the State Sunday School Association was carried out.

The Helen Keller Literary Society will hold its regular meeting on Friday night of this week, when the following program will be rendered:

Song, Society; devotions, Miss Slayton; Lanier, recitation, Lewis Marshall; Riley, recitation, Earl Leary; debate, affirmative Alva Ranier, Luther Machen, negative Andrew Summers, Joe Myrick. (Subject to be selected); song, girls chorus; Riley, stunt, Ethel Bass; Lanier, Stunt, Lucile Bass.

Mrs. J. C. Nelson and son, James of Birmingham spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Howard.

Mr. Hugh W. Wilkinson, who is a representative of the Southern Division of the Red Cross with headquarters at New Orleans, spent Wednesday of last week in Thorsby for the purpose of arganizing a Red Cross society. The work was duly organized and the ladies begain knitting sweaters for the soldiers Friday afternoon.

The Baptist Young Peoples Union gave a social at the home of Mr. Leonard last Friday night. A large crowd was in attendance and everyone enjoyed a pleasant time.

Rev. E. W. Butler left on Thursday afternoon of last week with Mrs. Tupper, for Miama, Fla., where she will spend the winter. Mr. Butler expects to return for the state conference of the Congregational Churches, which is to be held at Andalusia Friday and Saturday of this week.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The pastor is beginning a study of the life of Christ at the prayer meeting services. The attendance is fairly good but there is room for more. After prayer meeting a choir meeting is held which is greatly enjoyed.

The Sunday School Teachers Meeting will be held at the pastor's home on Friday night this week at 7 o'clock It is hoped that there will be a full attendance of both teachers and alternates.

On last Sunday the school surpassed itself in interest and contribution, in view of the dissipations of the Fair during the proceeding week.

On next Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "The Deaconship; or the Division of Labor." It is hoped that every deacon will be present to hear it. At night the subject will be "The Shepherd Spirit in the Church."

The Alabama Baptist State Convention will meet next Tuesday at Sylacauga, where Rev. Jerome O. Williams, well known in Clanton is pastor. This will be preceded on Monday by the annual Ministers meeting which will have as the subject for discussion "A Forward Movement." There will be three set speeches to be followed by general discussion. The first on "Why a Forward Movement should be Made," will be by Rev. J. A. Cook of Decatur, the second on "Things necessary to a Forward Movement" by Rev. H. R. Arnold; and the third on "How a Forward Movement may be Made," by Rev. J. F. Gable of Clanton. Three members of the Clanton church have already signified their intention of attending the Convention, which will last until Friday noon.

Miss Lena Downs visited Birmingham this week.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION

Department of Interior, U. S. Land Office, Montgoremy, Ala., October 6, 1917.

Notice is hereby given that Russell I. Perkins, whose post-office address is Dollar, Ala., did, on the 14th day of March, 1917, file in this office sworn statement and application, No. 010149, to purchase the SW¼ of the SW¼, Section 36, Township 22 N., Range 16 E., St. Stephens Meridian, and the timber thereon, under the provisinos of the act of June 3, 1878, and acts amendatory, known as the "Timber and Stone Law," at such value as might be fixed by appraisement, and that, pursuant to such application, the land and timber thereon have been appraised One Hundred Fifty-one and 75-100 Dollars, the timber estimated 56,000.00 board feet at $2.00 per M., and the land $39.75; that said applicant will offer final proof in support of his application and sworn statement on the 20th day of December, 1917, before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Rockford, Ala.

Any person is at liberty to protest this purchase before entry, or initiate a contest at any time before patent issues, by filing a corroborated affidavit in this office, alleging facts which would defeat the entry.

CATO D. GLOVER, Register.

Mr. R. A. Miller has just returned to Clanton from New Mexico. He spent the summer here and went back west a month ago. When he arrived there he disposed of his property there and decided to return to this county. His friends are glad to see him back here. He says prospect for farming in the West are not good owing to dry weather.

CLANTON PHYSICIAN SURPRISED

"Hearing of some good results from the use of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy I decided to try it on a chronic case of indigestion and gastritis I was interested in. After the first dose the patient was relieved of gas trouble and was soon able to eat radishes and most everything else he had not eaten in years. It removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract and allays the inflamation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Upchurch Drug Co. 2

VOLUME VI. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., NOVEMBER 15, 1917 NUMBER 33.

Judge of Probate, 1Jan18

DETAILS OF NEW CLASSIFICATION OF REGISTERED MEN UNDER DRAFT

Whole Nation is Urged to Help Organize Conscription Machinery for Drafting Second Army According to the Newly Devised Plan of Action.

PROBABLE DATE OF THE SECOND DRAFT IS ANNOUNCED.

Draft Classilcation Work Will Require Help from Every Citizen, Says President Wilson

Washington, Nov. 10.—Calling upon every citizen in the nation to put personal interests aside and help the gevernment classify the remaining 9,000,000 draft registrants, President Wilson tonight issued a foreword on the new draft regulations.

He asked every lawyer to volunteer his services and every doctor to do the same, in order that free legal and medical aid bureaus may be established for the registrants in conjunction with each local board.

The Preesident estimated that the classification, which the Provost Marshal-General announced will begin throughout the country about December 15, should be completed in sixty days. The questionaire itself is now in the mails to the local boards and will be made public in a few days.

Under its terms the exact physical, mental, moral, social and commercial and industrial status of every registrant will be fixed.

It will give the government data on how many shipbuilders, foresters, bricklayers, hod carriers, musicians, and every other type of man power is at its disposal.

Speedy mobilization and equipment of units for any war task will be possible; efficiency that was practically impossible under the old draft system. The new method will enable the government to exempt men with closer regard to the nation's labor needs in all lines.

A place will be arranged near each local board headquarters, where the men may fill out their questions. Under the direction of county judges or other officials a committee will see that there are plenty of lawyers to help the registrants do this.

Questionaires will be mailed to 5 per cent. of the registrants each day, beginning December 15. Each man has seven days to fill out and return the list. December 23 the boards begin placing the men in five classes. They should finish their task about February 13 and soon after the second draft call may be expected.

The questionaire is somewhat formidable and complicated in appearance. But in explanation of this the Provost-Marshal-General today said:

"A reading of the questions shows that they are simple enough to answer for any person who can read and write understandingly. It is the only printed form which any registrant needs to use either in making claims or filing proof."

The President's foreword to this document tonight, said:

'The task of selecting and mobilizing the first contingent of the national army is nearing completion. The expedition and accuracy of its accomplishment were a most gratifying demonstration of the efficiency of our democratic institutions. The swiftness with which the machinery for its execution had to be assembled, however, left room for adjustment and improvement. New regulations putting the improvements into effect are, therefore, being published today. There is no change in the essential obligation of men subject to selection. The first draft must stand unaffected by the provisions of the new regulations. They can be given no retroactive effect.

"The time has come for a more perfect organization of our man power. The selective principal must be carried to its logical conclusion. We must make a complete inventory of the qualifications of all registrants in order to determine as to each man not already selcted for duty with the colors the place in the military, industrial or agricultural ranks of the nation in which his experience and training can best be made to serve the common good.

"This project involves an inquiry by the selection boards into the domestic, industrial and educational qualifications of nearly 10,000,000 men.

"Members of these boards have rendered a conspicious service. The work was done without regard to personal service and under pressure of immediate necessity which imposed great sacrifice. Yet the services of men trained by the experience of the first draft must of necessity be retained and the selection boards must provide the directing mechanism for the new classification. The thing they have done is of scarcely one-tenth the magnitude of the thing that remains to be done. It is of great importance both to our military and to our economic interests that the classification be carried swiftly and accurately to a conclusion. An estimate of the time necessary for the work leads to the conclusion that it can be accomplished in sixty days, but only if this great marshalling of our resources of men is regarded by all as a national war undertaking of such significance as to challenge the attention and compel the assistance of every American.

"I call upon all citizens, therefore, to assist local and district boards by proffering such service and such material conveniences as they can offer and by appearing before the boards, either upon summons or upon their own initiative, to give such information as will be useful in classifying registrants. I urge men of legal profession to offer themselves as associate members of the legal advisory boards to be provided in each community for the purpose of advising registrants of their rights and obligations and of assisting them in the preparation of their answers to the questions which all men subject to draft are required to submit.

"I ask the doctors of the country to identify themselves with the medical advisory boards which are to be constituted in the various districts throughout the United States for the purpose of making a systematic physical examination of the registrants. It is important also that police officials of every grade and class should be informed of their duty under the selective service law and regulations to search for persons who do not respond promptly and to serve the summons of local and district boards. Newspapers can be of very great assistance in giving wide publicity to the requirements of the law and regulations and to the numbers and names of those who are called to present themselves to their local boards from day to day. Finally I ask that during the time hereafter to be specified as marking the present day period of the classification all citizens give attention to the task in hand in order that the process may proceed to a conclusion with swiftness and yet with even and considerate justice to all.

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

Crowder Issues Statement

Concerning the workings of the new system Provost Marshal General Crowder's office gave out the following statement:

"The questionaire, which is the basis of the new system, is a collection of questions bringing out the essential facts upon which all classifications are made. It is the only printed form which any registrant needs either in making claims of filing proof. At first sight, it may seem a little formidable, but a reading of the questions shows that they are simple enough for any person who can read and write understandingly.

"The President's message lines up the whole legal profession of the United States as assistants of the selective service system and as impartial advisers to registrants in filling out their questionaires. Under the new regulations a place is to be provided convenient to every local board where registrants may go for free advice and assistance in making out this document. The County Judge or other judicial officer of similar court is placed at the head of a committee of lawyers in each vicinity and this committee is charged with the duty of seeing that there are always plenty of lawyers and other volunteers present to help registrants in filling out the questionaire.

"Questionaires are to be mailed by the local board to five per cent of the registrants each day. The principal work of the advisory boards will thus be over in 20 days by which time all questionaires should be returned to the boards. Every man has seven days in which to return his questionaire fully made out. The process of classification will begin at about December 15. Eight days later the boards will begin the great process of classification which becomes in the words of the president, 'a national war undertaking is of such significance as to challenge the attention and compel the assistance of every American.'

"Not since the war began has an opportunity been offered for practically every person to take an active and vigorous part in so important a war measure as the actual raising of our armies. The president's foreword offers this opportunity. It gives a definite place for the doctors to work in making the physical examinatin. For the first time it assigns every lawyer to active duty in building up the national army. In the legal advisory boards it gives everyone who responds to the president's call a place in the ranks of the army behind the army.

"The nation already has a remarkable record of efficiency in adjusting its political machinery to the registration of 10,000,000 men within eighteen days after the enactment of the law authorizing registration. It is now proposed to better this record by classifying 10,000,000 men in a period of sixty days.

Second Draft Delayed.

One thing certain as a result of today's announcement is that there will be no second draft until after the middle of January. The sixty-day period of reorganization will not have expired until then. One class of men not exempted in the present draft except in certain cases is assured of exemption under the reclassification. They are the nation's shipbuilders as has been told before.

EPOCHS IN FIGHT AGAINST THE CATTLE FEVER TICK

Discovery of Transmission of Disease by a Cattle Parasite, led to Other Great Steps in general fight Against Human and Animal Diseases.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—To many farmers in Southern States who have been infested by the cattle fever tick, December 1st will be a day marking an epoch. For on December 1st 65,520 square miles of Southern territory—the largest amount ever freed at one time—will be liberated from the Federal quarantine placed to prevent the spread of cattle fever.

But in the history of tick eradication there has been another epochal day, one that will remain epochal as long as diseases—lower animal and human—persist on the earth. That was the day when the true functions of the cattle fever tick were discovered, soon after the bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture undertook in 1884 the problem of combating the disease.

The discovery that ticks can carry germs of disease from one animal to another was the first instance in which the important role of insects as carriers of disease was ascertained. From it arose new procedures in preventive sanitation. Since then it has been learned that mosquitoes carry malaria and yellow fever; that the rat flea carries bubonic plague; and the house fly typhoid fever.

Formerly no attention was paid to the carriers. Only treatment of the patients was considered necessary. Now mosquitoes are screened out of buildings and exterminated, rats are killed, house flies are screened, starved or swatted, and the cattle fever tick, to which, perhaps, the world may owe a debt because its ravages provoked the inquiry which has been of immense importance in the fight against all diseases, is destroyed by arsenic treatment and starvation.

KEEP WEEVILS OUT OF THE CORN CRIBS

The first step in controlling all insects that attack stored corn is to gather the earliest maturing corn as soon as it is matured enough to feed This can be done in about six week after the corn is in roasting ear stage and if gathered thus promptly, with the shuck on, practically all of the insects of the first generation can be taken out of the field and the infestation of later corn can be prevented to a very large degree.

The second step should consist in the selection in the field from the standing stalks of an abundance of seed ears for next years planting Particular attention should be paid to the long, tight-fitting husk and pendent qualities which tend to give weevil resistance. Both of these matters will be found more fully considered in other articles.

The third step relates to the main crop. This should be gathered as soon as possible after it is thoroughly matured.

The sooner corn is placed where the insects can be controlled the better it is for the corn. The main crop should be gathered by breaking the ear from the shuck in the field as this practice leaves fully three-fourths of the adult insects in the field instead of putting them all in the crib as is done when the corn is gathered and stored with the shuck on. With a little practice and by the aid of a husking pin or hook the bare ears can be gathered practically as rapidly as they can in the slip shuck.

Numerous careful experiments have shown that corn from the same field loses less than half as much from weevil attack during a full seasons storage where shucked before storage as does similar corn stored with the shuck on. Shucks are a protection to the ears while they are growing and maturing but after that they are far more of a protection to the insects while they attack the grain than to the grain itself.

Separate Infested and Uninfested Ears.

Shucking the corn in the field, or at least before it is placed in the crib enables the farmer to separate the infested and uninfested ears so that they may be stored separately. Ears with open, exposed tips or loose husks will always have the major part of the weevils and it is pretty safe to consider these as infested in all except very late maturing corn. Other ears on which no insects appear may be safely classed as uninfested.

Store the infested ears where they will be disposed of first, in feeding or by sale. It may be advisable to fumigate this portion of the crop with carbon disulphid, or "high life." Fumigation calls for a tight room to confine the gas in killing strength for several hours. The tighter the room the less "high life" will be required and the more thorough the insect control. Information regarding the construction of a fumigation room will be sent on application to Entomologist, Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn, Ala.

The uninfested ears, and all very late maturing corn is likely to be uninfested, may be stored in almost any kind of a shelter in which it will be kept dry and kept until the following June or July with very little insect injury, and without requiring any fumigation to protect it.

STATE CAMPAIGN TO BE LAUNCHED SOON

Anti-Tuberculosis Forces Will Hold Convention in Birmingham In December.

A state-wide campaign in the interests of the Anti-Tuberculosis work in Alabama will be launched by the Alabama Tuberculosis Commission within a few days, and the sale of Christmas seals is to be pushed by campaign committees named in each county.

A convention is scheduled to be held here in the week beginning December 2, which promises to be large in scope and attendance, and will be attended by delegates from every county in the state.

A special crusade is to be started in the schools for the benefit of the general health of thec hildren, and every teacher in the state will be asked to co-operate.

PROHIBITION BEATEN IN OHIO

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 13.—With every county in Ohio having reported officially, 86 to the Secretary of State and the remaining by county seat officials, which have not yet been reported to the Secretary of State, Prohibition in Ohio has been defeated by a majority of 1,732 on the face of these returns.

The total vote stands: For Prohibition, 522,430, against, 524,153.

CLANTON BUTCHER REJOICES OVER WIFE'S RECOVERY

"My wife suffered for five years and practically lived on toast and hot water. Doctors said she would have to be operated on for gall stones. A lady advised her to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and after taking 4 bottles over two years ago, she has been entirely well ever since. It removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflamation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. CALERA IS DOING HER BIT IN THE WAR WORK

Town Raises $100 More than is Asked in "Y" Campaign.

Calera, Ala., Nov. 13.—Special.—Intense and studious interest characterize the union patriotic service held at the Calera Methodist Church. C. W. Wade presided and Rev. J. A. Wales, Dr. S. D. Motley and Prof. Shelton Street, discussed respectively the spiritual, physical and educational phases of Y. M. C. A. work in the cantonments. At the close of the meeting a committee was appointed to raise $300, the amount decided upon as Calera's share of the $2,500 to be raised in Shelby County for the Y. M. C. A. army work. The committee got busy and has already raised $400, 33⅓ per cent more than had been asked of this town.

This is not the first concrete evidence of the patriotism of Calera's citizens. Perhaps, not a town in the country has a greater per cent of its available young men in the military service as volunteers. It is estimated that fully ninety per cent of the young men of draft age were in the army as volunteers before the draft law went into effect.

THORSBY ITEMS

Dr. Wm. Ewing, D. D., of Boston, Mass., representing the National Missionary Society lof Congregational Churches, stopped over in Thorsby on his way from the Alabama State Conference of Congregational Churches, which met at Andalusia. Dr. Ewing spoke to a large audience at prayer meeting at the Congregational Church Wednesday night.

Rev. Chas. L. Fisk of Cleveland, Ohio, Religious Educational Secretary for Ohio and the Southeast, was in Thorsby last Wednesday. He spoke to the students of Thorsby Institute at Chapel Wednesday morning and also at prayer meeting at the congregational church on Wednesday night.

Prof. C. M. Williams spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives and friends in Clay County.

Mr. Hugh Bolton, who has been attending Thorsby Institute, was called home last Friday on account of the illness of his father.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Caldwell of Pletcher visited Miss Elsie, at the dormitory on last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. R. M. Roebuck of near Maplesville visited her son, Otto, at the dormitory on last Sunday.

"Lessons for Democracy from the Present War," will be the subject for the sermon at the Congregational Church next Sunday morning. Other regular services as usual.

Miss Anna Rasmusen of Bayou La Batre, a former student of Thorsby Institute, spent Sunday at the dormitory.

Mr. A. K. Horn spent Friday of last week in Birmingham shopping, and while there she spent some time with her daughter, Mrs. S. E. Pittman and husband, who were on their way to visit Mr. Pittman's parents at Tallassee.

Rev. C. T. Lunsofrd of Hackleburg, Mr. John S. Conway of Hackleburg and Mr. Rufas Turner of Haleyville stopped over in Thorsby on their way home from the state conference of Congregational Churches which has just closed its annual session at Andalusia. Rev. Lunsford spoke at the Institute at chapel Monday morning.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson and Mrs. J. H. Goddard are attending Grand Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star in Montgomery this week.

All who failed to hear the Rob Roy Quartet at Bates Hall last Thursday night, missed something worth while. A very interesting musical entertainment was given and everyone present enjoyed it. This was the second number of the entertainment course.

Mr. E. N. Bentley of Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark., spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson.

Rev. E. W. Butler returned from Melbourne, Fla., on Monday of this week. He accompanied Mrs. M. E. Tupper, who expects to remain thru the winter.

Mrs. J. E. Dennis delightfully entertained her Sunday School Class last Tuesday night, Nov. 6, 1917. After a number of games were played, the funniest of which was blinding the girls and boys and letting them find the mule's tail in the right place. Being the most fortunate, Miss Ollie Bearden pinned the tail on and afterwards was presented a box of candy.

The evening was enjoyed by the following young people: Misses Ollie Bearden, Oma Seals, Will D. Hayes, Alice Crawford, Leanis Williams, Williams, Willie Perrin, Stella McGee, Ethel Mize, Eva Seals; Messrs Donald Merchant, Ezra Calloway, John Perrin, Alma Adams, J. C. Adams, Garvin Calloway, Lafayett Deason.

Irregular bowel movements lead to chronic constipation and a constipated habit fills the system with impurities. HERBINE is a great bowel regulator. It purifies the system, vitalizes the blood and puts the digestive organs in fine vigorous condition. Price 50c. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

Give us the address of your boy who is in the army and we will be glad to make him a present of an occasional copy of the Union-Banner, or better still would it be for you to subscribe for him and have him get all the news from home every week.

The fellows who expect to "run" for something in the next primary and contemplate starting the race now, surely must have up a good "head" of steam. If they haven't their going proclivities may weaken before the end is reached, for "its a long way to Tipperary" now.

Hon. F. A. Gulledge of Verbena authorizes us to state that he was the author of the unsigned communication printed last week in regard to tick eradication. He states that he left off the signature nuintentionally. He also states that his letter had the desired effect, which fact we are very pleased to note.

Think about what your boy in the army or training camp would give for a copy of the Union-Banner if he should come across one at the news stand. He would be willing to give the price of a whole year's subscription just to get one single copy. Send the paper to him. Nothing would please him more. You can't possibly write him all the news of home and home filks like he would get it from this paper every week. Don't neglect doing this because we know you are willing to do anything for the pleasure of your boy who is in the service of your country. It is being said that Attorney General Wm. L. Martin will resign his office to take up service in the aviation corps of the U. S. army. Friends of Solicitor F. Lloyd Tate of this circuit are urging his appointment to the Vacancy. Mr. Tate has long been a close friend and political supporter of Governor Henderson, and good hope is entertained for his appointment to the place.

Have you heard the local political bee "a buzzing" around in Chilton? We have. He is making quite a bit of fuss already in regard to the race for the office of Sheriff next time. This famous old bee has stuck good and hard in the hats of one or two of our prominent local men in the last few weeks, and you may expect a formal announcement of some fellow in the race now just most any time. The longer the race the more the fun. It is a good little stretch from now to the primary election next August.

HAD HER NUMBER

A man was arraigned before a judge on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He had just entered a store, pretending to be a customer, but proved to be a thief.

"Your name is Jim Lickmore?" said the judge.

"Yes, Sir."

"And you are guilty of a crime?"

"I am."

"And you ask for no mercy?"

"No, Sir."

"You have had a great deal of trouble within the last two years?"

"Yes, Sir, I have."

"You have often wished that you were dead?"

"I have, please your honor."

"You wanted to steal enough money to take you away from this city?"

"You are right, Judge."

"If a man had stepped up and shot you just as you entered the store, you would have said, 'thank you, sir."

"Yes, sir, I would. But Judge, how did you find out so much about me?"

"Some time ago, said the judge, with a solemn air, I was divorced from my wife. Shortly afterward you married her. The result is conclusive. I discharge you. Here, take this $50 bill. You have suffered enough."

The Y. M. C. A. is doing a great good in our contonments, and it takes money for them to carry on their work. Help them.

THE VELVET BEAN SITUATION

The work on the velvet bean mill of Mr. W. M. Adams is progressing. Mr. Adams returned on Tuesday from Montgomery. While there he speeded up the work on the engines, which is being done by the Alabama Machinery and Supply Co. The work by this company, for its individual customers, has been delayed, so Mr. Adams informs us, by work that this firm had to perform at the Soldiers Camps at Montgomery, for the government. Every effort is being made to get Mr. Adams' machinery in readiness, now, and as soon as the mill is ready to serve the customers, announcement will be made through the columns of this paper and otherwise.

The price f beans and bean meal shows indications of advancing, according to advices from the Velvet Bean Millers Association, received by Mr. Adams.

Rev. J. F. Gable, pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church, is attending the Baptist State Convention in Sylacauga this week. Rev. Gable is on the grogram to speak before the convention on an important subject of church progress.

REAL POLITIK

Washington Luncheon:

"The German policy for years has been frankly materialistic and selfish. 'Real Politik' they call it. Germany, in fact, works on actly the same policy as the peddler.

A peddler and his mate were crossing a bridge when they saw a notice stating that whoever saved a man from drowning in that town would get $5 reward. The stream was swift and deep, but the mate did not hesitate an instant. He plunged right in, for, though he could not swim, he knew the peddler would save him and then divide up the $5 reward.

"Hurry" gurgled the poor wretch. "Hurry, pard, I'm sinking!"

"Mate," said the peddler, "Iv'e just been reading the other side of this notice board, and it says the reward for a dead body is $10. Now, do be reasonable.—Detroit Free Press.

"There's just one condition I'd make before I accept the place," said the new servant-to-be.

"And what is that?"

"If you have any of them midnight lunches, you'll wash the dishes in the morning yourself."

Lady (to tramp)—No, I shall not give you anything. You look strong and healthy, and well able to work.

Tramp—Ah, Ma'am, you shouldn't judge people by their looks. I thought you looked a kind-hearted lady, but I find you ain't.

VELVET BEAN MEAL BETTER

Cotton seed meal, 4 per cent, is quoted F. O. B., Memphis at $36.00 per ton.

Velvet Bean meal or feed, beans and pod ground, is superior to this product, in fact it has more feeding units than 7 per cent cotton seed metl.

The above is a statement made in a letter by W. C. Coker, President of the Velvet Bean Millers Association of Alabama. This should convince the farmers and those having velvet beans, of the advisability of holding them and also of having them ground into meal.

AMERICANS TEACH FRENCH BASEBALL ON "Y" FIELDS

"Two strikes, three balls, two out and the bases full."

It might be on any Southern baseball lot, but it isn't. It's in France within the sound of the big guns on the battle-front. The first contingent of the American overseas expeditionary forces has introduced the good, old-fashioned national game and is playing regularly scheduled contests under the auspices of the War Work of the Y. M. C. A. on the athletic fields of the Association. And they are teaching the French to slide bases and swat the horsehide, too. The baseball paraphernalia being used is part of the $50,000 worth which has been shipped to France by the Y. M. C. A. All of which indicates that the War Work of the Red Triangle is going with our boys overseas just as it has been with them in the American training camps.

Hundreds of buildings will be needed by the "Y" on the French front. They will be the nearest touch to home that General Pershing's men will have. There the boys will enjoy moving pictures, music, entertainments; will learn French; will read American newspapers and magazines; will write their letters, will play their games and hold their Bible classes.

This work is to be extended to our French, Italian and Russian allies and among the millions of war prisoners. It is already doing valiant service among the British forces on many fronts.

British "Tommies" flock into Y. M. C. A. canteens in Mesopotamia, where it's a hundred and more in the shade and no shade to speak of. Soft drinks are in tremendous demand, and it is only by the most heroic efforts to overcome transportation difficulties that a supply can be kept on hand to meet even part of the demand.

In addition to this work "over-there" six hundred buildings must be maintained in the United States in the military and naval camps. This requires the services of 2,000 secretaries for America and hundreds more overseas.

To cope with these conditions, which require meeting the recreational, social, educational and religious needs of millions of men, the Y. M. C. A. is doing its best. It costs heavily in finances. The money to last until July, 1918, is to be raised in a great nation-wide campaign from November 11 to 19. Thirty-five million dollars is required. Every citizen should have a part, just as they had in the Red Cross and Liberty Loan campaigns.

Checks may be sent to C. K. Calhoun, Campaign director for the Southeastern Department, Y. M. C. A., Atlanta, Ga.

SHEP RASBERRY DEAD

Last week occurred the death of Mr. Shep Rasberry, a very prominent and well-known citizen of Mulberry community, in West Chilton. Death was the result of a protracted illness, and did not come as a surprise to his family and intimate friends. His death will be distinctly felt in this community as he was a man of considerable worth to his neighborhood.

MR. CLARK CALLED AWAY

A large number of people were disappointed because Mr. Lloyd Clark did not deliver his scheduled lecture at the courthouse Sunday afternoon. Mr. Clark was called away to his home in Illinois Sunday morning on account of the death of his father-in-law.

TO ROAD APPORTIONERS AND OVERSEERS OF THE COUNTY:

Gentlemen:

I would advise that you take special notice of all persons hauling logs, lumber and such other articles, as set out in the Road Laws of Chilton County, upon which there is a license.

There are a number of persons over the county who have not paid for October, and who should have paid some time ago. I would suggest that you notify these parties to take out license at once.

Tags have been issued to each person who has paid the license since October 1st, 1917. These tags are printed on red cardboard, and have "October, 1917," and the number of horse-wagon, for which they were purchased.

Please look after this at once, and see that all persons, who are due the license, at once pay the same.

What Do You Know About Your Blood Supply?

Your ignorance may startle you.

Few people know of the many functions of the blood supply, and just how important it is that it be kept absolutely free from all impurities. The health of the entire body depends upon the condition of the blood. You are invited to write and obtain a booklet that gives you some invaluable information on this important subject. It tells how to keep the blood strong and free from the many impurities to which it is constantly subject.

It gives the history of S. S. S., the world's most successful blood remedy, which has been sold for more than fifty years by druggists everywhere. This book will be sent free to all who write to Swift Specific Co., Dept. A Atlanta, Ga.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number Four

Military Training Necessary for Safety and Defense.

"Say, Uncle Dan," said Billie, "Jimmie and I have been looking up about war in the encyclopedia at school. We found that in the war between Germany and France in 1870-71, Germany lost in killed and wounded 28,000 soldiers while France lost about six times as many, and besides that, she lost every battle. We asked Professor Slocum why this was. He said that the German army was highly trained and ably commanded, while the French soldiers were poorly trained; and that their war department was honeycombed with jealousy and politics; that the officers were not much good, and that's why France lost the war and so many men. What do you think about it, Uncle Dan?"

"Well," said Uncle Dan, "Professor Slocum is right. By inefficiency France lost that war, together with two of her best provinces—Alsace and Lorraine—and had to pay a billion dollars indemnity money. France today learned her lesson by that sad experience, so she put in universal military training, and as a result, her soldiers now know how to fight and how to protect themselves. They are losing less men in the war than the Germans. France also put politics out of her war department, so that expert authority, instead of bureaucratic stupidity, now directs the army. The result is, France has one of the best and most efficient armies every assembled, and this shows what thorough trainiag and good leadership means in warfare. This saved France in this crisis, as well as the liberties of the world."

"As war is now conducted, there is no place for an untrained man. A body of 10,000 well trained soldiers properly handled could defeat five times their number of raw recruits and do it every time with comparatively small loss to themselves. Proper training alone will reduce the death and casualty rate one-third of what it otherwise would be, and right here is an unanswerable argument for universal military training.

"Our government has no moral right to force her men into war service without properly training them for it. To do so is simply murder, hence the frantic effort that is now being made to give her soldiers some training before they are sent to the front. If we are to win this war, it will take trained men to do it, and it will take trained men to win any other war that may come upon us in the future. If we must fight, let us fight to win and not to lose."

"That's the stuff," said Billie.

Continuing, Uncle Dan said: "Our government has expended about $300,000,000 to put up cantonments and training stations in order to train the men called by the selective draft. When these men are trained the training stations should be immediately filled with younger men, say those in their nineteenth year, to receive six months of intensive military training along the lines of the Chamberlain bill. This will be of immeasurable benefit to them individually. It will do them more good than any other two years of their whole life; it will make them strong, manly, self-reliant, quick to see and quick to act; it will equip them for a successful life. In short, it will rebuild American manhood and will also give the government a body of trained men to draw from in case it is necessary to defend our flag and country. We must settle this question of universal military training immediately, otherwise these training camps may be demolished. The adoption of universal military training will be notice to the world that from then on we will be prepared to defend ourselves promptly and efficiently, and this will do more to keep us out of war in the future than anything else we could do."

"Do you think, brother," said Mrs Graham, "that there will ever be an other war?"

"I have no doubt about it," said Uncle Dan. "So long as men are selfish, so long as nations are ambitious to acquire territory, so long as population presses and demands more room, so long as there remains a scramble for world trade—so long wars will be. When the time comes that we reach the high plane for which we hope and dream, when all will recognize the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, then, and then only, will wars cease. When that day comes doors will need no locks, banks will need no vaults to protect their treasures, but that day is a long way off.

"The only safe and sane plan is to be able to defend ourselves at all times. Therefore, every citizen should insist that senators and congressmen shall provide for universal military training, so that never again shall the country be caught so completely unready as this war found us. Fortunately, in this case, our enemy has been held back, so we have had a few months in which to prepare. This advantage probably will never come again. It is however our salvation today.

"Because she was ready, Switzerland is an island of peace in a sea of war. Safety first is good, but safety always is better. In strength there is safety. You never saw a tin can tied to the tail of a bulldog. There is a reason."

August Johnson of Thorsby was in our office Monday raising sand because he failed to get his paper last week. Mr. Johnson said it was the first copy of the paper he ever failed to receive.

Sacked hulls mean convenience and economy

PUTTING Buckeye Hulls in sacks is just one of the important little things that have been done to make this roughage an improvement over the old style. This makes easier to handle when putting them in the barn and easier to measure out when mixing feed. It keeps them clean and makes your help think of them as forage—not as bedding.

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

Even though sacked, Buckeye Hulls sell for much less than loose old style hulls. It costs us money to sack them but we believe that anything that will help you use this product to best advantage is worth the expense.

Other Advantages

- Buckeye Hulls are free of lint which has no food value.
- 2000 pounds of real roughage to the ton—not 1500.
- Buckeye Hulls allow better assimilation of food.
- No trash or dust.
- They mix well with other food.
- They take less space in the barn.
- Every pound goes farther.

Kimbraugh Bros., Indianola, Miss., say:

"We are using Buckeye Hulls and are very much pleased with them. We think they are superior to old style hulls."

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

GRAINS SUITABLE FOR LATE SOWING.

By J. F. Duggar, Director Extension Service and Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

In the Northern part of Alabama it is getting late for the sowing of oats. However, by using the open furrow method, oats may be sown early in November further north in the State than is otherwise safe.

Wheat is much hardier toward cold than oats, and may be sown later. For Central Alabama the sowing of wheat need not be stopped until the first of December, though somewhat earlier sowing usually affords a larger yield.

Rye is even hardier than wheat, and the sowing of rye may continue even up to the first of December. Indeed, it may be sown several weeks later, but this would be inadvisable, especially in a year when seed are so expensive as now.

The same general consideration applies generally to the other grains; namely, that prompt sowing is more important in years when seed are high priced than when seed are cheap.

GIRLS ARE KEEPING MEN FROM ENLISTING, SAYS HUTCHINSON

Alabama's Chief Recruiting Officer Issues "Appeal to Sweethearts" to Keep Alabama's Standard of War up to Average.

It is the girls of Alabam to say just how successful the volunteer enlistment in the United States army shall be," declared Captain James B. Hutchinson, chief recruiting officer for the state, in a statement which he called "an apepal to sweethearts." "It is a question for the girls of Alabama to decide. Will they spare the boys now, when there is every likelihood of a speedy victory through the logical process of thorough training and careful action, or will they keep them away, holding them back, bringing about a condition that will make the war all the more terrible?"

Captain Hutchinson has just completed the compiling of certain statistics which shows how far Alabama is lagging behind in volunteer enlistment, as compared with other states. There must be an immediate quickening of enlistments, he declared, if the state is to retain the place on the register of the Union that it has established in the past year.

"We have made a fair record in the past," he said. "It is a reflection on the loyalty and patriotism of Alabama men and women to force the government to conscript liberally here in order to get a fair representation from this state in the nation's fighting forces."

All branches of service are now open, he declared, and men may enlist now with the assurance of getting employment in the army at the pursuit similar to their own occupation. The quartermaster deportment needs men of every kind of technical training; there are vacancies of every kind in the field artillery, coast artillery, aviation division and other branches.

Alabama's report for September which has just been received from the adjutant general's office, shows an enlistment of a little over 500 men. This does not include the heavy negro enlistment which was felt about this time, and which will, when added to the figures, boost the state's position on the roster perceptibility.

SILK MILL WORK HAS BEEN STARTED

AMERICANS WEAR GAS MASKS

Germans Let Loose Many Shells, Also Freely Using Shrapnel.

With the American Armies in France, Nov. 13.—The American infantrymen in the trenches and artilleryists in the gun pits have had their first real experience with gas shells. The Germans have let loose many in the last two days, making the use of gas masks necessary. Shraphnel also has been freely used by both sides.

During a recent night the enemy machine guns were again turned on the American trenches, the American army replying with an equal vigorous fire.

The New Mother

Heartfelt sympathy of all mankind goes out to her who is to become a mother. For over three generations, thousands of women have found through experience, that the absolutely safe, tried and reliable massage known to all women as "Mother's Friend" is the greatest aid procurable from the many distresses of childbirth. By its daily application the expanding muscles relax easily when baby is born. The skin is made elastic and the fine network of nerves, tendons and ligaments are soothed. The breasts, too, are kept in good condition.

Write the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. J, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga. They will send you without charge a very interesting book, "Motherhood and the Baby". Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" from the druggist today. It is of the utmost importance that you aid nature in her work. "Mother's Friend" makes it possible for you yourself to give a helping hand. The preparation is without question a true and marvelous aid and is composed of such penetrating oils and other ingredients as to make it really indispensable to expectant mothers.

Recommended by Doctor Cothram

Dr. T. E. Cothram is a well-known pharmacist of Alexis, Ala. And when he gets bilious or needs a purgative medicine, what do you suppose he does? Out of his whole big stock of liver medicine he selects and uses Granger Liver Regulator. He says "There is none better." That's a pretty strong endorsement, don't you think, from a man who knows all about the merits of the different medicines on the market? Granger Liver Regulator is purely vegetable, does not gripe nor irritate the delicate lining of the stomach and bowels and always gives quick and pleasant results. It is the best system purifier known. Your druggist can supply you—25c for large box. Accept no substitute.

We will pay 35c per dozen for eggs. Highest prices for turkeys geese, and ducks, and sorghum syrup.

APPEAL MADE TO HELP OLD ALABAMA SOLDIERS AT HOME

An appeal was made through the newspapers, for clothing and blankets for the old veterans at the Alabama Old Soldiers Home. Mr. W. P. Thompson received the following letter from Dr. J. D. Eiland, the commandant as to the success of the effort:

Mt. Creek, Ala., Nov. 20, 1917.

Mr. W. P. Thompson, Clanton, Ala.

Dear Mr. Thompson:—I have your letter of yesterday, and wish to say in reply to your inquiry, that I am glad to inform you that the Home has been extremely fortunate in having a very large quantity of clothing as well as blankets sent in. I am sure that there has never been a nicer quality of goods sent in, and I am sure that such things were never more apperciated or in more service to the Home than they have been at this time.

I wish to thank you for all that you have done in this line and assure you that great good will be realized from this collection and contribution.

On Wednesday, the 21st, the Regiment Band from Camp Sheridan will visit the Home for the purpose of making music for the old people, and the principle part will be in the afternoon about 1:30, p.m. If you can arrange to come down and bring any friends that you care to come, or anyone that could come, we would be very glad to have them visit the Home at this time, for if the weather is good, I am sure that this will be a very nice occasion.

With kindest regards,
Yours, very truly,
J. D. EILAND.

MT PLEASANT

Our school is progressing nicely with an enrollment of 108, and more to come. This community is noted for its school spirit, and the faculty and pupils and patrons are striving in a very harmonious manner to make the school a success.

Rev. Thomas filled his regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday.

There is good interest in the prayer meeting here. The house is filled at every service. We also have choir practice every Wednesday night, and it is proving very helpful especially in building up the musical interest.

The box supper here last Friday night for the benefit of the school was a success. The sum of $21.65 was netted, which will help greatly toward supplying the needs of the school.

There will be singing next Sunday afternoon, and all singers are invited to attend, as we wish to make this singing a success. The singing will begin at 1:30.

The Calhoun Literary Society which held its first meeting Friday afternoon was a splendid success. The pupils are all interested.

Our School Improvement Asoscian expects to do more this year than ever before.

The main issue with the boys and girls now is basket ball. The boys are very busy preparing a court for the girls who are anxious to begin.

Things here are moving along fine, everybody is busy trying to finish gathering and sowing grain for another year.

Rev and Mrs. A. R. Aldridge and Rev. Louis Thomas were visitors at L. O. Vicker's Sunday.

J. H. Duncan and wife visited relatives here Sunday.

Miss Myrtle Teel spent Sunday with Miss Odie Lindsey.

J. W. Hardy of Birmingham spent Saturday and Sunday at M. O. Culp's.

Misses Alvie Dozier and Dovie Foshee attended the box supper at Baker's school house Saturday night.

Mrs. Annie Floiy of Birmingham recently visited at B. F. Massey's.

B. G. Burnett of Ensley spent Sunday with home folks.

FOR SALE—1 heifer calf 5 weeks old ¾ Jersey ¼ Durham, price $8. 1 runabout buggy, price $6.00.

L. E. DEIFENDERFER,
Thorsby, Ala.

Sam Kanjutzky has set a record for getting in the army. He was at work in Akron, Ohio, last Wednesday when he took a notion to join the army. Packing his duds in his "g-away" he loaded on a south bound flyer and landed in Clanton Thursday night. He spent the night at home and went back to Birmingham Friday and jointd the army. He was examined and accepted Friday. He commandeered another fast train and had them to put him off at Clanton Saturday. Another night with the folks at home, and on the cross-tie pike again. Sunday night Sam hung up his hat at Fort Oglethorp, Ga., and announced to the boys in khaki that he was a full fledged member of the U. S. Medical Corps. He got such a record for going that we as soon think that he is in Berlin by now preparing a dose of pills for "Bill William Kaiser."

Commissioner A. P. Vinson of Route 6 was in town Tuesday.

L. E. Deifenderfer of Thorsby was in Clanton Tuesday.

The American Red Cross Chapter of Thorsby was organized last Saturday afternoon at Bates Hall. The following officers were elected: Mr. Reuben Foss, Chairman; Mrs. C. M. Williams, Vice-Chairman; Mrs. Chas. Rogers, Secretary; and Mrs. Sorrensen, Treasurer. The following chairmen of committees were appointed; Knitting Committee, Mrs. S. E. Norton, Publicity Committee, Miss Elizabeth Hoopes; Membership Committee, Mrs. Goddard. The finance and entertainment committee will be appointed later. It was organized with a membership of thirty—sixteen belonging to the knitting department.

A Union Thanksgiving Service in which the three churches of Thorsby unite will be held this year at the Congregational church and the sermon wil be preached by Rev. F. W. C. Bice, Pastor of the Baptist church. Music will be furnished by the combined choirs of the three churches. Everyone is urged to obey the invitation of our President, "gather in the house of God for expression of Thanksgiving."

Mrs. J. T. Simmons of Birmingham spent Thursday and Friday of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Flummer.

Miss Marion Clark made a business trip to Montgomery last Saturday.

After a short visit with relatives and friends in Montgomery and Deatsville, Mr. Joe Myrick has returned to school.

Mrs. M. A. Sumners, and Mrs. J. W. Machen, of near Millerville, Clay county, spent Friday and Saturday with their sons Andrew and Luther, who are in school at the Institute.

Rev. E. W. Butler made a business trip to Clanton on Saturday of last week.

The many friends of Arthur Villadsen wil be interested to know that he sailed from New York for France on Tuesday of last week.

Mr. Hugh Bolton, who was recently called home on account of the illness of his father, has returned to school.

Mr. C. E. Woodham, who is teaching at Smith's Chapel spent a short time in Thorsby Saturday shaking hands with friends.

The Riley Literary Society and Faculty of Thorsby Institute were entertained at a Banquet on Friday night of last week at Bates Hall, by the Lanier Literary Society. The room was beautifully decorated with the society colors, Green and Gold. Throughout the evening many toasts and yells were exchanged by the members of the societies and Faculty. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Those who enjoyed the stereopticon slides on missionary subjects given at the Congregational church last year will be glad to know that arrangements have been made for the use of several sets of such slides this year. The first of this series of illustrated Sunday evening services will come next Sunday night Nov. 25. The subject for this service will be "John Huss and the Land of the Book and Cup." Everyone is cordially invited.

Mrs. Elbert Littlejohn is at home again from an infirmary where she has been undergoing treatment of her eyes. We are glad to state, according to information received from her husband, that her sight is repidly improving, and will probably soon be fully restored. She has been almost totally blind for about three months.

LECTURE PROGRAM INCLUDES VITALSUBJECTS ON ROMANISM

Mr. William Lloyd Clark, Handling the Situation in a very Fearless and Straightford Patriotic way, Disclosing many Frightful Catholic Practices.

The program of lectures to be delivered by the famous anti-Catholic speaker and writer, Wm. Lloyd Clark, at the court house the balance of this week, includes some of the livest subjects concerning the present day activities and intrigues of the Romish so-called church in defiance of our national institutions. With the clearness with which Mr. Clark presents the facts and figures gleaned from a quarter of a century of studying, speaking and writing against this deadly enemy of the American people, everyone who hears him is assured of getting a world of information that it is dangerous to be without.

The following is the program which the speaker has outlined for the remainder of this week:

Thursday, 7 o'clock, P.M., "The Assassination of our Martyred Presidents."

Friday, 7 o'clock, P.M., "Life in Roman Catholic Convents."

Saturday, 2 o'clock, P.M., "Romanism vs. our free Institutions." Open air meeting on the streets.

Saturday, 7 o'clock, P.M., "The Assassination of Rev. Wm. Black by the Knights of Columbus, at Marshal, Texas."

Sunday, 2 o'clock, P.M., "Rome's Fight on an Open Bible."

Sunday, 7 o'clock, P.M., "My Battle with the Romish Beast."

Monday, 7:30 o'clock, P.M., "Three Keys to Hell." Lecture for men only.

Don't fail to hear part of this series of lectures if you can't hear all of them. They are calculated to benefit you immensely. We, here in this county, cannot afford to discount the evils of Romanism just because we are not in direct touch with its workings. It behooves us all the more to inform ourselves of what the Roman Church is trying to do in order that we may be better prepared to meet the invasion of this horde of evils when they do come upon us.

GOVERNOR NAMES ADVISORY COMMITTEE TO LOCAL BOARDS

Attorneys Selected To Aid Local Boards Under New Classification of Registered Men.

Governor Henderson, acting on the recommendations of the Central Committee of the Legal Advisory Board, Monday named county boards to serve in all counties of Alabama, in an advisory capacity when the next draft call is made. Those appointed by the Governor are to assist the registered men in filling out their blanks under the new rules for the classification of the men.

Following is the names of those appointed by the Governor for the county of Chilton: J. Osmond Middleton, Grover C. Walker, and A. C. Smith.

Each county Board will select a lawyer who will serve with the exemption Board and help straighten out legal tangles.

THE CATTLE BUSINESS IN CHILTON COUNTY

A Letter From Mr. Jackson, the Government Inspector in Charge of Tick-Eradication campaign.

Chilton county cattle owners have for years had a partner in the cattle business, who has been sharing the profits of your cattle industry. This partner is known as the cattle tick. Your tenants pay you one-third of the crops they make on your land. You furnish the cattle for your partner, the cattle tick, to take one-third of all the beef and dairy products made.

Now Chilton county has 3,233 farms reported having 14,302 head of cattle. These cattle would be worth $10 to $15 a head more if they were in any one of the 39 Alabama counties, which have gotten rid of the costly cattle tick and its quarantine restriction through cooperative tick eradication. This means that every farm in the county reporting cattle loses $40.00 by keeping the cattle tick as a partner; a total loss of $143,020.00 to Chilton county.

This blood sucking, milk stealing pest, takes 121 gallons of milk each year from every Chilton county farm. With milk at 60 cents a gallon retail, this amounts to $72.60 per farm reporting milch cows. Chilton county's milch cows give $16,915.80 each year to the cattle tick. The food supplied by the farmer to the cow is carried to the tissues and the milk secreting cells by the blood. The tick gets the blood and the milk supply is lowered one-third.

A beef animal with proper attention and feeding and without being robbed of its blood by the theaving cattle tick, should gain from two to three pounds in weight each day. Do yours do it? No; ole partner cattle tick steps in and takes his share of the proceeds; about $119,183.00 in real money from the cattle industry of your home county. $33.75 a year for each farm having four steers on it.

Today's quotations on hides and tallow in the Birmingham markets on green hides was 16 to 18 cents per pound. Damaged hides quoted at one-half these prices that means they were bringing 8 to 9 cents per pound. So you see old silent partner, cattle tick, damages the hide to the extent of one-half of its value. The average of 4 head of cattle to every farmer of your county, (14302 head on 3233 farms). These hides weigh about 40 pounds apiece, which means $3.20 per hide and 12.80 per farmer to be charged to the depradations of the cattle tick.

Statistics of the United States Department of Agriculture show that about 17 per cent of the cattle in the area quarantined for tick fever die from the fever carried and transmitted by the cattle tick. Seventeen per cent would make Chilton county's quota 2,421 head of cattle each year. Quite a lot of these deaths are attributed locally to the so-called hollow horn and hollow tail.

These figures based on the census of 1910 as given by the citizens of your county show that the cattle tick is doing a yearly business in Chilton county to the extent of nearly $373,052.85, a toll or tax of $115.42 on each farm reporting cattle. Is this food conservation or sheer waste?

The Nation needs all of the beef, dairy products and leather that can be produced. Will you in this time of your country's greatest stress share these necessities with that alien enemy and great friend of the Kaiser, the cattle tick? Do your share to win the war by eradicating the cattle tick in 1918.

Chilton county has at present 31 dipping vats completed. The balance of the vats needed to conduct regular systematic tick eradication can be built at this time of the year, when other farm duties are not so pressing. Your Commissioners court has granted cement for building vats, and your neighborhood can have a vat if you will furnish the labor.

With enough vats completed by March next, systematic tick eradicatin can be started. If every head of cattle is dipped every 14 days the cattle tick will be eradicated and the costly quarantine removed by December 1918.

Knowing your interest in the cattle industry and in your home county, we have written you this rather long letter, presenting the facts regarding the cattle ick. Do you need your share of he money the cattle tick takes? Your country sure needs the products of your cattle. Dissolve partnership with the cattle tickby getting rid of this disease producing, money wasting pest in 1918.

Very Respectfully,
R. E. JACKSON,
Inspector in Charge.

OUR REPRESENTATIVE

There is to be another Representative for Chilton county in the state Legislature elected next year. There are many things this Representative ought to know and be able to do and stand for when he takes his seat among the mighty on goat hill. There are varied and sundry things which will be done or attempted in the halls of the Legislature; some of these things will be laudable and praiseworthy and some of them will be as devoid of sense and judgment as banana is of backbone. Our man down there should be capable of sizing the tricks that are to be turned, and should be brave and fearless and honest enough to lend his support to the things that are worth spporting, and oppose those that need opposing. And while we are essaying on this topic there is one thing which we think of that we hope the next Legislature will do, and it is this: They ought to grab hold of the Catholic convents of this state with a jerk and throw open their doors to the inspection of the officials of the counties who have the right to enforce civil laws as regards the conduct of our civil institutions.

It is nothing less than a wholesale rediculous outrage to let a thing like the Catholic church perpetrate a secret system such as their convents and monasteries right under the noses of decent and respectable people and allow them to close their doors to all representatives of law and order and say "No, you can't come in here and see what we are carrying on."

We hope the Legislature next year will make up on this proposition and do their duty. A man who is not willing to raise his voice against this and other vices of Romanism is not in the least degree worthy of his passports into the lawmaking halls of the people of a civilized and righteous commonwealth.

There are dozens of people right here in Clanton whom we can think of who ought to come out and hear the lectures every night by Mr. Wm. Lloyd Clark, on the evils of Romanism. Why they don't come is a mystery to us. There are good crowds to hear him every time, but it puzzles us to think why these special ones we have in mind don't come to hear him. When you fail to hear him you are not hurting him at all; there are plenty to listen to him without you. But it is sad to see how you are neglecting the safety of your own family and the liberties of the generations to come after you when you show indifference to a thing of such burning importance as the work which Mr. Clark and other brave men of his kind are doing in our land and country.

The Birmingham Ledger says they were glad to have congresswoman Rankin in Birmingham even if she is a Republican. The Ledger is trying to "put on" that Republicans are such a strange thing down here. But they are aware of the fact that there are plenty of that political party right in our own state. Don't forget, Brother Ledger, that there are some eight or ten counties in Alabama that are Republican, and even right in Birmingham you can see a good Republican or two just any day without having to send "up North" after one to come down.

Mr. C. B. White, President of the First State Bank of Clanton came down Tuesday night from Birmingham to be here at the opening of his bank Wednesday. Mr. White will remove his family to Clanton in a short time and make his home here among us. He will be a valuable citizen, one of the kind which we are proud of.

PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS MUST ATTEND TEACHERS INSTITUTE

Superintendent of Education Bean advises that all persons in the county who expect to stand the state examination for a certificate to teach, in December, are required to attend the Teachers Institute here next week, even though they may hold no certificate at present. This is necessary if they expect to teeach in the county any time before another institute is held. The requirements thus placed upon the would-be-teachers is a ruling recently issued by state superintendent Dowell.

Mr. Bean states that there are yet open about fifteen sositions for assistant teachers in public schools of the county.

GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION

Much progress is being made in pushing the details of the Twenty-first Session of the Alabama Good Roads Association, which will meet in Birmingham on Tuesday Nov. 27, at ten o'clock at the Hillman Hotel. Secretary Rountree has mailed five hundred letters to the mayors, probate judges, presidents of Chambers of Commerce, Commercial, Good Roads, Automobile, Farmer, Merchants, and Labor organizations requesting each of them to appoint 25 delegates to attend the annual meeting of the Association. Over three hundred life members of the organization together with its board of directors and officers have been urgently requested to attend. With all of these delegates appointed it is safe to say that the attendance will be quite creditable, especially as there is so much interest in good roads in the state, as well as the desire of the people to secure aid at the hands of the next legislature to work the convicts on the public roads, build permanent roads and to secure the automobile license in full for the maintenance of roads throughout the state.

Many letters have been received at the headquarters of the Alabama Good Roads Association, from prominent citizens thruout the state saying that they will be in attendance and bring good delegations.

Birmingham Civic Association is planning a great automobile parade on Tuesday morning in honor of the delegates of the Alabama Good Roads Association, as well as members of the Bankhead Highway Commission that meets in the city, Monday, Nov. 26th.

POLITICAL CAMOUFLAGE

The Lansing-Ishii agreement regarding China is a bit of clever political camouflage, put forward to distract public attention from the distressingly weak and outrageously partisan composition of the American delegation at the allied war conference in Paris. It is presented as a great triumph of diplomacy; yet it gives to the United States nothing that John Hay had not obtained twenty years ago and nothing more than Elihu Root secured ten years ago. Japan, on the other hand, has secured our formal, written assent to her preponderant position vis-a vis China; and we shall be estopped from effective protest in case her interpretation of her special interests there shall ever lead her to a course inimical to American trade. It is probably a good thing to have our position on this question occasionally restated in formal terms, "lest we forget;" but if our position is to be weakened, as it seems to be by Mr. Lansing's concessions, we shall some day find that our "triumph" in this incident is like that which attended the writing of all the Lusitania notes.

The Union-Banner has this to say again to those who believe that tick eradication is a blessing to the farmers of this county: The farmers are entitled to know how you figure the advantages you believe in. You ought to show them. Give them the undisputable facts and we believe if there are any advantages in the proposition they will be honest enough to see them and admit what they see.

The question of tick eradication is taking on new interest every day in Chilton county. Dr. D. B. Strickler, the government veterinary expert who was here in the interest of the eradication work last year has returned to take up his duties again, and the people are promised a thorough drilling on the points of advantage which the experts and other interested ones claim would be given to us under the enforcement of the dipping regulations, and the raising of the federal quarantine from shipments of cattle from this county. If there really are all the advantages in cattle diping which it is said there are the people who own cattle should be shown and convinced, so they can prepare themselves for reaping the good things. We see no reason why the proposition cannot be presented in a way that will cause every sensible man to see through it clearly. But there is no use to fly up and say that a man is not sensible if he refuses to take to it and work for the enforcement of dipping laws, and in fact dip his own cows. Plenty of men of good mature judgment are no doubt oppsed to dipping cattle purely because they have not been made to see the advantage it would be to them. Now you can't blame a man for that. If the men who believe the dipping business is a good thing are not able to show a farmer where he would benefit by dipping it is no use for him to get peeved. He will just have to let Mr. Farmer have his way till he can go and come again with something that will convince. It seems to us that it is up to the advocates of dipping to prove their arguments to the farmers. If they will do this, then the rest will come easy. But until the farmer sees where he can "come in" on the proposition there will not be very many vats built around here. We do not see how one can blame the other for this condition. It looks perfectly feasible to us.

Clark is not so radical as you might think if you have not heard him. He allows for the good people who may be in the Roman Church; and he does not fail to allow for the bad ones either.

FIRST CLANTON BOYS CROSS

Latest information received from Guy Roberts and "Red" Reynolds, who are members of the Rainbow Division is to the effect that they are leaving New York for France. There are no doubt a number of other boys from Chilton county who are crossing over by this time. They are the first of our home boys in the army to go over there. While they are probably not the only ones of our home boys who will go and their going is not any more important than that of the others who will follow, yet their departure is significant and worthy of special note, as they are the first of ours who will see service with the Frenchmen in the trenches.

If you are opposed to dipping your cattle do not fly off the handle when a fellow comes at you in an honest well-meaning way attempting to prove that tick eradication is to your advantage. Some of the government experts have told us there are some men whom they cannot even talk to about cattle dipping. That's nonesense. Any man who is a bit wise is always ready to listen to such things and try to determine if there is really or not any advantages. Listen to what is said, and then form your conclusions. If a man argues cattle dipping to you you do not have to agree with him unless he convinces you. And if he does convince you that it will be better for you to dip your cattle, then you are not acting sensible if you do not agree with him.

NO TICKY CATTLE CAN BE SHIPPED AFTER JAUNARY 1

State Live Stock Sanitary Board Passes a War eMasure.

(From Montgomery Advertiser.)

The State Sanitary Livestock Board meeting at Montgomery, ruled that after January 1st, no tick infested cattle can be moved from quarantined counties to points either within or without the state.

As a War Measure.

The passing of such a ruling had been discussed by the members of the State Livestock Sanitary Board for some time. The outbreaks of the tick fever in tick-free territory, caused by the shipment of ticky cattle through tick-free territory, finally brought the question to an issue, and the board decided to prohibit the movement of any and all tick-infested cattle from counties now in quarantine.

It was stated that the measure was passed as a war measure. It was felt by the members of the board that such a ruling was absolutely necessary to keep ticks out of tick-free territory, and to aid the state in producing to her utmost beef and dairy products for the country's needs in the conflict.

Deaths from Ticks.

The members of the board, after collecting evidence for several weeks came to the decision that the movement of the tick-infested cattle thru tick-free counties was becoming a positive menace to the cattle in the counties out of quarantine. Reports from the tick-free counties showed that ticks brought in through the shipment of tick-infested cattle through the "free" area had caused the death of a number of fine cattle. It was feared that should this movement continue the tick-free counties would again have ticks within their borders to a considerable degree. In many of these tick-free counties pure-bred cattle from the North have been brought in. Ticks getting on such cattle almost invariable kill them, according to the reports of state and federal inspectors.

Must Clean Cattle.

The regulations of the State Livestock Sanitary Board in itself does not put on tick eradication in the twenty-eight counties of Alabama that have not carried on tick eradication work. But it does make it impossible for a man in a tick-infested county under quarantine to ship out his cattle after January 1 without cleaning them of ticks. The ruling will necessitate the cleaning of all cattle shipped out of tick-infested counties of Alabama.

May Force Eradication.

On December1, all of Alabama, except twenty-eight counties will have been released from the quarantine. It is generally believed that after the preliminary protests from some counties that are tick-infested these counties will get busy and clean out the ticks and get out of quarantine as soon as possible. The State Livestock Sanitray Board takes the stand that nothing must be permitted to cut down Alabama,s dairy products and beef production during the war and that stopping the movement of tick-infested cattle will remove the menace to cattle in tick-free counties.

Members of Board.

The members of the State Sanitary Livestock Board are: J. A. Wade, Commissioner of Agriculture, Chairman; Dr. C. A. Cary, State Veterinarian, Secretary; Prof. G. S. Templeton of Alabama Polytechnic Institute; Clarendon Davis, of Huntsville; and R. J. Goode, Jr., of Gastonburg.

We are not advertising for Mr. Clark just to get you to come for his benefit. We have been to hear him, and realize what his lectures are worth, and is is for the good of our citizenship as a whole that we take the time and space to print his program and appeal to you to come and hear him.

HOW THE OFFICERS CAPTUTED A MOONSHINER'S OUTFIT LAST SATURDAY

The Arrest of John Boswell and the Demolition of the Outfit by the Sheriff's Deputies.

Some time last week the deputies from the Sheriff's office here succeeded in locating a "moonshine" liquor factory out in the hills of the eastern part of the county. With plans carefully laid to capture the operators of the business deputies Gore and Gillespie were sent to the scene to await activities.

When they arrived the outfit was reposing in silence with a large stock of beer going through the "making" stage. All evidences appeared to them that it was not long before the operators would be ready to make a run of "dew. Judging that it would not be long before the thing would be started up, the two men secreted themselves in the bushes close by to wait for something to happen. All through Friday night they remained there in utter quietude with nothing to disturb the silence save the chirp of crickets and other minor sounds that one is accustomed to hear in a silent wood at night time.

But just as the light of day was showing signs of breaking over the hills back of their hiding place, an approach of someone broke the long monotony which had grown sullen. The officers brushed away the drowsiness and at once were alert with expectancy for something which it was most certain would happen.

Down the dim rugged road on the opposite hill came the rattling noise of a shackly wagon. It presently turned away from the road and continued to approach in the directionof the place they were guarding. With all the silence possible the driver guided his old mule and wagon to the spot and quickly unloaded a barrel. With the same manner in which he came he also departed, driving his mule and wagon, and shielded from the recognition of the piercing eyes of the awaiting officers under the still hanging darkness over the quiet valley. When he had gone the two sentinels retired to their couch of heather to watch and wait.

After the sun had risen above the crest of the hills, and begun a profuse spreading of light down over the quiet valley, they further waited in hopeful anticipation. The bright little brook babbled along over the rocks as it passed the lonely spot that had been selected by someone unknown to them for the transaction of the scenes of this incident,, whatever they might prove to be.

As they reclined there ruminating over the surrounding situation, all of a sudden before they had caught even as much as a warning sound of his approach, there stood a man in the midst of the well appointed outfit of barrels and cans, and they knew not from which direction he had come.

The new comer began to perform first one thing and another around the place, arranging barrels, adjusting a big pot of a concern, and other wise attending to various things that comprised the outfit which was calculated to produce a brand of fire water that has come into particular prominence since the first of last July. He tasted the beer which was contained in the huge barrels, and apparently gave it the o. k. mark judging from the expression discerned by the two men who were secretly all this time watching him from a few yards distant. His activities continued first here and then there, apparently making minor preparations for beginning the work which it was supposed he had come to do.

At once this busy man spied something out in the bushes. It was a little gray squirrel gayly cavorting in the morning sun. From bush to bush, and from tree to tree he bounced and hopped as natural and free as ever in his life. The two men concealed in the underbrush right where the squirrel was playing saw the little felow but did not disturb him in the least.

With quick action the man who was busy about the "still" grabbed a long stick and dashed off after the squirrel in an effort to kill it. With only a few bounds after the little animal as he slashed through the bushes, the man came within a very few feet of the officers.

"Hold on a minute, John," came a sudden voice as the two men arose and faced the squirrel chaser.

John of course realized the whole situation at once. He glanced about and proceeded to walk away as if nothing had happened.

A second time one of the officers spoke and said, "Hold on a minute John, we want to talk to you about this business here."

But John continued his departure. A third time he was told to "hold on" but he didn't seem to wish to "hold on."

With quickness and pronounced accent this time rang out the voice of the other officer, "John, consider yourself under arrest. We hold you responsible for this unlawful business which is established here."

Without proceeding further, the man turned and faced the approaching officers. When they came up to where he was standing he said, "Why didn't you arrest me at first if you wanted me to stop. Then I would have stopped. I was not obliged to stop until you arrested me." The officers smiled.

"Come now John,"they said, "and let's go back down here and destroy this outfit, then we will go with you."

"No," said John, "that busniess down there is not mine, and I have have no right to destroy it."

The officers requested John to wait for them until they returned to perform the destruction of the outfit. This he did, after which the three proceeded not far to the home of the man they had under arrest. Upon arriving at the house another man, Pleasant Jones, supposed to be the man who visited the "still" and left the barrel before daylight, was also arrested for alleged complicity in the illicit business.

The two men were brought to town Saturday under arrest. They made bond, and are now awaiting the next term of court, at which they will have a chance to prove up their innocence if they so desire.

(We would not vouch for the exact truthfulness of this story. It is founded principally on rumors of the incident, and there very probably may be some of the things therein which are considerably amended to the actual way in which they occurred. The capture of a wild-cat still is a kind of thrilling piece of business, and is such a widely talked topic that a bit of exaggeration just for fun is permissible.—Editor.)

The changes of the last twenty-five years socially, industrially and economically have been very great, yet I believe they are infinitesimal compared to the changes that are coming. Precedent makes cowards of us all. But the educator, the scientist and the inventor have left us no choice. We must adjust our thought and action to new conditions.

A Woman's Way

It is the way of woman to bear pain and discomfort without complaint. Women awaiting motherhood should be given every help which will make for less pain.

Millions of women have used the safe, tried and reliable external massage known as "Mother's Friend". The abdominal muscles relax naturally and without strain when baby is born. Stretching pains during the period are avoided and the crisis is rendered safer for both the mother and the coming child by its regular use.

The woman who fails by any chance to procure "Mother's Friend" should be furnished it by those who are dear to her.

Write to The Bradfield Regulator Company, Department K, 300 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., for book, "Motherhood and the Baby". It is free. "Mother's Friend" is procurable at the druggists'. Do not go a single night without using it. Ask for a bottle today without fail.

CONGRESS LIKELY TO BE MADE REPUBLICAN NEXT

Election Results Encourage Leaders to Fight for Senate and House.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Results of the elections held in several states last November 6 have encouraged the Republicans to believe that they can capture the Senate and House at the elections next year, and they will wrok to that end.

This does not mean any lack of sympathy and interest in the vigorous prosecution of the war. It means simply that the Republicans believe that it would be a good thing for the country to have a congress of one political color while the president remains of the other. Such an even balancing of party responsibility at least would be the best assurance in the world, they say, that the prosecution of the war is not a partisan matter.

The republicans in control of congress could keep a sharp lookout on the expenditures of the executive department, and there is a reason to believe that the people of the country will soon be demanding a little closer accounting.

The House of Representatives is now very close. It would not require an upheavel in the election next year to make the House Republican. The chances for the Republicans to carry the House are admitted by the Democratic leaders to be good.

But the Senate has at this time a Democratic majority of nine. There is no vacancy, through the death of Husting in Wisconsin, which may give the Republicans a gain of one by diminishing the Democratic representation one and increasing the Republicans one. The Republicans gained by the death of Senator Lane, a Democrat.

Here are the states in which the Republicans believe they have an almost certain prospect to win senators next year: New Hampshire, New Jersey, Illinois, Colorado, Deleware, Kansas, Montana, Wisconsin.

The following is the alignment: Democrats 52, Republicans 43, vacant 1. A change of five seats to the Republicans would do the work.

Mr. W. W. Fox, the only licensed auctioneer in Chilton county is doing quite a rushing business. He has sold out a number of collections of personal property, such as household gods recently. He says he is arranging to hold an auction sale every Saturday on the vacant lot across the street from the court house.

FOR RENT CHEAP

27 acres of land under wire fence, with seven room dwelling, three room dwelling, store, large barn, and out houses. Running water. Known as the Smith place, located on the Birmingham-Clanton highway and So. Railway at Dixie, Ala. If interested communicate with P. O. Box 136 Selma, Ala.

RED CROSS NEWS

(By Mrs. J. J. Pickens).

A great big box left Clanton for the boys in France Monday. The Christmas package for each boy contains tobacco, candy, tooth brush and paste, handkerchief and chewing gum.

If you haven't joined the Red Cross do it now.

Jemison and Verbena contributed generously to the Christmas box. Thanks.

Much is being accomplished at the Red Cross Sewing rooms but more could be done. If and woman in town has any spare time use it there.

Pajamas and hospital shirts are being made and bandages rolled. We expect to send off a big box next week.

The wool has come. If you can knit or will learn let Mrs. Stewart furnish you the wool and make something for the boys in the trenches. There are about a dozen sweaters to be knitted yet besides helmets and wristlets.

Mrs. Splawn is Vice-Chairman; Miss Lurline Harper, Membership; Mrs. W. D. Spigener, Military Relief; Mr. J. D. Martin, Finance; Mrs. F. B. Collier, Junior Extension; Mr. H. C. McDonald, Civilian.

MOTHER GAVE THIS DELICATE CHILD VINOL

And He Got Well and Strong. That's True

Monaca, Pa.—"My little boy, who is the youngest of three, was weak, nervous and tired all the time, so he was most unfit at school, and nothing seemed to help him. I learned of Vinol and gave it to him. It has restored his health and strength and he has gained in weight."—Mrs. Frederick Sommers, Monaca, Pa.

Vinol is a constitutional cod liver and iron remedy for delicate, weak, ailing children. Formula on every bottle, so you know what you are giving them. Children love it.

JACKSON'S CHAPEL

I want to express my thanks to the people around Jackson's Chapel for their presence and help in the box supper Saturday p.m., and especially I want to thank the girls for so many pretty boxes, this shows the interest they have for the public school at this place. The net proceeds of the supper was $40.70 and I want to thank Mrs. Smith for the beautiful cake she gave which contributed so much to the supper and bushels of fun for the boys and girls and guarantees the addition to the school building at this place.

I hear it being rumored that there was trouble or misbehaving there Saturday night. There was no fussing there, everything passed off nicely a few boys were drinking or seemed to be drinking, but all were in a good humor they were a little noisy and that is all there is to it. There were several old ladies and old men there and after the sales were over all spread their supper and did eat and enjoy themselves and every body went away rejoicing.

Best wishes to the Union-Banner and the good people around Jackson's Chapel.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number Five

Jimmie and a German Boy Clash—Must Do Three Things to Save Country.

It was a warm evening, so Uncle Dan went out to a lawn seat under the spreading branches of the great tree that suggested the farm's name of Oak Hill. Billie and Jimmie had been laying for him, so Uncle Dan was captured by the boys on short order.

"Say, Uncle Dan," Billie began, "We had a red-hot argument at school yesterday with Carl Newman. Carl said that German schools were miles ahead of our schools and that no one could come up to the educated German. Well, Jimmie got hot under the collar and handed it back to him good and plenty. Jimmie said if their education taught them to torpedo Lusitanias, sink hospital ships, murder hundreds of women and children, make slaves of the Belgians, poison wells, destroy fruit trees and commit all sorts of crimes, then we did not want that kind of education here. What do you think about it, Uncle Dan? I told Jimmie you spent a lot of time in Europe and knew all about schools, so give us your opinion."

"Well," replied Uncle Dan, deliberately, "the German schools are very thorough; they furnish exceedingly valuable and practical instruction. The industrial training given there is probably the best to be found. The schools as a whole, however, in my opinion, appeal to the head only, and never to the heart. The aim and trend is to make the individual blindly submissive to the Prussian plan of world dominion; they teach that it is the destiny of Germany to rule the world, and that to the glory and advance of Germany, in this plan, all things must give way; that the kaiser as head of the state, can do no wrong if he carries forward the plan of world control. Some of the greatest teachers and preachers even defend and justify her heartless crushing of Belgians and the many other atrocious crimes she has committed in this war. Thank God, our American education reaches both the head and the heart. It is an education with a soul, and we must maintain the high ideals we have fixed. In a word, in Germany, the people are taught that they exist for the government, while here the government exists to serve the people."

"Just wait a minute," interrupted Billie. Say that over again slowly, so I can write it down."

Uncle Dan, smilingly, complied.

Billie exclaimed: "Now, we will hand that nut out for Carl to crack. Carl, you know," continued Billie, "has a very smart father who keeps him posted on the German arguments. Carl said our government was only an experiment anyway; that it would not last twenty years, and that it might burst up any old time. Jimmie asked him if Germany was so mighty good, why they did not go back there to live."

"Our government will go on forever, won't it, Uncle Dan?"

"Now," said Uncle Dan, "you are raising a big question, and one that has troubled me for years. Our government is still in the experimental stage; in fact, it is the greatest experiment ever undertaken, and if popular government is to be successful, a few things must be done, otherwise, to paraphrase the great Lincoln, the government of the people, by the people and for the people, will perish. It is my firm conviction," said Uncle Dan, in a very impressive manner, "that if our country is to go on, as we hope and pray, we must very quickly do at least three things, and I will name them in the order of importance as it appears to me:

"First, adopt compulsory universal military training of all young men physically fit before they reach the age of twenty years.

"Next, require that every foreigner who comes here to live must, within a reasonable time, say a year, declare his intention of becoming an American citizen and take the necessary steps to do so, thereby, from that moment, assuming all the obligations of citizenship of our country, and that means he must defend our flag upon equal terms with our native born, and if he is not willing to do this, he should be sent back from whence he came."

"That's the stuff," exclaimed Billie.

"And, finally, enact such legislation as will make voting compulsory. Popular government is based upon the participation of all and the rule of the majority, and democracy cannot continue and be successful unless we live up to the spirit of the institution.

"The first step, however, is the passing of the Chamberlain bill for universal military training. If you will get the leading citizen, and especially the editor of your paper, to write personal letters to your congressman and both senators, urging their support, it will help enormously.

"I see by the morning papers," said Uncle Dan, "that the Rotary clubs of the entire country, the livest, most efficient organization to be found, have unanimously decided to get back of the Chamberlain bill and give it loyal and enthusiastic support. They will work with the Universal Military Training league to accomplish this important piece of legislation, which will do more than anything else to make us a real nation with a common viewpoint, bring us back to sane living, and teach us the patriotism of service."

Lowest cost per pound of real roughage

OLD style hulls cost more per pound of roughage than the price per ton indicates. This is because they are one-fourth lint which has no food value. To know how much each pound of roughage in this form is costing you, you must divide the price per ton by 1500—not by 2000.

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

cost exactly what you pay for them. Every pound is all roughage—no useless lint. To really know the difference in cost between old style hulls and Buckeye Hulls you must know the cost per pound of real roughage.

Even though Buckeye Hulls do sell at a much lower price than old style hulls, you can't realize how much less they are costing you until you consider how much more real roughage a ton contains.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls go farther.
They allow better assimilation of other food.
No trash or dust.
Sacked—easy to handle.
They mix well with other forage.
Take half as much space in the barn.

Mr. Dan Wolf, Hammond Bldg. & Mfg. Co., Hammond, La., says:
"I am feeding Buckeye Hulls to milch cows and find them a satisfactory filler when mixed with cottonseed meal and other concentrates. At the present price of feed stuff, Buckeye Hulls are the cheapest roughage on the market."

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

All Choked Up With Catarrh? Why Continue Makeshift Treatment?

Sprays and douches will never cure you.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing painful and difficult breathing and other discomforts. But the real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs.

This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface. To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which completely routs from your blood the Catarrh germs, for which it is a perfect antidote.

S. S. S. is sold by all druggists. If you wish medical advice as to the treatment of your own individual case, write to-day to Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. B Atlanta, Ga.

CLANTON MAN CAME HOME TO DIE

"Three years ago I came home thinking two or three weeks would be my limit to live. I had suffered for 15 years from colic attacks and severe liver and stomach trouble. I happened to see an advertisement of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and purchased a bottle at the drug store, and after taking the first dose I felt better than I had for fifteen years. I am now in the best of health—thanks to Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. It removes the caarrhal mucous from he intestinal tract, and allays the inflamation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Upchurch Drug Co.

HOW TO SELECT SEED CORN IN THE FIELD

The yield of corn on most Alabama farms can be increased by the use of better seed. Some farmers are giving attention to improvement of their seed corn, but the practice is not followed widely.

The work of improvement should begin in the field before the corn is pulled. There a study of the type of plant can be made. When the selection is not made till the corn reaches the barn, the kind of plant on which it grew cannot be known.

In the variety tests at the Alabama Experiment Station during the past twelve years, those varieties that show a tendency to produce two ears to the plant have either led or been among the leading ones.

A tall plant is not necessary to make a good ear; a plant 6 or 7 feet high, medium large from the ear down and small from the top ear up, is desirable.

The ears should be about three or three and one-half feet from the ground, and have long enough shanks to permit them to hang down. The ears should have a good shuck covering extending out over the tips to protect the kernels from the weather. It is also noticeable that ears whose tips are well covered with shuck fitting tightly are not usually infested with corn weevils.

When a desirable stalk and ear have been found, the shuck may be pulled back and the ear examined. If the ear is filled out well at tip and butt and the kernels fit closely on the cob, it is pulled and placed in a bag. Double the number of ears that will be needed to plant the next crop should be harvested because some of them will be rejected on account of size, color of cob, depth of grain, etc. The bag of seed ears should be stored where it will be safe from rats and excessive dampness.

Putting it off today won't get it done tomorrow. An advertisement in this paper today will bring business tomorrow.

L & N Freight Service

THE prosperity of any community is measured largely by the quality of Freight Service rendered and by the reasonableness of the charge made. Men, women and children eat, wear and sleep Freight Service and pay for that service directly or indirectly. Farmers, manufacturers and merchants, and those employed by them, must have Freight Service, otherwise the wheels of commerce become clogged and business stagnation results.

Therefore, the L. & N. long ago determined to supply the standard of excellence in Freight Service. No railroad in the South has a better road bed, with a lower grade and fewer curves, or a larger percentage of double track; none has more powerful modern engines or more commodious freight cars. No railroad approaches the L. & N. in speed of schedules and consequent promptness of delivery.

And no railroad in the South charges a lower rate, even for inferior service, than is charged by the L. & N. for superior service.

L. & N. Freight Service has widened the South's field of opportunity; has facilitated the development of her rich natural resources, and afforded a ready market for her varied commerce.

Since 1900 the L. & N. has transported 414,340,026 tons of freight. The L. & N. is equipped for yet greater service, and is planning with optimism and faith in the future of the South and her people.

Your favorable consideration of L. & N. Freight Service is requested with the assurance that the L. & N. will co-operate to the full limit of its unexcelled facilities.

Merchants, Business men and Professional men, and none the less the good patriotic women, of Clanton, are showing to the outside world that they are active, awake and alert to the call of duty in the various ways it is devolved upon them by the abnormal times of war. Ceaseless and unrelenting work for the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. has resuled in a fair response from our local people. Both time and money, much thought and energy, have been expended all over our broad land to meet the demand of the times in which we live. Clanton has done and is doing her part nobly and well.

But now back to the other side of the picture: Look again upon the old scenes which confronted us before the war began. If we were all going to the trenches to fight we would not care much about what became of Clanton after we were gone. But some of us will remain here to work, live, and we hope, prosper. We must still grapple with the same ploblems that have ever confronted us in our efforts to make our town and community worth while.

The business men whose names you see in this paper are spending money to remind the other citizens that they are willing to work and actually working, to make Clanton an ideal place to live in. They implore the aid and co-operation of all who live around here. You can help them in their undertaking by co-operating with them in their booster campaign for home trading and home development.

TELLS OF INCREASE IN CATTLE VALUE

Mississippi Governor says Tick Eradication Adds $10 a Head.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—In a letter accompanying a proclamation setting aside Saturday, December 1, as a day to be celebrated throughout Mississippi because of the lifting of the Federal quarantine against the cattle tick fever, Governor Theodore G. Bilbo, of Mississippi, says:

"So important has been the work of eradication of the cattle tick, so far reaching are its benefits, and so greatly should our people congratulate themselves upon the success of this work, that I feel that everyone in the state should read it (the proclamation.)

"Much credit is due to the State Live Stock Sanitary Board and to the United States Bureau of Animal Industry for their zeal and untiring efforts to rid our state of this pest and place our cattle upon the markets of the world without quarantine restrictions.

"Our cattle will be enhanced in value fully ten dollars per head as the result of their free entrance into the markets and I look to see an amazing influx of pure-bred cattle into Mississippi now. Heretofore owners of pure-bred cattle outside of the state feared to bring them to Mississippi on account of the Texas fever and consequent quarantine. Mississippi is being looked to by every section now as a great cattle raising State with untold possibilities."

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that at a regular meeting of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, held at Clanton, Alabama, on the 5th day of November, 1917, an order was made providing for the building af a bridge across Yellow Leaf Creek at Plier's Mill. Said bridge to be 200 feet in length and built of wood, and be across said mill pond, the same to be 10 feet above water of pond. The work to be done by contract, said contract to be let to the lowest responsible bidder, under sealed bids, to be deposited with the Judge of Probate on or before the 19th day of December, 1917.

All persons offering to bid upon said contract for the building of said bridge, may deposit their bids in sealed envelopes, marked "Bids for County Bridge Work" and addressed to the Commissioners Court, on or before 12 o'clock, the 19th day of December, 1917, at which time said bids will be passed upon by the court.

The court reserves the right to reject any or all bids made.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

MARKETING VELVET BEAN MEAL

With the price of Velvet Beans in the hull at $15 and $16, and the price of velvet bean meal at from $35 to $40, in the distant markets, it is much to the interest of the farmers of Chilton County and this immediate section of Alabama, to hold their velvet beans and have them ground into meal, and make shipment to purchasers at such cities as Birmingham, Memphis, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and other places. In all of these places there are numerous dealers who stand ready to purchase the velvet bean meal. Our Williams Mill will grind the velvet bean in the pod into the finest marketable meal, and likewise it will grind any products such as pea vine hay, corn in the shuck and on the cob, or in fact any forage product.

We have a safe method of marketing direct to the dealer and consumer; by this method our farmers will get the price of velvet bean meal and not the same price of the raw velvet bean. If anyone farmer has only a few tons of velvet beans, he and his neighbor or neighbors can combine and make a car-load and have it ground and ship the meal sacked at our mill, with bill of lading attached to draft upon the purchaser, and make the collection thru any local bank. This method insures safety and correct returns. The L. & N. Railroad Co. has seen fit to take steps to provide a special rate on velvet bean meal, which will be beneficial to the farming interest of this section.

As previously announced in the columns of this paper we are constantly on the alert to get our machinery in readiness to serve the public. We are unable to set a definite date at present on account of delay in machinery parts, but we will do so at the earliest possible moment.

MANY TEACHERS AT THE INSTITUTE HERE

Course of Instruction is Good, Presented by Competent Instructors.

Enrollment Reaches High Number. 127 Pedagogues in Attendance.

The school teaching force of Chilton County has been displaying itself in Clanton this week. The occasion of their getting together has been the regular session of the Teacher's Institute. As all teachers and prospective teachers are under the law now required to attend the Institute, practically every school and community in the county has been represented here with from one to four teachers and pupils.

The course of instruction and drilling for the teachers has been under the direction of Prof. R. E. Tidwell of the Department of Education of Birmingham, Director of Institutes for the State. Mr. Tidwell handled such subjects as language in the sixth and seventh grades and in high school supervision of games by the teachers on the playgrounds, and Patriotism. All of Mr. Tidwell's subjects have been vital and live ones, and the way he handled them and held them up to the view of the teachers was indeed ample and comparable with the importance of the themes.

Miss Lula Brodford of Birmingham is the assistant conductor of the Institute, and her splendid directing ability has been employed in school subjects such as primary work, oral language,, language games, and primary reading. Her illustrations of the proper conduct of primary teaching will prove a wonderful help to many young teachers who are engaged in primary work in this county.

Other notable figures about this session of the Institute were Prof. H. C. McDonald, Principal of the Chilton County High School, Supt. of Education W. T. Bean, J. L. Johnson, Principal of the Clanton Grammar School, Prof. Howard L. Foshee of Collins Chapel School, Prof. W. M. Bean of Union Grove School, Prof. O. B. Thompson of Mulberry School, Prof. J. L. JIM WYATT DIED AT CAMP WHEELER, MACON

One of the recent victims of disease at Camp Wheeler in Macon, Ga., was Jim Wyatt, a selected man, who had been sent to camp from this county. He died of pneumonia Sunday, and his body has been received here and buried by his friends and relatives. Other boys from Chilton in camp there have been and are yet seriously ill, but this is the only one of them who has died, so far. The deceased was a son of Elijah Wyatt of Beat 16.

THORSBY WILL PASS THE MARK IN THEIR Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN

A campaign for funds for the Army Y. M. C. A. was opened in Thorsby last Sunday, at a mass meeting, addressed by Prof. H. C. McDonald of Clanton, in which all the churches of Thorsby united. The county committee has asked the Beat in which Thorsby is located to raise $100 as its quota, but the people of this community are not satisfied with this amount, and are determined to double it if possible. At the end of the second day the committee in charge are already in sight of the $100 goal, and are planning for a campaign for the second hundred.

READY RIPE RABBITS

Dr. Whatley has established near the Old Soldiers Home a rabibtry, and has now in his breeding pens 106 Belgian and what he calls Chilton County rabbits. These meat producing substitutes multiply rapidly and prove to be profitable.

Dr. Whatley has, during the past year, sold to Chilton County farmers a number of pairs of these animals, and in every instance he has received word of the success of his "infant enterprise" industry.

DAVIS-HOWARD

A marriage of interest to many friends and relatives in the city is that of Miss Inez Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Davis, and Mr. Fred M. Howard, which took place Wednesday afternoon, at five-thirty o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents in Calera.

The home was thrown open and made most attractive with chrysanthemums and potted plants, the color scheme being pink and white.

Mrs. Boockholdt of Montgomery, sister of the bride, rendered a musical program, also played the wedding march.

Miss Frances Vaughn of Birmingham was the maid of honor and only attendant. She was becomingly gowned in pink georgette crepe with picture hat of pink. The flowers were pink chrysanthemums.

The bride was lovely in a traveling suit of dark blue cloth with gray hat and boots. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lillies of the valley.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. C. Walker, of Columbiana, and witnessed by a few friends and relatives. Immediately after the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Howard left for Sylacauga, where they will make their future home.—Sylacauga News.

RED CROSS NEWS

The solicitors for donations with which to buy cloth secured enough to purchase 90 yards, and this is to be made up into hospital sheets, shirts etc.

When Henry P. Davison gave up his partnership in J. P. Morgan & Co., and his magnificent income, to become chairman of the Red Cross, and work for nothing, he demonstrated his patriotism quite as clearly as the private in the front trench.

This reception in Birmingham last week must have done Mr. Davison good. I hope you read his speech in the daily papers.

Joining the Red Cross imposes no obligation of any sort on any member. If you are down town, Mr. Upchurch or Mr. Alred will gladly accept your dollar and sign your name to the Red Cross roll.

CORN AND PIG CLUB BOYS HAVE LECTURE COURSES

The boys of the corn and pig clubs of Chilton County have been in town this week having the biggest time of the year.

They assembled here primarily to listen to lectures and instructions from their department directors regarding the principles and details of their work. Men of knowledge and experience from the U. S. Department of Agriculture have had these young farmers to listen to their lectures on various subjects. County Demonstrator Conway has been here and had the boys in charge.

The young visitors were assigned to homes in Clanton where they were taken in and cared for while here. And aside from the business side of the mission here, the boys have had much fun, as boys always do when they get together. They have been shown the movies and entertained by their friends in many ways. The whole delegation made a trip to the farm of Tax Collector Collins one day to see his collection of hogs. Mr. Collins is about the foremost hog raiser in this section of the county, and the boys can get some mighty good ideas from his plan of management of swine.

The boys were also accorded a visit to the farm of Mr. J. N. Dennis, where they, and many of them for the first time in their lives, witnessed the dipping of cattle as it is practiced in modern tick-eradication over the country.

Following are the names of the Chilton County boys who have been here attending the course:

FROM U. S. WAR DEPARTMENT

To all Recruiting Officers of Army:

1. Under the new regulations approved by the president, no registrant may enlist voluntarily in the military service of the United States from and after December 15, 1917, except that "under such regulations as the Surgeon General may prescribe, and upon receiving permission from the Surgeon General to do so, any medical student, hospital interne, dentist, dental student, veterinarian, or veterinary student may enlist in the Enlisted Reserve Corps of the medical department."

2. All recruiting officers will be governed accordingly, and no registrant will be accepted after such a date that there is not reasonable assurance that the enlismen will be completed before December 15. In the meantime, the provisions of the present regulations that a man who has been called for physical examination by his Local Board is ineligible surance that the enlistment will be carefully observed.

By order of the Secretary of war.

OLD SOLDIERS DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINED AT THE HOME ON THURSDAY

Ohio Military Band Rendered Fine Program of Musical Entertainment for Vets.

While the press of the Union-Banner was revolving on last week's issue of the paper an event was transpiring at the Mountain Creek Old Alabama Soldiers Home, the details of which reached the office too late for the issue referred to.

But acting on the principle that nothing that is good ever grows too old for publication, especially while there is unity of excellent purpose exercised, we are publishing an account of this event.

The event of the Mountain Creek occurrence was the gathering there at the Old Soldiers Home of some of the best people in Chilton County, also of Autauga County and Montgomery City and County, to join in with the veterans in a cordial greeting to some of the officers and men and the regimental band belonging to the United States Infantry from Ohio, who came a distance of 31 miles from Camp Sheridan to visit the Old Confederates who are now living at the Home.

With a large United States flag floating from a tall pole, with the old gray-haired veterans grouped on the campus and verandas, waiting the approach of the Ohioans, the Marbury Institute officered by Proffesors Gibson and Weston and Misses Jackson and Louise and Mary Griffs, teachers in charge of the several grades, entered the grounds 250 strong, with banners and patriotic cheers.

These were soon followed by the 147th Ohio band, and after their arrival, Rev. R. F. McLane, Chaplain of the Regiment, called for "Dixie."

It was when these stalwart young Ohio boys rendered the first stanza of the dear old song that the old soldiers with their feeble voices raised the feeble yell. It was then that the blood flowed through their veins

Strange it was that then silent tears like a rivulet rushing down a mountain side, trickled over their furrowed cheeks.

It was a happy thought when Mr. McLane decided to bring these gallant Ohio boys to visit the Home and mingle with the old veterans who had met the fathers of these Ohio sons on the battlefields of Chickmauga, Richmond, Petersburg, Manassas and Appomattox.

After rendering several selections the Ohio soldiers and band fraternalized with the veterans, and no north, no south, no east, no west, was discussed. The sentiment was that of defending our united country against the possibility of an invasion of the Kaiser's millions.

The picture was suggestive. To see these stalwart sons of Ohio, whose physique was perfect and who are now entering the world-war across the seas, mingling with old veterans, the youngest of whom is past seventy years, was to one who can draw conclusions, suggestive of what was done and possibly to some extent, paint in imaginary flights just what the soldiers of today are undertaking for America and the preservation of homes, including not only property but also the grand women of the day, in their grand country.

The day was fittingly observed in detail. The band rendered patriotic airs and selections written by master musical scholars, and now and then a "rag" familiar selection.

This notice of the home and the boys and the day would surely be incomplete without mentioning the excellent dinner, which consisted of soups, milk, coffee, meat, vegetables, breads and other accessories, and it is in order to say that all the eatables were excellently prepared and plentiful.

Dr. J. D. Eiland and his amiable wife, Mr. Cleveland Kicker and wife, the working officials of the Home are deserving of much credit for the many courtesies extended to the visitors.

Judge John B. Fuller, and Capt. J. M. Simpson, two of the executive board, were present and were pleasant and agreeable to visitors.

Judge L. H. Reynolds and wife, Sheriff H. A. Harris and Mr. J. E. Evans, one of Clanton's merchants, visited the Home, and assisted in the successful efforts and extended an invitation to Mr. McLane to visit Clanton and bring his excellent band with him.

A large number of old Confederate veterans from Montgomery were on hand.

Again, the occasion was a grand success and will be remembered by participants especially the old warriors now residing at the Alabama Old Soldiers Home.

The boys who have been here at the instruction course for the corn and pig clubs this week, have been learning many things that are of much value to boys on the farm. According to their letters, which we publish elsewhere in this paper, the things which they have learned during this three days course include many valuable subjects which many of the old and experienced farmers to-day do not know. It shows what advantage the boys of today have over the opportunities that their fathers had when they were growing up.. If there is a club boy in the county who did not come to this course, he surely will be sorry he didn't when he reads about what a big time those who did come have been having. Every boy on the farm should be a member of the corn and pig club, and then everyone of them should attend every opportunity they have, like the short course which has been given them this week in Clanton. The good that they get out of this instruction will ripen into dividends of untold and inestimable value to them when they assume the duties of conducting their own business on the farm. And that day is not far away from some of them. Get your boy into some of these clubs.

The splendid audience of men which greeted Mr. Clark Monday night to hear his denunciation of the evils of Romanism, socially, morally, and politically, was a sufficient attest to the manner in which our people hold the subject in their minds. Not only on the direct subject of Romanism, but also on many other questions of social and moral importance to men, did Mr. Clark lay much needed emphasis. It would be far better for the men of our time if they could often hear and be advised on the subjects which Mr. Clark elucidated.

If this town and community is not awakened to the paramount evils of the political Roman so-called church after the series of splendid lectures on the subject by Mr. Loyd Clark, there is no telling what will happen to us before we wake up. Such a "shelling of the woods" as Mr. Clark has made is enough to arouse the slumbering passions of the most passive individuals, and open their eyes to the impending dangers that have hung like the sword of Diocles over our heads. We should not pass lightly by the things which this man so forcibly presented to our minds.

Along toward the last session of the Teachers Institute, down at the high school this week, the editor of the Union-Banner dropped in for a few minutes to see what was going on. We found the members and teachers engaged in a discussion of the seven-year itch and the compulsory attendance law. We don't know why they had these two subjects together on the program.

Prof. Howard L. Foshee, Principal of Collins Chapel School, has been in Clanton this week attending the teachers institute. Mr. Foshee is convinced that this county should have laws which will make is impossible for ticks and tick fever to infest our cattle. He is engaged rather extensively in the cattle business on his farms, and expects to import a big fine lot of registered cattle into this county soon, if he can get protection from ticks.

The argument of Mr. Foshee for the tick eradication movement is very reasonable, and his experience in Elmore County under the cattle dipping laws leads him to believe that there is nothing detrimental to cattle in dipping them to get rid of ticks. The opinion of a man who has seen both sides of the proposition ought to be convincing evidence.

Mr. A. B. Moore of the department of agriculture, of Montgomery, lectured interestingly on Food Conservation and Production, before the Teachers Institute Wednesday.

FUNERAL OF JAMES WYATT

The body of private Jim E. Wyatt, a member of Battery E, of the 117th U. S. Artillery, was brought back to Clanton for burial on Tuesday, the 27th inst.

Jim was 28 years old, and had been in the service only a few months. He had always lived with his parents in the neighborhood of Providence church, of which they are members, until his call took him to Camp Wheeler to train for service abroad.

There the epidemics of measles caught him, and, as is often the case, pneumonia followed and took his life. Jim was known by his friends to be a good and quiet young man, regular in his habits and loyal to his parents.

The body was escorted to Clanton by First Sergeant Cates of his company, who was joined here by Rev. J. F. Gable, and others, when it was taken to Providence Baptist Church, about eight miles in the country for burial. Between one and two o'clock a funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Gable, after which the body was reverently laid away in the presence of his mourning parents, relatives and friends.

While Jim was never allowed to fully consummate his mission as a soldier, yet he, no less than his comrades, comes under the aegis of the glory of those whose lives are given, not only for their country and homes, but for the cause of righteousness, honor and Christianity.

"The neighing troop the flashing blade
The stirring bugle's blast,
The charge and dreadful cannonade.
The din and shout are past.

And Glory guards withsolemn round
The bivonac of the dead."

REPORT OF GIRLS CLUB WORK CHILTON COUNTY, FOR 1917

The club year has come to a close and I know all of you feel interested in the annual report of the work. It is with much pleasure that I submit the following:

Canned by girls,	20358 cans
Canned by women,	66864 cans
Total,	87222 cans

Value.

Girls' products,	$3527.53
Women's products,	7632.43
Total,	$11159.96

Poultry.

Sold 7109 doz. eggs,	$2587.81
Sold poultry,	314.43
Total,	2902.24
Canned products,	$11159.96
Grand total,	$14062.20

For lack of cans a large quantity of vegetables were lost.

You members of the club made it possible to accomplish so much. We had hopes for larger resluts from the tenths, but when the record books show that sixty-five girls made complete failures with their tomatoes on account of blight, and others dropped out when the work was in an unsettled condition, you can readily understand why the results were not greater. Many of you did splendidly, but in every contest someone always does best; so in this one Myrtle Herrod, of the Pletcher Club gets the first prize, a scholarship to the short course of one week, to Montevallo next year, the profits from her tenths being eighty-six dollars!

Myrtle Keel, of the Enterprise club came second, and gets the canning outfit.

The poultry work was more successful than we ever hoped for it to be. Club work in your county is practically in its infancy, with a growing canning community co-operation such as you have begun it would be difficult to predict what the results might be.

LIDA JONES,
Co. Dem. Agent.

If you don't believe General Sherman was right when he said: "War is Hell," just come to Chilton County and see some of the sad faces and broken hearts which it has already caused, and hear some of the boys relate the experiences which they have to go through with in Camp Wheeler.

The play, "The Last Loaf," which was to be given by Miss Hattis Hancock, at the high school last Tuesday night, will be played at the high school auditorium on Tuesday night, December 4.

WHAT I HAVE LEARNED ABOUT CORN AND PIGS THIS WEEK

Letters from the Corn and Pig Club Boys, who Have Been in Attendance at the Lecture Course in Clanton this Week.

The boys of the corn and pig clubs of Chilton County, who have been in attendance at the lecture course of instruction here this week have been taught a great number of valuable things. The instructors of the course requested the boys to write letters about what they have learned, to be read before the assembly at one of the sessions just about the close of the course. The Editor of the Union-Banner happened in upon the meeting just about the time the letters were being read; and we latched on to a number of them. Below we are glad to publish the letters, in order that the people of the county, the parents of the boys here, may know just what the boys themselves say they have learned:

Dear Teachers and Instructors:

I am glad to say that I have learned more since I have been here than I have ever learned in the same length of time before. I have learned how to make a seed-tester, which is called the "rag doll." I have learned to tell the difference between the types of hogs, the lard type and the bacon type, and I have learned how to tell the difference between beef and milk types of cattle. I have learned how to tell when a hog has cholera, and have learned how to grow the best corn on the farm, and many other things too numerous to mention.

And I want to say that I have certainly enjoyed myself while I was here in Clanton with its people. I have had a fine place to stay, and I am sure the other boys have had. I want to thank the good people for their nice care of us. I hope I make a successful corn club boy.

Yours truly,
WESLEY VEAZEY.

What I have learned during the Boys Course:

I have learned to make a "rag doll" seed tester, to test corn, cotton and all other kinds of seed. I learned how to judge hogs, cows, and saw cows dipped. It was the first time I ever saw cattle dipped.

I have learned to tell when a hog has cholera by the appearance of the glands in the neck and the kidneys.

One man in this county had 4 sows. They raised 44 pigs. He sold 18 for $676.93, and had 16 left to sell. He has enough meat to do for his large family. He has 4 brood sows. One raised 15 pigs which brought him $500. These pigs were raised on sorghum and peanuts.

While here this week we have learned to sing some songs and some yells. I had the pleasure of getting acquainted with two men from Auburn, and some boys from all over the county.

EUEL ROBINSON.

I am greatly pleased to write a short letter of thanks to the Directors of the Boys Short Course, and also the people of Clanton for their kindness and hospitality.

I have learned several things during the three days I have been here. Dr. Burleson taught us several songs, recitations etc., and also how to make the rag doll seed tester for testing seed corn. Prof. L. T. Wells gave us several good lectures on hogs, corn, and club work.

I most especially appreciate the friendliness of the people of Clanton. They took care of about sixty boys during the Institute free of charge.

We all went over to Mr. Dennis' and saw some cows dipped, and we went over to Mr. J. D. Collin's and saw some fine registered Duroc Jersey hogs.

Again thanking the people of Clanton and the directors of the Institute for their kindness, I am,

Yours very truly,
HOMER DYE.

I have learned how to make a rag doll seed tester; how to judge beef cattle and hogs; how to tell when a hog has the cholera; how to grow corn; how to tell the different breeds of hogs and cattle.

Judge Reynolds visited the club boys in session, to see what we were doing. He offered as a prize, two Belgian Hares to the boy who wrote the best article on "How to make a living on the Farm." Maxwell Hayes won the rabbits.

I have met a great number of the boys of the county, whom I am glad to know. I thank the people of Clanton for the kindness shown us while we were here.

Very truly,
EMMETT POPWELL.

I have learned some things this week which I believe of much value to the boy on the farm. I learned how to test seeds, and to distinguish the different breeds of cattle, and how to judge the different breeds of hogs, and how to tell them apart. I learned how to tell when a hog has cholera.

I want to thank the managers of the corn and pig clubs for the information they gave us, also the people of Clanton for their kindness in entertaining us.

Mc. D. MESSER.

Dear Teachers and Instructors:

I want to write in regard to how I apperciate the people of Clanton taking care of the club boys here this week.

I certainly have enjoyed the work, and I thank the professors for the instructions they have given us. The people of Clanton are giving the corn club boys a chance to be educated. Judge Reynolds and the other speakers gave us many points which will be of great advantage to the boys.

KIRBY L. SUMMERS.

I have learned to make a seed-tester, to judge cattle, and have seen some cattle dipped. I have learned to tell lard type of hogs from the pork type. I have learned the symptoms of cholera in hogs. I thank the people of Clanton for their kindness to us while we were here. I have met a large number of the boys from over the county and have had a good time. I thank you all for your kindness.

GLOVER SMITH.

I have learned how to test seed, how to make the tester, how to tell the difference between breeds of hogs and to tell when a hog has cholera. I have learned how to select cattle for beef, and several other valuable things for the boys on the farm.

I have learned that the people of Clanton are good to us, and they welcomed us here. I am thankful for the good treatment given us.

DAVID C. NORRIS.

What I have learned at the Institute:

On Monday morning we met at the high school building.

We were assigned to boarding places, which the Clanton people furnished us free of charge. This was all we had Monday morning, and as soon as we could find our lodging places and get dinner, we went back to the school house.

The first thing in the afternoon we opened up with some songs and yells. We had some good songs for the club boys, but we could not sing them well the first time. But after we had sung them a few times, we got to where we could sing them well. After we had finished the songs, Dr. D. I. Burleton showed us how to make the "rag doll" seed tester, which I think is a nice and valuable thing and is worth many times its cost. Every farmer should have a good seed tester, so that he could test all the seed that he buys before he puts them in the ground. He should test not only the seed that he buys, but all the seeds that he plants. This will sometimes save a man a lot of work and money at a very little expense.

The next thing, Judge Reynolds came down to see what we were doing. He was surprised to see such a large crowd of us down there. Mr. Conway didn't expect to see but about fifteen of us, and there were fifty-five or sixty of us present.

I think Clanton is giving us boys some treat. She is boarding us all free, and you know 55 boys can soon eat up something—if they are all like me.

I forgot to tell you about the nice speech Mr. Reynolds gave us, which we all enjoyed very much. I think it is very nice in Mr. Reynolds in taking four of the boys, and think it is more than his part.

After we were turned out at the school house, we went on to the picture show, which the show man gave us free. We all enjoyed it very much and I think him very nice in giving us the show free.

After the show we went to our places of abode and got our supper and then we had some writing to do. Judge Reynolds told us Monday afternoon that he would give the boy who wrote the best piece on how to make the best living on the farm, well he would give him two Belgian rabbits. Maxwell Hayes won the prize, and his piece was read by Dr. Burleson, and it was certainly fine.

Well, I can say that I have learned to farm at the institute, I have certainly appreciated what Clanton has done for me.

Also Mr. Conway, Mr. Burleson and Prof. Wells have taught me a lot of things that I never knew before. I have them all down in my little note book.

I certainly wish we could stay until close today, for I know the boys are ging to pull off some stunts before the teachers.

DOCTOR SAYS VINOL IS THE BEST TONIC

Honest Opinion Doctor Gave His Patient

Bedford, Ohio.—"I was in a pitiful condition, weak, nervous and run down so I could not do my housework. I had doctored for years and tried everything under the sun. A friend told me about Vinol. I asked my doctor about it, and he replied, 'It certainly is the best medicine that can be had today. I couldn't give you any better.' I took it, and today I am as well and strong as any woman could wish to be. and it was Vinol that saved me."—Mrs. Frank A. Horkey, Ash St., Bedford, Ohio.

Is a Hog Like This Worth 20 Cts. More Than a Hog Like This?

YET—the fat, sleek one at the left cost only 20 cents more to bring to marketing size than the weak, sickly "specimen" at the right, due to the use of Avalon Farms HOG-TONE.

This remedy—tried out thoroughly on the well-known Avalon Farms (in Indiana, near Ft. Wayne) has wrought wonderful results with hogs. It absolutely removes deadly Thorn Head Worms—Stomach Worms—Liver Worms—Lung and Bronchial Worms. HOG-TONE not only keeps the hogs free from worms, in addition it is a first-class general conditioner—stimulates secretory and digestive organs. Thus it spurs on their appetites, makes them grow fatter faster, gives them the ability to get more flesh-building good out of feed.

There is nothing else like it. Farmers know its wonderful hog-saving, money-making value. We want every hog-raiser to know of it—to try it on his hogs.

IN MEMORY OF A FRIEND

Mr. Editor:

Please give me space in your paper to say, that on the 15th of this month our beloved cousin and friend, J. D. C. Scott, while crossing the Warrier River Bridge, near Palos, Ala., with his push car was struck by an I. C. freight train, and was knocked off the bridge. The man fell seventy feet and was instantly killed.

He was 42 years old, a good man, and belonged to the Baptist Church about 26 years. He always attended Sunday School and church, and was never know to drink whiskey or swear an oath.

He was a son of Mr. O. P. Scott, and was always an obedient child, a dutiful husband and a loving father. He leaves a wife and five children, as well as his parents, to mourn after him.

Mr. Scott, like many men who try to serve the Lord, had his criticizers, but he went on in the warfare holding up for the right. But it is now all over, and I am sure he has won the robe of righteousness that will outshine the sun.

There could be many things said about him, but nothing can be done to bring him back to us. So weap not dear friends for him, be rejoice that your loss is Heaven's gain. We will meet again some sweet day.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. Bevis of Jemison, and the funeral was good and appropriate. Then the remains were laid to rest in the Mars Hill Cemetery, to await the great resurrection day.

ABOUT SHIPPING CATTLE OUT OF TICK COUNTIES.

The State Sanitary Live Stock Board Writes a Letter to the Probate Judge.

I am having published a letter from the Live Stock Sanitary Department of Auburn, Alabama, which explains itself. From these rulings it will be seen that it will be almost impossible to ship cattle out of Chilton County after January 1st, 1918.

L. H. REYNOLDS.

Auburn, Ala., Nov. 22, 1917.

Serious war conditions confront our State and nation. Among these is the most unusual demands for beef, hides (leather), milks, butter and dairy products. The movement of ticky cattle retards and hinders tick eradication by endangering tick free areas and tick free cattle. The movement of ticky cattle makes the tick free counties, the state and federal authorities spend money, time and labor to protect tick free areas and tick free cattle when such money, time and labor should be spent in direct and effective tick eradication.

On December 1st, 1917, 61 per cent of the area of Alabama will have been released from U. S. quarantine. The remaining 39 per cent must become tick free and be released from federal quarantine if it receives the benefit of the high prices of beef and dairy products and does its part in the production of these necessary war-time products, and if it ceases to be dangerous to the tick free areas of this and other states.

Georgia prohibits the movement of ticky cattle. Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas have state-wide tick eradication. Tennessee has been tick free for several years, and the entire state of Mississippi will be released from quarantine on December 1, 1917.

The recent changes in the regulations of the live stock sanitary board of Alabama prohibit the movement of tick infested cattle from tick infested areas or counties in Alabama after January 1, 1918. The effect of this requirement will in no way interfere with counties that have taken up active tick eradication or counties preparing to do active tick eradication. It will help such counties. In fact, all tick infested counties can best comply with the new requirements, in shipping or moving cattle, and improving and raising cattle, by taking up active tick eradication.

Every tick infested county in Alabama should co-operate at once with the state and federal inspectors and begin building dipping vats. State and federal aid will be given to every county that will build dipping vats and get ready to comply with the state law and regulations and help banish the destructive cattle tick from Alabama.

Will you do your part? If so, write at once to Federal Inspector, Dr. R. E. Jackson, Birmingham, or Dr. C. A. Cary, State Veterinarian, Auburn, Alabama.

Amendment to Regulation 4.
(Adopted Nov. 19, 1917, to become effective January 1, 1918.)

Paragraph F.

Cattle dipping in accordance with this regulation shall be first inspected by a state live stock inspector or an agent or inspector of the U. S. bureau of animal industry ,and a written permit issued by such inspector or agent certifying that the cattle are apparently free from tick infestation.

Paragraph G.

It is hereby ordered that the transportation of railroad companies shall securely lock their stock pens or loading chutes in the quarantined counties of Alabama, not engaged in the tick eradication work, and not permit any cattle to be placed in such pens or chutes for shipment to any point in this or any other state, unless a written permit from a state live stock inspector or agent or inspector of the U.S. Bureau of Animal Industry for the movement is first presented by the owner or person in charge. Such permit shall be kept on file by the transportation or railroad agent receiving the shipment, and a copy of said permit shall be sent by mail at once to the State Veterinarian of Alabama by the transportation or railroad agent.

During "BARGAIN DAYS," Dec. 1-15, THE BIRMINGHAM NEWS will accept subscriptions, Daily and Sunday (both) by mail (only) ONE YEAR (no less) for FOUR ($4) DOLLARS. Agents wanted everywhere.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.— Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days ...I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go...I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle...I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. E 78

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number Six

Billie and Jimmie Will Take Military Training.

"I am mighty sorry, Uncle Dan, that this is your last night with us. Can't you stay longer? We boys are having a peach of a time," said Billie.

"Well, if you get more out of it in the way of pleasure than I," said Uncle Dan, "you are going some."

"Billie, I have been talking seriously with your father and mother about sending you to a military academy and they asked me to talk with you about it."

"Whoopee!" Billie screamed, like a wild Indian.

"Now, hold your horses," said Uncle Dan, "and listen to me. You know I sent my boy, Howard, to one of these schools for a year when he was about your age. He was narrow chested, stoop shouldered, rather loose jointed; he had the big head and needed discipline and physical development. He was growing fast and I wanted him to be strong physically."

"Say, Uncle Dan," said Billie, "I believe your description of Howard fits me pretty well, eh?"

"Well," said Uncle Dan, "to be frank I think it does; you need the same thing. Howard did not like it at first. I am told for a few weeks he had 'rough sledding,' but after he found that the only way was to obey orders, he caught the spirit of the institution and liked it. We did not see him for about six months, then he came home for a few days. We were astonished at his appearance. He had gained about 20 pounds in weight, his muscles were as hard as nails, he stood as straight as an arrow, he was courteous, considerate and manly. His awkwardness had disappeared. The change was wonderful and it was all to the good. Here is a photograph showing 'before and after taking,' and I am sure no patent medicine advertisement could beat it.

"Well, mother and I were delighted. That was ten years ago, and Howard says the year he spent at the military academy was the best year of his life.

"Now," said Uncle Dan, with great earnestness, "when such training does so much good, makes better citizens and at the same time fits a man to defend his country, why should not Uncle Sam furnish this training at the government's expense? The government has the right to call anyone to serve in case of war, and without training, a man is worth nothing as a soldier. Uncle Sam has splendid new training camps that will soon be available for the purpose, therefore, here is double reason why the Chamberlain bill for compulsory military training should be passed at once, so that every boy physically fit may have this training and not leave it for his parents to pay for. On account of the expense, not one boy in 50 can take the training now. I am glad that you can do so. These big crops and big prices, I find, make the farmers rather 'cocky,' and that the best is demanded by them."

Billie was up with the lark the next morning, more excited and enthusiastic than ever. He had a plan. He knew Jimmie owned a colt worth $100; that he would make almost another $100 on his potatoes if they turned out well, and that he had from his previous savings, bought a $100 Liberty bond. Billie's plan was to have Jimmie cash in and go with him. He was disappointed to find that Jimmie would still lack about $300 of having enough to see him through. His lip quivering, he said: "I'm mighty sorry to leave Jimmie."

Uncle Dan was silent a moment or two, then he asked Billie to go down to the orchard and get him some apples to eat on the train. While he was gone, it was arranged that Uncle Dan and Mr. and Mrs. Graham would advance the money necessary so that Jimmie could go. When Billie returned he was told about it. He ran to the phone and called Jimmie, saying: "Come on over, run just as fast as you can, I've got the greatest news you ever heard of."

Wet Buckeye Hulls carry the feed perfectly

ROUGHAGE is of little value if it allows the concentrated foods to sift to the bottom of the trough and become separated from it. There is no danger of this with

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

when they are wetted down a half hour or so before using. Then they combine more thoroughly and uniformly with the other forage than the old style hulls.

Use Buckeye Hulls properly and you will find them a better roughage than old style hulls and far more economical.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls cost much less than old style hulls.	2000 pounds real roughage to the ton—not 1500 pounds of roughage and 500 pounds of lint.
They allow better assimilation of food.	Sacked—easy to handle.
No trash or dust. No lint.	Take less space in the barn.

Mr. E. W. Leonard, Ellendale, Tenn.,

has been feeding Buckeye Hulls to three milch cows. He says that the cows are giving more milk and butter and are in fine condition. He prefers Buckeye Hulls.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

WADE'S WEEKLY LETTER

Alabama Feed for Texas.

Alabama farmers will have the first opportunity of supplying feeding stuff to the drouth stricken district of Texas. Hon. Sam H. Dixon of the Texas Department of Agriculture spent several weeks touring Lousiana, Mississippi and Alabama in search of feeding stuff. He traveled quietly in Alabama for three weeks, accompanied by an official of the Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries. Mr. Dixon reported to his state at a meeting in Waco on November 14th that he found the greatest surplus of feeding stuffs in Alabama and recommended that negotiations be opened at once between the people of the drought district and Alabama farmers and business men.

Alabama people will get this business and supply the West with thousands of car loads of corn, hay, and beans, if they will sell to Texas at the same price which home people are paying. Remember the freight rate to Texas is ten to twelve dollars per ton in car lots. Texas will pay cash for her stuff. Alabama farmers will not be expected to deal with the people of the dry district in a charitable way, but they are asked to refrain from speculative interest and to price their products to Texas people at the same price that it can be sold at home. This kind of policy will get the business amounting to thousands of car loads. If Alabama people quote speculative prices, the busines will be lost the the State and go to Missouri and Kansas where the freight is cheaper. Alabama farmers can afford to compete for this business and are urged to do so. Freight cars have been made available for this purpose by the Government.

Pink Boll Worm In Texas

It is no longer a doubt about the pink boll worm in Texas. It is a conceded fact and some of the Texas papers predict that it will prabably cause damage to the extent of $250,000,000 next year. Alabama farmers are warned not to buy planting seed or cotton bi-products from Texas on account of the danger of importing this destructive pest into our State.

From all indications at present Texas will increase her cotton acreage next year. The boll weevil having done very little or no damage this year and the high prices this fall seem to have stimulated a keen desire for increased production. Farmers are destroying old stalks now as fast as they can get the cotton out. They are taking advaneed steps to keep down the boll weevil damages next year This year's cotton crop for Texas will be about 3,300,000 bales.

Information from Camp Wheeler is to the effect that Robert Roper cannot survive his illness of pneumonia.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

A Thanksgiving Service will be held at this church, at 7 p.m., on Thursday.

If the circumstances are favorable, the pastor wishes to begin a series of services at the church, on next Sunday; preaching every night at 7 p.m.

This is intended for a kind of pre-Christmas rally, which, it is hoped will culminate in a 'White Christmas' program of a suitable nature, and the giving of gifts where they are needed most.

The pastor, Rev. J. F. Gable, conducted the funeral services of a Chilton County soldier boy, who died of pneumonia at Camp Wheeler. Jim Wyatt was 28 years of age, a member of Battery E, 117th U. S. Artillery. He was buried at Providence Church.

The simple birth-day offerings in the Sunday School have netted $11 up to date, for the building fund. This fund is constantly growing, being fed from several different sources. Mrs. Renfro Mullins' class is doing some good work, and they dare any other class in the school to beat them.

Our Superintendent, Judge E. B. Deason, is still suffering greatly from asthma his ancient enemy. He is thinking of taking a trip to the southwest for about a two-weeks stay, when he shall have somewhat recovered from his present attack.

In the meantime, the Assistant Superintendent, Mr. T. E. Williams, has taken zealous hold, and the school is running smoothly and with increasing interest. The per capita contributions are now standing at a somewhat higher average than formerly.

It is hoped that the new clock which has been placed in the church will conduce to a prompt attendance in both Sunday School and church services. Someone has wittily said, "The Pilgrims placed their Clocks inside the church, lest they come too late, moderns put them inside lest they stay too long."

EXPERTS HERE TO TALK TO CORN ANP PIG BOYS

The corn and pig club boys have had a rare treat this week. Besides having lots of fun they have listened to some of the finest kind of instruction from Mr. B. J. Burleson, of the Agricultural Extension Service at Auburn. Mr. L. T. Wells, Assistant State Club Agent, and County Farm Demonstrator W. H. Conway. The meeting of the club boys adjourned at noon Wednesday.

OPERATING LUMBER WAGONS WITHOUT COUNTY LICENSE

If a man operates a lumber wagon on the public roads of Chilton County D.J. Burleson showed us how to make and is arraigned before the court for violation of the laws, it costs him more to get the business settled than the license would cost him for a whole year.

Three examples of this kind have been before the court this week and were paid off Tuesday.

Will Strength was fined $1.00 by the court, and had to pay the cost also which amounted to $25.00. It cost the second, Charles Johnson $25.40, while the third party, Ed Brown, had to plank down $28.20.

It seems that it would pay to abide by the law.

THE SLACKER

(Composed by C. H. Latham, U.S.S. Montgomery, Norfolk, Va.)

We give you our services, you shut off our beer,
But the slacker can drink 'till it runs out of his ear;
We quit a good job to keep you from harm,
And a slacker goes by with a girl on his arm;
They laugh at a sailor, poor unlucky jackie,
Do you go with a slacker?
A slacker rides around in a Ford all his own,
And charges us a dolalr to carry us home;
We are doing our duty, he thinks he is right,
While we leave mother and father to take up the fight,
The slacker strikes around any place he cares,
And laughs at the sailor whenever he dares;
Dicipline we know is a thing that must be,
But honest to goodness we fail to see.
When a sailor drinks nothing but water and pop,
Why the drinks of the slacker can't also stop.
If a slacker can dance it seems rather hard,
When from decent dances the uniform is barred;
We have shouldred our rifles and taken our place,
And will go to our death with a smile on our face,
But this is our honest appeal to you,
Before we cross, over please give us our dues.

The ladies of the Methodist Missionary Society of Clanton met at the home of Mrs. B. E. Jones, on Tuesday. Several papers were read and refreshments furnished, consisting of varied salad courses.

A Woman's Duty

Since the beginning of time, it has been woman's sphere in life to rear the future generation. Three generations of expectant mothers have aided nature by the regular use of the time-honored external application, "Mother's Friend".

This safe and reliable emollient softens the skin of the abdomen; the muscles expand easily and more naturally when baby is born, and this liniment is the greatest contribution of science to a happy motherhood.

"Mother's Friend" is the prescription of a famous physician who prescribed it in his obstetrical practice for over forty years, and is of such a helpful and natural nature as to be in every way necessary to the expectant mother. All reliable druggists supply "Mother's Friend". Apply it yourself to the abdomen and breasts night and morning. Write the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. L, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., and they will send you a little book brimful of scientifically prepared information, without charge. Write for it by all means, and do not fail to aid nature by the use of "Mother's Friend". Ask for a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at your druggist's today.

DEPUTIES CAPTURE AUTO AS IT WAS HUNTING FOR LIQUOR

On Wednesday night a strange auto from up about Birmingham made its way into the hills of North Chilton on a suspicious looking errand.

Officers of Chilton County caught the scent of his trail anl threw a net in his course. About two o'clock Thursday morning as the car was making its way out of the hills it fell directly into the hands of Deputies Gore and Gillespie, who took charge of the car and driver, W. D. McNair. A search found 16 jugs and 15 cans, each of a gallon capacity, which he had brought to convey his cargo of moonshine back to the city. But the containers were empty. He had failed to find the liquor and was on his way back without it. McNair was arrested and brought to Clanton and placed in the county jail.

The Chilton County oficers have lately apprehended several automobiles from the cities coming into the hills around here for whiskey, but this is the first one they have succeeded in getting.

Miss Lula Bradford of Birmingham was present at the three-days session of the Teachers Institute.

John A. Stanfield succeeded in securing a big Thanksgiving purse for the minister's Thanksgiving present.

Don't Forget Your Home Town

While you are working for such laudable patriotic institutions as the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A., don't overlook your duties right here at home.

WE ARE NOT ALL GOING TO GERMANY, AND THOSE WHO ARE TO REMAIN IN CLANTON CERTAINLY DESERVE AND WANT TO HAVE A TOWN THAT IS WORTH LIVING IN.

WE WANT TO DO OUR FULL DUTY BY THE BOYS WHO ARE TO GO TO THE FRONT AND FIGHT THE BATTLES FOR LIBERTY. WE WANT TO GIVE THEM ALL THE COMFORTS POSSIBLE. BUT AT THE SAME TIME OUR DUTY TO OUR HOME TOWN AND COMMUNITY IS NOT RELAXED ONE BIT. WE ARE STILL CALLED ON BY STERN NECESSITY TO GUARD OUR DESTINIES IF WE WOULD CONTINE TO PROSPER AND OVERCOME THE IMPEDIMENTS THAT COME OUR WAY IN COMMERCIAL, CIVIL, MORAL AND RELIGIOUS RELATIONS. OUR DUTIES ARE NOT JUST SHIFTED FROM ONE THING TO THE OTHER BY THE WAR,—THEY ARE MULTIPLIED. WE ACCORDINGLY MUST MULTIPLY OUR ENERGIES TO MEET THE DEMAND THAT WE ARE CALLED UPON TO FILL AS CITIZENS OF A WIDEAWAKE TOWN. LET US PATRONIZE OUR LOCAL FIRMS FIRST, AND CONTINUALLY YELL "CLANTON."

Merchants, Business men and Professional men, and none the less the good patriotic women, of Clanton, are showing to the outside world that they are active, awake and alert to the call of duty in the various ways it is devolved upon them by the abnormal times of war. Ceaseless and unrelenting work for the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. has resuled in a fair response from our local people. Both time and money, much thought and energy, have been expended all over our broad land to meet the demand of the times in which we live. Clanton has done and is doing her part nobly and well.

But now back to the other side of the picture: Look again upon the old scenes which confronted us before the war began. If we were all going to the trenches to fight we would not care much about what became of Clanton after we were gone. But some of us will remain here to work, live, and we hope, prosper. We must still grapple with the same ploblems that have ever confronted us in our efforts to make our town and community worth while.

The business men whose names you see in this paper are spending money to remind the other citizens that they are willing to work and actually working, to make Clanton an ideal place to live in. They implore the aid and co-operation of all who live around here. You can help them in their undertaking by co-operating with them in their booster campaign for home trading and home development.

$10.00 PER HEAD ADDED TO VALUE OF CATTLE BY TICK ERADICATION

Governor Bilbo of Mississippi has issued a proclamation setting aside Saturday, December 1, as a day to be celebrated throughout the state on account of the lifting of the quarantine against the cattle fever tick.

Governor Bilbo believes that, "So important has been the work of eradication of the cattle tick, so far reaching are its beneficient results, and so greatly should the people congratulate themselves upon the success and completion of the work in Mississippi that they should set aside this date to celebrate the annihilation of this great enemy of our cattle industry."

He says: "Our cattle will be enchanced in value fully $10 per head as the result of their free entrance into the worlds markets."

One year ago 28 counties in Mississippi had ticks and these 28 counties have been cleaned of all cattle fever ticks by systematic dipping of all cattle in these counties during the past summer.

Why could not we do likewise?

Gov. Bilbro says "Before the ticks were dipped out, the ticks annually killed many cattle with the tick fever, steadily sucked out of cattle vast quantities of blood which should have gone to make beef or milk; therefore wasting much of the grain and forage fed to cattle, also prevented the introduction of better bred stock to improve our native herds."

In Chilton county we have, according to records in the Assessor's office 7401 head of cattle, and by dipping we can add $10 value to each it will add $74,010 to our wealth besides the feed saved and the comfort afforded our cattle by eradication of the blood sucking parasite against which the cattle have no protection.

Auto-Intoxication Causes Death

Do you know why you have sick headache, diabetes, neuralgia, rheumatism and liver or kidney troubles? It's because you are being poisoned by products of your own body. Your organs of elimination are not working properly. Waste material that should be thrown out is being retained to poison and intoxicate your system. That could not happen if the bowels were kept open with Granger Liver Regulator. This splendid preparation is purely vegetable and non-alcoholic. Demand Granger Liver Regulator at your drug store—25c a box—and take no other. There is nothing "just as good."

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME VI. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY ,ALA., DECEMBER 6, 1917 NUMBER 36.

ALL FORMER EXEMPTIONS CANCELED BY NEW DRAFT

Under the new regulations of the selective draft law, every person registered for selective draft is restored to his original status, section 4 stating that all exemptions and discharges made prior to December 15 are revoked.

The office of the provost marshal general declares that it is imperrative that every registrant know his order number. Every person who registered June 5 is charged with a knowledge of the selective service law and additional regulations, and failure to perform any duty so prescribed is a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for one year, and may result in the loss of valuable rights and privileges and in immediate induction into military service.

UNION SPRINGS

While times look ominous, yet our people have harvested very abundant crops, and at present have their living at home, but with the market question, excepting cotton, is not satisfactory. We can't forget the suggestion of our old friend, M C. Cleveland, once a successful merchant of Randolph, that was, "make your food crop large enough for all your needs, then in addition, raise all the cotton you can." We have heard nothing better on that line.

Mr. Russ, the turpentine man, has moved from this part to Birmingham.

Mr. Eshleman of the International Bible Students Association, will lecture in this community on Bible subjects, December 18, afternoon and night. All are invited. His talks will be in line with the publications of the late eminent Charles Taze Russell, undenominational.

Some of the boys from Camp Wheeler have made hurried visits to the home folks here last week. How sad the parting, but let us look at the silver lining of the cloud. Though dark now, the future is bright indeed. After man has learned the needed lesson will come the golden fruits, also the golden rule.

Mr. J. A. Logan, formerly of Clanton, lectured here away back in the nineties, on the future outlook, and said inside of about twenty years we would witness more light and more light and more trouble than ever before. Both are here.

Mr. J. N. Scott of Jemison and Mr. G. W. Gothard were welcome visitors to the singing Sunday afternoon. It is almost a puzzle why professing church members have so little regard for the beauties of sacred music but so it is. Same can be said of the Sunday School work. Dullness and don't-care prevail.

We have good health, good weather, yet, how dull we are. we are living in no ordinary time, yet we sleep on in both pulpit and pew.

A larger acreage than usual is being planted in wheat in this section.

Messrs Gore and Gillespie, our efficient deputies sheriff, were here last week. We have noted with pleasure their industry and faithfulness to duty ever since they have been in the service. This county has never had a better Sheriff than Mr. Harris. Our county is to be congratulated on her officials from Probate Judge down. Mr. W. R. Redden is gone on a business visit to Monroe, La.

Mr. Walter McBride has moved to East Texas.

O. M. Bearden is behind the counter at Glass.

Rev. M. C. Crumpton has secured a position at Anniston.

CARD OF THANKS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to thank the good people of Clanton for their kindness and sympathetic assistance so loyally rendered our family during the bereavement caused by the death of our son, Johnnie M. Burnett, at Camp Wheeler last week. The many acts of kindness and assistance will be long remembered by each and every member of the family.

Respectfully,
HENRY M. BURNETT.

OBITUARY

On November 25, at 6 p.m., 1917, Miss Elizabeth Virginia DuBose, one of South Chilton's noblest daughters, went home to God, to shine as the stars forever, yea, to live through the blissful cycles of eternity with the blood-washed billions in a world uninsulted with sin, untouched by death.

Miss DuBose was a decendant of notable Tennessee and South Carolina families and possessed many talents which she diligently improved. She was a great philanthropist, like Dorcas of old, she was a blessing to humanity. Were everyone for whom she did loving service to bring a rose to her grave, she would sleep tonight beneath a wilderness of flowers.

Early in life she espoused the cause of Christ and was a life-long student of God's Word. On November 26th at the Methodist Church the funeral rites were conducted by Rev. E. H. Norris in the presence of a congregation of relatives and friends. Her very little body, as it lay in the casket reflected a divinity, grace and beauty of spirit indescribable. One dear friend said she looked too good to be buried and many of us craved to see her again after we had taken the last look. To the writer she looked like a sleeping angel. Her body was laid to rest in Shady Grove Cemetery to await the bright and glorious resurrection morn when the Lord shall again return to this earth.

Oh how great is our loss and how sad our bereavement. But in the returning twilight I feel constrained to lay this tribute on her grave and thank God for the benediction she has been to us all.

TWO GOOD ASSISTANTS

With Miss Kate Aldridge and Miss Ruby Gore in the post office, Mr. J. E. Robinson has two assistants who do not keep post office frequenters waiting.

MOUNTAIN CREEK "PEARLS"

Mountain Creek lost one of her "pearls" temporarily when Miss Pearl Colley married, but then there is that other gem left — Miss Pearl Culver, and she is as brilliant as any "pebble on the beach."

J. N. Ervin of Randolph was here at court this week.

THE PRESIDENTS

(Dewey Graham, Maplesville, Ala.)

George Washington, the choice of all,
By Adams was succeeded,
Then came Thomas Jefferson,
Who bought the land we needed.
Next Madison was called upon
To keep our noble seaman.
And James Monroe now ushered in
The "Era of Good Feeling."
John Quincey Adams was the next,
And then came Andrew Jackson,
And after him Vanburen came
And the panic's wild destruction.
Then Harrison for one month ruled,
And Tyler came in order,
Then Polk and war with Mexico
About a little border.
Then General Tyler was the choice,
But after one year only
Death called this hero to rest
And left the chair to Fillmore.
Then Pierce and Buchanan came
And the war clouds thickly lower,
So Lincoln was the chosen one—
The statesman for the hour.
Then after Lincoln's martydom
Jackson of Tennessee;
Then Grant, awar-time hero,
The silent man was he.
Next R. B. Hayes was counted in,
And Garfield second martyr,
Whose term was ended peacefully
By Chester Allan Arthur.
Cleveland next, then Harrison,
And Cleveland second timer,
And then McKinley was the third
To fill the grave of martyr.
Then Roosevelt, the nice president,
Succeeded to the honor,
And was elected once again,
And Taft came from Ohio.
Now Wilson is the president
Of a hundred million people.
May peace her gentle wings outspread
And keep our land from evil.

MIDDLETON WINS SUIT IN THE UNITED STATES COURT

Attorney J. Osmond Middleton of this city, the distinguished senior member of the law firm of Middleton & Reynolds, added another feather to his cap last week, when he pulled it over Ed Pettus of Selma, and won his case carrying a verdict of damages to Mr. Middleton's client for the sum of $5,000.00. The case over which the battle was waged was that of Arthur Hodgens vs. the Southern Railway.

Mr. Middleton has the unique distinction of never having lost a single damage suit in either the state or Federal Courts.

MR. J. E. EVANS, BANKRUPT

Proceedings in bnakruptcy were filed by Mr. Grady Reynolds, attorney for Mr. J. E. Evans, on Monday.

Mr. Evans has for many years enjoyed the confidence and esteem of his business, and it is regretted that he found it advisable to enter bankrupt proceedings.

DEATH OF MR. JOE CARWILE

Mr. Joe Carwile, for many years a worthy citizen of Clanton, died on Monday at the home of his daughter near Clanton, and interment was made at the Cooper Cemetery on Wednesday. Rev. S. M. Adams conducted the funeral services in the presence of a large number of friends of the deceased.

GONE TO THE FRONT

Mr. Frank Smith, son of Mr. P. C. Smith, left on Monday for Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. Frank has joined the U. S. Artillery service, and enlisted for the duration of the war.

WOOD READY TO BURN

Mr. J. Q. Wade is a public benefactor. He has established a "ready to burn" wood sawing plant, and furnishes fuel at a low rate.

MILWAUKEE PAPER DEMANDS PROOF OF DISLOYAL CHARGE

Washington, Nov. 30.—Proof of alleged disloyel statements of the Milwaukee Ledger was demanded by the post office department today in closing arguments in the mandamus hearing brought by the socialist republican to save its second class mail privilege.

The Ledger's charge that President Wilson and Congress declared war on Germany to protect foreign bondholders in Wall Street and to promote the interests of munitions makers, resulted in revocation of the privilege, it as stated. The burden of proof rests on the publishers, the government attorneys argued.

W. C. Neal of near Thorsby was a visitor at the Union-Banner office Saturday. Mr. Neal is just back from Indiana where he has been living for the past year or two. He says it is so cold up there that he decided he preferred to live in the Sunny South, and came back to his place at Thorsby.

AN ELECTION ON IN CLANTON

There is an election on in Clanton and the result will be made known on Friday evening at 10 o'clock, p.m.

This "friendly contest" is to decide the question as to just which one of the many pretty girls in Clanton is regarded as the most popular young lady in the city, where so many educated, musical, amiable, entertaining conversationalists reside.

The interest manifested excites the voting patrons. The prize will be a handsome set of toilet articles now on display at the Upchurch Drug Store.

The net proceeds derived from this contest will be used to purchase needed articles in the city grammar school.

Of course every resident of Clanton who claims to be a judge as to Alabama beauty knows just who will be the winner.

The writer of these lines can name the successful young lady, now; but in all fairness to the candidates, his selection will be kept secret until the votes decide the matter.

Ballot boxes have been placed in the stores and at the post office. Vote as often as you comply with the requirements, and be sure that you assist in naming the winner.

The contestants are:

Miss Conradine Lane,
Miss Glennie Evan,
Miss Rosie Kanjutzky,
Miss Roberta Curry,
Miss Rosie Parrish,
Miss Esther Davis,
Miss Sallie Driver,

COUNTY COURT

The probate court of Chilton County was in session on December 3, presided over by Judge Reynolds. The following disposition of cases was made:

W. D. McNair, charged with carrying concealed weapon, fined $100 and 60 days hard labor. Appealed.

Pleasant Jones, charged with violating prohibition laws, convicted and sentenced to 6 months hard labor and fined $200.00, appealed and bond fixed at $750.00.

J. T. Boswell, violating prohibition laws, convicted, and sentenced to six months hard labor and fined $200. Appealed, and bond fixed at $750.

Miles Boston, charged with M. K. L., discharged after trial.

HELP THE OLD SOLDIERS

The Union-Banner has a suggestion to make, and it is this:

Christman is nearly here, and in Chilton County, at the Old Alabama Soldiers Home, near Mt. Creek, there are now 90 old Alabama veterans, the youngest being 71 years old. There are also thirteen old ladies, good old women, who were when young, working the fields and made crops in order to keep the Alabama boys at the front. These old women are just as deserving as the old veterans.

Now then, the Union-Banner makes this proposition to the canning club girls of Chilton County: Just send a few cans of the stuff you saved this prosperous year, to help out the Christmas dinner for those deserving old people. Never mind as to their politics or religion. Those questions no longer enter into conditions as they exist today. These old people are our own, and we must assist them.

The state appropriation, owing to the advance in prices, is not sufficient to support the worthy old people.

Even should too much be sent for the Christmas dinner, Dr. Eiland and his estimable wife can make good use of the surplus on the tables for the old people during the cold winter days.

But, this appeal is not made to canning club girls only. There is room for others. Just buy a few cans of Chilton County prepared stuff and send it to the Union-Banner, with your name, and marked, "for the old soldiers Home."

The Banner will pack the goods and pay the freight, and ship to Dr. J. D. Eiland, the commandant.

Come on now, and help to make the Christmas at the Home this year pleasant for the old and deserving people.

Merchants can contribute, ladies can contribute, in fact no one is barred. Just procure the goods and send them to the Union-Banner office We will do the rest.

Capt. E. H. Smith, an old veteran friend of the Union-Banner, from Mt. Creek, was a welcome visitor at our office on Saturday.

Uncle George Mims, that good old citizen of Collins Chapel Community was in Clanton Saturday. He paid his usual visit to the Union-Banner, which was much enjoyed by the editor.

R. E. L. Ward, of Route 4 came to see the Union-Banner on subscription business Saturday.

Tom Littlejohn left Sunday for Tuscaloosa, from which place he will travel for Cannon & Sheperd, wholesalers of that city.

CONGRESS CONTAINS BIGGEST SPENDERS IN WORLD HISTORY

531 Members will Average up to $5,000,000 a Month.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The halls of America's war congress filled up again today with the greatest body of money spending men the world has ever known.

Brewster with his millions was a mere piker compared with any one of the 531 senators and congressmen who are back here to fill up the government's river of gold again. Brewster had only to spend a few millions a year. Uncle Joe Cannon and his colleagues in the House, and Senator J. Ham Lewis and his colleagues in the Senate bid fare to strike an average of five million dollars a month each.

Thirteen and a Half Billions.

Having already shoveled out nearly nineteen billion dollars for the nation't first year of war, they started in today to open Uncle Sam's strong box to the extent of thirteen and a half billions more. The total of 32 billions divided among the 531 makes each senator and congressmen the spender of between sixty and sixty-two million dollars a year, or more than $75,000 a day apiece.

And there's many a man among them who never saw and probably never will see all in one bunch the amount each spends every day.

On the other hand, there are those among them who could spend that much for a picture and never miss it. Senator Gerry, of Rhode Island is one of these. Yet, in his senate seat today he didn't look a bit more opulent than a lot of the penniless congressmen over in the house.

Spends Millions a Month.

For doing this unprecedented job of spending, the government pays these 531 men $3,982,500 a year, or $7,500 apiece. And many of them after spending millions a month, will go back home some day and think themselves lucky to earn $10,000 a year, or less.

Those in the galleries who came today to see and saw not, were conscious only of the floor full of men in a seating arrangement much after the manner of an opera or church amphitheatre, carrying on dull routine affairs in a lackadaisical manner.

But these same men are starting the preliminaries of a lavish outlay such as never was dreamed of even in the Rome that was Caesar's or the Egypt that was Cleopatra's.

Camouflaged by the dull accounterments of parlimentary procedure and buried beneath a crust of official dignity and endless whereases and wherefores, they proceeded on the floor of congress today on the greatest romance that the gods of war have ever known.—The Birmingham Ledger.

A body of 100 surgeons has been organized for service in the hospitals of Roumania.

In many cases throughout the country automobile owners have learned to drive their own cars or have given them up entirely so that their chauffeurs might be released to give their valuable specialized service to the army.

A woman 96 years old has written the woman's committee of the Council of National Defense asking for war work because she says, "my son is too old to be a soldier." A girl 9 years old wants to go to France as a messenger in the Red Cross service.

Between August 1 and December 1 the railroad transported 1,500,00 men to training camps and embarkation points. To insure the safety of the men in transit the railroads have adopted an average speed of 25 miles an hour except when freight cars needed for the transportation of equipment are included in the trains. The speed is then reduced to 20 miles.

What could a Republican do in the Legislature of Alabama? Is that the question? Well, then, if he didn't do anything else he would reflect the good judgment of the people of his home county in choosing a man of the right kind, even though his hands were tied by the iniquitous democratic colleagues whom he would have to sit with in the legislature.

The fuel administration is authority for the statement that, while the annual output of coal has been increased approximately 50,000,000 tons, the increase in consmuption caused by the war is 100,000,000 tons. An instance cited is that of the Bethlehem Steel Company, which demands an increased coal supply of approximately 3,000,000 tons a year. The coal demands of public utility plants, particularly in the industrial sections, have increased a third.

Durwood Mims came around to the Union-Banner office last week while he was here on furlough, and said, "send me the Union-Banner over to the camp. I get mighty lonesome for some news from home every week." The paper sent to the boy in the army every week will cheer him up. If your boy is over there you should see that he gets it regularly. It will carry news of things to him that you would never think of writing to him.

Many sorrowing friends from Clanton attended the burial of Private Johnnie M. Burnett, at New Cedron, last Saturday. For the past few years John had been a popular student in the high school here, and hundreds of friends in Clanton had learned to admire the splendid qualities of young manhood which were at all times manifest in his character. Unusual grief prevails now among these friends for his sad death.

There are rumors going the rounds of the newspapers that a plan is being considered by the war department for the removal of soldiers from Camp Wheeler at Macon, to Camp McClellan, at Anniston. We have no doubt but that this item of news would meet the approval of many people ni this state, who have relatives among the soldiers at Macon. And we believe too, that the soldiers themselves would be glad to get out of Camp Wheeler to a more healthful location.

Kin M. Vinson returned to Camp Wheeler Sunday, after a few days visit at home with his wife and parents. While here he had the sad experience of atending the burial of Johnnie Burnett, his brother-in-law, who was his companion in camp. They were soldiers in training together.

HERE'S THE RIGHT KIND

We notice in Sunday's Age-Herald that one, Roger W. Snyder, of Jefferson County, has about decided to enter the race for State Senator from that county in the next campaign. In speaking of the next legislature and what it will do, Mr. Snyder pledges his endorsement to some very important issues, according to the Age-Herald. Among them are the following: The strengthening of our organic laws, whereby the church and state are forever separated; upholding our great public school system throughout the state; a law whereby public funds or lands shall not be donated to sectarian institutions; inspection by regularly constituted officials or authorities of all public and private institutions; the state to publish and furnish free of charge all text books to children in our public schools.

These are a few of the "planks" Mr. Snyder outlines, and we want to say that they are sound to the core. We don't know anything about the man, never heard of him before, but we do know that he is on the right track for what should be the accomplishments of the next legislature. There is no objection among right-thinking men against the state doing the things enumerated above and advocated by the candidate from Jefferson.

We don't know what the politics of this man is; we don't know what his politics has been in the past; we don't care a flip about that. We suppose he is a Democrat, and for that we would rather he be a Republican. We simply have a preference for Republicans because our editorial mind has a way of running kindly Republican-like. But back to the discussion of these principles that have already been laid down and enumerated above.

With all the minor objections of politics and such frivolous things, if a man is sound on these vital measures, it is pretty safe to say that he is in that capacity, the kind of a man Alabama needs to sit in the next legislature, and help make our laws in 1919.

There is, in our opinion, something coming to the surface in this state pretty soon that is going to completely overthrow such musty old political buncomb as that which has been harped on for years. Men are going to wake up and realize that they have other things to wrestle with and something else to do besides sit around the capitol and see who can spin the greatest eulogy to the "solid Democratic South." The people are going to demand action on such issues as those outlined by Mr. Snyder, and let the traditions of the past rest only in the memories of those who have nothing to do but cherish such things. For a long time this writer has been of the idea that the time would soon be at hand when we would have to grapple with issues of the present time and not have time to cuss and discuss what was and was not fifty years ago.

These vital propositions concerning the life, liberty and happiness of our people are now confronting us, and they are growing bolder and bolder with every turn of the clock of time. And if the next legislature of Alabama is not wide awake to the accomplishment, properly and securely, of the things set out above, there is great danger for us just ahead. We are already in sight, and in fact directly facing the red sign of danger. The next legislature is the last chance of the people to put on the brakes and prevent the wreck of our sacred patriotic and democratic institutions.

When you hear a fellow hinting around in regard to going to the next legislature, to represent the people, pust ask him how he stands on this business of separation of church and state; upbuilding the public schools; stopping the donation of state funds to sectarian institutions; and the inspection of public and private institutions by authorities of the law. If he is not in favor of these things being enacted and enforced by the legislative and executive branches of the state government, it matters not what his politics is, whether Republican, Democratic or Socialist, he has no business in the next legislature of the State of Alabama.

ENLIST FOR SERVICE—RAISE A PIG. C.H.Russell, Marbury, Ala.

In the prosecution of a great task like our present war, there are agents of death other than bullets, which must be conquered if we attain success. The most formidable of these is disease, which is next to the worst enemy our soldiers have. Already the men in the camps are having to go up against this adversary, and many of them are dying. With in the past week four Chilton County boys at Camp Wheeler have fallen victims to the clutching hand of the mighty enemy.

But because they must die before seeing the glory and tasting the valor of the battlefield, does not lessen the honor which will fall alike on everyone who dies in the cause of his country, whether he lose his life in action behind a gun or relinquish it to the silent foe which creeps unseen among our gallant heroes.

Representative Miller of Minnesota, an important member of the military affairs committee of the House of Representatives, who has just returned from the war zone, plans to put it out of the minds of Congressmen that the war will soon end. He is reported as saying in Washington: "If the war lasts until Christmas, and that it will, everyone is certain, it will last three years, and the United States must fight it to a conclusion. This in a nutshell is my opinion after a visit to the front, after a visit during which I was able to make first-hand calculations. We will win. But we have a fight on our hands. Let no one deceive himself."

The congress of the United States re-convened Monday, and according to Hugh Roberts of the Age-Herald, not a member of the body came to Washington with any idea as to what would be done by the session in the way of legislation. Every member of congress seems to have had his ears open to the suggestion of the President, and ready to bark up whatever tree Mr. Wilson pointed out. Without going into the matter of the propriety of the situation, we seem to be bound to admit, in the light of the information obtainable, that not only congress but this country as a whole, is directly under the individual dictation of the single power of the President. But we should be glad that there is someone who can outline policies at Washington, even if there are none in congress who are able to do it.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.— Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days ...I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go...I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle...I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. E 78

Wednesday was a sad day for the many relatives and friends of the deceased.

CLANTON GROCER THANKFUL

"I had been sick nearly 20 years with stomach trouble, and was slowly starving to death, as everything I ate caused terrible gas and pain and my food did not digest. I was reduced to 115 pounds. A friend advised me to take Mayr's Wonderful Remedy about four months ago, which I did and now weigh 151 lbs. and can eat anything. I am very thankful for Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. It remover the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract ,and allays the inflamation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

Is a Hog Like This Worth 20 Cts. More Than a Hog Like This?

YET—the fat, sleek one at the left cost only 20 cents more to bring to marketing size than the weak, sickly "specimen" at the right, due to the use of Avalon Farms HOG-TONE.

This remedy—tried out thoroughly on the well-known Avalon Farms (in Indiana, near Ft. Wayne) has wrought wonderful results with hogs. It absolutely removes deadly Thorn Head Worms—Stomach Worms—Liver Worms—Lung and Bronchial Worms. HOG-TONE not only keeps the hogs free from worms, in addition it is a first-class general conditioner—stimulates secretory and digestive organs. Thus it spurs on their appetites, makes them grow fatter faster, gives them the ability to get more flesh-building good out of feed.

There is nothing else like it. Farmers know its wonderful hog-saving, money-making value. We want every hog-raiser to know of it—to try it on his hogs.

We have stocked Avalon Farms HOG-TONE because we believe it a real money maker for the hog grower. Come in and talk to us about it.

Freight Rates in Alabama

A petition has been filed by the undersigned railroads, with the Alabama Public Service Commission, proposing a revision of Alabama freight rates, conforming to the principles followed by the Interstate Commerce Commission in its long and short haul order issued in compliance with Federal law. The Commission has set Jan. 16th as the date on which the hearing is to be held.

PURPOSES OF PETITION.

The purposes of the proposed revision in Alabama are:

First: To make an adjustment of intrastate rates that will conform to the long and short haul principles prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission in connection with interstate rates, thereby removing numerous inconsistencies and unjust discriminations in favor of the larger cities or communities and against the smaller towns or communities.

Second: To bring about a proper and consistent relationship in the intrastate rates applicable between points in Alabama and the interstate rates applicable between points in Alabama and points in surrounding states, thereby removing numerous inconsistencies and unjust discriminations against interstate traffic.

Third: To readjust the intrastate Alabama rates on many commodities moving in large volume, which do not now pay their just share of the cost of transportation, thereby removing this unjust discrimination against other traffic.

Fourth: To afford the carriers in Alabama more adequate revenue from intrastate freight transportation for the service performed.

TO FURNISH INFORMATION.

The effect of this proposed revision will be to produce both reductions and advances in the freight rates between points in Alabama on the several lines and will also remove many discriminations between interstate rates and intrastate rates which have been accentuated by the recent interstate revision made in conformity with the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

For the purpose of furnishing authoritative information in regard to the rates proposed in this revision, there will be located at the Exchange Hotel in Montgomery, Alabama, for the week of Dec. 10th, to Dec. 15th, inclusive, a committee composed of the following traffic representatives:

C. H. Pearson, Assistant General Freight Agent, Alabama Great Southern R. R.; C. B. Kealhofer, General Freight Agent, Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Ry.; C. McD. Davis, General Freight Agent, Atlantic Coast Line R. R.; N. B. Wright, Assistant Freight Traffic Manager, Central of Georgia Ry.; W. H. Grumley, Assistant General Freight Agent, Mobile & Ohio R. R.; J. H. Toomer, Jr., Assistant General Freight Agent, Seaboard Air Line Ry.; E. H. Shaw, Freight Traffic Manager, Southern Railway and Northern Alabama Ry.; Frank G. Browder, Jr., General Agent, Western Railway of Alabama.

A DECLARATION OF POLICY

It is not and will not be the policy of the undersigned railroads to propose any system of rates which would unjustly discriminate against the Alabama producer in favor of producers located without the state. Should this policy appear to be violated by any technical construction of our petition we give assurance that we will not propose, nor will we attempt to adopt, in actual practice, any rates at variance with the same.

THE L.& N. states without fear of successful contradiction that its Dining Car Service is equalled by few railroads and is surpassed by none.

Capable buyers have positive instructions to purchase only the best substantials and delicacies the markets afford. Every car is equipped with the best modern refrigeration systems to preserve fresh supplies without cold storage. Each chef, cook and assistant cook is selected solely on his demonstrated ability to properly prepare food which meets the standard requirements of L. & N. Dining Car Service. Every dining car is under the immediate and constant supervision of a capable conductor who will tolerate nothing but prompt, courteous and efficient service on the part of carefully trained waiters, each of whom renders such service.

The cars are bright and cheerful, strongly built and evenly balanced, and supplied with snowy linen and dainty glass and silverware.

The menu is chiefly characteristic for its wide variety and reasonableness of price. There is a blending of French dishes, characteristic of old New Orleans, with genuine Southern cooking, and favorite dishes of Chicago, St. Louis and Jacksonville.

The fruits of the tropics, the sea food of the Gulf, the juicy steaks of the West, and vegetables in season from the Great Lakes on the North to Florida on the South, are served in all their freshness.

Standard mineral waters and soft drinks are supplied as are imported and domestic cigars and cigarettes.

A meal aboard an L. & N. dining car is a genuine pleasure and delight. The service is exceptional; the price is reasonable.

EXPRESSION OF THANKS FROM COMMANDANT OF OLD SOLDIERS

The following letter was received by Mr. Thompson from Dr. J. D. Eiland, Commandant of the Old Alabama Soldiers Home, and is self-explanatory.

Mt. Creek, Ala., Dec. 3, 1917.

Mr. W. P. Thompson, Clanton, Ala.

My dear Mr. Thompson: I wish to express through you, to the daily papers, namely, the Birmingham Age-Herald, News, and Ledger, the Montgomery Advertiser, and Journal, also the Mobile Register, to all who who have so generously contributed to the needs of the old people in the Confederate Soldiers Home. There has been a most wonderful interest shown in the old people in the Home, and while it has been impossible to acknowledge and express to each one the thanks and appreciation of the many articles, consisting of the most comfortable wearables, also blankets, etc. I assure them all that every article that was sent was highly appreciated, and will be of the greatest benefit and service during the wintery months.

The above named papers have the many thanks of the Home for repeated appeals through their columns for the above cause.

Very Respectfully,
J. D. EILAND.

CATTLE AT SOLDIERS HOME

A look over the stock at the Alabama Old Soldiers Home is as a pleasantry. Mr. Scott, the care-taker is certainly deserving of much credit for the admirable condition of the animals. There are now eleven regular milch cows, and from this bunch Mr. Scott gets over 30 gallons of milch each day.

With Mr. Cleveland Kicker as adjutant and Mr. Scott in charge of the stock, and Dr. J. D. Eiland as commandant, the home is well officered by Chilton County home-grown men.

Would you mix your cattle-feed with cotton?

YOU know that such a combination would be carried through the digestive tract without giving the milk-producing and fat-producing food a chance to be assimilated. The lint on old style hulls acts the same way. It forms a pad or cushion-like covering around the concentrates that prevents the digestive juices from extracting the full amount of protein.

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

contain no lint to clog or flux the digestive tract. They are digested and they allow the other forage to be digested the same as hay or any other roughage.

When you mix your feed with Buckeye Hulls you know that you are using roughage that will help—not hinder—the meal, corn, oats, or whatever concentrate you prefer.

Other Advantages

2000 pounds of real roughage to the ton—not 1500.
Cost much less per ton.
Go much farther.
No trash or dust.
Easy to handle because sacked.
They mix well with other forage.
They take less space in the barn.

Mr. C. K. Henderson, Aiken, S. C., says:
that he would rather have Buckeye Hulls than any others. He uses Buckeye Hulls altogether—says they are cheaper and better.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

MEN CONVICTED FOR FAILURE TO REGISTER WILL GO TO ARMY

Under new Ruling, they will not be Allowed to get off With Jail Sentence.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Under the new draft rules and regulations, effective December 15, men convicted of failing to register on last June 5 will be dealt with more harshly than under the old system. Provost Marshal General Crowder announced today that such men, instead of being given jail sentences as has been done in many cases heretofore, will be so listed by local boards as to insure their call with the first increment summoned after the new rules are put in force.

Local boards are directed not to send the registration cards to the convicted men to their state adjutant general for serial number assignment but to place them at the top of the first class liable for call. Thus the men, it was pointed out, will forfeit all chances of the master list rotation, except in cases where physical condition of the terms of the law require exemption or deferred classification.

Men now under suspended sentence for failing to register also will be listed at the top of the first class, it was announced.

Hon. Chas. Ingram of Birmingham was in Clanton Monday attending court.

FROM U. S. NAVY RECRUITING STATION

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 5, 1917.
Dear Editor:

This office is in receipt of a recent order that opens up a chance for men with trades to enter the Aviation Corps (ground service), as petty officers.

I am sure you ill be interested as it is the best chance that men of trades have had to enter a branch of the service as athor than provates. I hope you will be able to give as wide publicity to this as possible.

There is an important and immediate need for mechanics for naval aviation in the following ratings: (1) Machinists Mates. (aviation); (2) Carpenters Mates, (aviation); (3) Quaartermasters, (aviation); (4) Balcksmiths, and (5) Coppersmiths, for aviation duties.

The following trades are covered by the above ratings: Carpenters, Woodworkers, Machinists, Coppersmiths, Fabric Workers, Riggers, Acetylene Welders, Gas Engine Overhaul men and Instrument Makers.

Machinists mates are charged with the upkeep and overhaul of aircraft engines. They must have had previous experience in gasoline engines or any allied trade such as electricians. Men especially desirable may be enrolled as Machinists Mates, 2nd Class. Others will be enrolled as landsmen for Machinists mates. Pay of landsmen for Machinists mates, (aviation(is $32.60 per month.

Quartermasters Aviation.

Landsmen for Quartermaster, Aviation, are selected from men wha have alertness and intelligence and a general mechanical ability. Men having experience in hydrogen plants or balloon works are especially desirable. The duties of the Quartermasters are to see to the upkeep and overhaul of sea-planes or dirribles. Pay of Quartermaster, 2nd class is $46.50 per month. Pay for Quartermaster, 1st class is $52.00 per month.

Carpenter Mates.

Landsmen for Carpenter Mates (aviation) must have had experience as a skilled trade carpenter. After training is completed they will be rated according to proficiency as carpenters. Carpenters Mates, 1st class receive $52.00 per month. Carpenters Mates 2nd class receive $46.50 per month. Men especially qualified may be enrolled as Carpenter Mates 2nd class directly.

Blacksmiths and Coppersmiths.

These are not distinctly aviation duties, as the trade proficiency will easily qualify such men for aviation works. Such men must have engaged in actual work at their trade.

Acetylene welders may enlist as Coppersmiths 2nd class. Those failing to qualify at examination may be assigned to general service. Pay of Blacksmiths 2nd class is $61.00 per month. Pay of Blacksmiths 1st class is $77.50 per month.

Men enlisting in aviation branches above must enter with the understanding that they are to do ground work only. They will not be given an oportunity to fly. The course of training will be three months for Machinist Mates and Quartermasters, (aviation) and six weeks for Carpenter Mates.

Promotion is fast. No time limit applies after the fixed period of training, and men may be advanced on their ability. Age limits, 21 to 35 years. Respectfully,

J. E. MEREDITH,
Lieut. U. S. N. Rect Off.

ASTOUNDING REPORT FOR CLANTON

The wife of a merchant had stomach trouble so bad she could eat nothing but toast, fruit and hot water. Everything else would sour and ferment. ONE SPOONFUL buchthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka benefitted her instantly. Because Adler-i-ka flushes the entire alimentary tract, it relieves any case of constipation, sour stomach or gas, and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICKEST action of anything we ever sold.

Precious Children, are Not They?

They are homeless; and we want some wholesome fine Christian couple to take them and love them and care for them.

Shall it be your home? They are sisters and as bright and smart as they can be.

We have two boys, too; sturdy little fellows, with hearts yearning for a real home. Will you make them glad and happy by opening your home to one or both of them?

A child will bring sunshine and gladness into the childless home.

Write to Ralph S. Barrow, State Superintendent, Alabama Children's Aid Society, headquarters 2212 First avenue, Birmingham, Alabama.

LET YOUR DOLLARS HELP

If you have children your heart cries out for these homeless little ones. There are just lots of them. Will you not let your money help to find mothers and fathers for them?

The work is supported entirely by voluntary contributions: any amount you desire to give, large or small, will help in our great work.

Won't you give $1.00 a month? You will miss it so little and 'twill mean so much to some little child. It may mean saving a life.

For $2.50 a month you can "endow" a child in a foster home. Will you do it? You could not contribute to a more worthy cause. Mail your money order or check now to Mr. Crawford Johnson, Treasurer, Alabama Children's Aid Society, Birmingham, Alabama.

TEXAS AND COTTON

A careful study of Texas farmers shows a strong tendency to increase the cotton crop in 1918. Everywhere farmers are talking about planting more cotton next year. They are destroying old stalks by grazing them more closely with cattle or plowing them under for the purpose of taking advantage of the boll weevil, which does not seem to have done very much damage this year on account of the dry season. Apparently, the weevils are a thing of the past, but a few are still found on late cotton in damp, rich places.

The pink boll worm has been discovered in several localities, one infestation as far east as Beaumont, in southeast Texas. This pest is more destructive than boll weevils, but spreads more slowly. They are not expected to reduce the yield of cotton in Texas materially for two or three years yet. Every effort is being made to exterminate them, and many people are hopeful that the pest will be completely stamped out. As a safeguard against this dangerous pest, Alabama farmers are warned against buying cotton seed or cottonseed products from Texas. Texas can make four million bales of cotton in seasonable years, and will, in our opinion, do it next year, if conditions are favorable.

Diversification Best for Alabama.

While the Texas farmer is tearing his shirt to make more cotton, the Alabama farmer will do well to continue his diversification (hog and hominy). Texas is without sufficient feed and food except in the Northern and Eastern part. They will need thousands of carloads, and have appealed to the government for aid. Primarily, this condition was brought about by the great drought in the Southwest, but is made more stringent by the extensive cotton regime. Cotton is still the cheapest agricultural product on the market. It serves best only as a cash crop after the living has been produced through diversified farming. Alabama farmers should increase their hogs, cattle and poultry as fast as possible by saving the young females. They should plant about three-fourths of their cultivatable crops to corn, beans peanuts, oats, peas, cane and vegetables. About one-fourth of the crop or six acres to the plow should be planted to cotton. The soil should be well-drained up-land, (pea-stubble preferred). It should be thoroughly plowed this fall. Plant early varieties medium early in the season. Use acid phosphate and stable manure as far as they will go. Work fast and destroy all weevils before squares are formed. It should make a bale per acre, if properly done, and make a fine cash surplus after the living has been produced. It is the only safe system. Remember to destroy all cotton stalks on the farm as early as possible.

U. S. NAVY URGES MEN TO ENLIST

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 4, 1917.
Editor Union-Banner:
Dear Sir:—

The new classification rules of the adjutant general include several classes that effect recruits for the navy that I think would be of interest to your readers.

By the new rulings, after December 15th no man who would be in the quota for the second army may enlist in the navy. This is of vital interest to a great many of your readers who are between the ages of 21 and 31 and who have no chance for exemption. These men will be automatically advanced to the top of the list and will, after December 15 have no chance of service, as they will not be allowed to enlist in the army or navy after that date.

The navy is extremely anxious to enlist 20,000 more apprentice seamen, pay $32.60 per month, and 5,000 firemen, pay $36,20 per month. It offers great inducements such as good food, dry bedding, cleanliness, warmth and a chance to see the world. The men interested can write to the navy recruiting stations, at Montgomery, Birmingham, Mobile, Dothan, Huntsville, Tuscaloosa, or Pensacola, Fla.

Thanking you for this and past favors, I am,

Yours truly,
J. E. MEREDITH,
Lieut. U. S. N. Recrt. Off.

Claud Jones who lives at Decatur now, attended the funeral of his brother here Wednesday.

NATIONAL RED CROSS CAMPAIGN TO OPEN

Tne national Red Cross will secure 10,000,000 new members before this Christmas. The campaign will begin December 17th, and run to Christmas Eve. A Red Cross Sermon will be preached in almost every pulpit in the United States by patriotic clergymen who see in the Red Cross the great undenominational agency for international relief.

In Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi 500,000 new members must be secured and each of the 300 Chapters in the Division has been called on to name a special Campaign Manager, who, with his committees woll conduct this drive,—the greatest one for new members that has ever been undertaken in the United States.

The headquarters for the committee n charge of the movement is at New Orleans. Alabama is represented by Mr. Robert Jemison, Jr., a prominent real estate agent at Birmingham and by Judge Goodwyn, the well-known attorney at Montgomery. Louisiana is represented by Judge E. H. Randolph, one oft he most prominent attorneys of North Louisiana and by John Legier, Jr., President of the City Bank and Trust Co., at New Orleans. Mississippi is represented by Mr. T. F. Davis, President of the Federal Land Bank, formerly a resident of Yaoo City and by Mr. Thad B. Lampton, the well-known banker of Jackson, Mississippi. The executive secretary in charge of the work is Mr. W. J. Leppert, Director of the Bureau of Development in the Gulf Division.

A Woman's Duty

Since the beginning of time, it has been woman's sphere in life to rear the future generation. Three generations of expectant mothers have aided nature by the regular use of the time-honored external application, "Mother's Friend".

This safe and reliable emollient softens the skin of the abdomen; the muscles expand easily and more naturally when baby is born, and this liniment is the greatest contribution of science to a happy motherhood.

"Mother's Friend" is the prescription of a famous physician who prescribed it in his obstetrical practice for over forty years, and is of such a helpful and natural nature as to be in every way necessary to the expectant mother. All reliable druggists supply "Mother's Friend". Apply it yourself to the abdomen and breasts night and morning. Write the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. L, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., and they will send you a little book brimful of scientifically prepared information, without charge. Write for it by all means, and do not fail to aid nature by the use of "Mother's Friend". Ask for a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at your druggist's today.

TELEPHONE DIRECTORS TO HOLD MEETING

Teh directors of all lines of the Peoples Telephone Company, are requested to meet at the courthouse on Monday, December 10 at 10:00 a.m.

Let every line seet hat it has a representative at this meeting.

J. H. DUNCAN, Pres.
J. N. DENNIS, Secretary.

Red Cross buttons, literature, posters and other supplies are going forward to each community and will be in the hands of the Campaign Managers in time for them to make of the drive a success.

Splendid Efforts

The merchants of this town have been liberal buyers of newspaper advertising space in the past year, trying to impress the people of their intentions in the upbuilding of the town and community. They help the people by giving them money-saving prices when they buy the things that are sold in the stores. These merchants have spent good hard cash to convince the people of this town that they should help in the work of community building by co-operation with the local merchant and spending the money at home.

If you as a citizen, have not given the local merchant the proper support, the past year, you should repent of the wrong you have committed in sending youd dollars away and resolve to start even with the new year, and work in every conceivable way for your home town and home people first.

Thirteen Negro Soldiers Hanged in Texas Camp

Black Troops pay Penalty for Outbreak. 41 Given Life Sentence in Addition to Those Executed. 4 Get Lighter Sentences.

Fort Sam Houston, San Antonia, Texas, Dec. 11.—Thirteen negro soldiers, members of the Twenty-Fourth U. S. Infantry, were hanged here today for participation in the Houston riot the night of August 23, in which 17 persons were killed and 22 injured.

The thirteen negro soldiers were hanged near Camp Travis. Corporal Chas. Baltimore was one of the men executed.

So far as it is officially known, this is the first execution of American soldiers on American territory since the United States entered the war.

Aside from the 13 blacks hanged at 7:17 this morning, 41 were given a life sentence in federal prison, one a sentence of two years; five were acquitted.

The executions were in charge of Maj. Gen. John W. Ruckman, commander of the southern department. They took place on the government reservation on Salado Creek, Camp Travis.

No one except military officials knew the impending executions until that morning. The verdict convicting the soldiers was rteurned Nov. 30, it was officially stated.

THORSBY ITEMS

Don't forget that the next number of the entertainment course will come Saturday night, December 15th, when Prof. Macon, of Birmingham delivers his lecture. Single admission 25c and 15c.

Rev. J. M. Graham is spending ten days with his family, after an absence of about a month.

Mr. Wyatt A. Taylor, Field Secretary of the Christian Endeavor, will be in Thorsby on Sunday, Dec. 17th, and will speak to the young people at the Congregational church Sunday night. This will be an opportunity for young people to hear an interesting speaker and one thoroughly up-to-date on religious work for the young people.

Miss Elizabeth Hoopes of Thorsby Institute gave an address on "Our Needs of Vision" to an enthusiastic audience at Stony Point Church, near Deatsville, Sunday. She was accompanied by Mr. Chester Turner, a student of Thorsby Institute, who led the singing.

The citizens of Thorsby regret very much the loss of Mr. Phillip Horn, who has accepted a position with the Upchurch Drug Company of Clanton.

Mr. O. C. Mastin, accompanied by her son, Walter, left this week for Midway, Ala., where she will join her husband and where they expect to make their residence.

Prof. Geo. W. Macon, Howard College, Birmingham, will be here on Saturday, December 15th. This will be the next number on the intertainment course for Thorsby. All who have heard Prof. Macon know that the lecture will be worth hearing and those who have not heard him should not miss a chance to hear one of the most interesting speakers of Alabama

Mrs. Diefenderfer of St. Paul is visiting the home of her son, Mr. L. E. Diefenderfer. She is getting acquainted with her new grandson.

Miss Maud and Mr. Arthur Johnson left on Saturday of last week for their home near Headland. They were called home on account of serious illness of their brother.

A music recital will be given by the students of Thorsby Institute on Friday night of this week. Everyone is invited to be present.

TEN MILLION NEW RED CROSS MEMBERS IN ONE WEEK!

That is the goal that the American Red Cross has set for itself in its Christmas membership campaign that is to be launched December 16. Thruout the United States Red Cross chapters are preparing for the enrollment of the new army which is to stand as the organized support of the boys in the trenches.

No man is more deeply concerned in the world war than President Wilson—who is also president of the Red Cross—and this is his proclamation:

To the people of the United States:

Ten million Americans are invited to join the American Red Cross during the week ending with Christmas Eve. The times require that every branch of our great national effort shall be loyally upheld, and it is peculiarly fitting that the Christmas season the Red Cross should be the branch through which your willingness to help is expressed.

You should join the American Red Cross, because it alone can carry the pledges of Christmas good will to those who are carrying for us the real burdens of the world war, both in our own army and navy and in the nations upon whose territory the issues of the world war are being fought out. Your evidence of faith in this work is necessary for their heartening and cheer.

You should join the Red Cross because this arm of the national service is steadily and efficiently maintaining its overseas relief in every suffering land, administering our millions wisely and well and awakening the gratitude of every people.

Our consciences will not let us enjoy the Christmas season if this pledge of support of our cause and the world's weal is left unfulfilled. Red Cross membership is the Christmas spirit in terms of action.

(Signed) WOODROW WILSON,
President American Red Cross.

THE ALABAMA BOY

Dear Mr. Editor:

Will you allow me a space in my home paper? I was raised in Chilton County near Maplesville. I enlisted in the Navy at Birmingham on April 15, 1917; and I do hope and trust that every Alabama boy will wake up and do his bit for our own country.

Alabama is pretty well represented in the Navy. There are 26 of us on this ship.

I am sending you a poem, as I think it will be a great help to the boys at home. I would like to hear from any of the young folks back at home, who would like to make a sailor boy happy.

Sincerely yours,
C. H. LATHAM,
U. S. S. Montgomery,
Norfolk, Va.

"The Little Boys in Navy Blue"

(By C. H. Latham.)

Little boys in navy blue,
Come and get your guns;
Uncle Sam is going across,
You bet, we'll have some fun.

We will have the stars and stripes
Right over old Kaiser Bill
And make him drink the wasted blood
Of the innocent he has killed.

We will fight him in the air,
We will fight him on the sea;
While little countries are crying,
"Please save my land for me."

To the little boys in navy blue,
Better you could not have been;
Our soldiers are now in France.
The fun will now begin.

They can shoot you down by ones,
They can send you down by two;
But they will never find a better boy
Than the boy in navy blue.

COMPULSORY DIPPING

The Commissioners and Probate Judge of Chilton County have thrown down the proposition of cattle dipping and tick eradication to the open consideration of the people of the county. Everybody who is either for or against the dipping business, or who maintains an attitude of indifference, is urged to come to the meeting of the court on December 19, and hve a full and open discussion of the matter. Let everybody be prepared to look all the consideration over and help the court to reach a just and equitable solution. They want to do what the people want done, and that is the right way to go at it.

"WOMANHOOD, THE GLORY OF THE NATION"

At the Ideal Theatre, on Friday and Saturday, December 14 and 15.

The most stupendous, timely dramatic Spectacle ever produced.

Better and grander than the "Fall of a Nation" or "The Battle Cry of Peace." Eight Reels.

Admission: 15 and 25 cents, including War Tax.

DEALERS IN EXPLOSIVES MUST GET LICENSE

By Act of Congress promulgated through the Department of Interior at Washington, the Circuit Clerk of Chilton County, M. D. Foshee, has the authority to issue the license to dealers who are to sell explosive material, such as gun-powder, dynamite, etc. Those who are to sell such stuff in the county must secure license from the circuit clerk, and individuals who use the explosives must see the circuit clerk and satisfy him that it is to be used for a legitimate purpose, whereupon, he will issue to the individual a permit for such use as applied for. For instance, should a farmer wish to use dynamite in blasting stumps he would secure a permit to do so, and to secure the explosives necessary, from the clerk, and then proceed to the licensed dealer and secure his dynamite and other supplies necessary.

—NOTICE—

The public that is interested either for or against dipping vats, is invited to meet the Commissioners at the Court House on the 19th day of December, 1917, at 10, a.m., for the purpose of discussing the advisability of calling an election to allow the voters of this county to vote on the qhestion of compulsory dipping.

I suppose that everybody has learned that our county will be quarantined after January the first, and that we cannot ship any more cattle out of the county after this date, until we are tick-free.

I hope all that can will come to this meeting, and let the Commissioners know what to do, for they want to do what the people want done.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

SERVICE FLAGS ON THE FARM

The American Red Cross will make an effort to increase its membership from 5,000,000 to 15,000,000 between December 16 and December 25. Obviously a considerable proportion of these 10,00,000 new members will have to be enrolled outside of the large cities and a large number of them must come from the farms.

When Europe went to war the service flag became the household badge of patriotism. At every home from whence had gone a man or boy to fight for his country there was unfurled the flag with one or more small stars on a white field to indicate the number of fighters that particular home had given.

When the United States went to war the service flag was transplanted overseas; and from thousands of homes, stores, offices, and factories it now waives defience to the Prussian. So what more natural than that this emblem of active military service should be adopted in modified form by the Red Cross to indicate the number in each home, who although compelled to stay at home, have found a way to serve their country through membership in the greatest relief organizations? Instead of the small star, it is a small red cross. But whether indicated by star or cross, both classes are serving.

Before this membership campaign is over the Red Cross service flag should be in the window of every American farm house. If the home displays the service flag bearing the stars, there should be placed beside it the service flag bearing the red cross. These two together evidence the fullness of service.

There is no reason why the farmer should not take as much pride in the display of the Red Cross service flag as might the employer of a thousand men—and no doubt he will. That comparatively few will see it is not an excuse, for the sight of one Red Cross service flg as on the prairie is a more inspiring sight than is a hundred in the crowded city.

Here is a cause that deserves the support of every man, no matter if he dwell in the city of millions or on the lonely ranch. A red cross service flag, indicating membership in that organization, even if seen by only a dozen passers-by a day. is not a light hid under a bushel.

MISS KANJUTZKY WINS IN POPULARITY CONTEST

Miss Rosa Kanjutzky, one of the most popular young ladies of Clanton was awarded the beautiful toilet set, which was given away by the Southwestern Shows on last Saturday, at 9:30, P. M.

One-fifth of the proceeds collected through this contest was given to the Clanton Grammar School.

Miss Kanjutzky received 4.065 votes, while Miss Driver had 1,972, Miss Lane 1,189, Miss Davis 164, Miss Parrish 144, and Miss Evans 120.

Alterations are being made which will double the seating capacity of the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

The strength of the naval reserve force is 49,250 men, 70 per cent of whom volunteered for general service.

CLANTON LADIES BUSY IN WORK OF RED CROSS

The ladies of Clanton have been very busy in the work of the Red Cross, for the past few months. Knitting of articles for use of our soldiers has been the chief engagement. They have made a splendid showing with the work they have done. The following is given as a list of the garments that have been made by the Clanton ladies in the Red Cross work up to the present time:

Two dozen suits of pajamas; three dozen hospital shirts; eight dozen bed caps; thirty-four sweaters; one dozen pairs of socks; fourteen helmets. Four sweters were given to boys who were recently at home on furlough. The other garments have been sent to Red Cross headquarters in New Orleans, to be distributed where needed most. The local chapter of the Red Cross at present have out sixteen sweaters and 38 pairs of socks which are in process of making by various persons, and will be completed and turned over in a short while.

The ladies of the local chapter in conjunction with the ladies of Verbena and Thorsby, have sent 38 Christmas boxes to Chilton County boys who are in France. This bit of remembrance by the good women at home will serve to warm the hearts of the boys "over there," and touch them as nothing else will ever do.

These few things serve to show one what the Red Cross work is doing right at home for our own boys, and should be, within itself, sufficient argument to cause every patriotic citizen to join the work in the Christmas week campaign. By everybody joining it will mean the continuation of this noble work which the good ladies have so far nobly done. They should have all possible assistance and cooperation.

SHERIFF'S SALE—REAL ESTATE

3 Moonshiners Caught Across River Sunday

Circuit Clerk, 1 Jan 16

Brought to Clanton by Officers and Placed in Jail to Await Trial at Court.

Another big whiskey raid was pulled off Sunday last by Deputies of the Sheriff's Offoce here. A big moonshine whiskey outfit was located over across the Coosa River, and after guarding the place for a few hours the officers walked in on Ben Ingram, Dick Brown and Curtis Ingram, while they were in the act of operating their outfit and producing the goods. The still was a forty-gallon affair, with seven "stands" of beer. The officers watched them run three of the "stands" and then they took the whole situation into custody, men and all. The beer and the whiskey and the still were destroyed and the men brought here and placed in jail.

PEOPLES TELEPHONE CO. STOCKHOLDERS MEETING

The annual stockholders meeting of the Peoples Telephone Company of Clanton was held at the courthouse Monday morning, with something over forty out of about 120 lines represented.

The roll of connecting lines to the central here was called and the representatives of the lines and proxies were received and recognized in the meeting. J. H. Duncan was in the chair and Secretary-Treasurer J. N. Dennis was at his post.

The annual report of the Secretary-Treasurer, showed that the company now has on hand a balance of a little over six hundred dollars.

On motion, the same officers of the past year were unanimously re-elected. They are as follows: J. H. Duncan, President; J. N. Dennis, Secretary-Treasurer; Directors—W. W. Fox, W. S. Cox and W. L. Popwell.

The ruling, under which the central operator heretofore, could not call for or to anyone who had not paid central fees, was by a majority vote changed so that the operator may call to anyone who has paid central fees or who has not, for one who has paid. But no call will be made by central for one who has not paid fees. This question was about the livest issue before the meeting and elicited a great amount of discussion from those present.

Red Cross relief shipments to Europe average over 10,000 tons a month. In one shipment was a consignment of 559 soccer footballs and 250 rugby footballs for American soldiers, purchased with funds raised by Harvard graduates.

Children take BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP willingly because it tastes nice. There isn't a better remedy anywhere for children's coughs, hoarseness and bronchitis. It's a good medicine and easy to take. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

CLANTON BANKER'S FRIENDS ELATED

Twelve years ago, I become afflicted with stomach trouble, which steadily become worse until two years ago I frequently became prostrated with colic attacks and bloating. My doctors wanted to operate for gall stones. I wished to avoid an operation, and on advice of a friend tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy with excellent results, as since taking it about two years ago my trouble has entirely disappeared. It removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tractfi and allays the inflamation that causes practically all tomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

DR. CHRISTIAN, WRITER

We publish this week two contributions from the pen of Dr. J. Clark Christian, a Confederate veteran at the Soldiers Home. We commend the thoughts contained and expressed therein to our readers as true and worthy gems. We hope everyone will read and reflect upon them. The beauty of his expression of things that are beautiful, and the strength of his words of condemnation for those things that are detestable will furnish any mind a spot for dwelling and study for a considerable time. We hope to have other lines from this splendid mind of Dr. Christian in the near future.

MOUNTAIN CREEK SOLDIER'S PRAYER

(By a Confederte Soldier,)

Almighty God, with thy all-seeing eye, direct safely our transports across the waters. Unmask the hidden approach of the German pirates, so that we may send those villians to the bottom of an endless sea. Let the cup of their expectations be shattered by the unerring aim and iron shots from the muzzles of our great guns. May every shot fired by us penetrate the innermost vitals of their wicked deeds and their accursed souls. Transform their strategy into utter failure, dismay and confusion. May the poisoned darts of envy and the shafts of hatred directed against us, pierce their base "Kultured Vitals," pouring out the rotten stench of their bloated and putrid carcases, so great and so deep that it may never disturb the peace and happiness of the nation of the earth again. Lord Almighty, hear and grant our petition for Jesus Christ's sake, and for the world's sake.—Amen and Amen.

— PRAYER FOR THE KHAKI BOYS —

Eternal Father, thy strength to save
Our Khaki Boys on the restless wave,
O! hear us when we cry to thee
To guard our boys upon the sea.
O! Christ, whose voice the waters heard
And stilled the billows at thy word,
Speak once again thy words so true,
And save our boys and transports too,
From shot and shell and fire and foe.
Protect them, Father, where'er they go.
Father of Mercy, we call upon thee:
Safely bring them back from o'er the sea.

JOIN THE RED CROSS

The American Red Cross is offering everyone, rich and poor alike, a chance to contribute personally to the Christmas spirit of the enlightened world. At such an anomalous season—when there is not peace on earth, when good will toward man is mocked by death-dealing cannon and blood-stained steel—what could be more blessed than to comfort and cheer the suffering thousands of liberty defenders in the hospitals behind the battle lines?

To relieve the suffering of the wounded and to salvage battered human wrecks is the primary function of the Red Cross. Let us not forget that very soon our own boys in large numbers will be carried in Red Cross ambulances to Red Cross Hospitals, there to receive every care scientific Red Cross methods afford.

Where a few millions will start for "over there," many more millions must remain at home. To these latter the Red Cross in its drive for 10,000,000 new members between December 16 and December 25, offer the best form of stay-at-home service—membership in and cooperation with the Red Cross. It urges that you join the Red Cross, and then influence others to join by displaying from your home, your office, your store, or your factory the Red Cross service flag which bears one small red cross for each member where the flag is displayed.

Isn't it worth a dollar to you to know that you are privileged to fly the service flag and that you are helping—even in a small way— to lessen the agony of the boys in the trenches?

The Union-Banner wishes to most highly commend the work of the good women of Clanton and Chilton County in the Red Cross Society. Everywhere you look you see a good woman with a ball of yarn and knitting needles, plying the stitches that spell more comfort for our boys in the army. Don't you know it warms the hearts of the soldiers when they get the boxes containing the things made by tender hands of the loving mothers back home? Yes, indeed, the work they are doing is a glorious work, but the women must have something to work with. They must have thread to knit and to sew. The Red Cross must buy and furnish it to them. It therefore, falls to the lot of the men who can neither sew nor knit, to do their part in money to enable the ladies to do the work. Every man should join the Red Cross and pay his dollar. The money will be fairly and equitably spent in providing the ladies material to make into useful and much needed articles for the comfort of the soldiers. Every man who does not have to go to the army has a duty to perform in the providing of comfort for those who do go. This duty is performed through just such agencies as the Red Cross.

A letter from Emmett Powell, who lives up in Missouri, to his father here, received Monday, says that the country around there is covered up under a snow 20 inches deep and frozen over. He said it snowed there from last Friday morning to Sunday morning.

This week Clanton has been getting her part of the blizzard that has swept the country from Halifax to Florida. Everything has been frozen up since Sunday, and Tuesday it looked as if we would have plenty of snow, but the snow turned to rain which froze as it fell, and Tuesday night everything outside took on a thick coat of ice. The sidewalks were so covered with ice that many people unvoluntarily would slip down as they walked about.

J. L. Harris, Principal of the Thorsby Public School has volunteered in the navy. He left Wednesday for duty at Norfolk, Va.

This fellow Emmett A. Jones is getting up a mighty heap of steam in his race for Commissioner of Agriculture. He held a conference with W. B. Reynolds, his campaign manager, at Montevallo the other day, and they got so enthused and heated in their aspirations that the gas ignited and set fire to Mr. Reynold's house.

Emmett is pulling the strings right along, and to be frank, we about as soon see him down there as Commissioner as any Democrat we know. His plan to put a bill through the legislature appropriating money to buy newspaper space for the dissemination of the Department publications instead of publishing the same in pamphlet form, is a good one and should receive the hearty support of every newspaper in the state.

If you were over in France and came across a "Sammie" with a bullet wound in his body, would you not be glad to bandage his wounds, care for him tenderly, and in any possible way minister to the comfort of the the boy who risks his life for the cause of his country? Wouldn't you be glad to do these things? Of course you would, if you are human. And you can do these very things while you stay right here at home. How? Just give a dollar to the Red Cross.

Every postal employee in the United States has been instructed to take an active part in the campaign for the sale of war-savings stamps. In order to reach the desired sales mark of $2,000,000,000 by January 1, 1919 it will be necessary to sell sufficient stamps to average $16.50 for each man, woman and child in the country.

The port of New York is under military control, the water fronts being guarded by the regular army. Fully armed guards prohibit the passage of any person, alien or citizen, who cannot establish a business reason for access to the water-front areas. The same military control will be established at all other American ports and may include factories engaged in war work.

Owing to the fact that cattle cannot be shipped out of Chilton County after January 1, because of the tick, it is getting time to think seriously of the dipping business and means of getting rid of the tick, so we will have free markets for our live stock products. It would seem to us on first thought that the cattle sold out of this county every year will amount to enough to make it worth our while to institute necessary means to enable our farmers a continuance of the privilege of selling. Under the ban that will be put on us January 1, the business of selling cattle will be about done with until some steps are taken to raise the federal quarantine and give us free access to the market. It is time to settle this tick business now. Think of the matter and come to the meeting of the Commissioners, announcement of which is elsewhere in this paper, and whether you are for getting rid of the tick or for keeping him as a partner in your cattle business, you should come to this meeting and let's have an exchange of ideas on the proposition.

CALERA BEGINS RED CROSS DRIVE FOR MEMBERSHIP

Shelby County Town will do Her Bit in Getting new Members.

Calera, Ala., Dec. 12.—The local chapter American Red Cross, held a meeting Monday night for the purpose of inaugurating a membership campaign. Dr. S.D. Motley was scheduled for an address, but was absent, and his place on the program was ably filled by Rev. J. A. Wales, who spoke on "The American Red Cross: What is it, and Why?"

Following a patriotic number by the choir, Mrs. Wales talked inspiringly on "Kaiser Bill, the World's Great Menace." Mrs. Wash, Chairman of the Membership Committee, appointed a citizen's committee to secure Calera's quota of the 10,000,000 members wished by the national organization.

Several near by towns will be worked from Calera, and it is expected that the membership will greatly exceed that asked for by the apportioners. Miss Myrtis Clark, Chairman of the Junior Membership Committee, reported that a Junior Red Cross organization is being formed. The Presbyterian church, which is not being used for regular services at present, has been obtained as permanent Red Cross Headquarters, and was tastefully decorated for this and subsequent occasions.

LAST CHANCE FOR VOTERS TO REGISTER FOR TWO YEARS

From January 1st to January 5th, 1918 is the last chance for voters to register for two years. During these days the county registrar will sit at the courthouse in Clanton. The opportunity will be open for any eligible voter who is not already registered to have his name entered on the voting list. If any person is through any means qualified to register he must do so then, or wait two years for another opportunity.

Among those who are entitled to register now is anyone who may have moved into the county and not previously registered here; those who have become 21 years of age since the last registration; those who will become 21 years old any time between now and the next general election, which is next November.

Those who come in the latter class are entitled to register and participate in the primary and general elections next year.

Don't forget that the last opportunity is from January 1st. to January 5th, 1918, while the county registrar sits at the county court house for this purpose.

Every pound goes much farther

A POUND of old style hulls contains about ¾ pound of real roughage and about ¼ pound of lint. After being eaten, the old style hulls swell to twice the weight, or 1½ pounds. A pound of

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

also doubles after being eaten but as they are 100 per cent roughage, the original pound becomes 2 pounds—not 1½ pounds.

Therefore, a pound of Buckeye Hulls goes a third again as far as a pound of old style hulls. In other words, you only have to feed ¾ pound of Buckeye Hulls to give the same food value as a full pound of old style hulls.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls cost much less per ton than old style hulls.
Buckeye Hulls allow better assimilation of other food.
No trash or dust.
Sacked—easy to handle.
They mix well with other forage.
They take less space in the barn.

Mr. Ben Faulk, Dothan, Ala.,
prefers Buckeye Hulls to old style hulls because cows like them as well, they are cheaper, they agree with the cows, and they go farther, one sack lasting as long as two sacks of the old style.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

"What Have I Done in the Past Year?"

Ask yourself this question, and then reflect a moment and see if you could answer it. Have you done anything that this community is proud of?

IN THIS THE LAST MONTH IN THE YEAR, IT IS A GOOD TIME TO ASK YOURSELF THE QUESTION: "WHAT GOOD HAVE I BEEN TO MY COMMUNITY, MY FRIENDS AND MYSELF DURING THE PAST YEAR?" THIS IS A SEARCHING QUESTION INDEED; ONE WHICH EVERY CITIZEN OF THIS TOWN MAY WELL APPLY TO HIMSELF. IT MUST BE ANSWERED SOME WAY BY EVERYBODY.

THE MERCHANT, BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MAN MIGHT ASK HIMSELF, "WHAT HAVE I DONE TO HELP THE MASS OF PEOPLE WHO COMPOSE THIS TOWN TOWARD BETTER CONDITIONS?"

THE MASS OF CITIZENS SHOULD SEEK TO SEE JUST WHAT THEY AS INDIVIDUALS HAVE DONE TO ASSIST THE BUSINESS MEN IN MAKING A BETTER TOWN. THIS MONTH IS A GOOD TIME FOR EVERYBODY TO TAKE STOCK OF THEMSELVES AND DETERMINE JUST WHAT THEY HAVE ACCOMPLISHED IN THE PAST YEAR THAT IS WORTH WHILE.

Splendid Efforts

The merchants of this town have been liberal buyers of newspaper advertising space in the past year, trying to impress the people of their intentions in the upbuilding of the town and community. They help the people by giving them money-saving prices when they buy the things that are sold in the stores. These merchants have spent good hard cash to convince the people of this town that they should help in the work of community building by co-operation with the local merchant and spending the money at home.

If you as a citizen, have not given the local merchant the proper support, the past year, you should repent of the wrong you have committed in sending youd dollars away and resolve to start even with the new year, and work in every conceivable way for your home town and home people first.

OUTLINE PLAN OF RED CROSS DRIVE FOR MEMBERSHIP

Plans are being outlined for the Red Cross Christmas Drive for Membership. The Chairman for Clanton in this national drive is Miss Lurline Harper. Miss Harper is planning to organize a campaign committee to canvass the town and surrounding community.

The nation's goal for membership is 15,000,000 members.

In speaking of the movement to secure members, a national Red Cross worker says: "We have set Christmas time to attain this goal, because we believe that the Red Cross and Christmas spring from the same spirit and we wish to bring together those great symbols of mercy–sacrifice and cheer. On this, our first Christmas in the war, we want the Red Cross symbol to add not a spirit of dejection but the thought of serious purpose and sacrifice, which, through accomplishment it represents."

One of the slogans of the campaign is : "Give your Christmas Present to Humanity;" another is: "Give a Red Cross membership as a Christmas present." A large number of people have already signified their intention of giving Red Cross memberships instead of the usual Christmas present. We cannot all serve in the trenches but we can all serve at home. Membership is service. Membership cost, $1.00. Let us help make it fifteen millions in our country.

Those appointed to help carry on this work are: West Clanton, Mrs. J. O. Middleton and Miss Lessie Reynolds; High School, Miss Roberta Curry; Lock 12, Mrs. H. C. McDonald; Business Districts, Mesdames Sallie Stewart, W. P. Splawn, F. B. Collier, J. J. Pickens, H. M. Simpson, Misses Mable Thomas and Willie B. Sortor; Gowan Addition, Mrs. J. E. Gowan; Maplesville, Mrs. J. P. VanDerveer, Jr.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Marcus wish to express their heartfelt thanks to their friends in Clanton and the surrounding country for their kindness, sympathy and assistance in the bereavement caused by the death of their daughter, Mrs. Longcrier. Especially do they express their gratitude to Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Upchurch for their tender care of the infant child of the deceased.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that at a regular meeting of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, held at Clanton, Alabama, on the 5th day of November, 1917, an order was made providing for the building af a bridge across Yellow Leaf Creek at Plier's Mill. REMOVE UNJUST DISCRIMINATIONS

OF FREIGHT RATES AND UNDUE PREFERENCES ON CERTAIN IMPORTANT COMMODITIES

Two of the principal constructive objects sought to be accomplished by the petition filed with the Alabama Public Service Commission by the undersigned railroads of Alabama at the hearing on Jan. 16, 1918, are:

FIRST: To conform to the principles of rate making established by the Interstate Commerce Commission by removing unjust discriminations and undue preferences in favor of one locality as against another, and to eliminate inequalities which now require certain commodities to bear a just proportion of transportation cost while other commodities are permitted to bear less than a just proportion.

SECOND: By reason of successive reductions, the whole body of Alabama Freight Rates has become so low and so out of relation with Interstate Rates, as to not produce a reasonable return on the value of the property devoted to the public use; by such revision it is proposed to produce sufficient revenue to enable the railroads to meet the constant and tremendous increase in the cost of supplying transportation.

A similar condition exists in practically every state in the Southeast. To meet the situation the railroads have prepared and have presented to the Public Service Commissions in a majority of the Southeastern States, petitions which seek to remove and eliminate inequalities and unjust discriminations, and to comply with the mandates of the Supreme Court of the United States and of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In the Shreveport case, the Supreme Court of the United States held:

"The power to deal with the relations between two kinds of rates as a relation lies exclusively with Congress. It is manifest that the State cannot fix the relation of a carrier's inter and intrastate charges without directly interfering with the former, unless it simply follows the standard set by the Federal Authorities."

UNJUST DISCRIMINATIONS

There are approximately 25 of the larger trade centers in Alabama which enjoy freight rates that unjustly discriminate against other towns in the State. The existing rate adjustment has had the effect of largely centralizing business in these few cities, without promoting the growth and development of other and smaller cities and towns.

The object of the revision is to give fair and competitive rates to these smaller cities and towns and produce equality in charges under substantially similar conditions and circumstances.

Many commodities enjoy unreasonably low rates, and do not bear their proportionate share of transportation cost. These rates discriminate unjustly against other commodities which bear a reasonable transportation cost.

The object of the petition is to increase the unreasonably low rates so that each commodity will have equal opportunity in the matter of Freight Rates.

MORE REVENUE REQUIRED

The Railroads of Alabama are manufacturers. Their sole commodity is Transportation. Transportation is a fundamental business necessity, and the better the service rendered, the better is a State able to meet competition in commerce. Manufacturers of other commodities enjoy the privilege of increasing prices to meet increased cost of production, while the railroads enjoy no such privilege, yet are required by law to observe schedules and furnish service without any provision being made for increased expenses.

It costs more now to produce transportation than ever before, while the rates are lower than ever before.

The earnings per ton per mile on all freight traffic handled for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1917, by some of the railroads in Alabama, was six mills or three-fifth of one penny. In other words the railroads handled five tons of freight one mile for the price of a 3 cents postage stamp.

COMPARISONS SHOWING CHANGED CONDITIONS

The vehicles necessary to haul the five tons of freight were a locomotive which costs today 300 per cent more than in 1915, and a box car which costs today 90 per cent more than in 1915. If a mule and wagon which cost $300 hauled the same freight the same distance the cost of transportation would be about $3.00.

The railroads paid 142 per cent more for labor in 1915 than in 1901. The amount paid for labor out of each dollar received by the Railroads in 1901 was .39 46-100 cents; the amount increased in 1915 to .46 34-100 cents. The increase since 1915 has been even greater.

The railroads return to the people in wages and taxes alone more than half of their gross revenue.

The same business laws apply to Railroads as to all other concerns, and with State and Federal jurisdiction over them, their every operation is open to the public. Are they not entitled to equal cohsideration?

The only question involved is whether the proposed revision is just and reasonable from the standpoint of the public and the railroads. We invite investigation.

A DECLARATION OF POLICY

It is not and will not be the policy of the undersigned railroads to propose any system of rates which would unjustly discriminate against the Alabama producer in favor of producers located without the state. Should this policy appear to be violated by any technical construction of our petition we give assurance that we will not propose, nor will we attempt to adopt, in actual practice, any rates at variance with the same.

THE GENERAL CLASSIFICATION REGULATIONS FOR ALL CLAIMS

Provost Marshal General Announces General Classification Regulations Which will Govern all Claims for Dependency.

Pursuing his policy of discussion of the new regulations in order that the fullest possible information may be given to the draft officials and to the public, Provost Marshal General Crowder has announced the general classification rules which will govern all claims for dependency. This statement covers dependency alone and is in no way to be confused with clims on account of industry or agriculture.

General Classification Rules.

The following general classification rules will govern the local boards in arriving at their decisions:

Rule I. In determining whether a claimed dependent is "mainly dependent on a registrant's labor for support" the board will consider all existing or available reasonably certain sources of support other than the labor of the registrant, excepting only public charity, and including—

(a) Income of the claimed dependent from any source whatever, including gifts, and including also the income (or what reasonably and justly should be the income) from the labor of the claimed dependent; except that where the dependent is the wife or child of the registrant the income (or what should be the income) from the labor of the claimed dependent shall only be considered where its consideration is expressly authorized in the classification schedule.

Income of Registrant.

(b) Income of the registrant from any source whatever, including gifts and excluding his labor.

(c) The contribution which the registrant may reasonably and justly be expected to make or which he is required to make, from his pay as a soldier.

(d) The amount of support which the claimed dependent would receive from any provision of Federal law made or hereafter to be made to support such dependent during the absence of the registrant or to insure such dependent against loss entailed by the death or disability of the registrant.

(e) The effect of any moratorium statute made or hereafter to be made on the claimed condition of dependency.

(f) The amount which other persons, who have or have not hitherto mainly or partially supported the claimed dependent and who can reasonably and justly be expected to do so) are able and willing to contribute to the support of the claimed dependent during the absence of the registrant except that, where the claimed dependent is the wife or child of the registrant shall not be considered.

If, considering such of these circumstances as the board is authorized to consider, or other circumstances not herein mentioned, the board finds that the removal of the registrant will deprive the claimed dependent of reasonably adequate support then the exemption board may find that the person claimed to be dependent is mainly dependent upon the registrant's labor for support.

The attention of local boards is particularly directed to the fact that contributions made for the support of alleged dependents, if carefully examined, would turn out to be merely the board and lodging of the prospective soldier, and that other children should do their share.

Dependents other tahn Wife or Child.

Rule II. Where the claimed dependent is not the wife or child of the registrant and where persons other than the registnant have contributed to the support of the claimed dependent or have an equal legal or moral obligation to do so, the board should consider all circumstances stated in Rule I, but it should not find the person "mainly dependent upon the registrant's labor for support" unless itfinds that such other persons can reasonably and justly be expected to undertake the support of the dependent during the absence of the registrant and unless it finds also and specifically that the removal of the registrant will remit the claimed dependent to public charity in part, or in whole for support.

Rule III. The term "children," where used without qualification, will be taken to include the unborn child, and except as provided in section (a) of rule VIII, shall be taken to import only children (the issue of the registrant) and step children and legally adopted children. It shall be taken to import boys under 16 and girls under 18 years of age.

Relatives Residing Abroad.

Rule IV. The dependency of relatives residing abroad who are not citizens of the United States or who have not declared their intention to become such shall not be considered as a ground for deferred classification.

Rule V. On May 18, 1917, every person subject to registration had notice of his obligation to render military service to his country. The purpose of the selective service law was not to suspend the institution of marriage among registrants, but the boards should scrutinize marriages since May 18, 1917, and especially those hastily effected since that time, to determine whether the marriage relation was entered into with a primary view of evading military service, and unless such is found not to be the case, boards are hereby authorized to disregard the relationship so established as a condition of dependency requiring deferred clissification under these regultions.

Class I. Dependency.

Rule VI. In class I shall be placed

(a) Any registrant who has neither wife, child, nor aged, inform or invalid parents or grandparents, nor brother under 16 years of age, nor sister under 18 years of age, nor helpless brother or sister of whatever age mainly dependent on his labor for support.

(b) Any married registrant, with or without children, and any father of motherless children are not mainly dependent on his labor for support for the reason that the registrant has habitually failed to support them for a sufficient time to justify a finding of the board that he has been making no bona fide attempt to support them in the past and can not be relied upon to do so in the future—this regardless of support recently rendered or tendered for the purpose of evading military service.

(c) Any married registrant, with or ithout children, whose wife and children (if ny) are not mainly dependent upon his labor for support for the reason that such wife and children (if any) are not mainly dependproportion of their support from the fruits of his labor ,but where, on the contrary, such registrant is mainly dependent for his own support on the income (including earnings) of his wife.

(d) Any married registrant, with or without children, who is not engaged in any useful occupation, and whose wife and children (if any) are not mainly dependent on his labor for support for the reason that his income or the income of his wife, or both, is amply sufficient to support his wife and children, and that the removal of the registrant will not deprive such wife and children of reasonable support.

Class II. Dependency.

Rule VII. In class II shall be placed

(a) Any registrant with both wife and children or any father of motherless children, where such wife and children are not mainly dependent upon his labor for support for the reason that there are other reasonably certain sources of adequate support (excluding earnings from the labor of the wife) available, and that the removal of the registrant will not deprive such dependents of reasonably adequate support.

(b) Any married registrant without children, whose wife, although the registrant is engaged in a useful occupation, is not mainly dependent upon his labor for support, for the reason that the wife is skilled in some special class of work which she is physically able to perform, and in which she is employed, or in which there is an immediate opening for her under conditions that will enable her to support herself decently without suffering or hardship.

Class III. Dependency.

Rule VIII. In ClassIII shall be,

(a) Any registrant who has children, not his own issue, but in respect of whom he has in good faith assumed the relation of parent, and has fulfilled the obligations of such relation, when such children are mainly dependent upon his labor for support.

(b) Any registrant who has aged and infirm or invalid parents or grandparents mainly dependent on his labor for support.

(c) Any registrant who has a helpless brother or sister, regardless of age, mainly dependent on his labor for support.

Class IV.. Dependency.

Rule IX. In Class IV shall be,

(a) Any married registrant whose wife or children are mainly dependent on his labor for support.

VINOL MAKES GOOD BLOOD

Positive—Convincing Proof

Many so-called remedies for anaemia are only so in name. Their makers are afraid to prove their claims by telling what their medicines contain.

The only way to be honest with the people is to let them know what they are paying for. Here is the Vinol formula. When the doctor knows what a medicine contains, it ceases to be a "patent" medicine.

By Cod Liver and Beef Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, Lime and Soda Glycerophosphates, Cascarin.

Any doctor will tell you that the ingredients of Vinol, as named above, will enrich the blood and banish anaemia and create strength. When the blood is pure and rich and red, the body is strong and robust.

You can prove this at our expense because your money will be returned if Vinol does not improve your health.

J. O. WESSON DIED OF PNEUMONIA SATURDAY

Many friends will regret to learn of the death of that good and well known citizen, Joe Wesson, which occurred at the family home, a mile north of Clanton last Saturday, just before noon. He had been seriously ill with pneumonia for several days, and those intimately acquainted with his conditiion were not surprised to see the end so near.

The deceased was a well-kown citizen, and all in all, a good-hearted man. He had many friends whose confidence and esteem he enjoyed. He was a member of the Improved Order of Red Men, a loyal and faithful member, loved and respected by every brother in the order.

Funeral services were held Monday under the uaspicesrrdwynewalkMsid at New Salem Church Cemetery under auspices of the Red Men. The funeral was pronounced by his faithful friend and brother, Rev. W. J. Armstrong, in the most tender and touching manner. No one possessed a closer understanding of the life and character of the deceased than did the man who pronounced the last words of tribute at his grave. This co-ordinate spirit manifest through every brother who waited on the sad occasion made a most impressive scene and offered a consoling touch to the hearts of the bereaved family.

"The Big Bargain Store."

FOR RENT CHEAP

27 acres of land under wire fence, with seven room dwelling, three room dwelling, store, large barn, and out houses. Running water. Known as the Smith place, located on the Birmingham-Clanton highway and So. Railway at Dixie, Ala. If interested communicate with P. O. Box 136 Selma, Ala.

THE L.& N. states without fear of successful contradiction that its Dining Car Service is equalled by few railroads and is surpassed by none.

Capable buyers have positive instructions to purchase only the best substantials and delicacies the markets afford. Every car is equipped with the best modern refrigeration systems to preserve fresh supplies without cold storage. Each chef, cook and assistant cook is selected solely on his demonstrated ability to properly prepare food which meets the standard requirements of L. & N. Dining Car Service. Every dining car is under the immediate and constant supervision of a capable conductor who will tolerate nothing but prompt, courteous and efficient service on the part of carefully trained waiters, each of whom renders such service.

The cars are bright and cheerful, strongly built and evenly balanced, and supplied with snowy linen and dainty glass and silverware.

The menu is chiefly characteristic for its wide variety and reasonableness of price. There is a blending of French dishes, characteristic of old New Orleans, with genuine Southern cooking, and favorite dishes of Chicago, St. Louis and Jacksonville.

The fruits of the tropics, the sea food of the Gulf, the juicy steaks of the West, and vegetables in season from the Great Lakes on the North to Florida on the South, are served in all their freshness.

Standard mineral waters and soft drinks are supplied as are imported and domestic cigars and cigarettes.

A meal aboard an L. & N. dining car is a genuine pleasure and delight. The service is exceptional; the price is reasonable.

EXTREMELY COLD WAVE OVER THE ENTIRE SOUTH

Virginia, North Carolina and northwest Georgia was covered this week by one of the heaviest December snowfalls in history.

From the mountains to the tidewater in the Old Dominion, snow, which began falling Tuesday night was reported this morning to have reached a depth of from eight to ten inches. Newport News had the heaviest precipitation in nineteen years, a ten-inch fall, accompanied by severe cold weather and high winds virtually tied up by shipping at the Hampton Roads port. Roanoke reported a fall of eight inches.

In North Carolina also the snowfall was heaviest near the coast. Raleigh reported seven inches, while in the mountain city of Ashville the depth was only four inches.

Columbia was barely covered under an inch of snow, but in the northern and western sections of South Carolina from three to four inches of snow were reported.

ARKANSAS RIVER IS FROZEN OVER

Little Rock, Ark., Dev. 12.—For the first time since 1899 the Arkansas River was frozen from bank to bank, at Little Rock today.

RECORD FALL OF SNOW AT NORFOLK

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 12.—Norfolk is tody blanketed under more than six inches of snow, a record fall for seventeen yers.

ICE FLOES SINK RIVER STEAMER

Paducah, Ky., Dec. 12.—Ice floes sweeping down the Ohio River today battered in the hull of the river steamer Rapides, causing the vessel to sink in the harbor here, and damaged other shipping. The Rapides was valued at approximately $40,000. River traffic is at a standstill.

33 BELOW AT HELENA, MONT.

Helena, Mont., Dec. 12.—Along with the eleven inches of snow that fell here last night, in connection with a blizzard, there was recorded a minimum temperature of 33 below zero, the coldest of the winter.

SOUTH CAROLINA UNDER SNOW

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 12.—An inch layer of ice and snow covered Columbia this morning and practically all towns in the northern, western and central portion of the state reported precipitation of three or four inches during the night.

SNOW MELTS RAPIDLY

Ashville, N. C., Dec. 12.—The heaviest snow of the season fell here last night, four and a half inches, being the official record. The snow failed to melt rapidly and the city wagons are dividing time between hauling snow and delivering wood from the municipal woodyard to customers. Temperature was rising this morning.

SOLDIERS KEPT WARM

Greenville, S.C., Dec. 12.—The cold wave that has held this section in its grasp for the past four days was accompanied last night by a heavy fall of snow. According to official reports this morning the snow measured five and seven-tenth inches.

Camp Sevier has plenty of wood and the soldiers are being kept comfortably warm in their tents.

ZERO IN VIRGINIA

Roanoke, Va., Dec. 12.—Eight inches of snow which fell last night on top of an almost equal amount which fell last Friday night and which was hard by two days of zero wether interfered more or less seriously with street and railway traffic in this section last night and today. The weather is clearing but too cold to admit of thaw.

RECORD FOR 19 YEARS

Newport News, Va., Dec. 12.—The heaviest snow in nineteen years fell here last night, reaching a depth of ten inches. The severe cold weather and high winds have caused a virtual tie up of shipping in this port.

SEVEN INCHES AT RALEIGH

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 12.—Raleigh was blanketed this morning with seven inches of snow. It is the heaviest snowfall here in years.

RICHMOND UNDER SNOW

Richmond, Va., Dec. 12.—Snow, which began falling at 10 o'clock last night this morning had reached a depth of 9.3 inches, the second largest December snow was in 1908, measured 17.2 inches.

SHERIFF CAPTURES FORTY-SECOND STILL IN CULLMAN

Cullman, Ala., Dec. 12—On Sunday afternoon, Sheriff A. A. Rollo and his deputies captured their forty-second still, being a forty gallon copper outfit, and was found within 300 yards of the seventy gallon still, that was taken by them about two weeks ago.

The still was not in operation when found, and was located in the pasture of N. M. Miller near his residence.

Sheriff Rollo swore out warrant for Miller and he was placed under arrest. Three quarts of whiskey was taken at the same time from the residence of Miller.

MRS. KING FATALLY BURNED WHEN DRESS CATCHES FIRE

Dead Woman was Member of Well Known Fmily.

Calumbiana, Ala., Dec. 2.—Mrs. Ben King, near this place, died Saturday night at the home of her father, Abrham Mooney, as a result of fatal burns received Saturday afternoon.

According to reports reaching here, Mrs. King's clothing ignited while she was standing before an open fire on Saturday afternoon about 2 o'clock. She rushed out the door and into the yard, where her clothing was quickly consumed, fanned by the brisk wind. The body was horribly burned, practically past recognition, and no hope was entertained after an examination by physicians.

Mrs. Mooney, mother of the young woman, sustained severe burns about the hands and arms in extinguishing the flames.

Mrs. King was well known throughout Shelby County, being the daughter of one of the leading farmers of the county and the wife of a prominent school teacher. She resided in the Kingdom community, where her husband is principal of the public school. She is survived by a husband, Ben King; two small children father and mother and several brothers and sisters and a great number of other relatives.

SUFFRAGISTS IN 14 GROUPS ADVANCE TO CONGRESS

Every State Delegation Gets Visit From Woman Workers.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The marble corriders of the capitol echoed today with the tramp of 600 suffragists. They were delegates to the National American Woman Suffrage convention here and who advanced in 44 groups on to as many different state delegations in congress.

The members carried the definite challenge to each member opposing passage of a federal suffrage amendment that they will line up against every such congressman in the 1918 elections.

Headed by Mrs. N. S. Whitehouse the victorious New York suffragists met in Senator Calder's office to obtain the pledge of the solid delegation from that state. FiftyMassachusetts women invaded Senator Week's office.

Today's demonstration will be followed up by pressure from all parts of the country until the suffragists are ready for a test vote in both houses. This may be delayed until January as the result of polls which indicated that the amendment is a few votes shy of the necessary two-thirds in each branch. Antis, on the other hand, confident of defeating the amendment.

The suffrage convention opened this afternoon with unfurling of the association's service flag, showing 12 stars for its first dozen members in service at the front.

SOLDIERS TO SPEND CHRISTMAS IN CAMP

No Furloughs to be Granted, Says Secretary Baker.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Christmas furloughs will not be granted to any extent in the national army or the national guard.

Secretary of War Baker said Tuesday he had answered all requests for widespread furloughs in the negative. He deems it unwise to burden the railroads with troop movements and upset the militry discipline at this time.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Before I used Chamberlain's tablets I doctored a great deal for stomach trouble and felt nervous and tired all the time. These tablets helped me from the first, and inside of a week's time I had improved in every way, writes Mrs. L. A. Drinkard, Jefferson City, Mo.

NAVY BOYS THANK LADIES OF CLANTON RED CROSS

John T. Wyatt, David Vines, Leonard Harris, and John Cox, who left Thursday morning for Norfolk, Va., as volunteers in the U. S. Navy, wish to have The Union-Banner express for them their sincerest thanks and gratitude to the Ladies of the Red Cross Chapter in Clanton, for the sweaters which were given them on their departure to take up their duties in the training station. "The thoughtful kindness of the good ladies will be a comfort to us when we are far from home and lonely for the friends whom we have left behind us," they said when they left.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

The next state examination for teachers will be held at Clanton at the courthouse beginning at 10 o'clock, a.m., on the third Monday in December, 1917. All applicants should be present by 9 o'clock, a.m., for registration, except those who wish to file a third grade and take for a higher grade, and they must be present by 2:30 o'clock, p.m., on Monday; and those who wish to file a second grade and take for first must be present by 2:30 o'clock, p.m., on Tuesday.

All applicants with whom I am not personally acquainted will have to be identified before they can be admitted to the examination. Each applicant is required to take the examination in the county in which he is living, teaching or attending school, unless he has a permit from the state superintendent to take otherwise.

W. T. BEAN, Co. Supt. Ed.

MINUTES NOW READY

The minutes of the Chilton County Baptist Association are now ready for distribution from the Union-Banner office. Clerks of the various churches are hereby requested to call there and get them as early as practicable.

DONOVAN-WILLIS

A wedding of more interest than surprise, which occurred last Wednesday night, December 5, was that of Mr. Grover C. Donovan of Billingsley and Miss Sadye Willis of Clanton. The occasion took place at the home of the bride, before a small group of intimate friends of the young couple.

Mr. Donovan is a popular and well-known young man around his home community, and his wife has heretofore been engaged in teaching, and has won a host of friends in many sections of the county. They are to make their home at Billingsley.

Rev. F. A. Gibson was the spiritual director and chief yarn-teller at the telephone meeting Monday. His wealth of jokes and his aptitude in telling them makes him a great attraction among a crowd of men.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION

Department of Interior, U. S. Land Office, Montgoremy, Ala., October 6, 1917.

Notice is hereby given that Russell I. Perkins, whose post-office address is Dollar, Ala., did, on the 14th day of March, 1917, file in this office sworn statement and application, No. 010149, to purchase the SW¼ of the SW¼, Section 36, Township 22 N., Range 16 E., St. Stephens Meridian, and the timber thereon, under the provisinos of the act of June 3, 1878, and acts amendatory, known as the "Timber and Stone Law," at such value as might be fixed by appraisement, and that, pursuant to such application, the land and timber thereon have been appraised One Hundred Fifty-one and 75-100 Dollars, the timber estimated 56,000.00 board feet at $2.00 per M., and the land $39.75; that said applicant will offer final proof in support of his application and sworn statement on the 20th day of December, 1917, before the Clerk of the Circuit Court at Rockford, Ala.

Any person is at liberty to protest this purchase before entry, or initiate a contest at any time before patent issues, by filing a corroborated affidavit in this office, alleging facts which would defeat the entry.

CLANTON ASTONISHED BY MERCHANT'S STORY

A merchant relates the following: "For years I could not sleep without turning every hour. Whatever I ate caused gas and sourness. Also had stomach catarrh. ONE SPOONFUL buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka relieved me INSTANTLY." Because Adler-i-ka flushes the ENTIRE alimentary tract, it relieves any case of constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has quickest action of anything we ever sold. RED CROSS NEWS

The great drive for increasing the Red Cross membership from 5,000,000 to 15,000,000, begins this week. Your Christmas will be happier if you shall have joined. Consider this a personal invitation to YOU.

A box was sent off last week containing the following: 18 sweaters, 7 helmets, 7 pair socks, 19 suits of pajamas, 18 hospital shirts, 8 convalescent capes. The sweaters and helmets now being knitted will not be sent out of the United States but will be given to the boys next called from this county. The hospital necessities will be sent to France. There are two dozen sweaters not yet finished. This cold snap will make us sympathize more than ever with the boys in the trenches. Let your sympathy become tangible in the shape of a donation to buy wool. If everyone were as generous as the editors, we should never have to remind you that we need money, and more money and then more money.

J. N. Dennis sold a big bull this week to beef buyers. The animal weighed between thirteen and fourteen hundred pounds, and brought the seller $145.00. Mr. Dennis paid $50 for him when he was young.

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME VI. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., DECEMBER 20, 1917 NUMBER 38.

PEOPLE WILL BE AIDED IN FIGURING INCOME TAX

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 13.—You will not have to figure out your own income tax all by yourself hereafter. The government is going to send out men to help you. It will be up to you to hunt up these men, who will be sent into every county seat town, and some other towne besides, to meet the people. Postmasters, bankers and newspapers will be able to tell you when the Government's income tax men will be around, and where to find him. He will answer your questions, swear you to the return, take your money, and remove the wrinkles from your brow. Returns of income for 1917 must be made between January 1, and March 1, 1918.

"The Government recognizes," Collector of Internal Revenue, John D. McNeel, soid today, "that many persons experience a good deal of difficulty in filling our income tax forms. It recognizes too, that taxpayers resident at points where Collector's officers are not easily accessible find it hard to get proper instruction in the law. Next year, when every married person living with wife or husband and having a net income of $2,000, and every unmarried person not the head of a family and having a net income on the form prescribed, there will be hundreds in every community seeking light on the law and help in executing their returns. My own and every other collection district in the nation will be divided into districts with the county as a unit, and a government officer informed in the income tax assigned to each district. He will spend hardly less than a week in each county, and in some counties a longer time, very likely in the courthouse at the county seat town. In cities where there are collector's branch offices, he will be there, and in other cities possibly at the city hall. My office will in due time advise postmasters and bankers, and send out notices to the newspapers stating when the officer will be in each county. It will be unnecessary for prospective taxpayers to ask my office for forms on which to make returns. The officer who visits their county will have them.

It may be stated as a matter of general information that 'net income' is the remainder after subtracting expenses from gross income. Personal, family or living expense is not in the meaning of the law, the exemption being allowed to cover such expenses.

The new exemptions of $1,000 and $2,000 will add tens of thousands to the number of income taxpayers in this district, inasmuch as practically every farmer, merchant, tradesman, professional man and salary worker and a great many wage workers will be required to make return and pay tax.

The law makes it the duty of the taxpayer to seek out the collector. Many people assume that if an income tax form is not sent, or a government officer does not call, they are relieved from making report. This is evidently an error. It is the only way round. The taxpayer has to go to the government and if he does not within the time prescribed, he is a violator of the law, and the government will go to him with its penalties."

MR. GILES EMPLOYED AGAIN

The many friends of Mr. Lomer Giles will be glad to learn that the Directors of the Peoples Telephone Company have employed him to operate the central office of the company here again for the next year. Mr. Giles has been the operator for a long time, and he is a good one who pleases the patrons of the local telephone system.

FIVE ALABAMIANS IN CONGRESS OPPOSE LIQUOR AMENDMENT

Washington, Dec. 17.—Alabama's vote in the House of Representatives cast five against and five in favor of the resolution proposing an amendment to the United States Constitution, prohibiting liquor traffic in the nation when it was adopted late this afternoon by a vote of 282 to 128.

Those voting for the resolution were: Steagall, Oliver, Burnett, Almond and Bankhead.

Those opposed were: Gray, Dent, Blackmon, Heflin and Huddleston.

Joe Calloway from Birmingham has been in Clanton visiting friends for the past few days.

FLAKETOWN GRAPHITE MEN CONFER WITH CO. CLERK

Mr. Taber, President of the Flaketown Graphite Company, of Mountain Creek, and his son, the foreman of the mines, were in Clanton Tuesday. They came here to confer with the Circuit Clerk in regard to license for the handling of explosives in the work at their mines in the southern part of the county. It is now the law that a mine or quarry foreman must secure from the Circuit Clerk of the county in which he operates, a license to purchase and issue to his employees, the explosive material necessary to the operation of the work. The Curcuit Clerk issues the license under direction of the Department of the Interior at Washington, D. C.

A SCHOOLBOY'S CONCEPTION OF "KAISER BILL."'

Dr. J. C. Christian of the Soldiers Home, at Mountain Creek relates the following story:

"Returning from a concert last evening, and stopping over with a friend of ours, the following dialogue took place between the teacher and a student:

"Teacher—'Come, Jim. Today is your day and mine, and we are here to play it. What have you learned about Kaiser Bill?'

"Student—'Who, Bill of Germany?'

"Teacher—'Yes, certainly, that is the Bill I speak of'

"Student—'Mamma says he is a monster hybrid of the hydra-headed species of venemous serpents, and belongs to the Huns and Hunks.'

"Teacher—'I do not nnderstand. Please give a definite description, will you?'

"Ttudent—'The Kaiser Bill is a compound, unconstitutional noun, first person, singular in all things, and never gets beyond "I," "mine" and "me" in grammar; very singular, yet deslining in number; mongrel gender, desperate case, and is governed only by the following Prussian rule: Personally, the very personification of a heartless brute, a perfect stranger and enemy to principle and virtue, glories in conquest, delights in destroying the hopes and peace of nations for the sake of his own gratification and lust for power; intolerable, oppressive, driving the helpless and inoffensive into depths of sin and slavery.'

"Teacher—'Well said, Jim. Now give me a remedy, as you see it, for the evil intolerance of the sinful practices of Kaiser Bill.'

"Student—'I will give you the only remedy in this world of ours: A campaund constitutional allied drive, with Uncle Sam's elixir of lightning, mixed with a whirlwind of volcanic eruption belched from the throats of his million great buns at the earliest possible moment. This alone, will give us the victory.'

"Teacher—'Get your hat, Jim. and come back tomorrow, and do all you can for the Red Cross.'"

THORSBY ITEMS

Everyone is invited to attend the Annual Contest in debating, music and other things at Thorsby Institute Thursday night, Dec. 20th, between the two sides of the Helen Keller Literary Society.

Mrs. R. N. Roebuck of Maplesville, accompanied by her son, Kent of Mathiston, Miss., and Otto of Maplesville, spent Saturday and Sunday at the Dormitory.

Prof. Geo. W. Macon of Howard College, Birmingham, delivered a very interesting lecture at Bates Hall Saturday night of last week. He also preached at the Baptist Church Sunday morning and spoke to the young men at 3:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Wyatt A. Taylor of Columbia, S. C. gave an interesting talk to the Christian Endeavorers at the Congregational church last Sunday evening.

Miss Amy A. Payne, Houskeeper at Thorsby Institute, left on Tuesday of this week for a short visit to her brother in Chiciga before his departure for France.

Miss Elizabeth C. Wilkin, music teacher at Thorsby Institute, left on Tuesday of this week for her home in Delaware, Ohio, where she expects to spend the holidays.

Mrs. Nellie Thompson, and daughter Elizabeth, spent Sunday afternoon visiting friends at the Girls' Dormitory.

Miss Stella Bryant of Alexander City, who has been attending school in Thorsby, was called home on Thursday of last week on account of the illness of her mother.

In compliance with the request of Woodrow Wilson, the members of the Sunday School of the Congregational church are planning for a program to be given at the preaching hour next Sunday. The collection taken will be given to the starving Armenian Children, the Red Cross work and the Army Y. M. C. A. work.

Work of the woman's committee of the Council of National Defense has already been started on Porto Rica, and plans now made include its introduction into every Territory of the United States.

RESULTS OF KIMBROUGH CROPS

Demonstrated by the Department of Agriculture.

After the floods, boll weevil disaster and general depression in 1916, the Department of Agriculture and Industries thought it wise to conduct a small demonstration farm near Montgomery for the purpose of producing an object lesson in diversified farming and intensive cotton culture under boll weevil conditions. We could not use public funds for defraying the expenses, therefore, Mr. A. L. Kimbrough, Assistant Clerk, horse, pay all other expenses and suhorse, yap all other expenses and superintend it before and after office hours for the profit or loss as the case might be.

Twenty-one acres were secured and planted as follows: Eight acres to oats, which were three-fourths destroyed by freeze. After the scattered oats were harvested, the same land was planted to corn and peas. Three acres were planted to sweet potatoes, three acres to corn and cultivated on the intensive plan, and seven acres in cotton planted April the first with Cleveland and Uncle Sam varieties. The boll weevils were hand-picked before squares formed and the crop cultivated shallow once a week until August.

The results were 65 bushels of oats, worth $50.00; 275 bushels of corn worth $412.50; 5 tons peavine hay with the peas, worth $100.00; 7½ bales of cotton lint and seed, sold for $1237.00; sold rosting ears and peas to amount of $20.00; 350 bushels of potatoes, sold for $350.00. Total receipts from 21 acres $2169.50.

Expenses for the crop are as follows: Land rent, $1.66; Seed, fertilizer and feed, $195.00; labor and miscelaneous expenses $225.00; Total expenses, $586.00; Total Net Profit, $1583.50.

This crop was cultivated in accordance with the general advice given to the public by the Department of Agriculture. It was produced on rented land with hired labor exclusively, one hired man and one pony doing the work. Had Mr. Kimbrough not had other employment and performed the labor himself, his earnings would have been nearly two thousand dollars.

We are publishing this for the benefit of the man in town who has had experience on the farm, to show him that his opportunities are far better on the farm than in town working for a small salary or wages, where he is forced to pay house rent equal to farm rent and pay twice as much as in former years for fuel and groceries. I earnestly appeal to all men who are living in the towns and cities on small salaries, and who have had farm experience, to get on the farm, if possible. Your country needs you to help solve the food question for yourselves, the country, and to win the war. We must recruit our producing army as well as our military forces.

HOLIDAYS FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Principal H. C. McDonald, of the Chilton County High School announces that the institution will close on Friday, the 21st of this month for the holiday season. Work will be resumed on Wednesday, January 2.

DO YOUR BIT— BUY A BABY BOND

Why you should Buy Them.

The main reason for the purchase of war-saving stamps (Baby Bonds) is because your country is at war. Your country needs every penny that every man, woman and child can save and lend, in order to feed, clothe, arm, and equip the soldiers and sailors of America and to win this righteous war in defense of American honor and the cause of democracy throughout the world.

If we are to win the war, we must win it as a united people. The savings of every man, woman and child are necessary of we are to hasten the vistorious ending of the war. War savers are life savers.

A single strand in the cables that uphold the great Brooklyn Suspension Bridge is not very strong, but thousands of these strands bound together uphold one of the great thoroughfares of the world.

When our fathers and sons and brothers were called by our country to take up arms in her defence, you did not hear an individual soldier refuse to serve because his service alone would not win the war. Each man was ready to do his part. The great army thus formed is going forward to facet he fire of battle and to risk everything for the safety and security of our homes and our families, and for the very existence of our country.

These are the men for whom you are asked to save and lend your dollars.

A country worth fighting for is a country worth saving for.

To save money is to save life.

Buy war-savings stamps at your local post office.

The above appeal is published at the request of Mr. J. E. Robinson, our local Postmaster.

PERSHING'S XMAS. MESSAGE

On the front page of Collier's Weekly, of the issue of December 22, is printed the Christmas Message of General John J. Pershing, the commander of the American expeditionary force on the field of battle in France. The message is addressed to Collier's publishers, but is intended to be conveyed to all Americans. The words of the cablegram are as follows:

"Here on this tremendous errand, far fram the Christmas joys at home, we shall be cheered to the task that is before us by your strength and by your patience. Your will and ours must join to fortify us in the sacrifices we must make, and blood we must give, to the end that there may be restored peace on earth and good will to men."

This noble message is signed personally by the general himself. Nothing we have ever seen of late is so touching as the thoughts which he sends back to us—the people of this country—in this Christmas note.

MUST SHOW CERTIFICATE OF REGISTRATION TO VOTE

Judge of Probate, 1Jan16

Any man who is a registered voter in another county has removed to this county, and desires to become a voter here, under the law it is necessary for him to acquire a certificate of Registration from the Registrar of the county which he moves from; then present that certificate to the registrar of this county at the court house between January 1st and January 5th. Then this Registrar will enter him on the regisrtation list of this county, and he will be entitled to participate in elections next year. It is very necessary that the cerificate of registration in the other county be procured and presented to the Registrar here. It is the only way for a voter to become qualified, and he should be sure to obtain the certificate and present it to the Registrar while he sits at the courthouse.

Likewise, if a man has been paying poll tax in another county, and desires to be put on the poll tax list of this county, he must obtain a certificate from the Probate Judge of the county in which he has paid poll tax, specifying the years which he has paid for. Then he will present that certificate to the Probate Judge here, who will put him on the poll list of this county. The Probate Judge cannot put a man on the list if he comes here from another county and just presents his poll tax receipts. He must present a certificate from the Probate Judge of the county when he comes from.

It is very necessary that voters who may have moved from other counties notice carefully these two points, or else they may come here to register and get on the poll tax list, and be denied because they have not got these certificates.

HYPOCRICY OF SO-CALLED "NON - PARTISANSHIP"

Washington, Dec. 17.—The Republicon Publicity Association, through its Presinedt, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement at its Washington headquarters:

"The unalloyed hypocricy of the Democratic plea for non-partisanship is disclosed by the fact that in order to be non-partisan, the action must result in the choice of a Democrat. We had an illustration in the case of Mayoralty contest, New York City, where the 'fusion' candidate was a Democrat, running against Tammany Democrat. The pleaders for non-partisanship never for one minute considered the advisability of uniting upon a Republican, though the city has in the past given its votes to Republican candidates.

"We have another demonstration in connection with the coming election of a senator in Wisconsin. Wisconsin is a strongly Republican state. With the exception of 1892, it has voted its confidence in Republican principles in every national election since the days of Lincoln. It is true that a division in Republican ranks in 1912 gave Woodrow Wilson the electorial vote that year, but the combined votes of the Republican and Progressive candidates, both standing for the principle of a protective tariff, far exceeded the vote for the party of free-trade. Even in 1916, when many states were deceived by the "kept us out of war" sophistry, Wisconsin recorded her vote for the Republican nominee. The eleven congressmen from Wisconsin are Republicans. The state has a Republican Governor, an overwhelming Republican legislaure and every state office, so far as political affiliations are shown, has been filled by a Republican by a vote of the people.

"In view of that record of the political principles of the people of the state, a man who claims to be non-partisan and still urges the election of a Democrat in Wisconsin is a brazen hypocrit whatever may be his pretense that he subordinates partisanship to patriotism."

Deputy United States Marshall Wall of Montgomery was in Clanton last Saturday. He came up to take charge of Dick Brown and the two Ingram boys from Coosa, who were in jail here charged with illicit distilling. The deputy marshall carried them to Montgomery Saturday night.

CLANTON BANKER'S FRIENDS ELATED

Twelve years ago, I become afflicted with stomach trouble, which steadily become worse until two years ago I frequently became prostrated with colic attacks and bloating. My doctors wanted to operate for gall stones. I wished to avoid an operation, and on advice of a friend tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy with excellent results, as since taking it about two years ago my trouble has entirely disappeared. It removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tractfi and allays the inflamation that causes practically all tomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

THE PEOPLE WANT TO KNOW

Congressmen returning from their districts to the opening of the session report, Democrats as well as Republicans, an increasing curosity among their constituents regarding possible changes in the Cabinet. The people want to know, their representatives say, whether certain Secretaries are likely to long continue to direct great destinies in the war, and they also want to know why the President fails to take counsel with men like Roosevelt, Taft, Hughes, Root, and others, who have had experience, who are known to the people of this and of other lands, whose patriotism is undoubted, whose wisdom is great, whose counsel is prudent, and whose services would be of great value. We do not know what answer Congressmen have made to any of these questions propounded by an eager and well-taxed constituency; but there are readily discernible reasons why Mr. Wilson insists upon maintaining this Cabinet as it is and why he does not counsel with the men who have been nmed. In teh first place, it is well-named. In the first place, it is well Trenton, at Princeton, and at Washington that he cannot consent to have round him any man who can be even remotely regarded as a rival in fame or power. In the second place, the men mentioned as suitable consultants for the war President are all Republicans, while Mr. Wilson remains as he has always been — a Democrat of Democrats.

SHAKING HANDS ACROSS THE CHASM

Among a number of other good things that our attention was directed to in the Union-Banner last week, we quote the following with our hearty endorsement:

"When you hear a fellow hinting around in regard to going to the next legislature, to represent the people, just ask him how he stands on this business of separation of church and state; upbuilding the public schools; stopping the donation of our State funds to sectarian institutions; and the inspection of public and private institutions by authorities of the law. If he is not in favor of these things being enacted and enforced by the legislative and executive branches of the state government, it matters not what his politics is, whether Republican, Democratic or Socialist, he has no business in the next legislature of the State of Alabama."

The above is mighty good Democratic gospel and we congratulate our good friend in the Banner office upon the able and emphatic vigor with which he announces his allegiance to this good old plank whitten into the platform of Democracy by Thomas Jefferson long years ago and subscribed to by all true apostles of that faith. It sounds so much like the old original "articles of faith" of pure Jeffersonian Democracy that we felt almost constrained to take off our hat in reverence while we read it.

The hour has indeed struck in the history of our country, our state and our county, when it behooves us every one to demand of candidates for all offices, and especially in the law-making department, a clean and clear statement of just where they stand upon these extremely vital issues. If Alabama ever expects to get the kind of legislation it needs, the voters will have to quit taking anything for granted and demand an iron-clad pledge from every aspirant for legislative and executive honors and then hold him strictly to it or have him impeached for lying the first digression he makes.

Now, Bro. Wyatt, since we have gone so far together and in such absolute harmony as to the one thing needful, allow me to make a proposition equally as essential if we expect, under existing conditions, to derive any benefits from these good resolutions.

In another place in your interesting columns you tacitly admit that a Republican legislator has "his hands tied" and can only "look on" in the Alabama House under its present political make-up. We all know, no matter how ardently we wish to change the political alignment, that to do so is utterly out of the question, hence, if we send a Republican down there, according to your admission, "his hands are tied" and he can only "look on," so, to all intents and purposes, we are without representation and have no earthly means of influencing legislation, either in favor or otherwise.

This being the self-evident state of affairs, would it not be the part of wisdom and good business policy for our county to center on some good, clean Democrat and send him down with "untied hands" and with as strong a voice and with as good opportunity to obtain results as any man on the floor?

Can you make any objection to this proposition? We feel sure that you would not go so far as to say there is not an honest or competent democrat in the county. Your advertising pages and the output of your job office is conclusive proof that you have many friends in the democratic party. Why not help us pick out a candidate who will endorse these very vital questions from the party that can send a man to Montgomery with "untied hands?"—Clanton Press.

MUST HAVE SALT

A fellow went into a store in Clanton the other day and asked to buy a dollar's worth of sugar. He was told of the scarcity of this particular article of food, and how the government was making an effort to conserve and distribute various things of food value over the country.

As the fellow fumbled down in his "jeans" to produce the buck which he was to pay for the little sack of "sweet" he said: "Well, I could do without sugar, but I do hope they don't cut us out of our salt."

Don't forget about the days for registration of voters in Chilton County, from January 1st to January 5th. This is the last chance there will be for voters to register for the next two years. If one will become 21 any time between now and the next November election, he is entitled to register one of these days, and will have privilege of participating in elections next year.

War Savings Stamps are going faster than the proberbial hot cakes. Many communities have already come well up to their allotments, though the campaign has hardly begun. This is the first of the financial plans of the war which shows the touch of genius. Mr. Vanderlip will doubtless raise as much money as the first Liberty Loan produced, with greater ease and with a wider quickening of the spirit of patriotism. Licking a stamp to lick the Kaiser bids fair to become the most popular of American sports, indoor and out.

WE WILL PREFER IT JUST STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN.

Have you read the article just over in the column to the left of this, entitled "Shaking Hands Across the Chasm?" If youhave not read it just make you a mark right here so you will know where you quit, and go read it before you see another single word of what is in this column. "Shaking Hands Across the Chasm," is a splendid article which we reproduce from the Clanton Press of last week, and excepting the Utopian tenor with which it closes, we are glad to say it is good. Now go and read it, and then come back right here and follow us for a while.

We are going to be a bit lengthy, but it is our desire to do this subject absolute justice before we quit; and you will please be patient with us.

First, we want to take up the matter which the Press alludes to as "Jeffersonian Democracy." We believe that the principles of that kind of a government which claims to be "of the people, for the people, and by the people," could not be really and truly what it claims to he if it does not stand for the separation of church and state; upbuilding the public schools; stopping the donation of state funds to sectarian institutions; and the inspection of public and private institutions by authorities of the law. Both the present Democratic and Republican partics claim to be "of the people, for the people, and by the people," but on the question outlined above, it seems that justice would indict both of them (Democrat and Republican) in some instances of flagrant violations. For in national affairs we can find instances where both these parties have violated these very vital obligations to the people. In the State of Alabama, where the Democrats have had full sway the violations have extended not only through these particular things, but in many other ways have the rights of the people been disregarded and trampled upon. We could right here cite a world of things which the Democratic party should be made to answer for—violations of trust which we have never heard of Republicans being guilty of in the world.

If Alabama has not been getting the kind of legislation she needs then how are we to get it? The Democrats have had the job ever since it has been a job; and ever since they have had it we have heard men of their own party, even, say that they were corrupting the plans which they were supposed to carry out in the interest of the people of the state. The record they have made is a pretty poor recommendation for them in getting the job again. But we suppose they will get it again all right, for there are yet in the world, and in Alabama, a great many people who, though they see the fallacy of the party, have not got the backbone to rise up and demand the kind of action which their better judgment tells them they should demand.

We think it is to the credit of the people of Chilton county that they have for a long time registered their opposition to the neglect and careless ness of the Democratic party in Alabama by electing Republican officials. If more of the counties of the state would rise up with such action, you would soon see the Democratic party shake off some of the scales of indifference and begin to make an effort to give the people what they should have.

To elect Democrats when Democrats have so long failed to give us the government we need and want is nothing but endorsing their negligence, and we can't blame them for not changing their policies. The great show man, P. T. Barnum, once said that he hoo-dooed the people because they showed to him that they liked to be hoo-dooed. Likewise the Democratic party in Alabama will hoo-doo the people as long as the voters endorse what they do by continuing to vote for them.

The Democratic party could yet do the things that they should do in Alabama in regard to the separation of church and state and those other splendid accomplishments along with it. But will they do it?

In the light of what they have done in the past (and also what they have not done) we do not feel that the Democrats deserve to be put in charge of the affairs of the state. But if they would consent to "lick the calf over" and rectify themselves in many ways in which they have erred, they might then have a better claim to the support of the people.

We have all respect in the world for some men in the Democratic party who realize the utter hopeless rottenness of the thing, and are and have been making an honest effort to clean up the situation, and put the party back on sound, reputable and sensible working basis, so as to be able to command the support of the people to its cause. But we fear they are in a hopeless minority.

The Press agrees with us that we are right about what the Legislature of Alabama should do; and now they want us to agree with them as to how Chilton county should go about performing her part of the obligation that both of us have placed on the next Legislature. But we are very frank to say that we cannot agree with them on the plan if it is to be as they suggest in the article which we reproduce from their last week's issue.

The people of Chilton county should demand that their next representative in the legislature work for the accomplishment of a further separation of church and state; the inspection of all public and private institutions by officials of the law; extension of public schools; liberty of free speech and a free press; these and many other things which could be named in conjunction with them. The Democrats should commit their candidate to this platform, and the Republicans should also do the same thing. So then which ever one is elected, the people will be properly represented on these questions.

Now this brings us down to the real "milk in the cocoanut." The Press asks: "Would it not be the part of wisdom and good business policy for our county to center on some good clean Democrat and send him down with 'untied hands' and with as strong a voice and with as good an opportunity to obtain results as any man on the floor?"

This is the part of the argument of the Press that sounds like an extract from "Utopia." It sounds very well, but when you analyze the thing thoroughly you find that it is not so pleasing and practical as it first seemed to be.

We answer the above question of the Press by saying that the election of a candidate under such terms as are named in the question would be the exact equivalent of sending a pronounced Republican to the Legislature. The man with the supposed "untied hands" would have the very same powers as a Republican. So if they amount to the same thing, we will then, by the reasons previously given, choose the Republican.

Now, why are the two propositions the same to the people of the county, in so far as representation in the Legislature is concerned? Here's how they are alike:

A Republican sent to the Legislature is denied the privilege of sitting in the Democratic caucuses on all matters. He just sits in the House and votes on all question that come up there. He has as much privilege to speak and vote in open session as any other member.

Now if we send an allied candidate to the Legislature—one elected by a fusion of all parties—he must, if he is true to his constituents, who voted for him, go there and declare that he represents all the various parties of his county. When he pronounces himself thus, he is classed by the Democrats as an "Independent" and he is no more admitted to the Democratic caucuses than if he were the most outspoken Republican. Consequently he, like the Republican member, would go back to the House, where he would have privileges of voting and speaking on whatever might be submitted through the Democratic caucuses. Now what is the difference between a Republican and an "untied" member in the Alabama legislature, in matters concerning the influence of legislation? We say there is none, and therefore cling to our former argument in favor of a Republican.

While the Press is proposing to us that we line up the Republicans in Chilton county behind a Democratic candidate for the Legislature, along with the Democrats behind the same man, and send him down there with "untied hands" we will venture to say that they can't even line up the Democrats of this county in such a proposition, say nothing of Democrats, Republicans and all. Why? Because there is an element of Democrats in Clanton, and a few over the county who are controlled by the Clanton squad, who will not have any thing if they can't get the "whole hog." If that crowd supports anybody for the Legislature (and they will support somebody all right) they are going to konw first of all, that he will be a tried and true old time "rotten" Democrat when he gets to Montgomery. They are going to know that he is the kind of a fellow whom they can run down to the Capitol and set on the trail of any kind of tinking old "annymule" which is put up by the crowd there. For that very reason they would never, even if we could all agree that it is practical, endorse a man who would represent both Republicans and Democrats, and first and last the whole people of the county and the state, in the Legislature.

There is but one way for this county to get a man in the next Legislature who will be in direct line with the party in control (we presume that the same old Democratic party will control it again) and that is to elect a Democrat to represent the county, and have him go there strictly on the mission of the Democratic party in Chilton county And the only way to get such a man there is for the Democrats to elect him and send him there. The Republicans in Chilton county do not believe the Democratic party in Alabama has "behaved itself" in a manner worthy of the support of conscientious citizens, and for that reason they will continue to express opposition to their methods by electing men who are opposed to the way they (the Democrats in the Legislature) have been doing things. Just for the sake of having a representative in the legislature who is "in line" with the Democratic party, is not taken as sufficient reason by us to warrant the Republicans in this county in voting for a Democrat.

There is one thing that the Press misquotes us on, and we wish to call attention to this with a slight correction. They say that we admit in our former article that a Republican has his hands tied in the Legislature, and can do nothing but look on. This would seem to imply that a Republican in the Legislature cannot even vote. Now of course the Press does not mean to leave that impression. They know, we know, and everybody else knows that a Republican in the Legislature can vote, speak and exercise in open session the same as any other member.

And as to admitting that a Republican's hands are tied, we wish to correct the Press a bit there. We did not say that we admit that his hands are tied. Here is what we did say:

"What could a Republican do in the Legislature of Alabama? Is that the question? Well then IF he didn't do anything else, he would reflect the good judgment of the people of his home county in choosing a man of the right kind, even though his hands were tied by the iniquitous Democratic colleagues whom he would have to sit with in the Legislature."

The Press says that according to our admission, we are without representation when we send a Republican to the Legislature. No Brother Corley, we do not admit any such thing in the above statement which you are supposed to have reference to. And in fact no such thing is the case at all. A Republican in the Legislature has as big a vote as a Democrat. He is only denied the "privilege" of wallowing in the mire with the "big hogs."

The right kind of a Republican in the Legislature can do much for his county and for his state. If he is fighter enough to make those Democrats see that he has some backbone and principle, then they will respect and not rediculе him for his position. When Judge Reynolds was in the Legislature he did much for this county, and he was there as a Republican. A man of the same ability now could do as much, even though he be a Republican.

Now again, in general summary of the whole situation, we agree with the Press as to what should be done. Our laws should be strengthened so as to ferever separate church and state; our public schools should be built up to the highest degree of efficiency, carrying in them the free privilege of an open bible; we should stop the donation of any state funds to private sectarian institutions; and the public inspection of all private and state institutions should be carried out by properly and duly constituted officials. These, and many other like things of equal importance should be settled on firmly and securely by the next Legislature.

But we contend that a Republican can do as much toward accomplishing these things as an Independent. The Republicans of Chilton county can easily find a man in their own party who is sound and sensible on these questions—yea, as sound and sensible as any good Democrat. And as we are not yet ready to go into the Democratic party and float with the whole tide, we can see no advantage in going into it just a little way. Therefore we cannot agree with the Press on the matter of choosing a fusion candidate out of the Democratic party and sending him down to represent us all in a wad.

It must be either a whole endorsement of the Democratic party, a half-way endorsement, or a blank rejection of the whole outfit.

For us we prefer the latter course, and would choose a good Republcian to send down to Montgomery to represent us. This is just how we stand on the matter. With no ill feeling in the world we accord to the Press and every other man the right to believe as he wishes.

The Editor of the Union-Banner has found out why it is that doctors live so fat and easy. (You know it 's a fact that all doctors are fat and sassy.) The secret of the business is this. When they go out in the country to see a patient they invariably come back with automobile loaded with turnip greens, collards cabbage and many other good things which the good country folks bestow upon them lavishly. If you don't believe we are right now, just take a look into the nex tdoctor's car you see coming from the "sticks" and see if you don't see something good to eat hidden away under the back seat.

Here's how we got on to this secret: The other day the editor had the pleasure of a trip out with a good doctor friend to see a patient. When we were ready to return the good man of the house inquired if we had any "greens" at home. The editor didn't quite catch the drift, and hestated to see what the doctor was going to say. A glance over at him revealed that he "had the line" all right, for he showed signs of having been "at such places" before. With the doctor doing the talking, he soon had us both down for a couple of nice big collards, and when we got out to start home the goods were reposing in the back seat for us. Such incidents as that may be common for doctors, but they are rare for editors. But none the less grateful are we.

Look out for another rise in the price of gasoline. John D. got his home destroyed by fire the other day.

SHADOWS OF THE RECENT PAST

All this discussion about a Representative in the Legislature for Chilton county has caused to come back to our mind, a vivid recollection of something that was attempted in the last legislature by some sinister individuals in Clanton and Chilton county.

Everybody remembers how various efforts were made in that legislature to deprive the people of Chilton county of the right to elect some of their county officials. The scheme was condemned by all right-thinking and honest citizens as absolutely ridiculous and utterly unfair to the intelligence of our citizens.

Yet it took everything the Republicans and the best element of the Democrats could do to keep the Democratic legislature from listening to those erratic individuals who were seeking their selfinsh motives through the law-making body of the state.

If our Representative in the Legislature then had been a Democrat the chances are that he would have been constrained to support the efforts that were made to deprive us of our rights of ballot. Such a thing would have been a grave misfortune. And indeed it came so near being a misfortune to the people of the county, that many of our people have come to believe that a great part of the blame lies with the Democratic party, and threrefore are bitter against them.

Our Representative, Mr. W. E. Thomas, a Republican, saw what was being attempted. He came to Clanton at once, called a meeting of the people, and was instructed what to do in the matter. Not only did his Republican friends here desire him to work against those bills, but also the good element of the Democrats were opposed to them, and co-operated with Mr. Thomas and the other citizens in getting the plans defeated.

The thing that saved us in that crisis was the fact that the Representative could not be reached or controled by those individuals who were seeking to have the laws passed.

We might have to face something of this kind again for all we know now. So we better employ "safety first."

OUR FRIEND FROM STUMP HILLS

Mr. T. J. Dorminey from Stumps Hills (the only man in the county who will admit that he lives in Stumps Hills) was in Clanton Wednesday to attend the meeting of the Commissioners relative to the cattle dipping business. Mr. Dorminey had many interesting things to tell us in his jolly good way. Among them were these: He said that there are no ticks in Stumps Hills, and very few snakes and frogs. He has been living there for a long time, and he says he notes a considerable falling-off of the tick, frog and reptile population of his community. He said he has a cow which is 17 years old, and he has been milking her thirteen years. The other day he and his wife took a notion to figure up how much milk and butter "Old Brindle" had given since they had owned her. The result was that at the present prices for milk and butter, she had given over thirty-five hundred dollars worth in the past thirteen years. He says she has averaged two gallons of milk for every day of the whole thirteen years. And at present the old cow is worth between thirty and forty dollars for beef. Now we are ready to admit that "Old Brindle" is some cow, ticks or no ticks. T. J. says he believes the people of the county would vote a majority against the dipping business in an election now.

IS IT "UTTERLY IMPOSSIBLE?"

Last week the Clanton Press said: "It is utterly out of the question to change the political make-up of the Alabama Legislature."

Now there you have another example of weak-kneed policy on the part of Democrats. The Press, like every other Democrat who thinks in terms of the best interests of the people of the state, is bound to know that the Democratic pary has been weighed in the balances and found wanting. They are bound to know that the party has not dealt out to the people of the state the kind of legislation that they should have made.

But what is the answer of these members of the Democratic party who feel the sting of neglectful inefficiency in the men whom they have elected to run our affairs? They all just dismiss the matter by saying like the Press said: "It is utterly out of the question to bring about any change." They are playing the devil with us good and proper, but there is no chance in the world for us to bring them down in their high-handed concoctions.

There is no buck-bone in such doings. A man ought to be big and broad enough to denounce the impudence of any political party that he can plainly see is not giving him a square deal.

Of all the candidates who are are now out or ever will be out for the office of Governor of Alabama, it seems to us that John H. Wallace is "it" good and proper. We notice that he is credited with saying somewhere in his platform that he does not believe that the Roman Catholics should be attacked for their political activities in connection with our government. Now ain't that a dandy plank for a man to have in his platform.

MOONSHINERS DISCHARGED BY COUNTY OFFICIALS BUT ARRESTED BY U. S. DEPUTY

An interesting "come off" was staged at the court house in Clanton last Saturday afternoon, when Dick Brown and the two Ingram boys from Coosa County were arraigned before Probate Judge Reynolds for a charge of illicit distilling of liquor.

The defending counsel of the men under charge argued that the courts of Chilton had no jurisdiction in the matter, owing to the fact that the place where the violation is alleged to have occurred, and the arrests were made over a quarter of a mile beyond the border line of this county. The argument was sustained in the mind of Judge Reynolds, and he therefore ruled that the case could not be tried in this county. Whereupon he declared the men discharged, insofar as his jurisdiction extended.

The faces of the defendants gleamed with delight as they contemplated a hurried trip back into the hills, away from the cruel clutches of the law, under which they had been held for a week in jail.

As they arose to make their departure after Judge Reynolds' discharge, they proceeded out of the court room amid the cheerful chatter of a large number of their friends who had come to witness the scene in court.

But when they reached the door of the court room they were met by Deputy United States Marshall, Wall, from Montgomery, who informed the three men that he had a warrant from the United States court for them, and declared that they must go with him to the Capital, rather than make their return to the hills.

The three fellows looked dejected, bewildered, disgusted, and every other thing anyways like that. They returned to jail and waited till the south-bound train arrived, when they were accompanied to Montgomery by Mr. Wall.

CARD OF THANKS

The bitterest hour of my life caused by the death of my husband, was made less bitter and my grief much easier to bear, by the many acts of kindness and the beautiful floral gifts of the people of Chilton County. I wish to thank each and every one of you, especially do I thank the noble teacher of God's Word, who spoke the sweet and encouraging words which are so badly needed in an hour like this. May God's richest and choicest blessings ever abide with you all.

NO LICENSE REQUIRED FOR FARMERS TO SELL CORN

Judge Reynolds a few days ago wrote to the United States Food Administration for Alabama, asking for information in regard to the federal law regarding licenses for dealers in corn. The following is the gist of the reply which was sent:

As the law now stands, anyone buying corn from the producer and sending it on to market requires a license; but if he buys corn either from a producer or from a licensed dealer, to retail, and his retail business does not amount to $100,000 per year, he does need a license.

No farmer needs a license to sell the corn he raised himself. No one needs a license to buy corn for his own consumption. The Administrator, Mr. Hobbie, stated in his letter to Judge Reynolds, that he had asked the Federal authorities to give him specifications as to the minimum quantity of corn which to handle require a license. When this information is obtained from Washington, Mr. Hobbie promises to give full details of the requirements of the law, governing this situation, relative to the handling and distribution of corn products.

Better Farming in the South

THE FARMER—ONE OF UNCLE SAM'S DEFENDANTS

By D. B. Osborne, Chairman Soil Improvement Committee, Atlanta, Ga.

D. B. OSBORNE

Mr. Farmer:

The above picture exemplifies the vital importance of your position in the World War—The fight of freedom and democracy against German autocracy.

Upon you is placed the grave responsibility of producing abundant crops with which to feed and clothe our army and navy; the armies and navies of our Allies—our own people at home and the peoples of our Allies in Europe.

Failure would bring disaster to our army and an untimely and unnecessary death to many of our boys who have gone forth to battle in defense of our liberty.

But, Mr. Farmer, we know that under the great responsibility placed on you by our Government, that there is no such word as "fail" in your vocabulary and that nothing short of insurmountable providential causes could prevent your answering fully to this responsibility.

However, maximum crops can only be had by the judicious and intensive use of fertilizers, good seed, thorough cultivation, and labor-saving machinery.

One of your most pressing problems and one to be acted upon without delay, is the matter of obtaining your fertilizer.

In spite of the best efforts of the manufacturers and the Government, materials for making fertilizers are scarce and high in price. Therefore, it is all the more necessary that what fertilizers are to be distributed, should be used upon soil that has received the very best preparations the farmer is capable of giving.

The mobilization of our army, requiring a maximum movement of troop trains and supply trains, has over-taxed the capacity of our railroads as never before, and in order for fertilizers to be distributed this season, the movement must of necessity, begin early and the unloading of cars at destination be done with utmost despatch. Every car must be loaded to capacity.

Today fertilizers are cheaper than farm crops or farm labor. A bale of cotton, a bushel of corn, oats or wheat, will buy more pounds of fertilizers now than ever before, hence to assure the performance of a patriotic duty, with great profit to yourself order your fertilizers promptly so that you may be sure to get them. And when you get them, use them with the greatest degree of intelligence.

Satisfactory results are bound to follow—both to you and to the Government.

How the L. & N. Dollar is Distributed

ELEVEN years prior to the Civil War, or sixty-six years ago, public spirited men with faith in the future of the South, and in the fairness of the people of the South, established the L. & N. Railroad. Since that time the L. & N. has rendered unsurpassed service and is the only railroad ever established in the South which has not been through bankruptcy.

During those sixty-six years the L. & N. has expended many millions of dollars in the South, not only for the development and upbuilding of its own property, but for the development and upbuilding of the South.

Figures, available for the last sixteen years only, show that the L. & N. has expended during those sixteen years $24,000,439.17 for taxes, paid into the South's public treasury; for material and supplies $167,475,437.53; for fuel $43,082,955.39; for wages to employes $324,870,160.41, the greater part of which was expended in the South, and many millions of which were brought to the South from other sources to develop and enrich the South.

The average income on the property investment in sixteen years was 5.96%. The most prosperous year—1904—was 7.14%, and the poorest—1915—was 3.75%.

L. & N. officials have expended L. & N. income to the best possible advantage for the material welfare of the L. & N. and the South. At the same time, those investors who own the L. & N., and have faith in the South and in the fairness of her people, must be accorded consideration in the form of some return on their investment.

Splendid Efforts
The merchants of this town have been liberal buyers of newspaper advertising space in the past year, trying to impress the people of their intentions in the upbuilding of the town and community. They help the people by giving them money-saving prices when they buy the things that are sold in the stores. These merchants have spent good hard cash to convince the people of this town that they should help in the work of community building by co-operation with the local merchant and spending the money at home.
If you as a citizen, have not given the local merchant the proper support, the past year, you should repent of the wrong you have committed in sending youd dollars away and resolve to start even with the new year, and work in every conceivable way for your home town and home people first.

FEW ESCAPE

There are a few indeed who escape having at least one cold during the winter months, and they are fortunate who have but one and get thru with it quickly and without any serious consequences. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and observe the directions with each bottle, and you are likely to be one of the fortunate ones. The worth and merit of this remedy has been fully proven. There are many families who have always used it for years when troubled with a cough or cold, and with the very best results. It only costs a quarter.

CONSIDERING BUILDING BRIDGE

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County has before them the proposition of building a bridge across Yellow Leaf Creek, at Plier's Mill. Heretofore, the location of the bridge has been about a hundred yards below the mill dam, and the floods of the stream have succeeded in washing the wooden bridges away as fast as the county could build them, and in some cases a little faster. This time the county plans to build the bridge across the pond just above the dam. The pond is only 80 feet wide. But there seems to be some question about placing a wooden bridge there. It has also entered the minds of the court that a ferry flat might be put there on the pond with less expense to the county, and wih just much service to the public. They are now working on the matter and will take immediate action in some way to open up traffic on the public road across the creek at that place.

Howard Roper of Rockymount was in Clanton the first of this week taking the state examination for teachers.

BOILER EXPLOSION COMPLETE WRECK OF SAW MILL PLANT

Henry Gragg, Operator of the Mill Injured, but not Seriously.

After the explosion had got quiet and the smoke had cleared away and the dust and ashes had settled down, you could look around you most any place between Coopers and Higgins Ferry and see fragments of the shattered sawmill outfit. According to some reports it literally scattered the pieces of the boiler and mill all over the nearby hills and hollows.

The explosion occurred about noon on last Friday, just as the mill was stopped for dinner hour. The mill was located about four miles east of Coopers and was operated by Henry Gragg. The direct cause of the explosion was the giving away of a patch that had been put on the boiler. Fortunately for the mill hands, they were all out of reach of danger when the explosion occurred. No one was near enough to be in serious danger. Mr. Gragg, the operator of the mill, was the only person injured. He was about forty yards from the boiler, and was struck in the back by a big fifty-pound rock that was thrown by the force of the escaping steam.

According to Mr. Gragg's statement, the boiler stopped after the explosion was all over, just 171 steps from the place where he had stood; the force of the wreck just changed ends with the smoke stack, the top being where the bottom ought to be; the log which they were sawing was blown out from under the shed and thrown several yards away; the lead-pipe from the boiler to the engine (a big, heavy affair) was blown so far away that no one knew anything about it; big rocks in the furnace, which required half a dozen men to place them in the construction, were hurled in the air and deposited with great force several yards from their resting places. To put it in a few words, the boiler exploded and made hash out of what was previously a perfectly good 2 x 4 sawmill, and scattered it all over the Coosa River Hills. That is the best way we know how to write it up from the way it was told to us.

Dear Mr. Wyatt:

Permit me to congratulate you for expressing in your paper the liberal and earnest lines written by you as an endorsement of the prose and poetic contributions furnished by Dr. Christian of the Soldiers Home.

Dr. Christian possesses many noble traits. He writes as an educated, talented, Christian man, and enjoys, after having climbed the ladder of life to the topmost round, a versitle and comprehensive ideality seldom attained and never reached by narrow-minded climbers.

With Respect,
W. P. T.

NEW HARMONY

Tere will be a box supper at this place on next Saturday night, the 22 of December.

BELLE POPWELL.

No Alcohol In This
You may wisely hesitate to take medicine containing alcohol. Scientists agree that alcohol is injurious. It is particularly harmful to growing girls and boys. Of the remedies for liver and stomach troubles, Granger Liver Regulator is recognized as a standard preparation, free from poisonous drugs like calomel and it contains no alcohol. This medicine has been on the market for years. It is the "stand-by" in thousands of homes thruout the country. It is freely used by all the family whenever one of them feels headachy or in need of a physic. Granger Liver Medicine is purely vegetable, and it may be taken without fear of griping or any other unpleasant after effects. Price, 25c for large box. Ask your druggist for it and refuse all substitutes.

FREIGHT SERVICE

MANUFACTURED AT WAR PRICES AND SOLD AT PEACE PRICES

THE PROBLEM THE RAILROADS OF ALABAMA MUST SOLVE

¶ Transportation is the only commodity the Railroads of Alabama manufacture and sell.

¶ This commodity is being manufactured at WAR PRICES and is being sold at PEACE PRICES.

¶ The railroads are compelled by law to do this.

¶ Is there any other manufacturing plant in the United States doing this?

¶ Are you, Mr. Manufacturer and Shipper, willing to sell your commodity today at PEACE PRICES, and are you doing it?

Here are FACTS and FIGURES showing the enormous INCREASE in the COST of doing business to the Railroads of Alabama.

The Railroads of Alabama have filed a petition with the Alabama Public Service Commission, making an appeal to the law which controls them to provide relief in order to meet conditions facing them.

The petition seeks to remove certain discriminations and undue preferences accorded a few shipping points over many, and favoring certain commodities over others, and to harmonize intrastate rates with interstate rates, as required by the Supreme Court of the United States and by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The readjustment of rates in Alabama will be a benefit to the shippers as well as to the railroads.

A DECLARATION OF POLICY

It is not and will not be the policy of the undersigned railroads to propose any system of rates which would unjustly discriminate against the Alabama producer in favor of producers located without the state. Should this policy appear to be violated by any technical construction of our petition we give assurance that we will not propose, nor will we attempt to adopt, in actual practice, any rates at variance with the same.

CRUSHING VELVET BEANS

The plant of the Central Alabama Farm Products Company is now in full operation grinding velvet bean meal and snap corn, which is corn ground with the shuck on it. This plant is a new industry at this place. It is situated between Seventh street and the L. & N. Railroad. The units in the plant consist of a thirty ton Williams Mill and corn meal rocks, a corn shuck sheller and a saw mill. These units are operated by eighty horse power machinery.

For storage purposes, a warehouse one hundred by fifty feet has been provided, in addition to the mill house. Loading facilities direct from the warehouse to the lars of the L & N for shipment of the prodhcts of this mill are provided in the general plan of this plant.

The operation of this plant will prove a convenience to the farmers and to the business men of Clanton and Chilton county. In the course of a short time, when the operation of all of the machinery is begun, this locality in Clanton will present a busy scene.

"W-H-Y?"

Washington, Dec. 17.—Today the Republican Publicity Association gave out through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., the following statement at its headquarters.

"Some administration newspapers assert that 'this is no time for politics,' and that this is no time to "talk about the tariff.'

"If this is no time for politics, why has the Democratic national committee recently reorganized on the most systematic campaign basis ever attempted by any party committee in the United States? Why is that committee issuing partisan publicity matter and maintaining an extensive publicity bureau? If this is no time for politics, why do we have a solidly Democratic cabinet, why are the Democratic campaign contributors given the most powerful positions in our war organization and why was a chairman of the Democratic National Committee chosen to go as a representative of this country to the war conference in Europe?

"If this is no time to talk tariff, why are we maintaining a tariff commission, why was that commission placed in control of free traders, and why is the commission now conducting a tariff inquiry? Shall the business men of America keep silent while an official organization of free traders talk tariff? Shall men who exercise alert foresight in their private affairs adopt a "watchful waiting" policy in public affairs? Shall we postpone preparedness for peace until peace has come. Shall men be told that they are 'nervous and hysterical' when they urge preparedness for commerce just as they were when they urged prepredness for war?

Shall men who believe in 'America First' leave tariff discussion and tariff legislation to that political party which, in 1913, legislated for Europe and Asia first?

"Shall Republicans cease to talk politics while all the power of the administration is being used to place Democrats in Office? Let the Democratic press answer."

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

OUR DEMOCRATIC FRIENDS

Concerning this question of a Democrat to represent Chilton County in the Legislature, the Clanton Press has this to say to the Union-Banner in its last week's issue:

"We feel sure that you would not go so far as to say there is not an honest or competent Democrat in the county. Your advertising pages and the output of your job office is conclusive proof that you have many friends in the Democratic party."

Right enough, Sir. We have many friends in the Democratic party in Chilton County, and we are glad of them and proud of them. We appreciate the business they give us, and we appreciate the confidence which is mutual. They do not give us their business from any political motives in the world. They do not expect to make Democrats out of us by giving us their business. Nor do we expect to make Republicans out of them because of our dealings with them. We solicit their business for the business itself. They give us the business because we are prepared to give them the service they want, and nothing ever is said about politics in the transaction.

We believe in keeping politics out of business, out of schools and out of churches. Men can be cordial, friendly, and good citizens, it matters not what their politics may be. It is on this kind of a principle that The Union-Banner has built a thorough confidence among people who, in politics, are Democrats.

No, we would not dare say there is not a Democrat in the County who is good enough to properly represent Chilton County in the Legislature; for we know there are some good men in the party in Chilton County.

Those who wish to give us their business will get the most courteous attention, no matter what heir politics. We don' ask any question about politics when a man comes to us with his business. That is a thing that is off the subject, and not proper to be dealt with in the conduct of a business enterprise.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number Five

Jimmie and a German Boy Clash—Must Do Three Things to Save Country.

It was a warm evening, so Uncle Dan went out to a lawn seat under the spreading branches of the great tree that suggested the farm's name of Oak Hill. Billie and Jimmie had been laying for him, so Uncle Dan was captured by the boys on short order.

"Say, Uncle Dan," Billie began. "We had a red-hot argument at school yesterday with Carl Newman. Carl said that German schools were miles ahead of our schools and that no one could come up to the educated German. Well, Jimmie got hot under the collar and handed it back to him good and plenty. Jimmie said if their education taught them to torpedo Lusitanias, sink hospital ships, murder hundreds of women and children, make slaves of the Belgians, poison wells, destroy fruit trees and commit all sorts of crimes, then we did not want that kind of education here.

Women!

Here is a message to suffering women, from Mrs. W. T. Price, of Public, Ky.: "I suffered with painful...", she writes. "I got down with a weakness in my back and limbs...I felt helpless and discouraged...I had about given up hopes of ever being well again, when a friend insisted I

Good Printing

THE kind of printing that pays dividends is the kind you should have. Pale, muddy, poorly arranged printed matter is worse than none. The quality of your business is often judged by the quality of your stationery — inferior printing gives an impression of cheapness that is hard to overcome, while good printing carries with it a desirable suggestion of quality.

We produce only Quality Printing. Whether you want an inexpensive handbill or a letterhead in colors, if you order it from us you will be sure of getting good work. A STAR FOR EVERY SOLDIER.

An Unique Device in Keeping With Loyalty and Patriotism for Our Country.

Display the Red Service Flag with a blue star in center, on the pole with your U. S. Flag. Then everyone will know how many of your household is serving Uncle Sam. Show that your boy is not a slacker.

The Service Flag is 2x3 feet, and is Red with a White center in which you can have one or more blue stars to show how many boys you have given to the service of Uncle Sam. Sent with a year's subscription to The Tri-Weekly Constitution for $1.50. These flags alone sell for $1 at retail. Thousands upon thousands of them are now being displayed all over the country. One star means one soldier; two means two soldiers; three means three soldiers. They are all the rage now. Get yours at once. State how many stars you want on your flag. Address your order and send $1.50 to The Tri-Weekly Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Is your barn a cotton warehouse?

WHEN you store a ton of old style cottonseed hulls you give space to almost 500 pounds of lint and all the extra bulk that the lint causes.

When you store a ton of

TRADE MARK

BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS

LINTLESS

you give space to 2000 pounds of real roughage, free from lint, compact, concentrated, solid.

Buckeye Hulls save half your storage space or enable you to carry twice as much roughage.

Other Advantages

2000 pounds of roughage value to the ton—not 1500.	Better assimilation of other food.
Priced much less per ton.	No trash or dust.
Every pound goes farther.	Sacked—easy to handle.
	Mix well with other forage.

Mr. John Wicker, Forest, Miss., says:

that his first experience in feeding Buckeye Hulls was unsatisfactory as he fed them improperly. He now soaks the hulls over night, then feeds them and has very satisfactory results. Mr. Wicker states that these hulls are more economical than the old style hulls and thinks that they go almost twice as far as the old style hulls at a considerably less cost to begin with.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

VINOL MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG

Positive—Convincing Proof

We publish the formula of Vinol to prove convincingly that it has the power to create strength.

℞ Cod Liver and Beef Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, Lime and Soda Glycerophosphates, Cascarin.

Any woman who buys a bottle of Vinol for a weak, run-down, nervous condition and finds after giving it a fair trial it did not help her, will have her money returned.

You see, there is no guess work about Vinol. Its formula proves there is nothing like it for all weak, run-down, overworked, nervous men and women and for feeble old people and delicate children. Try it once and be convinced.

"Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is splendid for croup," writes Mrs. Edward Hassett, Frankfort, N. Y. "My choldren have been quickly relieved of attacks of this dreadful complaint by its use." This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidentially as to an adult.

Dr. Jackson of Wadsworth was here Wednesday in the interest of tick eradication. He made a fight for it before them eeting at the court house.

TURN DOWN CATTLE DIPPING

Many citizens of Chilton county turned to the meeting at the Court House Wednesday to consider the proposition of dipping cattle in Chilton county for the eradication of the tick.

Several discussions for and against the measure were made before the meeting, and a general thrashing out of the subject was made. It seems from the way it went off that the anti-dipping element was considerably in the majority, and the result was that the meeting passed oc without any authorization or petition to the Commissioners counrt for an election on the matter. By far the greater part of the men at the meeting were against the tick eradication question, and judging the whole county by the sentiment of those who were at the meeting, one would conclude that if it were brought to an election at present it would result in an overwhelming defeat of the proposition.

This means that after January the first, the cattle shipping business in Chilton county will be curtailed until the county votes dipping laws and gets out from under the federal quarantine.

COMPARATIVE PRI... VET BEANS AND BE... MEAL

While velvet beans in the hull are bringing only between $17.50 and $20 per ton in the markets of Chilton county, the bean meal on the Birmingham market is bringing from $30 to $35 per ton; likewise corn ground in the shuck is bringing as good a price per ton. Velvet beans and velvet bean meal, and also corn and ground corn in the shuck will bring a higher price after the first of the incoming year. Will Adams spent two days this week on the Birmingham market to get accurate offers and prices, it is, therefore, much to the interest of our farmers t either hold their corn and beans, or have their corn and beans ground and double the price. All of the above prices are free of freight to the farmer, the merchant to whom the shipment is made pays the freight. Do not dump your corn and beans on the market at a sacrifice in order to get to spend a little money foolishly during the Christmas holidays. Hold for better prices.

Chilton Women Will Be Taught "War" Cooking

MRS. LIDA JONES WILL CONDUCT SCHOOLS OF INSTRUCTION AT FOUR DIFFERENT PLACES.

The Home Demonstration workers throughout Alabama are beginning next week a five weeks course of instruction in the making of emergency or "war-breads." This work has been planned by the state home demonstration department of the Extension Service at Auburn, which works in direct cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture.

Four centers have been selected in each county. In this county, Verbena, Clanton, Thorsby and Minooka have been chosen. This first lesson in breadmaking will be given at each of these centers during the week beginning January 8th. The first meeting will be held at Verbena January 8th, and Clanton on January 9th, and at Thorsby on January 10th, and at Minooka January 11th.

At this first meeting various breads made with wheat and wheat substitutes will be demonstrated. During the following weeks lessons will be given in the making of quick breads and yiest breads with peanuts, corn meal, soy beans, and other wheat substitutes. At the close of this series of meetings, a bread contest will be held in each community. At these contests exhibitions of the various breads will be shown.

These lessons are not given as a general demonstration but as schools of instruction where a limited number of housekeepers from all parts of the county will be given an opportunity to gain this information gathered from many parts of the country.

All women who are interested in planning more economical and better breads for their families are asked to write Mrs. Lida Jones, county home demonstration agent, at Clanton, Ala., for particulras regarding enrollment in these clubs.

The women who are given this special instruction by the home demonstration agent must be willing to promise they will attend every meeting possible, test in their own homes the instruction given by the agent and report to the agent the results obtained.

This is an opporunity which the women of the community cannot afford to miss. The work given will be practical and economical and will help solve the problem of the greatly increased cost of wheat.

The so-called "war breads" of this country are literally "good to eat." Moreover, these good-to-eat breads were good to eat before the war, and will be good after the war. It is hoped that war time conditions may lead many Americans to discover these little known but wholesome and economical breads.

Mr. Harve Poole, of Mobile, is spending the Christmas holidays with his friends and relatives in Chilton County.

J. F. Jones of Route 5 was a caller at the Union-Banner office Saturday. He subscribed for the paper again, and said he couldn't do without the Banner. He encouraged the editor by saying that the paper is much better now than it was before the present management took charge of it. We are striving all the time to make the paper better and better.

BLAKSLEE WOULD SQUEEZE RURAL CARRIERS

Washington, Dec. 25.—The Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. Blakslee, under whose jurisdiction is the rural free delivery service, says that "we give the rural carrier too much for nothing." That official claims that because a carrier devotes less than a day in actually serving his route he should be paid only for the time employed in that way. He would take no account of the hours spent in keeping up the efficiency of his equipment, waiting for late trains etc. Mr. Blakslee claims that the rural service is now run at an annual loss to the Government of $35,000,000, of which from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 could be saved by the introduction of a current system of payment. He asserts that the average time consumed by a carrier in the daily delivery of mail is four hours, and when he is paid for mroe than that it is a gift and not a compensation for work done.

All this will be startling news for most of our rural carriers, who have absorbed the idea that they were doing the hardest kind of work, necessitating being out of all kinds of weather, with consequent rapid deterioration of equipment, and large expenses for maintenance. All such considerations, however, are cast aside by the Fourth Assistant. Neither does he give any thought to the vast increase in rural mail matter by the inauguration of the parcel post. He frankly says, "I don't know anything about the statistics of parcel post." When asked about second class mail handled by the rural carrier, Mr. Blakslee again admits, "Ask me nothing about that; I don't know anything about Second Class mail."

Here is a Democratic official who, after having charge of the rural mail system of the country since the beginning of the present administration, over four years, admits that he knows nothing about parcel post and second-class mail, that make up the great bulk of the rural carrier's load. Yet he feels competent to say that the carriers are being overpaid at the rate of $20,000,000 every year.

HINSDELL'S BODY BURIED

The body of R. R. Hinsdell, who died at Akron, Ohio, over a week ago, arrived in Clanton Saturday, and was buried in the Clanton Cemetery on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Hinsdell was a former citizen of Clanton, but had been working at Akron for the past few months.

MRS. JOHN VINES DIED SUDDENLY

Last Friday the sudden death of Mrs. John Vines occurred at the family home in Clanton. The aged lady was preparing to make a visit to her relatives in Birmingham, and was about ready to make her departure Friday morning, when her plans were suddenly interrupted by a visitation of death.

Funeral was held Saturday afternoon, after which interment was made in the Clanton Cemetery.

ADMINISTRATOR'S FINAL SETTLEMENT

In the matter of the estate of Elizabeth Prichard, deceased.

This day came Eunice Kennedy, Administratrix of the estate of Elizabeth Prichard, deceased, and filed her statement, accounts, vouchers and evidences, for a final settlement of her administration.

It is ordered that Monday, the 7th day of January, 1918, be appointed a day on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said setlement, if they think proper.

CLANTON BANKER'S FRIENDS ELATED

Twelve years ago, I become afflicted with stomach trouble, which steadily become worse until two years ago I frequently became prostrated with colic attacks and bloating. My doctors wanted to operate for gall stones. I wished to avoid an operation, and on advice of a friend tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy with excellent results, as since taking it about two years ago my trouble has entirely disappeared. It removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tractfi and allays the inflamation that causes practically all tomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

LEMUEL SIMS NOW IN TORPEDO TRAINING CAMP

Lemuel Sims, the one time famous barber of Clanton, took a notion to join the navy over a year ago. And he did. He went into training, and was soon placed on the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, the biggest fighter in Uncle Sam's fleet. While there he rambled all over the high seas, in and out of the "Danger Zone" of the U-boats, and through it all manayed to come out alive. He now writes the Union-Banner a letter from Newport, Rhode Island, and says that he has been transferred from the battleship to a torpedo training station. He wants the paper sent to him, and we will be glad to send him a big bunch of recent issues for a Christmas present. They will no doubt be interesting, for he says he has not seen a Clanton paper for several weeks.

John Wyatt and David Vines write their friends that they are all laid out in Norfolk, Va., for a thorough training as sailors in the United States navy. They say "Everything is lovely and the goose hangs high."

MRS. JOHN KEMP DIED IN BIRMINGHAM

The wife of Mr. John Kemp, a former citizen of Clanton, died in Birmingham last Sunday, and was buried the first of this week in the Isabella cemetery out on Mulberry. The deceased lady and her family have many friends here who attended the sad occasion of her burial. They lived here several years ago before going to the city of Birmingham. The husband of the deceased is a brother of our fellow-townsmen, Messrs. Will and Tom Kemp.

Secretary of the Interior Reviews Development Of the Science of War

Included in the recent annual report of Secretary Franklin K. Lane is the following:

"When the Bureau of Mines was created by Congress five years ago, it was hardly ... have been imagined that the methods used for the saving of life in the coal mines of the United States would become of vital use in the problem of saving lives and destroying lives in a world war; yet this is just what has happened.

"The soldier's kit, which was so simple a thing in other wars, has had to be increased by a gas mask not unlike the helmet of a deep-sea diver, with a box of chemicals adapted for offsetting the effects of various kinds of gas the enemy is known to use.

"When we came into the war we found ourselves prepared with the knowledge, the machinery and the men to promptly meet the need of gas masks in great quantity and of a superior type. Thus the men who had been on this work of meeting the gases compounded in nature's laboratory were found to have a reserve of knowledge as to what gases will kill and what will choke and what will burn and what will hasten disease, which in a war of culminative frightfulness would make the United States modestly distinguished if it wished to so shine. As one of the group said:

"'We chemists in America have never turned our minds to the destruction of human life. Our work has been constructive—the chemistry of the soil, of cement, of printer's ink, of the by-products from petroleum and tar, of 10,000 things which will make for man a longer and happier life. But is the world is to be turned upside down and instead of staying death and disease and making new things that man can use for his own ennoblement we are wanted to push forward the work of destruction of man and of all his works we can become rivals of the worst in such enterprise.'

"This is not the time to present the things done and the things doing by these men of the necromatic science, but when the day comes for casting up accounts and giving credit, their work will not go unrecognized."

Postmaster General Inaugurates Censorship of International Mail

A censor's lable on an envelope does not imply that the writer or addressee is under suspicion, but that its examination is thought necessary in safeguarding the Government's interests.

Under authority of the trading-with the enemy act censorship of international mails has been established by the Postmaster General. The work will be conducted at New York, the Canal Zone, Porto Rica, and other places where it may be necessary.

Dr. O. E. Wilson of Clay County has been spending several days with relatives and friends here. The Doctor will enter the United States army service the first of January.

A. P. Oslin of Collins Chapel Community was among the visitors to Clanton on Monday of this week.

BERNIE THOMPSON IN AVIATION SQUADRON

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a letter from Bernie Thompson, formerly of Clanton, who is now a member of the aviation department of the United States Army stationed at San Antonio, Texas. He says, "I am now in the aviation section of the army camp at San Antonio, and wish you would send my paper to me. I like the aviation camp fine; we can see several hundred aeroplanes and balloons flying around here every day. My work is in the clerical branch of the signal corps. We have a nice bunch of boys to live with." His address is, Osmond B. Thompson, Kelley Field No. 1, Batallion No. 2, Line 30, San Antonio, Texas.

Since writing the above we are informed by his father that he has been transferred from San Antonio to some other camp.

WINTER WHEAT

The acreage planted to winter wheat in the fall of 1917 in the United States is found to be 42,200,000, compared with 40,534,000 acres planted last year. The average condition for the United States is 90 per cent of normal, compared with 85.7 last year and 89.3, the ten-year average on December 1.

The acreage planted in Alabama in the fall of 1917 is found to be 144,000, compared with 120,000 last year. The average condition in the state on December 1 was 90, compared with 85 a year ago and 91 the ten-year average.

The acreage sown to wheat in Alabama, though greater than last year, is to some extent disappointing. An effort was made by various agencies to induce the farmers of Alabama to double their wheat acreage this fall. because of the serious shortage of wheat and the heavy demand in prospect. However, on account of the loss of so much of the acreage and the low yield on the remainder, wheat growing last year was found to be unprofitable. Farmers have been extremely busy this fall gathering large crops with reduced labor, and the weather was not altogether favorable for sowing at the proper time. Seed wheat was held at a very high price, ranging from $2.75 to $4.00 per bushel. All these influences combined to prevent a full realization of the desired acreage in Alabama.

Rye Comparrisons.

There were planted in the United States in the fall of 1917 6,120,000 of rye, compared with 4,480,000 last year. The condition of the crop on December 1 was 91 per cent of normal, compared with 88.8 last year and 92.2, the ten-year acreage.

In Alabama there were sown 9,000 acres, compared with 8,000 last year, and the condition was 91 per cent of normal, compared with 85 a year ago and 91, the ten-year average.

Alabama's rye crop if mainly for grazing and is sown in very small units par farm.

Ordnance Bureau Supplies 10.2 Ounces of Leather in Equipment of Infantryman

While the demand for leather for many uses has taxed the productive capacity of the country, the amount used in ordnance equipment for soldiers is singularly small. The equipment furnished an infantryman by the ordnance bureau (which does not include the uniform equipment from the Quartermaster's Department) contains only 10.2 ounces.

The largest use of leather in this equipment is in the gun sling, which contain two ounces; in the oiler and thong case are 1.5 ounces; bayonet scabbard, 0.7 ounce; pack carrier 1 ounce.

Crops in Territories Increased to Aid Food Conditions Here

In Porto Rica, which formerly imported thousands of dollars worth of beans annually from the mainland, this product is now being exported.

Part of the war-emergency work of the Department of Agriculture has been to assist the Territories to become less dependent upon the mainland of this country for their supply of food. The Alaska sections have greatly increased the areas sown to grain and are able to meet increased demands for seed grain. The Guam station is dustributing large quantities of seeds and plants for cultivation by the natives, and Hawaii has materially increased its production of food crops.

FROM A SOLDIER BOY AT CAMP WHEELER

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words.

I have been in the military service of the U. S. A. for some time and I find it is just what you make it. We will admit that the life isn't as pleasant as we would like, but we live in hopes it will come right some day. The only thing to do is to trust in God and do the right, and if I never return back home I can be assured of seeing all some day. If we are right to die is game.

We have a mountain of trials to overcome in this life, but resist the devil and he will flee from thee.

There are three-fourths of the boys in the army that were good boys before they came, but being with so much wickedness they have taken it up. If there ever was a time when we needed the prayers of all christians it surely is now.

I had the priviledge of going home a few days ago. I can't thank the people around old Corinth enough for their kind treatment while there. I will always feel at home there, and if any of you wishes to drop around there the people will gladly take care of you.

I wish to remind you of the Clanton people. I can't forget them for their kindness to us before we left there.

We can't forget our mothers.

I wish you all a merry Christmas and a happy new year.

ARCHIE JONES,
124 Amb. Co. 31 Div.
Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga.

Refuse Officers' Courses When Chance for Immediate Service Might be Lost

Soldiers at the cantonments would rather see service at once on the battle lines as privates than go later as officers. In many instances enlisted men eligible for admission to officers training schools have refused to apply because they feared the work would lessen their chances of immediate active service in Europe.

In one division, with 380 men to be selected for training schools, only 40 would apply. The rumor was abroad in camp that the division would sail before the work at the school was completed, and not until the men were assured that the schools would move with the divisions were the quotas filled.

Only two percent of Men Called To Colors Seek Non-Hazardous Positions

When men called under the selective service law reach the cantonments they are given, so far as practicable, their choices of army service. Infantry is most often preferred, artillery second, engineer divisions are third in popularity, and quartermasters work fourth.

Investigations so far made by the committee on classifications of personnel in the army which has the matter in charge, prove that only two per cent of the men attempt to secure non-hazardous positions.

Joe Pool, who is now one of Uncle Sam's soldiers, is at home from the aviation Camp at New Port News, Va. He will spend the holidays with his friends and relatives.

SHERIFF'S SALE—REAL ESTATE

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Fall Term, 1916, of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, and to me directed, whereby, I, as Sheriff of said county, was commanded to make the sum of Seventy-five and 5-100 Dollars, costs of suit, the amount of a certain judgment and costs therein obtained at the Fall Term, 1916, of said court of said county, Alabama, in favor of B. K. Herring, against Lee Lykes, et als., I have levied upon and will sell to the highest bidder for cash, at public sale, at the Court House door of said county, between the hours of 11 o'clock, a.m., and 4 o'clock, p.m., On Monday, the 31 day of Dec. 1917, all the right, title and interest of the above named Lee Lykes, et als., in and to the following described real estate, viz:

Three (3) acres of a portion of land lying and situated in the northeast corner of Section fifteen (15), Township twenty (20), Range sixteen (16), East, situated in Chilton County, Alabama, being the same piece of property on which the Joanna Baptist Church stands, and being the property used by the Joanna Baptist Church for religious and church purposes.

This 30 day of November, 1917.

Robbers Enter Clanton Hardware Store at Night

STOLE NUMBER OF GUNS AND SOME SHELLS, AND SEVERAL POCKET KNIVES AND RAZORS.

Some time Monday night burglars made a raid on the store of the Clanton Hardware Company, and took away about three or four shot guns, a Winchester Rifle, a quantity of shells and cartridges, about a hundred pocket knives, and some flash lights.

When questioned about the incident Mr. C. F. Jones, the President of the Company said in effect as follows:

"My theory of the robbery is that the person or persons who committed the act concealed themselves in the upper story of the building before we closed up Monday night, and when all had got quiet in the night they came down and gathered up the articles which they wanted and unlocked the back door and walked out. We could find no evidences of force being used in effecting their plans. No locks, doors nor windows were broken, and there were no evidences of the robbery except the absence of the goods which they carried away with them."

This incident is one which calls upon, not only the officers of the county and town, but also every law-abiding citizen, to do his part in the solution of the crime, and the prompt apprehension of these violators of the law. Every man should keep his eyes open for some evidence that will lead to the determination of who the guilty parties are.

BANK WILL BE OPEN TO ACCOMMODATE VETERANS

First State Bank of Clanton Will Depart from Costum of Closing on First Day of the New Year

The Probate Judge of Chilton county will, on the first day of January, 1918, issue to all Confederate Pensioners in Chilton county, their quarterly warrants for their pension money. This will bring to Clanton a large number of old veterans and their widows.

According to the previous custom of closing the banks on the New Year's Day, this would leave the recipients of the warrants without any place where they could go and get their warrants cashed.

As an accommodation to the old people, the First State Bank of Clanton has consented to remain open on that day. So all who may come here to get their warrants will also be able to go to the Frist State Bank and get the cash for their papers.

This is a commendable policy on the part of the Bank, as it will no doubt prove a great convenience to the old veterans. It will save them another trip back to Clanton to get the warrants cashed. And they being in a large number of instances so disabled that travelling is a hardship on them, will certainly appreciate the fact that it has been made so that they can kill two birds with one stone, as the old saying is, and both get their warrants, and the cash on them at one and the same trip.

We are glad to announce this decision of the First State Bank for the benefit of the old veterans. The bank will also be open for the transaction of other business, as well as that of cashing warrants of the pensioners.

IN MEMORY

On December 11th at 7 o'clock a.m. the death angle came and took from us our precious mother and wife Mrs. Rutha A. White, wife of Mr. J. B. White.

She had been sick all the year but bore her suffering patiently until the dear Lord called her home above where she will never have to suffer any more. She was 63 years and eight days old, and was a kind and loving mother and a true and devoted wife.

She leaves a husband and seven children and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

While we mourn the angles in heaven rejoice. We could not wish her back in this sinful world, but say dear mother, with God remain.

She cannot come to us any more, but the sweet thought we can go to her.

Her daughter,
MRS. EVA DENNIS.

E. M. Pinckard, Mayor of Clanton, has been at home for the holdiay season with his children. For the past several months Mr. Pinckard has been travelling salesman for a shoe house doing business in the state of Texas.

The lawyers of Clanton left the city this week and last for the holidays. We suppose they left for the holidays. Whole lots of registrants here Monday and Saturday were looking for them to fill out their questionnaires, but couldn't find any of them. Guess they were off taking Xmas.

The policy of Congress in "investigating" everything reminds us of a similar incident that was once pulled off by the Legislature of a certain "solid Democratic" southern state. And we confidently expect about as much good to come from the investigations at Washington as came from the other investigation we allude to. When the Democrats enact a plan of legislation it takes them the rest of their lives "investigating" to see whether it leaks or not.

CHRISTMAS FOR OLD VETERANS

Some time ago The Union-Banner proffered to accept donations of canned vegetables and fruits from any one who desired to contribute, and send same (pay the freight) to the old soldiers at the home at Mountain creek for their Christmas dinner. We knew it would come in mighty nice for those old people, and we thought there were some people in the county who had canned plenty of this kind of food and could spare a can or two for the veterans. But no one contributed, sorry to say. Now we want you to read what one of the inmates of the home writes us about Christmas down there with the old people. He says in part as follows:

"Christmas passed and gone and we will soon be on the threshold of another year. Everything passed off very quietly and not even a minister of the gospel showed himself. Great preparations were made for a Christmas feast for the old soldiers, but his expectations were somewhat whittled down to 2 apples, 2 oranges, a small amount of candy, very little cake and some fresh beef. The other small articles of apparel is too little to speak of. But, what was given out was appreciated by those who were fortunate to obtain it. We received no money, neither did we get any clothing (I suppose it went to the hospital; don't know)."

HAVING FITS DAILY

We heard a prominent preacher say the other day, a thing that impressed us as being quite appropriate. He was alluding to the attitude of the Montgomery Advertiser in regard to prohibition of the liquor traffic. He said that from the appearance of the editorial page of that paper, the editor has been having a fit every day since the amendment was passed by Congress.

An Ideal State

Would you care to konw what we think would be an ideal state of affairs in good old Alabama. Well here it is: First no catholics nor Knights of Columbus at all. Second no local option nor open saloons nor wild cat stills at all. Third a Republican and a Democratic party about on an equal basis with the people, so that one would serve as a restraining force on the other to forestall corruption in government and politics. These things with all the good effects that would emanate from them, would make a mighty nice place to hang up your hat and call home.

Guess you got the bunch of Christmas wishes and good cheer which was sent out to all the people of America from the vatican at Rome by the Pope and by Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore. We got our nibble of it from the daily papers, and we are grateful to these high lights of the ancient political church for their kind remembrance of us and our people. You will notice that here of late these mucks of the Roman Catholic so-called church don't ever let an opportunity pass in which they think they have a chance to make somebody in the United States look with favor upon their "goodness." They want us to believe that they are all in all. They remind us of an incident that happened out here a few miles the other night. A couple of fellows went over to Coosa to get some corn juice. One of them was in reality going after the whiskey, and just carried the other fellow along for company. They got it; three gallons in one jug and a quart in a bottle to tip on as they returned. On the way back they passed the house of a friend of the man who bought the liquor, and he stopped and went in, taking the quart to give his frined a drink. It was dark of course, and when he came back out to the road where he left his companion and the mule and buggy and the three gallons of booze, he found that the other fellow had tied the mule to a tree and taken the three gallons and fled. In this same way the Pope wants to be sweet to us till he gets a chance to betray us all into hell.

While thinking on the subject of electing the next Legislature of Alabama, it is interesting to note what the Montgomery Advertiser has to say of the matter. They pledge themselves to the idea that the next Legislature should vote against the ratification of the Federal prohibition amendment to the United States Constitution. They even venture so far as to say that a legislature MUST be elected that will vote against the ratification of the amendment. We beleive there are yet though, a sufficient number of good moral citizens in this state to declare with sufficient effect that a legislature MUST be elected that will vote in favor of the ratification of the Federal amendment to the Constitution that will forever banish old John Barleycorn from the legalized possession and plundering of our civic and moral institutions. We believe the Advertiser can safely figure that the next Representative from Chilton county will come down to Goat Hill openly and voluntarily pledged to vote in favor of nation-wide prohibition.

Everybody is congratulating Supt. W. T. Bean upon his reception of a fine Christmas present. It was a pretty baby girl who arrived just in time for Santa Claus.

MORE HELP

"Speed the war." This is and must be the slogan of every loyal American until the war has been won. "Speed the War" means not the attainment of the highest efficiency in military operations, but the adjustment of all our affairs, individual, political, and personal, to the one great end of destroying militarism. We must deny ourselves luxuries, economize on necessities, prevent idiness, and throw every possible stroke of energy—every pound of material—into the one great task, the failure of which renders all other things useless. The American people are fighting for freedom today no less than their forefathers fought for it in 1776, and the men who are unwilling, when necessity arises to endure anew the hardships of Valley Forge, is unworthy of the heritage won and bequeathed by the heroes of the Revolution. "Speed the war."

SAM MENG, KETCH 'EM CHOP

The Senate has a new employee in the person of Sam Meng. No, he is not a laundryman from the Celestial Empire. He is a political henchman standing high in the councils of the Demicratic Party in Missouri. He has been appointed Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms in the dignified upper house of Congress as a reward for aiding in the re-election last fall of a Democratic Senator for his state.

Time was, away before the civil war when all of us were in favor of free trade who lived south of the Mason and Dixon line, but the time has passed for us. Then we sold cotton and bought all our machinery and everything that we could not raise on the farm. Now we make everything that anybody else can make and then some, still there are people who think they are for free trade—Collinsville Curier.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Before I used Chamberlain's tablets I doctored a great deal for stomach trouble and felt nervous and tired all the time. These tablets helped me from the first, and inside of a week's time I had improved in every way, writes Mrs. L. A. Drinkard, Jefferson City, Mo.

Don't overlook the matter of registering on the voting list of this county at the court house between January 1st and January 5th. If you don't understand about it, look up somebody who does, and get yourself wise on the subject. You will want to vote in the elections next year.

LOST POCKET BOOK

Lonst, either in Clanton or on the road between Clanton and Newt Tracey's a pocketbook containing two five-dollar bills and probably some small change. Finder will get reward if returned to E. W. Miller, Clanton, Ala.

Arthur Williamson and Reed Giles members of the U. S. army stationed at Anniston, were in Clanton for the Christmas holidays.

One good way to start off in the new year is to thrw your Montgomery, Sears and Arbuckle catalogue in the fire and go down to your local merchant and tell him you want to trade with him during the next twelve months.

Heartburn is a symptom of indigestion. Take a dose of HERBINE in such cases. The pain disappears instantly. The bowels operate speedily and you feel fine, vigorous and cheerful. Price 50c. Sold by Upchurch Drug Company.

GOOD BUSINESS FOR XMAS

The merchants of Clanton have enjoyed a splendid trade in holiday good during Christmas time. They have all practically sold out all they had on hand of special goods for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutson Williams of Birmingham visited their parents here during the Christmas holidays.

VINOL MAKES CHILDREN STRONG

And Invigorates Old People

Any doctor will tell you that the ingredients of Vinol as printed below contain the elements needed to improve the health of delicate children and restore strength to old people.

℞ Cod Liver and Beef Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, Lime and Soda Glycerophosphates, Cascarin.

Those who have puny, ailing or run-down children or aged parents may prove this at our expense.

Besides the good it does children and the aged there is nothing like Vinol to restore strength and vitality to weak, nervous women and overworked, run-down men.

Try it. If you are not entirely satisfied, we will return your money without question; that proves our fairness and your protection. Millions of people have been convinced this way.

CLANTON ASTONISHED BY A MERCHANT'S SCTORY

A merchant relates the following: "For years I could not sleep without turning every hour. Whatever I ate caused gas and sourness. Also had stomach catarrh. ONE SPOONFUL buchthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka relieved me instantly." Because Adler-i-ka flushes the entire alimentary tract it relieves ANY CASE of constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has quickest action of anything we ever sold. GOVERNOR AND MRS. HENDERSON VISIT OLD SOLDIERS HOME.

Governor Charles Henderson accompanied by his wife, and Mrs. Battle of Montgomery, paid the old veterans of the Soldiers Home a friendly Christmas visit last Saturday. The Chief executive of Alabama gathered around him a group of the old men and they all engaged in an old-fashioned family talk. One of the veterans expressed himself as follows regarding the talk: "It was full of common sence and greatly enjoyed by all."

Mrs. Henderson rendered a delightful poetic reading which pleased her hearers immensely. Mrs. Battle also had something to say to the gray haired listeners who had grouped themselves around.

FOR CROUP

"Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is splendid for croup," writes Mrs. Edward Hassett, Frankfort, N. Y. "My choldren have been quickly relieved of attacks of this dreadful complaint by its use." This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidentially as to an adult.

HOME OF DR. A.M. GOWAN DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire of unknown origin came very near destroying the beautiful home of Dr. A. M. Gowan in Clanton Wednesday night at midnight. The family of Dr. Gowan were not at home. They were visiting over in Mississippi. The fire was discovered by some neighbors who gave the alarm.

It seems to be somewhat of a mystery as to how the fire could have started where it did. It had not reached much head-way when discovered. If it had ever got beyond control it would have completely destroyed the house as it was impossible to reach it with the hose of the city waterworks.

AN AUTOMOBILE'S CONFESSION

(Told in an "Experience Meeting."

I am a nice, comfortable automobile. I don't know whether I am altogether paid for or not, but I look mighty fine when I speed up and go through the country like a streak, there is nothing gloomy about me. Power, abandon and exhiliration radiate in every direction from me, and what's more, I go to church pretty regularly now, as every decent, self-respecting car should

I didn't always go, but I've reformed. When my owner first got me he could hardly wait until Sunday came. He was up at six tuning me up and getting ready for a run in the country, for fishing, or a picnic. He generally invited some other church members, and we usually had a big time, yet the day's pleasures always ended with a question mark—was that really the best use to which I could be put on the best day of the week?

Coming home one Sunday from a fishing trip, I was caught in a rainstorm without chains. I skidded on the country roads(I didn't mean to) and slipped over a bank and pitched the whole party out. Fortunately no one was hurt, but my owner was badly shaken. He was quite sober, and his only remark on the way home was, "Thankful I didn't break my fool neck."

Next Sunday he surprised me by going to church. The service must have gripped him, for I heard him say to the Missus, "We've missed a whole lot recently, haven't we."

Now every Sunday I go loaded, picking up children and taking old people home from service, and often out for a ride in the afternoon if the weather is pleasant.

I am having the time of my life and having begun to believe that even an auto can have "a conscience void of offence toward God and men."

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell Roper of Birmingham spent the holidays with relatives in Clanton.

These Merchants Wish You "A Happy New Year."

The Merchants of Clanton, whose names you see in this space, have been, through the columns of this paper every week for the past year, seeking to enlist the support of every citizen of our town and county in a campaign looking to the highest development of home trade, and co-operation, and the consequent advancement of all our common interests. They have spent good hard-earned cash money in their efforts to bring about the community co-operative spirit in the sense that it is the best for all the people who now or may hereafter live in our Town and County. The merchants here named, have been liberal buyers of newspaper space for the forwarding of their business principles; and their business has its direct effect upon the advancement of their neighbors. It works this way, to be short about it: When the merchant and professional man prospers, he necessarily in turn evidences his prosperity in many ways that turn directly into the good of the people who trade with him.

The merchants of Clanton have succeeded in a great many instances in getting the people to co-operate with them. They have caused some who never before realized their direct duty to home institutions first, to enter into a renewed spirit of active community pride and laudable conscientiousness.

It is the desire of these merchants and business men now to express the gratefulness of their hearts for the support which they have received from the people of this Town and Community during the pastyear. Indeed are they grateful for the way the people have helped them in their individual business; and just as much so are they glad that thereby they were made able to pass the good evidences of prosperity and plenty on down the line till it made itself manifest in all the various activities of our community vigor and progress.

These merchants and business men feel that they have done their portion of "rooting" for the home community during the past year. And now they are ready to roll up their sleeves and get ready for entering into the new year next week with a vigorousness never before approached in the history of Clanton. They will start out with a profound wish and solemn entreaty that they may have the support and co-operation of every man, woman and child, who is imbued with the idea that our home institutions of business, society, education, and religion should come first in the minds and hearts of our home people.

They wish the people of Clanton and Chilton County a happy and prosperous new year. And they beg you to pass that prosperity around here in the home community so that your dollar will remain active in Chilton County as long as it is possible to keep it here where it rightly belongs.

Come on now, Merchants, Lawyers, Doctors, Bankers, Citizens, Men, Women, Boys and Girls—All! Everybody! Let's get an even start now for a big and powerful effort toward a better community for the next year.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ———about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The year is drawing to its close with a very creditable record for church and Sunday School, also the auxiliary Societies have made a good showing. The attendance has been good, especially considering the several Sundays of quite inclement weather. In the Sunday School the per captia contributions are steadily rising.

The Young Peoples Union under the leadership of Pres. J. L. Johnson is doing good work and crystalizing into definite organization. The Women's Societies have been active and progressive and will enlarge their work in the coming new year.

A Fifth Sunday Meeting has been planned for next Saturday and Sunday at Shiloah Baptist church, about eight miles southwest of Clanton, and several of our people are planning to attend. The rural churches of the neighborhood appear to be very much interested of late in the question of just what the statue and functions of the Deacons are in the New Testament church. The subject has been on several programs and will, no doubt, be fully discussed at Shiloah. Mr. J. J. Pickens is appointed to make the opening speech. "Christian Education," will be discussed by Prof. H. C. McDonald, and "The Blessings of the Christian Life" by Rev. M. J. Parrish, besides several sermons by preachers other subjects will be discussed such as "Personal Responsibility in the Kingdom of Christ," "The Spirit of Missions," and "How best to do Missionary Work."

If God, for Chirst's sake, has forgiven our sins, what should be our attitude toward His cause in the World?

FORD TO HUNT SITE FOR SHIPBUILDING PLANT IN ALABAMA

Government Officials Are Enthusiastic Over Possibilities in this State

Washington, Dec. 26—There is much enthusiasm in government and official circles. Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer of Detroit, announces that he will make a trip south to hunt for a desirable location for the establishment of a shipbuilding plant, and also that even before he makes an investigation his hope is that the most advantageous location can be found not far from the coal and iron fields of Alabama.

It will be recalled that Secretary Lane, of the Department of the Interior, recently was quoted in a dispatch to The News as having said that the United State government did not fully appreciate what great possibilities are ahead of this country, if the mineral resources of Alabama are developed as they could and should be.—Birmingham News.

MOBILE EXPECTS FORD TO VISIT THAT PLACE SOON

Mobile, Ala., Dec. 26—On a tour of inspection for the purpose of locating a site for the turning out of government ships, Henry Ford, manufacturing expert for the United State Shipping Board, is expected to arrive in Mobile within a short time. Mr. Ford proposes a number of fabricated yards from which would be turned out steel vessels on the endless chain system, as employed at the Ford automobile factory.

Mr. Ford has announced that Mobile will be one of the ports he will visit in search of a suitable site for locating one of the yards. Thefact that the United States Steel Corporation located its mammoth plant in Mobile, it is believed, will have great effect in impressing Mr. Ford with the facilities of the port of Mobile as a point for shipbuilding.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

BAKER REQUESTED IMMEDIATELY TO MEET ARMY NEEDS

Senate Military Inquiry Adopts Resolution Urging Quick Action By Department

Washington, Dec. 26—Aroused by reports or shortages of Winter clothing in national army camps, the Senate Military Affairs Committee today in resuming its investigation into army conditions adopted a resolution requesting the Secretary of War to immediately ascertain conditions by wire, supply deficient troops, and suspend departmental routine, if necessary, by direct purchases from sources near the camps.

The resolution offered by Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, declares "that upon unquestioned proof," there is a shortage of at least 20,000 overcoats, and 47,000 woolen blouses in nine National Army cantonments. Quartermaster General Sharpe, who testified last week, admitted shortage of Winter equipment in some camps, but said all necessary supplies have been shipped and soon would be received. The resolution says:

"It appearing to the committee from unquestioned proof adduced before it that many enlisted men in Camps Wheeler, Shelby, Kearney, Dix, Jackson, Grant, Custer, Beauregard, and in the camp at For Worth, Tex., are without woolen blouses and overcoats, the combined shortage in the several camps above named being not less than 20,000 overcoats and 47,000 woolen blouses, this committee hereby requests the Secretary of War to take immediate steps to supply said enlisted men with overcoate and woolen blouses."

Thos. M. Parrish and J. D. Armstrong, who recently enlisted in the quartermasters corps of the U. S. army, have received notice to report at the camp at Jacksonville, Fla., by the 31st of Dec. They will leave Saturday morning for the Florida city.

FEW ESCAPE

There are a few indeed who escape having at least one cold during the winter months, and they are fortunate who have but one and get thru with it quickly and without any serious consequences. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and observe the directions with each bottle, and you are likely to be one of the fortunate ones. The worth and merit of this remedy has been fully proven. There are many families who have always used it for years when troubled with a cough or cold, and with the very best results. It only costs a quarter.

Save several dollars per ton on roughage

NO matter how much or little you are paying for old style hulls you always can save several dollars per ton by buying

TRADE MARK
BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

You pay more for the old style hulls because you are paying for about a pound of lint to every three pounds of hulls.

You pay less for Buckeye Hulls because you pay only for hulls. The lint is sold separately.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls are 100 per cent roughage.
They do not contain lint which has no food value.
You get 2000 lbs. of real roughage to the ton—not 1500.
Every pound goes farther.
They allow better assimilation of other food.
No trash or dust.
Sacked—easy to handle.
They mix well with other forage.

R. S. Parkham, Greenville, Ga., says:
"I feed about fifty cows and calves and use Buckeye Hulls very successfully. I consider Buckeye Hulls as good feed and cheaper feed than the old style hulls."

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.

MRS. ISLEY'S LETTER

How Does a Soldier Feel in a Life-and-Death Crisis?

He was caught—like a rat in a trap—with only one chance in a million of coming out alive. He thought of——

What does a soldier think of in a life-and-death crisis? How does he feel? What does he do? What is the millionth chance that he takes to escape?

While trembling and hot from the experiences they have gone through, over two hundred men—airmen, trench raiders, submarine commanders, grenade throwers—have told what they saw, heard and felt. To read these stories of personal adventure is to get an entirely new viewpoint of the war.

A Close-Up of the War

Newspapers and magazines treat the war along broad, general lines—they speak of nations and armies. But these stories tell you about the most daring, audacious and heroic deeds of MEN—individuals. They tell of exploits which even now you think never could happen. No professional author in the history of literature could tell such stories, for no man's imagination could think them up. Yet each of these stories is true—and so startling that the mind simply stands agape at wonder. They would thrill a man with blood as cold as a fish.

"True Adventures of the Great War"

6 Volumes Free!

The Review of Reviews has collected these two hundred and more stories in six handsome volumes, containing altogether 1800 pages, profusely illustrated. Every one of these stories is absolutely genuine as to the facts related; every one of them is told in the words of the person who is the hero or heroine of the exploit. And now, for a limited time, you can secure these six volumes free, with a two-year subscription to the Review of Reviews.

Now, and during these next few years, as never before, every intelligent American will need the Review of Reviews. The world is on the verge. It is in the throes of social, industrial and political changes that are cataclysmic. One cannot form opinions on these revolutionary events, one cannot base his acts intelligently upon them—one cannot understand the real war situation, unless the facts, all the facts, are known. It is genuine patriotic duty in these coming days of trial for every citizen to know comprehensively what is happening in the world around him.

Send No Money

The subscription to Review of Reviews is offered at the regular price. The six volumes described above will be given in addition, absolutely free. So that no one may act in the dark, the books will be sent first for examination, all charges prepaid, and if they do not come up to expectation, they may be returned within five days, and the subscription cancelled. Only the first edition of this set will be offered free with a two-year subscription. Immediate acceptance of this offer is, therefore, advised. If you are at all interested. Mail the coupon now.

"Smileage" Book Coupons Enable Soldiers to See High-Grade Productions

The sale of "Smileage" books, to be presented to men at army camps and cantonments, is being arranged by a sub-committee of the War Department commission on training camp activities. At each of the 16 national army cantonments a theater has been erected which seats 3,000 men. Marc Klaw, of Klaw & Erlanger, a member of the commission, has arranged for four companies of the brightest theatrical stars to play "Chatting Cheaters," "Inside Lines," "Turn to the Right," and "Here comes the Bride"—all tremendous successes last year in New York. He has also planned to have four companies of the highest grade vaudeville performers play at these theaters.

A national guard camp large chautaqua tents, with seating capacity of from 1,500 to 2,00, have been put up, and first-class vaudeville is being presented.

The expense of operating this circuit of 64 theaters is met by admission charges which run from 10 cents to 25 cents.

"Smileage" books contain 20 or 100 5-cent coupons, which may be purchased by anyone for $1 or $5, respectively, and sent to a soldier friend at camp. The coupons will be exchanged at the box office for admission tickets. Sending a man a "Smileage" book is equivalent to giving him passes to from 10 to 50 performances of various kinds.

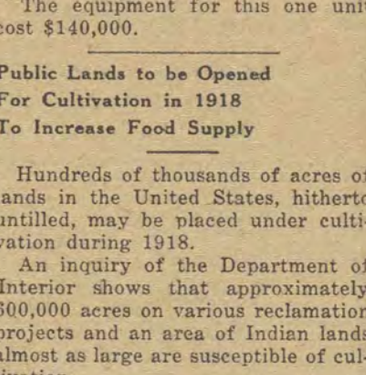
Base Hospitals for Work in France Take Full Equipment

A base hospital, several of which are already in operation overseas, consists of the people and material necessary to establish and operate a hospital without asking outside assistance except the provision of shelter. This usually means a deserted hotel, an empty village, a group of huts or a number of large and small and large tents.

The personnel of one hospital that is fully organized and waiting to be sent to France includes 24 physicians nearly all of whom are now on active duty at cantonments or hospitals in preparation for their future work. The nurses number 65, all having passed rigid examinations. There are 6 women stenographers and bookkeepers. Of the 153 enlisted men, 65 are orderlies or male nurses and the remaining 88 are clerks, bookkeepers, mechanics, and skilled laborers. The base hospital is a little world in itself and must have cooks, butchers, bakers, carpenters, engineers, etc.

The equipment for this one unit cost $140,000.

Public Lands to be Opened For Cultivation in 1918 To Increase Food Supply



Hundreds of thousands of acres of lands in the United States, hitherto untilled, may be placed under cultivation during 1918.

An inquiry of the Department of Interior shows that approximately 600,000 acres on various reclamation projects and an area of Indian lands almost as large are susceptible of cultivation.

INDIAN PEERS OF CLERKS

Representative Philip P. Campbell of Kansas for years has made a study of the Indian question, and has been vitally interested in the welfare of those wards of the nation. He thinks the time has arrived when the Indians should be allowed to cut loose from the supervision of Clerks in the Indian office at Washington, many of whom are far below the general ability and business capacity of the Indians whom they undertake to control. Mr. Campbell takes a prominent part in the discussion of all matters coming before the Indian Committee, of which he is a member, and was instrumental in securing the speedy passage of the bill permitting the sale of Indian coal lands in Oklahoma. It is estimated that over 450,000 acres of such lands will be opened for development by the legislation, which will be a long way toward relieving the national demand for fuel.

2,600 Inspectors Work To Protect Meat Supply For Soldiers and Sailors

All meats and meat products for the army and navy are obtained only from inspected establishments and bear the government stamp, "Inspected and Passed." This stamp means that every step in the process of preparing of meat has been under the constant supervision of trained inspectors. At the camps all products are re-inspected and laboratory analyses made to show that the foods have not been made injurious by tempering.

Throughout the country there are 2,600 inspectors engaged in the work.

"Lightless nights" are planned by the Fuel Administration as an additional measure for saving coal.

Letters and Parcels For Lonesome Soldier Come in Hundreds

The Post Office Deportment is telling of a man at a cantonment regarding whom that story was circulated that he was lonesome and had never received a letter since arrival in camp. Then came a deluge.

In one mail he received 1,200 letters, 19 special delivery letters and parcels, and 54 ordinary parcels. Investigation showed he could neither read nor write. He was found surrounded by several other soldiers who were helping him with his mail.
